Rainbow an alter which speaks only in rhymes. Ribbons are in a box with Rainbow. A ribbon might be accessed by several slaps on the face and "Rubicon 2,4,6,8..." (3x)

- Hickory Dickory Dock rhyme is associated with the vortex which is tied to turning the system and also to some death alters.
- Dominoes set off flooding programs to overload the person.
- Program numbers on some slaves are put in by touching the third eye with the index finger and speaking the number.

G. GAMMA (demonology)

In Satan's realm, demons are fathered or split off in families like alters are. There will be a Moloch number 101, and a Moloch 10,321. The victim has alters which are numbered such as Sally 1 and Sally 10. For a better understanding of this area of programming see Chapter 10 section I.

Gamma Programming includes all the demonic activity. In this section one can add the Kabballa's Tree of Life which has alphabet codes, back up programs to regenerate, associated with Greenbaum or Greentree. In the Illuminati slaves, the deeper parts of their system are ritual and the demonology pertains to the various rituals that are done. The following is a sampling of Illuminati rituals. The blood rituals are used to attach demons to possess alters in a particular way. These rituals can't be separated from the programming. They are part of the programming.

Ceremonies:
Assembling of the Quarter Regents
Beltaine with hunts of slaves, fire festivals, and blood rituals
Bride of Satan Ceremony (Mar. 24)
Demon revels
Drawing down the moon
Druid Feast Day on Jan. 1
Duels to the death like gladiators where the heart is cut out and eaten Grail Mass, the Grand Climax human sacrifice & sex rituals
Invocation of Hecate as Crone
Lammas sabbat where a female is sacrificed
Pathworking (done before 16 with Cabalistic Tree of Life pathways.)
Rite of Deification
Rod of Light ceremony (consists of text from Cabala, black candles, ram's horn blown, and victim's mother's name sounded)
Sealing ceremony at 19 yrs. for Mothers of Darkness level
Secret ceremony where people paint their faces half black and half white.
Sister of Light rebirthing water ceremony

(victim is bound and then pulled from water and wrapped up in linen, and a green branch is place on the chest)
St. Agnes Eve
St. Bartholomew's Day
St. Walpurgis
Summer Soltstice Orgy

For those who are not familiar with occult terms the following are ritual items: Paten (the holy dish), Athame or Glaive (the knife used to sacrifice with), the wand or sceptre (a ornamental staff which represents authority & usually has an electric shock), and the censer (to distribute burning fragrance).

H. HYPNOTIC INDUCTIONS

"Kaleidoscope eyes" --used in hypnotic induction and spinning

"20, 19, 18, 17, 16, 15, 14, 13,...1"

For many slaves the sign of satan done with the fingers puts them into a trance, and deeper alters come out.

"100, 91, 82, 73, 64, 55, 46, 37, 28, 19, 10, 1."
Touching the head in a particular fashion is done.
"DEEPER AND DEEPER AND DEEPER, DEEPER AND DEEPER AND DEEPER, DOWN, DOWN, DOWN, INTO THE DEEP, DARK VELVETY MIST, DEEPER AND DEEPER AND DEEPER."

"DEEP, DEEP, DEEP, SLEEP, SLEEP, SLEEP, SHEEP, SHEEP, SHEEP"

"YOU'RE BEAUTY WARMS MY EMBERS. SEE THEM GLOWING DEEP WITHIN THE DARKNESS OF MY EYES...IGNITING INTO FLAME...BLACK FLAME."

Seeing a Hand of Glory (severed left hand) will induct people into Peter Pan programming. (Books describing the occult use of the Hand of Glory in Ireland go back to 1830. It is an ancient practice. Baring Gould's book Curious Myths of the Middle Ages describes the recipe for using the hand of glory as a gruesome lantern during the witchcraft of the Middle Ages.)

"I AM THE SAND MAN, AND BLOW SAND IN YOUR EYES" said while simultaneously moving the hand over the face to create the illusion of placing sand in the eyes.

"3-2-1, 3-2-1, 2-1-1, 1-2, 1, You are now relaxed."

Lights, in certain colors and sequences, have been used to trance alters out, for instance a flashing red light may trance certain alters out. Tunnels were used as a powerful hypnotic suggestion. Bear in mind, that people induct a. when phys. or mentally relaxed, b. when their senses are overloaded or sens. deprivation, c. when their equilibrium is disturbed, d. their motion is restricted or e. their eyes are fixated on something.

I. JANUS-ALEX CALL BACKS (end-times)

Main link to a System's programs to ALEX coded 44334223112. Scramble code to ALEX is 34424313221. Individual code to ALEX = 55434232312. Link to JANUS coded 3323432123. Report back- X441062F
Main JANUS tracking/reprogramming code- JAN US 934100569XXY99632 [x3]; its back up code X44420-61F.
(There is a Janis 2 computer at 666 Connecticut Ave. Washington, D.C. Disinformation by the Network is that the PACER computer equipment is called Janus/Janis).
Main AMBASSADOR code 67302986ZZ9861 (suicide/fire)
sub codes- Fire 97643F4200L; Cut 97642C42DIL ; Suicide 97623S4202L; towards violence 97613V4203L
Main EMPEROR - [dot, dot, dot] 79622109MM8611

END-TIME ACTIVATION CODES

Most slaves have end-time programming. When a slave is called in with end-time programming they have pages upon pages of coded messages. A number of Monarch slaves have been de-programmed enough that they began accessing and spewing out pages and pages of these activation codes. Part of a sample of one of these is as follows:

"ISRAEL IS RISING
ACTIVATE 366 UNITED NATIONS
900 BLUE BIRD PILOTS RISE NATIONS IN PLACE
RED CHINA CALL BACK
COUNT DOWN, ACTIVATE ALEX
3.7 LC
94
CIRCLE FARMS AROUND THE SQUARE
BRITISH SOLDIERS RISE MOUNTAIN GOAT COME
EASTSIDE OF PEAK
39 ACTIVATE
42 ACTIVATE
RED CHINA RISE
1.7 ACTIVATE
THE HOUR COMES, A. C. SON
ACTIVATE AFRICA
ARISE IN NUMBERS OF 90..."

A team leader will have a down line of around 4 people--which are coded red ray, yellow ray, green ray, blue ray. When the activation code hits a slave team leader during the end times, they will in turn activate their people, who in turn will have people who are team leaders and have a down line. At least two false callback alarms will be sounded (tested) before the real one.

J. THETA (psychic warfare)

K. TINKERBELLE PROGRAMMING (never grow up/alien)

Capt'n or Cap'n (captain) represents the programmer in Peter Pan programming. Tinkerbelle is a young alter created under Peter Pan programming.

"TRANCE DIMENSIONAL TRAVEL RIGHT FROM YOUR OWN BACKYARD. THE DIMENSIONS OF YOUR PYRAMID ARE TO BE 9 BYE 9 BYE 9 BYE."

Alien programming by NWO (also involves Peter Pan programming)

"RIDE THE LIGHT" -Peter Pan programming meaning to go into hypnotic induction attached to a light that is seen when given a high voltage shock. This is given to make experiences seem like in another dimension.

L. TWINNING (teams)

CROSS PROGRAMMING-- (With for instance a mother and a daughter team)

Two seals are placed on this cross programming, a "seal of cover" and a "seal of rain"

Code: mother - [minus] mother = 3/4 - daughter holds 1/4
daughter - mother 1/4 - daughter holds 3/4

Teams will be given code words for each alter who is part of a 2-System team. One System may serve as a father figure to the other System. Teams will be trauma and sexually bonded, as well as having mirror images with each others names. A leader will have an upline and a downline for the colored rays. A leader will call the different colored rays, to activate their programming.

An Illuminati team ritual to create oneness & open their team boxes up to work together (Illuminati twinning ritual):
the team kneels face to face, draws a magical circle on the ground,
joins Delta team hands forming a clasp ring.

(Blue is associated with this.)
then they all say,
"Star within a star
Circle within a circle
Mind within a mind body within a body
Soul within a soul"
Then the team places their hands Palm to Palm, and then speaks 4x,
"Bone to Bone
flesh to flesh
Spirit to Spirit
Forever together- never apart."
Then a 5 pointed star is traced in the air.
To close the Delta team twinning box, the reverse is done.

Then other things are to be said in the joining and opening ritual.

A double deck of cards is used to program an Illuminati team of "twins".

One type of Criss-cross programming involves 1. a flower, 2. the stem, & 3 the root. The root involves blood sacrifices. This programming ties two generations together such as mother-daughter.

M. SOLEMETRIC MILITARY

N. SONGS & NURSERY RHYMES

▪ Songs & Nursery Rhymes Used As Triggers (note all of these songs have been used on other slaves too.)
Songs with Monarch programming meaning & access parts soliciting behavior or thinking include:

NURSERY RHYMES
Brahm's Lullaby
Hickory, Dickory Dock (flips the system)
 "Hickory, Dickory Dock, The Mouse Ran up the Clock [computer], the clock struck one [time for system rotation], The Mouse ran down, Hickory Dickory Dock." "INTO THE MOUTH [vortex] RUNS THE MOUSE, AND FLIPS THE HOUSE [turns the system over)
Froggy Went a Courtin' He did Ride
Hickory, Dickory Dock
I had a little pony
I'm in Love With a Big Blue Frog
Jack and Jill
Mary Had a Little Lamb (call to ritual connotation)
Tones of "Mary had a little lamb" or other telephone created tones, such as high pitched noises to call people to meetings.
Mary Mary Quite Contrary (reminds the slave that abusers are all-seeing) Old King Cole (Old King Cole was a merry old soul, ...he'd call for his masters 3 [the 3 programmers])
Peter, Peter Pumpkin Eater
Puss in Boots (this story is porn programming)
Ring Around the Rosy
Ten Little Monkeys Jumping on the Bed
Three Blind Mice (omega programming connotation with hour glass)
Twinkle, Twinkle Little Star (Sometimes associated with "I'm dead.")

SONGS (Most of the Beatles' songs were used for programming. Charles Manson was programmed with Beatles' music. The programmers know ahead of time what are going to be the next hits, and they regularly call in slaves and hypnotically make the lyrics to be cues for the slaves before the music comes out. For instance, the lyrics of "Ain't that a Shame" will make certain alters angry. For another slave the lyrics "Everything is relative, in its own way" reminds the person of the cult family & obedience.)----
Angie (popular song for programming)
A Mighty Fortress is Our God
Back in Black
Blue Velvet

Butterfly

The Candyman Can (Candyman represents drug use for Monarchs, plus other things.)

CHRISTMAS CAROLS (Christmas carols were used a lot on Monarchs.)

Country Roads song with the programmed meaning take me [the slave] "home" to a meeting site.

Crazy (to reaffirm loyalty to the master)

Deja Vu

Die Walkure

Fire and Rain

Frere Jacques (Catholic "Father John", sexual abuse connotation)

Get Me A Ticket on a Fast Train (substitute "master" for "baby" in song)

Grandma's Feather Bed

Ghost Riders

Green Green Grass of Home (go home program, slave is not happy 'til they go home to green fields

Greensleves

Hallelujah chorus (many Christian songs like this one are played while the victim is tortured.)

Handel's Messiah

Have Thine Own Way Lord ("thou art the potter, I am the clay, mold me & make me..." Ill. Charismatic slave programming.)

Heartache Tonight (song used to announce a ritual over the radio)

Hotel California (sexual/ritual connotation, the song says, "go to the chamber of the Master's Feast, We are programmed to receive." This song also tells the story of how LaVey started the Church of Satan in 1966.)

I Surrender All

Imagine (John Lennon presents the New Age script for people to be "nowhere people.")

John Brown's Body

Lucy In the Sky with Diamonds

Little Red Riding Hood (song played with hunts of slaves)

Mary was an only child (from Art Garfunkel's Angel Claire album)

Moon River

Over the Rainbow (obvious Wizard of Oz programming)

"Playing with the Queen of Hearts, knowing that it really smarts, the Joker is the only fool who'll do anything with you" (reinforces the warning not to play (tamper) with the programming. The Queen of Hearts is the emergency Mayday signal to a handler. To play with this will really smart-hurt.

National Anthem

No More Mr. Nice Guy

Revolution 9

Rivers of Dreams (by Billy Joel. words are about "walking in the dark, going through a river...turn on the light on your internal world."

Satin Sheets

She's Leaving Home

Sins of the Fathers

Southern Nights (loyalty to the programs--the leaves and trees)

Stairway to Heaven

Teddy Bear (Programmer, helpless teddy bear slave connotation)

Tennessee Waltz (handler is "forced" to prostitute slave)

The Blood Will Never Lose Its Power

Tom Dooley (suicide, "hang down your head Tom Dooley, hang down your and...)

Victim of Love

"When you wish upon a star" song used for programming.

White Rabbit (Alice In Wonderland Theme--made into a triggering Karaoke CD.)

Wooden Heart

Yellow Submarine (drug connotation)

O. ZETA (snuff films)

Zeta is the sixth letter, and it's ancient meaning was a sacrifice.

P. SAMPLE CODES FOR ALTERS OF A HYPOTHETICAL SYSTEM NAMED MARY

These codes are purely a representative model-not any particular real system. The overall system code at times consists of [birthdate + programming site codes + birth order + number of generations family was in the Illuminati.] For our hypothetical system Mary we have the hypothetical system code of: 6-13-51- 14 - 02 - 12.

In order to give the codes for a hypothetical alter system we will have to explain some things as we go.

The Programmers have for each slave both medical programming files, and a grey or black binder with the programmed access, trigger, codes & cues, & structure. A typical Illuminati system will be a cube (although spheres and pyramids are also used). The principle alters will be the "a" alters. A typical section of alters will consist of a 13 x 13 grid of alters. These are alters who live in a world together and must function together. A 13 x 13 section will have 13 families of "a" through "m" alters. The "a" alters will be the primary alters that the Programmers will interact with. The Programmer may call up an "a" alter and ask it to go get the "c" alter in its family, rather than directly asking for it.

This initial page of alter codes will be the primary or "a" alters.

If we are dealing with a 13 x 13 x 13 cube of alters, then the initial page has 13 "a" alters of each section. Each of these alters will have an access code which will often include the following components:

AN ASSIGNED COLOR + AN ALPHA NUMERIC CODE + A PERSONALIZED MAGICAL NAME. This will equal 1/3 their access code. These code words must be repeated three times to pull the alter up. However, if an alter is trained well, and hears his master's voice, an alpha-numeric code can pull the alter up. For many of the alters, the reversal of their access code puts them back to sleep. This is an important point, because some alters would be dangerous to leave in control of the body.

The "a" alters are regular alters. Many of them have been hypnotically age advanced to see themselves as teenagers or adults. Sometimes "b" and "c" alters are also aged. The "d" through "m" alters are generally left as they were split and most of them are infantile, with little concept of how old they are. The little ones will be the ones who often remember the programming very well, and know things about the system. The top alters will also sometimes receive personal names from their handler. This is in addition to all their codes. If the alter is responsive to its master, the personal name might pull the alter up too.

Do all of the alters get charted? There are several groups of alters which get charted separate from the rest or don't get charted at all. Because of the competition and distrust between the different programmers, they often place in secret back doors into the person's mind that only they know about. Worlds of secret alters loyal and devoted to the programmer may be built into the system and not appear on the regular charts. The core, and some of the primal splits from the core will not appear on the regular grids. They will be placed on a separate sheet, and their codes will be in some magical language. The Illuminati commonly employs 20 magical languages, and Hebrew, Latin and Greek are also often used for charting the core and its primal splits. Enochian is a good example of a magical language used by the Illuminati. Some alters will be created solely by the slave in order to cope with life. For instance, say the slave is travelling with someone who is not a handler, but who is a dangerous person. This dangerous person murders several people and forces the slave to help. The slave is likely going to have front alters out, and they are simply going to have to create new alters to meet the demands of the situation. These alters made to deal with one-time emergency will just slip into cracks in the system. Lots of odds and ends alters end up in the nooks and crannies within a system just detached and floating. The programmers and the victim work hard at structuring and cleaning up things--but the honest truth is that trauma-based mind-control is messy. Any time you shatter someone's mind into thousands of pieces with horrendous torture, you have a shattered mess, in spite of the good fronts that the programmers are able to construct.

Some of the more elaborate access methods are for alters that are not on the "a" chart. Hour glass alters have entire sentence access codes. Deaf & blind alters need their access code signed on their hands by moving their fingers up and down, etc. End time alters may have access codes that may entail reading an entire page. Reporting alters are often small children, that are hidden in each section, and may require slaps to the face or jabs with a needle to pull them up. Spinner kittens will be accessed via their mama cat, who acts like a Madam in a "cat house". The codes for this was given in the Beta section codes.

The reader will be given the hypothetical codes (which resemble closely the actual codes of an actual scenario) for our hypothetical Mary. A Sample Chart of the "A" alters--these are the primary alters-- has been prepared on the next page in the same fashion as it would appear in the handler's 3-ring binder.

Mary's Core Protector 1 will have a shutdown code of "REVERSAL 1 BEGINNING" and the second Core Protector will have the shutdown code of "REVERSAL 2 CREATION". Of course, these codes are said 3 times. The first three alters on the far left section at the top of the chart are Silences who can be woken up by singing. Also at least one of these, will wake up by a kiss from the prince (programmer) to the third eye area. The first alter can be shut down by "COSMOS 15 31 06 2BAB PINK". One of the groups of alters attached to one of these early alters is "MA.C3.10-53 Rejects (7) 10-53". To shut this alter(s) down just say the reverse of the access code.

A mirror image of each of these alters exists too. The mirror images can be pulled up via a three step process. The birth memory in our example will be coded as A5 11 79. The spider torture memories that are attached to these alters is A5 10 79.

The reader will notice the following on the hypothetical chart on the previous page for the first Section (which is numbered 6 to be deceptive): This section is front alters. Basic code pattern= color + Genesis + no. [1 thru 13] + letter [a thru m]. Individual codes Ist section general-"N.I.F.6", 1st section mother Eve "EV.E5 10 51 ACE" (Eve is the balancing point & the ace code is high or low). The alter Explorer is "EI.G7", Mammy "MI.H8", Angel "Red, AI.I9 Jack Genesis 4" (or it could be done "red, AI.J10 Genesis 4"), George "Silver, GI.K11", Zsa Zsa "gold, ZI.L.12", and Shadow "Clear SI.M13". You won't find on the main chart codes such as: Eve's memory "EI.D5.2.1952 ACE" or the Infant alters-- "1-000 10-49 REJECTS 3-9" The master may say for example: "Green GENESIS 1-A" (3 times) to get this alter which is the balancing point.

Fragments/dead alters were dumped into areas named concentration camps and given the names of the famous german concentration camps. The camps were placed under the Mt. of Olives. Fire or Bomb children are found throughout the system and are triggered to come up by programming. They come up behind other alters and make them burn. Some of this level can be woken up by saying, "It's time to wake up in the morning" (7 times), which is in contrast with most codes which are said 3x.

Another way to look at it, is that the alters are on 4 dimensional structure and they require a 4-dimensional access code. Height, depth, width, and color are the four dimensions. This breaks down for this 1st section as: COLOR (4th dimension) + Genesis (Section code) + 1 (level) + "a" (depth).

The following message will be used on the phone for this System's recording machine, this example has been used nationally. "IF YOU WOULD LIKE TO MAKE A CALL PLEASE HANG UP AND TRY YOUR CALL AGAIN. IF YOU NEED ASSISTANCE, PLEASE DIAL YOUR OPERATOR. CODE 911." This will cause section 1 or section 2, etc. to call their master. Also, standard Illuminati Hand signals work with Mary.

"ALONE AND CRYING (3X)"- is a code for a few special parts not on the first grid.

Section 2 gatekeeper alters. Basic code pattern=color + Revelation + no.[1 thru 13] + letter [a thru m] In our hypothetical example: "ORANGE REVELATION 4-A" (3X) However a shortcut is "REVELATION 4" and the primary Revelation 4 alter will come up. "ORANGE REVELATION 4 B" would get a small child on the pedestal with Revelation 4a. At times the handler will say "THE DECK IS DOUBLE-DECKED" in order to activate the clone doubles of all alters in a particular area--such as the front area of the system. The clones are tied to the Pink Room of the dollhouse-looking computer. Since alters are also coded to cards, a FLUSH will pull up an entire section. Special alters who skinned men alive are kept in black holes in Section 2. They are special trauma alters created solely by the victim as a safety measure.

Section 2 computer (like all levels) is empowered by an emerald blue light. This power source was deactivated by unscrewing the light to the left (which took it physically out so to speak) and then saying "PEACE BE STILL" (3X). If "PEACE BE STILL" is not said three times then the War in the heavens program kicks in. Also "DAD WEEPS OVER HIS CITY" must be said when deactivating the computer otherwise the "children" (alters) become sick and everything kicks back in--which it does eventually anyway if the deeper computers are not deactivated or taken out.

Section 3 has programmer alters & fragment armies, not to be confused with the clones which hide everywhere. The clones, by the way, can be identified with serial no.s at base of head gear such as 151.00 [system birth date]. This sections has 3 faceless Programmers called the 3 adepts of Atlantis. Each of them has a different color of hair. They may also be the commanders of armies--the commanders of the Egyptian armies have names Ra, Horus, and Set.

Section 4 alters are Entertainment alters. Basic code pattern = Color + double number + a name of a one of the 13 tribes of Israel + the number of the alter again (3x) Example: BLUE 2001-13A REUBEN 1 (3X) However, the color doesn't always need to be said it is a sufficient shortcut to call the alphanumeric code three times.
Second example 2002-12A SIMEON 1 (3X). The numbers of the 2000 code go up while the corresponding number 13 to 1 go down. In other words it is a double code. The Tribal names are arranged according to their Biblical birth order.

Mother Kitten 8, 10 and 12 have ten spinner kittens under neath each of them. To get a spinner kitten, one gets the mother kitten and then has her in the proper position which is the over-the-rainbow mode. The choice of what spin kitten to get is "WE GOTTA GET DRESSED...IN 3 MINUTES." 3 minutes means spinner no. 3. Specific instructions such as "PURR FOR ME KITTEN" gives the abuser fellatio. Tweedle Dee & Tweedle Dum is a S&M program. "5 FIDDLE" and "FOLLOW THE YELLOW BRICK ROAD" are important for the slave to follow instructions. The alters will be sent to never-never land where what they do is unreal. Some kitten alters are keyed to pop out if certain areas of the body are touched, such as the space beside the big toe, or the thighs. A handler will also have standard hand signals for things, such as putting his hands on his thighs to mean "Come here and take care of me, Kitten." "COME KITTEN, TO PAPA COME"

"BLUE TOPAZ" serves as 4 keys. Pisces is associated with Blue Topaz. There are also 4 keys which are: silver shoes, sun bright, birds singing, and yellow road.

Section 2 & 1. Reprogramming sections. At this point, the computer codes given previously apply, SEE OMEGA CODES on previous pages. The first major computer services the top 6 sections and has a red room, a closet, a pink room, as well as other rooms. Actually the computer should be set in at Section 0, which would break up the grid evenly, but since our Mary is hypothetical we put the front main computer at section 1. A system like this will have 13 computers/1 per section and 5 computers which set between pairs of sections, which join a pair of sections together, and then 2 main computers. This means a System like Mary's will have 20 internal computers. With all the codes and a fair understanding of the alters in a section, it is a good day's work to shut down a computer. Before one could possibly get all the section computers shut off, they would reprogram (reboot) themselves back up.

Computer erasure codes include: "FULL HOUSE ACES HIGH. ALL TRUMP. FULL HOUSE ACES LOW." The drawers in the dollhouse can be pulled out with "ROYAL FLUSH"(3X). Another code is "PINK SECTION 5. FULL HOUSE. ACES HIGH. 2 DEEP."

A partial code to a computer is "...8-9 RED."

Our hypothetical Mary might be accessed by a woman who taps on the shoulder and says, "PHOENIX 360 [tel. area code], OUT OF ORDER". The library alter has an important access ring. A "Button Bright" alter type works with the librarian. The dwarfs are accessed by "ISOLATION + no." Judges which sit on the council give warnings to alters "CAT EYE AT THE DOOR." This reflects the programmers' control. The judges have the "Keys to the Kingdom." "MR POSTMAN WAIT AND SEE" indicates a message from the master. Ribbon alters have the names of archangels. Silver cords are attached to the ribbons.

Section 0. Mothers of Darkness alters. basic code pattern= SILVER + LEHTEB [which is bethel or house of God spelled backwards] + [who knows what else] + a blue topaz ring being turned on the master's finger a certain way.

Green is a sensitive color for this System. Some alters may be accessed from certain areas in the System via 4 tones, and others by pin pricks at certain locations in the body, along with their verbal code. The Reporting alter can be accessed by repeated slaps across the face. There is Ultra Green Section tied to the Cabala (Green tree). The Library in the big castle, which is guarded by lions and other big cats, has a passage way in it to a second world. Codes with the Cabalistic Tree of Life involve Cabalistic magic and its symbols. This section is guarded by a hostile entity. Certain rings, topaz, quartz, diamond, ruby, black onyx etc. are used for triggers. Certain rings are needed to get into certain parts of a System, such as the castle. To access the Mothers, the Black Onyx ring must be rotated. The programming of a ring may go something like this, "This ring fills Daddy's house with stars...Catch a falling star, put it in your pocket."

Section 9. Delta-Beta alters. Kept in a genie bottle. Obviously something is rubbed to get them out.

"BUTTON BUTTON, WHO'S GOT THE BUTTON, BUT ITS THE KISS OF DEATH" this code is involved with the "good witch" who kisses upon the forehead. Buttons are on the boxes of Programmer Green and are constructed onto the boxes so they can be used to open the boxes up.

Section 7. This hypothetical system also has a series of codes based on gems--ruby, diamond, etc. which have numbers attached to the codes. An Hour glass w/ 12 disciples like grains of sand tied to Jolly Green Giant programming which have sentence access codes. Each sentence is a phrase of satanic philosophy. The bottom level is called the Hell Pit and contains the City of Petra. The City of Petra has an erasure code. "YELLOW - CUTTER ROOM 7 SECTION 7---ROYAL FLUSH--LA CUTTER EGGS" Invisible field section 7. Room 7 -- cards has eggs with demons. Lacutters are like imps and are invisible. They are assigned to guard various things in the system including the cutting programs.

"Dad" "Catch a falling star".

Main computer protected by deaf and dumb alter using a sign language equation as its access code and the reversal of its access code is its shut down code. The Black Master is a Master Programmer.

Each of the 13 sections of 169 alters (a section is a 13 x 13 grid of alters) will then have a computer assigned to it. The computer is made up of dissociated parts of the mind--which are like alters, but have not been given histories or names. Each section has a computer which makes 13 section computers. Section 1 and section 7 (see the grid chart) are main computers. The first is the main computer for the top half, and the second is the main computer for the bottom half of the System. The second main computer is in the hell pit, and has been put in at the lowest level of the mind. Section 6&5 computers are connected by a connecting computer, as well as 4&3, 2&1, 0&12, 10&9. This makes 5 connecting computers. In total then we have 13 section computers, 2 main computers, and 5 connecting computers, for a subtotal of 20 computers. Since things are being built on the basis of the magical number 13, six more computers are installed which are decoy or false computers for therapists to work on. This makes a total of 26 computers (or 2x13).

Since there are 26 letters of the alphabet, this lends itself well, and each computer is assigned a letter of the alphabet. Since the computers are put into the slave when it is a young child, the child has just learned how to count and say the alphabet.

The Illuminati has been using a large dollhouse with 26 rooms using 13 colors of paint, giving two rooms per color. Each room is a computer. In accord with the practice of double coding, each letter of the alphabet is given its sequence number, so the names for the computers are A1, B2, C3, D4, E5, F6, G7, H8, I9, J10, K11, L12, M13--the thirteenth is assigned the 1st main computer.N1, 02, P3, Q4, R5, S6, T7, U8, V9, W10, X11, Y12, Z13. Rather, than use the number 13, the number 0 will be assigned, thus changing things to M0, and Z0. This is simple enough for a child's learning mind, but difficult enough that it serves as a viable code. As codes are assigned, the bottom of the alphabet is assigned the top (front side) of the system. The middle point M0, is the normal access point for all the computers for the handler. The code for this is associated with the name of an airplane hanger, so that the concept of taking off into the sky (trancing can be associated with it.)

Each computer needs an access code to go along with its alpha-numeric name. A deck of cards lends itself well to a code of 13. Bear in mind each computer has a color assigned to it. Colored scarfs and dollhouse rooms were used with electroshock to teach the child his color coding.

When the programming is going on trance depths and runways(mental image for flying off into a trance) and the structure of the System will all be tied together in one neat package. Everything is built on its own x-y axis. Each 13x13 grid has the middle rows both vertically and horizontally set up as runways. The x-y axis also makes up the hourglass lines or the butterfly wings. Both images are used with slaves.

Because thing are set up in thirteens in Mary's system, and things are double coded, thirteen becomes 13-1 and one is 1-

13. This allows us also to link 13-1 and 1-13, so that everything becomes a circle. The circle within a circle, box within a box concept, triangle within a triangle situations makes the slave feel he is trapped in an infinity loop of programming that has no end and no beginning. 13 and 1 make 14. An entire deck of cards can be used in a double code that also adds to 14, such as the 8 of spades and the 6 of diamonds, or the Ace of spades and the King of Diamonds. Here then is the codes for Mary's computers. Two cards from opposite suits that add to 14. Since a deck of regular playing cards came originally from Tarot cards, the playing card used as a code also carry some occult significance to the codes. It is also training the child who is programmed this way to be interested in cards. And everytime the child plays cards they will reinforce at an unconscious level their computer coding.

The computers will then have programs set in on 13 x 13 quadrants. Quadrant 6.6 will have a program such hopelessness. Other quadrants may hold aloneness, recycling, cold, heat, burning, cutting oneself, pulsating loud heart beat, and hundreds of other programs. These programs have the type of codes assigned them that are given in the Universal Function Codes. Many of the functions can receive a standard code, but other items require individual codes. Telephone tones are frequently used to be able to key in (that is access or trigger) parts of the computer program matrix. Dominoes also are used for the computer programming. The dominoes are put in so that the programmers can get a dominoe effect, if they want to set off a series of programs. Dominoes and flashing sequences of lights were used to train the child to automatically respond to a certain pattern of dots.

Our hypothetical Mary will also have hundreds of other codes for all kinds of miscellaneous things such as the following random codes: "RUBY RED LIPS" "TO HAVE POWER" AND "TO BE THE POWER", which are also found in the Tall Book of Make Believe in the Shut Eye Town. Dominoes help with the code: "2-4-6-8 WHO DO YOU APPRECIATE?". More examples are, "I LOVE DADDY." "JACK BE NIMBLE JACK BE QUICK 13-1 12-2..." "PUMPKIN HEAD"--an access code. To go away- "Ta RA RA BOOM-DE-AYE", "CRYING OVER YOU (3X)", "SILKEN GIRDLE"-- a golden caterpillar plays a bittersweet tune. A gold pocket watch with Roman numerals is associated with the words "Eagle on it."

When Mary gets scared and begins to get into revolving switching, sometimes spinning can be slow down by saying,
"10--YOU ARE SLOWING DOWN
9--YOU ARE SLOWING DOWN
8--YOU ARE GETTING SLOWER AND SLOWER..."

A system's coding is a reflection of their programmer. If the programmer is a pilot which many of them are, then they may have pilot lingo in their codes, such as the system may be turned by pitch & degrees. If the programmer is a sailor the system may have nautical codes, such as "RED RETURN RUNNING", "SAFE HARBOR" (for "Home"), and DOWN RIVER (away from "Papa").

Q. Catholic Programming (by Jesuits etc.)

KEYS TO THE KINGDOM = world domination by mind control
VOW OF SILENCE is a keep quiet program activated by "THE WALLS HAVE EARS & THE PLANTS HAVE EYES SO YOUR SILENCE IS TANTAMOUNT TO SUCCESS." This is explained to the victim that the sea shells and the plants have the ability to hear, and that a sensitive occultist (programmer) can psychically pick up what the plants and sea shells hear.
"MAINTAIN IT" --is a command to maintain the Vow of Silence "MAINTAIN IT & LISTEN."-- a command to keep silent and listen to a command.

"ENTER INTER INNER DIMENSION TWO" - this is a standard Jesuit infinity program (2 is a sacred voodoo no.)

R. Mensa Programming (by MENSA)

"17 21 13 46" is an Illuminati code meaning a MENSA layer

Sample Mensa codes:
"727 + E=MC SQUARED + 3.1415962 + PI"
"A+B=C, B+C=A, C+A=B"
"TIC TAC TOE + C CROSS, PI CROSS"

The MENSA codes are sequences of 6 numbers.

S. HAND SIGNALS

misc. common signals

Finger to forehead--
One ring finger bent at 90°--access wave
Rotated pencil--with certain words--rotates the system finger swung the counterclockwise way closes portals.
Right Fist to forehead--OBEY
Fist with right hand cupping left hand, the left is like the letter c, and the thumb is outward and the fist inside, the left hand then moves 3 times over the knuckle--access signal
Left hand of slave laid on top of handler's hand-sign of submission
Hands behind back of head--I'm master
Right Hand with thumb & index finger making an L shape on chin/check
Hands on inside of thighs by handler--come to me Kitten and service me.
Hands locked folded interwoven backward--you can't break "the circle"
Handshake with index and middle finger held straight out--"You are one of us."
Grip called the lion's paw--access greeting opening and closing the hands or large circles with index finger opens portals.
Palms rubbed together counterclockwise
Kiss on center of head--kiss of submission of slave to handler
Palm of hand touched--sexual access point for some models
Sign of Satan-- Hail Satan! used for Monarch & Illuminati Mind-controlled slaves as an induction. The alter who is holding the body goes into trance, & a deeper one replaces it.
Thumb twiddle--rotating the thumbs around with the two hands clasp--S&M
Touch of center of forehead--access point
Vulcan Peace Sign--Illuminati/occult greeting
Wave with Finger and thumb together-other digits extended
Winks at the system were used to convey meaning.

----LIFE "OVER THE RAINBOW"----

After indexing & rereading this book, the co-authors realized that we had not explained "over the rainbow." Some alters live "over the rainbow" and some do not. Both types will use the term "over the rainbow", but with different meanings attached. For those who live "over the rainbow", they serve their masters in such a deep hypnotic trance that they perceive reality like it's a dream. When their memories surface they are so unlike normal memories that a system in therapy may not know what to do with them. They have been described as similar to the pictures in the old T.V.s when the vertical hold would go out of control. Deeper alters, who live "over the rainbow" experience memories/life in the following fashion: faces & porn cameras are airbrushed out of their memory, distinctive marks in the perpetrators such as scars & wrinkles are airbrushed out, colors & lights are very bright due to the total dilation of the pupils while in deep trance, and there is no sense of time for these alters. These alters are trained to "TRANCE SEND FORWARD THROUGH TIME". By understanding the programming, the codes, & triggers, those alters who lived "over the rainbow" can recover from the mind the full memory, without the distortions created by dissociation.

T. Partially correct PROGRAMMING SITE CODES. The following site codes are not totally accurate. Also, the Intelligence groups use what are called Cryptonyms, which are two-letter digraphs such as the "MK" of MK-ULTRA. The digraph can indicate a type of operation or even a location. An operation may have its cryptonym changed in the middle of its operation.

ACCESS CODE	REPROGRAM	Commence Sequence	End Sequence	Result
Wait, wait!	Don't go! Don't leave	Why? I don't know!	I don't know! Oh! Oh!	causes pai
You're mad.	You're Mad. NO, I'm not.//	Yes, you are. I feel it.	No stop assuming you// always know how I feel and you don't. I do./	crazy& /worthlessness

This type of internal programming sequence is carried out by a series of alters, who each have thei little "innocent" phrase to say in the sequence. ◘ What follows is an "8 BALL INFINITY LOOP"--"I'm mad I hate you! I hate me! I die. I lie. I'm pie in the sky. I hate you. You're mean. mommy, daddy, sexx, and drugs. Rocks and rolls my bed at night, twiligh child, dark with rage. Sexx is written on my page. My mouth is gross. I hate you dad. I'll chop it off, I hate your guts! I'm lying it's not true. I made up because I'm crazy. I must have some unconscious latent sexual desire for dad so I fantasized this scenario, this movie of lies in my head. I'm dead I'm dead. I'm red in bed. He said, "no way I never! so I crazy, I sick, I cry on dick. Fu-k you dad. I'm sorry."

This is included to illustrate that codes may take on some bizarre appearances.

HYPNOSIS IN PROGRAMS, & OTHER USES

The programmers will begin their programming by extreme torture. After a certain amount of torture the victim is willing to say or believe anything to stop the torture. At this point a thought will planted into the victim's mind. This thought will be linked to a false memory put in via hypnosis or movies, or other method, and it will be linked to a command put in by hypnosis etc. and the original thought, the command, the false memory will be linked by a single emotion which will link them all together. The result will something like this: it is two weeks before Halloween (thought), I must get ready for Halloween rituals (command) because I have always had a habit of going to Halloween rituals (false memory). If I don't I will have a heart attack and die (memory of torture linked to thoughts).

Programming is layered in. Layer after layer of programming is put in. Each alter (personality) of the victim is used as if it is a component of a large system. The result is that no alter (personality) is the whole, but only a cog in a great machine. Can a single cog rebel against the whole machine? It is very difficult for a single component of thousands of components to rebel against the abusers.

Alice In Wonderland Programming--going down the tree, going through the mirror, going under neath something or growing tall

ALICE IN WONDERLAND PROGRAMMING AS IT PERTAINS TO AN ALTER GOING DOWN IN TRANCE FOR INTERNAL PROGRAMMING

The internal programmers (and some other alters) have the ability to send other alters into deep trances. One of the programs for doing this is based on the Alice In Wonderland Theme and it was experienced like this for a level 2 alter who managed to stay in communication with her deprogrammer:

When the alter went down in her mind she went down on the inside of the trunk of a tree (like Alice In Wonderland). At the bottom she saw a keyhole, a table, and on the table was love potion #9. She automatically drank the love potion which shrinks her to a dot and then she goes through the keyhole. So normally this process means she goes through the keyhole. She managed to stay in contact with her deprogrammer during this deep trance. After the key hole she saw thousands of looking glass mirrors. Everything got smaller as she went down the tree. She became a dot. She drinks love potion no. 9 and comes back with it. A tree comes and wraps itself around her and loves her. As she ascends (comes up in trance) she stretches up and enlarges. In coming up out of trance she gets stuck at level 8 due to some interference from deeper alters. She, in accord with her programming, senses her Master's love.

(Normally she would have simply tranced out, and another alter would have taken her place and she would have no recollection of the entire process. The alter has been programmed to have backup amnesia. Backup amnesia means that one doesn't remember that one lost time, one doesn't remember that one forgot, etc. In short it means you don't remember that you don't remember.)

This is an example of hypnosis used internally by the programming and the Programming alters to control other alters. The deepening of the trance was given the imagery of Alice falling down the tree.

In the various stories used in programming, there is some part of the story that can be used as the story line for trance induction, these include:
Wizard of Oz--going into the poppies,
Star Wars--time warp, riding the light
Star Trek--being beamed, replicators etc.

Hypnosis is used to anchor suggestions about sleep patterns, panic programs, phobias, health healing programs and health problems programs, pain control and pain programs, motivation programs, a suicide program called "hypnosleep", an insanity program, and countless other uses.

Hypnosis is used to steer a person's mind in the direction that they have been labeled. For instance, if they have been selected to become a doctor, they will be programmed for success as a doctor. New patterns of thought, feeling and behavior are inserted to build confidence in the goals of the Illuminati. Positive experiences are used to help boost the person's feelings, and then the new messages are anchored "imagine these messages taking root. Your new messages are growing stronger and stronger."

The Alice In Wonderland programming theme is used in air-water programs and mirror programs which the Illuminati, the CIA, NASA, the Jesuits and others like so well.
The idea is that there exists a mirror world which is a reversal. Along with it is attached the idea that the slave can enter into a timeless dimension of time, or as some refer to it "interdimensional time travel." Later, the victim will be further brought under the spell of this mirror programming by going to locations around the nation, like the Magic Time Machine restaurants in San Antonio and Dallas, TX where mirrors are placed on doors, ceilings, walls, and restrooms of the establishment and programming themes are part of the everything at these restaurants. The handler may tell the slave, "LOSE YOURSELF IN THE INFINITY MIRRORS."

When hypnotically programming in programs, the Programmers place in many types of images and programs. Some examples would be having the concept of obedience equal the fountain of youth. The fountain of youth flows in the victim's mind unless they step out side of their orders. This can be linked to the Shangri-la story, where a woman ages as soon as she leaves her place in Shangri-la. Another example, is the hypnotic imagery involving the formation of an island from a volcano. The story is turned into a programming script to allow the System to be radically restructured. This Volcano programming is a System's turning program. A volcano erupts from deep down, and lava pours into the sea. Mountains are pushing up from deep in the mind. To survive people must cross from the old to the new island on a bridge that naturally forms. Fire births the new territory and destroys the old. The new mountains develop trees which become safe places for the alters to roost upon.

HYPNOTICALLY BUILDING IN STRUCTURES

Later in the book, the art of building structures internally in the mind of the victim will be covered. However, since the process involves hypnotism it would be appropriate to discuss briefly how hypnosis can begin to work a tree structure into the mind of the child. First, the programmer hypnotically suggests that his penis is a growing tree. Later, the programmer might begin, "You know those big trees in the park that look so big and straight and stretch way up toward the sky? Stand up and be one of those trees. Stand up really straight and tall as tall as you can be, and stretch your arms out toward the sky like branches on that big oak tree. Now those big trees have long, deep roots that keep them from falling over. Feel your feet go down down through the floor, just like roots on the big strong oak tree."

Final note: there is no way that this book could give every last song or story that has been used for programming, nor was it the intention to do so. We have wanted to point out the popular story lines used, although we have missed some such as the Chronicles of Narnia and Little Red Riding Hood (which is used in several ways along the lines of you think you're going to Papa's, or Grandma's house & you end up with a wolf). Our list left out many programming songs--all the Rolling Stone's songs, Alabama's Old Flame, etc.

DECEIT

SCIENCE NO. 5- THE SKILL OF LYING, THE ART OF DECEIT

The rule of thumb that the programmers/handlers go by is that they will say anything to get the job done. A CIA handler will tell his agent in the field whatever will work to get the field agent's cooperation on a mission. There is no height nor breadth nor length to these people's deception. They have successfully kept some deceptions active for decades, if not for centuries.

THE USE OF FICTION

The history behind the Wizard of Oz programming is interesting. It suggests that the Wizard of Oz has had an important part in the occult world all along. One of the secrets of the Mystery Religions, especially the Egyptian Isis mystery religion was the ability to use drugs and torture to create multiple personalities. The word Oz is known to have been used by its author as an abbreviation for Osirus. Monarch victims have the "golden penis of Osirus" placed into them.

The Grimm brothers, who were cabalistic jews, gathered the folk occult stories together. Their stories are full of spells, trances, and drugs. Sleeping Beauty is put to sleep, and the trigger to wake her is a kiss on the lips. These are serious hints that the occult world didn't stop programming people with dissociative states and triggers when the ancient Egyptian empires fell. Instead of using modern lingo such as "hypnotize", they would say "cast a spell."

Later in Freemasonry, the Right Worshipful Master would "charge" (meaning hypnotize) an initiate.

The occultist Baum, a member of the Theosophical Society, was inspired by some spirit who gave him the "magic key" to write the Wizard of Oz book, which came out in 1900. The book's story is full of satanic activity and satanic thinking. The story was chosen in the late 1940s to be the basis for the Illuminati/Intelligence community's trauma-based total mind control programming. As a way of enhancing the effect of the programming, Monarch slaves are conditioned to place trigger items into their lives. When the movie was made, Judy Garland, who had lived a life touched by the occult world's abuse, was chosen to act as Dorothy. Judy's later husband, Mickey De Vinko was a satanist and the chief assistant to Roy Radin, a rich satanist who worked with the Illuminati, and who controlled the "Process church" covens which had as members mass murderers Berkowitz and Monarch slave Charlie Manson. There are several members of the Carr family, who are also tied into both De Vinko and Radin's Process Church and the Illuminati. With the numerous long term connections between the Wizard of Oz books, and movie to the highest levels of the occult world, it is not without reason that one can theorize that the original series of 14 Oz books had an ulterior motive behind them.

The 14 books of the Oz series are: 1) The Wizard of Oz, 2) The Land of Oz, 3) Ozma of Oz, 4) Dorothy and the Wizard in Oz, 5) The Road to Oz, 6) The Emerald City of Oz, 7) The Patchwork Girl of Oz, 8) Tik-tok of Oz, 9) The Scarecrow of Oz, 10) Rinkitink in Oz, 11) The Lost Princess of Oz, 12) The Tinman Woodsman of Oz, 13) The Magic of Oz, 14) Glinda of Oz. These books are still being sold, and are being read to children who are being programmed with trauma-based total mind control.

The 14 books came out in various editions. The originals came out in 1900 and shortly thereafter. In the 1930s, the 1940's, and the 1950's the words were retype set and given different pages. (When working with a survivor it might help to identify what decade the edition the slave was programmed with, because the pictures and the page numbers varied from edition to edition.) Of course, having good pictures is an asset in programming, because the child will visualize off of the pictures when building its internal world.

In addition to this, large Wizard of Oz theme parks are being built by the Illuminati to provide places to carry out programming and to reinforce the programming which traps the minds of Monarch slaves. The best example of this, is the audacious MGM Grand complex in Las Vegas, although other theme parks around America also use a Wizard of Oz theme.

If you have read Fritz Springmeier's Be Wise As Serpents you will know how the Theosophical Society ties in with Freemasonry, Satanism, and Lucis Trust. Several famous members of the Theosophical Society include:

- Adolf Hitler (a Satanist who practiced human sacrifice, & who had HPB's book at his side.)
- Mahatma Gandhi (a Hindu guru considered a god by some of his followers. Gandhi was successful with the British in part because of the Theosophical Society.)
- H.P. Blavatsky (The founder of the Theosophical Society. She referred to herself as HPB. She was initiated by Illuminatus Mazzini into Carbonarism , a form of Freemasonry, illumined by the Great White Lodge in 1856, was part of the Hermetic Brotherhood of Luxor, and spent lots of time with the Eddy Illuminati family in Vermont, who were well known mediums. She also was a member of the occult fraternities the Order of the Druses, the Adoptive branch of the Ancient & Primitive Rite of Freemasonry, & the hermetic masonic rites of Memphis and Mizraim. She was trained to handle live snakes by Sheik Yusuf ben Makerzi, the chief of the Serpent Handlers, and she was hypnotized by occultist Victor Michal and to some degree from 1866 under his influence.)
- Alice Bailey (head of Lucis Trust)
- Henry Steel Olcott (an important occultist)
- Elvis Presley (a Monarch slave)
- Manly P. Hall (an Illuminati Theta Programmer, and at least a Grand Master within the Illuminati who sat on the Grand Druid Council.)
- Frank Baum

The man who wrote the book The Wizard of Oz was a member of the Theosophical Society. L. Frank Baum lived in South Dakota and created The Wizard of Oz book as a theosophical fairy tale incorporating the "ancient wisdom" of the Mystery Religions. The books have so much material from inside the secret world of the Illuminati, that the few who understand the Illuminati wonder if Baum wasn't an insider. The moral of the book is that we must rely upon ourselves, for we alone have the power to save ourselves. This was part of the original lie of Satan in the garden. Satan has simply dressed up the same original lie into different packaging and is distributing it worldwide as the most popular American fairy tale.

L. Frank Baum explained how he came to write the book, "It was pure inspiration....It came to me right out of the blue. I think that sometimes the Great Author has a message to get across and He has to use the instrument at hand. I happened to be that medium, and I believe the magic key was given me to open the doors to sympathy and understanding, joy, peace and happiness." (Hearn, Michael P. ed., The Annotated Wizard of Oz. NY: Clarkson N. Potter, 1973, p. 73.)

In Baum's time, the head of the Theosophical Society, H.P.Blavastsky had been putting out her journal called Lucifer. In other words, I highly suspect Baum knew what the Theosophical Society was all about, and that he himself was deeply into the occult. The book The Wizard of Oz came out in 1900. (It wasn't until 1939 that the movie was made.)

This next section will cover the numerous parallels between the Wizard of Oz material and the occult world and the occult world's programming. This is broken up into 3 sections:

PARALLELS BETWEEN
A. THE WIZARD OF OZ BOOK & OCCULTISM
B. THE WIZARD OF OZ MOVIE & ILLUMINATI RITUALS
C. THE WIZARD OF OZ SERIES OF BOOKS AND MONARCH PROGRAMMING

For those readers who are unfamiliar with the occult world, some of these parallels at first may seem stretched. When one sees how many parallels there are, then occult nature of the books begins to sink in. The authors could provide the reader with more parallels between Satanism and The Wizard of Oz book, but we believe the following will suffice. (Some parallels may also apply to the movie.)

A. THE WIZARD OF OZ BOOK & OCCULTISM

▪ Auntie Em represents HP Blavastsky's "Mulaprakriti" and Uncle Henry represents HPB's "Unmanifested Logos".

▪ The carnival huckster (later seen as the Wizard) is advertised as being connected to the royal families of Europe. The Royal families of Europe are secret Satanists, from powerful occult bloodlines.

▪ Dorothy is brought to Oz by a cyclone. The word cyclone originally was the greek word cyclone which means both a circle or the coil of a snake. In other words, the snake takes Dorothy to Oz.

▪ Dorothy's three companions represent the mental, emotional, and physical bodies that HPB wrote about. Dorothy acquired these three companions just as Theosophy says we will when we come into incarnation. To quote HPB "There is no danger that dauntless courage cannot conquer; there is not trial that spotless purity cannot pass through; there is no difficulty that strong intellect cannot surmount." (Algeo, John. "The Wizard of Oz: The Perilous Journey", The Quest, Summer 1993. Wheaton, Il.: Theosophical Society in Amer.,p. 53.)

▪ In the book, the Tin Woodsman was an ordinary being of flesh, but a wicked witch casts a spell on him. He kept chopping off parts of his body, which were then replaced by a tinsmith, until he became the first bionic man, with a completely mechanic body. Boy, hasn't the Illuminati been trying to do this one!?

▪ In step with Wizard of Oz mind-control programming, the wicked witch & naughty children cannot stand water but dissolve. Robotic clones are created in the minds of Monarch slaves which can only be mentally dissolved by mentally placing water on them.

▪ Oz is shaped like a Mandala with Emerald City in the center, an impassable barrier, four-sidedness, 4 symbolic colors, the circle and the center. The colors and directions given in Oz may also have other symbolic meanings in the occult. For instance, Emerald City is green and green is the fourth point of the Eastern Star (women's Freemasonry) & Satan's color.

▪ The route that Dorothy follows in Oz has the shape of a T with its 3 points defining an inverted triangle.

▪ The Yellow Brick Road suggests gold, the perfect metal. Gold is considered to be divine & the source of wisdom by the Illuminati. HPB had written "There is a Road, steep and thorny, beset with perils of every kind, but yet a Road, and it leads to the very heart of the universe." This was the yellow brick road that Baum the Theosophist sought to portray in his fairy tale. The book contains a great deal more perils and adventures on the road than the movie.

▪ The article shows that the great teacher is a humbug but Dorothy and her own companions have the abilities to help themselves if they only will realize their own powers through the help of the good witch of the south. This is in line with the Theosophical Society's, the Church of Satan's, and other occult groups teachings which teach that the individual has the capabilities within themselves to achieve anything. One of the Theosophical Society's publications states, "Prepare thyself, for thou wilt have to travel on alone. The teacher can but point the way." ("The Voice of Silence" as quoted in "The Wizard of Oz" article, Quest, Summer, 1993 p. 54.)

Part of the mind set of Satanism is that reality and fantasy become blurred. This blurring has been part of the brainwashing that is being systematically given to American children. Within Monarch slaves they have an incredibly difficult time trying to differentiate between reality and fantasy because of all the mind programming they have been subjected too. There are several techniques which will determine for Monarch survivors if their memories are real. In the board game called Illuminati!, put out by people connected to the Illuminati, the game states, "Don't believe any of this, it is all true." These are the type of double-bind self contradictory statements that Satanists love to spew out. Monarch slaves are programmed full of double-binds.

With the Satanist's penchant for blurring reality in mind, read the following quote where the President of the Theosophical Society admiringly describes the Wizard of Oz, "Part of Baum's joke is that things are never what they seem. Dorothy seems to be a simple and harmless little girl, but it is she who kills the wicked witches of both East and West. The Scarecrow seems to lack brains, but he has all the ideas in the company. The Tin Woodman seems to lack a heart, but he is so full of sentiment that he is always weeping. The Cowardly Lion seems to be a coward, but he takes brave action whenever it is called for. The Wizard seems to be great and powerful, but he is actually a humbug. Oz seems to be a glorious and delightful land and Kansas to be dry, gray, and dull--but Oz is a world of illusion and Kansas is really home. Things are not what they seem, in Oz or Kansas."

B. RELATIONSHIPS BETWEEN THE MOVIE & ILLUMINATI RITUAL.

- The close relationship between Dorothy and her dog is a very subtle connection between the satanic cults use of animals (familiars). Those who read Vol. 1, may remember the example written about on how Illuminati Kingpin Alfred I. du Pont's dog Mummy served as Alfred's familiar spirit. Animals are very often used in ritual. This connection is very subtle, perhaps too subtle for it to be worthy of mention, except that those in Satanism will see the significance, even though others won't. What is trivial to one person may not be to the next. A Monarch slave as a child will be allowed to bond with a pet. The child will want to bond with a pet anyway because people are terrifying by this point. Then the pet is killed in porn to traumatize the child. This happens quite frequently.
- The Rainbow--with its seven colors have long had an occult significance of being a great spiritual hypnotic device. Constance Cumbey, in her book The Hidden Dangers of the Rainbow, which exposes the New Age Occult Movement, correctly writes, "The Rainbow (also called the Antahkarana or Rainbow Bridge). This is used as a hypnotic device."(p.261) The Supreme Council of the 33rd° of Freemasonry has used the rainbow on the cover of their magazine. In a book teaching Druidism (as in Illuminati Druidism), The 21 Lessons of Meryln, the Rainbow is described as "A true sign of Magic...it exists in both worlds at once!"
- Elvira Gulch is a woman who owns 1/2 of the county where Dorothy lives in Kansas. She is shown later in the Land of Oz transformed as a witch. Many of the Illuminati elite are rich and lead double lives. People who meet them at a ritual will see the dark side of these rich people. At the rituals, people are tranced from drugs, chanting, and mind control; they are "over the rainbow."
- Professor Marvel uses a crystal ball which he claims was used by the Priests of Isis. Isis and Osirus are both part of the Ancient Egyptian

Mystery religion and modern Satanism.

- Kansas is black & white, Oz is in color. Reality is downplayed in witchcraft and satanism. Make believe is considered more colorful than reality. Also as an escape from this world, Satanists use drugs to enhance their perception of colors. Some of the famous writers took drugs which put them into altered states of consciousness in order to release their creativity.
- Both good and bad witches in Oz carry staffs. In Satanism & the Illuminati, Priestesses also carry similar staffs. Also the idea that there are good and evil witches--white and black magic is straight from the occult, and follows the Illuminati's gnostic beliefs.
- Several scenes involve transference of power via transference of slippers from a witch. In Illuminati ritual, to transfer power, a Matriarch, or Mother of Darkness will kill the person in a position of authority with a strike on the forehead with a special mace like staff, and then put on their slippers. Ruby colored slippers are actually used as a symbol of authority at the Matriarch level in the Illuminati. The shoes are said to be golden at the Mothers of Darkness level in the Illuminati.
- The bad witch uses poison, poisoned apples and poisoned brew. Satanic covens in real life do this same thing.
- The wizard is portrayed as someone who rules and is benevolent. In witchcraft, wizards do rule (even though in some groups wizards are simply called witches.)
- Winged monkeys in the haunted forest, harken back to the pagan cultures which placed wings on various animal idols.
- The trees are alive like animals in the film. The Illuminati believe that the trees have spirits. In one of the Oz films, even the stones have personality and talk. This comes straight out of Druidism.
- The Tin Man is a person which has been part of Illuminati ceremonies. The first initial ceremony that children of the Illuminati may remember is where a Tin Man with an ax watches over their presentation to the coven. If the parent presents the child, nothing is done, but if the parent refuses to present the children, then the Tin Man in the ritual will use his ax to sever the child's head on a chopping block. (The Tin Man will also appear in Tin Man programming, and a Tin Man's Castle may well be built in the Monarch slave's head, but the point here is that the Tin Man is also part of ritual.)
- Dorothy kills the wicked witch of the west by a sharp blow to the forehead with the witch's staff. This is what is done in the Illuminati, when an elderly witch is being replaced. In both cases, whether in the movie or in real life in the Illuminati, when a witch is killed the people have a ceremony. In real life in the secret world of the Illuminati, a scroll is used to certify that the witch is dead both physically and spiritually. (The movie had this in it.) Just one example of the thousands of Illuminati Grande Dames killed in ritual like this is the recent billionairess Dorris Duke, who was ritually killed in 1993 on Halloween, also called All Hallows Eve, in the Beverly Hills, CA area. The Illuminati method for killing a Grande Dame and passing her spiritual power on is done with reverence. No blood is to be spilt out of respect for the elderly woman who gives up her life willingly. At death, the last breath is inhaled by the replacement to transfer the power.

There may be as many as 2,197 Grande Dames at such a coronation. The Grande Mothers (whose Systems are mistresses for Satan and hierarchy leaders) and the next rank, the Grande Dames, are often veiled in ritual and would wear robes with different colored lining. The different colors of linings show the different grades. A typical Grande Mother vestment or robe is a black satin & velvet dress with a draped neckline, and ritual symbols down the center of the robe. After someone like Dorris Duke willingly gives her (their) life, her head is served on a silver platter at a banquet. For the deeper alters of a high level slave, this is part of their way of life; they are told it is their birthright and heritage. Such alters will not be able to identify with the culture at large. To give up their programming, means giving up their magickal powers and their culture, which they have had to work hard for. To leave they would need to see something that they perceive as better. They are locked into their slavery due do to their exposure to only a secret Illuminati culture and value system. Because of their dissociation with the rest of their own System of alters, they don't perceive a need to change their lifestyle anymore than a Bushman would be able to feel a need to wear shoes. Why should the Bushman want shoes, if he has gotten along without them? Why should a high level slave want change, when they have gotten along without it? Experience shows that during deprogramming most of the lower level alters will want to escape their abuse, but the higher level ritual alters are so separated from the abuse they don't want to give up their status and culture.

◘ Throughout the movie, scrolls are used. As stated, Moriah continues to use scrolls for their official ritual functions.

◘ The wicked witch of the west says that her question was not "to kill or not to kill" Dorothy?, but rather HOW to kill Dorothy for "these things must be done delicately." This is exactly the attitude displayed within the Illuminati.

◘ The film has occult items such as crystal balls in several scenes, haunted castles, magic and a benevolent wizard.

◘ At one point the Lion says, "I do believe in spooks [ghosts], I do, I do, I do, I do." (Today, intelligence agents are also called spooks.)

◘ The Lion, Tinman, Dorothy and the Scarecrow must prove themselves worthy to receive the benevolence from Oz. The occult is full of rituals where the participant must prove himself worthy.

◘ The phrase "seeds of learning" is used in Illuminati ceremonies. Staffs like the movie has are used by various occult groups. These staffs often serve as stun guns, so that shocks can be applied during ceremonies. The shocks may be applied so that the victim doesn't remember the ceremony.

C. PARALLELS BETWEEN THE WIZARD OF OZ SERIES OF BOOKS AND MONARCH PROGRAMMING

The following are parts of the Wizard of Oz Monarch Programming, which is a base programming put in when the child is very young. Some of the slaves know portions of the Wizard of Oz script word-for-word.

◘ Dorothy is looking for a place where there is no trouble which is a place "over the rainbow." To escape pain, alters go over the rainbow. (This is a.k.a. in Alice In Wonderland Programming as "going through the looking glass".

◘ Dorothy becomes unconscious, the world begins spinning, and then she see disjointed pictures. This also happens to Monarch slaves. Later in the film, Dorothy states, "My! people come and go so quickly." This is exactly what happens to the Monarch slave whose multiple personalities come and go. When the multiple personalities switch in and out very fast a spinning process can start which can be dangerous if it doesn't stop. Just like most hiccuping stops on its own, the rapid uncontrolled switching (which can be triggered by stress) usually stops on its own. Systems which subconsciously know they are going to be tortured and used may out of a subconscious fear begin this revolving switching. It is said that the Monarch victim will become comatose if the rapid spinning goes on too long. Personalities are switched in what are called "tornado spins" or "tornado spinning" and personalities called "spin off" personalities come up according to the number of revolutions the slave is commanded to spin. By spinning the slave, the master can choose what sexual perversion he wants as each "spin off" personality has been trained to carry out a different perversion.

◘ Over the rainbow in Oz is for the Monarch slave to be in a trance, and into a certain area of the programming. To be fluctuating at both ends as an observer and not a participant or to go to the other extreme and become a participant. The theme song of the movie goes, "Somewhere over the Rainbow...there's a land where the dreams that you dare to dream really come true." These lyrics are a method to hypnotically confuse the brain to perceive that the "over the Rainbow experience" (which is usually horrible abuse) is a "dream". The dissociative mind is only too happy to call the trauma a dream, which is lived as a reality for a moment, but is nevertheless recorded by the mind as a fantasy. The term for this is cryptoamnesia, which means the process where the proper functioning of memory is hypnotically messed up. The slave's internal world becomes "reality" and the external real world becomes the Land of Oz which is perceived as make-believe.

◘ Dwarfs are used in the internal programming. (Hollywood hired a large number of them for the movie's cast. They are called Munchkins in the movie.) Mengele, known as the programmer Dr. Green, was especially interested in experimenting traumas on dwarfs.

◘ For bona-fides & recognition signals, the Monarch slaves wear diamonds to signify they are presidential models, rubies to signify their Oz programming for prostitution, and emeralds to signify their programming to do drug business. Rings are also used to signify what activity the slave is doing, and what rank or level they are in the occult.

◘ Monarch slaves are taught to "follow the yellow brick road." No matter what fearful things lie ahead, the Monarch slave must follow the Yellow Brick Road which is set out before them by their master. For some slaves used as track stars, their Yellow Brick Road was the track they had to run. The Yellow Brick Road is the runway in which alters were trained to fly off from to exit their internal world and take the body. The Yellow Brick Road also pertains to the assignment that an alter is given. To follow the Yellow Brick Road is to go down the road that has been assigned by command. The Yellow Brick Road programming is placed into the child's mind via the Yellow Brick Road of the Wizard of Oz story. Remember the key words, "Follow the Yellow Brick Road." To get someone onto the Yellow Brick Road you must know the access code to get them through the poppy field. The color codes are important to get an alter through the field of poppies.

"Fiddler" is important word to get to the yellow brick road (it signifies the programmer in the context of "the programmer is here, go over the rainbow") and then the alters eat what is variously called MUSIC or a SCRIPT or A LETTER which are words meaning "instructions".

In the 1900 edition of the book on page 31-32 says (programming cues are in caps), "She closed the door, locked it, and put the KEY carefully in the pocket of her dress. And so, with Toto trotting along soberly behind her, SHE STARTED ON HER JOURNEY. THERE WERE SEVERAL ROADS NEAR BY, BUT IT DID NOT TAKE HER LONG TO FIND THE ONE PAVED WITH YELLOW BRICK. Within a short time she was walking briskly toward the EMERALD CITY, HER SILVER SHOES tinkling merrily on the hard, YELLOW ROADBED. The sun shone BRIGHT AND THE BIRDS SANG SWEET and Dorothy did not feel nearly as bad as you might think a little girl would who had been SUDDENLY WHISKED AWAY FROM HER OWN COUNTRY AND SET DOWN IN THE MIDST OF A STRANGE LAND....The houses of the Munchkins were odd-looking dwellings,...ALL WERE PAINTED BLUE, for in this country of the EAST BLUE WAS THE FAVORITE COLOR...FIVE LITTLE FIDDLERS PLAYED AS LOUDLY AS POSSIBLE AND THE PEOPLE WERE LAUGHING AND SINGING, while a big table nearby was loaded with DELICIOUS FRUITS [the programs] and NUTS, PIES, and cakes, and many OTHER GOOD THINGS TO EAT [scripts to ingest]."

◘ Monarch slaves are threatened with fire, like the Scarecrow. They also see people dismembered like the Scarecrow was dismembered. For them it is not an idle threat. The front alters also have hearts full of pain like Scarecrow.

◘ Certain alters are not given courage and most have their hearts taken from them. The alters who are programmed not to have hearts are hypnotically told the same thing the Tin Man says, "I could be human if I only had a heart." (See Chapter 4, where it discusses hypnosurgery.)

◘ Some alters are taught they are stupid and have no brain. Scarecrow is asked the question, "How can you talk without a brain? Scarecrow answers, "Some people without a brain can do a lot of talking."

◘ Emerald City is used in programming. Emerald City in the programming will be well guarded and hard to reach. Several important things will be placed inside the Emerald City, including the deeper Illuminati alters.

◘ Castles are used in the programming. Lots of castles, either in the mind's imagery or purely demoniac are placed into the slave's mind.

◘ Winged monkeys are able to watch in the movies somewhat as spy satellites. Winged monkeys are used in the programming to create a fear of always being watched.

◘ The Flowers used in the movie and books, are also used in the programming. The witch uses poppy flowers to put the lion and Dorothy to sleep. Opium and cocaine are used to tranquilize Monarch slaves. An alter of a slave will get trancy when they enter the poppy field. (Heroin and cocaine come from poppies.) In the film, Dorothy says, "What is happening? I'm so sleepy." She and the lion get sleepy for no apparent reason very quickly. Monarch slaves do the same thing. Waking up with snow in the movie is nothing less than an allusion to cocaine which is a common substance given to Monarch slaves to help make them dependent.

◘ Dorothy states at one point in the movie that she "doesn't remember". She then follows this up with "I guess it doesn't matter."

◘ Hour glasses appear in the movie in several spots, and they also occur in various contexts in people who have been programmed by the Monarch programming. Some victims of the programming have hour glass configurations each created around a separate axis. The hour glasses have the ability to be rotated which causes certain alters to be brought forward. Monarch slave masters have also used hour glasses to indicate to their slaves that death was imminent and that time was running out. This is the way the wicked witch used the hour glass on Dorothy, who happens to be saved just as the hour glass runs out. Some Monarch slave masters actually have large hour glasses (sometimes 3' high) like in the movie. (In Cathy O'Brien's autobiography of her life as a Monarch slave Transformation of America she has a photograph of Sec. of Defense Cheney's hour glass on his desk with him seated. This hour glass was used to threaten her as a slave.) When a Monarch slave sees an hour glass they may switch, but basically it is a reminder that the slave masters have the power to run a person's time out.

One slave was told, "The sand that sifts through the hourglass is a measure of your worthiness to live or die."

The hour glass shape is basically two triangles which touch at their peaks, or an X configuration with the tops of the X having lines. The child's mind is to visualize this configuration as a compass, as the four points N, S, E, W, they are to see the X configuration also as an x,y axis upon which a city is structured upon. The hour glass then is tied to several other concepts which integrate themselves well with the basic X shape of the hour glass. Circles with X's are stacked on top of each other to form the different worlds which contain the alters. The two pie shaped pieces of the hour glass will hold one world, while the hour glass configuration made by the other two adjacent pieces hold the looking glass mirror images of each alter. Each hour glass is called 2 quadrants. To remove 4 quadrants would of course take both alters and mirror images with it. In mathematics, it could be stated that regular alters are in quadrant x,y and -x, -y. And that the looking glass people--the mirror images, early splits made from each alter as a copy, are in quadrants -x, y and x, -y. (See the chapter on how to structure a System)

◘ "Click your heel together and be there in a snap" is both in the movie and in the programming cues. Military Monarch slave models are especially taught to click their heels together. (Joseph Mengele, Dr. Black, Michael Aquino and others also liked to click their Nazi boots together while they programmed children.)

◘ "SILENCE!" is both in the movie and a command of the Oz Programming. This word SILENCE stands for a code of "no talk" which runs deep in the mind of the slave.

◘ As in the movie, certain slave alters will talk to their masters as Dorothy did, "If you please, Sir..."

◘ The keys (and triggers) to control the switching of personalities and to give orders are frequently based on Wizard of Oz material. A Monarch slave owner might use cues based on the Wizard of Oz such as "THERE'S A PAIR OF MAGIC SHOES TO WEAR WITH YOUR DRESS...SOMETHING IN LIGHTENING...TO TRANSPORT YOU FASTER THAN THE OL' RUBY SLIPPERS." (Quote from O'Brien, Cathy. "Operation Carrier Pigeon", Monograph, pg. 2.) A cryptic death threat given to Cathy as a slave by handler Sec. of Defense Cheney to kill her daughter by taking off her daughter's ears was then backed up by the hypnotic command based on Wizard of Oz programming, "I'LL GET HER, MY PRETTY...YOUR LITTLE GIRL."

◘ The programming that is related to the Tin Man produces a monarch slave which is described as "A WELL OILED MACHINE" by the handlers. U.S. Sen. Allen Simpson, one of the perpetrators of the Monarch Program, referred to the Tin Man programming when he told a slave "THESE ARE BUT EMPTY SHELLS OF THE LIFE THEY WERE ONCE POSSESSED. LIKE YOU ARE--EMPTY AND VOID OF LIFE."

Let's now cover what programming is based on the Oz books, that isn't found in the movie. A great deal of the Oz programming comes from the books, of which only the first book was used for the movie. The public is familiar with the movie which is based on the first one, but in general doesn't know the other books exist. We will not go through the scripts of all 14 books--there isn't room for that, but by going through a few of the books, the reader will begin to see the massive amount of material which was used for programming scripts in the Oz books. It is one thing to say, the Wizard of Oz was used as a mind-control programming script, but that doesn't convey the extent of it. Large sections of the 14 books are almost perfect for mind-control. If you take the trouble to read these quotes, you may find yourself startled at what you thought at first glance was a nice child story!

pg. 38 Book 1 The Wizard of Oz, "That is true," said the Scarecrow. "You see," he continued, confidently, "I DON'T MIND MY LEGS AND ARMS AND BODY BEING STUFFED, BECAUSE I CANNOT GET HURT. IF ANYONE TREADS ON MY TOES OR STICKS A PIN INTO ME, IT DOESN'T MATTER, FOR I CAN'T FEEL IT." This is teaching dissociation. The slaves actually do have pins & needles stuck into them, or toothpicks under their fingernails, etc. If anyone asks the slave a question they can say according to the script, "I don't know anything." The infant slave will be taught words like this "STICKS & STONES MAY pg. 41 Book 1 The Wizard of Oz, "It never hurt him, however, and Dorothy would pick him up and set him upon his feet again, while he joined her in laughing merrily at his own mishap." This is teaching the programming "IT'S O.K., IT DOESN'T MATTER, NOTHING WRONG HERE" that the slave is taught to tell the world.

pg. 40 Book 1 The Wizard of Oz, "nest of rats in the straw, ...at the scarecrow." The mice in a Monarch System which control the turning of the quadrant's clock, hide from the scarecrow.
pg. 42 Book 1 The Wizard of Oz, "fewer fruit trees..." If the slave eats the fruit [code for programs] without permission, the dwarf munchkins will beat the alter with their clubs. Also on this page HOME is called KANSAS, and it is described as "how gray everything was there." In other words, reality isn't as great and colorful as the make believe internal world you can build in your mind to escape this hell we're giving you.

pg. 43 Book 1 The Wizard of Oz, The Scarecrow looked at her reproachfully, and answered, "My life has been so short that I really know nothing whatever. I was only made day before yesterday. What happened in the world before that time is all unknown to me. Luckily, when the farmer made my head, one of the first things he did was to paint my ears, so that I heard what was going on." This is the script read to new alters, to help them have a clean slate before programming them with another new script. This is coupled with the Wizard of Oz theme that the Wizard gives brains (what to think) to the Scarecrow. The alters are hypnotically programmed that if they think on their own--then they are empty headed like the Scarecrow. They can only have something in their head if they let the Wizard give them what to think.

pg. 45 Book 1 The Wizard of Oz, "It was a lonely life to lead, for I had nothing to think of, having been made such a little while before." This is part of the script read a new alter.
pg. 48 Book 1 The Wizard of Oz, "So the Scarecrow led her through the trees until they reached the cottage, and Dorothy entered and found a bed of dried leaves in one corner. She lay down at once, and with Toto beside her, soon fell into a sound sleep. the Scarecrow who was never tired, stood up in another corner and waited..." This was used to program part of a script for an Illuminati ceremony.

pg. 57 Book 1 The Wizard of Oz, "So the old woman went to the wicked Witch of the East, and promised her two sheep and a cow if she would prevent the marriage. Therefore, upon the wicked Witch enchanted my axe, and when I was chopping away...the axe slipped all at once and cut off my left leg.

"This at first seemed a great misfortune, for I knew a one-legged man could not do very well as a woodchopper. So I went to a tinsmith and had him make me a new leg out of tin. The leg worked very well, once I was used to it; but my action angered the wicked Witch of the East, for she had promised the old woman I should not marry the pretty Munchkin girl. When I began chopping again my axe slipped and cut off my right leg. Again I went to the tinner, and again he made me a leg out of tin. After this the enchanted axe cut off my arms, one after the other; but, nothing daunted, I had them replaced with tin ones. The wicked Witch then made the axe slip and cut off my head, and at first I thought that was the end of me. But the tinner happened to come along, and he made me a new head out of tin." This is an Illuminati ceremony script done by Dr. Mengele with children at a very young age. It was a blood oath to "Green" that if they let anyone touch the programming they would cut themselves.
pg. 58 Book 1 The Wizard of Oz, "...splitting me into two halves. Once more the tinner came to my help and made me a body of tin, fastening my tin arms...But alas! I had now no heart, so that I lost all my love for the Munchkin girl... I had known was the loss of my heart. While I was in love I was the happiest man on earth; but no one can love who has not a heart, and so I am resolved to ask Oz to give me one."

pg. 66 Book 1 The Wizard of Oz, The Scarecrow, the Tin Woodsman and Dorothy expect that the Wizard of Oz can give a brain, a heart, and send Dorothy back to Kansas. Under programming the Master as the Wizard can give alters what he wants including sending them back to Kansas (their internal reality).

pg. 77 Book 1 The Wizard of Oz, "...they could see the road of yellow brick running through a beautiful country, with green meadows dotted with bright flowers and all the road bordered with trees hanging full of delicious fruits." This is used for the imagery of the yellow brick road.

pg. 87 Book 1 The Wizard of Oz, "Scarlet poppies...their odor is so powerful that anyone who breathes it falls asleep, and if the sleeper is not carried away from the scent of the flowers he sleeps on and on forever. But Dorothy did not know this, nor could she get away from the bright red flowers that were everywhere about; so presently her eyes grew heavy and she felt she must sit down to rest and to sleep." This is an important part of the programming. This is the story line for trancing deep.

pg. 112 Book 1 The Wizard of Oz, "Then the Guardian of the Gates put on his own glasses and told them he was ready to show them to the palace. Taking a big golden key from a peg on the wall he opened another gate, and they all followed him through the portal into the streets of the Emerald City." This is helpful imagery in setting up the internal Emerald City and its guards.

BOOK 3. OZMA OF OZ

pg. 20 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "But the wind, as if satisfied at last with its mischievous pranks, stopped blowing this ocean and hurried away to another part of the world to blow something else; so that the waves, not being joggled any more, began to quiet down and behave themselves." Used to create protective programming, notice how the wind is personified.

pg. 23 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "So she sat down in a corner of the coop, leaned her back against the slats, nodded at the friendly stars before she closed her eyes, and was asleep in half a minute." Alters may be trained to trance when placed in a corner.

pg. 27 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "No, indeed; I never care to hatch eggs unless I've a nice snug nest, in some quiet place, with a baker's dozen of eggs under me. That's thirteen, you know, and it's a lucky number for hens. So you may as well eat this egg." This has been used often to get 13 splits when torturing. Many Illuminati Systems were set up on 13 grids.

pg. 30 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "Next to the water [programming cue to build Atlantis] was a broad beach of white sand and gravel [programming cue to build Troy], and farther back were several rocky hills, while beyond these appeared a strip of green trees [programming cue to build a green forest] that marked the edge of a forest. But there were no houses to be seen, nor any sign of people [programming cue for alters to be invisible] who might inhabit this unknown land." This page along with others near it, have been used to build the structures in the internal world of Illuminati slaves. In brackets are a sample of how it could be used when building an internal world.

pg. 34 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "Why eating live things....You ought to be ashamed of yourself!" "Goodness me!" returned the hen, in a puzzled tone; how queer you are, Dorothy! Live things are much fresher and more wholesome than dead ones, and you humans eat all sorts of dead creatures." This is used to encourage cannabalism.

pg. 35 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "...a large sized golden key." To encourage the imagery of golden keys, which are used frequently in the internal system.

The next chapter "Letter in the Sand" has singing trees in it, which have been popular items for the Illuminati due to their druid beliefs.

pg. 39 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "Bye, bye, and bye, when she was almost in despair, the little girl came upon two trees that promised to furnish her with plenty of food. One was quite full of square paper boxes, which grew in clusters on all the limbs, and upon the biggest and ripest boxes the word 'Lunch' could be read, in neat letters. The tree seemed to bear all the year around, for there were lunch-box blossoms on some of the branches, and on others tiny little lunch-boxes that were as yet quite green, and evidently not fit to eat." Boxes are built internally in the slave's mind and a box will contain a program. The food is the programming that the slave is to eat and digest. The programming in the box might be songs, nursery rhymes, or a poem or anything. (On page 41, there is a full page picture of a girl picking a lunch-pail from a tree limb to eat it.)

pg. 40 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "The little girl stood on tip-toe and picked one of the nicest and biggest lunch-boxes, and then she sat down upon the ground and eagerly opened it. Inside she found, nicely wrapped in white papers, a ham sandwich, a piece of sponge-cake, a pickle, a slice of new cheese and an apple. Each thing had a separate stem,..." The lunch-boxes on the tree are the programs which the programmers put in. The stems are what link the programming stories together in the child's mind.

pg. 42 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "I had a pair of silver shoes, that carried me through the air...said Dorothy." In the programming silver shoes are used as cues to go into altered states (i.e. through the air.)

pg. 44 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "embroidered garments of many colors" Color programming for the ribbons.

pg. 47 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "We'll get you in time, never fear! And when we do get you, we'll tear you into little bits."

"Why are you so cruel to me? asked Dorothy. "I'm a stranger in your country, and have done you no harm."

"No harm!" cried one who seemed to be their leader. "Did you not pick our lunch-boxes and dinner pails? Have you not a stolen dinner-pail still in your hand?...it is the law here that whoever picks a dinner-pail without our permission must die immediately." The programming message to all of this is that no one had better touch the dinner-pails which represent the programs or they are to die immediately. Armies like in the story guard the internal programming of the slave.

pg. 51 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, these pages describe a crack in rocks that is a door. This is used for Petra programming.

pg. 52 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "golden key"..."within the narrow chamber of rock was the form of a man--or, at least, it seemed like a man...his head and limbs were copper. Also his head and limbs were copper, and these were jointed or hinged to his body in a peculiar way, with metal caps over the joints, like the armor worn by knights in days of old." These are a System's robots which are said by the programmers to be friends, and which are invisible. You can see other people's robots but not one's own internal robots.

pg. 53 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "This copper man is not alive at all." The clone robots are made to think they are not alive, but just robots. In reality they are little child alters suited up to think they are robots.

pg. 55 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "...back view of the copper man, and in this way discovered a printed card that hung between his shoulders, it being suspended from a small copper peg at the back of his neck." The robots are put in by a combination of several stories. The deep sea divers of 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea, and the Wizard of Oz's Copper Man reinforce each other.

"Extra Responsive Mechanical man fitted with our special clock-work attachment. Thinks, Speaks, Acts, and Does Everything but Live. Manufactured only at our Works at Evna, Land of Ev. All infringements will be promptly Prosecuted according to Law." This huge sign is part of the robotic programming the clone robots receive. Notice that they are drilled into total obedience--all infringements will be promptly Prosecuted. Obey the law that your Master gives you.
pg. 56 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "DIRECTIONS FOR USING
For SPEAKING: --Wind the Clock-work Man under his right arm, (marked No. 2)
For WALKING: --Wind Clock-work in the middle of his back, (marked No. 3)
N.B.--This Mechanism is guaranteed to work perfectly for a thousand years." These instructions were used to build Dr. Green's (Mengele's) boxes and the robots.
pg. 58 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "The words sounded a little hoarse and creakey, and they were uttered all in the same tone, without any change of expression whatever; but both Dorothy and Billina understood them perfectly." This was used to program the internal robots to speak in unison and to repeat themselves.
pg. 60 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "Af-ter that I re-mem-ber noth-ing until you wound me up a-gain." The internal robots forget and then are prepared again for war.
pg. 62 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "From this time forth I am your o-be-di-ent servant. What-ev-er you com-mand, that I will do will-ing-ly--if you keep me wound up." This is used to teach the internal robots obedience to their programming.
pg. 67 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "Within the pail were three slice of turkey, two slices of cold tongue, some lobster salad, four slices of bread and butter, a small custard pie, an orange and nine large strawberries and some nuts and raisins. Singularly enough, the nuts in this dinner-pail grew already cracked, so that Dorothy had no trouble in picking out their meats to eat." This is given to front alters as the front programming so that they see the programs as only "fruit".
pg. 68 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "Do the lunch-box trees and the dinner-pail trees belong to the Wheelers? the child asked Tiktok, while engaged in eating her meal.

'Of course not,' he answered. 'They belong to the roy-al fam-il-y of Ev, on-ly of course there is no roy-al fam-il-y just now be-cause King Ev-ol-do jumped in-to the sea and his wife and ten children have been trans-formed by the Nome King...you will find the roy-al 'E' stamped up-on the bottom of ev-er-y din-ner pail." The Nome King in the programming became the ruler of the demons/system within the Monarch system. Several story lines from a number of sources are overlapped to reinforce the programming scripts. The programmers will use other stories to introduce themselves into the system too. In case readers don't know, a Monarch system will have hidden powerful alters that are made in the image of their programmers, that serve as personal representatives of the programmers.
pg. 79 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "I am only a ma-chine, and can-not feel sor-row or joy, no mat-ter what hap-pens." This is teaching mechanical dissociation, and coincides with Tin Man programming.
pg. 83 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "For the Princess Langwidere is a different person every time I see her, and the only way her subjects can recognize her at all is by means of a beautiful ruby key which she always wears on a chain attached to her left wrist. When we see the key we know we are beholding the Princess."

"That is strange," said Dorothy, in astonishment. "Do you mean to say that so many different princesses are one and the same person?"

"Not exactly," answered the Wheeler. "There is, of course, but one princess; but she appears to us in many forms, which are all more or less beautiful."

Doesn't this sound like MPD! Did Frank Baum know about MPD?

pg. 90 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "Princess Langwidere's sitting-room was panelled with great mirrors, which reached from the ceiling to the floor; also the ceiling was composed of mirrors, and the floor was of polished silver that reflected every object upon it. So when Langwidere sat in her easy chair and played soft melodies upon her mandolin, her form was mirrored hundreds of times, in walls, and ceilings and floor, and whichever way..." This is the mirror programming that has been done to so many victims!

pg. 91 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "Now I must explain to you that the Princess Langwidere had thirty heads." Isn't this story line convenient for programming?

pg. 94 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, ...Langwidere to a position in front of cupboard No. 17, the Princess unlocked the door with her ruby key and after handing head No.9, which she had been wearing, to the maid, she took No. 17 from its shelf and fitted it to her neck....There was one trouble with No. 17; the temper that went with it (and which was hidden...)was fiery, harsh and haughty in the extreme, and it often led the Princess to do unpleasant things which she regretted when she came to wear her other heads." Does the reader see how this is programming to switch personalities. And personality No. 17 is locked up--which is a common programming methodology. The fiery, harsh anger--those are the demonic imps that the victim is coached to accept as normal which are layered in. (See chapter 10).

pg. 98 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, " 'To hear is to obey,' answered the big red colonel, and caught the child by the arm."

pg. 99 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "...the colonel had by this time managed to get upon his feet again, so he grabbed fast hold of the girl and she was helpless to escape."

pg. 102 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "Once a cyclone had carried her across it, and a magical pair of silver shoes had carried her back again."

pg. 103 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "Fist came a magnificent golden chariot, drawn by a great Lion and an immense Tiger, who stood shoulder to shoulder and trotted along as gracefully as a well-matched team of thoroughbred horses. And standing upright within the chariot was a beautiful girl clothed in flowing robes of silver gauze and wearing a jeweled diadem upon her dainty head. She held in one hand the satin ribbons that guided her astonishing team, and in the other an ivory wand that separated at the top into two prongs, the prongs being tipped by the letters 'O' and 'Z', made of glistening diamonds set closely together." The way this was used for programming is that guard alters are made out of kittens, who believe they are fierce tigers and lions and other wild cats. Ozma, represents the Illuminati Queen Mother with her crown and scepter.

pg. 104 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, On this page we see Ozma of Oz, the Scarecrow, the Saw-Horse, the Tin Woodman, and soldiers. These characters were used in the programming. Toward the bottom of the page is something that was built into the Systems so that alters would stay in place in their internal world, "...the green carpet rolled itself up again...in order that their feet might not come in contact with the deadly, life-destroying sands of the desert."

pg. 117 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "Dorothy took the key to Tiktok from her pocket and wound up the machine man's action, so that he could bow properly when introduced to the rest of the company."

pg. 119-120 Book 3 Ozma of Oz," 'Let me introduce to you a new friend of mine, the Hungry Tiger."...he displayed two rows of terrible teeth and a mouth big enough to startle anyone.'

'Dreadfully hungry," answered the Tiger, snapping his jaws together with a fierce click.'" This is programming for deeper cats in an alter system. The next page tells how this is used to teach the child alter cannibalism.

" '...the tiger. "For my part, I'm a savage beast, and have an appetite for all sorts of poor living creatures, from a chipmonk to fat babies.'

'How dreadful!' said Dorothy.

'Isn't it, though?' returned the Hungry Tiger licking his lips with his long red tongue. 'Fat babies! Don't they sound delicious? ...If I had no conscience I would probably eat the babies and then get hungry again, which would mean that I had sacrificed the poor babies for nothing....For it is the nature of tigers to be cruel and ferocious, and in refusing to eat harmless living creatures I am acting as no good tiger has ever before acted." This part of the book is used to help teach the child alters which think they are tigers to be cannibalistic and actually participate in eating babies. This is all filmed to be used against the mind-controlled slave.

pg. 130-31 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, " 'No one knows, exactly,' replied the Princess. 'For the King, whose name is Roquat of the Rocks, owns a splendid palace underneath the great mountain which is at the north end of this kingdom, and he has transformed the queen and her children into ornaments and bric-a-brac with which to decorate his rooms.' "

'I'd like to know," said Dorothy, 'Who this Nome King is?' "

'I will tell you, replied Ozma. 'He is said to be the Ruler of the Underground World, and commands the rocks and all that the rocks contain. Under his rule are many thousands of the Nomes, who are queerly shaped but powerful sprites that labor at the furnaces and forges of their king, making gold and silver and other metals which they conceal in the crevices of the rocks, so that those living upon the earth's surface can only find them with great difficulty. Also they make diamonds and rubies and emeralds, which they hide in the ground; so that the kingdom of Nomes is wonderfully rich, and all we have of precious stones and silver and gold is what we take from the earth and rocks where the Nome King has hidden them....the Ruler of the Underground World is not fond of those who live upon the earth's surface, and never appears among us. If we wish to see King Roquat of the Rocks, we must visit his won country, where he is all powerful, and therefore it will be a dangerous undertaking....the furnaces of the Nome King....a single spark of fire might destroy me entirely.' "

'The furnaces may also melt my tin,' said the Tin Woodman; but I am going.'"

'I can't bear heat,' remarked the Princess..."

This is used to program in the dwarfs who mine the jewels (programs). The dwarfs are often demonic imps or gnomes, rather than being real alters. Notice that the story line fits in beautifully with the Hell Pit that the Programmers so often put at the basement of people's minds. The Hell Pit would have programming to make someone burn. If someone approaches where the Dwarfs live (which is deep underground--deep in the mind) they will burn. Notice again the words diamonds, rubies, emeralds, silver and gold which are all parts of programming codes.

pg. 139 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, " 'But I know enough to obey my masters, and to gid-dup, or whoa, when I'm told to." This is teaching obedience.

"Lower down the table were the twenty-seven warriors of Oz." This was used to create alters within the internal world.

pg. 147-148 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, The form was that of a gigantic man built out of plates of cast iron, and it stood with one foot on either side of the narror road and swung over its right shoulder an immense iron mallet, with which it constantly pounded the earth. These resounding blows explained the thumping sounds they had heard, for the mallet was much bigger than a barrel, and where it struck the path between the rocky sides of the mountain it filled all the space through which our travelers would be obliged to pass.

Of course they at once halted, a safe distance away from the terrible iron mallet. The magic carpet would do them no good in this case, for it was only meant to protect them from any dangers upon the ground beneath their feet, and not from dangers that appeared in the air above them.

"Wow!" said the Cowardly Lion, with a shudder. "It makes me dreadfully nervous to see that big hammer pounding so near my head. One blow would crush me into a door-mat."

"The ir-on gi-ant is a fine fellow," said Tiktok, "and works as stead-i-ly as a clock. He was made for the Nome King by Smith & Tinker, who made me, and his du-ty is to keep folks from find-ing the un-der-ground pal-ace. Is he not a great work of art?"...

"No," replied the machine; "he is only made to pound the road, and has no think-ing or speak-ing at-tach-ment. But he pounds ve-ry well, I think."...

"Is there no way to stop his machinery?"

"On-ly the Nome King, who has the key, can do that," answered Tiktok....Meanwhile the giant continued to raise his iron mallet high in the air and to strike the path terrific blows that echoed through the mountains like the roar of cannon." This was used as the script to place in Thor, a giant who protects the programming. Very severe split brain headaches are programmed to occur to the victim, whenever the internal Thor pounds his hammer. If the programming is threatened, Thor and the imps (demons) appear, to protect it. There are an entire series of events using programming and obedient alters that takes place to protect the programming, if it is ever threatened.

pg. 159 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "There was no reply, except that the shifting Nomes upon the mountain laughed in derision.

'You must not command the Nome King.' said Tiktok, 'for you do not rule him, as you do your own people.'

The purpose of this part is to prepare the child's alters to accept that internal Queens and other leading alters do not rule the demons that are placed into their system, and are not to order them around.

pg. 163 Book 3 Ozma of Oz,

"In the center of this room was a throne carved out of a solid boulder of rock, rude and rugged in shape but glittering with great rubies and diamonds and emeralds on every part of its surface. And upon the throne sat the Nome King.

pg. 167 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, on this page is a picture of the Nome King telling Dorothy and Ozma that, "They belong to me and I shall keep them." In other words, the imps and their jewells belong to the king of the demons. Around his throne are steps with gems, and this imagery was used to build the internal gems in a system, with Satan/the AntiChrist's throne at the top of the stairs.

pg. 170 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "Although this army consisted of rock-colored Nomes, all squat and fat, they were clothed in glittering armor of polished steel, inlaid with beautiful gems. Upon his brow each wore a brilliant electric light, and they bore sharp spears and swords and battle-axes if solid bronze. It was evident they were perfectly trained, for they stood in straight rows, rank after rank, with their weapons held erect and true, as if awaiting but the word of command to level them upon their foes."

'This,' siad the Nome King, 'is but a small part of my army. No ruler upon Earth has ever dared to fight me, and no ruler ever will, for I am too powerful to oppose.'

This was to help build acceptance within the child of the layering of armies of demons.

pg. 180, Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "For upon the edge of the table rested a pretty grasshopper, that seemed to have been formed from a single emerald." The next page has a picture of a grasshopper wearing a hat and many shoes. This was used to help the victim take the hypnotic suggestion that their programmer was a grasshopper, a cricket. Mengele used a clicker which helped with this hypnotic suggestion too.

pg. 182-183 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "...the King returned to his throne.... they were greatly disheartened by...the knowledge that she was now an ornament in the Nome King's palace--a dreadful, creepy place in spite of all its magnificance. Without their little leader they did not know what to do next, and each one, down to the trembling private of the army, began to fear he would soon be more ornamental than useful....'Never mind,' said the jolly monarch. 'If he doesn't care to enter the palace...I'll throw him into one of my fiery furnaces.'

pg. 184 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "...twenty-six officers filed into the palace and made their guesses---and became ornaments." Story line used to program parts to become useful ornaments. "...he wore a heavy gold chain around his neck to show that he was the Chief Steward of the Nome King..." Many of the abusers signify their power to the slaves, by wearing a gold chain around their neck.

pg. 186 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, on this page it states that some magical power gave the King the ability to know all that took place in his palace. By crediting their abilities to an occult magical dimension, the programmers enhanced their appearance of power to the child victim.

pg. 192 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, on this page and the surrounding pages, the people who have become ornaments are also assigned colors. The Queen of Ev "are all ornaments of a royal purple color." and "all those people from Oz into green ornaments."

pg. 194 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, 'If I wore the magic belt which enables you to work all your transformations, and gives you so much other power....What color will you make the Kansas girl? asked the Steward. 'Gray, I think,' said his Majesty. 'And the Scarecrow and the machine man?'

'Oh, they shall be of solid gold, because they are so ugly in real life.'

This was the script to bring in the color programming. Color programming is discussed in the Structuring chapter (7) and the Internal Controls chapter (11) dealing with the internal computers, and in chapter 4 where the codes are given.

pg. 192 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, 'What more do you want?' demanded the King.

'A fat baby. I want a fat baby,' said the Hungry Tiger. 'A nice, plump, juicy, tender, fat baby.' When the alters are forced to accept that they are tigers and other cats, then they are encouraged (forced) into cannibalism.

pg. 200 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "So Tiktok touched a yellow glass vase that had daisies painted on one side, and he spoke at the same time the word 'Ev.' ...In a flash the machine man had disappeared,..." This was part of the programming to introduce daisies and switching.

pg. 201 Book 3 Ozma of Oz, "Next she touched the image of a purple kitten that stood on the corner of a mantel, and as she pronounced the word 'Ev' the kitten disappeared, and a pretty, fair-haired boy stood beside her." This is teaching the switching of alters and their color programming.

We will stop our coverage of the Ozma of Oz book here. We have only partially covered only two of the 14 Oz books, all of which were used as programming scripts. There are many more sections in this series of 14 books that served as programming scripts, but the reader has got the basic idea. It is still important to go over how some of the other books were used in programming, so that the reader begins to see how the story lines assist in programming, and how the story lines are so frequently tied together from perhaps 12 different stories to reinforce one alter's programming.

ALICE IN WONDERLAND

Alice Through the Looking Glass

'I can't believe that!' said Alice.

'Can't you?' the Queen said in a pitying tone. 'Try again: draw a long breath, and shut your eyes.'

Alice laughed. 'There's no use trying,' she said. 'One can't believe impossible things.'

'I dare say you haven't had much practice,' said the Queen. 'When I was your age, I always did it for half an hour a day.

Why, sometimes I've believed as many as six impossible things before breakfast."

The chapter "Which Dreamed It" in Alice Through the Looking Glass has sexual programming, the Red Queen is purring. The story where Walruses make believe it is oysters is used for programming. Other sexual programming occurs in the chapter "It's my own invention" where the Knight In Crimson (& White) Armor are prisoners which dual for her. Tweedle Dee & Tweedle Dum is used for S&M programming, which has a hand signal involving rotating the thumbs of a clasp hand.

Alters go through the looking glass, and fall down an oak tree by falling into a deeper and deeper trance.

Monarch programming is a reflection of how Satan's mind works. Lewis Carroll's book with its inversion themes fits in with this type of thinking. Lewis Carroll loved the humor of logical contradictions. In the book, Alice wonders if cats eat bats or bats eat cats, and she is told that to say what she means is not the same as meaning what she says. When she eats the left side of the mushroom, she grows large; the right side has the reverse effect. These changes in size are in themselves reversals. A large girl and small puppy end up to be a large puppy and a small girl. In Sylvia and Bruno, we are presented with an antigravity wool that can be placed into a parcel to make it weigh less than nothing, a watch that reverses time, a black light, and a projective plane with outside inside and inside outside. The slave learns that E-V-I-L is simply L-I-V-E backwards.

In the looking glass world, the Red Queen knows of a hill so large that compared to it the hill in question is a valley. Also she knows of dry biscuits which quench thirst, a messenger who whispers by shouting, and Alice who runs as fast as she can to stay in one place. (Sometimes it seems we really do have to run fast to stay in place.)

The King of Hearts thinks its not unusual to write letters to nobody, and the White King compliments Alice on having keen enough eyesight to see nobody at a great distance down the road. Can you see why this book was so good to program us?

In the book Through the Looking Glass all asymmetrical objects (that means all objects which can't be superimposed on their mirrored image) "go the other way." There are left-right reversals. Tweedledee and Tweedledum are mirror image twins. The White Knight sings about squeezing his right foot into a left shoe, and there are several mentions of corkscrews. A Helix (a corkscrew) is an asymmetric structure with distinct left and right forms. The book's type of thinking was extended beyond asymmetrical objects to asymmetrical relations of all types. For example, Alice walks backward, in the railway carriage the guard tells her she is traveling the wrong way. The king has two messengers, "one to come and one to go." The White Queen explains the advantages of living backward in time, the looking glass cake is handed around first, then sliced. Odd and even numbers, which are equivalent to left and right or on and off are worked into the story at several points. For instance, the White Queen requests jam every other day.

Going through the looking glass takes us to a world where the ordinary world is turned upside down and backward. Things go every which way except the way they are supposed to go.

Anti-matter is a mirror image. Anti-matter milk will explode Alice, but an Anti-matter Alice on the other side of the looking glass can drink the anti-matter milk.

In Chapter 11 Alice captures the Red Queen. It results in a legitimate checkmate of the Red King, who has slept through the entire live size chess game without moving. The checkmate ends the dream, but leaves open in the story the question of whether the dream was Alice's or the Red King's. The programming has so often been only a dream to us. The outside world was so often just an unreal dream to us. What was real and what was not real? The real world (for other people) was full of contradictions, and the unreal world (our internal world) was consistent. Everything was upside down, forwards and backwards. In the Looking Glass book, one shuttles back and forth mysteriously between real and dream worlds. "So, either I've been dreaming about life or I only dream that life is but a dream."

As a slave breaks away from the programming, life becomes a bewildering confusion as the slave is pulled between two worlds. The internal world has everything the alter needs, the external world is a harsh cold reality that doesn't have much to offer. People in the external world can help make it real for a slave. The handlers will never do this. Alters will need a reason to want to come out of the internal reality which they are programmed to believe in. For so long much of life was seen as a dream. It will be hard to get a grasp on what was real and what was the lie. Many of the lies are more real than the truth. Life was sometimes like the parallel dreams of the Red King and Alice, like two mirrors facing each other.

The TALL Book of MAKE BELIEVE.

This book was published by Harper & Row in 1950 and was indeed tall, the pages being 4" x 9 1/2".

On page 14, the programmer would read the first paragraph of the poem and then say "sleep, sleep, sleep."

"Have you ever heard of the Sugar-Plum Tree?
'Tis a marvel of great renown!
It blooms on the shore of the Lollypop Sea
In the garden of Shut-Eye Town;
The fruit that it bears is so wondrously sweet
(As those who have tasted it say)
That good little children have only to eat
Of that fruit to be happy next day.
Sleep, Sleep, Sleep."

On page 16-17, there is a story about how a child is dragged under the kitchen door and becomes flat. There is a picture of a child being pulled under a door and coming out flat on page 17. This was used as part of the script to make the ribbons for the slaves. The ribbons in a system can go under doors and through the entire system. On page 23, Rosa the flat person (pancake person) is shown again. This is ribbon. The top of the page has a large cricket like creature that was said to the child to be the programmer (Dr. Mengele).

All of the stories in The Tall Book of Make Believe were used one way or the other in programming. We will just touch on some notable points. On page 38 is a poem about a Mr. Nobody. The programmers like to have alters identify themselves as "nobody". On page 39 is a poem/story about "someone" who comes tapping...but it is "only the cricket whistling". This was used to help program in that the 3 taps were the cricket (the cover image for the programmer.) On page 50, is the story of a girl who when she lays down becomes a different person Mrs. Brown. On page 67 is a poem Foreign Lands, where the child sees "the sky's blue looking glass" and then ends up "to where the roads on either hand lead onward into fairyland...and all the playthings come alive." In other words, what is in effect being communicated is: take the hypnotic image of flying into the sky in Papa's silver plane (as the plane goes up the trance goes higher -deeper) and then go into a fantasy land where all your wishes can come true--so that you can escape the hell us programmers are giving you.

On page 79 is the story of a ghost named Georgie who would run home and warn people at home when things were broken. This was part of the "fix me" programming--so that ghost-like alters, known as reporting alters, call "HOME" to "PAPA" if the programming is touched.

On page 84 is the story "How they bring back The Village of Cream Puffs When the Wind Blows it away." This story has several programming words in it, these words and their meanings are as follows: In programming the "Village of Liver-and-Onions" is a code word for "the coven".

"Prairie" means "ceremony site", and in another story "picnic" means "ritual". It's doubtful that most alters would remember these meanings, but they helped the abusers confuse the child. Imagine the victim trying to describe a ritual and telling someone that a village of liver & onions had a picnic.

ALIEN PROGRAMMING SCRIPTS

There are numerous scripts for the Alien programming. Recent novels and Hollywood movies provide a non-ending pool of programming resources for the Programmers. Visual reality headgear and other high-tech methods can easily be incorporated into an "alien abduction" theme. The following are samples of some of the people who the author Fritz has spent time with, who on one level knew they needed help, but didn't know just what they felt uneasy about.

PERSON 1. Had been abducted by "aliens" since she was a small child. Different types of "aliens" took her. Her mother worked for the CIA at Area 51. Her mother was abusive to her. One of her best friends is a Monarch slave. When the "aliens" come a bright light appears and then they abduct her. The "aliens" she works with the most look exactly like people, and in their handwriting show severe abuse. These benevolent aliens have taken her fetusus several times. She has time-travelled to "their planet." She is dissociative. The government authorities are constantly monitoring and tracking her, and have made an effort to besmudge her record, so that it appears like she is looney tunes. This is the type of cases that this book's co-author has spent time working with. Doesn't this sound more like human mind-control than real aliens?

PERSON 2. This person hears aliens within his head (which when described sounds like a case of MPD (DID). The "aliens" would take him and force him to have homosexual activities even though he didn't want to participate. But that was O.K. to him, because they were a superior race and if these benevolent "aliens" which are so far advanced beyond us, want to have sex with him, that is their perogative. This person has a lot of depression. This person wonders why the authorities seem to keep track of him.

PERSON 3. This person worked at Area 51. Has a photographic memory throughout his entire MPD system. He realizes that he is MPD. His best friend claims to be an alien, a god of sorts, and is known by both this person & Fritz to be part of Naval Intelligence. This best friend acts more like a handler than an alien, and this Area 51 worker gives his best friend total alligiance. This man has all kinds of "alien" type stories, which sound in many cases like programming. This person admits that his family is Illuminati, and the front alters say he has "watched Illuminati rituals as an adult, but hasn't participated". He shows signs of severe abuse. He is afraid to talk about trauma-based mind-control, but loves to talk about aliens. In fact, all three of the persons discussed on this page shied away from talking about Monarch mind-control, as if it were something not important, but they all love to talk about aliens.

And the list of interesting people like this could go on. When Mind-controlled slaves who have alien programming are being abducted by the intelligence agencies for their use and for programming here are some of the details of how and what occurs:

A bright light is shined into their house. They have been hypnotically conditioned to view this light as a Flying Saucer, whether it is a helicopter or something else. As the NWO does have Flying Saucers, sometimes the real thing is used. Men in Black (just like in SRA cases) are often associated with the abductions. And the slaves frequently speak about "shadows in the mind." The slaves are taken to rooms where examining tables with white sheets and X-ray machines, Headgear and medical equipment is in place. (The alien equipment has gotten more high-tech over the last 40 years. The "aliens" wear suits that are full of occult symbology. The people are restrained with clamps and electrical shock and energy is used on them. They are told that they are receiving information. They are given tracking implants and other implants. All of the 3 above persons, receive information from the "aliens" regularly.

Almost all of the elements of Monarch trauma-based mind-control appear in these abduction accounts, especially in the psychological features of the victim. The victims of "alien" abduction programming feel suicidal after they talk too much. They have headaches, sleep difficulties, nightmares, obsessive thoughts, a fear of hypnosis, trapped feelings, and paranoia. During their abductions the "aliens" use drugs, thought transfers, and painful medical procedures. The "aliens" use language that parallels the messages given to SRA victims, just change the language from "Satan is in charge" to the "Aliens are in charge".

Cattle mutilations where the blood has been drain are associated with abductions. There is documented accounts where cattle mutilations have been connected to Satanic cults using helicopters. The victims of "aliens" are forced to be impregnated and then the fetus is repeatedly taken. The "aliens" are repeatedly telling these victims that a holocaust is soon to come.

Another strange phenomena, that others and this author have noticed is that these victims of "alien abduction" seen to know each other, much in the same way that victims of Illuminati mind-control seem to know each other. And the "aliens" seem to know everything about the victims. The victims have amnesia of their abductions. The memories of their abductions are hidden in altered states of consciousness, that hypnosis sometimes can pull up. Most victims are afraid of hypnosis or can't be hypnotized (they have been hypnotized not to allow anyone else to hypnotize them.)

To give credit where due, Bowart's Operation Mind Control Researcher's edition, (1994) has an excellent appendix with charts which compare SRA mind-control victims and alien abduction victims. The charts reveal how similar the two groups are. In preparing these paragraphs, we have used his charts as as a basis for how we wrote these last two paragraphs up. However, the co-authors experiences in working with abduction victims match the findings of Bowart.

Do aliens from another planet exist? They may or may not. It is not a real issue, we have to face what is already on this planet. Fritz has several tapes of "aliens" of different types talking (which were obtained from abduction survivors) and their voices sound demonic and they are saying that they have been alive on this planet for many years. One said something like he's been here on earth 500,000 years. If an alien has lived on this planet for 1/2 million years, when does he get residence status. My! If that is true, he is no alien--we are! But one thing is certain, this planet contains some very slimy evil creatures who are either real non-humans or very deceptive dark humans. The Bible calls them demons and reprobate men.

The four most popular origins of supposed aliens on earth are all star groups relatively close to our solar system. They are: the Pleiades, known as the 7 or 9 sisters, because their are 9 stars of which 7 are visible; Sirius, the dog constellation; the Orion constellation; and the twin stars of Zeta Reticulli, which twin stars were amazingly charted by Chinese astrologers in 3,000 B.C.!

Fritz, the co-author of this book kept an open mind on the issue, could there be any benevolent "aliens"? Some abductees believed that their aliens were benevolent, but when they are debriefed the admit that mind-control and sexual molestation is carried out by the aliens. Fritz, has concluded with other investigators on this question, there are no benevolent "aliens", in fact the only aliens that may be around are what have been known as demons. People who have participated in high level Illuminati ceremonies report the presence of creatures that look like the various "aliens". (This whole subject is dealt with in another book by Fritz Springmeier.)

Some points might be briefly brought out. Fritz has amassed a great deal of evidence that the elite have human-built Flying Saucers. Notice how the controlled media always link aliens with Flying Saucers and UFOs? This is an entire book in itself, however, the bottom line is that at least most (if not all) of the alien abductions are simply part of the NWO's mind-control.

It is obvious that for various reasons (including the goals set down in the secret Iron Mountain government report), the government (including cooperating agencies like NASA) decided to use an alien abduction theme rather than a Satanic Ritual Abuse theme to their mind-control programming. The major differences in the programming methodology is that the blood rituals of the SRA are no longer used. The reason why blood rituals are no longer needed is that the high-tech harmonic machines (which implant thoughts-see chap. 6) and other high-tech methods eliminate the need for the blood traumas. The victims of alien abductions are taken at random, where the Illuminati victims are abducted more frequently around ritual dates. The person who believes in UFOs and aliens is going to receive the same type of treatment as those who believe in Satanic Ritual Abuse. The legal system and society at large are conditioned to treat them as nuts. This protects their abusers.

An Illuminati hierarchy member described their magic goal of pursuing "a spiritual path through the finer frequencies of outer time." The alien programming is one way to experience this.

ISLAND OF THE BLUE DOLPHINS

This is a child's book by Scott O'Dell. The people of an island have both an everyday name and a magical name. When the chief gives his magical name to a Russian captain named Orlov, he and his warriors end up being killed in battle. The alters of Monarch slaves have names they can give outsiders and then their access code names which must be kept secret. Part of the story is to stay in line with what one's ancestors have done. Other items in the book, such as the four winds from the four directions fit in with programming too. The book is just one of many that the programmers want the children to hear so that they naturally adopt the correct programming scripts.

THE LORD OF THE RINGS

Some Illuminati survivors are always looking for a ring. Rings play a significant part in the lives and programming of slaves.

One section that is coding/programming found in J.R.R. Tolkien's Lord of the Rings is "One Ring to rule them all, One Ring to find them, One Ring to bring them all and in the darkness bind them."

THE MOST IMPORTANT PROGRAMMING SCRIPT--THE LESSER KEY

One of the most important scripts for the Illuminati Mind-control Programmers is the Lesser Key of Solomon Goetia, The Book of Evil Spirits. The Illuminati Doctors Green, Black, White and Blue (that is Mengele, Wheeler, Cameron, and Mueller) were fully knowledgeable about The Lesser Key of Solomon Goetia. In fact, all those who go beyond the initial levels in the Illuminati are required to study the entire book. It's an important ritual book.

It is very out of fashion to believe in demons. It is in fashion to believe in aliens, in ghosts, in "the internal psychological wizard that guides you", and other things which to those high in demonology secretly know are simply covers for what used to be called demons. Both the high level Illuminati and the alert Christians are saying many of the same things concerning demons.

Is "magical" phenonmena real? Do the programmers really believe in it? In the Lesser Key of Solomon Goetia it answers, "I am not concerned to deny the objective reality of all 'magical' phenonmena; if they are illusions, they are at least as real as many unquestioned facts of daily life; and...they are at least evidence of some cause." (p.10)

The author of the Lesser Key of Solomon Goetia then points out that all our sense impressions of the universe are dependent upon changes in the brain. Reality is a perception of the mind. So the author states, "...we must include illusions, which are after all sense impressions as much as 'realities' are, in the class of 'phenomena dependent on brain changes.' Magical phenomena, however, come under a special subclass, since they are willed, and their cause is the series of 'real' phenomena called the operations of ceremonial magic."

In other words, when the Illuminati practice ceremonial magic, their magic to them is as real as life, but they do not feel a need to defend its reality. People in the occult encourage children to fantasize. Fantasy is looked at with favor. Whether the power and healing and mind-control of demonology stems from illusion or Jung's autonomous power of the human psyche to attract & manifest archetypes through the human soul or some other source is not an issue for Satanists. They are seeing results, power, healings and the destruction of their enemies by demonology. Within the Illuminati illusion, myth, and perception are all esteemed. Are they alone?

Are they alone? No, they are not alone. The myth that the United States is a democracy is probably a far stronger "reality" in the minds of Americans than the actual reality that it is a tightly controlled secret oligarchy with a republican front. But in this case, which is the greater real reality? The American believes his myth enough that he dies for it. He fights the "war to end all wars" and then the "war to save the world FOR DEMOCRACY" (to quote some popular world war slogans). In the American mind, he achieves victory even though he has fought and died for a myth. And even when the mythical goals he fought for aren't even achieved, he believes he has achieved a victory. The first world war never brought everlasting peace and the war to save the world for democracy ended after "victory" with more of the world under stronger totalitarian rule than before the war began. The bottom line is that myths and illusions make up a large part of the reality of most people's lives. Movie actors have repeatedly found out that they incur their fan's wrath if they try to reveal their real selves to the public.

The point also is that the person practicing ceremonial magic will not be impressed by the average person, even if he be a minister, who has structured his life on myths and illusions, who will tell him that his ceremonial magic is not real. The magician will naturally ask, "Who IS living in a world of reality?" Ceremonial magic is a very strong "reality" to the Illuminati's mind-controlled slaves, because the programmers make great efforts to develop the five "impressions" listed on page 11 of The Lesser Key, which are:

(2) Sound. The invocations.
(3) Smell. The perfumes.
(4) Taste. The Sacrements.
(5) Touch. As under (1).

These are reflected upon by the person, and these 5 produce unusual brain-changes. Later two more senses are also highly developed. Programmed multiple-slaves have visual and auditory aucuity far beyond the normal person. The Lesser Keys of Solomon Goetia goes on to say, "The Spirits of the Goetia are portions of the human brain. Their seals therefore represent methods of stimulating or regulating those particular spots (through the eye)."

"The names of God are vibrations calculated to establish:
(a) General control of the brain....
(b) Control over the brain in detail. (Rank or type of the Spirit)
(c) Control of one special portion. (Name of Spirit.)

The perfumes aid this through smell. Usually the perfume will only tend to control a large area; but there is an attribution of perfumes to letters of the alphabet enabling one, by a Qabalistic formula, to spell out the Spirit's name." (p. 12)

Did the reader grasp that? The most important script for the programmers is to use ceremonial magic which uses the names of God to establish GENERAL, & SPECIFIC CONTROL (via a hierarchial arrangement of demons) over a person's mind. More will be covered about this in Chapter 10.

But while we are on the subject let's go just a little bit farther. "If, then, I say, with Solomon: 'The Spirit Cimieries teaches logic,' what I mean is: Those portions of my brain which subserve the logical faculty may be stimulated and developed by following out the processes called 'The Invocation of Cimieries.' "

And this is exactly what the programmers do. They invoke via many rituals all types of specific demon (or demonic energy) to enhance the particular mental functions they want. For instance, Typhon and Choronzon (also Horonzon) are demons who are essential in building the structure of a programmed multiple. They must be invoked before the early start of dividing the mind.

Michael Bertieaux heads up the Horonzon Club, an unofficial part of Kenneth Grant's OTO. The demon Horonzon (or Choronzon) looks like a grey alien, and was conjured up by Sir John Dee, who was Queen Elizabeth I's genius advisor and court sorcerer. Transyuggothian magic is carried out in order to reach Transyuggothian Space (also known as Trans-Plutonian Space and Universe B). These existence of these dimensions are kept very secret. The ancient cult of the Star Sirius, from which supposedly we are now getting aliens, had rituals to get one into the celebrated Universe B. Sirius B (the binary twin star that exists with the actual Sirius A star) represented the god Ra Hoor Khuit. Sirius A represented the Egyptian devil.

Let's reflect on all this demonic "illusion". As stated, an American will die for the myth that America is saving the world for democracy. This made sense to psychologists at the time. However, if a slave dies for what he sees as the reality of voodoo magic, the psychologist dismisses it as unimportant--a mere coincidence. Since voodoo magic doesn't exist in the psychologist's mind, the psychologist believes that magic carries no threat to its intended victim. Likewise, because the psychologist doesn't believe in demons, demons supposedly pose no threat to the mind-controlled slave. The psychologist is really projecting his perception of reality upon someone else, and it doesn't work.

The Illuminati programmers are counting on the therapists ignoring demonology. In Bowart's in-most-respects excellent book Operation Mind Control, (Researcher Edition, Ft. Bragg, CA: Flatland, 1994, p. 249.) asks the reader to self-hypnotize himself by several times "looking into your mind's eye". To Bowart, he sees the trance state as merely looking into your mind's eye. He does not attribute any demonic activity to be involved with such things. No wonder, Bowart writes very disparagingly and critically about Christians who are trying to do demonic deliverances to slaves. But then as far as I know Bowart hasn't freed anyone of their mind-control either, he is just a reporter.

Both ministers and psychologists have contempt for each other's excesses. We must bear in mind that the victims of this total mind-control have their bodies, minds, and spirits enslaved. The body, mind and spirit need to be simultaneously liberated. A great deal of the success of the Programmers is that ministers have rejected the study of the mind (psychology) and therapists have rejected spiritual things. The victim is left without a way to heal both spirit and mind. Partial freedom is still slavery. And not only that but both therapists and ministers seem to feel the actual physical threats to the slave's body to be outside of their jurisdiction, and by default it is left up to the victim to provide. Which again without the body safe and healed, the mind and spirit are not fully free.

There are therapists and others who pontificate about how evil Christian ministers are for trying to deliver mind-controlled slaves from their demonic possession. This is not the problem. The problem is that the Illuminati have skillfully separated the various therapeutic elements both functionally and legally. The answer to the enslavement of body, soul, mind and spirit is a team of people who will address all the issues together. Both the psychologists and ministers see the excesses of each other, but a little humility would go a long way, for both sides to recognize each other's value. God works through all people, even those who resist Him. That is why he can rightly be called Almighty God.

THE USE OF LIES EXTERNALLY & INTERNALLY, THE USE OF COVERS AND FRONTS, & THE ART OF HIDING THINGS IN A SYSTEM

EXTERNAL DECEPTIONS

There seems to be no end to the lies that are involved with the Monarch programming. The old adage that nothing is as it appears, is generally the rule. However, once one catches on to the common tactics of deceptions, the tactics themselves become red flags which can alert a thinking person to what is hidden. This is similar to those Russians who could read between the lines when reading communist propaganda and figure out the truth.

The deception begins with covering up the identity of the slave. Within the Illuminati, the art of hiding genealogies is a fine art. Children are swapped and placed with foster parents. Mothers all of a sudden have babies, when no one has noticed them being pregnant. Investigators like Fritz Springmeier, who have been investigating court house records and other primary documents have seen court house records altered overnight, to cover up genealogical and financial information.

COVERS FOR INDIVIDUAL SLAVES

The individual slave is usually given a good cover. A good cover will be one that cannot be seen through, and still allows the person the freedom to get their job done. When building a cover, the following questions will be asked: how much will this cover allow this person to spend? what kind of people can this person associate with? where can this person go? and what kind of hobby can he or she have? By now, the Illuminati have their secret slaves in so many places that they have their bases covered in all fields. True life examples include: a Monarch programmer who appears to be simply a middle class housewife. A Monarch computer programmer who appears to be a deaf and dumb mute when in the presence of the public, but the deeper brilliant alters work secretly at programming computers during the day. An international spy, who is a programmed multiple, who has a totally different set of I.D. and wigs, so that when they switch to certain alters used for the intelligence agencies--they not only act different, they look different, and have different valid I.D. An apparently dumb blond may be a very intelligent highly trained Monarch slave.

Within the intelligence world Monarch slaves will function as Agent Provocateurs, which are people who join groups with the purpose of leading the group to do things that will cause it harm. The neo-Nazis are full of Agent Provocateurs as are some of the Patriot groups. Some Monarch slaves are what is called "clean agents"--that is they have never been used in intelligence work, so they have no record of use. Monarchs are great for being used by this or that group on a limited basis without anyone suspecting any connection. The Intelligence term for the elaborate cover histories they give one of their Monarch slaves to operate as an agent is called a "legend". Supporting documents will be placed into the appropriate government files to support the legend. The intelligence agencies may have several intact "legends" for different personalities of a slave.

The intelligence term is NOTIONAL. It roughly means "a fictional entity for the sake of an intelligence operation." Notional organizations are created to steal strength away from sincere organizations. If a church (or non-CIA KKK group etc.) gets too sincere and powerful, a well-financed notional rival will start up, and then later fold under scandal. The net effect is to destroy the entire cause.

At least half of the therapists helping Monarch slaves in the authors' area are programmed multiples themselves! The therapeutic community is heavily infiltrated. The help lines for women in crisis are all dirty. Some of the Christian groups that claim to help SRA victims are really fronts.

One recovering Monarch slave tells about how her father was the mayor of an important city in Pennslyvannia. He was part of the Illuminati and he introduced drugs into his area, and had a monopoly on illegal drugs in the area. As mayor he established the first drug hot line, so that people could inform authorities about drug trafficking. He staffed the drug hot line with his own people and this allowed him to get tips to eliminate his competition.

The intelligence agencies which are using mind-control are hiding their drug trafficking and criminal activities. One of the ways they do this is the so-called War on Drugs. The situation is so bad and widespread that even the controlled media has had news where they reported CIA agents smuggling drugs seized in South America into the U.S. using government channels.

When a slave is being programmed, the abusers will use schools, churches, Big Brothers, Boy Scouts and other activities to carry out the abuse and programming. Children pulled from classes will be given back-up amnesia so that they forget that they forgot. In other words, they are totally unaware that they have lost time when they were pulled out of the classroom. The teacher gives them a test score, and they are told they took a test during the missing time. How can the front alters deny it, when they have been hypnotized to believe it and they can see the test scores? Alter boys and boys at catholic orphanages have a record of being used by dirty priests. Recently, numerous priests have been discovered molesting children, and hundreds of lawsuits are underway, but it is still not coming out that this abuse is connected to trauma-based mind-control.

In the past, if the parents who were part of the Illuminati elite, but were not religious wanted their boy programmed, they could send him off to a military school run under the cooperation of the Catholic church and units such as the 6th U.S. Army, which became one of the primary infiltrated units. The 6th army uses the magical hexagram as its logo. This would provide the programmed child with a religious front. He could say, "I went to catholic school." The programming could be disguised as discipline, etc.

The establishment media have worked propaganda wonders for the abusers of the Monarch Mind-control. Britain is extremely repressive in their information control. If any news medium tries to leak the most simplist of information a secret document called a "D-notice" will be sent at any time of day to them from a D-notice committee, and the media will have to stop whatever reference is deemed a secret. In the U.S. it in effect works as tight, it just is not officially as tight.

The abusers know that they also have an Incredulous Factor that can assist them. Who would believe that a sweet child drinks blood and is cannabalistic? The more that they can do that is far fetched, the less credibility the child has if they do talk. Some children do try to talk. One Monarch slave talked at age five, and her entire family came down hard on her and blamed the child's talking for the death of one of the abusers. What kind of proof can a child bring that adults will accept? In the McMartin Preschool case about 800 children were witnesses whose stories colloborated the SRA and programming that was done, but the media, and the judicial system were able to cover up the abuse and make it look on television that the abusers were the victims! It wasn't until after the case was over and the property sold, that the tangible proof (the secret tunnels with paraphenalia) were found, and then the news media has covered that up too.

The abusers will often wear masks and costumes. Let's say a programmer wears a Mickey Mouse outfit, and the child would remember and tell, "Mickey Mouse hurt me." Now who is going to believe the child? The child has told the truth, but will be reprimanded for telling the truth. It doesn't take long for a severely abused child, who has been programmed to keep silent, to learn that no one wants to hear the truth anyway.

THE USE OF RELIGIOUS FRONTS

A great deal of Monarch programming and slave abuse, (as well as the drug trade) is done under three major covers or fronts: Religious Fronts, the Front of National Security and the Military, and the Entertainment fields, especially the Country Western Industry, the Rock Music Industry and Hollywood. The religious fronts were popular for centuries, especially when groups like the Jesuits, the Assassins, and other groups held immense power. Religious fronts are still being used such as J.Z. Knight, Elizabeth Claire Prophet's CUT church, the Church of Scientology, the Charismatic movement, Jim Jones & Jonestown, and David Koresh's group etc. Billy Ray Moore's Lord's Chapel is entirely a mind-control operation. There is a nondenomination Pentecostal church is southern Washington whose entire membership is Satanists under mind-control. Various overseas "missionary" groups are covers for the CIA & mind-control. It would take a book to explain how these religious fronts are part of the total trauma-based mind-control and how they operate to protect mind-control, however there are publications which go into some of the CIA connections to these groups. It is suggested that interested persons read these publications.

Some of the deceptions such as the lone assassin idea have been used for centuries as a cover for assassinations planned by the occult hierarchy.

If we are going to really reveal how the Monarch Mind-control is done, we will have to explain how the deception is done. If one describes a chameleon only by saying "it is like a lizard", without mentioning the camouflage, then the most important part has been overlooked. Religious fronts are an important part of the Illuminati program for making slaves. In fact, due to their gnostic philosophy of balancing their good deeds with their bad deeds, it is almost essential to have a religious front through which one can do good deeds. Even though adding this section to the book will spur some to blindly lash out at the book, still the whole story needs to come out.

When we, the authors of this book, write that the Monarch-type total mind-control threatens everything this nation stands for, we are not exaggerating. The Monarch Mind-control program has not been used just to program slaves--but it has been part of a much bigger deception. When this deception is realized by this nation, it will shatter the very fabric of trust that Americans have in their institutions. If Americans will begin to understand the power structure behind their institutions, and who controls this structure, they will begin to see the lies in the scripts that they have been fed since infancy. And YOU, the reader of this next section in this book, if you love the truth, can help begin the healing process to overcome some of the devastation that is going to rock this nation when the truth comes out.

This next section will help both Christian and non-Christian reader. The therapist can learn about what is happening so that they can better deal with what the SRA survivors are beginning to reveal.

The grooming of the American people to believe massive amounts of lies did work, UNTIL a few loving therapists, ministers, and doctors began to liberate victims of the Monarch trauma-based mind-control. These programmed multiples began revealing a horror story of deception unparalleled in history. For the reader to deal with the next section means courage. It means that the reader will have to muster up some of the same type of love of truth that the mind-control survivors must muster to free themselves of the lies of their satanic programming. What we see and hear can be programming, in the same way SRA victims are deceived.

Everyone in the Illuminati of any significance has participated in grooming the public to believe that Billy Graham is a great man of God. Graham has stood beside each of the Presidents and the Pope. The Illuminati don't just program individuals, they program whole nations. The public has been led to believe in a television image. But what if the secular media's image of Billy Graham is not real? For Christians it means that they can quit trusting in a man, and place their trust fully on God. For secular readers, they can begin to see the extent of how America's institutions have been corrupted by the horrible trauma-based mind-control.

The heart-beat of the Body of Christ is crying out that something is terribly wrong. We will address that. All of us, whether Christian or not, must step out of the lies and look clearly out into the darkness and see every facet of this evil mind-control. When men who worship the god of this world place "In God We Trust" on the Federal Reserve bank notes, we who know the truth must step out of our dream world and realize that they mean Lucifer. (By the way, the Federal Reserve is not a government agency, but a private banking institution of the Illuminati. This has been documented in a number of writings.)

The issue at hand in this next section is to show how the institution called "the Christian church", and the world in general has been deceived by a programmed multiple and this trauma-based mind-control. Secular readers will be shown that the doctrines that Christians want to believe in, have been subtly destroyed under the disguise of building them up. This is no different than the destruction of the positive values which hold any group together.

(After the repeated colloboration by essentially all the Christian churches worldwide in many activities as the NCC, the Billy Graham Crusades, the Promise Keepers and other programs, the Christian churches, Orthodox, Catholic, Protestant & non-denominational can be considered one institution.) The infiltration and control of the Christian religion has been one of the easiest tasks of the Illuminati. The Christian churches are what the intelligence agencies called "SOFT TARGETS."

The DECEPTION of BILLY GRAHAM, A MIND-CONTROL FRONT

In 1992, Billy Graham broadcast all over the U.S. his radio show called Embrace America 2000. In the Louisiana area, it came over the KJAM Lafayette Station. During the show, Billy Graham told the American people "we need to embrace the New World Order." Billy Graham is also on record stating that people can have salvation through paganism (another name for witchcraft). For instance, in McCall Magazine (Jan. 1987) Graham stated, "I used to believe that pagans in far-off countries were lost--were going to hell. I no longer believe that. I believe that there are other ways of recognizing the existence of God--through nature, for instance." Pagans believe that salvation can be obtained through nature.

This is not a pleasant story. Billy Graham has been built up to be the most respected popular person in America. Who wants to find out they have been deceived? We will try to give you the facts, or evidence, and may God grant you wisdom as you read this. This section is not propaganda for our own personal views. Years ago, when Fritz set out on his search, he had no final outcome in mind. Fritz isn't concerned with concealing facts one way or the other. There is no desire to stampede our readers any where. We do want to clarify many issues. We do want to help the truth seeker. But the co-authors personally have no battle to win, except that truth be brought forth.

The issues at stake are not trivial. Historically, Billy Graham's deception is one of the "greatest" deceptions that has ever been perpetrated. Some might argue the greatest, making Benedict Arnold, Quisling, and the Trojan Horse pale into insignificance.

Allow us to introduce you just briefly into the world of the Illuminati. All top hierarchy Satanists are required to have covers. The Illuminatus will have multiple personalities, and he or she will have one personality that is particularly shown to the outside world. They (the Programmers, handlers and the Illuminati councils) try to get the best covers that they can. They like to be clergymen, but they are also mayors of big cities, lawyers, doctors, etc.

A Christian psychiatrist who has worked with numerous victims of Satanism and Multiple Personality Disorder wrote this observation after having worked with a large number of ex-multi-generational programmed Satanic multiples, "Some satanists have invaded the church as it is the perfect cover for them. They masquerade as angels of light and gravitate towards positions of leadership in order to have more influence. Because much of what they say is sound doctrinally, they are rarely detected. Most survivors whom I have worked with had satanist parents who were in high positions in churches; many were pastors." (Dr. Fox, Loreda. The Spiritual and Clinical Dimensions of Multiple Personality Disorder. Salida, CO: Books of Sangre de Cristo, p. 196.) Let us repeat what Dr. Loreda Fox said, "Most survivors whom I have worked with had satanist parents who were in high positions in churches; many were pastors." She didn't say "some", she said MOST. Independently, we have discovered the very same thing.

People don't grasp that just because a preacher can sincerely preach what seems a "perfect sermon", doesn't mean that he can't also be part of the Satanic hierarchy. What is happening with the Illuminati's ability to create programmed multiples is that we are getting perfect preachers who are secret hierarchy members. Some of their "perfect sermons" are full of slides, such as "the Christian people need to get involved in the voting process." Christians love to hear such things, it tickles their ears, but the truth is that the entire voting process has been captured and corrupted. Voting machines have repeatedly been exposed to have been rigged, and the controlled media and public denial have prevented Americans from giving up their myth that the common man's votes run this nation. (The subject of election corruption is dealt with in Fritz's newsletters, etc.)

In Fritz's Be Wise As Serpents book (which exposed Billy Graham as a Luciferian in 1991), it is explained that high level Satanism is Gnosticism which requires that "the Force" of these great satanic magicians be balanced. In other words, in high level Satanism your good deeds must balance your evil deeds. People do not realize that unless someone does "good" deeds they cannot be a high level Satanist. That is why some of the greatest philanthropists are also our leading national satanists. To see Billy Graham do something commendable does not disqualify him from satanism. In fact, it is a requirement if he's been part of the Illuminati, such as ex-insiders/witnesses say he was.

In fact, it wasn't until working on this book that an eyewitness to the mind-control abuse of at the hands of Billy Graham offered to help contribute to this section of the book. In other words, an eyewitness helped write this. This eyewitness account by the Co-author matches what the list of eyewitnesses that Fritz assembled in 1993 have said. But the eyewitness went further and exposed B.G. crusades' skillful use of Monarch slaves to launder drug money.

Several police officers have stated that today, there is for all practical purposes no police training helping police to understand Satanism. They are highly trained in many areas, but Satanism is avoided.

When an SRA case involving multiplicity in Olympia, WA recently happened, the police who investigated the case found that they were treated as international experts in satanism by other policemen. They themselves knew that they knew very little. Where are the experts to teach us about how the Illuminati functions? Where are the experts who know who are in the Illuminati? There is no college open to the public that teaches Advanced Illuminati Studies 401, and gives degrees in Satanism. The expert witnesses are those who have managed to leave the Illuminati and Satanism, and stay alive long enough to talk.

But the other side will argue, how can we verify the testimony of your witnesses Fritz? Remember what happened to over 100 people who had some type of knowledge about the Kennedy assassination? Jim Marrs in his book Crossfire on the Kennedy Assassination lists 103 people who were key figures in knowing about the assassination who have died, many in circumstances that indicate assassination. The story we are dealing with here is just as sensitive to the elite as Kennedy's assassination, because it involves their preparations for the creation of a false Christ, called by Christians the AntiChrist, who will be the master handler/programmer.

The LIST OF known & credible WITNESSES

If the authors were to call my list of witnesses up to the witness stand--which I can't for it would be a death sentence to many of them, the list would include:

1 Council of Foreign Relations member, who is secretly against the New World Order
1 National Security Agency person, who is against the New World Order
1 CIA high level administrator
2 Satanists, still in covens, but unhappy enough with the situation to talk
4 ex-Satanists, 3 of which are eyewitnesses, all Christians now
2 ex-New Age leaders who worked with the Conspiracy, both became Christians
1 ex-33° Mason, now a Christian
Various Christians who have worked with Billy Graham, Pastors, etc.
Various therapists working with SRA victims
The man who ran Security at the Sacramento Crusade
Alice Braemer, a woman who worked as a secretary for Jeanne Dixon

None, except for a couple of exceptions, none of these people knew anything about what the other witnesses (sources) had said. The high degree of validation and collaboration that separate testimony by witnesses who have never seen each other and live in different parts of the country is very powerful.

There are several questions that pop up into people's minds who are not familiar with who Fritz is, and are not familiar with these witnesses. The type of worries some readers could be naturally having might be: But how are we, the readers, to know how accurate these people are? Are they trustworthy? Do they have a reputation for honesty? Could they possibly be giving false information to discredit a great man of God? These kind of questions can be natural questions for people unfamiliar with how this information was obtained. But we assure you, that what we pass on from these eyewitnesses can be relied upon. None of these worries have any substance to them, because the manner in which Fritz came to find out about Billy Graham has generally been while he was researching other things related to the Illuminati. The author has not been out to build a case, the case has built itself from numerous detached witnesses who have nothing to gain by telling what they know. These witnesses have not come to Fritz to feed him bogus information. Just the paper trail on Billy Graham is very revealing in itself.

Generally the information of these witnesses has been confided by these witnesses to their trusted friends. Initially, these witness have had no idea that the information they confided in their trusted close associates would go beyond their most trusted friends. These trusted friends then have had permission to let me contact them or find out their information. The reason why these people are believable is that the information they reveal could get them killed, and second, the manner and circumstances of how the information has originally unfolded has never been in any fashion or method that could be construed as an attempt to give false information.

CLARIFYING WHAT IS LOOKED FOR IN PROOF?

Too many people are considered guilty unless proven innocent--which means that a legitimate search for truth has NOT taken place.

On the flip side, we must bear in mind that hidden information that has laid dormant for years may totally reverse our understanding of something. Exceptional circumstances may surprise us. If some item does not lend itself to totally irrefutable, totally unqualified claims, then knowing this, the proper investigator uses words like "almost certainly" and "most likely". If the investigator feels strongly that everything is totally clear, he may declare that something is correct "without qualification." This is the nature of proof. We need to understand the qualifications and reservations that often are attached to evidence or conclusions. But we certainly do want to press our investigations as far as possible to get as many "unqualified" conclusions as possible.

Of course, by the time we write this, we have already done our investigating, and have one conclusion without any qualification: Billy Graham is working for the Satanic Hierarchy. We want to try to introduce the material in such a way that you will get some sense of the search, so that you will not simply accept our conclusion but will make rational spirit-led critically-thought-out decisions about Billy Graham. So for the sake of the reader's investigation, please, let us unshackle ourselves from our prejudices and preconceived labels. Let us suspend our judgment about Billy Graham one way or the other, until we have thoroughly studied, prayed and gained discernment about this.

It might be interesting to get some of the Masons, who casually without realizing what they were saying, have talked about Billy Graham's membership, or other aspects of his Masonic involvement. It's doubtful that such men would be of any value on the witness stand. Their numerous Masonic oaths to lie and conceal Freemasonry under penalties of gruesome death would tend to have more influence on them than swearing on a Bible. (See Duncan's Masonic Ritual book, p. 30 for the 1st Degree oath.) This type of witness, because they talked accidently and casually are very valuable witnesses to whoever accidently hears them, but unfortunately they must be assumed to be still loyal to the Masonic Lodge and would be hostile witnesses that will not cooperate.

If this were an actual court of law, depositions of Billy Graham's staff could be taken, so that it could be revealed to the court how many times they have lied. By showing their lies, their testimony would be impeached and Christians would realize that Billy Graham's staff have played a major role in the deception. This article will put forth evidence that impeaches the testimony of Billy Graham's staff.

We must refer readers to the Be Wise As Serpents book and other writings of Fritz for more information. Also some other books will be named too. Because these leaders are corrupt, they have been participating in the mass deception of the world about what Billy Graham does and who he is. In fact, if this were a court of law all types of people could be subpoenaed to take depositions, and we might find out many more things than we already know.

THE MOTIVATION OF THE CO-AUTHORS

Many people, who like Billy Graham, have imputed evil motives to anyone exposing Billy Graham. As the Scripture say at one point, "Am I to become your enemy because I tell you the truth?"

The story about Billy Graham and his life-long career for the Illuminati is not an easy thing for us to write. We do not enjoy speaking negative things against people. We do enjoy speaking positive things about people. And yet no man, no servant of God is above reproach. We can personally have an inner peace that what we have done was what we should have done. Something needs to be done to wake mankind up before its too late.

CLARIFYING WHAT IS ACCEPTABLE TESTIMONY

In some subjects, going to the encyclopedia or almanac will settle questions. In dealing with the Illuminati and high levels of the occult world--unless the investigator is willing to listen to eye-witness testimony, he or she will get nowhere. There is rarely any written record of their secret activities.

But how much stock can be put in eye-witnesses? Many people up to now have criticized Fritz for using eye-witnesses. But remember that if we did manage to get some paper trail or books on the subject, that book paper trail would not be acceptable in court, or even if allowed would not be as important as our eyewitnesses. In court, the written records can be introduced along with the person who recorded them. In other words, the personal witness is still important even with written documents.

The testimony of our eyewitnesses expose Billy Graham's mind-control activities.

Still, we want to bear in mind that witnesses have varying degrees of credibility and knowledge. The qualifications of witness in relation to what they are testifying is important. But to simply dismiss all these witnesses because they are not paper is simply to cut ourselves off from many valuable sources of information.

In accumulating evidence, the researcher will come upon two types of information. One is prearranged evidence and the other is called casual evidence. Casual evidence is evidence that has just happened to appear by accident. An actual example is when friends of mine met a total stranger who happens to be a Mason and he offhandedly talks about Billy Graham being a Freemason. Casual evidence is simply evidence that happens without the interested party having anything to do with it surfacing. Finding casual evidence is generally "luck". In this case, Fritz has bumped into a great deal of casual evidence, simply because he had his eyes open and has been investigating this area for several years.

Because of the situation today in this nation, there is little chance to get a proper hearing of this information.

In terms of the future, indeed, the backlash from this book may silence us. The truth will still remain, even if we and the other witnesses don't.

We can draw conclusions about ducks from studying various types of ducks. I can not draw conclusions about radios from studying ducks. I can generalize about American made cars, but I can't include in my generalization about American cars an ox-cart in India. This may sound basic, and it is, yet people try to generalize by lumping the generational Satanists in with everybody else, and it just doesn't work. They also try to draw conclusions about the Freemasons on the basis of what the Rotary Club they belong to is like and it just doesn't work. In terms of trying to get a proper hearing today, one of the barriers is that people use their own experiences to draw conclusions. People have nothing in their experience to allow them to draw conclusions about the Illuminati programmers/handlers who are moral degenerates and programmed multiples, who will do anything, in spite of their nice fronts.

The policies of DECEPTION by the Billy Graham Crusade staff

In 1992, a Christian named Richard Bennett, a friend of Fritz's confronted the Billy Graham Crusade staff. What he was concerned about was the Billy Graham crusade policy (that has been in place since the 50's) of sending Catholics that come forward back to Catholic churches. Documentation shows that the deception is worse than that, new believers that have never gone to any church are sometimes referred by the Billy Graham counsellors to the Catholic Church. Now, why would Richard and Fritz be concerned about the Catholic Church? Richard Bennett was a priest from Ireland who worked at the Vatican, before giving his life to Christ. He knows how the Catholic hierarchy prevents people from realizing what they have in Christ. For those who have read Fritz's Be Wise As Serpents book chapter 2.2 you know that Fritz is very concerned when anyone gives their allegiance to a power structure that is part of the NWO and part of its Monarch trauma-based total mind control.

Not everything about the Catholic church is wrong. Yet, the Billy Graham Crusade could never get the support it gets from conservative Christians if Billy Graham's staff didn't lie about where Crusade converts are sent.

What Richard and Fritz were concerned about was that new Christians would be sent to Catholic churches, which now are teaching Zen Buddhism, New Age things, not the salvation by grace that these new Christians need. Granted the enthusiasm of these new Christians might infuse some life into the Catholic church, but a babe in Christ is defenseless. He needs nurture, and the chance to grow. It isn't meant for new Christians to be thrown to the wolves. Anyway, last Spring and Summer, the Billy Graham Crusade Executive committee was confronted face to face with the evidence of what the Billy Graham Crusade in Sept. '93 was going to do. Actually, more people than Richard did confront them, but Richard is one of the most knowledgeable ministries to the Catholics in this area.

What the Billy Graham Crusade Executive Committee told Richard Bennett was that he had nothing to worry about. That the crusade would never send anyone to a Catholic church, but that if new converts wanted to go there on their own, that was their own choice.

Four Catholic leaders sat on the Executive Committee for the '92 Portland Crusade-- Chancellor Mary Joe Telly, a deacon and two priests.

On the Catholic radio station,(and we have it recorded,) Mary Joe Telly of the Billy Graham Executive Committee along with another Bishop Wall Schmidt told the Catholic listeners not to worry that if they came forward they would be guaranteed that they would be referred back to a Catholic church. They gave the assurance four times in that talk show. They said that the decision to send people who came forward to Catholic churches was firm because it had come right from the very top. This was 6 p.m KVDM Portland station. Our recording of this is a record of just one of thousands of lies that the Billy Graham Crusade people have told Christians over the years. In fact, from the evidence it appears the Billy Graham Crusade people say whatever they have to, regardless of the truth. In the North Star Baptist, Nov. 1964 there was article by Japheth Perez, who as a convert in the NY 1957 Billy Graham Crusade and a brand-new Christian, was sent to a Catholic church by the Billy Graham Crusade.

Ian Paisley wrote this comment about Billy Graham's staff: "Dr. Graham did not reply. He never does reply to letters like this. He states he never defends himself. He does have a staff, however, who are paid to defend him and who are never hampered by facts or bothered by ethics or logic in carrying out their duties. One of the group, George L. Edstrom, replied. The Jesuits themselves could not give a finer example of casuistry than his. It is thoroughly dishonest and deceitful, ...However, since this technique of deceit by misdirection, this failure to face up to the issues, this disregard of fact, and this blasphemous attempt to identify Dr. Graham's official connection with infidels and his flattery and endorsement of them with our Lord's ministry to publicans and sinners is so typical of the Graham organization..."

In Fritz's June '93 Newsletter From A Christian Ministry, a letter from Graham's staff was reproduced with a point by point exposure of its lies.

Christians are really not well aware of what the Billy Graham Crusade does. We quote a paragraph from a letter sent to Billy Graham clear back in the 1950s by a Pastor who grieved by what Billy Graham was doing to the harvest field.

"Some people say that if you have just one convert in an evangelistic campaign, it is worth the meeting. That is not true. The evangelist, as the pastor and teacher, is given to the Body of Christ. The real test of an evangelistic campaign is not how many people are converted but what kind of a spiritual condition does it leave in a community. Billy Graham is not only failing in the number of people he leads to the Lord Jesus Christ in this day when hearts are hungry and most people are afraid of what may happen in the world and when it is easier to get people converted than it ever has been in my lifetime, but Billy Graham is pulling the limbs off of the evangelistic trees and the orchard is being left in bad condition. As we have often said, the real test of an evangelist is not just how many converts he has but does he leave the orchard in condition so it will keep bearing fruit."

BILLY GRAHAM'S ACTIVE ROLE IN SATANIC RITUAL ABUSE

Before we get into the details, we'll take an overview.

Satanists thrive on power. Satan loves to give his followers power. Satan took Christ to the mountaintop and told Christ that he'd have a "crusade" and bring every one to follow Christ, if Christ would just bow down and worship him. Christ refused. Billy Graham accepted it.

We know a great deal how the Satanists took Billy Graham, the brush salesman and made him into the famous evangelist that he has become. Additionally, we also know from victims of Satanism, that have come out of it, that Billy Graham has been a Satanist himself. How can this be? and how can we know this?

One of the best witnesses is a Monarch program survivor, who has escaped from being a high-level Pentagon slave. This survivor witnessed Billy Graham working for the Illuminati. This survivor also carried messages for the Satanic hierarchy and personally knows that Billy Graham has been carrying messages from the top secret Illuminati to Presidents and heads of state. This person's information has been backed up by independent witnesses.

A second ex-Satanist also remembers Billy Graham as a Satanist.

Still another person, an ex-Illuminati person, who has MPD stood in front of Billy Graham and watched his eyes. This person said that it was very clear that Billy Graham has MPD and that he switches personalities. By happenchance or God's will, Fritz received a report from one of the women who went to church with Billy Graham's wife Ruth. The woman was told by Ruth in conversation that her husband Billy Graham is strange in that he always sleeps with his eyes open. It is characteristic of people who have MPD to sleep with their eyes open.

People who have MPD may have a devout Christian personality and a devout Satanic personality all within a single body. This is not uncommon. In Billy Graham's case, he is fully aware of what he is doing for the enemy in all his personalities, although his Christian personality may not be ecstatic about it all.

Billy Graham's Decision magazine has on its front page caption is "Changed From the Inside Out", and displays an infinity loop on the cover. Many Monarch slaves have had lots of programming around the infinity loop. This is an important trigger to remind them how they are captured by the unending repeating rebuilding programming. There are countless little things like this, which are evidence that Billy Graham is playing a role in the satanic mind-control of the Illuminati. Dr. Schefflin, a mind-control expert, told me that he saw internal documents from the 1950s teaching Billy Graham's people on how to have a successful revival. These documents instructed crusade counselors on things which were elements of mind-control, such as delaying people from coming forward to confess Christ until the "right" time.

If you've ever wondered how much Billy Graham knows--if the Illuminati haven't told him, a concerned Christian named David Hill, who was an ex-Mafia/ex-New Ager/ex-Mason did. The concerned Christian was a friend of Franklin Graham (Billy's son) and he had lived for two years at Billy Graham's house. He didn't realize that Graham had been sucked into the New World Order until he had confronted Billy Graham. David Hill, who was a ex-Mason turned Christian, who had worked with many of the world's elite, spent 18 hours in a hotel room warning Billy Graham about the New World Order. Billy Graham told David Hill at the end of their two days of talking in this eastern U.S. hotel room that he was "a captive of that [NWO] organization." In other words, after placing himself under the Illuminati's sponsorship in the late '40s, Billy Graham has had the choice of continuing to do his job for them, or being destroyed. Since they created who he is, they can destroy him. And he knows it. David Hill went on to try to expose the New World Order and lost (was murdered) his life just as he finished a manuscript exposing it.

Even a well-informed Christian like David Hill, who tried to warn Billy Graham about the NWO, was unaware of the extent of the deception of the Illuminati's mind control. David didn't know about programmed multiples.

David Hill, who was a high ranking Scottish Rite Freemason and an important Mafia figure before he came to Christ, had even been the go between for Billy Graham and Joe Banana, a Mafia kingpin. It was David Hill, who innocently believing in Billy Graham, arranged the meeting for the two men.

David Hill knew that William Randolph Hearst was part of the Illuminati. He was part of the branch Illuminati-- at what could be termed the 6°. William Randolph Hearst was totally into paganism. That is very obvious by a tour of his mansion in California which has been turned into a museum. It was William Randolph Hearst who financed the first three years of Billy Graham's Crusades.

Stu PAK is associated with the Stewart Title Company. Stu Pak provides funds for Billy Graham and others. The head of Stu Pak is friends with Billy Graham and George Bush. The company has a lot of relatives running it. The Morris family is also tied to it. The people of Stewart Title Company are ruthless.

The Van Duyn Illuminati family in California also helped Billy Graham's ministry get started.

One of the ways the Illuminati funnelled money to Billy Graham was through a monthly check delivered to Jeanne Dixon's office, which was picked up every month by Billy Graham's staff. After Dixon's secretary came to Christ she tried to expose Billy Graham's connection to Jeanne Dixon. Jeanne Dixon sells crystal balls with snakes. She is part of the Illuminati. Billy Graham wrote her a letter calling her "a woman of God." Dixon's secretary had a copy of this letter with Billy Graham's signature on it, after she became a Christian.

In 1952, in Paris, Billy Graham and another evangelist had dinner with two prostitutes and each one took one of them home. Billy Graham had a wife and children at home, so the whole affair was totally improper for an evangelist even if Billy Graham didn't have sex with the woman. He told his friend only that the prostitute had taken off her clothes and he'd gotten scared and come back to their hotel room. See Frady, Marshall. Billy Graham, A Parable of American Righteousness. Boston: Little, Brown & Co., p.169-170.

In 1954, the man who ran security for the Sacramento Crusade saw a high-priced hooker sneak into Billy Graham's room prior to him going out for the Crusade. Billy Graham and this high priced hooker were alone together in the room. It is this type of thing that has opened Billy Graham up to blackmail. Should Graham ever try to stray from the proper course set for him by the Illuminati, they have plenty of ammunition to blackmail him. (You may ask why would the Satanists from generational satanic families want to intimidate Billy Graham with fear? Why, isn't he from a generational satanic family? The answer is that the whole Satanic system operates off of fear. Intimidation & fear are standard everyday parts of their makeup and actions. Sort of the counterpart to the saying there is no honor among thieves. The Satanic hierarchy are in constant intimidation and power struggles.)

When Billy Graham wanted to, he could call up Henry Kissinger and say, "Tell him to call me the minute he comes in." (Frady, p. 451) Henry Kissinger is right in the middle of what the Illuminati is doing. Another Illuminatus that Graham had a working relationship with is Henry Luce, friend of the Baruchs. Luce and Billy Graham spent several nights staying up talking late into the night.

Knowing how the Illuminati work, it is very safe to assume that they have pushed Billy Graham into further degenerate acts. They have probably done everything they can to pervert Billy Graham, so there is no telling what sexual sins remain hidden. Kissinger is a member of P2 Freemasonry. If we were to assume that Billy Graham were not involved (and that is a big IF since we know that he is), then if one studies P2 Masonic recruiting tactics given in the book In God's Name, p. 116, then the reader will grasp that anyone of Billy Graham's stature who associates so freely with P2 Freemasons will be targeted and blackmailed and forced to join. Once they join, new members are forced to compromise other possible targets.

Billy Graham is part of the people who implement the Monarch program (which was a joint Illuminati/CIA total mind control program done to people). We know that he is serviced by Monarch sexual slaves (their kitten alters). It is very easy for the Network to keep these poor victims (Monarch slaves) from talking, and so the full extent of much of what has gone on may not come out in our lifetimes.

Another possible clue about Billy Graham's hidden life comes from Billy Graham himself. Do the readers remember how Jimmy Swaggert would disguise himself with sun glasses, etc. and his staff helped him carry out what he in part confessed? In Hollywood, FL (yes,FL!) Billy Graham said that he "often attends loveins and rock festivals incognito by putting on a false mustache and beard." He also said he found the experience in doing that kind of thing "refreshing." This story was in the Chicago Daily News, Dec. 29, 1969. The article's purpose appears to have been to make Billy Graham look hip to today's rock and roll crowds of teenagers.

Billy Graham described his friendship with Alan Dulles, "I make every effort not to let it appear that I favor one party over another. I count Secretary Dulles a friend, but Senator Humphrey is also a good friend of mine, [who he met]...when we were both swimming nude at the YMCA pool in Minneapolis where he was running for mayor." A friendship with Alan Dulles? Alan Dulles, director of the CIA, was one of the biggest perpetrators of the trauma-based mind-control that this book is about. Humphrey also received orders from the Satanic hierarchy. And what is this swimming in nude?

When Billy Graham had his 1954 Crusade, large sums of the money came directly from people in the Illuminati, the Whitneys, the Vanderbilts, the Rockefellers, and Chase Manhattan.

Billy Graham has numerous times attended Hollywood cocktail parties. Just two examples of which are: one given by Debbie Reynolds, and another one which was a cocktail party for Hollywood stars put on by Nixon at his San Clemente,CA home on a Sunday evening. Billy Graham's schedule is filled with activities such as playing golf with people who are in the Illuminati, or are Hollywood types.

The full impact of this constant fellowshipping with darkness is hard for people to grasp, because they picture that Graham is an evangelist and so therefore he must go where the sinners are. There is an expression, show me a man's friends and I'll tell you about him. It's one thing to spend time with evil to give it a chance to repent and come to the light. It is another to fellowship with evil and allow it to remain in darkness.

Let us quote from a neutral source, a group who had been investigating the role of church and state. They were trying to determine for their study whether Billy Graham has had an impact on all the Presidents from Eisenhower to Clinton. This study was not pro or anti Graham. It was simply trying to determine what impact this religious leader is having on political leaders. Billy Graham has spent a lot of time with all the Presidents, so their question was "has Billy Graham had some type of impact?" Their conclusion printed in the Journal of Church and State concludes, "...could Graham speak the word of truth - especially when that word may be critical or slashing -to the man in the White House when he is on such friendly terms with him? On the basis of the evidence now available, the answer must be no."

What a person does on his free time is said to be revealing. Christ did spend his time with sinners, but he called them to repentance. In all my study of Billy Graham, I haven't seen any of the Hollywood movie stars or politicians change their lifestyles by their association with Billy Graham. A number of "conversions" have been artificially created, and given widespread publicity by the press.

Pat Boone is the type of close friend of Billy Graham that perhaps typifies Billy Graham. He is someone well-received by the public. Billy Graham has enjoyed using him in Crusades. Pat Boone continued playing in Playboy type night clubs while he was singing at Billy Graham Crusades. Pat Boone who is pro-jewish, may be jewish, because the State of Israel has given him some special positions. There is nothing wrong with having "jewish blood", it just explains some of his connections. The Nugen Hand Bank was a CIA operation that laundered money, and did many illegal activities. Pat Boone was part of the Nugen Hand Bank scandal. Exactly how deep he was involved with the CIA's dirty dealing is unclear. Pat Boone's daughter Debbie Boone made a hit out of the song "You Light Up My Life", the words of the song were written by a woman who worshipped Lucifer and wrote the song to Lucifer.

Billy Graham has placed the emphasis in his Crusades on putting liberals, even Catholic priests, up on the platform with himself. When does Billy Graham ever spend time with solid devout Christians? Every time Billy Graham went to Moscow he tried to avoid the devout Christians of the unregistered churches who unwittingly tried unsuccessfully to meet with Graham. Instead, he would meet with the heads of the Orthodox Church, which, since all the changes in Russia, are now proven to have been KGB agents--although most of us had suspected that all along from the type of things they said and did.

How naive can Christians get? Do they really think that the Illuminati is going to let a legitimately powerful anointed Christian evangelist have regular access to their people? Don't Christians realize that if he was a real threat--someone who might really bring one of the top elite to Christ that they would be assassinating him, not wining and dining him.

--"BEWARE OF FALSE PROPHETS, WHICH COME TO YOU IN SHEEP CLOTHING, BUT INWARDLY THEY ARE RAVENING WOLVES." Mt. 7:15
--"BEHOLD, I AM SENDING YOU FORTH AS LAMBS AMONG WOLVES." Lk. 10:3

The Apostle Paul warned Christian leaders, "Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Spirit hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood. For I know this, that after my departing shall grievous wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flock." Acts 20:28-29

Bill Clinton, some senators, and Billy Graham's son Ned E. Graham invited the leaders of the Chinese house churches to a prayer breakfast in Washington D.C. Three delegates from the Three Self Patriotic Movement (TSPM) and 3 others from house churches were invited, Lin Xian-Gao, Li Tian-En, and Yuan Xiang-Chen. Rev. Ned Graham visited these chinese in person to extend the U.S. government's invitation. Graham told the chinese Christians that the government would pick up the entire tab for the breakfast. In return the U.S. government wanted the Christians to promise not to speak to the American press or to any Americans comments that might hurt the image of the Red Chinese government. The Chinese government had promised the American government that they would guarantee safe entry and departure for these house church Christian leaders. Then after the meeting, they were invited to Billy Graham's house.

The Chinese christians declined the invitation by Graham. Chinese pastor Lin said, "If I went to the United States, I would tell the truth, not lies. To tell the truth would definitely be considered an act of damaging the image of the Chinese government which would create a pretext for the government to refuse my re-entry into China. But my commission from God is to serve Him faithfully in China only. Therefore, I choose to remain in China rather than to go abroad."

Ned Graham (Billy's son) tried to talk the Chinese into coming, "I know that you surely do love your enemies, why then can you not compromise..." The pastor answered, "Yes, we can forgive our enemies for persecuting or opposing us in their ignorance, but we can never love the false prophets or their heresy." Ned also said, "It is a glorious and dignified thing to be invited by President Clinton. Many people seek it, but cannot obtain it." Fortunately, the chinese did not buy it.(This info and quote comes from China The Untold Story by The Voice of the Martyrs,Inc., 1995. pp. 25-31)

BUILDING AN IMAGE

There is another area of Billy Graham that we will only touch on. In one of Fritz's '92 newsletter, Billy Graham is quoted stating that he thought UFOs were angels of God. On either Jan. 28 or 29th (See Smyrna, Feb. '93, p.3), Billy Graham was interviewed on television by David Frost. Billy Graham said he believed people in heaven are sent by God to other worlds to help them in redemption of life. This is edging somewhat close to what the Mormons believe, that "Christians" (that is Mormons) will each receive their own planet to be god of. In another show, Graham said he wanted to evangelize other planets. Fritz has repeatedly tried to warn Christians of the many demonic dangers associated with the entire UFO phenomena, and the Satanic Hierarchy's connection to UFOs. Billy Graham's idea that UFOs are good angels is a dangerous idea.

Billy Graham was given the contrived artificial image of being a great anti-Satanist. At the Chicago Crusade, 200 Satanists stood up in the crowds. Mayor Daily of Chicago then said from the stand, Billy we have 200 Satanists that want to disrupt your meeting shall I arrest them? What shall I do? And Billy said, No let's sing a song. The crowd sang a song and the Satanists left the stadium on their own. The whole affair was clearly staged and hokey, but Christians are very naive about Satanism and Billy Graham. This further confirmed to them that Billy Graham was a great anointed man of God. First, hard core Satanists don't show their faces in public. Second, the Mayor of Chicago is not against the Satanists, he works with them, and there are reasons to suspect he is one. Third, Satanists, who do show themselves in public like Anton LaVey, want good publicity and would not carry out something like pretending to want to disrupt a Billy Graham crusade. Fourth, if a real threat had existed, Mayor Daily and the police wouldn't be asking Billy Graham what to do, they would be taking care of the problem. The police don't need to ask for permission to take care of troublemakers at the Crusade. Christians accepted this episode at its face value. Those who did clearly show the common church goer's poor understanding of those who seek to control and destroy the church.

How Billy Graham plays a key role in reprogramming Monarch slaves.

Two different talkative Satanists told sources of mine about 2 different coven meetings here in Portland in the Summer of 1993 where the covens discussed the benefits that the satanists were going to get from the Billy Graham Crusade. I know one of the benefits for the satanists was that Monarch programees who had become Christians and had deactivated the effect of their mind-control programming were to be reprogrammed with Billy Graham's help.

When Billy Graham arrived in town, someone on his Crusade staff had managed to find and send out invitations to many of the survivors of Satanic ritual abuse (SRA) in Portland to come to a special meeting to personally meet with Billy Graham. At this special meeting with SRA victims, Billy Graham personally began saying the buzz words to reactivate these people's programming, especially the Monarch survivors. (This comes from several witnesses.) For a number of years now, the Billy Graham Crusade has been putting messages across the bottom of television screens that has activation codes for Monarch survivors. Those Monarch survivors who have become devote Christians to escape the nightmare of the Monarch mind-control are often not aware of the danger of watching the Billy Graham Crusade on television. When people are activated, special people are in the area and they take the Monarch survivors to what are called Near Death Trauma Centers. These centers are used then to reprogram these poor people. There were five in this area, of which we located 2 and forced them to move their sites.

Religious fronts (denominations, individual churches and certain ministers) are used to hide criminal activity. Billy Graham, who is a programmed multiple himself, is exceptionally adept at managing his Monarch kittens. The drug money laundered through his crusades is carefully handled by many Monarch slaves working in shifts and teams, so that the whole scheme can not be uncovered by catching one person. Billy Graham runs big operations all over the world under the disguise of evangelism. Another of the countless religious covers, that works with the Network's/Illuminati's drug activities involves the Mormon Bishop warehouses, which are used to store cocaine. Monarch slaves are involved with this. Different religious labels hide the same criminal Network. By the way, when giving the Patriarchal Blessing, the Mormon Patriarch if he has a Monarch slave will use hypnosis and triggers to convince the person what their future will be like. One can't say this is happening in every case, but it is very widespread for the Patriarch who give these blessings to be part of the Trauma-based mind-control operations.

Billy Graham also personally delivers messages to the Presidents for the Illuminati, such as when he arrived just prior to Bush's decision to launch Desert Storm. Sometimes the papers even spell out that Billy Graham serves as a message boy, for instance, when he delivered a message in April, 92 from the Pope to North Korea's dictator Kim.

REFERENCES

The following three books were very helpful to me in terms of documenting Billy Graham's activities. All three authors were interested in documenting what Billy Graham is really all about. It may sound strange that I say that, but sadly most of the books that touch on Billy Graham like America's Hour of Decision Including a Life Story of Billy Graham are simply part of the deception process of the enemy. However, if anyone wants to know more about Billy Graham the following three books were very helpful for me to document Billy Graham's activities.

BILLY GRAHAM, A PARABLE OF AMERICAN RIGHTEOUSNESS by Marshall Frady. Marshall Frady was a writer for Life and Newsweek. He has done an incredible amount of research into Billy Graham's life. He doesn't touch on the sinister side of Billy Graham, but by giving an honest report about Billy Graham he tears off the "Hollywood-type mask" so to speak that everyone has seen and believed. Marshall Frady simply wanted to tell the whole story of Billy Graham, good, bad or otherwise. He spent many hours interviewing Billy Graham and many other people involved in Billy Graham's life.

When this book was read by a devout Christian, it totally devastated this person's media-built image of Billy Graham-- for instance, items like Billy Graham going to dinner with a prostitute and taking her home, Billy Graham walking past his wife and not recognizing her, & Billy Graham's New York crusade refusing to allow street people into the crusade because they were dirty. However, another Christian borrowed my copy of it, and said after looking at the book he didn't see anything wrong with Billy Graham in the book. But then he just read portions of the book. Still, unless one has spiritual discernment the book is probably not going to "blast a person out of the water", because it is a biography not an exposé. Until recently, this was the only really good biography that was available for Christians.

Many months before the Billy Graham 1993 Portland Crusade, the advertisements for the crusade and the crusade activity here in Portland began. Pilgrim Discount, which is one of the best Christian bookstores in the Portland area sells both used and new Christian books. They had a used copy of Billy Graham a Parable of American Righteousness. I watched for months to see if any Christians would buy the book. Tens of thousands of Christians got involved in the Billy Graham Crusade in the Portland area, but none had the interest to read the only biography of Billy Graham available. Finally, just shortly before the Crusade, a teenage Christian from Washington who had been warned about Billy Graham and who was trying to keep from being forced to attend, bought the book on a trip from Washington. This incident shows what Americans know--and what they want to know about Billy Graham is shallow media-hype. A Christian radio show here had the author of Billy Graham A Prophet with Honor on to promote his book, which was done just when the Crusade was days away.

A Startling Exposure- Billy Graham and the Church of Rome by Ian R. K. Paisley. This is perhaps the best book as far as actual documentation. The book is probably rare, and not available. Ian R.K. Paisley has made it one of his projects of his life to expose Catholicism. Because Billy Graham works more with Catholics than Protestants Paisley as a concerned Christian obviously found himself learning about Billy Graham. Ian R.K. Paisley knows first hand how powerful Billy Graham and his establishment backers are. They have a colossal publication strength to discredit any critic of Billy Graham in whatever manner it takes--even if it means outright lies and slander.

Billy Graham Reformer? Politician? Preacher? Prophet? A Chronological Record Compiled from Public Sources By the Church League of America 1951-1982. This book is from Edgar Bundy Ministries. It is a collection of articles that have appeared in the public media on Billy Graham over a period of 31 years. Billy Graham is condemned by his own words and his own actions.

If people only took a look at what Billy Graham is on public record saying it would startle them. Who is Billy Graham working for? Is he trying to build the Christian churches up, or is he trying to lay the foundation for a one-world religion? While some people may on first thought think that it is a great idea to have every one belong to the same religious structure, they need to reflect on the dangers inherent in one single religious body with all-encompassing power. The groundwork for such a dictatorial global religious body is already partially constructed, and is revealed in other writings of Fritz Springmeier.

How many people know that in 1955 and 1956 Billy Graham announced that he had a policy of sending people who come forward at his crusades to the church of their choice whether that church or synagogue is Catholic, Protestant or Jewish. For instance, the Protestant Church Life quotes Billy Graham in its 29 Sept 1956 issue, "Referring to the Billy Graham New York Crusade scheduled for May, 1957, Dr. Graham said: 'We're coming to New York not to clean it up, but to get people to dedicate themselves to God and to send them on to their own churches--Catholic, Protestant or Jewish."

There is one other book worth pointing out at this point. It was not a source book for my investigation, but I know the author, and the book came out recently, so it is likely still available. The book is The Assimilation of Evangelist Billy Graham into the Roman Catholic Church by Erwin Wilson. The address is Quebec Baptist Missions, Box 113, Compton, Quebec, Canada, JOB 1LO. It's nice that men like Erwin Wilson are noticing Billy Graham's love affair with the Catholic Church. He picked up on Billy Graham's statement about the Pope, "Pope John Paul II has emerged as the greatest religious leader of the modern world and one of the greatest moral...leaders of this century." (The Saturday Evening Post, Feb, 1980.) However, several of these anti-Catholic ministries are rejecting the bigger picture. They have strongly resisted learning about mind-control and the exposure of the conspiracy in Be Wise As Serpents. Because of this, several of these Christian ministries to Catholics have lots of information about Billy Graham and his close workings with the Catholic Church, but little comprehension of how the Catholic Church fits into the bigger picture, and how the New World Order is actually coming about.

There has been widespread concern about Billy Graham among Christians. Because the controlled media don't report these concerns, people are not realizing the extent of the concerns which have been voiced.

Even before the co-authors got involved in exposing the Illuminati and their control over religion and their plans for a New World Order, there has been a long history of concern by devout Christians over Billy Graham. There has been a growing dissatisfaction among conservative Christians towards Billy Graham.

The introduction to Erwin Wilson's book which is written by Dr. Bob Jones (Chancellor of Bob Jones University) provides an introduction to the concerns Christians have about the man who has been set up by the media and the money elite to be their greatest leader. We quote only a paragraph of what Dr. Bob Jones said, "Some of us who grieved over Graham's first downward steps toward compromise with apostasy and biblical unbelief knew that he was pursuing a direction from which there would be no turning back. While we grieved over him and prayed for him, we had to warn men against his ministry as we had warned Billy against his direction."

The first area is doctrinal concerns by devout Christians, who have been deceived that Billy Graham thinks as they do. Christians usually take for granted that Billy Graham is sound doctrinally. The following paragraph of beliefs of Billy Graham were documented in 1993 by Fritz Springmeier in his June '1993 newsletter, with its large document packet. Main line Christians would be shocked to find out what Billy Graham really believes and is on public record as supporting. This will help show non-Christians, who read this, that Billy Graham is not really the Christian he pretends to be. This is not to preach at non-Christian readers, for some of the non-Christian readers will agree with Billy Graham's stands. These views are written to show how a major Christian leader can have a false public image that has survived mainly because the full public record of Billy Graham's stands are keep low key. If we are big enough to look at the deceptions of our politicians and statemen, we must be big enough to face the deceptions of our ministers.

Some of the areas that Billy Graham deviates from Scripture are as follows.He is on public record supporting homosexuality, abortion, his disbelief in a literal hell, his support and practice of infant baptism to save children, his support for the Catholic church's worship of Mary (yet he calls himself a Protestant). He has repeatedly praised infidels and apostates as great Christians. He actively supported the American government policy to fight the Vietnam War. He would not challenge the idea that the Bible is mythology, when directly questioned. The deception doesn't stop with the Protestants, Catholic supporters have been kept in the dark about his abortion views. The deception goes way beyond Protestant, Catholic beliefs. As a programmed multiple who participates in Satanic Ritual, Billy Graham has deceived everyone.

The second area is concerns about his support for a One-World Church and a One-World-Government. This stems from 1. Billy Graham's public endorsements of the World Council of Churches and the National Council of Churches, 2. Billy Graham's consistent attendance at the World Council of Churches' meetings, 3. that Billy Graham has done more than anyone in the world to bring about the One-World-Harlot church, and he has done more than anyone to unite all the Christian groups into one organization, 4. Billy Graham's support of the Pope and the Catholic church which is the largest Christian religion and one of the pillars of the New Age One-World religious body being set up. 5. The support that the NCC and WCC gives him, 6. The support that the internationalists and globalists give Billy Graham. Billy Graham was first asked to do his Portland Crusade in 1993 by the WCC/NCC representative in this area who is a homosexual, a new ager, and leader of the ecumenical movement.

A third area is concern over the lack of depth that conversions at Billy Graham's crusades have. Some of the details on this are 1. Only 2% of the people coming forward at a Crusade have never been Christians and are actually giving their life to Christ for the first time, and of these 80% fall away, 2. A great majority of people that come forward are sent to Catholic and extremely liberal Churches, extremely few are sent to solid Bible believing churches., In the Catholic Standard and Times, Thursday, July 16, 1992, p. 10, this Catholic paper reported that 1,900 Catholics responded to Billy Graham's call to make decisions for Christ in the Philadelphia Crusade and were referred to about 250 parishes. 3. People that come forward are sent even to Jewish synagogues and New Age churches., 4. Converts are given the impression that Christ wants decisions for him, rather than that Christ wants disciples. 5. The people attending the crusades are almost all Christians, due to the high numbers of Christian counselors and the high number of church people which are always intentionally bussed in, (Frady exposes this, and in 1992 a writer of the Williamette Week did a major story for the magazine detailing how she had searched the entire week at the Billy Graham Crusade for an unsaved person and failed to find a single non-Christian. There were a few, but so few she didn't find any. Williamette Week, Oct. 1, 1992.) 6. Most decisions at the crusades are for trivial things such as to stop smoking.

Interestingly, Christians with discernment spoke about how hurting the churches were after the Billy Graham Crusade here in Portland. They had been made wild promises of success, they were fleeced of their money, and then given a lukewarm spiritual boost. Their comments reminded me of this warning to Billy Graham clear back in the 1950s as to how he was ruining the harvest field.

Part of Satan's Planetary control is through religious leaders. Christians have been conditioned to believe that Billy Graham is a great prophet of God by the establishment media, who have told us for years that Billy Graham was the most respected man in America. The percentages that the controlled Media have reported for Billy Graham's popularity may have been inflated. There are several studies that show how the establishment uses polls dishonestly to manipulate thinking.

The establishment media is able to create ideas so firmly within the mind of the public that it becomes almost impossible to deprogram people. What people see on T.V. becomes what you believe. The T.V. image becomes real. What actually happens at a crusade is far different from the media image. In Scotland for instance, a poll was taken of church membership one month before the Billy Graham Scotland Crusade, and two months after the Crusade. Church membership had actually declined substantially. So after spending millions of the Christians' dollars, Billy Graham had not even helped the church attendance of the Scottish churches. When Billy Graham holds his crusades, the churches in the area sponsor the crusade. In Poland, in a nation 95% catholic, the churches that sponsored his crusade in Warsaw were Catholic churches and when people went forward they were sent to Catholic churches.

Yet, when the mass media report on Crusades, it is made to sound like thousands of people became new Christians. Many of the devout Christians that have supported Billy Graham haven't thought through what is really going on at the crusades. They have been so caught up with the media image that they are not able to critically comprehend that the crusades are really major spiritual disasters.

The book for counselors at the Billy Graham Crusade here in Portland specifically stated that only Billy Graham was allowed to proselytize, that the crusade counselors were forbidden to proselytize anyone at any time during the crusade, or else they would lose their Crusade badge as a counselor. (See these instructions in The Billy Graham Christian Life & Witness Course, Minneapolis, MN: Billy Graham Evangelistic Association, p. 47, Instructions A.6.) But thousands of the Christians in Portland who became counselors for the '92 Crusade never gave it a second thought that only Billy Graham was allowed to proselytize, because they trusted Billy Graham.

Money that could have gone to helping victims of mind-control went toward superficial decisions for Christ. Money that could have gone to doing some serious damage to the evil, has gone for Madison avenue hype and for big shows. On top of this, the large sums that are spent on the Billy Graham Crusades serve as a cover for the Networks money laundering that they do through Graham's Crusade using a series of Monarch slaves in a complex series of money drop offs.

A fourth area is concern over his methodology. A body language expert says that Billy Graham's talks are simply canned. They are simply well-rehearsed canned-body movements and not coming from the heart. His crusade uses Madison-Avenue sales techniques instead of traditional scriptural methods to get converts. Billy Graham crusades always spend great sums of money for bill boards promoting Billy Graham and bumper stickers promoting Billy Graham, the end result is that Billy Graham's name is usually promoted millions of times more often than Jesus Christ. Christianity is consistently watered down and identified with the world and its ways. And a great deal of boasting is done about numbers of decisions instead of real meaningful discipleship.

A fifth area is concern over Billy Graham acceptance of Communism. Although many people feel communism is dead, this area is still relevant. If you think communism is dead go live in North Korea, where Billy Graham went in 1992 full of praise for North Korea. See Christianity Today, May 18, 1992, p.55. (By the way, Billy Graham & family have sat on the board of Christianity Today, and still control it, so it wouldn't misquote him.) 1. Billy Graham has repeatedly over international mass media claimed that there was no religious persecution under the communists, 2. Billy Graham has praised Mao-Tse-Tung's principles, 3. Graham has praised communist leaders on numerous occasions, 4. Dyed-in-the-wool communists who have been the ones giving orders to torture Christians for some reason feel comfortable spending time talking to Billy Graham.

The actual heritage and name of Billy Graham

There is a connection between Marxism and a group of Satanists called Frankists.

One of the strongest satanic cults to take control over the Jewish population was called Sabbatianism. Jakob Frank assumed the role of leader of this group, and afterward this brand of satanism was called Frankism. (Freud's sexually-obsessed theories came from Frankism.) Frank taught his followers to convert to another religion and hide behind that religion to practice their satanism. (One of several book on the subject of Frankism is The Contemporary Faces of Satan by Ratibor-Ray M. Jurjevich.)

Billy Graham's family when they originally came over to this nation were of the Frank family which is related to Jakob Frank. After coming over to this nation, they changed their name to Graham which is a Scottish name. Two groups of people who are over represented in the power structure over the last 200 years are Scots and cabalistic satanic "jews". Obviously, not all Scotsmen nor jews are involved in the NWO.

Several other researchers independently discovered that Billy Graham's heritage was the jewish Frank family. However, Fritz was beginning to suspect that there must be some kind of jewish blood in Billy Graham's heritage, because of the all the things he would stumble upon. For instance, the intimate connections Graham had with Jewish leaders and Jewish Christian ministries. And his assurances to them that they are God's chosen people, a special group. Graham privately told them, that because they are a special chosen group they don't need to come to Christ. (Fritz discovered all this by accident reading Jewish literature.) Further, the paper called "The C-9 Report For internal use only" states on page 11 that Billy Graham's daughters have lived in Israel, and that Billy Graham's son fought with the Israeli army in the Six-Day War.

In the Be Wise As Serpents book, chapter 2.1, "The Jewish author Gerald S. Strober in his book American Jews Community in Crisis, p. 110 states that after a resolution in Feb. 1973 at Pittsburgh by the NCC failed to declare the NCC against converting the Jews, that Billy Graham announced the following day a statement that God had a special place for the Jews and rejected "coercive evangelistic efforts." Privately, Graham has assured Jewish leaders he is against converting the Jews to Christianity. Strober also informs his readers (p. 111) that many Christian organizations that are "Jewish Missions" take their marching orders from Billy Graham. This confirms numerous reports..."

So Strober in effect is saying don't worry Graham is with us, and he controls most of the Christian organizations that are supposedly missions to evangelize us. Messianic Jewish groups are strongly pro-Billy Graham. Some of these groups have gained in size and then strangely gone back into Judaism. That kind of thing has been happening here in Portland, not to mention other localities. Now it is clearer why Jews coming forward at Crusades have often been and are being referred by the Crusade people to Reformed Jewish synagogues.

How Billy Graham is a 33° Mason.

This is an important issue, however, even if Billy Graham were not a 33° Mason, there are many things that he is doing that should warn Christians not to support him.

There have been a number of people in casual conversation who have mentioned Billy Graham being a 33° Mason, for instance a CIA leader, a NSA person who is against the NWO, and various Masons. These accidental revelations are what can be considered casual evidence, in that it is accidently heard. Some of the people who have read Fritz's Be Wise As Serpents book have been experiencing validation of what was written on Billy Graham by their own casual contacts with people. These types of encounters are very meaningful to the people who experience them, but their significance is hard to communicate to others. Hopefully, readers of this, who are truth seekers, will have their own casual-evidence-validation experience.

One piece of casual evidence came from a Shriner Clown. It turns out the only clowns who were chosen to perform for the Billy Graham 1993 Portland Crusade were Shriner Clowns. There were non-masonic clowns available, even some Christian clowns, but the masons were the only ones Graham allowed to perform for him.

Various people, who have worked in the system for the Illuminati, such as an ex-witch who is now a Christian, an ex-33° Mason now a Christian, and a CFR's person also now a Christian, all testify that Billy Graham is a 33° Freemason. A woman and a man who are ex-satanists and now Christians also have mentioned about Billy Graham's masonic membership. (One has to understand that there is a close working relationship between the Lodge and the Illuminati.) To progress up the ranks in Satanism, they will require you to go through Freemasonry. Freemasonry then teaches people about the symbology of the mystery religions.

If the reader were to get up in the morning and your mother, sister, and brother were in the kitchen and said that your mother had just drank a cup of coffee, you would be able to tell from their faces if they were telling the truth, and you would know that your mother had drank a cup of coffee. This is the way it is for us. We know these witnesses know the truth, and we know they are not making it up. But if people don't believe that, then they need to go scrounge up their own witnesses, and risk their own hide in doing the contacting. The material we presented here is not frivolous work. As pearls of value, we hope that this research is not taken and allowed to become pearls given to swine.

Because Billy Graham is such a key person for the Illuminati and the Satanic plan to bring in the Anti-Christ and the One-World-Religion, key parts of Graham's life have been intentionally shrouded. When he joined the masonic lodge c. 1948, they intentionally kept his membership more secret than others. Why? They are secret about their membership in general, but even more so if the person is a key Illuminatus and a big key to their religious control. This is why they have kept the membership of Charles T. Russell, founder of the Watchtower Society quiet. This is why they keep the memberships of the Mormon prophets secret. It has been a consistent pattern by the Masonic Lodge to keep these key people's membership very quiet.

It would be much easier if we had a membership certificate, but for people who don't want to believe no amount of evidence would suffice.

In terms of a paper trail we have the following:

- Billy Graham's books consistently refer to basically only Masons.
- Billy Graham endorsed the Masonic DeMolay program for youth as God's work. This endorsement by Billy Graham is in a Masonic book that is used to educate people about "the craft" (that means Freemasonry). That book is The Clergy and the Craft and it says that the people who are quoted in it are Masons. (See Haggard, Forrest D. Transactions Missouri Lodge of Research, Vol. No. 27, The Clergy and the Craft, p. 127. where Graham endorses the Masonic youth program.

In terms of witnesses who have put what they have witnessed in writing we have the following:

- Jim Shaw, ex-33° Mason-- the highest ranking Freemason to defect to Christianity, writes about Billy Graham being at his 33° initiation ceremony. Huntington House refused to print his book co-authored with Tom McKenney unless they took out Billy Graham's name on pg. 104, and substituted a general description. (See The Deadly Deception, p. 104-105.) Only Freemasons are allowed to attend these initiations. (See The New Age, the official organ of The Supreme Council 33°. Wash., D.C., October 1961, p. 30.) Some Christians have tried every thing in their mind to get around Jim Shaw's testimony. And the Masonic Lodge are now claiming that he wasn't a 33° Freemason. There is no doubt that he was a 33° Mason. What we are seeing is how important it is to the Illuminati to keep Billy Graham's membership secret.

Originally, Dr. Morey who wrote a book on Freemasonry told me over the phone that Billy Graham was a 33° Freemason and that he had held his membership file in his hand in the library of the House of the Temple, which is where the Supreme Council of the 33° has their headquarters. However, now he denies it and says that he only was told by the librarians that the file existed, but that he didn't examine the membership file. He wrote a letter to Christian News to the editor which was printed. At least, his letter to the editor of Christian News says that the Scottish Rite have a Billy Graham file. Fritz stands by his original statements about what Dr. Morey said, even though he has gone back on his original story and is getting people to think Fritz somehow invented what he told me. There are a great many things that are suspicious about Dr. Morey. His book on Freemasonry claims that Freemasonry started out a Christian organization. His book was printed by a company that uses the Knights Templar logo as their company logo, and whose company head is most likely a Freemason.

If it looks like a duck, quacks like a duck, and walks like a duck--what do you think it is? Long before I actually knew Billy Graham was a 33° Freemason, I felt that was the "most likely" explanation for what I was learning of him. What caused me to think that way? Everything about the man, just shouted Freemason. The way he talks, who he has as friends, etc. etc. This article is not capable of going into depth about small nuances and details, but suffice it to say that the Masons know how to broadcast to other Masons that they are a Mason.

It should be pointed out some of the key people for Billy Graham's staff have been Freemasons. Let's look at a few of the key people helping Billy Graham:

William M. Watson--DIRECTOR OF THE BILLY GRAHAM EVANGELISTIC ASSOCIATION, he is a Freemason, and he is also President of Occidental Petroleum Corporation. Chairman of Occidental was Armand Hammer. Watson is also a member of the development council of the Masonic run Baylor University. Baylor University has participated in the mind-control. (See also the expose of Baylor University in Be Wise As Serpents.) He also was a member of the advisory council to the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Ft. Worth which had at least three Freemasons on its board of trustees, and likely more.

David M. McConnell--DIRECTOR OF THE BILLY GRAHAM EVANGELISTIC ASSOCIATION, he is a Freemason. He was also U.S. ambassador to the United Nations (1968-69), business associate with Illuminatus Charles Gambrell, in Belk Stores of Charlotte, North Carolina.

Arthur Lee Malory--CO-CHAIRMAN of the BILLY GRAHAM CRUSADE Advisory Committee for the 1973 St. Louis Crusade--32° Freemason, deacon in the So. Bapt. Church.

Who are some of the primary ministers that had worked with 33° Freemason Billy Graham over the years?

Billy Graham has helped set up other 33° Masons in ministry.

Billy Graham has placed his stamp of approval on almost every well-known apostate Christian out there. When Billy Graham had a crusade in Japan, the Japanese minister that he had up on the platform was a well-known extremely liberal Christian. A conservative japanese was shocked.

Billy Graham is also endorsing many of the books, and ministries of these apostates.

Some of the three biggest ministers in the protestant world, Robert Schuller, Norman Vincent Peale, and Oral Roberts are all 33° Masonic brothers of 33° Freemason Billy Graham. (See Roberts, Oral. Miracle of Seed Faith, p.9.) Billy Graham has helped each of these brothers with their ministries.

Robert Schuller taught principles of church growth to Unity School in Kansas City. A Christian, who used to be on staff there, said that Robert Schuller was fully aware that Luciferian Initiations were going on at the school and that he didn't care. Robert Schuller, 33° Freemason, was helped into ministry by Billy Graham. Schuller also participates in the Monarch program and is also sexually serviced by Monarch slaves.

Norman Vincent Peale's form of Christianity called positive thinking is actually only white witchcraft with different names. Peale simply is a "Christian" witch. Norman Vincent Peale, 33° Freemason, his church receive the bulk of people who came forward at the NY Crusade. Norman Vincent Peale is a 6° Illuminatus (Pilgrim Society), and a 33° Freemason. In the magazine Psychic Magazine of San Francisco Peale says of occultist Kreskin, "All he's doing is dramatizing what I've been preaching in my writing for years.

Norman Vincent Peale controls the approx. $200 million Presbyterian Minister's Fund. He celebrated the 25th anniversary of the United Nations. He was the keynote speaker at the birthday of the late Mormon prophet Spencer W. Kimball (a secret Mason). Peale praised Kimball as a true prophet of God, and a great man of God. Peale practices witchcraft, and palms it off on unsuspecting Christians under different terminology. The false unity movement which is so strong today, wants to unite the devout Christian with the likes of Norman Vincent Peale. Peale is a good friend of Billy Graham, and Billy Graham referred the largest number of new converts of the NY Billy Graham Crusade to Peale's church.

Oral Roberts, 33° Freemason, helped into ministry by his masonic brother Billy Graham. Oral Roberts has been seen by witnesses participating in SRA and Mind-control.

Oral Roberts University and the charismatic movement is another important religious front. The Charismatic movement has been infiltrated by multiples since day-one. The history of the infiltration is extensive. Oral Roberts had cherokee blood. According to some things that Oral Roberts has said, some Christians think that he received his healing powers from an old Indian who healed him through indian shamanism when Oral was young. At times, Oral does use the same methods that spirit mediums use to heal with. According to slaves who have been deprogrammed, they were in satanic rituals with Oral Roberts. Christian ministers, who have participated in his ministry are saying that they have seen massive swindle in his healing ministry. His university is being used as a programming center. His basketball team at one time had Monarch slaves playing on it. We do not know if they still do. Under the prayer tower is one of the programming sites. Billy Graham, a handler himself, helped launch Oral Roberts University, and is a friend of Oral Roberts.

From the Illuminati's point of view Tulsa is the Guardian City of Apollo. The City of Faith is to be the center for healing from AEsculapius, a demon related to Apollo. While portraying themselves as Christians, infiltrators within the charismatic movement are carrying out satanic rituals to get demonic healing powers. Tulsa is one of, if the main center for the campaign to infiltrate Christianity via the Charismatic/Pentecostal movement with programmed multiples.

G. Bromley Oxnam, 33° Freemason, was head of the FCC churches, supportive friend of Billy Graham. G. Bromley Oxnam has a long history to him of working for the elite, interested readers can pick up his story in Be Wise As Serpents in the chapter that goes into the details about how the Christian churches were organized by the FCC and WCC for the Illuminati.

The NWO is infiltrating the churches via the Earth Stewardship Movement.

An attempt was made at Rio de Janeiro to get an Earth Charter but there wasn't enough time, their were lots of N.O.G. delegates and just in general lots of people to coordinate (4,000 attended). Another Earth Summit was promised, but instead they decided at the end of Sept/Oct of '95 to have a State of the World Forum to be held by/sponsored by the Gorbachev Foundation at the Presidio, CA. The ex-head of the KGB, Gorbachev is now headquartered in the Presideo, a major mind-control programming site. Christian basher Ted Turner was the chairman of the conference. The cost was $5,000 per person and the invitations went out to only select people. There were 100 handpicked politicians who received invitations, along with Billy Graham and Mother Teresa. This was coordinated with the 50th anniversary of the UN which was being celebrated all over the world.

FLEECING THE SHEEP

The charismatic movement claims to have the Holy Spirit in a special way, however, some seem to be lacking in all discernment that the Holy Spirit would give. There are several books exposing the big name Charismatic ministers. One is written by an ex-charismatic Assembly of God minister. He shows a picture in his book of an Assembly of God flier promoting the "Testimony of J. Edgar Hoover". Yes, the Assembly of God promoted the "testimony" of J. Edgar Hoover, while he was known to be a power hungry individual who practiced homosexuality. It was this type of hype that caused this minister to grow disillusioned with the charismatic movement's so called spirituality.

Recently, the spiritual discernment of Billy Graham and many other big time ministries was exposed when these big Christian ministries were conned out of $550 million dollars.

Billy Graham introduced John G. Bennett to thousands of people at a recent Billy Graham Crusade in Philadelphia in 1992. John Bennett gave his testimony at the crusade. Because Billy Graham, John Templeton, and Laurance Rockefeller were apparently supportive of John G. Bennett, big time Christian ministries "trusted" him. John told many of the big Christian ministries that if they gave him millions of dollars, for every million he received he would give them two million back. Many of the big Christian ministries gave Bennett money--in fact he collected $550 million (which he ran off with) from ministries such as Pat Robertson's, Bill Bright's, Chuck Colson's, Luis Palau's, Westminster Theological Seminary, Wheaton College, the Salvation Army and many others.

The reader may have heard of this New Era Foundation scam. That's what it was. Bennett told these "Christian" leaders "Give New Era one million dollars and we'll give you back two million." The donations of hard earned money by many innocent Christian believers were lost. However, the Christian believers are partially responsible because the church has refused to clean house of wolves that set in their pulpits. For instance, when Billy Graham came to the Portland area all the various denominations from the most liberal to the most conservative supported him. Only about a dozen churches did not get involved and only one church actively tried to expose Billy Graham--EVEN THOUGH THERE HAS BEEN A MASS OF DOCUMENTATION EXPOSING BILLY GRAHAM AS A WOLF FOR 30 YEARS. When the church refuses to follow God's Word and supports these men--then they must take some of the blame when these men give their millions of hard earned dollars away to a con artist.

INADEQUATE REACTIONS

When people have been warned about Billy Graham, one of the common responses is to for people to call up the Billy Graham crusade staff. If I ask a biologist a question about biology I can expect to get a credible answer. If I ask a mother about her son I can expect to get a credible answer. But how in the world can someone call up the Billy Graham Crusade staff and expect to get a credible answer to the question "Is Billy Graham a Mason?" The person that answers the phone is likely a secretary, someone who knows Billy Graham no more than the janitor. What does that person know about the Freemasons? Because the Freemasons are a secret society, in general, there are only two basic categories of people--people involved with Freemasonry, and they certainly know what's going on in it but they have taken blood oaths on penalty of death not to talk about it, and those who aren't involved with Freemasonry and don't know anything about it. There are only a few people who are not masons, who are informed about the Masons. The answer of some secretary over the phone to the question, "Is Billy Graham a Freemason?" is of little value, because the secretary or other staff member has not had the opportunity to get reliable information. This is from the standpoint of getting a reliable witness, calling some secretary or staff member is simply not a credible response to all the documentation. No court would view a secretary of a large organization as an expert witness qualified to settle such a dispute. The second catch is that such witnesses are not reasonably unbiased. It is expected that Billy Graham's staff would front for him any questions that could expose him to bad publicity. This last comment is not speculation. There is proof that Billy Graham's staff has consistently lied over the years to prevent negative publicity about Billy Graham.

When Richard Nixon met with his political buddies to decide who to have run with him, the person he asked first in the smoke-filled room was Billy Graham. I have read the account of this is more than one place, but I will quote Marshall Frady's description of when Billy Graham was asked who he thought should run with Nixon as Nixon's vice-presidential running mate. Billy Graham chose 33° Masonic brother (then only 32°) Mark Hatfield. Here is Frady's description. "His assimilation into the Nixon presidency had already been well underway, in fact, at that convention in Miami when, after Nixon's nomination, Graham wound up sitting in Nixon's penthouse suite among the smoggy late-night deliberations over Nixon's vice-presidential selection: Graham himself, whatever initial uncertainty he might have felt to find himself in such a political locker-room session, soon pitched into the proceedings with his own effusive recommendation of Mark Hatfield: "He's a great Christian leader. He's almost a clergyman. He's been an educator, and he's taken a more liberal stand on most issues than you, and I think the ticket needs that kind of balance."

In 1992, Mark Hatfield, along with Prince Hall Freemason Jessie Jackson both were on television in July of last year defending Billy Graham's actions. Mark Hatfield, according to a deprogrammed slave has been a user of Monarch sexual slaves.

NY's Union Seminary is controlled and funded by the Rockefellers. President of Union Seminary was Dr. Henry Van Dusen. Billy Graham made him a prominent person in his crusade and said he was a "classic example" of a mass evangelism conversion. If that is a good example of Graham's conversions, we Christians should shudder.

It is no coincidence that the Southern Baptists of which Billy Graham is a member, is controlled by the Freemasons. Brook Hays, Pres. of the So. Bapt. Convention was a high ranking Freemason as well as part of the CFR. None of the So. Bapt. Convention's Presidents have opposed Freemasonry.

Pres. Bill Clinton, a slave handler, is a member of the Emmanuel Baptist Church which is a Southern Baptist Church in Little Rock, Ark. The late Bill Moyers who promoted the Mystery Religions was a Southern Baptist. Moyers went to the SW Baptist Theological Seminary, the same school run by one of Billy Graham's staff directors. John Buchanan is another Southern Baptist. John Buchanan went to a So. Bapt. Seminary, and then worked as a front man for People for the American Way started by Jewish Norman Lear, an anti-Christian. People might be shocked to learn of some of the New Age teachings and New Age teachers that have been allowed into the Southern Baptist churches. The Southern Baptist youth program is based on Masonic ideas and is very masonic in its ritual.

SUMMARY

The reader is thanked for wading through a lot of difficult material. The reader can see why Billy Graham may well be the greatest deception that has ever been successfully pulled off. But as Abraham Lincoln said, "You can fool some of the people all of the time, and all of the people some of the time, but not all of the people all of the time." Ever since the early 1950s, there have been Christians exposing Billy Graham. But the control of the Christian media and the Christian seminaries is far more extensive than most people realize. The Be Wise As Serpents book diagrams out how the Christian religious denominations are being controlled, and how the Masons and Illuminati-connected administrators and trustees have control of most of the Seminaries.

Billy Graham without a doubt works directly for the Satanic hierarchy. But a rational and fair appraisal of what the man is, and what damage he has done to Christianity will probably not be given much of a chance. Nobody, no matter who they are is going to fool Christ. There will be a real evaluation done on judgment day and when that day comes Christ said,

"MANY WILL SAY TO ME IN THAT DAY, LORD, LORD, HAVE WE NOT PROPHESIED IN YOUR NAME, CAST OUT DEMONS IN YOUR NAME, AND DONE MANY WONDERS IN YOUR NAME? And then I will declare to them, I never knew you; depart from Me, you who practice lawlessness!" Mt 7:22-23

THE TOP SECRET AMISH FRONT (& HUTTERITES)

It will probably assist the reader to know that both of the authors have first hand experience with the following information about the Amish. Fritz was Amish for several years as a Amish church member in church districts in Kansas, Missouri, and Illinois. He has also visited numerous Amish settlements in the U.S. & Canada, and lived/worked with the horse and buggy Old Order Mennonites (not to be confused with the Old Order Amish Mennonites) in Ontario Canada for half a year. He has a manuscript of a book that he wrote about the Old Order Amish Mennonites, and has gone so far as to inquire with publishers like National Geographic if they would like some of his material. He has also attended a variety of Mennonite churches, including Church of God in Christ, Menn. (Holdeman's), Charismatic Mennonite, Conserv. Menn. and Beachy Amish churches across the U.S. He also knows first-hand that Illuminati slaves, some of who are programmers, have been infiltrated by the Illuminati into Mennonite churches.

Perhaps what may come across as the strangest religious front, and it is certainly one of the biggest secrets of the intelligence agencies is their use of the Old Order Amish Mennonites as a front. The Amish are the most pacifistic people, so the Illuminati/intelligence agencies have placed some of their best programmed assassins behind the front of being Amish. The front is real--they are Amish, well, many of them, some were Illuminati children switched at birth to give the programmers better bloodlines to work from. Some Amish women in cult families have let the Illuminati impregnate them with stronger bloodlines. Many Nazi bloodlines were hidden after WW II under the Mennonite/Amish cover. The Mennonites and some of the more progressive Amish adopt many children.

The Amish in Missouri (Jamestown), Kansas (south of Hutchison), and Oklahoma (Guthrie,OK), Kentucky, Ohio (Holmes Co.,OH), and Pennslyvannia (Lancaster,PA) have been involved in selling their children to the Illuminati. When the Illuminati would buy a child they would send in one of their own midwives to help with the birth and retrieve the child.

Generally, the Amish would sell their children when they realized they were going to have twins. One would be given to the cult, and one would be kept by the Amish parents. Because these children are born outside of the system, and have no birth certificates, they made excellent children to use in porn. They also can be used as expendable children to use in porn. They were often blond haired and blue eyed. The Amish women were not allowed to use birth control, it was forbidden by the church, and they were not allowed to have an abortion, and it was their duty to have sex with their husbands. It is possible that some parents sold their children just to get out of the responsibility of having another child. The Amish farms in Kansas and Oklahoma and in the border states like Missouri and Kentucky are mechanized with tractors, and they don't need the large families that the Amish in other places need. Due to the strong legalism that pervades their church, some have tried to get around the tight spot that the rules place them in by selling a few unnoticed children. However, there is an active witchcraft practicing occult group within the Amish which is like a box within a box within a box. It is very secret.

There are many ways of describing what is going on with the Amish. Let's describe quickly in half a page (it could be a book in itself) what a deep look at the spiritual dynamics of what is going on with their communities. The rise of Satanism within their ranks is simply a natural outgrowth of the spiritual dynamics. There were two trees in the Garden of Eden, one was the Tree of Life and one was the Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil. The first meant being transformed by the Creator who made them into the image of the Spirit of God and receiving spiritual life, but the other tree was performance. The Tree of the Knowledge of Good and Evil (religion) includes both Law (good) and license (evil). As soon as a group gets legalistic, they fall from grace. They then separate themselves by their performance and say in effect "look at what we're doing" which is a form of pride. God resists the proud, so they through a number of spiritual dynamics lose fellowship with God. This means they must cling to their legalistic traditions even more, because a live relationship with God is gone. (Bible Studies are forbidden by most Amish church distrists, and they don't get new revelation from God, they still are working off of the revelations of the 1600s, when they were traumatized and quit growing. When they split from the rest of the Mennonites, they were like a child alter split which never grows up.)

When a group gets legalism, they also get license, because the two grow from the same tree. Every Amish community has two large groups--the legalistic ones and the license ones. The young people are even split this way. In Lancaster County, the "Groffies" is the nickname of the large license group of young people who fornicate and drink. There is a smaller group of legalistic conservative young people too, who are at the other end of the spectrum. There is one group (gang might be a more appropriate name) called Jamborees who are an unruly and destructive collection of angry wild young people. The Bishops in Lancaster Co. meet twice yearly to keep this large settlement of opposites together. A lot of compromise and looking the other way is done for the sake of peace. "Peace" at any price is the name of the game. Even before a prayer is said in church the minister calls out, "Wenn mer eenich sin, wella mer bete." This translates, "If we are in one accord, then let us pray." Because peace is so important, they are out of balance in getting it. They place peace far above truth. In order to have the appearance that everything is well, secrecy pervades everything like the air one breathes. Because their whole culture is secret, children raised in it aren't aware of how strong it is, it is simply a way of life, like it is for the Illuminati. Legalism values conformity. Conformity perfers robotic obedience over understanding. In fact, one Bishop told Fritz, co-author of this book, "We don't want our young folks to understand why they do what they do, we only want obedience. Understanding is dangerous." Does the reader begin to see how the Amish make both the perfect setting for Monarch Mind-Control, and the perfect cover.

The Amish are a very secret group. During their early history they suffered severe persecution. Their culture teaches them to suffer in silence, which today helps their Satanic abusers infiltrate their culture. In the past in Europe, when the Catholic or Protestant church caught them they were tortured to death. They were hunted as animals and treated worse than animals when caught. This was the trauma, that Satan did to them, and the lie that was then handed them was that if they would cloister themselves secretly in the New World away from everyone else, they would be safe.

The Amish have shut out from outsiders the true flavor of their culture and beliefs. They are silent about their problems.

They tell themselves that outsiders couldn't possibly be interested in their affairs. The Amish themselves are very divided from each other. The divisions between Amish groups is called Zwietract. Zwietract can cover anything from a mild aloofness to a full fledged shunning (called the Meidung). The Amish aren't in general qualified to tell outsiders much in detail about their own heritage, or religion because they are so isolated from the other Amish settlements and have been raised in such an anti-intellectual culture. Most Amish are content to know that the way they do things "was always done this way" and that their elders and forefathers were gifted men who examined things very closely. Their social norms are not intellectually questioned by most Amish, but then American society has been very isolationist in the world and few Americans question their society & norms. Americans even rebel in the prescribed fashion, whatever the elite tell society is the "in" "cool" "hot" stylish way to do things.

The Amish are similar to the Mid-east culture in that they have a very indirect approach to saying things. They do not consider it proper to speak with a negative connotation about anybody. They also instinctively give pat answers to outsiders to blunt questions. These pat answers border on being rigid, prejudiced, and simple. They serve the purpose to deter curiosity.

The early Amish leaders were ex-Catholic priests, but most of the people were peasants who had little formal schooling, had little Bible knowledge, and came from southern Germany and the Rheinland where witchcraft was practiced by the common people. The Spirit of Witchcraft never left the Amish. It has always been with them. The folk witchcraft is called Brauche, and the craft is kept secret by old men who pass the incantations down in secret.

When the Amish moved to Pennslyvannia, they moved in next door to Rosicrucians. When the Rosicrucian settlements fell apart they joined the Mennonites, thus bringing their hermetic magic along with them.

Somewhere within the Amish were some families that were under cover for the Jesuits, and were sent in as spies long ago because they were corrupt. These families have been generational satanists, which practice pedophilia and other crimes in the safety of their isolation. They were placed within the Amish to help the Catholic church destroy the Amish. In Europe that happened under Hitler, when all the Old Order Amish were arrested in 1938 and wiped out of Germany.

Prior to WW II, the Nazi's part of the Illuminati sent over a number of programmed multiples which set up an unnamed cult in upstate New York. This cult was to help Hitler take power in the U.S. when the Nazi's won the war. They did not win the war, but 60 years later this Satanic cult still operates. Now 2nd and 3rd generation programmed multiples are now part of this cult. Somehow this Illuminati mission coordinates with the Illuminati project to get Hitler's bloodline hidden among the Amish, although the authors are aware of Hitler's descendants being in Oregon, and Washington as well as Pennslyvannia. One of them in Portland, Oregon works for the Federal government.

Lancaster County is sometimes referred to as the mother church. This was one of the original counties which the Amish settled in when they first came over to the New World. William Penn invited Rosicrucians, Amish, and other dissident religious groups to Pennslyvannia. The Satanic covens in Lancaster County, PA consist of members from Amish, Mennonite and Brethren churches. They are not simply all Amish.

Lancaster County's Amish will fellowship will all the approximately 200 other settlements of Amish around the country. What is a peculiar phenomena, is that many churches that do not fellowship with one another, will still maintain "communion" with Lancaster out of respect for place in Amish history. However, Lancaster County has some of the most immoral reprobate Amish that there could be. All this is hidden very well from the thousands of tourists, due to the secrecy of the Amish. The Amish do not often pay taxes, do not pay social security because they are exempt from the Social Security program, and send many of their children to Amish schools. They are truly a separate society which maintains rigid secrecy.

If you were the New World Order or the Illuminati where would you want to hide your assassins? The safest place is inside of the most pacifist group in the world, the Amish. Monarch mind-controlled slaves are being created out of Amish children.

During W.W. II, Amish conscientious objectors were forced by the government to do alternate public service in lieu of military service. This was known as Civilian Public Service. Amish & Mennonite conscientious objectors were placed into Mental Hospitals to help. They served at Allentown State Hosp., Allentown, PA; Cantonsville State Hosp., Cantonsville, MD; Cleveland State Hosp., Cleveland, OH; Delaware State Hosp., Parnhurst, DL; Denver State Hosp., Denver, CO; Greystone Park State Hosp., Greystone Park, NJ; Harrisburg State Hosp., Harrisburg, PA; Hudson River State Hosp., Poughkeepsie, NY; Kalamazoo State Hosp., Kalamazoo, MI; Lima State Hosp., Lima, OH; Livermore State VA Hosp., Livermore, CA; Macedonia State Hosp., Macedonia, OH; Marlboro State Hosp., Marlboro, NJ; Mt. Pleasant State Hosp., Mt. Pleasant, IO; Norristown State Hosp., Norristown, PA; Provo State Hosp., Provo, UT; Rhode Is. State Hosp., Howard, R.I.; Roseburg VA State Hosp., Roseburg, OR; Staunton State Hosp., Staunton, VA; Tiffin State Hosp., Tiffin, OH; Wernersville State Hosp., Wernersville, PA; Ypsilanti State Hosp., Ypsilanti, MI. The author, Fritz, believes that the complete story of how the Illuminati got a secret foothold into the Amish community lies in what happened in mental hospitals to the anxious-to-please, compliant, innocent Amish boys, who were assigned to these mental hospitals. Many people do not realize that during W.W. I, several Mennonite/Hutterite conscientious objectors were tortured to death by our government. Not a pretty picture when you find out how sadistic our government was willing to be toward its own citizens. Not only did the Amish boys go to lots of mental hospitals during W.W. II, but all of the religious groups that participated in the conscientious objector service (called Civilian Public Service) contributed boys to the Office of Scientific Research & Development (part of the Army), which was still using these boys for experiments until Dec. 31, 1946. What kinds of "experiments" were the Amish boys, who were offered up as guinea pigs, subjected to by the OSRD? We now know that some of these experiments were very dangerous to their human guinea pigs.

I-0 classification was the Selective Service Board's Conscientious Objector classification.

During the Vietnam War, Amish young men went into I-W service (conscientious objector service) at mental and regular hospitals. Their I-W service was for two years. Some of these young men were programmed at these hospitals. One Amish boy after he got home from I-W service committed suicide. The secret satanic families within various Amish settlements also offered up their children. This started a large scale super secret operation by the CIA/Intelligence agencies to set up Delta teams within the Amish. Who would ever suspect an Amishman? They have been expendable assassins for the CIA for years. These young men are strong farmboys. They have no connection between themselves and the outside world where they secretly carry out their missions, and if they die, there is no birth record, and perhaps a dozen other siblings for their family to continue on with.

During the Vietnam War, the Military's Selective Service did things differently than in W.W.II. Any hospital or mental hospital which applied for approval could get I-W (conscientious objector) boys. The Amish put together a Steering Committee to work with the government and the I-W service. In the I-W Steering Committee meetings (and the author Fritz attended one) it was stated by Committee members "The boys do not come back the same [from the hospitals]" and that the I-W service in the mental hospitals was "proving unsatisfactory and harmful."

Some of the mental hospitals which received Amish boys include Columbia Missouri's State Mental Hospital & Hospital complex, Colorado Psychopathic Hospital in Denver, all of the hospitals that got W.W. II I-Ws (as listed above), Central State Hospital, Indianpolis, IND, New Jersey State Hospital, Greystone Park, NJ, Philadelphia State Hospital, Philadelphia, PA, plus numerous others. At any one time, there were hundreds of Amish boys in I-W service. It is suspected that many of these hospitals were involved in mind-control, and it is known that the Columbia, MO complex of hospitals and Mid-Missouri State Mental Hospital, 803 Stadium Dr., Columbia, Missouri and the Veteren's Hospital across the street were involved in mind-control for the CIA.

A mental hospital had to apply to the Selective Service Board for approval to get I-W workers. Then their personnel departments would hire the I-W boys for positions such as nursing attendents. One State Mental Hospital administrator told Fritz that the whole I-W thing was "pretty confidential."

The Amish Steering Committee worked with the Mennonite Central Committee (MCC) which in turn worked for some quasi-religious group which is privately funded called The National Service Board of Religious Objectors (NSBRO) still active in Washington, D.C.

The Amish were slow to act, but by the end of the Vietnam War, they had managed to get some of their farms approved for I-W service and in 1971, the Steering Committee was able to announce that 70 Amish I-W boys were working on Amish farms in 8 states, rather than in hospitals. However, this late change was too late to protect their settlements from infiltration from sophisticated Illuminati mind-control.

HOW IT IS DONE

A programmed Amish boy will likely be contacted by what is called a "CUT-OUT". This is the secret contact person who maintains contact between the Handler and the Amish Delta. CUT-OUT's can either be given several slaves (a BLOCK CUT-OUT) or in other cases only know the up-line handler and down-line person (a CHAIN CUT-OUT). If further secrecy is needed by the handler, he can use "sterile telephones" which the Illuminati/CIA have which cannot be traced, even by the telephone companies.

When an Amish boy is activated and sent out on an assassination mission for the Illuminati/Intelligence agencies he is a professional at what he has been trained and programmed to do. Amish boys, programmed to be assassins, are used in what their handlers call "wet ops". This intelligence lingo means that human blood will run. Wet ops, also called black ops are debriefed by a briefing team. The Amish multiple will have to give a detailed account of the finished operation, once under hypnosis, once with a polygraph, and once under the drug scopolamine (a truth serum). And when the debriefing team, which includes a Mind-control Programmer, is satisfied that all of the inconsistencies between the different accounts have been ironed out, then the Programmer will block out all memory and guilt of the operation. The handler may write a "blind memorandum" which has no file no. or letterhead or name. Then Amish boy's assassination alters will be praised for having done a great service to humanity and to his country. The Amish boy can now be sent home to milk cows and work on his labor-intensive tobacco farm without any nagging guilt or horrible memories surfacing to trouble him (at least in theory). Trained assassins do have memory flashes, as all Monarch slaves have, but they are only bits and pieces.

People also do not realize that the Amish live in many more states than Pennslyvannia. They move all over the United States. If an Amishman was travelling on a CIA mission there are numerous of excuses that could be made for why he could be on the move. There are far more Amish young people away from the Amish settlements than people realize because they dress like the world. Many young people leave with the knowledge that they can go back years later and be accepted back into their community.

What are some of the mitigating factors in all of this? The Amish do their own butchering. They are down-to-earth people who are not afraid of blood. Essentially all Amish children grow up helping with butchering, and seeing life and death played out everyday on their farms. The Amish do not embalm their dead, and have their own cemeteries. The Satanic cult within the Amish can reopen the graves and carry out satanic ceremonies afterward. Their cemeteries are small almost hidden sites with markers hidden in grass. Some of these graveyards blend in with their rural settings.

Elmo, Joseph, and Victor Stoll are some prominent Amishmen. Joseph and Elmo have travelled a great deal esp. to Central America. Joseph wrote a book on Child Training which teaches parents how to break a child's will. This author is supportive of discipline and respect. The book is pointed out, only because it is a paper trail to show that the Amish discipline and the Illuminati's discipline at times can be similar. The only person who might see an Amish boy being disciplined (since they are a rural people) would be the immediate family or an occassional amish guest. An Amishman seeing a father carrying out the Monarch steps to build dissociation would likely not see anything wrong. If the guest did see something wrong (i.e. too strict or mean), the objections would be kept very low key. For sure, no non-Amish would ever hear about it.

The Illuminati families like the Dukes and Reynolds control tobacco production and cigarette manufacturing. In order to keep their lifestyle in Pennslyvannia, the Amish have had to grow tobacco for the Illuminati controlled companies. This author can only speculate what economic leverage that has given the Illuminati over the Pennslyvannia Amish.

HIDING A MAJOR PROGRAMMING CENTER

The blue prints of the Portland Mormon Temple at Lake Oswego, OR which sets over a secret underground programming site, were changed overnight after they were looked at. The original blueprints showed that Lake Oswego had allowed a building code to broken. The blueprint was changed, showing that Lake Oswego's city employees were working along with the Mormon church and the CIA to keep everything running smooth with their high tech secret underground programming center, which has the front of being sacred temple grounds. Three separate Monarch slaves independently described this underground installation, and there are other evidences of it too. In order to gain access to the underground programming tunnels, a person has to have to place their palm on the wall, where a disguised instrument identifies a person's hand. The entrances are disguised using the most sophisticated techniques. One is from the Temple Laundry Building south of the temple and another is from the hotel south of the temple. This hotel has a strange hard-to-find entrance to its parking lot, almost as if they haven't wanted uninvited guests.

Tunnels are widely used at the other various programming sites.

EXTERNAL & INTERNAL DECEPTIONS

There are some stock tools of deception that are used both externally on the world and internally on the slave when their system is programmed and structured. Later in the book we will cover the structuring. Since this chapter covers deceptions, we will discuss them here, but the reader needs to bear in mind, they will be employed in the structuring/programming phases of the slave's life. They are deflection, blinds, slides, Hegelian dialectics, and deniability.

a. Deflection is taking something good and deflecting its purpose. This is a stock tool. For instance, loyalty and obedience can be good virtuous things if given to the correct authority. But deflected to the false sadistic authority, they are disastrous. They use Deflection to redirect the power of truth which is opposed to them. Healthy foods, benevolence, ecology, love, acceptance, etc. are all part of the Creator's Christian walk. These truths and other are deflected from their original purpose of glorifying the Creator to glorifying their own programs. Rather than publicly opposing Christianity, they rename their own movements Christian, and then proceed to do very little for Christ, and everything for Lucifer. They are even deflecting worship of Jesus Christ onto worship of a demon named Jesus.

b. The next externally and internally used stock tool is called "Blinds"- these are deliberate deceptions placed within their own writings to confuse the uninitiated. H.P.B. gives a good description of the use of these, so do Masonic writers like Albert Pike. H.P.B. writing describes the use of Blinds in The Secret Doctrine, Vol. 5 Adyar edition, p. 435. Blinds are used in CIA documents, they are incorporated into the scripts that the alters receive. For instance, the in fetro Moon Child ceremonies are not revealed to the non-hierarchy alters, but they are told that the Moon Children have to do with the cage tortures.

c. Slides are truth that has been warped just slightly to take an investigative person into a dead end. An example of a slide, is that the New World Order is satanic, but that only Nazis and stupid people think that Jews are involved. This is a slide, because then the Rothschilds who hide behind their jewishness, can not be mentioned as suspects without people yelling "Antisemitism." In reality exposing these abusers has nothing to do with Anti-semitism, it's simply that all abusers no matter what good front they have, need to be correctly identified as dangerous. Another example, an alter who pretends to be helpful is placed in the system who says that the door to get to a castle internally is the fifth door on the right in such and such hall. The answer is correct, but the door must be opened using the left side, rather than the right side where the door knob is located. Because the answer doesn't pan out then the idea that the door is the correct door is discarded, and the alter's knowledge is suspect. Lots of psychiatrists are writing papers about MPD with slides. They give some truth, and then they give people a path to go down that will dead end them from ever finding the truth.

d. They use Hegelian Dialectics. This dialectic process doesn't happen on its own so it often has to be forced into happening. The idea is that each idea ("ism") called a "thesis", like say Capitalism, naturally by definition has an opposite, an "antithesis". In Capitalism the antithesis is Communism. The conflict between the two produces a synthesis. By controlling both ends of the conflict, one controls the end product, the synthesis. More than not, the One-World-Power can be seen working behind both sides of many conflicts. Indeed, the Secret Societies have been historically shown to be behind all the revolutions and wars in Modern Europe since the American Revolution. In religious conflict, both sides are often being manipulated. Some of the various groups openly admit their strategy is designed to create a synthesis. You will find Hegelian Dialectics has been introduced into the U.S. educational system by the Skull & Bones Order, an Illuminati group. It was adopted in Russia by the Slavophiles in the 19th century.

Communism, Nazism, Fabians, most New Age groups, Liberation Theology, and other parts of the Power use Hegelian Dialectics. Hegel in turn based his system on the ancient Greek atomists especially Democritus. Hegalian dialectics is built into the conflicting scripts that alters are given. Slaves who are twinned to another slave will find Hegelian dialectics employed in their twinning programming. The Hegelian dialectics can be worked in with the double-binds that the programmers love to use.

e. esoteric language.

f. Indirect interference with truthful information getting out. This is done by stealing the impact of the truth, by printing a parallel story with disinformation at the same time, or "leaking" an opposite story with disinformation at the same approximate time. Disinformation leaks can be done through the mass media, or an individual alter.

g. deniability. When orders are given and language is used, it is on purpose vague so that the guilty can deny their guilt.

At this point, it might be appropriate to cover some standard CIA tactics. They use some Monarch slaves as "Live Letter Drops". An LLD is a person who will remail spy letters. They will use "dead drop boxes" which are simply places that an item or message is concealed to be retrieved by some other criminal in the Network. They may give the slave a gift which then has to be passed on. They may protect a written message by writing it on edible paper. Safe houses are used, indicated by things such as 2 lion statues along with prearranged O.K. signals, such as the position of a flower pot.

INTERNAL DECEPTIONS

When building an internal world, the programmers use every trick in the book to hide things. First the abuse has to be hidden in silence, and then the MPD has to be hidden. Next, the real core needs to be hidden. Then, the purpose of a Monarch slave needs to be hidden. All the time that this is going on, the programmers must constantly work at keeping the programmers' identities hidden, and their programming sites hidden. Programmers usually have cover names when programming, and then hypnotically have the victim see them as something else. For instance, Dr. Green had victims see him as a cricket. He even used a cricket noise maker while programming, that clicked. In recent times, the Programmers and handlers are programming their slaves to believe that they are aliens.

The slave will generally be lied to that they have a "twin" somewhere.

Internally, the Programmer will begin making the System with the core related alters and then the front alters. The front alters will be rearranged in a fashion that the structure of the System is confused. The front alters will be given heavy programming, to convince them that nothing ever happened to them, they had a wonderful life. They will be given fictitious stories about the programming, so that almost every item in a System has a cover story to mislead an alter about what is going on.

Many things are placed in boxes. Clowns programmed to cut, are Jack-in-box clowns that pop up when an alter even thinks unapproved thoughts.

Some of the important things in a System may be hidden out front.

An alter on the front may think it is stupid, and yet they have access to internal maps of the entire system--which they can remember only on code. If a person (such as a therapist or nosey alter) goes to look deep in the System for the material he might be frustrated. Under a fanatically un-sexual (asexual) alter, will be a sexual alter. Under a stupid alter, may be an alter gifted in a language or art. Alters are very often hidden behind opposite types of alters.

Important things in the System, and many unimportant things, are all well guarded. Sometimes particular alters have to serve as the guards. Some of these guards are called Gatekeepers. Gatekeeper alters will appear near the surface of a system, and then again deep in the System about level 10, and 12. Gatekeeper alters are alters that the programmer must go through to get to deeper levels. The Gatekeeper alters are very heavily programmed to keep them in place. They will receive intensive lies.

Some of the access triggers which must accompany the verbal codes are kept secret, by virtue of the fact that no person in their right mind would use them, such as needles, electroshocks, or slaps to certain parts of the body to trigger deep alters to take the body.

Items in a System will be disguised, such as the clockmaker alter/demons will make clocks to appear in the system like anything they want. The only way these can be adequately identified is that these clocks are always disguised as gold items.

As the Programmers work, they like to find word games, plays on words and double-binds. They will also put in scrambling programs, deaf alters and foreign language codes to help protect their secrets. The alters who look the least to have programming may have the most.

Duplicate alters of most alters are created, so that even the alters themselves don't know if it is themselves or another alter. These duplicates are called mirrored images & looking glass people (LGPs). Some of the mirrored images may turn out to be demonic entities that have been placed using high level demonology.

Suicide alters, who are trained to have a big smile and be clowns, mask their intention to kill the body when they take the body of a slave.

A popular method for hiding things within the occult world, has been boxes within boxes. A Masonic organization will have a rite, with a secret rite, with a secret group, with an insider clique.

Common everyday items that surround the slave will be given special meanings. The songs the slave hears on the radio, will for instance have code words. The Programmers due to the corruption of the music industry knows what hit songs are coming out, and they will haul their slaves in and program them according to the lyrics of the soon-to-be hits. The lyrics will be written so that programmed meanings can be attached to certain words and lines. Something as innocent as watching T.V., listening to the T.V. or to a sermon may actually be programming a special message into the victim.

Hand signals will even be done over the news or other shows. For instance, Bill Clinton at his inauguration made a satanic signal during the inauguration ceremony. This sign of Satan is a standard hypnotic induction hand signal for slaves.

Clinton waves the sign of Satan with his left hand at his inauguration. This is a hypnotic induction signal for slaves. Although some might interpret this as "I love you" which is handed by the right hand of a deaf person, this left handed signal will induct slaves no matter what some people think the meaning is.

No wise person would knowingly choose to fight their opponent blind and deaf, yet that seems to be the choice which many nominal Christians are choosing. They would like to live in denial and to characterize this book as doomsdayer stuff and then dismiss and ignore this material. They want to eat, drink and be happy.

If people think that by putting their heads in the sand they can escape the future, or even the present difficulties, they may be in for a rude surprise.

The USE of ESOTERIC language.

One method of deception is the use of Esoteric language. Esoteric terms are understood by those deep in the occult, but are misunderstood by the common people. The best example is the term "Saturn."

SATURN

The word Saturn consistently turns up as an important word for the Illuminati and upper levels of the occult. Because Saturn is such an important concept, it should be covered in this part of the book. Therapists may encounter something to do with Saturn in a programmed multiple.

Before Fritz began researching the elite of the occult world, Saturn was merely meant an enormous planet 95 times the size of the earth's mass, the 6th of the solar system in an orbit of 29.5 years around the sun. This means that the co-authors of this book are less than three Saturnian years old. Fritz was also aware that Saturn was the father of all Gods in the mythology of the ancient world.

David M. Talbot in his book The Saturn Myth documents how all over the world Saturn has been worshipped even more than the sun god. Saturn has been the secret god of the occult world.

When we read in Deut. 18:9-10, "When thou art come into the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee, thou shalt not learn to do after the abominations of those nations. There shall not be found among you any one that maketh his son or daughter to pass through the fire, or that useth divination, or an observer of times, or an enchanter, or a witch." All of these practices are abominations done by Satanists today and are becoming commoner among Americans. Note that the first item mentioned by Moses in this passage was passing (putting) children into the fire (of Moloch).

A commentary (Keil, Carl F. and Franz Delitzch. Commentary on The Pentateuch, III, reprint, Grand Rapids, MI: Eerdmans Publishing Co., 1949, p.393.) on DT 18:9-10 is: "Moses groups together all the words which the language contained for different modes of exploring the future and discovering the will of God, for the purpose of forbidding every description of soothsaying, and places the prohibition of Moloch-worship at the head, to show the inward connection between soothsaying and idolatry, possibly because februation, or passing children through the fire in the worship of Moloch, was more intimately connected with soothsaying and magic than any other description of idolatry." The worship of Moloch was the worship of Saturn. There are perhaps various routes one can take to learn this. One route is a very close examination of the Scripture, especially the old Septuagint.

Scriptures actually write of this fact in Amos 5:25-26 and Acts 7:41-43.

Amos wrote, "Did ye bring unto me sacrifices and offerings in the wilderness forty years, O House of Israel? Yea, ye have borne the tabernacle of your king ("siccuth malkecem", or in the Septuagint it reads "skenen tou Moloch"!!), and the shrine (kiyyun) of your images, the star of your God, which ye made to yourselves" AMS 5:25-26

The Christian Stephen quotes these passages of Amos and connects it with the worship of the golden calf (bull or Taurus). His words on this are recorded in Acts 7:41. He further connects it in the next verse with the worship of "the host of heaven". In line with translations like the Septuagint, he states in verse 43 that Amos 5 refers to the cult "of Moloch and the star of the god Rephan".

Hebrew writing consists of only the consonants. The vowels can be added with what are termed vocalizations, which are dots. The Jewish scribes in their contempt for heathen gods placed vocalizations (vowel indicators) on the word Molech (M-L-CH) from a hebrew word for "shame". Because the incorrect vocalization was added out of contempt for the heathen names of abominable gods, the word Molech (Saturn worship) has been mistranslated by some translators. Further, the word Chiun (Kaimanu in Assyria) has been represented by the word Rephan in Acts 7:43. Rephan is Kaivan (Chiun) which is the arabian and syrian way of saying Saturn. Rephan apparently was a very limited or localized way of saying Saturn. The adoration of the calf (bull) in the wilderness was an important act of defiance by the Israelites-- while Moses went up on the mountain to speak to God face to face. This worship of the bull was actually worship of Saturn! Some call this star worship, and the bull was worshipped because at that time the constellation Taurus (the Bull) marked the position of the sun at the time of the spring equinox. The fact that the calf was gold was no accident--gold has many Satanic connotations.

For a modern occult reference connecting the Bull, astrology and gold together see Esoteric Astrology by Alice Bailey (Lucis Trust, 1951), pp 378-79.

Various scholars on ancient religion have written that the worship of Moloch was Saturn worship. For instance, Siculus Diodorus wrote, "...there was a brazen statue of Saturn putting forth the palms of his hands, bending in such a manner toward the earth, as that the boy who was laid upon them, in order to be sacrificed, should slip off, and so fall down headlong into a deep burning furnace..."

The ancient Roman circus, like so many public activities in America, was based upon the occult. The circus had 7 circuits, and had a pyramid in the center with 3 alters, one to Saturn, one to Jove, and one to Mars. This is an example of what the common people knew about Saturn.

Moloch, then was the Sun God, during the Zodiac period from Taurus to Serpens and Scorpio which is when the sun is hottest.

The Babylonians referred to Saturn as the "star of the sun". In the Mithraic Mysteries, Saturn was the Sun God. (See Hall, Manly P. The Lost Teachings of All Ages. p. facing 21.) In fact, Saturn was the Sun God of many of the Pagan religions, and was the foundation of the Solar Temple. (ibid. Hall tells us on pg. 97, Lower Left, that Saturn is the foundation of the Solar Temple.)

The Ten tribes of the Israelites fell into the ritual sacrifices of Moloch (Saturn worship and sacrifice) which brought them their judgment of Assyrian captivity. (2 KGS 17:16-17) Astrology, witchcraft, and ritual sacrifice were also associated with Saturn worship. Isaiah the prophet tells those who worship Saturn, "Let now the astrologers, the stargazers, the monthly prognosticators, stand up, and save thee." ISA 47:13 Saturn did not save the Israelites from captivity.

Ex-Illuminati members have revealed that Saturn is Satan. Yes, Saturn is Satan. The Satanic Illuminati hierarcy teach the high level students that "those who serve Saturn promote the return of the lost son Saturn."

The religion of Saturn is Saturnian gnosis--which turns out to simply be a rehash of the gnosticism that the high level Satanists believe in. Saturn is severe. Jupiter is mild. The merging of Saturn (severity) with Jupiter (mildness) is the creation of the new Golden Age--according to high level Satanic hierarchy teachings. The earth has been caught in a battle between a bi-polar world--the inner Solar Logos and the outer Saturnian sphere. The trans-Saturnian planets actually belong to Alcyone(!) which eventually gets its planets returned. (This may be the reason, that the Satanic hierarchy has treated us to "good aliens from the Pleiades." Alcyone is a star in the Pleides.)

Saturnian gnostic teachings are that darkness contains the light. What this means is that darkness is necessary for light to exist. And light appears within the matrix of darkness only by the Demiurge Saturnes--the Logos. This is what they teach.

According to Albert Pike in the Masonic Text Book Morals and Dogma given to 32° Masons, the work of the Sun is the perfecting (also known as the deification of) man. Christians view that it is Satan's work to teach men that they can be deified (which is rebellion to the one and only true God).

SECRET HIGH LEVEL TEACHINGS

In secret Satanic rituals, the Grande Master has a scepter which represents his authority to wield power through the Lord of this world who is known as Saturn. New Age leaders are calling "Saturn" "Sanat Kumera". A devil by any name is still a devil.

In a dialogue with a Mother of Darkness, this Mother of Darkness alter provides some interesting information. The dialogue went like this:

Mother of Darkness: "Saturn is the gateway that must be opened. For a season God has winked that man might be illuminated. But excessive light destroys. Man must not forget his destiny is concerned with loving regeneration of the earth [Mother Gaia worship] and balance. Soon the other eye of God must open. Those who are illuminated have kept the balance point. The majority of mankind has not. Few seek the ancient seed of wisdom that springs from the brow of Lucifer. Man becomes...forgetful of His spiritual ancestry and destiny....They are Ellyllon. Keepers of nothing. They fill the earth with their passing and crowd the planes with nothingness. They are a waste of the energies. And so the other eye must open. Each man shall receive abundance in what he seeks. Some call it Karma..."

Interviewer: "What do you mean by the other eye?"

Mother of Darkness: "The other eye of God as some would say. Chemosh. Cleansing Fire. The outstreched arms of Molech."

Interviewer: "What has that got to do with Saturn?"

Mother of Darkness: "Everything. This is a most secret thing. Saturn is the gateway. The point at which all thought is fixed. The point at which all feeling shall be projected as the eye opens. Much ritual and preparation has gone into the issuance through the gateway of the ancient ones. There has been a gathering of the elemental essence to clothe them. A strengthened invisible quintessence to hold them in this plane at the time of advent.

Interviewer: "And what will be the result of this advent? What will it mean?"

Mother of Darkness: "A restoring of balance. Those who do not seek wisdom shall cease. Those who are so bound to the earth that they forget the light shall cease....When the other eye opens the dawn shall come. The Golden Dawn shall be upon us and the sun of righteousness shall rise with healing in His wings....The urge to sacrifice others is a gift. It is a liberation from the awful rigidity for at least it permits an awareness of other humans. However badly...treated as a result of that awareness they have served an important purpose. The balance is kept and the light dwells upon the illuminated. The energy is released into the circle and is converted into something powerful and useful....In this way you can see they do not truly die. Light increases. Wisdom grows....Death begets life. The sacred cycle of the ancients. The earth shall regenerate herself when the eye of Molech opens."

There the reader has it, secret teachings from a Mother of Darkness on Saturn.

Gnosticism believes that there is a force (not Almighty God)--the Force as it is called can be used for evil or good. Within the hierarchy of the Satanists (Moriah), their thinking has no problem understanding that Lucifer is the same person as Satan. Satan is what happens when the evil side of the Force is being used, and Lucifer is that person when the good side of the Force is being used.

As in all of the Mystery Religions and in the occult world in general, people are told different things at different levels. Most people don't want to serve evil. They want to think they are good--their pride motivates them to want to be thought of as good and great. They will easily follow Lucifer, but are not going to admit to themselves or anyone that they are following Satan. NO problem--they are allowed to think they are Luciferians. OR if being a follower of Lucifer is too strong a statement, they can be a worshipper of almost thing. Satan in his pride has provided esoteric teachings on the worship of just about everything. There are esoteric teachings about worshipping rock, mountains, trees, the stars, animal spirits, mother earth etc. If one probes deep enough into the layers of hidden meanings all these worships go back to Satan. The five primary interlocked concepts of Satan, are all represented by the Serpent, which are Lucifer (aka Light-bearer or godhood); Search for light or wisdom; sun worship, the Sun god, or energy; fire also called Kundalini force; and the regenerative principle which is phallic and sex worship. These 5 interconnected concepts are represented world wide by snakes (serpents) and represent worship of the supreme serpent Satan.

THE EXTERNALIZATION OF THE HIERARCHY

The big event or operation that is being carried out is the externalization of the hierarchy. Satan's secret hierarchy with its pure Satanists have been around for thousands of years. But the Satanic conspiracy to control mankind is to become an "open conspiracy". The hierarchy is to be externalized. And the elimination of Christians (those who haven't sought worldly wisdom--that worldly wisdom which comes from Satan) --is to pave the way for Satan's appearance. The Satanic occult conspiracy is to leave its secret confines in Masonic Temples and Oddfellow Halls and is to permeate Society in general. This is what has been happening. The real light must go out for the dark side to feel comfortable coming completely out.

The Mysteries, also known as the Mystery Religions are the Mysteries that one is initiated into when one joins Freemasonry. In fact, the very first item any prospective Masonic candidate must do is fill out a form requesting to be initiated into "the Mysteries." The Mystery Religions were actually veiled forms of the worship of Lucifer or Satan. Lucifer is simply Satan dressed up as the Light-bearer. In the Mystery Religions the disciples are taught that the spirits of men are the powdered bones of Saturn. When one learns who Saturn is--it is a rather distasteful idea to think that men are taught that their bodies belong to Saturn. Further, Freemasonry teaches about Hiram Abiff and CHiram. It turns out when we study the Hiramic Legend by Freemasonry's best philosopher that we learn who Santa Claus is. Santa is a scrambling of Satan. Anyway the Hiramic legend goes like this according to Freemasonry great expert on the Mystery Religions, "Saturn, the old man who lives at the north pole, and brings with him to the children of men a sprig of evergreen (the Christmas tree), is familiar to the little folks under the name of Santa Claus, for he brings each winter the gift of a new year."

"Part of the symbols, are displayed...to the initiated, but he is intentionally led astray by false interpretations...Masonry conceals its secrets from all except the Adepts, the Sages and the Elect; and uses false explanations for its symbols to mislead those deserving to be misled." (This is according to the great Freemason Albert Pike in his book Morals & Dogma.)

It should come as no surprise that Saturn is one of the items which is mentioned by various Masonic authors. For instance, the Freemason Ragon, who is considered an expert on Freemasonry, wrote, "This is the important phenomenon, the ineffable mystery, the key to nature, which the ancient sages succeeded in discovering, and which they adopted as the basis of Masonic doctrine...It is the subject of Masonic legends. According to this interpretation, the revolting atrocities of Saturn...were considered interesting enigmas, which involve facts worth our notice." (Ragon, Tyileur General De La Franc-Maconnerie, p. 219-19 as quoted in Mohr, Gordon. The Hidden Power Behind Freemasonry, Burnsville, MN: Weisman Pub., 1990, p. 109)

Alice Bailey's Esoteric Astrology states that Saturn is the Lord of Karma (p. 105) Venus and Saturn shall rule men during Aquarius. (p. 148) "Saturn is the planet of discipleship... we stand at the gateway of the new world, of the new age and its new civilization, ideals and culture." (p. 148) The occult book A Treatise on Cosmic Fire, pp 1196-1207 states that Saturn is the 5th creative Hierarchy. This is the type of stuff that the Kaballa comes out with.

And American businesses which are controlled by the Illuminati are getting into the act of bringing the occult out into society. Ford called its car Taurus (Bull--the Pleiades), another car is named Aries which is another occult astrological name. Then there is the car named Saturn!!

In conclusion, Saturn turns out to be an occult name for Satan. Santa turns out to be an occult name for Saturn. It also turns out that the name Saturn has been used for Satan for centuries by the occult. The ritual sacrifices to Molech was Saturn worship. The opening of the eye of Saturn is the materialization of hordes of demons taking place during this time period. High level Illuminati, who will gather together in Atlanta in the summer of 1996, under the cover of the '96 Olympics will carry out high level rituals to open up a large hole for the materialization of hordes of demons to complete their push toward a world dictator.

The use of the name Saturn is an example of how Satanism operates under the cover of layers of deception.

Many Christian words also have occult meaning. There is a Morning Star Church in Tulsa which ministers to victims of Illuminati Trauma Based Total Mind-Control. There is also a prophetic magazine named The Morning Star, which is very slick and glossy. On the other side of things, the term "the Morning Star"--Stella Matutina in Latin- is another name for Lucifer. Stella Matutina is also the name of a cabalistic black magic lodge which satanist Aleister Crowley led when the Golden Dawn reorganized in 1903. There are Morning Star rituals done by Illuminati members.

One Illuminati slave, who was trained to infiltrate Christian churches and turn them toward the New Age movement, channeled a demon named Jesus. He infiltrated Christian churches for decades, and when he spoke about Jesus, he was referring to the demon he channeled. We know about this because one day, his front alters gave their life to Jesus Christ, and he abandoned his job of infiltration, and sought spiritual help.

People need to understand that almost all Christian terms have dual meanings. Just because a term sounds familiar doesn't mean it is being used in the way that a sincere Christian would understand them.

IN SUMMARY

To summarize, the Illuminati are manipulating technology, language, ritualistic activity, subliminal awareness, fear, lust, human vulnerabilities, and conflicts. These manipulations are external deceptions, which help cover up their trauma-based mind control. They use the best covers as fronts.

They use fiction, the best of religious fronts, travelling entertainment fronts, and the cover of national defense. They use deflection, blinds, slides, Hegelian dialectics, deniability, and esoteric language. They use agent provocateurs, "clean agents", "legends", and safe houses. The Illuminati have refined the art of deception far beyond what the common man has imagined. The very life & liberty of humanity requires the unmasking of their deceptions. That is what this book is about.

Electronics

These photos printed in a magazine in the Fall of '81 show electric prod marks on the necks of these two slaves who were used for porn.

These three X-rays, used with the permission of the 3 victims show in the top left x-ray a mind-control implant in the nasal cavity. The bottom left is a transmitting implant in the cortex, and the bottom right are electrodes implanted into the skull when this person was a child in the 1940s.

SCIENCE NO. 6-
THE USE OF ELECTRONICS & ELECTRICITY

Another basic component of the Monarch program is lots of electro shock. Stun guns, staffs with hidden electric cattle prods, and cattle prods are frequently used on the slaves. Electroshock is used to create the dissociation from trauma during the programming, and later it is used to remove memories after the slave has carried out a mission, or to instill fear and obedience in a reluctant slave. Slaves generally carry horrible body memories of excruciating electro-shock tortures to their entire bodies. As the slaves begin a therapeutic deprogramming process they will recover these horrible memories, not to mention many other painful memories.

A slave often shows electro-shock marks on their feet, or back, or buttock or legs after they have been used.

An owner of a slave will ordinarily carry a stun gun. This is perhaps a 120,000 DC volt stun gun to erase & compartmentalize memories, but some of the stun guns go up to 200,000 volts DC to erase the memory of his slave. They will apply their stun guns to the base of the skull. After giving programming instructions they will usually give a high voltage shock to the base of the skull to imbed the instructions deep in the subconscious. They often use hypnotic cues along with the shock. For instance, they will tell the slave they are "now going over the rainbow", and that when the sun goes down they will forget everything, before they shock the body. The shock destroys and scrambles the memory which is still stored in the short term memory section of the brain. They must shock the person within 24 hours, to insure that the short term memory doesn't get into long term memory as a coherent memory. This means that if a slave is being used daily, they get electroshocked daily.

Types of devices used by handlers:

A cylindrical type cattle prod with 3/4" between the contact points is used externally and internally. This is manufactured by Hot Shot Products, Inc., Savage, MN 55378. Model B-12. They have a red or black rubber handle with an overall length of 12". The low voltage is between 10,000-15,000 volts. The medium voltage is 12,000 to 20,000 volts. A bruise on the buttocks will be black and blue spots about 1 1/2" diameter each.

A hand held wand type shock prod which has 2 3/4" between its contact points. It uses a rechargeable battery pack. The prod (wand) is 2 1/2' long, and unwieldy to handle. Various farm supply companies (livestock equipment) sell this. The medium voltage is 12,000 to 20,000.

A stun gun which has exactly 2" between the contacts with a 9 volt battery. This stun gun was created for law enforcement, and is generally regarded as the best device for dropping a victim or for inducing hypnosis, or setting in a hypnotic program. Its high voltage is 35,000 to 120,000 volts. It is a light weight (12 oz.), compact device, 7" x 2" x 1". This device will leave deep red dot ("holes") scars and cancerous moles. The victim will develop moles from the repeated use of this device.

The muscled areas of the victim are preferred. For instance, the muscled area just below the shoulder blade.

Farrall Instrument Co., of Grand Island, NE makes a cattle prod with an adjustable voltage control. Their long distance wireless shocker called Personal Shocker can shoot a shock about 75 indoors and 300 feet outdoors. The control box is hand held, and the receiver is a leather case. The shock can be adjusted from 9 to 800 volts, current is 5 milliamperes, and it lasts 1 to 2 milliseconds. This Personal Shocker was manufactured to be used on people.

An electronic firm in Tujunga, CA makes a shock box used in programming.

An electronic bark collar is used to train Illuminati & other Monarch slaves in silence & obedience. On other occassions, fancy gem studded collars and leather collars are fitted around the necks of female slaves for sex with wolves and fierce dogs, who bite these neck-collars when they mount. Many of the slaves have experienced these various collars for obedience, silence, & bestiality.

In trying to track down who makes the larger electro-shock machines, especially the computer guided ones, we only got started investigating. Con-med (315-797-8375) makes medical electrodes for portable monitoring units. Sentry Medical Products, at 17171 Murphy, Irvine, CA 92714 (714-250-0233) makes Skin Mounted Conductive Medical Electrodes for Tense Unit Machines. In Vivo Metric, in Healdsburg, CA also makes silver Chloride electrodes for placement on human skin. Electro-Cap Inter. produces EEG placement systems. Uni-Patch Medical Products, 1313-T Grant Blvd. W, Wabasha, MN makes all types of Electrodes and some of theirs go onto machines for shocking people. Classic Medical Products, 582-T W 19246 Apollo Dr., Muskego, WI make electrodes for diagnostic and shock purposes. Arndt Automation & Assoc., Inc., 17770 Liberty Lane, New Berlin, WI, make electrodes for ECG and EKG machines. And a Colorado company named Biomedical at Evergreen, CO makes medical electrodes.

When a slave is taken to an impromptu programming site--a hypnotic drug is injected into them for a quick induction while a metal band is put around their head and a current of 100,000 volts will be run through for say 5 seconds into their heads. This will cause the body to shake, the eyes to close, sweat to pour out of the body etc. The hands are tied down with restraints. Sometimes the mouth is gagged so that the tongue doesn't protrude. After imbedding the hypnotic commands deep into the mind, the programmers might adjust the automatic timer on the equipment and give the victim another blast of voltage for 10 seconds. The person's body will shake and quiver for a while after this. They may dribble spit. Finally, the person will be brought out of their hypnotic trance, instructed not to remember anything, to feel happy and sent on their way. This entire programming session can last 15 minutes. Programming sites like this can be the back of a van, a back room in a restaurant, or any other place that the equipment can be set up at.

This is why a slave, who has been used recently, may hobble a little, or when they get memories feel a tight headband around their head along with awful headaches & flashes of light. The memory will feel like a robotic state to the slave.

Here is a drawing that one slave made of the electric headband used to program an alter.

The slave handler will also carry a black or grey spiral book with all their own slave's access codes, triggers, cryptic keys and programs. All this will fit into a brief case. A working knowledge of hypnosis is helpful to understand how to deal with the slave in certain instances. Because the slave is under the most powerful combinations of mind-control and is so divided against his or her own self, it is almost impossible to have many problems with the slave if the handler does what he is supposed to do. However, some handlers get drunk or loan the slave to inexperienced people, etc. and problems do develop. Of course the slaves always end up taking the blame for everything that goes wrong. If the slave gets out of hand, because the handler doesn't know what he is doing, a stun gun comes in handy to control the mismanaged slave.

In other words, a brief case with the programming book and stun gun are basically all that is needed to control a Monarch slave for the rest of his or her life. Some of these stun guns are only a few inches long and look like boxes. Other stun guns are imbedded in staffs. The canes and the staffs that Satanists carry around, like Michael Aquino (in public in fact) are actually stun guns to control their slaves. The Queen Mother's staff of the Illuminati has an electric stun gun hidden in it. Children in day care centers are reporting small boxes with wires that electroshock them during programming.

An example is given in Vol. 1, of how the Illuminati bloodlines connect to research about electric shocks to control people. For example, David V. Reynold's research, who wrote, "Neuroelectric Research: Electroneuroprosthesis, Electroanesthesia, and Nonconvulsive Electrotherapy."

Another way of using electricity for torture is to use directed energy (a new technology) on men's genitals. With skillful use of directed energy they can simulate a rape of a man or woman. Artificial sodomy via directed energy was first tested in male prisons. ELF waves will place thoughts into the men's mind as the directed energy make them feel sodomized.

MICROWAVES FOR PROGRAMMING

On Aug. 22, 1989, Phillip L. Stoklin, P.O. Box 2111, Satellite Beach, FL took out a patent --which is Patent Number 4,858,612 which is a device that can be placed in the auditory cortex of the brain. This device allows the following process: someone speaks into a microphone, the microphone then has its sounds coded into microwave, which are sent to the receiver in the brain and the receiver device will transform the microwaves back so that the person's mind hears the original sounds. In other words, a person with this device in their head will hear whatever the programmers send via microwave signals.

Various types of "non-lethal" weapons have been created and are now being used. Directed-energy can be used to sculpt clouds. ELF waves can be used to place thoughts in people's minds without using implants. In 1991, a paper trail began to appear when the CIA connected U.S. government Global Strategy Council came out with a paper entitled, "Nonlethality: Development of a National Policy and Employing Nonlethal Means in a New Strategic Era." Their paper was prepared by Janet Morris.

The USAF School of Aerospace Medicine, Brooks Air Force Base, TX put out a report USAFAM-TR-87-30 entitled "Behavioral response of rats exposed to high-power microwave radiation." High-power,ultra-short pulse-width emitters of microwaves were used to alter the thinking in rats. The report refers to two other reports: one by T. Wheeler, et. al. "Retrograde Amnesia in Rats Produced by Electron Beam Exposure," entitled USAFAM-TR-83-3, Feb. '83. The other report is by R. Bermant, "Classical conditioning of Microwave-Induced Hyperthermia in Rats." Radio Sci. 14 (6S): 201-207, 1979. This is a clear paper trail, that military research has gone on to control the brain via microwaves.

Another institution in Texas, the Texas Dept. of Criminal Justice TDCJ-ID, has been putting high-tech listening implants into the ear canal behind the ear drum which lets them monitor what the ear is hearing--a great way to spy. This is according to an implant victim who with medical help discovered his implant.

The Walter Reed Army Institute of Research (WRAIR) discovered that pulsed microwave audiograms also called analogs of the sounds of spoken words, could be transmitted to a target, and the effect on victim would be to hear voices in their head.

[57] ABSTRACT

A method and apparatus for simulation of hearing in mammals by introduction of a plurality of microwaves into the region of the auditory cortex is shown and described. A microphone is used to transform sound signals into electrical signals which are in turn analyzed and processed to provide controls for generating a plurality of microwave signals at different frequencies. The multifrequency microwaves are then applied to the brain in the region of the auditory cortex. By this method sounds are perceived by the mammal which are representative of the original sound received by the microphone.

MICROWAVE RADIATION GENERATOR

HEARING DEVICE

BACKGROUND OF THE INVENTION

1. Field of the Invention

This invention relates to devices for aiding of hearing in mammals. The invention is based upon the perception of sounds which is experienced in the brain when the brain is subjected to certain microwave radiation signals.

2. Description of the Prior Art

In prior art hearing devices for human beings, it is well known to amplify sounds to be heard and to apply the amplified sound signal to the ear of the person wearing the hearing aid. Hearing devices of this type are however limited to hearing disfunctions where there is no damage to the auditory nerve or to the auditory cortex. In the prior art, if there is damage to the auditory cortex or the auditory nerve, it cannot be corrected by the use of a hearing aid.

During World War II, individuals in the radiation path of certain radar installations observed clicks and buzzing sounds in response to the microwave radiation. It was through this early observation that it became known to the art that microwaves could cause a direct perception of sound within a human brain. These buzzing or clicking sounds however were not meaningful, and were not perception of sounds which could otherwise be heard by the receiver. This type of microwave radiation was not representative of any intelligible sound to be perceived. In such radar installations, there was never a sound which was generated which resulted in subsequent generation of microwave signals representative of that sound.

Since the early perception of buzzing and clicking, further research has been conducted into the microwave reaction of the brain. In an article entitled "Possible Microwave Mechanisms of the Mammalian Nervous System" by Philip L. Stocklin and Brain F. Stocklin, published in the TIT Journal of Life Sciences, Tower International Technomedical Institute, Inc. P.O. Box 4594, Philadelphia, Pa. (1979) there is disclosed a hypothesis that the mammalian brain generates and uses electro magnetic waves in the lower microwave frequency region as an integral part of the functioning of the central and peripheral nervous systems. This analysis is based primarily upon the potential energy of a protein integral in the neural membrane.

In an article by W. Bise entitled "Low Power Radio-Frequency and Microwave Effects On Human Electroencephalogram and Behavior", Physiol. Chemistry Phys. 10, 387 (1978), it is reported that there are significant effects upon the alert human EEG during radiation by low intensity CW microwave electromagnetic energy. Bise observed significant repeatable EEG effects for a subject during radiation at specific microwave frequencies.

SUMMARY OF THE INVENTION

Results of theoretical analysis of the physics of brain tissue and the brain/skull cavity, combined with experimentally-determined electromagnetic properties of mammalian brain tissue, indicate the physical necessity for the existence of electromagnetic standing waves, called modes in the living mammalian brain. The mode characteristics may be determined by two geometric properties of the brain; these are the cephalic index of the brain (its shape in prolate spheroidal coordinates) and the semifocal distance of the brain (a measure of its size). It was concluded that estimation of brain cephalic index and semifocal distance using external skull measurements on subjects permits estimation of the subject's characteristic mode frequencies, which in turn will permit a mode by mode treatment of the data to simulate hearing.

This invention provides for sound perception by individuals who have impaired hearing resulting from ear damage, auditory nerve damage, and damage to the auditory cortex. This invention provides for simulation of microwave radiation which is normally produced by the auditory cortex. The simulated brain waves are introduced into the region of the auditory cortex and provide for perceived sounds on the part of the subject.

DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF THE PREFERRED EMBODIMENT

This invention is based upon observations of the physical mechanism the mammalian brain uses to perceive acoustic vibrations. This observation is based in part upon neuro anatomical and other experimental evidence which relates to microwave brain stimulation and the perception of sounds.

It is has been observed that monochromatic acoustic stimuli (acoustic tones, or single tones) of different frequencies uniquely stimulate different regions of the cochlea. It has also been observed that there is a corresponding one to one relationship between the frequency of a monochromatic acoustic stimulus and the region of the auditory cortex neurally stimulated by the cochlear nerve under the physiologically normal conditions (tonotopicity).

It is has been observed that for an acoustic tone of a frequency which is at the lower end of the entire acoustical range perceivable by a person, that a thin lateral region ("Line") parallel to the medial axis of the brain and toward the inferior portion of the primary auditory cortex is stimulated. For an acoustic tone whose frequency is toward the high end of the entire perceivable acoustic range, a thin lateral region parallel to the medial axis and toward the superior portion of the primary auditory cortex is stimulated.

Neural stimulation results in the generation of a broad band of microwave photons by the change in rotational energy state of protons integral to the neuron membrane of the auditory cortex. The physical size and shape of the brain/skull cavity, together with the (semiconductor) properties (conductivity and dielectric constant) of the brain tissue provide an electromagnetic resonant cavity. Specific single frequencies are constructively reinforced so that a number of standing electromagnetic waves, each at its own single electromagnetic frequency in the microwave frequency region, are generated in the brain. Each such standing electromagnetic wave is called a characteristic mode of the brain/skull cavity.

Analysis in terms of prolate spheroidal wave functions indicates that transverse electric field components of these modes have maxima in the region of the auditory cortex. This analysis further shows that transverse electric field possess a variation of amplitude with angle in the angular plane (along the vertical dimension of the auditory cortex) and that is dependent only upon the primary mode number.

The auditory cortex in the normally functioning mammalian brain is a source of microwave modes. The auditory cortex generates these modes in accordance with the neural stimulation of the auditory cortex by the cochlear nerve. Mode weighting for any one acoustic tone stimulus is given by the amplitude of each mode along the line region of the auditory cortex which is neurally stimulated by that acoustic tone stimulus. A listing of mode weighting versus frequency of acoustic stimulus is called the mode matrix.

In this invention, the functions of the ear, the cochlear nerve, and the auditory cortex are simulated. Microwaves simulating the mode matrix are inserted directly into the region of the auditory cortex. By this insertion of simulated microwave modes, the normal operation of the entire natural hearing mechanism is simulated.

Referring now to FIG. 1 and FIG. 2 there is shown an apparatus which provides for induced perception of sound into a mammalian brain. This hearing device includes a microphone 10 which receives sounds, an acoustic filter bank 12 which separates the signals from the microphone into component frequencies, and a mode control matrix 14 which generates the mode signals which are used to control the intensity of microwave radiations which are injected into the skull cavity in the region of the auditory cortex.

The acoustic filter bank 12 consists of a bank of acoustic filters F1 through Fk which span the audible acoustic spectrum. These filters may be built from standard resistance, inductance, and capacitance components in accordance with well established practice. In the preferred embodiment there are 24 filters which correspond to the observed critical bandwidths of the human ear. In this preferred embodiment a typical list of filter parameters is given by Table 1 below:

The rectifier outputs one through K are feed to K mode partition devices. The mode partitioning devices each have N outputs wherein N is the number of microwave oscillators used to generate the microwave radiation. The outputs 1 through N of each mode partition device is applied respectively to the inputs of each gain controlled amplifier of the microwave radiation generator. The function of the mode control matrix 14 is the control of the microwave amplifiers in the microwave amplifier bank 18. In the preferred embodiment thus will be 24 outputs and 24 microwave frequency oscillators.

Connected to each microwave amplifier gain control line is a mode simulation device 16 which receives weighted mode signals from the mode partition devices 14. Each mode simulation device consists of one through k lines and diodes 17 which are each connected to summing junction 19. The diodes 17 provide for isolation from one mode partition device to the next. The diodes 17 prevent signals from one mode partition device from returning to the other mode partition devices which are also connected to the same summing junction of the mode summation device 16. The diodes also serve a second function which is the rectification of the signals received from the acoustic filter bank by way of the mode partition devices. In this way each mode partition device output is rectified to produce a varying DC voltage with major frequency components of the order of 15 milliseconds or less. The voltage at the summation junction 19 is thus a slowly varying DC voltage.

The example mode partition devices are shown in greater detail in FIGS. 3, 4, and 5. The mode partition devices are merely resistance networks which produce 1 through N output voltages which are predetermined divisions of the input signal from the acoustic filter associated with the mode partition device. FIG. 3 shows a mode partitioning device wherein several outputs are associated with each series resistor 30. In the embodiment depicted in FIG. 4 there is an output associated with each series resistor only, and thus there are N series resistors, or the same number of series resistors as there are outputs. The values of the resistors in the mode partition resistor network are determined in accordance with the magnitudes of the frequency component from the acoustic filter bank 12 which is required at the summation point 19 or the gain control line for amplifiers 20.

The microwave amplifier bank 18 consists of a plurality of microwave oscillators 1 through N each of which is connected to an amplifier 20. Since the amplifiers 20 are gain controlled by the signals at summation junction 19, the magnitude of the microwave output is controlled by the mode control matrix outputs F1 through F_n. In the preferred embodiment there are 24 amplifiers.

The leads from the microwave oscillators 1 through N to the amplifiers 20 are shielded to prevent cross talk from one oscillator to the next, and to prevent stray signals from reaching the user of the hearing device. The output impedance of amplifiers 20 should be 1000 ohms and this is indicated by resistor 21. The outputs of amplifiers 20 are all connected to a summing junction 22. The summing junction 22 is connected to a summing impedance 23 which is approximately 50 ohms. The relatively high amplifier output impedance 21 as compared to the relatively low summing impedance 23 provides minimization of cross talk between the amplifiers. Since the amplitude of the microwave signal needed at the antenna 24 is relatively small, there is no need to match the antenna and summing junction impedances to the amplifier 20 output impedances. Efficiency of the amplifiers 20 is not critical.

Level control of the signal at antenna 24 is controlled by pick off 25 which is connected to the summing impedance 23. In this manner, the signal at antenna 24 can be varied from 0 (ground) to a value which is acceptable to the individual.

The antenna 24 is placed next to the subject's head and in the region of the subject's auditory cortex 26. By placement of the antenna 24 in the region of the auditory cortex 26, the microwave field which is generated simulates the microwave field which would be generated if the acoustic sounds were perceived with normal hearing and the auditory cortex was functioning normally.

In FIG. 2A there is shown a second embodiment of the microwave radiation and generator portion of the hearing device. In this embodiment a broad band microwave source 50 generates microwave signals which are feed to filters 52 through 58 which select from the broad band radiation particular frequencies to be transmitted to the person. As in FIG. 2, the amplifiers 20 receive signals on lines 19 from the mode control matrix. The signals on lines 19 provide the gain control for amplifiers 20..

In FIG. 6 there is shown a modified microwave hearing generator 60 which includes a mode partition resistor divider network as depicted in FIG. 5. Each of the mode partition voltage divider networks in this embodiment are individually adjustable for all of the resistances in the resistance network. FIG. 5 depicts a voltage division system wherein adjustment of the voltage partition resistors is provided for.

In FIG. 6, the sound source 62 generates audible sounds which are received by the microphone of the microwave hearing generator 60. In accordance with the operation described with respect to FIGS. 1 and 2, microwave signals are generated at the antenna 10 in accordance with the redistribution provided by the mode control matrix as set forth in FIG. 5. .

The sound source 62 also produces a signal on line 64 which is received by a head phone 66. The apparatus depicted in FIG. 6 is used to calibrate or fit a microwave hearing generator to a particular individual. Once the hearing generator is adjusted to the particular individual by adjustment of the variable resistors in the adjustable mode partition portion of the hearing generator, a second generator may be built using fixed value resistors in accordance with the adjusted values achieved in fitting the device to the particular subject. The sound produced by headphone 66 should be the same as a sound from the sound source 62 which is received by the microphone 10 in the microwave hearing generator 60. In this way, the subject can make comparisons between the perceived sound from the hearing generator 60, and the sound which is heard from headphone 66. Sound source 62 also produces a signal on 68 which is feed to cue light 69. Cue light 69 comes on whenever a sound is emitted from sound source 62 to the microwave generator 60. In this manner, if the subject hears nothing, he will still be informed that a sound has been omitted and hence that he is indeed perceiving no sound from the microwave hearing generator 60.

In FIG. 7 there is shown a modified microwave hearing generator which may be used to determine a subject's microwave mode frequencies. In this device, the acoustic filter bank and the mode control matrix have been removed and replaced by voltage level signal generated by potentiometers 70. Also included are a plurality of variable frequency oscillators 72 which feed microwave amplifiers 74 which are gain controlled from the signal generated by potentiometers 70 and pick off arm 76.

This modified microwave hearing generator is used to provide signals using one oscillator at a time. When an oscillator is turned on, the frequency is varied about the estimated value until a maximum acoustic perception by the subject is perceived. This perception however may consist of a buzzing or hissing sound rather than a tone because only one microwave frequency is being received. The first test of perception is to determine the subject's lowest modal frequency for audition (M=1). Once this modal frequency is obtained, the process is repeated for several higher modal frequencies and continued until no maximum acoustic perception occurs.

Another method of determination of a subject's modal frequencies is through anatomical estimation. This procedure is by measurement of the subject's cephalic index and the lateral dimensions of the skull. In this method, the shape is determined in prolate spheroidal coordinance.

Purely anatomical estimation of subject's modal frequencies is performed by first measuring the maximum lateral dimension (breadth) L FIG. 8, of the subject's head together with the maximum dimension D (anterior to posterior) in the medial plane of the subject's head. D is the distance along Z axis as shown in FIG. 10. The ratio L/D, called in anthropology the cephalic index, is monotonically related to the boundary value ξ_o defining the ellipsoidal surface approximating the interface between the brain and the skull in the prolate spheroidal coordinate system. ξ_o defines the shape of this interface; ξ_o and D together give an estimate of a, the semi-focal distance of the defining ellipsoid. Using ξ_o and a, together with known values of the conductivity and dielectric constants of brain tissue, those wavelengths are found for which the radial component of the electric field satisfies the boundary condition that it is zero at ξ_o.

These wavelengths are the wavelengths associated with the standing waves or modes, the corresponding frequencies are found by dividing the phase velocity of microwaves in brain tissue by each of the wavelengths.

A subject's microwave modal frequencies may also be determined by observing the effect of external microwave radiation upon the EEG. The frequency of the M equal 1 mode may then be used as a base point to estimate all other modal frequencies.

A typical example of such an estimation is where the subject is laterally irradiated with a monochromatic microwave field simultaneous with EEG measurement and the microwave frequency altered until a significant change occurs in the EEG, the lowest such frequency causing a significant EEG change is found. This is identified as the frequency of the M=1 mode, the lowest mode of importance in auditory perception. The purely anatomical estimation procedure (FIGS. 8, 9, 10) is then performed and the ratio of each modal frequency to the M=1 modal frequency obtained. These ratios together with the experimentally-determined M=1 frequency are then used to estimate the frequencies of the mode numbers higher than 1. The prolate spheroidal coordinate system is shown in FIG. 9. Along the lateral plane containing the x and y coordinates of FIG. 9, the prolate spheroidal coordinate variable ϕ (angle) lies FIGS. 9 and 10. Plots of the transverse electric field amplitude versus primary mode number m are shown in FIG. 11. The equation is

The "elevation view" FIG. 12, of the brain from the left side, shows the primary auditory cortex 10. The isotone lines and the high frequency region are toward the top of 100 and the low frequency region toward the bottom of 100.

The formula I, set forth below is the formula for combining modes from an iso-tone line at $\phi = \phi j$ being excited to obtain the total modal field at some other angular location ϕ. For this formula, if we let $J=1$ (just one iso-tone single frequency acoustic stimulus line), then it can be shown that ALL modes (in general) must be used for any ONE tone.

FORMULA I

$$f(0) = \left[\sum_{m=1}^{M} \left(\sin(m0) \cdot \sum_{j=1}^{J} e^{-(0-0_j)/\Delta 0_m} \sin(m0_j) \right)^2 \right]^1$$

ϕ = ANGLE (0° LATERAL)
ϕ_j = LOCATION OF j-TH SOURCE (TOTAL NUMBER J)
$\Delta\phi_m$ = ATTENUATION LENGTH (IN ANGLE) OF m-TH MODE
m = PRIMARY MODE NUMBER (HIGHEST MODE M)

FIG. 13 shows the resulting total modal field versus angle ϕ for source location ϕ at 5.25°, 12.5°, etc. With reference to the set of curves at the left top of this figure. A spacing of approximately 7.25° in ϕ corresponds to a tonal difference of about 1 octave. This conclusion is based on the side-lobes of pattern coming from ϕ = 5.25°, etc. The total filed (value on y-axis) falls considerably below the top curves for source locations well below 5.25° (toward the high acoustic stimulus end) and also as the source of frequency goes well above 10° (low frequency end). ϕ is plotted positive downward from 0 at lateral location as indicates in FIG. 11.

Resistor weightings are obtained from the |sin (m[ϕ − ϕj])|, Formula I. The scale between acoustic frequency and ϕ must be set or estimated from experiment. Approximately 5.25±1° corresponds to a tonal stimulus at about 2 kHz (the most sensitive region of the ear) since this source location gives the highest electric field amplitude.

The apparatus of FIG. 7 may also be used to determine values for a hearing device which are required for a particular subject. Once the modal frequencies have been estimated, the device of FIG. 7 which includes variable microwave oscillators may be used to determine values for the oscillators which match the subject, and to determine resistance values associated with the mode partition devices of the mode control matrix.

In FIG. 7 manual control of the amplifier gain is achieved by potentiometers 76. In this manner the amplifier gains are varied about the estimated settings for an acoustic tone stimulus in the region of two thousand Hertz (2 kHz) until maximum acoustic perception and a purest tone are achieved together. The term purest tone may also be described as the most pleasing acoustic perception by the subject. This process may be repeated at selected frequencies above and below 2 kHz. The selected frequencies correspond to regions of other acoustic filter center frequencies of the subject. When modal frequency (oscillator frequency) and gain set values (setting a potentiometer 76) are noted, it is then possible to calculate fixed oscillator frequencies and control resistor values for the adjusted hearing device for this particular subject.

In the event the subject has no prior acoustic experience, that is deaf from birth, estimated resistor values must be used. Also, a complex acoustic stimulation test including language articulation and pairs of harmonically related tones may be developed to maximize the match of the hearing device parameters for those of this particular subject.

Typical components for use in this invention include commercially available high fidelity microphones which have a range of 50 Hz to 15 kHz with plus or minus 3 dB variation.

The audio filters to be used with the acoustic filter bank 12 are constructed in a conventional manner, and have Q values of about 6. The filters may also be designed with 3 dB down points (½ the bandwidth away from the center frequency) occurring at adjacent center frequency locations.

The diodes 17 in the mode control matrix which provide isolation between the mode partition circuits are commercially available diodes in the audio range.

The microwave oscillators 1 through N and the microwave amplifiers 20 are constructed with available microwave transistors which can be configured either as oscillators or amplifiers. Examples of the transistors are GaAsFET field effect transistors by Hewlitt Packard known as the HFET series or silicone bipolar transistors by Hewlitt Packard known as the HXTR series.

All the cable between the oscillators, the microwave amplifiers, and the antenna should be constructed with either single or double shielded coaxial cable.

The antenna 24 for directing microwave signals to the audio cortex 26 should be approximately the size of the auditory cortex. A typical size would be one and one half CM high and one half to one CM wide. The antenna as shown is located over the left auditory cortex, but the right may also be used. Since the characteristic impedance of the brain tissue at these microwave frequencies is close to 50 ohms, efficient transmission by commercially available standard 50 ohm coax is possible.

The invention has been described in reference to the preferred embodiments. It is, however, to be understood that other advantages, features, and embodiments may be within the scope of this invention as defined in the appended claims.

What is claimed is:

1. A sound perception device for providing induced perception of sound into a mammalian brain comprising in combination:

means for generating microwave radiation which is representative of a sound to be perceived, said means for generating including means for generating a simultaneous plurality of microwave radiation frequencies and means for adjusting the amplitude of said microwave radiation frequencies in accordance with the sound to be perceived; and antenna means located in the region of the auditory cortex of said mammalian brain for transmitting said microwave energy into the auditory cortex region of said brain.

2. A hearing device for perception of sounds comprising in combination:

means for generating a signal representative of sounds;

means for analyzing said signal representative of said sounds having an output; means for generating a plurality of microwave signals having different frequencies having a input connected to said output of said means for analyzing said signals, having an output; means for applying said plurality of microwave signals to the head of a subject, and whereby the subject perceives sounds which are representative of said sounds.

3. The apparatus in accordance with claim 2 wherein said means for generating a signal is a microphone for detecting sound waves.

4. The apparatus in accordance with claim 2 wherein said means for applying said plurality of microwave signals is an antenna.

5. The apparatus in accordance with claim 4 wherein said antenna is placed in the region of the auditory cortex of the subject.

6. The apparatus in accordance with claim 2 wherein the subject is a human being.

7. The apparatus in accordance with claim 2 wherein said means for analyzing said signal comprises:

an acoustic filter bank for dividing said sounds into a plurality of component frequencies; and a mode control matrix means for providing control signals which are weighted in accordance with said plurality of component frequencies, having an output connected to said means for generating a plurality of microwave signal inputs.

8. The apparatus in accordance with claim 7 wherein said acoustic filter bank includes a plurality of audio frequency filters.

9. The apparatus in accordance with claim 8 wherein said audio frequency filters provide a plurality of output frequencies having amplitudes which are a function of said signal representative of sounds.

10. The apparatus in accordance with claim 9 wherein said amplitudes are the weighted in accordance with transform function of the signal representative of sounds.

11. The apparatus in accordance with claim 7 wherein said mode control matrix device includes a voltage divider connected to each of said plurality of said audio frequency filters.

12. The apparatus in accordance with claim 11 wherein each of said voltage dividers has a plurality of outputs which are connected in circuit to said means for generating a plurality of microwave signals.

13. The apparatus in accordance with claim 2 wherein said means for generating a plurality of microwave signals comprises a plurality of microwave generators each having a different frequency and means for controlling the output amplitude of each of said generators.

14. The apparatus in accordance with claims 2 wherein said means for generating a plurality of microwave signals comprises a broad band microwave source and a plurality of filters.

15. The apparatus in accordance with claim 13 wherein said generators each comprise a microwave signal source and a gain controlled microwave amplifier.

16. The apparatus in accordance with claim 13 wherein said means for analyzing output is connected to said means for controlling microwave amplifier output amplitudes.

17. The apparatus in accordance with claim 13 wherein analyzing includes K audio frequency filters.

18. The apparatus in accordance with claim 17 wherein there are N microwave generators.

19. The apparatus in accordance with claim 18 including a mode partitioning means which provides N outputs for each of said K audio frequency filters.

20. The apparatus in accordance with claim 19 wherein said N amplifiers each have K inputs from said mode partitioning means.

21. The apparatus in accordance with claim 20 wherein said N amplifiers have K inputs less the mode partitioning means outputs which are so small that they may be omitted.

22. The apparatus in accordance with claim 20 wherein said mode partitioning output device outputs each include a diode connected to each microwave amplifier gain control to provide isolation between all outputs.

23. The apparatus in accordance with claim 20 wherein said K audio frequency filters are chosen to correspond to the critical bandwidths of the human ear.

24. The apparatus in accordance with claim 20 wherein said N microwave generators are each adjustable in frequency output.

25. The apparatus in accordance with claim 18 wherein the frequency of each N microwave generators is determined by anatomical estimation.

26. The apparatus in accordance with claim 18 wherein the frequency of the lowest frequency microwave generator is chosen by determination of the effect of external microwave generation on the EEG of the subject.

27. The apparatus in accordance with claim 18 wherein the frequency of each of said N microwave generators corresponds to the subject's microwave modal frequencies.

28. The apparatus in accordance with claim 27 wherein the subject's modal frequencies are determined by measurement of the subject's cephalic index and the lateral dimensions of the skull.

29. The apparatus in accordance with claim 28 wherein the subject's lowest modal frequency is determined by varying the frequency of the lowest frequency microwave generator about the estimated value until a maximum acoustic perception is obtained by the subject.

In 1989, James C. Lin wrote Electromagnetic Interaction With Biological Systems which deals with transmitting ideas and words via electromagnetic waves.

Brief cases, stereo speakers and boxes are some of the disguises that the CIA has been caught using to hide their ELF microwave emitters that plant thoughts in people. One victim who spent time talking to Fritz Springmeier reported how they had repeated tried to trick him into going to free hotel rooms and other traps, where they tried to bombard his head with the idea that he should sell drugs. He cleverly dismantled their devices which they hid in the ceilings and other locations in these rooms to protect himself from the thoughts they were trying repeatedly to beam into his head. He was on the run as a fugitive to protect his mind.

Naval Intelligence and other groups have conducted research into ELF waves upon the human body and mind. Some of the many things that can be done to the human body and mind with ELF waves include:

a. put a person to sleep
b. make a person tired or depressed
c. create a feeling of fear in a person
d. create a zombie state
e. create a violent state
f. create a state of being sexually aggressive
g. change cellular chemistry
h. change hormone levels
i. inhibit or enhance M(RNA) synthesis/processes
j. control the DNA transaction process
k. control biological spin and proton coupling constants in DNA, RNA & RNA transferases.

Unfortunately for us humans, ELF waves can penetrate almost anything. The U.S. Military has built a Ground-Wave Emergency Network (GWEN) all over the U.S. with several hundred 300-500' GWEN towers that broadcast a very-low-frequency wave (VLF) for mind-control of the American public. A single GWEN tower can broadcast up to 300 miles in a 360° circle. Plus 8 secret powerful ELF transmitters have been established and 3 of them operate on the west coast.

PROZAC AND SLAVES AND MICROWAVE TOWERS

Some of the Monarch slaves are receiving Prozac. Prozac (fluoxetine hydrocloride-a serotonin re-uptake inhibitor) is dangerous for everyone. Prozac is now the second most used drug in the world. Three examples of the ongoing nightmare now happening worldwide:

September 14, 1989--Joseph Wesbecker on Prozac went crazy and got a gun and opened fire in the Standard Gravure Building in Louisville killing eight and wounding twelve others before killing himself. 20 suits against Eli Lilly were filed by victim in this case.

July, 1990--Rhonda Hala of Shirley, NY filed a $150 million suit against Eli Lilly charging that Prozac had driven her repeatedly to attempt suicide.

August, 1990--CCHR called on Congress to ban Prozac and 3 widows in Louisville, KT filed $50 million lawsuits each, charging that a man on Prozac had been driven insane to kill by the Prozac and had killed their husbands. Two other lawsuits were filed in this time period, one from Indianapolis, and one from Chicago from people driven to attempt suicide by Prozac.

Certain brain activities trigger people on Prozac to become homicidal or suicidal. Thanks to research by Illuminati controlled companies, the Network knows exactly how to used ELF waves vectored on a particular person by 3 separate towers to stimulate the Prozac controlled brain to murder. This is being used to increase acts of anarchy and violence in order to help insure anti-gun legislation.

If a slave doesn't comply or needs to be thrown from the Freedom Train they can become a useable statistic. Simply trigger them to murder and then watch the police gun them down. The NWO gains one more statistic and another case to scare the public into accepting gun control.

THE USE OF WAVES & ELECTRICITY TO IMPLANT THOUGHTS

The programmers are always trying to outdo what they've done before. They are not satisfied with the old recipes for scrambled brains, they keep inventing and refining new methods. Anything and everything within their grasp has been tried. They have found that ELF and VLF electro-magnetic waves can be used to control people's thoughts.

Harmonics and sound waves are used to manipulate the RNA covering of neuron pathways to the subconscious. Harmonic generators (code named "ether-wave") are able to imbed detailed commands which are linked to audible triggers. This is one of the standard features of the Monarch program. It allows the slaves to be controlled by trigger words which make no sense or seem to carry no negative connotation to outside listeners.

For instance the words, "Mr. Postman wait and see" (a Marionette command) might set off an access sequence so that a slave living away from its master goes to its master (also called a handler).

The use of harmonics has taken away much of the work of the big programmers. Now harmonic machines can implant the programming and codes that the Programmers put in. It's quicker and perhaps more efficient, although the lesser cult groups have to get by with the older methods. And the Illuminati still have many excellent programmers in full-time and part-time use. According to an eyewitness, their top-programmers are far beyond their 1950-60 predecessors like Mengele.

There are four types of brain waves: alpha, beta, delta, and theta. The four basic models of Monarch slaves have the same names as these four types of brain waves. High level Illuminati models may have programming that includes all of these types. According to one ex(?)-government source, the CIA has been labeling their harmonic-created total Mind-controlled slaves by the following:
Bravo 2 series models are men programmed to run the Beast computers.
Delta series are models for espionage and assassination.
Juliet series are sexual mind controlled slaves.
Kilo 5 series is military espionage.
Michael 1 series slaves are CIA agents under total mind-control.

Operation Greenstar was the Mind-control project to create UFO abductions scenarios.

Much of the high level programming in the 1980s and 1990s is no longer done with human programmers, but is done via programmed machines using drugs, electricity and harmonics.

TRACKING/ I.D. IMPLANTS

A great deal has come out in a whole number of Christian books, as well as secular books about the microchips that are being implanted in both people and animals. These microchips will do many things, depending upon which type of microchip they are, however, some of these microchips emit coded signals which allow satellites with computers to track the exact location of the person or animal carrying the chip. Obviously, a Mind-controlled slave is not going to have the freedom to reject a chip like this. This gives the owner a method for tracking the slave should they ever escape to their exact location. Many of the slaves, CIA agents, and military men have these implants already. Many Desert Shield troops (to make sure they weren't lost in the desert) were required to get the tracking implants. Some county's are making it manditory for pets to get tracking implants.

MONITORING IMPLANTS

As I write this, I have the report "An eight channel micropowered PAM/FM biomedical telemetry system" written by the Space Biology Lab/Brain Research Institute of the UCLA Center for Health Sciences, of Los Angeles, California 90024.

What they are reporting on is an implant which will electronically report back what is going on with a person's body to whoever is monitoring the person. Their "biotelemeter" consists of a signal conditioner(s), multiplexer (for multichannel systems), and a transmitter. The entire size of the implant is 6.35 cm. by 0.97 cm thick.

EEG monitoring is being done of free-swimming divers by implants. A frequency of 2300 Hz. was used on the first underwater monitoring devices.

COMMUNICATION IMPLANTS

First, we will give an overview of the subject and then we will cover the details of how the technology works.

In the Bible it predicts that in the end of church age that the rulers of the world "These have one mind, and shall give their power and strength unto the Beast." REV 17:13

Robert Muller, a member of the Illuminati, and former Assistant Secretary General of the UN, who has been involved in setting up a "Peace University" in Costa Rica, said in a symposium "Toward a Global Brain, Our Next Evolutionary Step" (Nov. 9-11, 1984, "We are beginning to link together to form one-world, minds and souls. Let go of our own beliefs -crap stuff. We stand now at the threshold of the first spiritualization of humanity..."

The goal of having a single "World Mind" is being advocated by people tied to the Illuminati and the New Age Movement they have created. In the New Age book Gods of Aquarius the author advocates, "The only viable solution is to link the brains of all men into one giant super brain. It has been the entire species that have been developing and it must be linked into one super being. A synthesis of human minds in a world brain."

Hollywood put out a movie in 1970 called Colossus-The Forbin Project which shows how the ultimate computer will dominate the minds of men.

Unfortunately, the Illuminati now have the capability via their fronts to implant transmitters that will communicate messages to the human brain that are received via computers. The ability to literally have a single World Brain is within the grasp of the elite. They must now simply figure out methods to accomplish it. All this New Age talk by world leaders like Robert Muller about a single World Mind is not hot air. Unfortunately, the technology is here already. Will humanity stop the secret elite, or will humanity continue to slide into deeper slavery?

CIA programmer/researcher Professor Delgado wrote in Physical Control of the Mind in 1969 that, "Brain transmitters can remain in a person's head for life. The energy to activate the brain transmitter is transmitted by way of radio frequencies." The radio frequencies used to transmit to brain implants are usually from 15 to 35 KHz. Radio frequency analyzing computers hooked up to computers have charted the radio frequencies being used to transmit to victims with implants. (See Mediaeko Investigating Reporting Group. Brain Transmitters What They Are and How They Are Used. 1993, pg. 8.) The use by handlers of Frequency shift signals, which is a special way of modulating through a given spectrum of frequencies, has been observed and recorded.

Some of the first brain transmitters looked like bullets and were placed into the victim's brain via the nose. In the late 1960s, some of the transmitters were simply swallowed, or carried externally by the victim.

Small wires imbedded behind the ears are one of the implants. Sometimes implants are placed within the pain/pleasure center of the brain, which allows the handler to manipulate what feels great or what feels painful.

The Intelligence agencies have given their implants a whole variety of names. Some of these names for brain implants are:

EDOM -- Electronic Dissolution of Memory

EEOM--Electronic Enhancement of Memory
ESB --Electronic Stimulation of the brain
RHIC -- Radio Hypnotic Intra-cerebral Control

Terms that accompany these techniques include:

PREMA--Personal Radio & Electro-Magnetic Frequency Allocation. This is an individual's personal frequency which is scanned by a hand-held device (such as a Reading Wand).

PRIME FREAK--This is the Primary Frequency of an individual, which the intelligence agencies will obtain and then manipulate to control an individual.

VITAL HUMAN BRAIN FREQUENCY--This is a frequency that is vital for humans, (the 800 MHz band) which is manipulated for mass mind-control.

In 1978, Samuel Chavkin warned in his book The Mind Stealers "With the increasing sophistication and miniaturization of electronics, it may be possible to compress the necessary circuitry for a small computer into a chip that is implantable subcutaneously. In this way, the new self-contained instrument could be devised, capable of receiving, analyzing and sending back information to the brain, establishing artificial links between unrelated cerebral areas, functional feedbacks, and programs of stimulations contingent on the appearance of predetermined wave patterns."

Since Chavkin wrote this in 1978, the Network has come a long ways on miniaturization and sophistication of their implants.

One of the most important end times communications systems of the Illuminati and their intelligence agencies is their ALEX system. This will operate on several levels. The electronic end of the ALEX system which stands for Amalgamated Logarithmic Encrypted Transmission (ALEX) is a method for encrypting electronic transmissions so that a computer which could decode 5 Trillion codes a second would take 2,000 years to decipher one of these transmissions. In other words, when the ALEX system is operating--it cannot be decoded. The ALEX system has 700 Billion Trillion codes! Yes, the intelligence agencies/Illuminati have really outdone themselves with overkill on this one!

By the way, this is very ULTRA secret. The ALEX system intersects with the Monarch Mind Control Programming. The ALEX (also called ALEXUS) is part of the tracking and AntiChrist-Call-Back Programming. Outside computers are able to interconnect with the Monarch Mind Control slave and call them back for AntiChrist activities. In other words, the Council of 9 of the Illuminati has placed an alter by the name of Alex or a similar name in high level slaves and they have either via implants or some other type of programming made these slaves available for programming via electronic communications that tie in with their ALEX computers. (Fritz Springmeier touched on this AntiChrist programming in his "Chapter 3 Mind Control" monograph in 1992, when he mentioned Imperial conditioning.) Actually Imperial and Emperor programming are programs that work in conjunction with the ALEX system.

All the police in this nation are to have their communications encrypted by Christmas, 1995 in time for the start of the most intense period of anarchy. The concentration camps, FEMA, FDIC, and the all the rest of the acronym monsters are switching over to the secret operational frequencies which this paragraph will now provide you. This will be 912 meg. to 954 meg. using either or both the ALEX or General Dynamic scrambles. Motorola is providing the hardware. In other words, when the most intense period of anarchy and arrests begins, the New World Order (Big Brother) will have electronic transmission capabilities which will be totally secret. Even police transmissions which can be listened to now by the bad guys will no longer receivable. The Illuminati have been saving their best technology for use during their takeover in the next few years.

Implants within slaves are being used to communicate such thoughts as (actual samples of things sent):

a. "murder your family"
b. "the government is to blame, murder the President"
c. "you can not get legal redress for what has been done to you by the government"
d. "it is hopeless to fight us"
e. "you want to have sex with the opposite sex"
f. "you want to deal in drugs"
g. "you want to protect your country by being loyal to the CIA"

Since the early 1960s, the Intelligence agencies have been putting two-way radio communication implants into victims. This is called telemetry or remote control. The radio wave enters the implant, the implant transmits it to the brain, and the brain's reaction is then picked up and relayed back to a computer which decodes what the brain waves show the brain was thinking. These implants in the early '60s were half the size of a cigarette filter. A few of victims have managed to escape the control of the System and get x-ray pictures of the implants and then have them removed. One victim in this Portland area has tried for years to find a legitimate surgeon to remove the implant. Liquid crystals are said by some to be used. It is said that the liquid crystals are implanted to function as transmitters. Others say that the liquid crystals were tried and were lethal.

ASSESSORIES

It was discovered that if a strobe is flashed into the eyes at ten cycles/per sec. or 10 hertz (hz), the brain will retuned itself to that frequency. The brain will downshift from a beta state of consciousness down to an alpha or below. The entire cortex is influenced by the strobe light.

Actually, this was just a rediscovery of what some of the ancients had discovered.

Flashing lights have been used by people to go into altered states for a long time. Ptolemy, the famous ancient Greek astronomer built a wheel that would flash sunlight, and people would stare at this contraption and go into an altered state.

As with many inventions, they can be used for good or bad. The following machines are things that anyone can purchase, just like a stun gun or a cattle prod.

An array of mind-altering electronic devices have been created over the last few decades. Personal light-and-sound machines that alter the brain's consciousness that were once $60,000 dollars are now a few hundred. They have goggles that fit over a person's eyes.

The Synchro Energizer, which requires a trained operator to run its control panel, is a machine to electronically alter the brain's consciousness with a sound and light show. Nine lights work via the goggles to give a light show to alter the brain's wave pattern. It is sold by Synchro-Tech of Cleveland via Syncho Energize on Broadway, NY. An operator can start the Synchro Energizer at the brain's high beta waves and then takes the wave pattern downward through the alpha, and then to the theta and sometimes into the delta (the sleep state). There are smaller machines designed to do the same thing, such as the Relaxman, built by Synchro-Tech. Comptronic Device Ltd. has put out a similar but superior machine called D.A.V.I.D.Jr. It can place a person into a deep delta wave sleep. These are just what are available to the public. Imagine what NASA, the NSA, and CIA have. If one needs to work with more than one person, the Synchro-energizer ($60,000) also built by Synchro-Tech will place 32 people at the same time into altered states of consciousness. This machine uses full-spectrum lights to change the brain's state of consciousness.

The Lumatron machine uses strobe lights that can be set to eleven different frequencies. When the light is directed through the retina it is converted to an electrical nerve impulse called a photocurrent. Eventually, the photocurrent passes throughout the entire brain. Genesis is a machine which measures the brain's responses and then matches music to that response. Hospitals and corporations have been purchasing Genesis machines.

The Twilight Learning Device is a biofeedback machine that has an EEG machine hooked up to two tape recorders.

There are dozens of technical articles on a whole host of subjects relating to the implants. This is a vast subject that really needs its own book. FOR FURTHER STUDY of the big SUBJECT of IMPLANTS the reader is directed for starts to the FOLLOWING ARTICLES:

•Scotland on Sunday, 2 April 1995, had an article about how U.S. and Swedish scientists have pioneered a method to graft neurons to a computer chip. Stanford University, CA helped with this. A person can now be "hot-wired" to a computer, such as Arnold Schwartzenegger in the film Total Recall.

•LA Times, 8/17/94, article about the Hughes Identification Device which is a tracking implant (microchip) which is called SmartDevice. 6 million/per year are planned to be quietly inserted into people during surgery.

•In a recent article "Alien-Human Interactions: the Facts and Propaganda" by Karla Turner, she points out that many alien abductees (like herself) are "monitored and harassed by human agents of some sort and the cases of phone and mail surveillance are only part of the story....He was compelled by some post-hypnotic suggestion...there is strong external evidence that these events have been carried out by strictly human agents and not by aliens giving the illusion of a military presence." She goes on to explain about the implants, wires & tubes that are put in victims of "alien abductions". Karla Turner doesn't know that she is a victim of trauma-based mind control, but she's getting close to understanding what she has been subjected to.

•The Journal, Alexandria, VA, Nov. 8, 1995, carried a story "Surgeon, a UFO buff, operated and found..." The story was by Steve Chawkins of the Scripps Howard News Service. The article talks about a Ventura, CA surgeon who has removed implants from abduction victims. The implanted items that are removed from victims, disappear when sent in for tests to determine what they are.>•Relevance Magazine-art. on Beh. Mod. implants. >•Fortean Times #83, Oct.-Nov. '95 article on Russia's mind control called PIS which is similar to America's.

Barry Karr of the Center for Scientific Investigation of Claims of the Paranormal states, "We haven't heard of anything that, without the shadow of a doubt, couldn't have been made here on Earth. Let's see the evidence." It is clear that some people are now realizing that these implants are being placed into people by human slave owners, who simply are hypnotically telling their slaves that they are aliens.

IBM began work on the implantable microchips under the cover of other goals. In the 1960s G.E. took over the development. Honeywell continued the work after they merged. The R2E Division of the cIIi Honeywell Bull in France has then gone on to develop the Smart card. Lithium batteries in implants were secretly being used in the 1960s long before the public got wind. Fairchild has publicly announced several years ago that they have a bio-chip the size of a human hair with 4 times the capacity of the BT952000 project. These are some of the companies who have provided the Network with a large assortment of implantable chips.

Electro shock is used to control a slave and to erase memory. Stun guns are used daily on some slaves. Slaves are under so much control that they will shock themselves if the master wants them to.

Equipment has been developed to alter states of consciousness electronically, and also to track, and monitor slaves.

The most serious development in electronics for mind-control is their ability with high tech equipment to actually place thoughts into a person's mind. Harmonic machines (given code-names) are now being used to do lots of the programming. Powerful individual & mass-mind control can take place via electronic means; our question, who will control the controllers of these electronic means? So far the American & European people have been content to let them get by with what they have done.

CHART BASED ON THE STRUCTURE OF AN ILLUMINATI ALTER SYSTEM.
--drawn by Fritz Springmeier & modified slightly from the original done by a recovering victim of Illuminati mind control.

CHAPTER 7.
THE SCIENCE OF STRUCTURING

A. STRUCTURING OF MPD WORLDS

The purpose of the mind-control is to build a System within the mind that is a human robot. It would do no good to torture the slave and get thousands of pieces (fragments of the mind, alter personalities) if these were not structured. Very few Multiples have ever really gotten to see the deeper parts of their Systems. Many of the early successes of therapists were actually only the integration of the fronts of Systems, while the deeper cult parts were left fully functioning. The integration of the front alters was only a ruse to allow the therapist to think the patient was healed. The Illuminati's organization, whose identity still remains secret to the therapist, can continue to use the "healed" patient. Everyone was happy, therapist, client, and the abusers. Also I might add the book publishers such as those who published Sybil are also happy. Sybil is an occult first name--but the book, movie and therapist give no hint that ritual abuse might be involved in her system's MPD (DID). The victim of When Rabbit Howls (a book & a movie) shows clear signs of having a full-blown highly structured and programmed MPD (DID) system, but the movie doesn't even hint of programming or Satanic involvement. The whole movie was a big slide.

The Illuminati know the details and minutiae of every new direction the therapeutic community decides to take. Indeed, a number of their people are leading the pack, providing leads and misleads. Their first goal is to keep therapists on sideroads, away from the real issues. The second goal is, if they do get onto something, to bring the slaves in, and structure in defenses so that the therapists don't go anywhere. And then when one has success like we have seen, they eliminate front structures and front alters, and turn to massive reprogramming, and skillfully linking primal traumas with the new programs.

Bear in mind, the internal programming alters are also always alert and will restructure the system constantly if alters work against their programming. Restructuring is a process that can continually go on, not something completed when the victim was a child. For instance, new levels of alters can and are created when the victim is in their 30s, either by the internal or external programmers. From observations, it is clear that the most drastic changes are from the external programmers, who can work much faster than the internal programmers.

In the beginning, the programmer must bring order out of the chaos he has created. He must use some type of structure to place worlds. In recent years, these have been solar systems, galaxies, and planets, because they have gone to Star Trek, Star Wars, Alien types of programming. Each planet may have a type of alter--a family, if you will, of alters who are similar. They will not be able to travel to other solar systems, or stars, or galaxies without transportation. Spaceships, and teleporters have now replaced the elevator that the older systems used to go up and down the worlds.

When the programming begins, it must be simple enough that a child can understand it. One game that was excellent to teach internal structures to child victims was Chinese checkers. An innocent game, but a great vehicle to communicate placement of alters and structures. Alter patterns would be placed upon the hexagram board with marbles. A marble would represent an alter. Notice that alter colors (and/or jobs) can be coded by what marble is chosen. A ruby alter can be a red marble. A blue coded alter is a blue marble. Structures which are to be superimposed upon each other in the child's mind, are easy to superimpose. Take one pattern of marbles off, and place the superimposed pattern of marbles over the same place. This is how several different structures can be tied together in one locality in the mind. This is one way structures can be layered in. The Hexagram checker board was called "The House of David" in one victim.

B. THE CREATION OF ROLES INTERNAL, EXTERNAL, DEPENDENCE, ETC.

Many splits in the mind are not developed into full blown personalities. Some are simply fragments which are given a single job assignment. Generally, a System will have about half a dozen alters which frequently take the body and hundreds of alters which only occasionally take the body.

Internally, the System must carry out the following functions:
Protect all information and history that relates to the creation and use of the slave. All the structuring and codes of the System are also secrets and need to be guarded. The programming and the very things that the slave can think about need to be guarded. The slave is meant to be entirely self-governing. The best boss is the boss who gives a directive and can go do something else while the person receiving the order carries it out without input and supervision. The Monarch slave is the prime example of how to delegate authority. The delegation of authority allows both the master and the victim himself to blame the victim for the orders they carry out.

The satanic cults will hide their alters which make money for the cult behind the blood and gore alters. This protects their illegal money making operations.

Alters must learn to function as designed by the Programmer. If they can't work together, the Illuminati will try to get them to work together somewhat akin to a mechanic fixing a car. If the alters can't be fixed, they and their System will have to be thrown away.

The dramatic disparities of all the alters goes hand in hand with what at first seems apparent, then not apparent, and then apparent again--there is a unity beneath the multiplicity. Alter functions and abilities overlap with other alters. No alter is entirely separate from several common pools of intellect and dispositions that are attributable to the entire alter system. Alters are real and separate persons. But the common traits that run through an alter system are also real. One alter system may have a streak of kindness and gentleness that runs through the entire system. There may be a few alters which have been battered enough not to display the trait, but the trait is so pervasive that it characterizes the System.

The programmers are also skilled at building in alters who can serve as balancing points. Unless the system of alters has balancing point alters who are calm, cheerful, and emotionally stable, a system could easily self-destruct with all the shatteredness, pain and craziness that has been intentionally built into the system. Each level or world will have a balancing point.

When the System is being charted during the early programming process, a Mother of Darkness and the Programmer and the Grande Dame will make a decision on how to label the chart. By the time the child is four, the weaknesses and strengths that characterize the alter System have been recorded on charts and the child's destiny in life determined. The chart will read what occupation the child will be made into, and what its function for the overall Illuminati plan will be. This determines what types of programs and alters must be created.

Most people are still unfamiliar with multiplicity and their rigid thinking is challenged by the concept that one mind can have several personalities. On the other hand, they can understand perfectly that a computer can wall off sections of memory, and they can understand perfectly that a single human mind is superior to all the computers in the world assembled together, and yet they can't let go of their basic simplistic foundational understanding of life that one mind has only one personality. They will allow a computer this ability but not the human mind. The creation of multiple personalities also divides responsibility within a person. A person who lives with a multiple, say for instance their handler, will form widely divergent relationships with the different alters.

In terms of programming, each dissociated fragment of the mind may be molded into something. Some fragments lend themselves to be molded into full personalities, and some lend themselves into being molded into single-purpose fragments, and some must be discarded. A part of the mind can be developed into a full-blown independent personality with all the idiosyncracies that any other person has. Bear in mind, that generally the Programmers consider color identification and the coded numbers to be more critical for identifying an alter than a name. A name humanizes the alter. Names are sometimes attached later if needed by a handler. Some handlers simply refer to their sexual alters by their generic name "kitten". Others may have a specific cat name such as "Tabby", "Bast", "Hecat", "Adandara" or "the Lion of Judah" for an alter. Keep in mind, if full blown personalities are created, it happens for both the benefit of the victim AND the programmers.

During the Monarch Programming an average System will have at least 1,000 alters, but not all of these will be personalities designed to hold the body. For those who need to get a handle theologically on how to approach this, it is suggested that they approach it as a city of persons. A city has both a unity and a multiplicity about it. It also must carry out certain basic functions if it is to survive. All cities have administrations and city planners, and justice, and police, and garbage collectors, and entertainment, etc. The early Illuminati researchers soon accepted that their victim of multiple personalities is in essence a city of people, and so they used that understanding to construct in the victim's head, using the victim's creativity under torture and drugs to create all the structures and features that accompany a geological land. The map of the Land of Oz in the Wizard of Oz books was frequently used for the front parts of a System, with some additions and subtractions. The engineering of the structures within an Illuminati Monarch slave, looks like the original designs were done by engineering specialists--perhaps even Boolean algebra was used to develop the original designs. However, once working models of systems were proven to function without fail, lesser skilled programmers & technocrats could help assemble a Monarch System of alters without fully understanding the engineering and all of the demonology/magic behind it.

Just like in a city, some people have friends and know others, and other people are strangers and enemies, so it is with an Illuminati system of multiples. Some alters may be aware of each other, and some may even hate each other. When building a system, the Programmers take advantage of their knowledge of how multiplicity works. Two alters can have several possible relationships which are:

a. two-way amnesia, where neither alter knows about the other's existence. This is what the Programmers want for most alters. They don't want multiples to even know they are multiples.

b. one-way amnesia, where A alter knows B alter, but B doesn't know A. This can be accomplished by setting in one-way mirrors.

c. co-presence, two alters can come on top of each other at the front of the mind and hold the body together. This produces some strange behavior for the multiple as different alters synthesize their thoughts. When a tough alter comes up behind a Christian alter, the Christian alter may find himself letting loose of a cuss word without knowing where exactly it came from. When a child alter comes up behind an adult, the adult may find itself talking like a child.

d. co-conscious, this is when two alters are aware of what each other is thinking.

As the Programmers structure a System of alters, they build in No-talk walls every so often where all communication and visibility between alters is walled off. These No-talk walls are specifically built structures and not the result of normal amnesia. A 13 x 13 grid may have, for instance, 2 No-talk walls. Other methods will be used to divide all the levels from each other. One method of dividing the levels is the level of trance for level 3 will be different than the level of trance for level 10. This will not hold true across the board, because some deeper alters are not in deep trance.

One Monarch slave, programmed beginning in the '50's, described her System,

Scattered Parts

Broken hearts, divided parts, they all live inside of me. How many times can they divide my mind? Broken hearts with divided parts scattered throughout my mind. How many times can they wipe me out before I come back no more? Can they instill a will in me that is not mine? They broke my heart too many times and divided all the parts, then scattered them through time. Some are good and some are evil. How many times can they split my mind? The lights, needles and pain went on much longer than we can explain. Did these things happen, or is it what they wanted me to believe? Does God exist or is it what I want to believe? Does the store house exist where the computer is? Are there computers in me that help split me? Scattered parts, broken hearts, where do I exist? Is there a castle built inside? If so, what person am I? Lights, needles, and pain goes on today, or is it lies that are made up in a mind split far too many times. Broken hearts, divided minds, scattered throughout time. I don't want to mislead you. Did the experiments work? And they split me too many times? Lights, needles, and pain. They can wipe me out if I try to explain. Butterflies, butterflies, lots and lots of them. I lay down at nights with them. I wrap up in a blanket made of them. I hear their hum as they lead me to the lights, needles and pain. The needles and pain make it so I can not think. I get so sleepy, but I can not sleep. The pain races through my mind and splits it one more time. I have forgotten more than most will ever know. The computer will show how many times they can split the mind, break the heart; divided minds scattered throughout time. How many times before I can come back no more?"--receivd from therapist Denny Hilgers.

Our previous book They Know Not What They Do, An Illustrated Guide to Monarch Programming-Mind Control, Oregon City, OR, 1995, p. 91. has a good description of how extensive the internal structuring is:

"Many Systems never get to the point of seeing their internal world(s). Further, most alters have only a small spot in which they are to reside, and they don't get to see but a tiny fraction of the entire System. After these structures are built into the mind they continue to work and carry out their function on a subconscious level. Sometimes it takes years of work for a System to begin seeing their internal world. They can begin doing this by turning lights on inside of their worlds. To make a comparison, when a person looks at a clock they see the finished result, the time it shows, but they don't see all the mechanisms. The structures in the mind are part of the mechanism to keep the System of Alters structured in a way that is useful to the abusers, but often all that observers will see is the finished result, the mechanisms stay hidden. But we are exposing those mechanisms in this picture and on this page. A therapist's client may be responding in a way that makes no sense until one realizes the internal structures that they are responding to.

An alter generally must maintain the spot in the mind which it is assigned. To leave that location in the mind, means travelling through a System which is filled with dangers and traps of all kinds. Only a few of our alters ever ventured where they were not to go, and they always encountered many obstacles. However, if an alter gets trapped behind mirrors, the alter should not break the mirrors. If the alter is a Christian they can use the blood of Jesus Christ of Nazareth to bind and cast out the demons which are in the mirrors. The danger of the mirrors is the demonology involved. Somethings work and somethings don't. We are speaking from our years of experience. The mirrors are deadly and they were everywhere in our System, but they are deadly only if one can't deal with the demonology. The therapist should at least be aware that these images can be worked with just as if they were real to manipulate situations involving them. But if the structures are going to be worked or toyed with, the therapist and survivor need to have an understanding about the structures. If you don't understand the mirrors, or the River Nile, or whatever then be careful what you have the survivor do to them.

The structures (the images) that are built into the mind of the Monarch slave are not trivial. An overview of the structures that are in our System alone will show that they went to a great deal of effort to build all kinds of internal worlds to house our thousands of alters. A list of the internal structures that were contained in our System follows: Ant pits, Bee Traps w/ swarms, Black Glass Wall, Black Holes (vortexes), Boxes (Dr. Green's under J.J., boxes have buttons which access certain parts), Candyland, Carpet (Magic), Castles, Castle dungeon (torture chambers), Caves, Clocks (there are several incl. computer clocks), Concentration camp, Cords, Desert, Doll House, numbered Doors by the thousands w/ red hot nobs, Elevators, Emerald City (connected to the castle), Eucalyptus Trees, Fields of "forget me" & island of "forget me not" (JJ's Prgrmg), Firewall, 2 Forests (singing forest with Cedars of Lebanon and Oaks, and a dwarfs forest which has 3 kinds of trees), Fruit Tree (programming tree), Glass, Glass coffin, Golden Keys, Graveyards, Hallways with red doors, Hell Pit or Hell Fire (7 levels--pepperbox. There is a glassy wall before the hell pit.), Hour Glass (matrix), House of David, Icetown, Invisible Countries, Keys (clock key), Libraries, Light side City, Marshlands, Mazes, Mirrors (constructed via access permissions) (One-way), Moat, Mountains, Nursery (glass), Ocean, Paper Trees, Petra Secret City, Playground, Poppy field, Portals (for altars and demons, like the third eye), Rubicon (outer space beyond the stars), Rivers (Nile, Rio Grande, Shenandoah, etc.), Room behind a closet (existence not confirmed), Seeds, Serpent tree, Shafts, Shells, Shifting sands, Shoes (gold, silver, and ruby slippers), Snake pits (traps), Spider chambers, Stairway, Torpedo Town, Tin Woodsman's Castle, Tree with square paper boxes containing Dad's music programming, Trojan Horse w/ armies, Tunnels, Valley of the Dry Bones, Volcano (to destroy & remake the system), Vortices (see Black Holes), Wasteland, Water (Moats), Waterfalls, Wind, Wires, Worms, and a Yellow Brick Road."

In order to use the multiple in different life styles--they divide up a system of alters into worlds of alters which rarely see each other. These worlds are also called cities. The words "city" or "world" are interchangeable when it comes to a Monarch System. Typically, they received names such as Atlantis, City of Refuge, Shangri-la, and Troy. Later, after Candy Jones exposed the programming, there was a major shift about this time, and many of the Systems were programmed with Solar Systems. Each planet had a different group or race of alter or demon. The concept of Star Trek was helpful for this. Some of the Systems programmed in the 1970s, used Star Trek as their basis. The distribution of alters was similar to watching the various episodes of Star Trek.

Alters that were created at the same time and left in an area of the System together are families. The programmers in their efforts to dehumanize these alters will stick to animal names such as referring to them as "litters".

The front level of a System would often be given a cover. The front level might see their world as a basketball court, or several houses, or a dollhouse, or a street. The front world is set up to deceive anyone from discovering the true structure of the system.

The programmers can link and unlink, and move alters around. Eventually they get something neat and tidy on a sheet a paper. A standard Illuminati System is built like a 13x13x13 cube with an elevator shaft running up and down from the bottom to the top. The elevator is constructed as a piece of DNA and alters can ride up and down the elevator (go up or down in trance) to move when allowed.

Most of the alters have no sense of time, and most of the alters do not hold the body very frequently. For various reasons most of the alters never grow up. Obviously, if they don't hold the body very much, and are dissociated from everyone else's memories, they have nothing to stimulate them to grow up. However, the Programmers must have some of the alters who can function as adults. For instance, alters who go into bars must think of themselves as adults. The alters which will hold the body in public will be hypnotically made into adults. The Network likes to leave many child alters, because most of them are pedophiles and they like the pseudo-pedophile experience of making it with an alter that thinks it is four years old. Or just the opposite, sometimes an adult alter will appear within a child victim, and this is a clue that this is an access/reporting alter.

Many of the Illuminati systems, especially Mengele's were set up on a 13x13 grid of alters. The grids are numbered top to bottom and side to side but not in the fashion one might expect. The typical Mengele grid will begin with 6 and proceed 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5. However, the structure doesn't have to be a grid, any geometric shape works and has been used, such as a sphere, cube, or pyramid. Dr. Star and his wife, who is an OTO programmer working out of Corpus Christi, TX likes to structure an alter system in the shape of the Seal of Solomon. The Yin-yang symbol is then equated with the entire Seal of Solomon. The all-seeing eye is placed in the center of Star's systems, just like Mengele would put in an All-Seeing Eye. The hidden Sun of Tiphareth is placed into Dr. Star's victim's systems, as well as the four elements, and sulfuric acid. Alters are then placed in the various positions around the hexagram.

Because therapists, (and Christian ministers) are generally unaware of the deeper occult things, they usually miss seeing the occult philosophies behind the structures. For instance, the elements of earth, wind, fire and water are not just part of magic--they are in Druidism considered the four zones (or directions) also called rings which are held together by the fifth ring--balance. This is the basis of Celtic geometric art, metaphysical maps, and ancient Ireland was symbolically divided into four regions with a unifying fifth. This was the bardic view of the universe which is presented in the Vita Merlini (written by Geoffrey of Monmouth in 1150). Supposedly England, Wales and Scotland were also divided into 4 regions with a unifying fifth too. And all these four regions Ireland, Wales, Scotland and England are joined again in the U.K. In Druidism, the four magical elements the Sword, Rod, Cup and Shield are unified by the Cord while the four elements are unified by the spirit. Ancient Druid stone statues of triple faced gods and goddesses still remain today. Heads were considered sacred by the early Celts which is why the heads of the top Grand Dames are preserved after they are ritually murdered. If an outsider really wants to understand why Illuminati systems are constructed in the fashion that they are--first understand that there is a great depth of meaning behind what structures are used to build an internal world. An ex-programmer talks about how the programmers would call upon Satan in high level rituals to "Tell me what to do, and I'll do what you want" to gain wisdom in how to design these alter systems.

Within a System, a few alters will be given maps to the System. There will be a structure "map" which takes the system down through its progressive levels down to its fundamental or primal level. There will also be internal world maps, maze maps, or what some call programming maps.

HOW THE SELF OF A MAIN ALTER CONSISTS OF SHATTERED SHADOW ALTERS, A SCRIPT, MIRRORS, & ASSIGNED DEMONS

What really is an alter? An alter is a dissociated part of the mind, which is developed BY the programmers to be a complete personality. We will now explain what an alter is. If you were to look on the programmers' charts found in his grey 3 ring binder, or his lap top computer you would see graphs with alters with access codes. What are these alters? If the programmers didn't invest a great deal of programming and structuring, each alter would not be a complete personality. On the chart, the programmer will have a square on a grid where he will record the cult name, the front name, the alter's alpha-numeric pull up code and its grid number. What seems neat and tidy is really not so neat and tidy. That alter is really an alter with many shadows of itself. This is a family of fragments of that alter which hold parts of itself. There is a particular secret term that only the programmers use for these fragments, but for purposes of discussion we will call these fragments "family fragments" or "shadow fragments." For instance, a Gatekeeper alter will have a shadow alter fragment that holds its fear, one that holds its pain, one that holds its anger, and many that hold its memories of abuse and torture. What appears on the grid as a square is in reality a box holding lots of fragments. The programmers understand how multiplicity works, so rather than chart an alter with 25 fragments coming off of it--they name the whole mess after the main alter they have created for that family of fragments. The main alter really is a fictional persona created by the programmers linked to numerous fragments of the mind.

The mind of the child victim will cooperate with the torture and programming. The programmer will verbally discuss his programming scripts with his close assistants, for instance, the Grand Dame who helps him; but he doesn't record the scripts down. Historically, the Programmers have always individually tailored their story scripts for each child. Because the best are master story tellers, who can make a story come alive, they do not need to depend upon stale written scripts. The Wizard of Oz, and Mother Goose books, etc. are read prior to actual programming session, to enhance the programming session. The final alters are recorded, but not the stories or the lies told them.

After a main alter has been created and shattered, the programmers find this main alter within the mind and give it a personal history (via films, virtual reality headsets, stories, etc.), give it a job within the system, a place to live in the internal world, and its rules and guide lines on how to function within the system. It will be given scripts about the outside world. And shortly, we will explain those.

This doesn't mean that alters don't exist--they are physically part of the mental makeup of a multiple's brain--but an alter's existence is not at all what it sees or what outsiders see. Both the alter and the therapist see only a small part of the picture.

John O. Bearhrs (Limits of scientific psychiatry, Role of uncertainty in mental health. NY: Brunner/Mazel, 1986, pp. 86-113.), who did therapeutic work with Multiples, recognized some of the process that we are describing. He wrote about how an alter when confronted with more pain, guilt, and rage will dissociate this mental hazardous waste into alters who function as internal garbage cans. He described a victim who had a jolly front alter Diane with a winning smile. This front alter dumped her pain on a small child alter Mary, who lived in an internal "basement". However, in one particular case Mary didn't want the pain and she passed it to Karl (a 4 yr. old alter), who cried and yelled so loud internally that Danny, a 12 year old alter who was characterized by toughness and courage took the pain. However, the actual situation is more subtle and complex than Beahrs realized. Every alter creates shadow alters of itself to handle the anger, fear, guilt, betrayal etc. The Programmers are totally aware of these shadow alters and they work with them.

If we picture an alter as a point in the mind--a dot or small circle, then we can for the sake of discussion picture the shadow splits off of that alter as rays coming out of that small circle. Now we have an image of something looking like a sun with rays. Actually, in real life, after all the torture, the shadow alters holding memories and all the programs attached are simply one big mess that resembles the branches of a tree with leaves. The Programmers have made a thorough mess of the person's mind--and they need some clean way to deal with this mess they have created. So the Programmers use the imagery that best resembles the mess they have made. The victim is told they have a tree with branches and leaves growing through them. This tree with its branches grows through out every alter. The image of the vine and its branches is also used, because then the programmers can bring in the Bible to make their programming seem to be supported by God's Holy Word. The original alter is told that it is a mote of nothingness (a very tiny circle). The programmers don't chart all the family or shadow fragments of an alter because they understand MPD (DID). The fragments will hold all the memories of abuse, so the alter can function. The fragments will also give the alter the appearance of the full range of emotions. If a main alter gets angry or feels guilty, what is happening, is that it has accessed its shadows to express the full range of emotions.

The Programmers abuse an alter and get the Shadow alters. Then they hypnotically attach a memory cue (which is a code consisting of the alter's name, the date of the memory, and perhaps something else to complete the code) to the main alter so that they can access the memory anytime they want. Then they hypnotically & demonically build a on-way mirror between this main alter and the shadow alters they have just created. These one-way mirrors are like one way windows--the reason they are referred to as mirrors is that they are put in the child's mind via mirrors. Next, they ritually/magickly implant demons to guard the mirror(s) and to guard each memory held by the shadow alters. This separates an alter from knowing itself and its own abuse.

The main alter has dissociated the pain, etc. to its shadow alters of itself. The Programmers then use the memory as blackmail to keep the main alter in line. The main alter has dissociated the pain, but will recover the memory if either one of three possibilities happen: a. the Programmer or handler says the memory code 3x, or b. if an event happens that triggers the main alter to remember, c. the main alter tries to remember the abuse and the programming, and in doing so they will be stepping outside of the circle assigned to them and will "break the circle & break the mirrors."

Remember, how we described a Main alter as a small circle with the rays (shadow alters) split off from it. The shadow or family alters of a Main alter are the true history of an alter. The Main alter is given the script to totally love the Programmer/Master. It should be angry at what has happened to it. The ability to direct that anger is lost with the dissociation, but might be retrieved if the alter remembered, so the programmers transfer it by creating some outside person or object for the alter to focus their hate upon. Elaborate hate scripts are then given to the main alter. The love of the Master now protects the Main alter from having to remember its pain. Very few alters and very few non-multiple people would want to remember such trauma and it is very unpopular in society to remember past traumas (how often have you heard expressions "let bygones be bygones", "the past is past", "don't dig up old skeletons", etc.) As long as the alter loves its Master, it is somewhat safe from remembering its own traumas. And yet for a Monarch slave to regain its own mind, the alters must regain their own memories. That is why to really break down the programming, memory work is need. That Monarch slaves must regain their memories to heal is a hard one for many people and ministers to understand. Most deliverance ministries pray that God would take away their bad memories. Further, the programming holds the lies in place, and the demonology holds the traumas, programs, and memories in place.

A Main alter is really in the middle of special purpose Shadow alters which have been split from itself. The Programmers do a reversal on this and tell the Main alter that it is on the outside looking in. Vagabond Programming (which tells an alter it is a vagabond) is then applied to teach the alter it doesn't belong to the inside world, nor to the outside world. It belongs nowhere.

The Main alter will perceive that it is on the outside looking in at mirrors. The mirrors then guard the inside of the circle. To try to remember the truth is to break the circle of mirrors. The circle of mirrors has magical significance, because it ties in with the witchball or speculum which the witches have used over the centuries to see beyond time and space. The steps that the programmers do, can be explained on many levels. Many of these steps are done for special occult reasons.

One of the first things taught to a child is "DO NOT BREAK THE CIRCLE". This has both the internal meaning "don't go after you own memories" and the external meaning "don't leave the cult--the circle." Special black mats (such as used in wrestling) have been constructed by the Programmers. The first black mat is a circular mat with a 4' radius. The next black mat has an 8' radius (with a donut hole with a 4' radius) so that it can fit over/around the first circle. From there you have concentric donut shaped pieces of mat each four feet wider in radius than the previous, which can all be joined together. Each of the concentric circles will have a different colored circle painted on its edge. The victim child while it is in the crawling stage will be placed onto the middle dot and told to stay. They will be punished every time they move. When they finally can do this obediently, they will be given the 4' circle. Toys will be placed outside of the painted line (which may for starters be a blue line, then perhaps green, and then red). Just off of the mat are interesting things like a full bottle, a blanket, a coat, food, toys, etc. The child is cold, hungry and bored. Will the child obey and stay in its circle? If it doesn't it will be punished by being mildly shocked, or having its head dunked into a toilet, or its hand punished, and it will be set back in the circle until it's will is broken and it learns to submit to the order to stay in the circle. This teaches the victim child several things: don't step outside of boundaries, don't break the circle, it teaches them the colors that will be used in the color programming of the internal world, and it is again traumatizing. What they see, hear and do will now be done in obedience.

Does the reader see how hard it is for the child & its alters to move outside of the scripts?

Alert readers will realize that there are 13 colors in Illuminati systems and that means 13 x 4 feet = the radius of the finished 13-concentric-circled black mat when all the pieces are laid down. This means a large indoor area with a floor space of at least 124' across in needed. Military bases, hospitals, churches, and universities like Oral Roberts University have gyms or auditoriums which the Illuminati use for this stage of the programming. Mother of Darkness alters train the children. The Presideo had a great place for this training.

This is the programming for the "Circle Will Not be Broken" script. The Amish do something similar, to make their children obedient, which is one reason the Monarch programming is easy to hide within the Amish culture. This type of programming is referred to in chapter 5 about the fronts and the Top Secret Amish Front.

Let us briefly mention, that some systems are simply concentric rings (levels of alters) each assigned a different color. Another twist to the color coding--an alter in some circumstances may have two colors. An alter may be coded Black below white, so that when it sees black color below white it is triggered. The sections on a soccer ball, have been colored and used for a programming visual aid.

Various researchers who have tried to identify: What happens when a normal non-multiple subject is hypnotized to not feel pain? Of course, the subject consciously tells the hypnotist that he feels no pain, but researchers such as the Watkins & Hilgards have demonstrated that the subject under hypnotism dissociates the pain to another part of the mind. In other words, hypnosis and MPD (DID) which are both forms of dissociation are much closer in how they function than some people have realized. In fact, some researchers, who are well aware of how close the two dissociative functions are, have defined MPD (DID) as "spontaneous hypnosis" (Beahrs, 1982; Bliss, 1986). The non-conscious area of the mind that hypnotic subjects dissociated to have been labeled "ego-states", "the hidden observer" and "a covert cognitive structural system". The giving away of pain, fear, and other traumas to Shadow parts is similar to what happens when researchers observe a person who is directed in hypnosis to not feel pain, unknowingly giving his pain away to a hidden ego-state.

A hiding place where alters can go, a place of light which gives energy, is created in a System.

The New World Order's One-World-Religion and their Mind-Control is organized on the hierarchal system with a S.P.I.N. front.

The Illuminati and the occult world that they supervise has a strong hierarchial system both world-wide and within the slave. Fritz has spent a great deal of time researching and communicating to other how the hierarchy controls on a large scale, and how it is miniaturized and how this identical hierarchy is placed internally into the slave. However, the big cover for the hierarchial arrangement is the SPIN principal.

WHAT IS THE SPIN PRINCIPLE?

S-P-I-N = Segmented Polycentric Integrated Networks.

If one were to diagram a SPIN organizational chart it would not be a conventional box type configuration such as an army company organization chart. Rather, it would resemble a fish-net with interlocking nodes with groups linked to many other groups and cluster around nodes. There is no center to the network. It is like the brain's electrical connections, with an overlap of functions, so that good cells can take over from damaged sections. A network (one of their buzzwords) is many times more greater than the sum of its parts.

The New Age author Marilyn Ferguson does an excellent job in describing how the Conspiracy's SPIN network functions.

"This is a source of power never before tapped in history: multiple self-sufficient social movements linked for a whole array of goals whose accomplishment would transform every aspect of contemporary life.

"Because SPINs are so qualitatively different in organization and impact from bureaucracies...most people don't see them--or think they are conspiracies. Often networks take similar action without conferring with each other simply because they share so many assumptions. It might also be said that the shared assumptions are the collusion.

"The Aquarian Conspiracy is, in effect, a SPIN of SPINs, a network of many networks aimed at social transformation. The Aquarian Conspiracy is indeed loose, segmented, evolutionary, redundant. Its center is everywhere. Although many social movements and mutual-help groups are represented in its alliances, its life does not hinge on any of them." Ferguson, Marilyn. The Aquarian Conspiracy. Los Angeles, CA: J.P. Tarcher,Inc., 1980, p. 217.

ARRANGEMENT

SOLEMETRIC STRUCTURE

The programmers enjoy setting up double-binds. One of their tricks is to create alters which are given negative spiritual roles with names to match. An alter may be named "unforgiveness", or "the one who doesn't trust anyone." For such an alter to trust someone, makes the alter feel like it is giving up its name, and therefore its identity. By combining the name with an identity that the alter doesn't want to lose, the programming intend to double bind the alter. The Satan alter within a System will see itself as Satan. The alter Satan feels that he is on the winning side in a war, due to the lies that have been told this child alter when it was created. A girl child alter will be made to think they are the evil male Satan. The point is that the identity of this alter is tied up with their negative destructive role in the system. The Christian therapist has a better chance to show Satan that the Rule of the Victor means that Satan serves Almighty God, than for a secular therapist to try to convince Satan that Satan doesn't exist. And if the secular therapist tries to debunk the Biblical view of things, what positive philosophy or spirituality is the secular therapist going to give this Satan alter to fight with against the inevitable external evil that we all face in life?

STANDARD ROLES WITHIN AN ILLUMINATI MONARCH SLAVE

(Note: that depending upon what the System's occupation in life is, also determines some of the types of alters created. If the System is a politician, they will need special alters to deal with certain secret activities. If the System is a baseball pitcher, they will need alters that are trained to pitch.)

Alien alters for contact, bonding w/ aliens, & acceptance of mock alien invasion
Angel (imitation) alters for divine messages, these may be seen as Spirit Guide alters
Angry alters
Animal alters who are meant to act like animals
Assassination alters (Deltas)
Babysitter alters to look after child alters and keep them from popping out inappropriately
Blackmail alters (Betas, and Black Widows)
Bird alters (used for half a dozen various internal purposes, including ravens for suicide, doves for peace, orks to fly over the internal mazes, owls for wisdom, etc. The dove may be part of a false trinity.)
Child alters
Clockmaker & Clockholder alters (Also the Grim reaper may be associated with the clocks.)
Core related alters to imitate or protect the core from anything
Coven alters to lead coven level meetings
Courier alters (Carrier Pigeons)
Data alters to hold information (this encompasses a wide range of alters, including alters who hold internal system information to alters who hold information for their masters.
Deaf & Dumb alters to prevent the System from hearing non-approved users say access codes.
Death alters to take near death traumas
Element alters (Air or Wind, Water, Earth, Fire) for magick & compliance
Espionage alters
Firechild or Bombchild alters to make body feel like its burning
Flooding alters (often flooding comes simply from Shadow fragments)
Foreign Language alters
Front alters for a good cover
Gatekeeper alters to guard portals and gates
Guard (or Blocker) alters to guard important areas of the System
Justice alters--alters who mete out justice for disobedient alters
Hierarchy alters to take part in Illuminati hierarchy ceremonies (there will be a big demand for many of these alters--different ceremonies and different times of the year are given different alters).

Hunts, alters created for the master's sport of being hunted
Loyalty alters which hold strong love & devotion to the master
Martial Arts alters to protect the System if need be Mirror image alters, for deception
Monster alters to scare the other alters
Mouse alters to run the clocks (computer, and grids)
Nothing alters, alters who believe they are nobody, or Mr. Nobody, or "no-name".
Observation alters (these deep alters quietly observe all that goes on in an alter system. They may be called Watchers.)
Programmers, Internal (alters cloned after the original programmers to reprogram the System, also known as Internalists.)
Programming alters to help Illuminati program
Protector alters to protect almost everything in the System (essentially nothing is left unprotected in the System.) In some systems, these alters may even be known in the System as Warrior & Infiltration Alters. They may include such titles as Keeper to the Pit.
Ribbon Alters to send messages from computers to System areas
Reporting alters to give the master reports regularly, esp. important to monitor all activity by a therapist
Ruling alters, such as Queens & Kings
Run/return to master alters
Satanic hierarchy alters, to insure that system is controlled by Satan
Sexual alters (kittens for porn, S&M, etc.)
Scrambling alters to prevent alters from hearing
Shell alters (to hide real alters from therapists)
Suicide alters (clowns, Russian Roulette alters, etc.)
Tranced, (alters tranced deeply to move up and trance the body)
Travel alters, which can sleep during travel or be oblivious to where they are going

Next we will discuss how some of these types of alters are created. These will be discussed in alphabetical order. It should be pointed out that generally the Illuminati choose one of the early front Gatekeeper alters to be the alter who knows the entire system as it is made. This often is Gatekeeper no. 3. After the entire structuring is finished this alter will be hypnotically programmed to forget that they know the entire system. By the age of ten, an Illuminati system will have someone who knows the entire system. However, these gatekeepers get heavy programming not to remember.

ANGRY ALTERS

By the time the programmers are ready to create angry alters, the child victim has been well conditioned not to get angry, but to passively accept their abuse. The programmers have to get the child's mind to break with their prior programming to get angry. In order to do this, the child will be tormented without end for several days. This is one of the worst parts of the programming, and many children die in this stage. The Illuminati pick their most gentle Mothers-of-Darkness systems to work with the male programmers. If the gentle Mothers-of-Darkness slaves didn't bring some balance and affection to the child victims, the sadistic programmers would probably kill all of the children at this stage of programming. For more on this see Egyptian Armies just a little further.

ANIMAL ALTERS meant to act like animals

Although a large share of an alter system is dehumanized, there are certain alters which will be created to actually hold the body and act like animals. The alter may even be named "animal." A male or female slave may have dog alters which bark like a dog and get into the correct position to allow a Rottweiler/German shepherd/Doberman to penetrate the slave sexually. This is accomplished by taking menstrual blood from a dog in heat and smearing it on the victim.

Animal alters are created by the standard dehumanization methods, and then shown films of what they are to become. Through hypnosis and behavior modification, the alters eventually accept the role they are tortured and programmed into taking. It's hard telling what roles the programmers have created, it could possibly be any animal, but cats, dogs, donkeys, horses, rats, and mice are common examples.

CHRISTIAN FRONT ALTERS

Most Illuminati Systems have Christian front alters. Some of the early splits around 2 years of age are provided the chance to genuinely accept Christ. From these alters, two things will be done. Front alters who are Christians will be created, and satanic alters. In order to get dedicated Satanic alters, Christian alters are severely traumatized and God is blamed for not helping them. The Satanic alters will be deeply convinced that God has abandoned them. The Christian alters will dissociate all the trauma, and will believe that they are normal--nothing has happened out of the ordinary in their life. Christian alters will also, like all MPD/DID alters, tend to deal with overwhelming problems by dissociation. Many Christian alters will deny such basic things such as that a Satanic conspiracy exists. They often will be far more zealous than the normal Christian, because they do not have conflicting ego-states. If any situation calls for compromise of their religious beliefs they can switch to someone else--and thereby escape having to compromise. There are many programmed multiples leading the Christian churches today. Christian alters are coached via the modern church and their handlers to only "spiritually minded" and not to challenge evil in the natural world. Some walk around believing that God will cure everything, which is true but not in the sense that some of the churches are explaining. That doesn't mean that all Systems will be "Polyanish", but it can happen.

The original Christian alters will be shamed and then hidden by the programmers. The "host" or "presenting" alter which holds the body will often be a Christian. This really helps hide the entire mind-control.

Interestingly, a system of 20,000 alters may have only less than a dozen Christians alters, but the one or two strong Christian alters will exert a disproportionate influence on the System. The Illuminati has had a hard time controlling the Christian alters they allow. In their zeal to infiltrate, control and destroy the Christian churches, they have opened many of their top slaves up to the love of God, which has ended in the slaves trying to break free. Unfortunately, most ministers know too little to help these people escape.

CLONES

The clones are little children who have been put into robot costumes and are trained to attack parts of the system which are not in compliance with the programming. The heads of the clones can be unscrewed. The clones can be taken out by various tactics--but there are hundreds of clones and they each have been numbered. The serial numbers are placed on them. An example of a clone's number at the base of the neck might be 158.00. This may either be a model or actual serial no. but often is tied to the birthdate of the victim, which is generally part or all of the victim's Monarch serial no.

To create the clones during the 1950s, movie scenes of the divers of the Nautilus of the movie 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea were shown. (With later models, such as in Star Wars programming, the robots of these shows suffice.) Some clones kill with a knife as the divers in the movie 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea.

When clones surface and take the body they are cold.

Programming is encased in a clone.

Alters, particularly cult alters, may not be able to see the clones. They may be hidden in almost anything internally, including door knobs and walls. However, there is the possibility for the therapist that a net made of cloth woven of light can be dropped and the lumps will reveal the clones. They may be behind mirrors too.

Water has certain properties that can stop clones, as well as magnets.

Microwaves will take care of the electronics. A little microwave can take out a group of clones. Clones have many shapes--but they do not look like people. They usually have a switch to be activated.

Atlantis may be set up as the world for clones, in accord with 20,000 Leagues Under the Sea programming.

Whatever the style, robots & clones are popular items for programmers to install.

One of the major defects of the first few decades of Illuminati programming, was that the clones were set up so that water would stop them. Therapists could stop the clone armies by applying water on them. Recent models have corrected that deficiency. But when the clones are stopped, and the diver suits are taken off of the child alters, who are inside of the robot suits, then a child alter will be found which is in the same drugged state that it was in when it was being programmed. This child fragment alter will often have an I.V. (wires and needles) in it, and will be very druggy. It will be in its programmed war-like angry state.

In Druidism, a swan was something dirty like a pig in Judaism. Some alters which are assigned to protect, are warned they will become swans. If the Queen of the Clones becomes a swan, the clones will become helpless. The Queen of the Clones (a triad) must do her job or be turned into a swan.

Changing subjects to alter clones, Cloning programs include, for instance, Lollipop & Lobster programs.

DELTA'S

The Delta's are alters trained to carry out special missions resulting in death. The Delta's who are inactive are asleep. They must be activated. The programming to activate them will be triggered if a mission is given or if certain parts of the deeper parts of the system are tampered with. Delta's will work as a team with the Beta's to kill. An Illuminati System will be "magically" twinned during programming to be a Twin with another system's Delta alters. And these two systems in turn are joined in programming with another 2 person team, so that 2 person and 4 person teams can be constructed. This gives the Illuminati more flexibility in what kind of missions it can send its slave out on. 4 person assassination teams are very common. They had 2 four-man Monarch slave assassination teams at Waco, Texas the day that the Waco Branch Davidian building burned up.

HOW THE DELTA'S ARE CREATED

Illuminati Deltas are linked to the moon children, and are the offspring of the moon child alter in the early cage programming.

In the early 1950s, the Illuminati would take a child and force it to watch another child, who they have bonded with, be incinerated alive in a crematorium at high heat which would not only melt the child but turn it to ashes. The form of the child in ashes would stay in the shape of the child until the crematorium door which would have glass in it for viewing would be opened. A small gust of air would cause the ashes to lose their shape. Watching through glass and feeling the fire and hearing the child scream was a trauma for any child. The Presideo and some of the Illuminati-run funeral homes which had this type of crematorium were employed for fire traumas. The fire trauma was done so that the child would visualize melting from heat. This melting trauma would then form the basis of the good witch/bad witch programming where water on a witch makes her melt like in the Wizard of Oz story. The Delta and Beta alters are then to trance into their melted state whenever their programmers want them to function. Their functioning state is the "melted state". The programming is that the witches melt down to NOTHING.

After a few years, the programmers realized that they didn't have to have a real trauma to get the programming done, because they could usually do it with a combination of hallucinatory drugs, hypnotic drugs, and paper dolls. Paper dolls which when cut out are all joined together would be placed on a grid similar to an alter grid on a platform. The right hypnotic suggestions are made, and the child believes these paper dolls are alive and are burned up. If the paper dolls didn't work, they'd go back to using a real child to get the job done.

Later, the lower cat alters are taught how to be hunted and hunt at the "life or death" Beltaine hunts. These hunts helped train alters which are then used to create the Deltas. The Deltas are not completed until later.

To create a trained assassin, the alters were desensitized towards pain and death by being shown gory films with the eyes forced open. Hypnosis was also used. The potential victims were devalued, it is believed the Aryan alters which are very elitist and racist are used for Delta alters. Satanic rituals were also involved in the creation of the Deltas.

Deltas will be trained in hand to hand combat--and know certain vulnerable places to kill people incl. breaking the neck. Training included a great deal of weapons training.

In an early programmed multiple System, which was created and programmed in Nazi Germany in the 1930s, the assassination alters are placed behind a wall of ice. When the wall of ice is melted, these assassination alters are freed and they will go about their assignment to kill by using an ice-pick type needle poked into the heart of their prey. These Systems were infiltrated into the U.S. during the 1930s to build a foundation for when the Nazi's expected to win the war. Later, American Delta alters were taught the art of assassination by poking a needle through the eye of the victim. This kind of assassination is apparently hard to detect.

HOW THE DELTAS ARE ACTIVATED

The access codes for the Deltas are structured different than for the rest of the System, except for the sexual/entrapment/espionage alters who are designed very similar. The Deltas may be black color coded.

When the programmer wants to use these Delta alters, he will call them up from their genii bottle or wherever they are hidden deep in the mind. They will be commanded to melt. When they have melted into the nothing state, then the programmer gives an exact script of everything the Delta alter is to do, just like you would program a computer step by step-- from step a to step z. For instance, the programmer might say, "At a certain place you will be in the melted state until you hear the words, "I'm going to Kansas City, where are you from Miss Ruby shoes?", at that point you will remain in the melted state and do part B of the script." As the programmer continues with the script, a Delta fragment will be given NWO codes, bank account numbers, and major sports numbers (so other NWO folks know who is going to win ahead of time). This fragment will simply be a mental floppy disk. The Delta-Beta alters are habitually lied to by their programmers when they are given their detailed scripts. If they are carrying cocaine they may be told it is soap for needy children. If they shoot someone, then they will be told all kinds of lies about the person they are to kill. They never are really given a chance to step outside of their deep trance and to ever hear the truth about what they are doing. They live their lives in a surreal fantasy world where nothing really makes sense. They don't try to think for themselves, they just follow orders.

Since a mission may call for other alters to hold the body, the programmer must put together his Delta script so that two scripts can be intertwined. The programmer may work out something so that the Delta alter goes into a temporary sleep in the melted state while out on the mission. This way the programmer doesn't have to be present on the trip to bring the Delta alter back into its functioning "melted" state. The Delta alters can't be out too long anyway because they are not used to functioning in the outside world and they get tired fast. Several Delta alters can switch so that they keep having a fresh Delta alter come out, but eventually every one begins to get tired. That is another reason they will work in another script with front alters. The front alters are used to holding the body everyday. The front alters will take a vacation, while the Deltas work on their detailed script of carrying secret messages and maybe killing someone. During an airplane trip, a travel alter will hold the body while the Deltas sleep in the melted state.

Delta alters (who by the way have photographic memories) are given their scripts by programmers, not run-of-the-mill handlers. Everything is too fine tuned in the programming for a run-of-the-mill handler.

Delta alters have an internal hour glass, this hour glass may be a mural in their internal world that they look at. As long as they are obedient, the hour glass sands do not fall. If they are disobedient, the sand begins falling, and their life is on the line. There is no room for mistakes. If the sand runs out, death is to happen. Large hourglasses are often displayed in front of Delta-Beta slaves to remind them that their is no room for mistakes, no slack for disobedience.

Their thinking is buried in fairy tales. They are programmed to see themselves in fairy tales, they are programmed not to see their handlers or anybody's else's face for that matter. Their handlers pretend they are fairy tale characters or aliens. These alters do not have a chance to understand what they are doing.

If the programmers get tired of the slave's programming breaking down--and it does in part due to the severe abuse they get from these sadistic programmers/handlers, then they will simply give the slave an assignment in which the slave will end up dying, i.e. a suicide mission. This type of suicide mission is happening all over the United States with great frequency. An example would be a lady who is getting to wise about the New World Order, so a Delta is assigned to crash their car into the lady, and its written down as "just an unfortunate ACCIDENT with fatalities." A shop owner refuses to pay the Mafia for protection; so a Delta vandalizes and tears up the shop and has a fatal shootout with the police.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE ALTERS

The Illuminati/intelligence agencies realized when they started making slaves with photographic memories that they could create different parts of a slave's mind to operate on different languages. Illuminati hierarchy systems will employ foreign language alters for several purposes: a. to facilitate the alter working in various situations, for example French is helpful to work with Catholics in Quebec, and with the Cambodian/Vietnamese criminal syndicate that the Illuminati set up in this nation. A high profile example of this is Bo Gritz, an officer of the Delta Force, who due to his photographic mind (created via brain stem scarring) can speak Mandarin Chinese. Mandarin Chinese is not normally an easy language for Americans. b. to hide things in a system. Examples of this include code words attached to Greek and Hebrew letters for body programs. Another example is having latin phrases for accessing deeper parts.

If an entire area of a system is put in a foreign language, and the system is not given any alters capable of translation, then you have very effectively isolated an entire section. For instance, systems are being created in their early teens which are sectioned off into 5 or more languages, say for instance, German, Spanish, French, Italian, and Arabic. Some of the Systems created in the late 1950s, already were employing some of this.

Since the very best Illuminati programmer in the world is European, and speaks several languages you can expect to start to see more and more of this "Tower of Babel" programming (multi-language systems where parts can't communicate.) The reader realizes that such multi-language capabilities are always secret until the person starts breaking down the programming.

The programmers tell alter systems that God wants this programming done, because God confounded all the languages & then spread people into the 4 corners of the world.

GATEKEEPER ALTERS

The Gatekeeper alters are just that. They protect the gates or portals to all System levels. Infrequently, the programmers may also call them "doorkeepers", or "tollmen" & "toll women". The victim may refer to them as guards or blockers, although Gatekeepers are more than guards, they are an entrance or portal to something.

Gatekeepers may often be the alter that was split to get a particular section. Each gatekeeper may be at a deeper level trance than the one before it. When a Gatekeeper is split it creates a natural link to the alters that are created from itself. Then the Gatekeepers are given programming not to see what they have created and what they are natural portals to. These steps create a natural portal for the deeper alters. One-way mirrors are usually installed between the Gatekeeper and the section they guard, so that the deeper alters can see out, but the Gatekeeper can't see in. Besides splitting off entire sections from the Gatekeepers, clown alters will be created from them to keep the Gatekeepers in line.

The first row of doors in a system--which the front Gatekeepers protect are often set up as the "red door(s)". Deeper in the system, other Gatekeepers will be stationed in front of important systems, and these other doors will have a different color code than the first set of doors. To train gatekeeper alters, they are taken to a door and by behavior modification techniques (i.e. severe torture) they are taught not to go beyond the door. They are to hold their place and not step through the door. Then they are strongly programmed via hypnosis to forget the training session, but not the lesson.

The first row of Gatekeepers can have no tie to the cult and no tie to the outside world. They are taught they are vagabonds. The only real tie they are allowed to have is themselves, and they are aren't allowed to know who they themselves are. The standard programming for Gatekeepers is to mess them up with love-hate double binds. Gatekeepers are often very melancholic and if they go against their programming, they or the alters near them can easily commit suicide. The Gatekeepers always receive heavy programming and heavy trauma. Front line Gatekeepers may be near the front of a System, but due to their heavy programming, what they say should be taken with a big grain of salt. They usually provide outsiders with the lies the programmers have so skillfully convinced them to believe.

Illuminati Gatekeeper alters are in 3 parts. The higher numbered gatekeepers have a pedestal which they are rotating on. A cat, a butterfly and a porcelain face are the three kinds of alters which are joined together and rotate. The deeper Gatekeepers on Illuminati models must be locked in place before conversation can ensue. The Gatekeeper alters are non-sexual, and programmed not to see what is below their feet which are the sexual alters. A stacking mechanism has been created to call each gatekeeper alter out and stacked on each like a deck of cards. This command for some systems is "Stand in order according to rank & serial no. [said 3x]." Another stacking mechanism can be achieved to place them all on the potter's wheel according to order with "See no evil, Hear no evil, do no evil" which originally was accompanied by a hand movement of exposing cards.

The NWO's Charismatic branch give their deeper gatekeepers Porcelain Face Programming. Sometimes, the frontline Gatekeepers also get Porcelain face programming. The movie Ghostbusters, which has been used for a programming script on some slaves, has a very strong demonic "Gatekeeper" in the show. Janus, the two-faced god, was a gatekeeper, & the 1st month which is the gate to the new yr. (January) is named after him. The Illum. Great Rite ritual has a Gatekeeper (male) and Keymaster (female) to produce an AntiChrist child.

HIERARCHY & DEEPER CULT ALTERS

The deeper cult alters may be placed in a crystal ball and the Cabalistic Tree of Life. The Mother-of-Darkness alters will be set up on the Maiden-Mother-Crone trinity of the occult. Stormy alters, and there may be 60 or more deep level Stormy alters per system, are alters that are to be involved in all the man-made "natural disasters" that are planned for the period of anarchy. Sergeant alters are deeper call back alters who will be commanders of programs for the AntiChrist takeover. The deep front alters of the Mother-of-Darkness, Grande Dames, or Grande Master alters will not be in a deep trance. They need to be fully alert for what they do for the Illuminati. However, since they are only out at special points in time, all they know is Illuminati life and philosophy. Illuminati philosophy will include such things as "Pain is strength. The pain we suffer will give us the strength to conquer." The Sisters of Light (the level before the Mothers of Darkness) will be under the leadership of a Queen Mother. She will direct them to abduct a handsome male for breeding purposes. After the handsome male is used for breeding to get a male child for sacrifice or a female to raise as a Sister of Light, then the handsome male will be sacrificed. The Sisters of Light wear white for this ceremony. Because these alters only know the traditional ways, they don't have a realization of what they are doing.

An Illuminati multiple will carry on ritual functions at a number of different levels in the occult. There will be different alters for different levels and different ritual dates. The back part of a hierarchy system will not be worked until a sealing ceremony involving Egyptian magic at the age of 19 in late Apr.-May. Three keys are given at the ceremony, which is tied to astrological events. The 19 also represents 9+10 doors in the system. Then the back (deeper hierarchy) alters will begin to be used. This back half of the System will be shaped by pathworkings of the Cabalistic Tree of Life.

In the first levels of witchcraft, they will think they are worshipping a male & a female god. By the third level they will be informed they are worshipping one god-Lucifer. Some Illuminati groups, which are Jewish, worship a female god at the coven levels.

The secret Illuminati set of documents that the Bavarian government confiscated in 1784 and published as Die Originalschriften der Illuminatensekte, Munich has an accurate organizational chart on p. 32 of these reprinted Illuminati papers. There were 13° or levels. Six of these are functional. Monarch slaves who have internal worlds with 13 levels, with 6 functional and 6 hidden are not much different than the actual hierarchy structure.

In the Illuminati covens, each coven will secretly have a copy of The Book of Ages, which is vellum, and is basically a Who's Who of the Illuminati, and a copy of The Book of Generations, which explains the 13 bloodlines and what belongs to what generation. A handwritten magickal Book of Shadows will also belong to the coven. Only the Keeper of the Books and the coven leader will know about these things. The coven will also have a Keeper of the Seals which pertains to vows and oaths. After Halloween, the coven leader (priest or priestess) will secretly send all the coven records to headquarters in Europe.

It is important to realize that the internal structuring of an Illuminati alter system will correspond to the external structures of the Illuminati. This may not be an exact one-to-one correspondence. Understanding the Illuminati hierarchy ranks, which by the way had remained secret until Fritz Springmeier's recent Newsletter From A Christian Ministry in Jan. '93, is important. Within the male membership in the hierarchy you will find the following positions, Grande Druid, Grande Master, 5-star general (Servant of the Pentacle), Asmodeus, Ipsimus (or Royal Ipsimus), and Supreme Master. Bards are wise men within Druidism. Within the female side, are the Sisters of Light (9 grades), the Mothers of Darkness (11 grades), the Grande Mothers (13 grades), the Grande Dames, and the Queen Mother. Each of the 13 bloodlines have their own governing monarchies, upon which the numerous mob crime families are modelled. This particular arrangement may have developed from Basque witchcraft rather than Druidism. Generational thrones (kings, princes, priests) are very important. The Kings are called Olympians. All of these bloodlines cooperate by having councils. Three groups have been identified as preserving the plans for the world rule by the AntiChrist, the Keepers of the Dawn, the Order of the Quest, and the Order of the Garter.

EGYPTIAN ARMIES

The Egyptian armies are hundreds of fragments which have been programmed to have uniforms and to function as parts of an army. The main gods or spirits of Egyptian magic may be the names of the captains of the armies, such as the following names Isis, Osirus, Horus, Set and Ra. Thoth can be another name. In the Temple of Set, alters with Egyptian names abound, and aren't restricted to fragment armies.

The armies are built to protect various internal structures.

The technique to make these armies are to torment the victim child in such a way that they make the child very angry. At the peak of the child's rage, they split the mind. The result is lots of child alter fragments which are angry. These are collected and shaped into an angry army of little children. When an adult Monarch slave, triggers a protective army the adult alter finds themselves with angry children alters who are like a large crowd of toddlers who are screaming their heads off. There is no way to reason with these child fragments. Imagine trying to reason with a little 2 year who is screaming. Without anyway to reason with them--the adult alter has little defense against such an army.

FLOODING ALTERS

Flooding alters can be used as singles or as a group of alters. There is almost always a number of flooding alters in a system. They are developed by using drugs which lower dissociative barriers. The drugs were used when these alters held the body and the drugs caused all the dissociative walls to come down. These alters hold the memory of this flooding. Drugged alters in weird states can also be pulled up to make a system feeling crazy.

GEMS

The Gem alters are early child splits. These alters are treated as bad as possible. They are literally defecated upon, and pissed upon. They are intentionally dehumanized and taught to think as little as possible about themselves. At some point, these alters who have no self-esteem are told that they are something precious as Satan's gems. But they are warned that if they ever talk to someone on the outside, bombs will go off. Various bomb mechanisms are constructed using other alters and imagery. If these bombs go off, these alters will be so dysfunctional, incoherent and in shock that the therapist will not be able to work with the System again. The Gems are then used to transmit the mind of Satan to the System. Beyond the gems, and the hour glass disciples, there may be a stage which has more memories hidden. If a therapist gets that far, see how to raise the curtain.

LOOKING GLASS PEOPLE

The "Looking Glass Images" is the Illuminati name for mirror image alters, who are split off of main alters in order to confuse everyone but the controller. Sometimes these alters can be spotted because an alter will say, "I don't know if I'm inside or outside, I think I'm inside." As previously mentioned, many alters also have shadow alters created from themselves to take their pain.

It will be appropriate to discuss the overlays that the Illuminati place over real alters. The Illuminati will try to hide real alters with pseudo alters, mirror alters, mirror images and other tricks. Some alters are demons, and others are simply illusions of the mind. Shell alters prevent therapists from talking to the real alters.

MIRROR IMAGES

Mirror images are purpose fragments whose job is to confuse both victim and therapist. When an event happens, the abusers will fragment the alter who participated in the event, and create mirror images of that alter. This means that no one has the full memory. An alter doesn't know if the mirror image is itself or something else. It's very confusing. A triangle is formed by a. an alter, b. its mirror images, c. demonic mirror images. When an alter tries to recover a memory it goes round and round in a vicious cycle and finally concludes the memory is false. If one alter holds a memory, an alter close to it will have no feelings attached to the memory and will find it difficult to accept the memory as its own. It's like wearing someone else's coat, it may fit, but it just isn't your own. Mirror images, & pseudo-alters are layered in, so that it becomes perplexing to identify where an alter starts & where it ends. Therapists may think they have integrated alters, & actually only integrated their mirror images.

Looking Glass People are similar to the mirror images. The Programmers may create a looking glass alter by having a drugged alter(s) of the victim endure the trauma of seeing someone's face peeled. Then the victim's face is also pretended to be peeled--by pulling off something like elmer's glue which has formed a surface on the victim's face. Then the dead person's skin is placed over the victim being programmed. The Looking Glass People are charted on grids and contain lots of the programs. They are confusing to the regular alters, because they appear internally like mirror images.

PROGRAMMER ALTERS

Internal programming alters, which are "clone images" of the 3 primary external programmers will be placed into a Monarch system. Of course the programmers want to remain anonymous, so these programming alters are faceless & wear white robes. They are given vast power in the authority structure of a system, & can move wherever they need to move. When programming is discussed by a victim & therapist, they will appear.

REPORTING ALTERS

These alters are programmed to record everything. They lack an overview of reality. They are child parts that only know their job. The reporting alters will be involved in the recontact cues. Recontact alters are alters which are unaware of the abuse. The programmers may promise these recontact alters favors if they "report to Daddy." For years, many therapists have worked with clients and never realized that the secret and well hidden reporting alters were reporting everything back to the handler.

SCRAMBLING ALTERS

This is one of the hardest type of programs for the victim to master. To make sure that the victim's mind is very alert a drug is given which clouds the thinking. The alters must try exceptionally hard if they are to concentrate and learn what their job is. They will learn how to take something being said and scramble it. When alters are not supposed to hear something, these alters will be called up by the internal programmers & they will sit on top of other alters and scramble everything they hear. These alters are technicians who usually enjoy the mastery they have over their difficult assignment. Therapists can give them a new job scrambling incoming cult messages. Scrambling programs (linked to triggers for scrambling alters) have at times been given names such as "AC DC" & "FLIP FLOP."

SEXUAL ALTERS

The early sexual trauma is designed to familiarize the child with sex, and to access the primal part of the mind. The torture and sexual abuse eventually becomes gratifying to the mind. The mind does a reversal, pain becomes pleasure. At any rate, the programmers are trying to get a type of nymphomaniac. They accomplish this on one level. The sexual alters have no feelings attached to what they do, and their masters never allow them to enjoy sex. They are not to have climaxes, although they may be coached how to fake it. (For punishment if a slave gives trouble, the programmers might even hypnotically or surgically sew up the clitoris to insure the slave receives no gratification. The arab sheiks of Saudi Arabia will cut off--destroy-- the clitoris of their Monarch slaves in the same fashion that the Moslem world does with all their females.) The Programmers have been heard to program their slaves, "Don't be a hustler and don't pick up strays."

The programmers must now "groom" these alters. Little boys begin to be orally sexually molested when they are three. That is the standard age. Females (and some males) need to learn how to appear and act seductive. The programmers understand human nature. They understand that there is a spectrum of female sexuality, where on one end of the spectrum females guard their bodies with their minds, and on the other end they guard their emotions with their bodies. When a woman guards her emotions with her body--she is the type who craves sex for the physical pleasure of sex. There are an entire cluster of behavior traits that go with this type of personality, such as the way they walk, use their eyes, stare at men, the way they dress etc. The sexual groomers and programmers will teach the sexual alters these clusters of behavior. The sexual alters will also pick up lots of expertise naturally during the years of having to sexually service hundreds of abusers in every fashion imaginable. When Roseanne Barr, a Monarch slave, in her recent T.V. interview with Barbara Walters said, "I'm been screwed every possible way," she was not exaggerating. The Gumby Programming is to make the slave think their body is like Gumby and is flexible to move into any position. The slave is repeatedly threatened with their life, if they do not perform perfectly. The sexual techniques of the world have been collected and improved upon by the Illuminati and their intelligence agencies such as MI6, & the CIA. There are techniques to use with old men, for porn movies etc. which the common people aren't even aware of. The intelligence agencies & the military, when they use a male Monarch slave for covert activities, will find a female slave whose personality matches the male and pair them sexually during the period that the male slave is used on covert operations. This is done to insure that the other side doesn't take advantage of the male's sexual desires. Subjects such as how to train alters for espionage & prostitution could be books in themselves. The Illum. have male instructors who teach small classes of females about the power of seduction & how the male brain shutdowns when their sexual organ gets involved. Finishing schools like at Youngstown, OH teach sexuality performance based on fear of death. The male & female sexual slaves usually are highly skilled technicians who don't have emotions attached to what they do.

NAMES

There are some examples in professional literature which will serve to illustrate how the alters in an Illuminati system are named. A therapist in a professional magazine provided the names of a client's alters, which were Karen J, Karen Jo, Karen Ja, Baby Alpha, Middle Alpha, Adult Alpha. One of Frank Putnam's clients, (who had PET scans done showing how different alters have vastly different PET brain scans, which are not exhibited by people who only pretend to have MPD), had a Pam 1, and a Pam 2. These three methods here are common methods for nomenclature. In a 13x13x13 grid of alters, the top 2 sections of 169 each will usually have a quite a number of duplicate names. Our hypothetical Mary, would have a Mary 1,2, 3...11,12,13. She might have Eves 1-13 also. On the charts these would be Eve A, Eve B, Eve C, etc. She could also have a George Ann, a Georgee, a Georgette, a plain George, and a little child George, and several alters attached to these who have no names. Sometimes alters will be set up with first names and a surname, so that a family of alters will all have the same last name (surname). Some alters are not named by their abusers, they must fend for themselves in figuring out what to call themselves. They only have access codes to pull them to the front of the mind.

There seems to be no end to the variety of names of alters. Some are named after the quality they have like a robot named Steel, or a crazy alter being named Dementia, or a animal alter being named Animal. However, a number of names keep popping up in System after System, so for what it's worth here are some popular names that Fritz has seen occurring as alter names: the Adepts, Alexis (or Alex), Angel, Anna, Baker, Charlie (or Charles), Crystal, Death, Jezebel, Lilith, Queen, Sadie, and Samantha. This is not a scientific sampling at all, just an observation based on dozens of alter systems which have shared some of their alter's names.

BOXES & SELF-ABUSE

We will now discuss one method of placing boxes into an alter system. Between the age of 4 and 4 1/2, an Illuminati child would be taken to Scotty's castle, CA for programming. A cedar chest would be placed in front of a table. Two Illuminati children well into their programming would be assigned to guard the chest, which would be called the Doctor's box. They would have "clean slate" alters who knew nothing but their hypnotic commands to guard the doctor's boxes. Expendable children would be coached to come into the room and try to get into the box. The Illuminati children would be given strict orders to kill them if they tried to get into the box. If the children failed in their guard duty, they either got more programming or were in turn expended. The Illuminati children had sharp swords with which to guard the box, which had 3 seals on it. Internally, Mengele would then hypnotically program in countless boxes with 3 seals. Locked up in the boxes would be self-mutilation and body programs, etc. Therapists should know that these boxes are deadly.

After reaching the level of obedience where they would kill for the programmer, the Illuminati children would be placed in a deep well for a well-trauma, and then while deep in the well would be given various orders such as "cut yourself", "probe yourself (electroshock oneself)" and other self-abusive things. The well torture would usually work at teaching the "clean slate" alters to abuse themselves.

During many programming sessions, the victim is told "you must pass a test, will you pass the test?" There is something that is more motivating in these words, than if the truth were said, "you must endure these traumas, for our enjoyment and to become a slave for us." And to quote a line from the film When Rabbit Howls, "The worse things got, the more of us showed up." The mind keeps protecting itself by dissociating the overwhelming abuse.

LAYERING

Programming is layered in. Layer after layer of programming is put in. Each alter or alter fragment is used as if it were a component of a large system. The result is that no alter or fragment is the whole, only a cog in a great machine. Can a single cog rebel against the whole machine? It is very difficult for a single component of thousands of components to rebel against its abusers, when it doesn't even have the ability to realize they are abusers and not the alter's natural order giver.

Besides programs, items are placed into the mind too. Examples include vaults, safes and doors which need combinations & keys.

The Illuminati Programmers see the layering in of programming as demonic. They feel the scripts, and movies are more "fronts" than the actual layering mechanism. They believe, as one ex-Programmer said, "This programming involves an organization system, established by horrendous trauma, for the alter personalities involving internal mental imagery, which is driven by demons, who provide the power. Undoing it requires an understanding of the mental processes involved, the imagery or blueprint used, and the spiritual dynamics." (By the way, some readers will be ignoring this as Christian propaganda. However, this was said, not because this person is a Christian, which this person isn't, but because this person wanted others to be set free. Its also true that the Word of God, the Holy Bible, which was the foundation of Western civilization, does speak about spiritual warfare.)

SYSTEMS

Now we will go into the various systems that are programmed in. The Programmers place into their slaves a combination of the following standard systems to make up the victim's programming: a. Cabalistic Tree of Life, b. Carousel, c. Castle, d. Cave and well, e. Chess Board, f. Double Helix, g. Flowers, h. Helix, i. Hour glass j. the Mensa system, k. Pentagram, l. Pool of Death, m. Potter's Wheel, n. Puppet System, o. Solemetric, p. Spider Web, q. Spiritual structuring, r. Stairwell, s. a Telescoping system, t. Tornado System, and u. Umbrella. Also an internal timing clock (syst.) keeps time according to the rotation of ritual dates, which helps "justify" the SRA, for "it's that time of the year."

Just a quick note: different programmers have different preferences for how they do things. It also may depend on what site they are using for the programming. Drugs and videos are frequently used to get the person to adopt the script they are to accept internally. However, harmonics and electronics are increasingly being used. Ritual and magical ceremonies may or may not have rigid scripts.

A. CABALISTIC TREE OF LIFE

While the Cabalistic Tree of Life means little to most people, it is a very important--essential structure for Illuminati systems. Therefore, in describing how these systems are built it is important to describe this crucial magical tree. The reason all these following items such as Trees of Life and goddesses are placed into slaves is because THESE SLAVES ARE PART OF HIGH LEVEL SATANISM. The slaves are a reflection of the world view of their programmers. You and I wouldn't bother with all this because we are not into magic. That we find ourselves reporting all this, does not mean we endorse any of this. We don't. But the programmers didn't ask us what to place into their slaves. If you have a low tolerance for understanding the Illuminati's cabalism, skip on down to the Carousel system.

The Cabalistic Tree of Life is put into upper level Illuminati slaves. It is a very deep program laid in at about section (level) 11. The Cabala is the basis of a. Freemasonry, b. the magic of the Illuminati Monarch programming, c. the key to the spiritual mysteries of the Scripture (according to Caballists). Because the word Cabala is a word originating in the Middle East it can be spelled with a Q, a QU, a K and a C. All these spellings are O.K. It can be spelled with one b or two, etc.

Golem in the Cabala are ancient medieval mind controlled slaves--are these precursors to what we have today?

WHO liked to program this? Mengele, and Wheeler (Dr. Green & Dr. Black) were skilled in the Cabala, especially Dr. Green (Mengele). Some of the Rothschild

The Black Widow Spider system is installed for blackmail of legitimate Christian ministers.

Double Helix System of alter movement, aka the elevator shaft.

Branches of the tree go throughout the body.

The eternal occult flame of Prometheus burns within the carousel.

The Carousel is interlocked with other carousels to form wheels within wheels.

The bottom side of the Carousel is a sundial, which is a switching mechanism for the system.

The internal clock is based upon the Druid Wheel of the Seasons. Time is measured in the passing of rituals.

Round table with a pentagram inside serves as the table for the Grand Druid Council, who are linked to gems, who link to the main crystal the pyramid.

The Pentagram Pattern

programmers have been too. Mengele learned from the leading Jewish Kaballists, during concentration camp days--Mengele himself was an Ipsimus in Illuminati. Undoubtedly, it is standard programming and many other Illuminati programmers must be doing it too.

WHAT is it? The Cabala is synonymous with Hermeticism or Hermetic magic. The Cabala was jewish-babylonian magic. The jewish black magicians brought it to Europe. It began to get widespread notice in Europe after Enlightenment period. The great pyramid according to the occult is a symbol of the Cabalistic Tree of Life--the branches of the tree form the four streams or lines to the base of the pyramid. Because the Cabala is the basis of their hermetic magic, Illuminati systems will be fairly consistent in the make of a slave's internal Tree of Life and Tree of Evil. A Maiden/Mother/Crone triad goddess will sit at the top of the structure and will be married to the AntiChrist & Satan.

The Cabalistic Tree of Life area of the System may have up to 12 other trees. These are other magical trees.

There are 10 circles or rooms which are joined by 22 lines that make up the Cabalistic Tree of Life called The Cabala for short.There are 4 worlds of the Cabala--3 pillars to the tree which are also given different names to these pillars at different times. As just mentioned, there are 10 spheres of the Tree of Life and they are joined by 22 paths. The Mother-of-Darkness alters (at least some of them) are placed in a Tree of Life, and they do what is called "pathworking". The spheres of the tree (also called rooms) are called "sephiroth" and they along with the 22 paths that join them are the "file drawers of this universal file cabinet." Before the first sphere there are 3 veils of negative existence--the Ain, Ain Soph, and Ain Soph Aur.

Alters in male and female systems in the Tree of Life will consider themselves to be gods or goddesses. Their names will often reflect god or goddess names.

Chesed is a sphere which may be called a "Hall of Masters" or the "Sphere of the Adepts". Geburah is called "Hall of Karma" or "Hall of Judgment". The Illuminati alters of course believe in Karma.

The center of the tree is called Tifareth which means Beauty or Harmony. Understanding of the mysteries of sacrifice may be attached here.

If we think of the Tree as three pillars--the right, center and left pillars, then we start with describing the right pillar from the top room down--an Illuminati system will have Istar/Venus/The Morning Star/Lucifer in the top room. The next room below this will be an alter of destruction, an alter of change, unbinding and freeing. The final right pillar room at the bottom is associated with virtue/white/victory/endurance. In the middle pillar at the top is The Crown. This is the Bride of Saturn (Satan, and the AntiChrist). The room in the middle pillar one down from the top is the Blue Room. Sometimes front Mother alters are in the blue room. Other rooms have other colors assigned, which then tie in with the computer color coding. The blue room is the balancing point, an important room, the center of all things, associated with the twinning. The next room down is the Foundation. This room is the meeting point for the ethereal and the earth. The next and final room down on the middle pillar is the Kingdom. It has the life force of the first male child who was sacrificed by the slave. This is the feet on the earth room. The far left pillar has 3 rooms. The top left is associated with Midnight/the Mother/and water. The next room down is associated with Discipline and control. The next room down is an alter that performed an eating the dove ceremony. Each of these 10 rooms will not only have its own name, but each room's alter will have its own magical name, which is not to be confused with its access code. The alter associated with Wisdom "Chokmah" (and maybe even named Wisdom) is usually full of good information.

In the occult literature, the tree is said to be attached upside down--that is its roots are in heaven. This applies to the internal programmed tree. Malkuth is the top of the tree. Malkuth is the "Gate of Death". There seems to be more gatekeepers at these lower levels. The Lord of the Earth is the power of Malkuth.

HOW it is put in? Our answer applies to Illuminati Mother-of-darkness level systems. Before a Mother-of-darkness system is 16 years old they will have gone through all the ceremonies involved in the creation of the alters which correspond to the rooms of the Cabalistic Tree of Life which is placed in each system. There is one alter assigned to each of the 10 rooms of the tree. Each one is created by a particular Illuminati ceremony. After the age of 16, the System will be guided on a personalized pathway by the system's own demons and the life force of the sacrificed baby under the tree which relates to the story of Lilith.

Lilith is not a single driving force, but the demon Lilith is joined with Zerodieth and Lucifer. Between age 16 and 19 the deep Satanic alters are working on "pathworking." This pathworking will be completed before they are 19. The ceremony at 19 will include the 1,000 points of light ceremony at the super secret Mother-of-Darkness castle of Chateau des Amerois (Castle of Kings) close to the Belgium-French border in Europe and about 20 kilometers as the crow flies west from Luxemburg. This will be a sealing ceremony with the Mothers dressed in black. Guards and heavy forest protect the large castle from view. The people in the nearby spooky village of Muno, Bel. basically belong to the castle. The castle has a cathedral inside with a dome with 1,000 lights. The words 1,000 lights is an Illuminati buzz word. When the President used it to describe the White House's Christmas tree, hierarchy people knew what he was signalling. The cathedral has a great hall with columns on either side, and the Queen Mother's throne will be set up there. Only a single male waving an incense ball and robed in white with a red mantle with gold symbols will participate in 1,000 lights ceremony. Down in the secret basement is where an innocent child is sacrificed everyday to provide blood to write in a hugh book the record of how Satan is bringing his plans to fruition.

The stongman protecting the tree of life is Lilith/Zerodieth/Lucifer spirits amalgamated. Behind the 1st line of the tree are 880 demons, and tens of thousands more are attached to this whole apparatus. For 24 hours after one of the Queen ceremonies, the Queen alter is a queen and can have anything she wishes.

As previously stated, at 19, three keys are given, and the back part of the System begins to be worked. The System has an alter lay on a throne (like in Egyptian days) with a lily. The death, burial and resurrection ceremony also is done sometime in here. There are 9+10 doors to the tree which make up the number 19 (which is the year the system is sealed). This is tied to an astrological event. Note that every 19 years the full moon appears on the Summer Solstice day and this relates to the internal sun dial and what is called "moon swing." The Cabalistic tree needs balance and becomes operational with balance. Special rituals are chosen for each individual, so the rituals from one alter in one system to another will vary. Individualization may actually be a choice from a selection --that is menu of options--rather than actually totally unique. The "Becoming" ritual at 19 begins in the ceremony of inhaling a dying mother-of-darkness's breath. Consciousness of the tree is achieved by balance. The Prana children are attached to the tree and its ceremonies.

Lily became white when Moon child drew down the moon & exchanged herself for the goddess. She then drew down the stars of heaven (milk from the breast of the goddess). The lily she held in ceremony was the female challis to hold this essence or light of light. (this ceremony has sexual tones to it...) As Lily died in the ceremonies--drinking something from a special cup and laying down on an altar with candles at her head and feet) night was born. The liquid was wine with lily essence in it as well as Rue, which is a strong smelling European plant. Two things happen as lily is consumed--one conceives and one dies from poison. Does this death and conception relate to moon cycles? Night=Nuit Noir=Black. She has names in two terms. She is death, permanence which preserves earthly attainments i.e. position, glory, possessions, etc.

WHAT other items are involved with this programming? The rooms of the tree of life have names. Essentially, every Illuminati hierarchy victim, has the Cabalistic tree of life placed in them. This tree lies below the other trees. The circles that make up the internal Cabalistic Tree of Life are called rooms or quads by the various survivors. Alters can use the internal Tree of Life to work magic internally. It also reminds deeper alters of cult control. The circles of the tree are rooms that can be entered into. Mt. Qabbalah is a figurative mountain in the Cabala.

WHAT kind of demonology is programmed in with this? In the Cabala, demonology is important. Ashmedai is Asmodeus which means king demon. Lilith is an important demon in Kaballah and is found in Ill. Mother of darkness systems. Lilith's story from the Cabala about mating with Adam and killing her son, is used in Ill. ceremony and programming. The blood of 1st born is placed in a box in the System under each tree. This according to the programming gives the "eternal life force to the tree." This is in line with occult doctrine of the power of blood, and also serves as a misapplication of the biblical "life is in the blood" concept. Metatron is a lesser top god of the Kaballah, and is receiving lots of Hollywood attention in recent movies. The four mothers of demons are Lilith, Naamah, Agrath, and Mahalath (a.k.a. Rahab). In the Cabala each demon has its own seal. Samuel & Amon of No are important demon leaders in the Cabala.

At least one System of the Mothers (and we can assume others do too) uses the Bilair, Bilar, Bilid cabalistic names for Satan, rather than Satan. The Shekinah rules the Cabalistic Tree of Life. This is not the Shekinah of God Almighty, but from the self-proclaimed "father of light" Lucifer.

There is a "Tree of Evil" said to be below the Tree of Life which is all spirit and not alters. This Tree of Evil has spirits attached to each room rather than alters. In contrast, both alters & spirits are attached to the 10 rooms of the Tree of Life. Various precious stones are attributed to each of the sephiroth rooms, as well as occult archangels. Again if we look at the right pillar at the top is Beelzebub with Chaigidel as assistant. The Knowledge Abyss separates this room from the room below. This next room is Astarte with Gamchicoth as her assistant. The final room on the right is Baal with Hareb Serapel. The middle pillar at the top is Satan & Moloch in joint rulership. Below that is the Daath room. The room below is Belphegor, and the bottom room on the middle pillar is Lilith with Gamaliel as assistant. The far left starts at the top with Lucifuge. Then below that is Asmodeus. And the final room on the left is Addramalech. Finally, below the bottom middle pillar live the four elements of life, air, water, wind, and earth. Note that what is at the bottom is really at the top. On the other end, the pyramid with the all-seeing eye rests on the two Cabalistic Trees.

Ratzkiel is the archangel of Chokmah. The angels which carry out Ratziel's directions are the Auphanim (the wheels), a name full of symbolism and programming possibilities.

Tzafkiel, the Archangel of Binah is the Keeper of the Akashic Records, where all the System's days, lessons, and lessons to learn are kept. Since the library records are spiritual, during deprogramming they will have to be wiped out. However, I'm told that there is someway to retrieve them. Some therapists are using sodium pentothal or whatever to get access codes--but there is another way to recover some of the records.

WHAT ARE THE CODES LIKE? Gematria might play a role in Monarch codes.

Gematria is a Cabalistic teaching about numbers meaning letters. Gematria is used a lot by Moriah. These are the magical numbers that also serve as letters to the Hebrew alphabet. Certain deeper alters are good at working at astral levels. These alters have "ASTRAL" or "CRAFT" codes, and code names, which will include codes from the names of herbs, spices, jewels, and alphanumeric codes. Simple equation codes are also used in the deeper levels.

HOW does this program relate to the twinning? Many survivors have roses incl. red roses. The Red Rose in the Cabala is associated with the Tree of Life. The Red one is assoc. with one part of the tree and the white with the other part. When paired together they make a blue rose which is the Rose of Malkuth. It may be possible that Red Rose and White Rose were used in the twinning and that a Cabalistic blue rose results in such a Monarch twinning. That last statement is only a supposition.

Speaking of roses, Rosemary (the Rose of Mary) is an occult term for a woman who conceives a dark child. It is also associated with a fragrance of the Mint family.

THE WILLOW TREE VS. OAK TREE AS A PROGRAMMING HANGER FOR MORIAH'S PROGRAMMING.

Alters of an Illuminati System, due to programming, will perceive a tree growing in them which has roots in their feet and its trunk and branches extending throughout their body. Upon this tree, fruit (programs) are placed. Illuminati programs may be to cut a "tree" limb off (which is actually the victim's arm), or for a certain part of the body to get hot, or for a certain part of the body to physically change in some way. These are attached via the tree imagery. Both oak and willows are trees are used.

Why might a programmer choose a willow tree rather than an oak tree in the basic programming?

The answer lies in why a tree is used in the first place. A tree is used because of its imagery and because of its magical powers according to Druidism. There are a number of images a tree provides and there are a number of magical powers too. We will discuss the contrasts to develop our answer.

The oak is a well-known powerful Druid item, but the willow tree is also sacred. The oak is so well-connected to the Druids that some of the other sacred trees of the Druids are not quickly recognized as sacred.

Let us look at the intrinsic imagery advantages of the willow and then the magical properties it might contribute. The combination of the two, will then provide us with the complete answer as to why a willow tree rather than an oak tree might be used.

IMAGERY.

The imagery of a tree is used because it has branches, leaves and a root system. These items are manipulated for programming purposes. For instance, in the Alice In Wonderland programming, the girl jumps hypnotically into the tree and falls (hypnotically falling deeper and deeper) into the roots of the tree. The deep root system of the willow is an advantage over the shallow root system of the oak. When a storm comes the willow bends and doesn't break, while the oak is rather stiff and breakable. Since these trees are programmed into a person a flexible tree that can't be broke is an advantage. The wrapping around imagery of the branches gives a great deal of flexibility for programming and a stronger imagery than the oak. The willow draws water from deep below. The tree is "the tree of life" (the programs are the life of the system), and the Bible is used to "validate" the programming. For instance, the tree of life by the river (REV 22) is used.

There are some other images that are important too. During Illuminati rituals the willow branches are used as whips to "cleanse" people the victims of programming. The image of a willow branch could easily trigger the memories of being punished (whipped and being cleansed), and this in turn would help hold the programming in place.

The fruit of the trees are the programs--and some of the fruit can be eaten and some not. Sometimes children's stories about lunch pails hanging from trees or fruit in the trees is used to create a place for the individual programs are hung--or this could be a place for the front programs, and the more important programs are stored away somewhere more secret.

Bear in mind, the trees in the programming sing and are able to wrap themselves around people if they are going where they aren't supposed to go. The willow has that flexibility naturally, so it is easier to imagine it wrapping itself around a person.

MAGICAL PROPERTIES.

Most every thing that is done programming-wise has a dark spiritual significance to it too. The programmers will look for things that serve their purpose both here and in the spiritual realm.

The willow tree is used to make witches wands, and help to make witches brooms. (Birch can also be used.) It is planted around Druid/Celt graves to protect them spiritually. It is believed to also have magical sexual powers. It is possible that some of the programmers might prefer the magical sexual powers of the willow, rather than those properties said to come from the mighty oak.

This is not all of the willow's magical powers. It is connected with February and April in different ways, and magically connected with spring. It's possible that the person receiving a willow tree might be born in this time period. Is it possible that what type of tree is selected could sometimes be related to when a person is born. Some programmers might be into being time appropriate--this would depend upon the beliefs of the programmer(s).

The imagery of the willow's magical sexual properties could be worked into the programming, as certain alters might be asked to make certain brews, or taste of certain things hypnotically. This would be done at such a deep level it might not be known. Just as in the case of the Alice In Wonderland programming, when the person drops clear to the bottom of the tree roots they find themselves small and they go through a door. But when they come back the alter is not going to remember the trip and what they ate on the hypnotic trip down the tree.

Further considerations on the choice of Trees.

It is possible that the we can question the question. That is perhaps the question is not that the oak or the willow tree was used to the exclusion of the other--but that BOTH trees were used in the programming. Generally, this seems to be the case. In one particular case, it is possible that in a double system (with a dormant third system as a final backup), the oak tree being the more obvious Druidic symbol and quite strong was used in the front system, and the totally secret second system has the willow utilized. When the one person attempted to snap the oak tree at ground level in a crude attempt to deprogram themselves, the root system regenerated itself through the first mirror image, and what came back was more spirit and more deadly. Remember, the tree serves as an umbilical cord linking via its roots the person to their spiritual life force (which are the evil spirits which command and drive the system.) However, when the oak tree and its mirror images and the spiritual protectors (hideous spirits) were properly done away with, and then further deprogramming was done, a crack seems to have developed behind the pyramid crystal which allowed the person's original set of alters to experience a new or double system! Since that has happened it seems there has been an increased drawing to willows. In other words, for this particular victim it is conjectured that the front system (the fully operational set of alters) has an oak, and the duplicate set of alters which were each broken off of each of the original set) have a system with a willow tree. The trees roots of course are the umbilical cord to the source (the waters) that spiritually feed it. These relate to the soul ties. These roots have to be dealt with spiritually. They are so interwoven that they tie a person completely up with their roots and programs that are interwoven and wrapped around each other. Other high level Illuminati survivors also have a front tree and a back tree.

Another consideration is that the trees have flowers planted around them. Uprooting the trees are not sufficient for deprogramming, because the flowers are the deeper generational material and will regenerate the trees. Touching Lilith's box under the tree can release owls and monkeys and other animals that are dangerous. A generic code often can be used to take out the flowers.

WHAT are the OTHER TREES?

Other important occult trees are the Tree of the Knights Table, and the Tree of Alchemy. There is such a thing as Tree Magic, which involves many kinds of trees and tree spirits. The Axle tree according to world wide occult belief has the earth revolving about it. Many survivors of course have the oak, willow or ash trees placed in as their principle tree or as their back up tree. The final back up tree in an Ill. System might be the occult Yggdrasil tree (ash tree). The Yggdrasil tree has 3 roots (spiritual, terrestrial, and infernal) and has a cosmic egg attached to it. Generally only one tree is mentioned, but a back up tree exists, and then third tree which is a back-door back-up tree. Therapists should be cautioned that these trees often come in groups of 3.

WHAT are the BACKUPS? Beside the principle tree, the programmers will often plant a flower that represents the generational ties. If the tree is taken out the flower will regenerate the tree. The petals, the flower center, the stem and roots represent different generations of the victim.

Understanding the Maiden-Mother-Crone combination in the Mothers-of-Darkness. Therapists are going to find Illuminati slaves having 3 alters placed together. This is part of how these systems are structured.

The maiden is set up on the pedestal as the "a" alter. The first programming chart which shows all the "a" alters in the system consists only of the young maiden mothers. The mother or second figures are close behind the a's. However, the crone part of the triads is meant to hide in the background. They serve as the power of advice behind the scenes. These Mother of Darkness triads participate in various ceremonies. Their initial initiation ceremonies included water torture with electroshock, which is the death, burial and resurrection ceremony. There are the full range of Satanic holidays for the Mothers and a look at the full range of holidays will provide a person with the type of ceremonies that the Mothers carry out, which include the two solstices. Different Mother-of-Darkness alters participate in different ceremonies. The inside of their black velvet gowns are color coded so that within the ranks of the Mothers are a whole series of ranks (grades). All of these Mother parts have been told they are divine goddesses. The following information will clarify this further.

THE MOTHER OR "A" PARTS

The Mother part of the Goddess Trinity is the high point in all cycles. Traditionally her color is red, the color of life force.

The Mother is associated with adulthood and parenthood. The Mother is ripeness and balance.

Mothers actively work magick. She is a nurturer. She is confident and has no indecision. The Mother knows what she is.

She is the full moon. Summer is the Mother's time of the year, the full moon is her monthly point of power. She is honored by Beltane (May 1), Summer Solstice, and Lunasa (Aug. 1).

As stated before there are certain rituals which call for Mothers rather than a maiden or a crone.

MAIDEN OR "B" PARTS--

The young maiden part of the mothers is the equivalent to the "apprentice" level of the mystery schools and Freemasonry.

The myth holds that the maiden will be eternally youthful. Even with the aging process, the goddess can experience youthfulness in the mind.

The maiden is the creatress of new ideas. She also is the armed hunter of the Mother's laws. She is the Guardian of the Balance. She is aware of her sexuality. She is independent and not controlled by men. She is the Way-Shower, the Keeper of the Keys.

You will find the maiden in the following rituals:

- new beginning rituals
- plans for conception
- the birth of a child
- the first menstruation for girls
- puberty rituals for boys

THE CRONE OR "C" PARTS

These alters rarely show themselves. They stay in the shadows and pass on advice.

The crone aspect of the Triad of Goddesses has been called the Terrible Mothers, the Hag, the Dark Mother, and the Wise One. She is associated with black, death, winter, menopause, wisdom, counsel, reincarnation, and the initiator into the deepest of the Mysteries. The waning Moon is her monthly time of power. The crones number is 9. 9 is a number of wisdom and sacred magick. Nine is also a moon number, which means spiritual completion and wholeness.

The crone has a cauldron. She is the great recycler. She is the ultimate teacher. She contacts the Spirits and is an expert on demonology. She is the Keeper of the Spiritual Records. She is the shadow behind the Mother's throne. According to the occult, she is the elder of unlimited wisdom.

There are certain rituals which call for the crone, such as Winter Solstice.

The crone completes the wheel or cycle of existence of the Mothers of Darkness. She is most likely in the system the most dehumanized of the three that sit on the pedestal.

The following are a sampling of the goddesses you will find. Since the names of these goddesses are not secret, it is possible for people who are not in the occult to track down what the popular goddess names are. Here are a few that are placed into systems:

ASET (Isis) (Maiden)--She dwells in the sky as the silver sheen. Isis or Aset is the best known of the Egyptian goddesses. Her name means throne. She is a ruler. She is the mother of the Anti-Christ figure of Horus. She has a horned crown or a solar crown. She has lots of titles.

BAST (Maiden)--Bast is the mother goddess of all cats. Bast looked like an 18' giant with a cat head. Internally, in the system she will look hugh. Black cats were sacred to Bast. The internal Bast may like obsidian and cats-eye. Bast corresponds to Yesod (the Foundation) on the Cabalistic Tree of Life.

CAILLECH (Crone)--Caillech was the Scotch and Irish Crone figure. She is known as the black mother. A derivative of her name is Caledonia. She was the Spirit of disease. Caillech means an old woman, a hag, or a veiled one. California is named after a version of her name. Some think her name is a derivative of Kali.

HAT-HOR (Mother)--Hat-Hor is also known as Het-Hert. She is the womb of Horus. She is Queen of the Dead, or Queen of the West. In mythology, Hathor, when turned loose on the earth, slew humans until blood ran in the rivers. She is the avenging Mother. She is identified with the heavenly cow who made the Milky Way, and the Nile Goose, who laid the Golden Egg.

ISHTAR (Mother in the swamps)--Ishtar is Lady of heaven, goddess of the moon. Istar had a lion throne and a double serpent scepter. Ishtar went down through 7 gates into darkness and then returned in order to try to find her lover Tammuz. Sometimes Istar is accompanied by dragons. She was originally a Babylonian goddess.

KALI (Crone)--Kali or Kali Ma is the best known Crone goddess. She will be deep in an System. One image of her in mythology is squatting over the dead Shiva devouring his penis while physically eating his intestines. This is an actual Satanic ritual that Mothers-of-Darkness participate in. Kali has both creation-& destruction abilities. Kali's necklace in Indian legend consists of skulls with magical sanskrit letters. Kali was and is worshipped by a great number of people, especially the Hindus. One group of worshippers has been the Thugs, who relate to the Assassins and the Knights Templars. Another group of Kali worshippers are the gypsies who left India in the middle ages and over the next following hundreds of years travelled all over the world. Originally, blood sacrifices of male animals or men were made to her. There is a reported decrease in India of such blood sacrifices from what it was a century ago. The favorite view of Kali is the black Kali named Dakshinakali. She is usually shown black and naked, full-breasted with dishevelled hair and a wild grimace.

KORE-PERSEPHONE (Maiden)--A great mother of Greek myth. Kore means "maiden" in greek. In mythology, she watched the grain grow among the wildflowers, especially red poppies. She became the mistress of the underworld. She guards the chasm that goes into the earth. She marks each spirit of the dead on their forehead with pomegranate juice. Pomegranates are used in ritual.

Kore returns in Spring to see her mother Demeter.

According to Greek legend Kore was raped in Hades. She is also known as the Queen of the Dead. A similar Illuminati ceremony takes place where a male wearing a mask acts like Satan.

Kore makes the journey to Hades by herself without her mother. The Greek mystery schools, which included many great Greek thinkers, have had rituals around Kore.

MAAT--Maat's name means "She whose name is Truth". Her symbol is a red ostrich feather. A ritual vow is "by the Feather of Maat." Maat's presence might explain why a System is infatuated with feathers. Maat is the one in legend who "is the pattern" --the one who "will find a way to weave us back into our proper places in the tapestry."

B. Carousel. The Carousel in real life is used as a device to teach dissociation, and how the alters are to go up and down in trance. Sometimes you will see parents who seem to be so loving having their children ride for long periods on a carousel. They might actually be programming them in dissociation.

An internal carousel is built into an internal system. Mirrors and shadows are placed around and perhaps in it. The carousel spins and moves up and down repeatedly. In the center of the carousel, the Programmers often place something or someone important. They will often put this at the bottom of the DNA double helix and have the double helix elevator shaft coming up the center of the carousel. The carousel's bottom side will set on top of the system's switching mechanism. And the core will sometimes be placed in the center of the carousel somewhat underneath it. The switching mechanism is the main control for turning the system (the Grandfather clock so to speak.) The carousel may have umbrella programming immediately on top of it. (This could be Illuminati Delta alters, which can be one of the deepest things put in.) The carousel must be approached from the back side. At times an internal key, which often looks like an old key is needed to enter the Carousel. Many Illuminati systems are given a key or set of keys, and at times when they enter therapy the front alters give this to their therapist not knowing what the key is, but knowing it is important. The co-authors believe that these keys are carousel keys. A false trinity will be assigned to guard this, which will consist of the False Prophet, The Beast or Dragon, and the Hoofed One. The false prophet and the Beast (dragon) come out of the book of Revelations. The Hoofed One is a rare occult term for Satan, not to be confused with the popular usage of the Horned One in the occult. The two terms are different.

If several carousel are built into a system, then they will have other guards than the false trinity.

In many Illuminati systems, there are 13 silent splits made from the core called silences, and at this time during the splitting process guards are made to the Carousel/core. The method of doing this is to place black covers over the eyes of the victim, and then probes are inserted into the base of the skull, as well as electric shocks being applied body-wide and in the subcortical part of the brain. The victim has their mouth restrained from screaming. The pain from this is about as excruciating as a human can stand.

First, the fear part of the brain is activated. Then the logic part is activated, and the victim is told repeatedly "Be good, obey." Next, the fear is stimulated, and then the pain. The head will have excruciating pain, and so will the body to the point of nausea and sickness. An alter will be created to carry the pain, and one to carry the fear, and one to carry the anger. These will be identified and used to guard the carousel. Six alters will guard the carousel. They will be identified and linked to the most important carousel, which guards the core. To attempt to think about the carousel, on the part of an alter, may bring up these guards, and the system will abreact in memories that are almost unbelievably painful. If a therapist accidently triggers this, get the little child guard to back up or go to sleep. Make sure the heart of the victim, and lungs continue to function. The alters within the victim's system may have "aged" slightly since their primal trauma, and may appear about 2 years of age. Most alters this young do not know how old they really are. Therapists will attempt to associate the memory and provide anchors from the early memory to the present. Association strategies are worked out by the therapist to deal with the particular trauma in relation to what alters are there to help and were involved in the trauma. The association may be done in steps. Older helping alters can help assess the age of the infant alter by answering questions about size, teeth, physical abilities, verbal abilities etc. Verbal abilities of illuminati infants may be advanced beyond norms.

C. Castle. A castle system will contain a moat, drawbridge, turrets, gargoyles, a torture dungeon filled with actual memories of torture, secret passages, lots of levels, & rooms including a library. Child alters are often hidden in the castle. Disobedient alters may be locked up in the castle. Lots of traps are placed around and in the castle. The castle will house some alters and also some deadly programs. When castle alters get stirred up, the victim may internally see the castle lights go on. The castle walls may have a grid on them. The castle may be guarded by monsters.

D. Cave and well. A gatekeeper will guard the cave. Disobedient alters may be put down the well. This system deals with a lot of darkness. Catacombs may be connected to the cave and well. Falling down the well is one way to get to the abyss (see the film Labyrinth). Usually there is only one entrance-exit to this cave.

E. Chess Board. This system utilizes the Alice In Wonderland story. It is put into male slaves. The pieces of the chess board move in various ways setting off different programs. The devil will equal the black king. A program might sound like this: "Black knight moves two spaces and one right. White knight moves two spaces and one left. White knight challenges black knight. Black Queen moves 5 spaces." The victim who receives this programming must be the type of thinker who would play chess reasonably well. The script can be shown via videos while the victim is under hypnotic drugs.

F. Double Helix. This is a very important system. The double helix pattern is used as an elevator shaft running up and down the worlds created for the alters. In general, each world lays at a trance level. The double-helix is put in at programming sites where they have full medical facilities, such as Letterman Hospital, Presideo, CA. The codes up and down the elevator are alpha-numeric with lots of numbers. Because the way the double helix shape twists, one can ride the elevator and get off a level 1, 3, 5, 7, 9 but you have to ride it the other way to get off at 2, 4, 6, 8, 10, 12. Because the double helix is the centerpiece of how the different physiological states of the mind are being layered, taking the victim down to these different physiological states and levels is very risky and by the time it is through it involves lots of blood transfusions for the victim. The Caduceus is a double helix with snakes at the top. The Caduceus is an occult symbol used in ancient Babylon, ancient Hindu India, and by Chinese occultists. Mercury in occult lore carries a staff called a caduceus. Mercury's staff is a cabalistic symbol. William Heller's book on the Kaballah on page 78 states, "Mercury's staff, called Caduceus, and made of intertwined black-and-white twin serpents, heralds more forthcoming splits into duality. Once again, it reflects the ambivalent mind, its conscious, and subconscious states, its waking thoughts and imaginative dreams." So according to cabalistic doctrine, the caduceus represents the various states of the mind.

G. Flower system. This system is attached to other systems, and utilizes the power of peer pressure and generational ties. The flowers will often be bright. The bud of the flower will represent one person, the stem and the flower represent others. This system might be connected to the Umbrella, the Trees, the Triangle and the Star. A flower can regenerate an internal tree because of its generational roots. Flowers are also used as elevator shafts, such as a sunflower. One has to jump into the center of the flower and go down the stem to reach a lower level. Flower fields such as the poppy field are used as a hypnotic trigger to put an alter into deep trance.

H. Helix. This is a simplified version of the double helix.

I. Hour glass. Three hour glassed will be placed around the x-y-z axis in a quadrant. A quadrant consists of a section of alters in a world and their mirror images. The hour glass programming also includes a suicide program. 12 disciple alters will be placed within the hourglass. Each disciple has to memorize a disciple lesson. If something triggers them, they will begin to fall through the hour glass. If each of these 12 disciples falls through the hour glass like sand, then a sleeping giant like in Jack in the Beanstalk will wake up, . When the Giant awakes, he will kill the body. And of course, a mirror image of the Giant alter will be made also to help insure that at least one of the giants get the job done.

J. Mensa. This is a program put into slaves who have photographic memories. It involves lots of numbers and math. It's overall structure looks like a triangular-shaped fish net, with all the nodes or knots of the net containing a triangle. The core is place at the center of the triangle and is surrounded by more triangles. There are circles of alters within circles of alters. Circles within circles. The a circle can rotate and seems never to end. The programming is meant to be non-ending. There are also triangles within triangles. The effect of using a structure like this to house the alters is that they feel trapped in endless circles and mazes of triangles within triangles. The codes in a Mensa system will be equations (sometimes called union force codes), bar codes, and number sequences.

K. Pentagram system. One pentagram system has pentagrams within pentagrams. The geometric lines grow from pentagram to pentagram by lines running in opposite directions. This has the same effect as circles within circles.

L. Pool of Death - One or more of these can be placed into an alter system. They often are found inside the main castle. Dead alters and body parts and torture fragments, are all dumped into these system garbage dumps. The Spirits of Death and Destruction control these pools of Death. Variations of this may be called Lakes of Death, and Waters of Death. In some systems, this is overseen by Taskmaster alters.

M. Potter's Wheel. This is the equivalent to a computer utility program. The way it functions is that the Programmer pulls the alters he wants to work on up on the potter's wheel in order to work on them. When they are pulled up on the potter's wheel, they can be asked to stand in order and rank. Then the alters will come to the front of the mind on top of each other in their prearranged sequence. The Charismatic movement programmer's like to use this, because the Programmer can become god, and the slave becomes the clay. Can the pot talk back to the potter? The Bible verse in ISA 45:9 is used, "WOE unto him that striveth with his Maker! Let the potsherd strive with the potsherds of the earth. Shall the clay say to him that fashioneth it, What maketh thou? or thy work, He hath no hands?" The next verse again repeats its woes upon those who question parents who fashion a child. As is typical of a number of Illuminati programs, at first glance they look like they are merely perversions of the Bible, but a closer look reveals that they are actually ancient occult rituals. For instance, the Illuminati believe "As above, so below." This is druidic philosophy, even though it sounds somewhat like something from the Bible. In the book Invocation of the Gods Ancient Egyptian Magic for Today, pg. 203, the book gives a magical invocation that supposedly has been found in ancient Egyptian magical papyri. At any rate this invocation's wording is powerful in English for a Monarch slave. The Invocation is called The Potter's Wheel.

"Hear the sound of the potter's wheel
As it spins! Khnum!
See the clay on the potter's wheel
As it spins! Khnum!
Feel the hand of the Mighty Lord
Form the seed to contain a soul
As it spins.
See the soul, on the Wheel of Life
As it spins! Khnum!
Birth to death on the Wheel of Life
See the soul, on the Wheel of Life
As it spins!
And with death we are born anew
While the vessel that's tossed aside
Will return to the potter's wheel
As it spins!"

This is just one more example of where programming and magic intersect.

N. Puppet System. In this system the body feels totally disjointed and controlled by strings. Mengele enjoyed this program. He would say, "Dance Marionette dance." In other words, to paraphrase, "dance slave for me the controller". Demons are laid in to pull the strings of the puppet. The internal controller may be a demon or a demonized alter. It can be attached to other systems such as the Pentegram system. In a previous part of the book, it was discussed how the victim's body is paralyzed by drugs and then electroshocked in a way that the person seems to be the Programmers puppet. This is put in when the child is very young. This puppet programming is very convincing to a small child, and is a very nasty program for the slave to experience.

O. Solemetric system. This is used for government/business/research slaves who must perform complex tasks and they want their minds to be less fragmented or not fragmented. The mind can be programmed and divided from itself without creating alter personalities. Because the divisions in the mind due to dissociation and programming lies are not as deeply structured, victims who get solemetric systems have strong demonic forces and lot's ritual to hold their systems in place.

P. Spider Web system or Black Widow Spider System. This system is set up just for blackmail and destruction via entrapment of unsuspecting people who are perceived as threats to the Illuminati. This system is found in lots of women coming into churches with decent by naive ministers. The system has a web with connectors and silk strands. A target person will be symbolically placed into the web and then the black widow alter(s) will entrap the victim. This is programming to take down pastors of churches with sexual entrapment. The spirit Viper found in ISA 59:5 is placed into this system to protect it. There will be egg alters which will devour the victim, and Gatekeepers are assigned to guard the system.

Q. Spiritual structuring. The spiritual structuring is not a single structure. A few people have worked with the deeper elements of the programming to help victims and also know what the Illuminati programmers have done and what their agenda is, have come to realize that the spiritual structuring is the most important part of an Illuminati system.

What you will now read is known only to an exclusive few. Spiritual castles (Grandfather, Father, Mother, and Grandmother castles) and spiritual temples (to Moloch and Baal etc.) are constructed internally. Entire spiritual worlds are constructed internally. The most primal parts of the mind, and the key early alters and the core essence are usually taken to spiritual constructs within the Illuminati slave. The gems are empowered by the light of Lucifer (an alter-demon combination). But even more deeper than that are the generational ties. The programmers, who themselves are generational satanists, are part of a plan where the generational legal rights of Satan are accumulated upon an individual. In the Scriptures it says that the sins of the fathers are visited upon the third and fourth generation. This gives Satan a legal right to the generational victim. Each bloodline has its Prince demons attached to it--just like in the Bible the Prince of Persia was both a man & and a demon. Hidden within spiritual constructs such as black diamonds, and diamonds, are further demonic constructs. The thrones of the generational Prince Demons are attached to the primal human part of the victim. This is entirely spiritual--beyond that there are no words to describe it. It is very real to the survivor when therapists get to that point (which is very rare!).

The power of the Illuminati is that it is generational. They build upon that, when they build a system. Some of these genealogies have not been free for many generations. If you want to spoil a structure, one need to bind the strongman. The strongman in an Illuminati system is the generational ties. All ties to the bloodlines need to be renounced. The Programmers will take little Illuminati children to crypts of their ancestors in order to better attach the generational spirits. The womb holding the premature child is used as a temple in the Moon Child ceremonies. After the child is born the womb structure will spiritually serve as a temple for the primal human parts of an Illuminati slave.

Whether the therapist can realize these things or not, in the very least, they are aware of the saying "Father like son", and are aware how traits may skip a generation but how a grandson may mirror a grandfather. The generational aspects to Illuminati slaves are a major role in the Illuminati

R. Stairwell. The stairwell is just as it sounds, it is a stairwell that is placed into a system. The stairwell can be used as a trap for alters who are unwise enough to be lured by programming to go into it. The stairwell system connects various levels. There are booby traps and demonic entities attached to the system. Stairwells may be sealed up with Gatekeepers assigned to protect them. If an alter proceeds down a stairwell to get to other levels they need to realize that they initially will hit "tornado (also called whirlwind) programming" and flooding of memories. The tornados will spin the victim inward and disorient them. The alter holding the body will feel as if it is out of control and going to die.

S. Telescoping. Any telescoping object (such as a telescoping army drinking cup, or a telescoping rod) can be used to give the visual picture for the child to follow when it is being programmed. A telescoping system often has a time level, a function level and an age level. The game of Chutes and Ladders along with Jacob's Ladder have been used to place the story line into children.

T. Tornado System. This is a free floating system that moves around areas that the programmers want protected. When it hits an alter(s) it causes confusion, spinning, and switching, as well as a feeling of losing control. It's part of the elemental back up programs discussed within a few pages.

U. Umbrella. This is associated with military programming. An umbrella protects something, such as the Delta assassination alters. An umbrella must be taken down from the inside and so must this protective shield of the Umbrella program. One Umbrella system had 7 gates to it.

DEFENSES IN DEPTH

What would happen if a slave physically got away from its master or handler? This has happened countless times and the mind-control is so solid that the handlers don't have too much to worry about. Mind-controlled slaves have gone to therapists for years and never gotten free of the mind-control. The therapeutic process that the establishment has schooled them in and then requires them to adhere to, prevents the therapist from doing things that might really set the victim free. Therapists are often loath to give any help in any thing that smacks of spirituality. The spiritual issues in many of these slaves are the most crucial issues facing them. If they don't resolve these spiritual issues, the deeper alters will continue to adhere to their blood oaths of allegiance to their Satanic abusers and their oaths to serve Satan loyally.

Each cult which programs, makes sure that they place in lots of loyal alters, which therapists call persecutor alters because they torment the alters who want freedom. If therapists try to eliminate these persecutor alters, they will fight back with the full tenacity and strength that the survival instinct gives to anyone. Their persecutor role needs to be validated, and then redirected toward productive ends. Many persecutor alters see life simply as following their instructions and that they are protecting the system from greater harm by stopping therapy. During programming that was the case, but if their System has reached a good therapist and has good support team of other people, their fears no longer apply. The cult will attempt to show them that their fears do still apply. Hopefully, the support team for the system of alters will work as hard at protecting as the abusers do to reinforce the fear.

Many of the programmers have been associated with the military. One of the tricks that the military learned is a defense in depth. The Russians employed defenses in depth with great success in 1943 in the big battle of Kursk during W.W. II.

The first defense is that the slave has no awareness of the MPD (DID) or that they are being used as a slave. Some of the alters will realize that something is wrong, but the mind control is too strong for them to see clearly. Essentially the System is in trance all the time, even the front alters, they do not perceive reality like people who are not in trance all the time.

The next line of defense is that the fronts of an alter System don't have a clue about the abuse or what their system has been designed for. The front alters will have alters which are loyal to the master, and alters who are full of craziness and disinformation. If the victim keeps probing (which many don't) they will discover an occult involvement. Even if they discover that the System is related to the occult world, the programming is still intact.

If the person finds out he is MPD, and finds out that the System was part of the occult world, then he still is captured by all the programming which is intact. Walls, fire walls, mazes, suicide programming, internal armies, programmed craziness and many other tactics sap the strength of the front alters if they try to deviate from the straight and narrow programmed way of behaving. WHEN THE FINAL CALL BACK IS GIVEN--many Monarch slaves are programmed to kill their therapists because the Illuminati will be able to hide/protect them once they leave their place in society and return for the final callback.

Reporting alters hidden well in the System, observe and secretly report back to the Network everything a therapist does. The alters have fix me codes to call for help such as "FIX ME", "QUEEN OF HEART", "THREE LITTLE KITTENS WHO LOST THEIR MITTENS", "THE COWS IN THE CORN, LITTLE JACKIE HORNER WON'T YOU PLEASE BLOW YOUR HORN." The jokers and internal programmers will work night and day to stop or reverse any work done toward freedom.

There are so many levels, suicide programs and so many other defenses a person's body is not strong enough to attack the programming head on. There are for instance Bells of Destruction programming, The War in the Heavens suicide programming, the Gethsemane Suicide Programming, the Octopus suicide programming, the Injection of Bleach, the overdose of drugs, the go insane program, just to mention a few. The slave will be given a whole batch of these types of programs which may all go off at once if the slave doesn't comply with keeping the mind control secret.

One internal protective programming line is The Man without a Country story. Another is a water program but in with Scripture from Jer. about Ahab stomping the grapes. Another is for the slave to think they have been turned into a fragile paper doll. The paper doll programming is put in by making the skin very sensitive to any touch, and then attaching that memory to the hypnotic suggestion of being a paper doll. An octopus suicide program chokes the slave if they are disobedient. A mush the brain is triggered by a fanning movement.

If the slave touches the programming, Armageddon programming is activated in those who have Bible programming. The four horsemen on their different horses ride out and bring their different mental tortures to the slave's mind.

Winged monkeys (possibly alter fragments) from the Wizard of Oz story programming are called "watchers". They watch alters.

The slave is conditioned that if any programming or demonology is taken out, it will come back seven times seven stronger. The Bible (MT 12:43-44) is used to put in this programming. Actually, this is more than programming, there is a principle in operation here. Therapists need to be cautious about pulling things out, if they do not understand what the ramifications will be. We want the victim to have hope, not to make the task look harder.

One of the primary protective programs is the JUDAS PROGRAMMING. Anyone who betrays the abusers is labelled "Judas" and is programmed to go out and act like Judas by hanging themselves. If that mind-control program doesn't happen, the Illuminati warn their people "Remember Tom Collins", who was the son of an Illuminati Grand Mother, who became a Christian, started exposing the Illuminati in churches, and was gunned down in a grocery parking lot. Finally, the members are warned that they will be sacrificed on a cross like Christ in what is termed "a traitor's death."

Usually, mind-controlled slaves will police their own actions and thoughts. The therapist may hear their Monarch client talk about the Dove, fire, Moriah, and water as protectors. They may talk about a little bird dove who is part of protection which flies into the ebony trees.

The basic defensive programming placed into the early Illuminati models was based upon the 4 BASIC ELEMENTS--fire, wind, water, and air. When the programming is touched by anyone, the elements of the earth come alive. For instance, if the programming is touched the following programs based on the four elements come alive:

WATER--victim will freeze like ice, will suffocate like inhaling water, will boil like being placed in boiling water, will feel a drip drip drip on the head, and will flood with memories. This is why some Monarch slaves do not like to swim.

FIRE--Victim will burn inside and outside. The victim will remember fire torture, and perhaps their face melting. This is why some Monarch slaves don't like to light a match or a fire. Slaves will have their programming reinforced with the warning, "If you disobey us, Satan will take your ability to resist burning away, and you will burn in hell." The alters have no way to conceive that God could love them, so they feel if they are to have any chance not to burn in the afterlife of hell they must obey. The fire programs which activate when they disobey reinforce this warning. Often victims report a "Ring of Fire" burning within.

EARTH--the victim will remember being dropped down a well, being buried alive in either hot sand, or a casket. Earth means "life or death". The earth "swallows people up." The victim may feel dehydrated from memories of being buried in hot sand (hot earth). This is why some victims have a fear of being buried alive. In fact, this can be done internally where alters are internally placed in caskets and buried. Alters are also internally thrown into internal wells. The Illuminati programmers say, "ASHES TO ASHES, DUST TO DUST" to mean that the earth will bring death. Sometimes even volcanos erupt (earth and fire) out of the ocean (water) and destroy parts of a system. Internal earthquakes also happen quickly and then the entire system will be shifted and shuffled.

AIR or WIND--Vortexes suck the person down and away, a strong wind takes the alter(s) into the Rubicon of Outer Space and the body dismembers itself as it goes away. The mind doesn't understand why it is being torn apart, only that it is being torn like a tornado. The alter may also go into a bubble and float away.(This effect is put in w/ drugs and hypnosis.) They will dissociate and nothing is real.

How does one place into a child these types of programs? Let's say the programmers want to put in the Tumbleweed Program where the child feels like it has become a tumbleweed & can't ground and get its bearings on anything. Let's say the programmer also wants the child to lose his arms & legs while being blown away. The child is dehydrated so the mind is overheated and hallucinating. Special drugs are also given to the child to make it more delirious, make it more suggestible, etc. The little child by this point has no mind of its own. Heavy fans with hot air are placed upon the child. It is hypnotically told that it has no arms and no legs. The child is too weak to think for itself. It is almost comatose. The child will be left for perhaps 8 hours as a script which keeps repeating itself is played on a voice box. The child will hallucinate the script or the video it is being shown. When the child can give the script back to the programmer exactly like it is meant to be, then the programmers know they can stop. The child alter is to take on the identity of the tumbleweed. If it responds like many Main alters--it will pass this ability on to splits that it creates for this purpose. These splits created for the tumbleweed script will be clean slates for the programmers to manipulate. By the way, smelling salts are used to wake up child victims who are too comatose.

OVERVIEW ON THE PRINCESS PROGRAMMING.

The Omega programs prevent integrating the Multiple personalities, and they hold the body programs, and run the computers. If major tampering is done with the System, which threatens to totally wipe out the Omega programs, then one of the backup programs is the Princess programming.

The princess programming is a back up program. It can be triggered several ways. One method is by astral communication between loyal alters and their Illuminati programmer. However, the main triggering factor is that the System has recognized that serious tampering has been done to the System. If serious deprogramming occurs, the Princess program with "Sleeping Beauty" kicks in. The programming is contained within a box, which is opened up upon the appropriate cues.

The way it operates is that it kicks in when the handler loses control over a system. The princess who is kept sleeping by spiders which bite her in a coffin, wakes up and looks for the prince to come. Daddy demon and the dark princess are now ruling from the castle dungeon.

A System's dwarfs and Thor continue to guard as well as the big guard cats like Bast.

Darkness sets in on all the top sections of alters, and thick walls and pain come, then a webbing much like a body-suit-cocoon will envelope all but alters loyal to the master. It becomes hard to breathe and the alters who had sought freedom from the programming, now find themselves being tranced out. Alters who are cold and in lots of pain are called up by code to torment the body.

The Outer Darkness of a System (sometimes called the Rubicon) gets thicker. If Gatekeeper and Kitten alters have porcelain face programming, then they will get their porcelain masks back as the Omega programming kicks back in. The porcelain masks have cords back to the black princess. The black princess's coffin has cords to Papa. The core will give her energy to the dark side, and alters who want freedom will receive very little energy. They will be very tired.

Those alters who liked the light side and freedom are now under attack. They will be isolated by walls and then incapacitated by a cocoon which leads to death. The alters who do not want to be part of Satanism will be worked over, and they will continue to be worked over until they shatter. If need be, they can be taken to the castle dungeon and played movies of torture which have been coded and entered into the mind via codes. Internal voodoo will be carried out to scare alters into complying. The worlds will reestablish their compasses. The internal BEAST computer along with the dark princess run the show. The box which opens up, sets off the suicide programming.

The primary tool in fighting the suicide programming is the will to fight. If the will to fight is strong, a way to fight through the walls can be found. If the walls are broken down, then a strategy of isolating the castle's programming can be carried out, and eventually the black princess can even be retrieved. Since the princess and daddy demon are running things via spiritual and demon processes, the battle at this point involves spiritual warfare, although there are probably other methods to solve the situation. The castle programming will be isolated by closing the portals, and other safeguards.

The Black Princesses can be turned from their course. The Black Princess can be retrieved. The castle's power can be shut down. The Princess programming can be beat, but it takes hard work. A system must make decisions to continue fighting the programming with all their creativity, strength and will power.

A rebirthing program will go off. This rebirthing program is controlled by a System of clocks. The clocks are the stabilizing heartbeat and are tied to the eternal life force. There are also clocks which control the steps to the Princess Programming. These clocks bring about steps which will take the System down the road to no-return. These clocks can be frozen and by freezing them, one can stop the next step from taking place. In the rebirthing program, umbilical cords and strings run from alters back to the black princess. The black princess is in the torture chamber of the dungeon and the strings carry the torture memories to alters in sections wanting freedom, especially those holding the body. If those alters want to stop the intense pain to the body they need to freeze those strings and stop the torture memories from coming up from the torture chamber. The umbilical cords are "feeding" the alters from the black princess. The Kittens alters, most likely due to programming, will want to protect the core so they do not want to stop the process of control that the black princess is exerting over them. In other words, they will find it hard to save themselves.

Internal Voodoo will come from a dollhouse, and only by dealing with inside the doll house can it be stopped. One option is to create shields to protect alters from the voodoo. Christians have the shield of faith which really can function in real life, and an internal shield of faith has protected and shielded Christians from Voodoo.

The darkness and what people (alters) call "walls" can be flooded with the blood of Jesus, which often drives back the darkness and can give freedom to work. The soul ties that are involved with the princess programming and the masks need to be broken and bound. The System may be able to find someone or some place to get wisdom or understanding about their System. The System also needs to cut their soul ties to their Illuminati programmers.

The rebirthing program is also giving directions to the dark princess. There is an umbilical cord which ties the dark princess to the rebirthing program. The blood of Jesus can stop this tie.

BACKUP PROGRAMMING

One of the backup programs is designed to deal with someone who has a good understanding of a system, and tries to take a system out via spiritual warfare. A camera is designed to reflect an image onto a mirror and the deprogrammer works with the mirror images. The deprogrammer has great success with the mirror images, because the camera can merely shift its view, and the things the deprogrammer is trying to get rid of disappear. However, since the alters that are collaborating with the deprogrammer see all the correct things happen, they sincerely think they are being deprogrammed. When the deprogrammer finishes the alters feel better, see their worlds come together, but the work has only been a sham.

Other backup programs provide the deprogrammer with mirror images and sham alters to talk with. The deprogrammer never talks to the real human elements.

If we try to give a summary of the different backup programs we could include a. each grid has programs attached to its grid no. and each section has a computer, as well as connecting computers between sections---both the programming and the computers have the power to reprogram themselves.

b. the 4 elements of nature coming alive programs
c. the princess program (based on Sleeping Beauty)
d. a plutonium or atom bomb set up activated by lasers to protect the internal hierarchy.

The Monarch programming creates very complex systems that are as sophisticated as an Apollo spacecraft. There is no way all the possible in and outs can be covered. However, the reader can watch a movie "Labyrinth" to get a good idea of what the end product is like for the mind of the victim. The movie represents what the internal world is like for an alter who is trying to understand its mind. It would be worthwhile to finish this chapter on structuring by covering this movie which illustrates the end product.

The bizarre movie Labyrinth may be shown again on HBO and is available from some video stores. In fact, the video stores have a hard time meeting customer demands for this popular video. One of the co-authors knows a girl who has watched "Labyrinth" twenty times.

"LABYRINTH", A VIEW OF A MONARCH'S INTERNAL WORLD

In 1986, a movie called "Labyrinth" was produced by Cherry McFadden. The movie was Monty Python's "Terry Jones" scripted. The movie is a portrayal of what the internal world inside a Monarch mind-controlled slave looks like. The Monarch slave has an internal world built inside their mind in which the hundreds and thousands of alters must live in. The alters are given a psychotic world of fiction in which they must live in as reality. An alter of a Monarch slave will have two worlds, the external world of reality, and their own internal world which, because of the programming, will seem more real than the real world.

Hogel, a gnome, tells Sarah, "Things are not what they seem in this place." The internal worlds of the slave can be shifted and rearranged by the internal programmers. The internal programmers can change codes, eliminate alters, and carry out extensive deception to other parts of the System.

As in the Monarch programming, the movie's castle reminds one of Emerald City.

The movie Labyrinth seems weird and occultic. Gargoyle elves (similar to coven demons) dance magic and a sweet girl played by Jennifer Connelly moves from one weird scene to another, while an occasional shot gives us the hideous ruler of the Castle played by David Bowie. These demons also guard the baby that represents the innocent core. Monarch slaves very frequently have castles built into their internal world. Some slaves will have a whole series of castles, some are King's castles, some are Queen's castles, and some are castle's shaped liked pyramids with all-seeing eyes in them.

The story line of the movie Labyrinth is that the girl, Sarah, searches for her baby brother, Toby, who is captive in a castle in a dream world. Actually, this represents an alter searching for the innocent core from which it split off from. Often the core (the original innocent child personality which split off personalities in order to remain innocent is locked up in the castle by the programmer who serves as Master of the castle. Often in deprogramming, the core is taken to a castle dungeon in a terrible backup program called the princess program which was just described on a previous page. The princess programming (which is a back up program) functions, when the regular programming goes down (which is rare). When the Princess back-up program kicks in the toad is kissed, the princess core is woke up, etc. etc. Parts of the Princess program seem portrayed towards the end of the movie.

In the movie, David Bowie, who in real life was a satanist & a rock star who committed suicide, plays the part of the Master of the Castle.

The girl soon goes into the dream world (internal world of her mind). She must go through a labyrinth if she wants to get to the castle. Although the movie is fiction, it is close enough to how a Monarch's mind thinks, that an adult Monarch slave might well have his or her programming reinforced if they saw this film. It also would trigger many Monarch slaves and create fear in them.

Monarch slaves have many clocks built into their systems. They have internal clock makers and internal clock keepers. In the movie, clocks pop up everywhere just like in a Monarch's mind. Some Monarch slaves are programmed to see their internal world, and others are programmed not to be able to see their internal world. In other words, many Monarchs may not have the ability to see a great deal at first of this programming due to further programming, and yet these images work in the deep recesses of their minds to keep their minds within the confines of the programming. David Bowie has the magical ability to rearrange time on the clocks. The handlers often mess with the internal and external clocks of a slave, so that the slave is disoriented about what time it is.

Alters within a Monarch system are not allowed to stray from the path assigned to them. If they try to move out of their assigned spot in the mind, then they encounter traps, mazes, tunnels and demons just like in the movie Labyrinth. An internal world of a Monarch's mind will have brick walls, doors and vortex tunnels just like in the movie. When the girl falls into a vortex, she has magician hands all over her. Monarch victims speak of what vortexes are like and they often describe hands coming out of no where.

The movie begins with an oak tree. The oak tree is an important part of the Illuminati programming.

The Master programmer in the castle, wearing a triangle medallion around his neck and looking veracious (David Bowie) sings, "Voodoo...Babes with the power...magic spells...dance magic...slap that baby and make him pay....dance magic, dance magic."

Cobwebs are built into the Monarch minds, and when an alter goes where it shouldn't they often get cobwebbing over them. The tunnels in the movie are full of cobwebs.

As the girl moves forward toward the magic demon-invested Castle she comes across many things--all of which relate to internal items built into a Monarch slave's mind. Some of the things are slightly different in the movie than in a slave's mind--but the concepts are the same. For instance, the actual Thor figure looks like the Iron Man of the Wizard of Oz series rather than the iron robot that they portray. But the match is close enough for the imagery to portray what it is meant to represent.

During programming, bracelets with pieces will be given to the child to teach them how the alters are to revolve. A bracelet like this is owned by the girl.

The girl encounters a dwarf. The dwarfs in the internal world "mine the jewels" (that is the programming). The Jewels are the particular programs that run a Monarch system of alters of an MPD (DID) mind. The dwarf in the movie is told by David Bowie (the Programmer) that he has "lost his Jewels"--that is that he has lost his programming! The dwarf in the movie decides to help the girl. In Monarch programming the dwarf helps an alter by bringing it programming! Some help! The goblin (demon) is asked by the girl to find a portal. The goblin opens a door and it appears to be a broom closet. He opens it again and it appears as a door. This is the exact way the programming is. Portals and doors in the internal world have cover stories. At first they look like one thing--but if the mind can get by the first look--they will turn out in reality to be something else. There is cover programming over everything--so that the slave doesn't trust his own mind. For instance, besides lots of clocks undisguised, clocks are disguised in a System as any object, but they can be recognized by the trained observer because they are gold colored. In the movie, objects are constantly changing.

Many monarch's fear the rocks coming alive--just as they do in the movie labyrinth. In the bottom of the slave's mind--put in at the deepest hypnotic levels possible are the hell pits. The movie shows the hell pit and even calls it the "hell pit." Notice that as she goes into this strange world that the clocks can be turned around. This is true in the programming. The clocks can be turned by the programmer so that the slave can be told it is January when it is December. A cover program can be entered so that the slave has memory of what he was supposed to have done in December. These false memories are laid in with real torture memories and tied to emotions. The false memories lack certain characteristics of real memories--and yet still they can at times be difficult to separate from the true memories, especially if the mind-controlled slave is in programming.

The following is the story line of the movie as it happens in this bizarre movie.

Early in the movie we see a witch with an hour glass. When the girl gets to the castle it is guarded by a mechanical monster that resembles in some ways Thor of the programming.

Notice that portals and holes open up. When they open up another level, protectors attack them and they must run back down their tunnel to save themselves. The Monarch slave will get feelings of being crushed if an alter ventures where it shouldn't in the mind. When the girl asks the dwarf "How can I believe anything you say?" She is told, "What choice do you have?"

Fire demons come out dancing. They take out their eyeballs and eat them. They say "Bad luck down the path." What the fire demons represent are the Gamma programming and the threats that the Gamma programming has upon the victim. The programming tells an alter that it will lose its head or other horrible threat if it doesn't comply with the programming. "Let's take off her head" the fire demons say, as they act out the various programs--decapitation, delimbing, etc. They also want to throw her into the pit of eternal flames.

They go down a chute into the eternal hell pit. It is even called the eternal pit in the movie! The hell pits of a slave will generally smell like sulfur--which is exactly what the movie's hell pit does. A guardian of the pit (looking like a dog) comes out. Guardians within the Monarch's mind are generally far more horrifying than this dog. The guardian must give permission for passage.

Another trap appears--as the slave's internal world is filled with booby traps.

The name of the dog the guardian rides on is Ambrosius, similar to Ambrosia.

A peach with poison is given to the dwarf. The slave is programmed to fear poisoned fruit. (This is another fairy tale turned into programming.) David Bowie is called an "adept" who creates dream bubbles. The slave's mind will have adepts who are the programmers. The movie's adept puts a princess in a bubble. Then she goes by memory back to when she was at a Satanic ball where people wear masks of birds, goats, and pigs. Illuminati ceremonies include balls like this with masks. This Love story is reliving programming of the girl that she is a Queen, that she is married to Satan, and that this is a bonding ceremony. Everyone is grabbing her. People who have been to this Illuminati ceremony will recognize it.

Next, she sees mirrors. When she shatters the mirrors (a no-no in the programming) she begins falling. Generally, if a slave shatters the mirrors in their mind--they fall into suicide programming. She falls into a junkyard. Then a satanic seed comes alive from her fruit. It is a worm.

An old hag gives her a teddy bear. The programmers and parents of slaves frequently give stuffed animals. The teddy bear without hands represents to the victim their helplessness.

The old hag says "like a little bunny rabbit...Don't you...Bitsy Boob" All this is Monarch programming stuff.

Then she sees a book about the labyrinth. The Monarch's mind has libraries and diagrams of their own system but these are kept guarded by the mirrors, the demons, and programming. The girl Sarah finds a book (the files) of how the labyrinth is built. Actually, you can too. If the original programming was Wizard of Oz programming--then when you looked at the front of the Wizard of Oz series books you would find a map that helped build the internal world. Some of the items on that map will likely be found in your Monarch system (but not all). If your Monarch system has Star Trek programming it is possible they will have an internal world similar to the diagrams shown in this book where Star Trek programming is covered. In other words, there are books which do show the labyrinth, just as the movie Labyrinth has Sarah find a book showing the internal world.

But if an alter finds a map, this does not mean the alter can travel freely in its system's mind! In working with a mind-controlled slave, we discovered one methods to get over the Wizard of Oz mazes was to fly with the Orks. However, an alter caught in the mazes was frightened to stay put by the demons that surrounded it. (This is so well portrayed in Labyrinth.) This happens in real life to Monarch alters which stray into the mazes. They are lost and then they can't come out and take the body. They are simply lost in the mind.

The old hag gives her slippers! Slippers are important triggers or cues to go places internally. She is given a horsey and told she loves it. "Take back the child you have stolen."

A ferris wheel is shown. (Carrousels were used greatly in programming.) Then she breaks an hour glass. Hour glasses are internal clocks. Then she encounters levels, doors and tunnels. An Iron robot representing Thor comes out and bangs bangs bangs. The banging is the split brain headaches that the internal Thor causes the victim's mind to experience. A child is placed into the robot. Often during the programming, child alters are programmed to put on a robot like suit and serve with other children as clone solders in a clone army. (The sea divers of the Walt Disney movie "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea" were used to program child alters into how they were to get into robot suits.) These child alters form armies that attack if an alter tries to fight the programming. These children alters are like children screaming--it is impossible to reason or talk to them. Armies of these alters are difficult to stop in the mind.

In the programming, the brave are told they are brave and vice-versa. The character says "I have no courage." But is told "You are a man of courage."

More clocks and a bell appears. A red and blue guardian appear. Perhaps these colors represent the color programming. Rocks and cannons represent the protectors and the earthquakes they cause internally in a Monarch's mind.

When she enters the castle it is a carbon copy of Esher's drawing entitled "Relativity." (See The Graphic Work of M.C. Esher, figure 67.) She runs up stairs and gets nowhere. Escher's drawing, according to ex-programmers, are used for programming.

The Master sings, "Everything I've done, I've done for you." David appears everywhere from every angle. This is how the internal programmers, which are clones of the real programmers appear everywhere in the mind of the slave. He sings, "Just as I can be so cruel...look without your heart beat...I must live within you."

She says, "Give me the child [the core]" and the programmer says, "I have been generous...but I can be so cruel...I have reordered time...turned the world upside down...all for you." The internal and external programmers can be cruel. The victim is trauma bonded to them. They are cruel and kind to the victim, just like Mengele was to his thousands of victims. The internal worlds can be turned in a Monarch system, by turning the hour glasses which are on X,Y and Z axes.

The hour glasses are turned with hand signals and codes that are similar to what pilots use to tell their degree positions in the sky.

The programmer sings, "I ask for so little, just let me rule you, and you can have everything you want...just love me, fear me, and do as I say." He tells her that her kingdom is great. Internally alters are given great titles, and are made queens, etc. Their internal worlds give them all they need, and that the real external world will never understand them. She is told repeatedly "Your kingdom is great." "Bow down and worship me, and you get everything." At this point she realizes she has dominion over the demons. When one listens to the programming, it seems that it is powerful and in control.

The movie does a good job of showing how a slave's mind has both an internal and an external world.

A hall appears with daisies. Daisies were used in programming. When she leaves the internal world, she finds that the internal world is right there with her in her external world. She is surrounded by internal cues. Then she embraces and accepts her internal world toward the ending of the movie.

Many systems have an owl in their system which represents the master. In the movie, an owl representing the master appears at various times & then flies away at the end.

Toward the end the Master sings, "Power of Voodoo..."

The internal world is full of goblins, dwarfs, worms, a hat, door knockers, Fury 1,2,3,4,5 and many other things. Ravens are in the movie. In real life, the programmers take alter fragments, which are splits which are not developed into full blown personalities and they program them to have a single task, for instance to think they are a raven and to bite the body when ever they take the body. Whole flocks of demons which take the form of ravens may wait inside the mind waiting for their release to bite the body. When triggered by the internal programmers when an alter crosses the boundaries set down by the programming, a flock of ravens may come forward and "take the body" (as they say in MPD) of the slave and the Monarch slave will bite his or her flesh and viciously tear it with its teeth.

By watching the movie Labyrinth, and using this as a guide, the viewer will begin to understand the horror and control that the internal world holds over the alters of a Monarch slave. Few Monarch slaves ever tell other people what is going on in their minds, now you have been privileged to find out. To learn this much for a Monarch slave comes with a high price. The price is paid by reliving for a second time what has been done to them, fighting off the suicide programs that click on when the slave's mind disobeys. The slave must also fight off torture memories that recycle. These torture memories are activated by the programming when an alter disobeys its programming. As one Monarch survivor described it to me, "This all can be wrapped up by defining it as the raping of the body, soul and spirit."

THE STRUCTURING DONE IN MONARCH STAR TREK & STAR WARS PROGRAMMING

The original Monarch programming often used the Wizard of Oz books and film as the basic programming. The Alice and Wonderland story then was overlaid, along with many other fictional fairy tales to complete the Mind Control of a Monarch Mind-controlled slave. However, in recent years a superior story line has appeared. It has more flexibility and more secrecy. This is the Star Trek series.

In recent years, Star Trek is being used as a basis of programming. Those who are programmed with Star Trek programming can attend annual Star Trek Conventions which are held in New York City since 1972.

The child's mind is tortured until the point they will accept anything. They are told to build certain structures in their mind. These structures may be castles, or rivers or submarines or airfields, etc. In the case of Star Trek programming they have detailed maps and diagrams that have been created to go along with the Star Trek program. (The real reason or the ulterior motive of these Star Trek maps was to create a blueprint for programming. Some pages of these are included for you to look at.) Then particular alters are placed within these structures, and they are hypnotically given cues that will pull them to the front of the mind when the alpha-numeric cue is said. Many of the more secret alters can only be accessed by a combination of several different cues which go to different senses--such as the person must be in a corner contacting 3 points, a certain ring must be turned & a certain code said for the alter to come forth.

The advantages of the Star Trek story line is that a. almost any type of scenario can be fit into the programming script because the Star Trek characters in the series, encounter about anything imaginable, b. have holograms, which can serve as substitutes for mirror images in the programming, c. alien programming can be introduced in order to promote the mock alien invasion being planned by the Illuminati, and d. the Star Trek series has its own language which can be used for trigger codes, which Monarch slaves can study, and learn. The use of this klingon language will make it very difficult for ordinary people to break into the slave's programming.

Michael Aquino, Satanist and Colonel in the U.S. army, has enjoyed using Star Wars for programming. Aquino wrote his own version of the Star Wars, which he uses for programming. The programmer becomes Darth Vader, which then is reproduced as an alter within the victim.

In the Star Trek series, Data was a dehumanized "person" who stored vast amounts of information. Monarch slaves are always created with libraries, and volumes of information. This information is stored in various ways and can be retrieved in a variety of ways. Data of Star Trek lends himself to become the model for an alter of a Monarch system to copy. In other words the child is shown Data, and is steered in the right direction to create an internal person named Data. Any child if it is drugged, tortured, threatened with death if they don't follow directions, with weakened and confused minds will get to the point where the child will create a Data alter in its mind, rather than die. Once in place, the Data alter will think of itself as the movie character. Every time the child sees Star Trek or pictures of Data, it will reinforce the programming.

The transformer room technique of beaming in Star Trek is what magicians have tried to do for centuries and which has been called "bi-location-physical projection" as well as other things. This is said in magic to be mental control over the molecules of the body via demonic power. Whether magicians have ever done this, who knows, some certainly claim the power.

The Illuminist is a power structure placed into some Monarch slaves. It is constructed from parts of numerous demons, rather like a demonic Frankenstein, & is portrayed in Star Trek, the Next Gener. as the crystalline body.

A cartoon series was created for Star Trek. In this series, children watch such things as Kirk in a magical universe of Megas-tu which has a Guardian of Forever. Two other spin-out shows were Deep Space Nine and S.T. Voyager. In other words, a child could watch 5 different Star Trek series. If the child's parents had cable T.V. the child be virtually immersed into the various Star Trek shows. Unfortunately, some of the children who have been programmed with this are doing exactly that.Fritz has personally worked with someone who has Star Trek programming. They sit for hours and immerse themselves totally into all kinds of Star Trek details.

We have two Star Trek Technical Manuals. Fritz's father is an engineer and designed quite a few things. Fritz himself has worked as a manual/computer draftsperson for the Federal Highway Administration as well as for his father off and on over the years. Based on that experience, he realizes the enormous amount of work that went into these Technical Manuals for the Star Trek series is simply mindboggling. One manual is 183 pages and the other is in the neighborhood of 250 pages. The amount of engineering and computer drafting that went into these manuals is astonishing. Why did someone go to such extremes? These manuals are as good as if NASA were planning to build an Enterprise spaceship. The plans are done more professionally than engineering designs that we have seen groups like the United Nations drawing up. Why did all this engineering, design and drafting happen for a fictional T.V. show? To create a book to sell? The books could hardly be best sellers. One originally sold for $13 U.S. and the other for $6.95.

One reason so much work and money was put into these Technical Manuals is that they are used for programming helpless victims of the Monarch Mind-Control.

- - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - - -

THE FOLLOWING ARE THE DESCRIPTIONS OF WHY THE EXHIBITS ARE IMPORTANT TO THE PROGRAMMING. The Technical (or Training) Manual pages are coded.

Exhibit 1. Star Fleet Technical Order. (TM:379260-1) This page show codes on the far left that are similar to the type of codes used in Monarch access codes. Alters are trained to take the body upon the proper access code. Also certain activities or programs can be triggered by codes also.

Exhibit 2. Uniform Color Code. (TM:379260-0) In creating a System within the slave's mind, geometric shapes are used. Within these shapes a number of worlds or universes will be created. These worlds can be 3-D. That means when building them in the child's mind they can have height, depth, and width. One system which I have seen several times in slaves has been a 13 x 13 x 13 cube. In order to give another dimension and to give the programmers the ability to tie different things in different parts of the system together--the programmers use color coding. Each alter will receive a color code. I am familiar with the standard color coding program, and how it is put into the child's mind. Dr. Green (Mengele) used a box of colored scarfs and electroshock to program in the color coding into victim's mind. Besides alters, other things in the system may be color coded also. Let's say as Programmers we place hidden observers on each level, system or world. Then we can tie those isolated alters together by color coding them the same. During the programming, computers are built into the mind to operate the programming, and they send their signals according to color coding.

Exhibit 3. MILKY WAY GALAXY MAP. (TM379260-2) This is just one of a number of maps that go with the Star Trek programming. During the programming (which is sophisticated torture of all kinds backed up w/ drugs) the child's mind will be encouraged to psychotically build worlds in his or her mind. These worlds are built with vortexes, mine fields, and in the case of Star Trek programming Radiation zones. If an alter would attempt to wander from its assigned spot in the mind, it will run into Radiation zones, walls, and other barriers. These zones are built into the mind, to insure that the multiple personalities do not contact each other. Aliens and holograms protect certain areas and prevent personalities from freely moving around in the mind. These "aliens" are placed into the victim's mind by high level demonology--in other words they are not aliens--they are demons which have been brought in by high level rituals.

Exhibit 4. 4.1 COMPUTER SYSTEM (p.50) The first thing created are the multiple personalities. Then these personalities are placed into a structured system. To operate that structured system and to insure compliance the Monarch programmer will put in what is called Omega programming. Omega programming consists of computers, wiring, conduits and cords. The most important part are the computers. These computers contain the instructions, and they are controlled by internal programmers who may be alters or who may be high level demons. The aliens (demons) who are placed strategically in the mind to keep the Omega programming intact are put in by sophisticated high level demonology. The high level demonology part of the programming is the most secret and it is termed Gamma programming. This is a diagram which could be used to help build into the child's mind a computer. In the early programming, a little girl while being tortured would be shown a multi-roomed dollhouse. The rooms would each have a separate color. The rooms would be linked in the child's mind to computers. In other words--the dollhouse structure was the structure the computers used. In the Star Trek programming, the modern child simply is given a multi-roomed computer like the one drawn.

Exhibit 5. TM:379260-3 ENGINEERING MAIN BRIDGE SECTION. Various methods of communication and travel within a Monarch system's mind will be built in. Various alters are allowed contact with other alters. Portals and one-way mirrors or one-way windows are built in also. In order to teach an alter to come to the front of the mind, an airplane taking off on a runway might be used as a visual aid to teaching how to leave the alters cubicle in the mind and come forward to take the body. Various internal communication system's can be built into the System. The training manual is full of many possible communication and locomotion devices, and this is just one of a whole number of items that could be incorporated into a Monarch child's mind as it is programmed.

Exhibit 6. pg. 82. UTILITIES. The brain stems are scarred on babies and when the body rebuilds itself it overcompensates and the brain gets an incredible memory. Monarch slaves with scarred brain stems are running the computer systems for the New World Order. If the slave has a photographic memory as many of them do, then a specific chart like this utility chart could function as the blueprint for the mind when it creates its power packs. Power packs, and energy cells (sometimes put in like light bulbs) run the computers which are built into the slave's mind. This is part of what is called the Omega programming.

Exhibit 7. TM:379260-2 S.I.N.S. Base Datum. This is a coordinate system. In the early years the Monarch systems were built with 3 hour glasses each spinning on a x,y, or z axis. The hour glasses could be turned and in so doing the entire system of alters could be turned. Let's say that we have a slave and we have created great Christian front alters. Now, we decide that the time has come to use the dark Satanic alters full time. Since the dark alters are hidden at the bottom of the system, we need to rotate the System 180 degrees so that the Satanic alters are now on top. Now the Satanic alters will receive extra energy to be out holding the body full time. This SINS Base Datum is a way of making a coordinate system for a Monarch System. Certain codes would then be given the System to make a shift when the handler needs to turn a System.

Exhibit 8. Darth Vader cover of Warren Magazine, plus the next two pages. This final exhibit consists of not one but 3 pages which are the first 3 pages of a article written by Michael Aquino. This article is Michael Aquino's own version of Star Wars. It is this version that he wrote and then used to program Monarch Mind-Controlled slaves. Actually to give credit where credit is due, an army colonel (who has since moved to Santa Fe, NM) at the Army's War College worked with Michael Aquino at designing mind-control programming around the Star War's script.

The main cores are tied into the ship's optical data network by means of a series of MJL junction links which bridge the subspace boundary layer. There is a 12% Doppler loss in transmission rate across the boundary, but the resulting increase in processing speed from the FTL core elements more than compensates.

SUBPROCESSORS

A network of 380 quadritronic optical subprocessors is distributed throughout both ship's sections, augmenting the main cores. Within the habitable volume of the ship, most of these subprocessors are located near main corridor junctions for easy access. While these subprocessors do not employ FTL elements, the distributed processing network improves overall system response and provides redundancy in emergency situations. Each subprocessor is linked into the optical data network, and most also have a dedicated optical link to one or more of the main cores.

The Main Bridge and the Battle Bridge each have seven dedicated and twelve shared subprocessors, which permit operations even in the event of main core failure. These bridge subprocessors are linked to the main cores by means of protected optical conduits, which provide alternate control linkages in the event of a primary optical data network failure. Further redundancy is provided by dedicated short-range radio frequency (RF) links, providing emergency data communications with the bridge. Additional dedicated subproces-jacked triphase waveguide conduit networks, similar to the SIF network, distribute the field energy throughout the vehicle. Crossovers between the Saucer Module and Battle Section permit field generators in one hull to feed the entire spacecraft if necessary.

- Synthetic gravity field bleed. Although the ship's synthetic gravity field is created by the gravity generators located thoughout the ship, a network of forcefield conduits is employed to allow translation of excess inertial potential to other parts of the ship. This process is computer controlled to optimize gravitational stability and subspace field differential. Any inertial potential in excess of system capacity is automatically bled off into the structural integrity field system.

- Cryogenic fluid transfer. This refers to a number of insulated piping trunks that provide for intraship transfer of such cryogenic fluids as liquid helium. Oxygen for breathing gas replenishment is transferred to atmospheric processing modules in liquid form by means of the cryogenic fluid transfer system.

- Deuterium fuel transfer. Two 45 cm insulated conduits provide for transfer of liquid deuterium between the primary deuterium tank and the impulse propulsion system. Additional insulated conduits connect the primary deuterium tank with the warp propulsion system, and the Saucer Module impulse engines and its associated fuel storage tankage (using a cross-feed conduit connecting the two sections). Smaller 18.5 cm insulated conduits connect various auxiliary storage tanks and the auxiliary fusion power generators.

- Turboelevator personnel transport system. This includes the actual turboshaft tubes through which the inductively driven turbolift cars travel throughout the habitable volume of the ship, as well as the dedicated EPS power trunks and ODN links that support the system.

- Reserve utilities distribution. This refers to a low-capacity, independent system of atmosphere, power, data, and water distribution networks. These systems serve as backups for use in the event service is disrupted from primary systems. Depending on load factors, this reserve system has a capacity of approximately thirty-six hours.

- Protected utilities distribution. Another set of redundant utilities trunks, this system provides limited atmosphere, power, and data to critical areas of the ship as well as

Today the Death Star, tomorrow—the Stardust & other colossal spacecraft of the Perry Rhodan series?

He's been speeding around the land in his landspeeder for over a year now and hasn't got a ticket yet. (But he sold plenty of them!)

dispatched his copy via time-warp space-o-gram to our present day solar system, Planet 3, Hollyweird, Karloffonia, and I read it with great interest and said to myself, "Why, this is much too unusual an item to simply let languish in limbo like Stuart J. Byrne's Tarzan on Mars," so I am presenting it here as a curiosity from which I believe you will derive an exciting reading experience.

Bearing in mind that these events do not follow the path of George Lucas' history nor the late Leigh Brackett's nor any other authorized historians of STAR WARS but are, as he puts it, "a personal fantasy" of Michael Aquino, READ ON!

Darth Vader Lives!

As his small ship spun crazily away from the Death Star, Darth Vader fought to regain control. Thru the viewport the pinpoints of light from distant suns became streaks that shot across his line of vision as tho he were passing thru the tail of a comet. Unable to concentrate on the instruments in front of him he touched the switch that lowered the metal shield over the celebration. As Luke was explaining his attack on the Death Star [for the 30th time] to an admiring group of technicians, C3PO strode up to him and asked him if he would mind joining the Princess and General Dodonna at once in the observation center. Luke and the 'droid went off in search of Han Solo and found him, surrounded by an even larger and more vocal crowd, painting a giant set of targan jaws on the nose of the Millennium Falcon. Passing the paint-injector to a particularly-enthusiastic bystander, Luke pulled the protesting Solo to one side and told him of the summons. The two of them set off for the observation center at a brisk pace, leaving the 'droid to follow at its own speed.

They entered the center to see Dodonna and Leia peering over one of the stratospheric scanners. Dodonna pointed at the dot of light on the scanner that indicated a small craft approaching the moon. "What we don't know is whether it's one of ours or one of theirs," he said. "It hasn't responded to communications probes and its approach trajectory is erratic. Unless the pilot can correct his declination, he'll crash. But he's headed towards this complex so at least we'll be able to send out a rescue team."

"Should be approaching visual," said a nearby technician and at a nod from Dodonna he illuminated the large exterior viewplate. The company watched in silence as the tiny ship came into sight, glowing like a meteor as it plunged toward the forest. Finally it vanished into the treetops and there was a flash of light as it impacted. A coordinate was fixed on the crash site and a rescue team immediately dispatched in one of the vertilifts. Breaking the tension in the observation center, Leia asked Luke, Han and the General to join her in a nearby conference room.

"Before we learned of the approaching ship," she said, "General Dodonna and I were discussing the implications of this 'victory' of ours. I think you should hear what he has to say. General?"

Dodonna shifted his position and looked at all of them apprehensively. "I won't waste time telling you what you already know. Whether by skill or by luck, we have destroyed the largest and most powerful military base in the entire galaxy. That will hardly pass unnoticed at the Hub and we can expect that the position of the Death Star was constantly reported to Hub monitors. Hence it is simply a question of time before we are confronted with one or more fleets bent on our destruction. We must vacate this base immediately and seek concealment elsewhere and that means a loss of communications with our allies for an undetermined period. The Council has recommended the planet of Teldo in the Cyluran system." He indicated a chart on the table and they all glanced at it.

"The relocation of this base will commence immediately," said Leia, "but that's not why you're both here. Now that Darth Vader and Tarkin are dead, I have hopes that the Imperial Senate will listen to our appeal before authorizing a further attack. You must take me to the Hub immediately."

As the four of them walked out to the Millennium Falcon, an aide rushed up to report that the rescue team had found nothing but the seared remains of an Imperial attack ship. Of an occupant there was no sign so it seemed likely that he had either ejected earlier or been thrown clear of the impact. None of the party noticed the shadow that glided past the unseeing mechanics and disappeared within the Falcon.

Han Solo learned to his considerable irritation that Chewbacca would not be allowed along on the trip. "I'm sorry," said Leia, "but Wookies are not cleared for the Hub. There have been too many accidents because of their tempers, and the operations at the Hub are too vital to risk even isolated disruptive incidents." Chewbacca snarled his anger at the news but Solo took him to one side and assured him that the Falcon would be returning immediately, leaving the Princess at the Hub. If she were successful in her appeal to the Senate, she would notify the Falcon to return for her. If she sent no signal, Luke & Solo would know that her attempt had

Body Manipulation

CHAPTER 8.
THE SCIENCE OF BODY MANIPULATION & PROGRAMMING

A. THE SCARRING OF THE BRAIN STEM.

Early on it was discovered that the brain would overcompensate for scarring on the brain stem. This is a principle similar to weight lifting. By tearing down the muscle fiber by overexertion, the body rebuilds the muscle stronger. By scarring the brain stem, it was discovered that geniuses who had photographic memories could be created. Brain stem scarring was used to create the whiz kids that the NWO needed to run their big computers. For instance, the computers that just NASA alone uses require people who can work in ALGOL, BASIC, COBOL, COBOL 74, MULTICS COBOL ver. 4.4, COBOL Cb.4, COBOL CP-6, EOL, EULOR, FLIP, FORAST, FORTRAN, HAL/S, Illiac 4, JASP, JOSS, JOVIAL, /LYAPAS, LISP, LISP 2, /MAP/, NuSpeak, PASCAL, PEARL, /PLACE/, PL/1, PL/1-APAREL, PLANIT, Praxis, SA Machine Language, SEMANOL, SNOBEL, UNIX, WANG, ZBIE. It takes a good memory to remember computer languages and programming. These whiz kids, who were both programmed with Monarch programming and had their brain stems scarred can be seen in some of the University computer departments and the intelligence/military agencies' computers rooms.

For instance, at Ft. Meade, the NSA has 2 buildings which contain a completely self-sufficient intelligence operation. (The complex has its own stores, bank, dry cleaning, dentistry, barber shop, PX, hospital, as well as the normal snackbars and cafeteria that Federal buildings often have.) This complex which is internally guarded by cameras watching all the corridors, has several major computer rooms where whiz kids are employed. Movement by these whiz kids, requires that they have the proper I.D. attached to them. The CIA which has had an ongoing project to create them, has called them "Compu-kids." Some of the elevators are private and operate only with the proper key. The NSA's computers participate in electronically watching the world.

Another example of where compu-kids (slaves with scarred brain stems) work on big computers (incl. a Beast computer) is at Area 51 (Dreamland), NV.

The method of scarring the reticular formation of the brain stem is accomplished electronically. The RNA piles up and breaks the continuity of the signals coming through. Different people's bodies are able to tolerate different levels of abuse. Many of the brain stem scarring victims die, or end up with a pseudo-Multiple Sclerosis. Many children are coming into hospitals and being misdiagnosed as having Multiple Sclerosis when in fact they are damaged from programming and brain stem scarring.

If the victim is successfully given a photographic memory through their entire alter system due to brain stem scarring, then they are often programmed to see what are called "hieroglyphics" (that is the cover name) which is really just the "Intergalactic Language" that NASA developed in the 1960s and then turned around and used to program slaves with photographic memories. Under the cover of research projects like N67-3042 (17 p. 3022) "Language structure and message decoding for interplanetary decoding." in 1967 and N65-32284 20-3414 in 1965 entitled "Symbol science for communication language of humans, animals, and inanimate objects --application to mathematics, cybernetics, and automation." The actual study no. or no.s for the Intergalactic Language is not known, but they should appear somewhere in the voluminous

Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports that NASA puts out each year. The script of this language was shown in the beginning credits of the strange movie Lawnmower Man. Some of the symbols are similar to Ascii Computer language (which is a language that interfaces with many other computer languages, so that one language can be translated into another language.) The Monarch slaves are told that this is an alien language.

INTERGALACTIC SYMBOLS

THIS IS THE WAY THE SCRIPT OF THE INTERGALACTIC LANGUAGE LOOKS

Another method that has also been used to enhance memory is hypnosis. Estabrooks was able in the 1930s to create Multiple personalities via hypnosis and get incredible mental feats accomplished by those parts which were asked under hypnosis to have photographic memories. Still another method is to place small transceivers into the head or body of the person. These implants have been attached in the neck or other places, and have been connected to various parts of the brain. They have literally created what the movies called "terminal man." This has allowed special intelligence agents to be linked to large computers. The intelligence asset can get continuous information on anything the intelligence agencies have managed to get into their large computers. Brain implants can down load incredible amounts of information to the brain, however, the ability to use this information wisely is still a skill. Having a library of information available doesn't necessarily mean a person is wiser.

For more on slave-computer interfacing see the index for information on ALEX, Amalgamated Logarithmic Encrypted Transmissions, and UNIX systems which are used to tie the Monarch Mind to computers.

Drugs and torture are also used to enhance memory. Brain stem scarring is not the only method to enhance memory, but it has been a "highly successful" (if one doesn't count all the ruined lives when it's failed) good method. MPD also naturally increases the brain's functioning several fold, and can help give photographic memories.

In review, drugs, torture, hypnosis and MPD all work to enhance memory. Most slaves have some photographic memory capability. The most serious form of memory enhancement is brain stem scarring, which produces a strong system-wide photographic memory.

B. SPLIT BRAIN WORK

The brain is "bicameral" or two-sided. The two-sides (called hemispheres) communicate via a superpowerful connector called the corpus callosum. The left hemisphere is specialized in verbal-linguistic transduction of speech and analytical thinking (logic, math, cause & effect, language, & sequential thinking). The right side plays more of a role in holistic-metaphorical information transduction such as imagery (art, dance, intuition, subjective, spontaneous, holistic, & dream imagery). The primary role of creating imagery is carried out by the right side.

Roger Sperry, a neuroscientist won a Nobel Prize for feeding information to only one side of the brain, and also for feeding simultaneously both sides of the brain different information. His results showed that the two hemispheres could operate separately at the same time. We hate to rewrite history, but the work that won Sperry a Nobel Prize was being done to unwilling human victims before his publicly known experiments. Sperry's research left people wondering if it wasn't possible to have one personality located in one hemisphere, and another person in the other. Psychologist Julian Jaynes wrote a book arguing that mankind used to have two personalities before the two hemispheres evolved an ability to integrate. (His book is The Origin of Consciousness in the Breakdown of the Bicameral Mind.)

Before the public had heard about the ability of the two hemispheres to work independently, the Illuminati and MK-Ultra programmers were carrying out split brain programming, by two methods, 1. shutting down one side and communicating only with one side of the brain, and 2. by simultaneously feeding different information to each hemisphere. This is often down by the victim being locked in place with their eyes forced open, and different movies shown simultaneously to both eyes. This creates a form of split brain programming. High speed films will be shown with one hemisphere receiving horror scenes and the other getting family settings. This makes the two hemispheres work separately and the victim feel crazy. The mind feels ripped apart. One hemisphere is trying to dissociate and is having a miserable experience, while the other side is experiencing something just the opposite. When high speed films are shown for split brain programming, the films are shown in 5 minute increments. Front alters may be shown good films to make them believe they live in a perfect world with a good family life. Right side satanic alters may receive horror films shown via the left eye. The right side of the brain doesn't verbalize well, so this is one reason slaves have emotions without the ability to verbalize. A possible third method is to use drugs that block the two hemispheres from communicating. A fourth method in split brain work is to speak into the left ear while giving the right ear confusing noise. This last method is sometimes done to force alters to concentrate when learning scripts.

The split brain programming done by the Illuminati is grotesque. A drug is injected at the base of the skull into one hemisphere of the brain to shut it down, while the other hemisphere is kept awake. Torture is then carried out to split the mind. What this does is create programs and alters which are associated with only half of the brain. The brain is being further divided from itself. Work is done by the Programmers to develop the thinking of alters from one side of the brain to think differently from those of the other side. Split brain programming is not just hypnosis, as some have been led to believe. Split brain programming provides the Programmers one way to keep the left hand from knowing what the right hand is doing. It also gives them the ability to put in body programs or memories which effect only half of the victim's body.

When one hemisphere is dominating in what the brain is doing, the opposite nostril will open and take in air. When the right hemisphere is doing most of the thinking, the left nostril will be doing most of the breathing. Voluntary changes in nostril breathing can help shift the center of brain activity from one side of the brain to the other. When a person lays on his side, the downward side hemisphere will be activated, because the top nostril will breath best. The control of nasal breathing has been part of the Yogi's art to achieve samadhi.

The distinctions between the two hemispheres or two brains are used by the occult world. Moriah values the intuitiveness of the right hemisphere. As one Illuminati mind-control programmer said, "It's the right brain that has an inbuilt propensity for accessing timelessness. There is bound to be some unconscious prompting therefore that alerts us to the imminence of forthcoming disaster, that is, if we are sufficiently sensitive to its message....unless we have the wisdom, the soul age, to affect the use of those additional facilities (to access right brain knowledge) we will find our intelligence sadly limited to the left brain logic of the material world."

While this book is not about occult philosophy, occult philosophy is part of the motivation behind some of the split brain work. In order for the Illuminati to create alters which are highly intuitive and which are able to access the higher demonic spheres, they need to shut down the logic hemisphere. When the left hemisphere is shut down, then the right brain (which controls the left hand and left side of the body, i.e. the left hand path) is able to function without competition. The victim must be able to get in touch fully with his or her intuitive side to go into the "spiritual dimensions" where demons exist. This is very nasty work, because this split brain work involves high level demonology. Most of the deeper Illuminati alters are right brain alters so that they will be very spiritually intuitive.

The Lesser Key of Solomon is an important teaching book of the Illuminati. It states, "An adept enters an abnormal plane and equips himself to 'charge' with magical energy the pentacle and talismans." The training that this takes is called "training of the higher will" and split brain programming is part of how it is accomplished.

C. MEDICAL TECHNOLOGIES

Medical science has been probing the gray matter that makes up the human brain for several hundred years and they continue to probe it. With the use of various new techniques they can look inside the human brain in ways that were not available before. An enzyme called horseradish peroxidase (HRP) which serves as a marker or highlighter allows brain researchers to visually look at brain cells on functioning brains. Researchers such as Frank Putnam, at the National Institute of Mental Health, have taken PET scans of the brains of people with multiple personalities, whose brain scans from one alter personality to another are very different. This doesn't occur in non-multiple people who pretend to have different personalities. The brain scans have shown that brains with multiple personalities are physically different than other people's brains. The different personalities are often in different neurophysiological states. Medical science has helped the programmers put people into different neurophysiological states for programming. Some of these states are dangerous unless trained medical personnel are available to insure the victim doesn't die. Which, according to ex-Programmers, does happen anyway.

Medical science has identified glutamate which is an amino acid as an important neurotransmitter involved with memory storage. However, after countless tests and all types of research, we still do not know completely how the brain stores memory. However, the NWO's Network understands far more than they have let the public learn.

HAVING SKILLED MEDICAL/ LAB TECHNICIANS

Having the medical know how doesn't get the job done in itself. Obviously, the Network has needed to have both hospitals and trained medical personnel.

Having skilled workers is part of the success of the Monarch Programming. For instance, the simple interpretation of Alpha BFT instruments, requires that the operator be able to understand what is background interference. Everywhere the instrument is located there is going to be some amount of background interference. Only the good operators can realize when a pseudo-alpha wave has been produced, perhaps from the child sweating in the location of the electrode, or hair movements, or eye blinks or twitching.

The Illuminati has their own midwifery training program, which will take teenage Monarch slaves and train them. They also begin training their people in programming and observation from infancy up. By the time they are an adult, the programming alters know programming as second nature. They have no shortages of doctors, nurses, psychiatrists, and other well educated people. If they have to save an important Monarch slave, they may fly in a specialist from wherever the right specialist is.

When it comes to research, some of it done by professionals who don't realize how their research is going to be used. Many researchers are great on seeing detail, but not the bigger picture. They usually don't realize how their research is going to be misused, and are very gullible people. The CIA finds that the researcher is quick to justify in his or her mind the moral value of the research they are doing.

Many members of the Illuminati are involved in secret genetic research.

Having control over numerous big hospitals, is an important link in the ability of the Network to program so many people successfully.

Medical personnel are participating in acts that help mind-control. One Christian nurse quit the University Hospital here, because newborns are secretly being given implants. A few years ago, it was discovered that The Upjohn, an American multinational company was involved in placing radiotransmitting material in with their liquid cortisone preparation Depomedrone, which created an implant when medical personnel put Depomedrone into their patients.

D. HISTAMINES

Histamine is a chemical (a particular molecule) which the body uses to defend against alien cells. It also has the ability to lower blood pressure and to flare up the skin.

The auditory sense can effect histamine production via programming. Histamine is a molecule which is part of the immune system. Changes in histamine levels effect moles. It effects skin changes in scars. This is how the abusers can magically make scars appear and disappear, which makes the programming seem even more real to alters. The abusers like to create invisible scars that form patterns and pictures. The most popular is the Baphomet head (which stands for Satan). Upon command they can trigger the skin to make these scars visible.

If one pricks someone's skin with a needle having histamine on the tip, it will cause the skin to flare up red.

Biofeedback has allowed people to mentally talk to their skin. Hypnosis has controlled people's immune system. States of mind effect the immune system. Somehow a combination of these is used to allow the handler upon command to trigger the correct state of mind within the victim to increase histamine production within the skin area.

The bone marrow of the body produces stem cells. The stem cells are capable of growing into many different types of cells. First the stem cells grow into some basic different cells and those in turn grow some more and further differentiate. For instance, a stem cell can become a myeloid, which can become a polymorpho nuclear granulocyte which in turn can become a basophil or mast cell. Both basophils and mast cells are leukocytes and they are part of the body's immune system. Both basophils and mast cells are carriers of histamine. Histamine does several things in the body. Histamine causes dilation of blood vessels, and it allows blood vessels to become permeable (leaky so to speak) which allows other chemicals and fluid to go through the blood vessels into the area between cells and tissues. All CNS (Central Nervous System) cells of the body have receptors that the histamine can attach itself to like a ship docking. When cells are damaged, or alien cells enter the body, the basophils and mast cells release their histamine.

For the body to have more histamine, it must increase the number of basophils and mast cells. This can be accomplished by changing the ratio of stem cells that develop into other types of cells.

The core of the histamine molecule is an ethylamine. Antihistamines are molecules that resemble histamines enough that they can attach themselves to the histamine receptors on regular cells and prevent the histamine molecules from attaching. If the histamine molecules don't attach, the body disposes of them. The point being that histamine remains in the skin only so long before the body disposes of it. Histamine levels in the body can raise IF the cells which carry the histamine are increased.

THIS IS THE STRUCTURE OF A HISTAMINE MOLECULE

It is believed that breast implants have some kind of effect on raising histamine production levels in the body. Whether these breast implants are identical to what all breast implants are, or whether they have something special to agitate the body into higher immune cells' production of the mast cell & basophils type is not known. However, there seems to be some relationship between the Network's need to raise histamine production in their slaves, and the breast implants that they are putting in them. Putting the pieces together leads one to believe that the implants agitate the body's immune system into raising the level of its histamine carrying cells. A number of women who have gotten implants speak about an increase in allergies. The allergic reaction is caused by high levels of histamine. Whether this happens to some or many it not known at the time this is written. The three big Illuminati chemical companies are I.G. Farben, DuPont, and Dow Chemical. Dow Chemical began research with implanting silicon in 1956. After 35 years of studies in which they implanted thousands of various animals with silicon, the company knew exactly what silicon would do in the human body. The FDA had public hearings in 1992 where internal documents of the Dow Chemical Co. were released which showed that the company knew all along that their breast implants were very dangerous, years before they put them on the market.

There is an incredible search going on for a anti-silicon antibody so that they can clean up the mess they have created in millions of people who have silicon implants. The immediate chest wall and area around the breast implant gets highly agitated. The silicon leaks through the membrane, and then causes great difficulties in the body.

Many of the female Monarch slaves have received breast implants.

E. BODY PROGRAMS

Researchers have come along way toward understanding the mind. They have discovered, for instance, that under stress the brain will convert nerve signals into "messenger molecules" who then in turn direct the endocrine system to produce steroid hormones, that can reach the nucleus of various cells and cause them to change how the body's genes are written out. These genes will then direct the cells as to how to make a variety of molecules which are used in growth, metabolism, sexuality, and the immune systems. In other words, the mind can rewrite genetics. This was the secret that helped get the Monarch program off to its scientific foundation. Now the actual mechanics of this have been observed by researchers.

One of the leaders in understanding the mind-body relationship was Franz Alexander.

Black was one of the researchers into how hypnosis can be used to regulate the body and the body's functions such as the immune system. Ken Bowers also worked in this area. Dr. S.M. Lambert of the Rockefeller Foundation studied how voodoo could cause death by creating certain thoughts in the mind. Most of the research in this area was monitored, if not sponsored by the Intelligence agencies under the auspices of the Illuminati.

The Hypothalamus bridges the mind and the body. It works as part of the Limbic-hypothalamic system. This system is a determining center for what state of mind the brain is place in. The immune system communicates directly with the hypothalamus part of the brain with its own "messenger molecules" known as "immunotransmitters". This then is mind-brain link that the Monarch programmers have taken so much advantage of.

Barbara Brown, a physiologist at Veteran's Administration Hospital (in Sepulveda) wrote a book New Mind, New Body. Barbara Brown's research was government funded. Her book got the public interested in biofeedback. Because of repeated success at getting patients to control such things as their heartbeat, Dr. Brown is convinced that a person's heart rate, breathing, muscle tension, glandular responses are all subject to a person's will. Those who have worked with victims of U.S. government MK Ultra mind control know that what Dr. Brown writes is correct and was known years before she published her book.

Biofeedback is now required training in some prisons for some inmates.

It is clear from the final results that Monarch slaves have programming which can carry out the following functions:

- control the pulse rate and heart beat,
- control the body's temperature
- control the temperature of individual body parts or sides of the body--such as the right side of the body might get hot, and the left side of the body get ice cold. Fritz has observed this by touching the left and right sides of a victim who was burning hot on the right and ice cold on the left.
- The secretions of various enzymes and histamine production has been trained into the victims and attached to various body programs to keep the slave in line. Histamine production appears to be regulated via surgery carried out on women's breast. It appears, but hasn't been confirmed that the surgery where breast implants are placed into female Monarch slaves plays some role in histamine production & programmed control.
- allow the body to pretend that it is dead, when actually it is in an altered state similar to being comatose.

The internal defenses consists in part of body programs that are triggered if the Mind-controlled slave steps out of line. Here is a good list of some of these body programs: Auditory problems, a Bone disorder, Blood flow/circulation, Coma (zombie death sleep which makes victim appear dead), Digestive failure, Headaches-split brain, Heart failure, Histamine production, Optic problems such as blindness, Respiratory failure, Sleep deprivation, Sleeping program, and Temperature change.

Body programs will be put in across the board for all alters. The same code will work for all alters when the internal programming alters want to trigger a body program.

If a body program is placed into the slave it may be anchored to something, and that might be something as drastic as the heartbeat. One of the programs causes the victim to hear a heartbeat which is reframed in their minds as the "heartbeat of Satan."

Some of the body programs are carried out by creating an alter which has one mental state--such as an alter fragment which is burning or one that was created by ice torture. This alter or this feeling of being hot or cold is then attached to something in the mind. For instance, if the victim moves toward the world, a cold alter or a cold feeling of a memory is hypnotically programmed to come up behind the alter holding the body. Sometimes the sensation of burning can be eliminated by getting a firechild to back up from the front of the mind where another alter is holding the body.

Many feelings, body sensations, and drugged states are attached to programs. When the alter hits a stringer, he will go through a series of memories, false memories, hypnotic commands, and body sensations that have been attached together in stringers. The stringer type of programming is often put in to set in a front program which is to deceive an alter.

The abilities of the human brain to control the body have been seriously underrated by people. Bio-feedback researchers in the 1960s were surprised to find out that if a single nerve cell's activity is placed upon a screen so that the subject can see its activity graphed, the subject will be able to mentally identify that cell apart from any other nerve fiber cell, and will be able to have voluntary control over that single cell apart from any other. Just to show how complex the body is, a single nerve fiber cell will have 600 connections. This mental feat is simply mind-boggling for researchers.

The Mar. 5, 1972 L.A. Times reported that patients were being taught how to alter their heart rate without drugs. This had already been happening within the Monarch Programming. The heart is controlled by the mind and works with the emotions of a person. There have been people who have literally died from a "broken heart." This is a historical fact. The Monarch programmers have long been taking advantage of the mind's ability to control the heart's beating.

A tiny little bit of tissue not really visible to the visible eye called the sinus node, sends out electrical signals that regulate and initiate heart beats in an unbroken rhythm. The genetic code concerning the body's metabolism and the genetic code for the sinus node somehow get the entire heart beat generator mechanism started. Two areas of the brain control the changes in heart beats that the sinus node would make. The sinus node sends out the signals but it doesn't change the rate. A very primitive part of the brain stem is one of the control areas, and the other control area along the spine. Both of these areas connect to the higher thinking areas of the brain. The three most frequent events that change heart beat are emotions, sicknesses, and muscle activity. Since the will influences emotions, the higher brain can control the heart beat and its pulse. Alters are programmed so that they will trance out if anyone tries to prove to them that they have a heart--which they have been programmed to believe was taken away from them by the programmer. The occult world learned this ability from the Indian yogis who have been controlling their hearts for centuries. Some have even shown in the scientific laboratory that they can stop their hearts for up to 30 seconds. (See Green of Menninger Foundation's work.)

The yogi's also developed the skill of changing their body temperatures. For instance, Swami Rama in the lab of Dr. Elmer Green could make one side of his palm hot and the other side of his palm cold simply by mental efforts. This type of body control was learned by the Illuminati years ago, and has been applied to the Monarch programming to make the programming lies seem more real to the victim than the outside world. A Monarch slave can get cold on the left side and burn on the right side of his body. It has been well-documented that the mind can control the blood flow to various tissues and in this way change temperature in various different parts of the body. This was first reported to the public in 1978 (Barabasz & McGeorge).

It appears that a combination of yogi type bio-feed back techniques along with classical behavior conditioning is able to account for some of the body programs in slaves. Other body programs appear to be connected to the memories of alters. For instance, if the Programmer wants the body to burn--he has the System pull up an alter which was tortured with fire who comes up behind the alter holding the body, and the body then abreactes and feels like it is burning. As mentioned, one technique is the split-brain programming where the functioning of the two hemispheres of the brain are separated, which allows the patient to feel the "right hand path" and the "left hand path" separately. This type of programming is very powerful in making the programming script seem more real than outside reality.

High blood pressure or hypertension has been found to be largely a function of the mind. However, conventional medicine has ignored this for years, and has a large volume of confusing and misleading research to the opposite. Rather, than admit the cause, the medical establishment has labeled the largest percentage of hypertension cases as "essential" or "idiopathic" which are labels to cover up that they don't know (or refuse to recognize) the cause of the high blood pressure. At any rate the cardiovascular systems (heart and blood vessels, etc.) is so complex that it has been very difficult for researchers to get a grasp on many issues involved in blood pressure such as the release of hormones into the blood, and the result of long term stress on the cardiovascular system. When tests show that the stress of unemployment increases high blood pressure problems among men, it would seem that the medical establishment would begin to see the link that the mind has with controlling blood pressure. Again bio-feedback and classic conditioning have been successfully used to radically change a subject's blood pressure. This along with the ability to go into deep trances, are abilities that the Monarch slave is programmed to have to control their blood pressure. Again the question may be, why would they condition a slave this way? Because, if the Master can call out a hypnotic trigger and change the slave's heart beat and blood pressure, does the reader see how "puppet-like" the slave feels? The slave's mind and body are literally owned by the master. The slave is not even allowed to control his own body. This is what total mind-control is all about.

PATHWAYS

The medical profession uses the term "pathways" to describe the ways the mind creates biochemical and physiological changes. In other words, how does the mind consciously decide to change its body? When medical researchers began to understand how the two hemispheres worked, they began to understand better how to facilitate mind-to-body communication so that they could program the slave's mind to control its body.

One of the better books on this subject is The Psychobiology of Mind-Body Healing by Ernest Lawrence Rossi. Rossi and Erickson devised a three-stage approach to accessing the person's inner resources for therapy. This type of hypnotic-induced healing is a clue to part of how the Body programs are structured in for body control by the programming. What some use for good, is used by others for evil. During the hypnotic work, Rossi uses what is called the "inner mind" of the person.

For instance, to get a person to stop bleeding indirect hypnotic suggestions are made in the following 3 stages, a. a time-binding introduction of "Why don't you stop bleeding? Now!" b. there is an accessing of state dependent unconscious processes that can control the bleeding, and c. there is a response by the person which ratifies that the inner process of stopping the bleeding has actually happened.

The hypothalamus is a very small part of the brain. It is only the size of a pea, but it contains an immense amount of important tissues which control all types of inner activities of the body, including the endocrine, the immune, the neuropeptide and automatic systems. It is this area of the brain which is manipulated by hypnosis. The limbic-hypothalamic system is in a constant process of shifting what state of mind the brain is in. There are numerous unconscious and conscious states that can be shifted to. These are labeled "psycho-neuro-physiological states" because researchers now realize how a state involves the entire person. All learning is associated and depends upon the state it was learned in!

A new sense organ was discovered, and U.S. News & World Report, July 19, 1993, p. 61 reported on it. We do not know when this tiny sense organ, which is located in the nasal cavity, was discovered by the people doing mind-control, but it is already being exploited. This organ responds to chemicals called pheromones, which play an important role in human emotions, such as fear, hunger and love. Human skin gives off odorless pheromones which other people can detect. Basic human drives are controlled by Pheromones. Endorfin is a peptide, of which at least 50 have been charted. By manipulating these chemicals, people can be biochemically put into a different state of mind, and victims have been manipulated by these chemicals.

These chemicals are being used in conjunction with Virtual Reality to control slaves' minds. In the March-April '94 edition of The Futurist the author Glenn F. Cartwright, of McGill University announces in his article "Virtual or Real? The Mind in Cyberspace", "Strangely, the developers of virtual reality seem largely unconcerned by the possible dangers inherent in launching individuals into another reality." This is because Virtual Reality is being developed as another tool of mind-control.

Computers can dynamically control and synchronize all that needs to be coordinated to give someone a virtual reality experience. The researchers/programmers are trying to immerse as many of the victim's senses into their virtual reality trip as possible. It becomes almost impossible to distinguish reality from the trip for the victim of this type of programming.

McGill University, Dr. White (Cameron's) old stomping grounds did some virtual reality research.

People are now getting involved with what is called MUDs (multi-user dungeons) where a person via virtual reality can create a parallel life. Some people are spending up to 120 hours a week immersed in their virtual reality second life. In 1992, Internet had 207 such games. Now the programmed slave only needs to hook into Internet to be programmed.

Cartwright's article warns that a person's ego-center can be projected somewhere else via virtual reality, which destabilizes one's actual understanding of where their own identity is. He also warns that Virtual reality will create other personalities. He writes on page 24, "Multiple Identities. If it is possible in virtual reality or cyberspace to enter an altered state, become disembodied, swap genders, create a virtual ego-center, decenter the self, and assume a different identity, then it may also be possible to assume more than one identity at the same time. In this context, the exponential increase in multiple-personality disorders in recent decades may be of more than just passing interest....having multiple, serial, and simultaneous personae in cyberspace may not only be possible, but may even be encouraged as a part of interacting with others."

Virtual reality via the computer Internet has now become another tool of the Programmers.

MUSIC

Dissociated tones, beats and music may accompany hypnotic induction drugs. Pulsing beating sounds in the ears can change the brain's waves.

It is no secret that music will put someone into an altered state. Music will change moods, heart rate, and even one's state of consciousness. In a home church setting, that Fritz participated in, the question was asked of a group what they do to overcome depression. Everyone present listed "listen to music" as one of the things they do to overcome depression.

Sound will change body chemistry, blood pressure, breathing and digestion. (See Jacobson, Steven. "Media Mind Control", Media Bypass, Sept. '95, pg.50). To quote Jacobson, "Fast music will speed up the nervous system while slow music will slow it down. Sounds vibrate in different parts of the body. Low tones will vibrate in the higher portions and on into the head. Much of today's popular rock music is built around a heavy bass pattern louder than the melody. These low-frequency vibrations reverberate in the lower parts of the body so that the music 'feels' good. These loud, low-frequency vibrations and the driving beat of most rock music affect the pituitary gland, which controls male and female responses. The repeating sound pattern induces the hypnotic state of mind that is similar to day dreaming, thus clearing the mind of all thought so that the message can be implanted in the unconscious without resistance.

"It is important to note that the lyrics of many rock songs are not clearly distinguishable consciously. When you do not hear the message clearly, you cannot make the conscious choice to accept or reject it. When you cannot make that choice or when that choice is taken away from you, the message is programmed directly to the subconscious, thus circumventing analysis and choice in accepting the content of the message. Sixties rock superstar Jimi Hendrix said: 'You can hypnotize people with music, and when you get them at their weakest point, you can preach into their subconscious whatever you want to say.' "

Long term exposure to the heavy metal themes of sadomasochism, satanism, suicide and drug abuse can only have a negative influence on the minds of the listener. Today's generation of children are being raised on this type of music.

Many of the big rock bands consist of satanists. This statement isn't made flippantly, but from having learned from many witnesses of the rituals these Satanic bands participate in. Some of these satanists, as the reader can already guess, are programmed multiples. For those programmed multiples who participate in heavy rock music, they are simply adding one more type of bondage and mind-control to their already long list.

The spiritual damage done by rock music will be briefly addressed later in cht. 10.

PROGRAMMING DAMAGE to the BODY.

Many of the body programs that activate via trigger codes are simply memories of severe torture. For instance, the victim might be placed naked on a block of ice, which contains the body of a frozen person. (This is a common trauma used in programming.) When this memory is triggered, via an alter or alter fragment, the victim's body abreacts and gets very cold. Another common torture is to stick a ureteric catheter up the external urethral orifice (whose channel is called the urethra). This is painful. Then the urinary bladder is filled so that the victim is in extreme pain, and is made to hold their bladder in silence. This torture to the body is painful. But the long term effects of this torture, which is done repeatedly to slaves to teach obedience, is to seriously damage their urinary bladders. The abreaction of memories of this help blackmail alters into obedience.

The body of many slaves are only kept functioning, because they are given repeated surgery by doctors working under the auspices of the Illuminati. These doctors can be trusted on to keep quiet about the abused bodies they have to keep fixing.

It was mentioned in chapt. 2 that some people suffering from autism are failures in mind control programming. We know of one case where a brilliant autistic teenager who'd not talked during childhood began talking, and shocked his parents because he began talking about his spirit guides (see chap. 10 on spirit guides.) Some people diagnosed as MS are really failures of the mind control's brain stem scarring. Many hundreds of women w/ breast implants are coming down w/ symptoms that look like MS & Lupus. This may be because part of the women w/ implants are programmed multiples. Another disease that is believed by some to be caused by programming failures is lupus (aka lupus erythematosus or systemic lupus erythematosus). Establishment medical science claims that the cause of lupus is unknown. Modern Maturity (Ap/My '93) & Nations Business (May '93) are examples of magazines that have run articles about Lupus. Ronald I. Carr and the Lupus Foundation of America put out a handbook on the disease in 1986. The director of the Lupus Foundation has been an Illuminati programmed multiple.

The effects of the programming are not just in the mind. It has been scientifically shown that the torture memories are enbedded in the cells of the body. In fact, the Illuminati intentionally wants the body injured by trauma pains & trauma memories, because they want to prevent the possibilities of the sanctification of the body such as written about in 2 TM 2:21. Also, the Programmers intentionally & zealously prevent the deeper alters from wanting to love as 1 COR 13 describes.

PHYSICAL ASPECTS of the human BRAIN.

Neurobiologists and chemists have learned a great deal about the physical aspects of the brain. One has to be careful about simplification. The concept of the split brain has been over simplified, because the best researchers on the two hemispheres know that there is constant interplay between the brain's two halves--unless the Illuminati have tampered with someone's brain. The split brain concept has been replaced with the Penta-Brain (something akin to a pentagram). The Penta-Brain takes the triune-concept of the brain conceived by brain scientist Paul MacClean and adds it to the split brain hemispheres and the duality of the frontal-posterior dimension also. In this process, "mammalian" & "reptilian" brains (those parts of our brains that mammals & reptiles also have) are accessed and worked on in people.

The best description read by co-author Fritz of the intricate chemical changes that happen during Learning and Memory is a Special Report entitled "The Chemistry of Learning and Memory" Chemical & Engineering News, Oct. 7, 1991, pp. 24-41, by Karen J. Skinner, Yale Chemistry Ph.D. in '73, Masters from Kennedy School of Govt., Harvard. This is a very technical report. The programmers do not learn this material, but those who want to understand the nitty-gritty molecular-biology of how the complex memory processes work in the mind might want to try to study the report.

In very basic terms, what it is communicating is: Neurons (nerve cells--of which the brain has 10 billion) meet each other at junctions (gaps) called synapses. At the synapses (gaps), neurotransmitters allow them to communicate. There are 60 trillion synapses. As a person gathers information, the brain changes the synapses, in a sense rewires itself. Part of memory is how the brain "rewires" itself, to use a layman's term. Genetics have an important role in the initial hardwiring of the brain. Genetics also determine receptor diversity (at the synapses) which relates directly to learning & memory because it increases the ways neurons can perceive, process and recall information. The Hippocampus has been found to play a role in long term memory storage. The Hippocampus stores memory in the cortex to be encoded into long term memory. Numerous areas of the brain are busy with processing only one type of memory. In a macaque monkey, around two dozen distinct visual areas of the brain for memory storage have been discovered. In other reports, it has come out that memory is stored holographically. German researchers have been trying to figure out at the Max Planck Institute for Brain Research at Frankfurt, Germany what mechanism is used to bind the many various parts of information stored into a coherent recollection. The point that should be made at this point, is that an alter does not exist in one spot in the mind. The mind perceives that an alter does, but an alter in terms of physical change in the brain is actually a multitude of synaptic changes scattered throughout the brain. The brain's concept/image of an alter and the dissociated state can be played with by the programmers, but they really don't kill alters like they pretend to do during programming. Alters can't be "killed" in the mind. As the mind consolidates info, it fires neurons in harmony (in phase) called a "binding" process. Perceptions which are not memories are initiated this way. It is these perceptions that exist without memories that are so important to the programmers. Some have called these perceptions "global unity" of the brain. These are in phase frequencies from 40 to 70 Hz. NMDA receptors can perceive patterned firings from nerve cells that are active at the same time, which allows the brain to strengthen some synapses and let others grow weaker. Synaptic efficacy is called LTP. Interested readers can study LTP's molecular mechanism, etc. in Karen Skinner's Report.

Changing subjects slightly, let's discuss how Moriah fertilizes two zygotes and intentionally kills one of the twins in the womb. Studies have shown that in cases where one twin dies in the womb, the other twin usually tries to lead two lives. This has nothing to do with DID (MPD), except that the surviving twin will later be made into a programmed multiple. The Illuminati doctors have perfected a method to kill a developing twin so that the other engulfs it in the womb. This is skillfully done, and creates some interesting mental changes in the survivor. Moriah also believes that it endows the survivor with twice the spiritual power.

GENETIC ENGINEERING to CREATE PROGRAMMED ASSASSINS

This next section is somewhat of an appendix to this chapter. Readers may want to skip it, if readers are only wanting to just learn HOW the mind-control is done. However, we felt that since genetic engineering went hand-in-hand with Moriah's mind-control that a look at one specific type of military mind-control model would be worthwhile for some readers.

An example of how genetic engineering is couple with the trauma-based mind-control is Amphibious Man, a particular top secret model of Monarch slave. The following section is taken from an earlier article by Fritz on this. As far as we know, this was the first and only article ever written on the subject (not counting classified secret documents).

When the public saw the British Royal Navy locate the sunken Lusitania in 1935 using the Iron Man Diving Suit, the British Royal Navy told the public that it had no interest and no use for the suit. The Royal Navy lied about the Iron Man Diving Suit that, "no use could be made of it as the Navy [had] no requirements for deep diving." The Royal Navy had no use for deep diving! Do you swallow that? That's a bold enough lie to drown on. They had just used it to locate the Lusitania! The lesson here is that when the World Order is using a particular advanced technology, they will tell the public that they have no interest in it.

The British, American and German navies continued after W.W.I to do research beyond what the public knew they were interested in. While the public thought that Aquaman was simply a comic idea--the research went on to develop the ability for humans to swim like fish. When the World Order has discovered a technological breakthrough they pretend that they are still researching the basic concept. Often they prepare the public for their inventions via science fiction novels and movies. The reasons include their need to avoid the future shock that can incapacitate a people.

If the reader has gone fishing, she or he may be familiar with how fish can breathe in the air, they don't die automatically. They have gills which are designed to take oxygen from water, but their gills do absorb some oxygen from the air, enough to keep them alive on land for a while, so that if they are left on the bank after being caught they may jump back into the water and escape. Likewise, people don't automatically die from drowning. Near drown victims have been recovered after 40 minutes of being immersed in cold water. However, normal humans do not survive breathing water as well as fish breathe air. There are some animals though which can breathe both air and water, amphibians.

Over the years, the New World Order has secretly developed the ability to create a subspecies of people who can swim and breathe water.

Recently, the Oregonian newspaper (July 28, 1995) Arts & Entertainment Guide, p. 22, ran an article entitled "Brave New Waterworld". This is an example of a fictional supposedly futuristic setting for a movie about a technology they already possess. The movie Waterworld is the most expensive film made recently. It is estimated that it cost between $140 million to $200 million to make it. One of the main characters in the movie is Mariner, who is a human who has been genetically changed to have gills behind his ears. As mentioned already, they use movies like this to convince people that their present technology is only something of the future, while still preparing people mentally to accept it. That way the culture is not overwhelmed if they encounter the technology in the near future.

When secret researchers discovered that a particular chemical(s) added to the bloodstream would enable the human lungs to take oxygen and remove carbon dioxide from water, they had the ability to have men swim in water like fish without scuba gear. Now they needed to cover their tracks, so National Geographic Society (which has great respectability in the public's eye) has written about experiments to find a way for men to breathe water. In the National Geographic book Exploring the Deep Frontier The Adventure of Man in the Sea, published in 1980, they show a GE experiment on pg. 248. The picture's caption reads, "To dive like a whale and breathe like a fish: Scientists search for ways to increase man's freedom and range in the sea. In a tank at a General Electric research laboratory (right) fish swim past a parakeet separated from their watery world by a transparent membrane. Watertight but porous, the membrane allows oxygen and carbon dioxide to pass in and out. Equipped with artificial gills, man may one day breathe liquid while diving."

The example here is that they cover their tracks when they make a discovery by setting up experiments that are allowed to be published that make it look like they are only beginning to understand the subject. Bear in mind, the Allies captured secret Nazi German records, and the Germans did not research using parrots--they used live but expendable people. The Nazis were not above injecting drugs that induce respiratory paralysis or other responses and testing how the person's body would respond to drowning. I would suggest that they analyzed O_2 contents in the human guinea pigs with mass spectrometers. The paperwork of the secret Nazi research projects that the Navy confiscated at the end of W.W. II, would provide a better picture of what was researched and discovered.

The National Geographic article admitted that they had a membrane through which a parrot could get oxygen via the water around it. Now, logic would tell you that if they have a membrane that will allow a parrot to breathe surrounded by water that the technical difficulties of adapting this to a person can be easily overcome--so the concept of gills for people is quite achievable--however, the ability for humans to directly breathe from water is already achievable due to some other advances they have already used secretly for years.

In order to capitalize on their discovery of how to create Amphibious Man, military minds in the Illuminati went to work trying to think up schemes on how to use men who can swim like fish to their own evil advantages. Here is a discovery that could benefit mankind and yet they are thinking of ways to use it for evil. They basically realized that amphibious man could be used like a glorified Seal team. Seal teams are the navy's semi-secret group of well-trained men, who do primarily land operations after swimming ashore. Monarch slaves are being used in the Seal teams. The Seal teams are being secretly used to carry out assassinations, such as recently they were used to assassinate people in Iraq. They are trained in the ability to land and disguise themselves as natives and carry out illegal assassination work during times of peace. For missions like this only programmed slaves will work, because they need to erase their memories. Seal teams are located around the world, especially in the San Diego HQ area. The Seals were originally given dolphins to train and communicate with via clickers but these were turned over the EOD (the navy's ordinance group) so that the dolphins can be used to disarm mine fields or carry explosives. The comic book scenario of Aquaman with dolphins is not fiction anymore. The Seals use SDV (Deep Vehicles) which are tight fitting 4-person minisubs to submerge deep into the water, before swimming with gear.

The name which is being used world-wide by people familiar with the concept of men swimming like fish is "amphibious man". There are groups secretly world-wide working on the use of this new sub-species of man. They are genetically trying to engineer new skin and other parts of the human body to make people more suitable for living underwater. In line with this, men, like Frenchman Jacques Rougerie, have been designing and building Aqua-cities so that people could live underwater and have industry such as fish farming to sustain themselves economically. Special "geothermal" generators would help generate heat for the Aqua-cities.

Amphibious man is alive and well today. Understand that the people who are being genetically engineered by the Illuminati are also being raised under their mind-control. The structures of their alter systems are very complex on Amphibious Man models, because so much secrecy is riding on these slaves. The internal systems of these slaves are booby trapped every which way so that no tampering can be attempted, plus the design work on these Systems is some of the best. Things are tied together like a jigsaw puzzle.

Fritz's Summer '95 newsletter, revealed for the first time that today, there are genetically engineered Amphibious men who are able to swim underwater without air tanks.

There were a number of difficulties that the elite's scientists had to overcome to create Amphibious man. Scientists had the benefit of being able to make lots of comparisons between various animals. Some animals can use water, some water and air, and some just air. There are many other comparisons that have been used in underwater research. In almost every physical aspect related to animals living underwater there are differences between various animals which can be compared so that the technical feature which allows one animal to do something underwater that another species can't can be identified. Once the feature is identified, then research can begin on how to obtain this feature for human swimmers. For instance, one type of snake (the pelagic yellow-bellied sea snake) which breathes air, can under optimum conditions stay underwater indefinitely. Turtles have an incredible tolerance for anoxia, in comparison to other reptiles, which go underwater. And sea turtles have the best tolerance of all the various turtles. This is the type of difference that lends itself to comparison research.

Underwater comparison research had already begun clear back in 1869, when Paul Bert examined the differences between domestic chickens and mallard ducks. Doing comparisons it is easy to find out that birds and mammals which dive have greater storage in their bodies for O_2 than humans. The Japanese Ama divers were studied in the early 1930s by German underwater researchers. However, the public has been told that very little research in this area occurred until the 1960s. Kooyman, Gerald L. Diverse Divers Physiology and Behavior. Berlin, Ger.: Springer-Verlag, 1989, p. 33 states, "Little further experimental work was done on the subject of gas exchange in human breath-hold divers until the early 1960s." Can you believe that the British, Germans and Americans didn't research such an important underwater subject for 30 years? Yes, they did continue frantic secret research, and they eventually learned how to solve a number of undersea problems facing humans.

First, the regulation of respiration is carried out by what is called the Chemoreceptors which are carotid and aortic bodies which detect the changes in the partial pressures of oxygen and carbon dioxide in the blood. The CO_2 break point mechanism is sensitive to a number of phenomena, which can prevent it from protecting a person. When a person breaths, he has an ingassing and an outgassing of oxygen, carbon dioxide, nitrogen, and other gasses. The levels of each of these gasses and their nature are important factors in how a person's body underwater functions or dies. If the level of CO_2 gets too high, the person can become unconscious. The human circulatory system has to be changed to be able to adapt to the ocean environment.

In dealing with men swimming underwater all the laws of gasses that regular divers have to deal with still apply to Amphibious Man--such as Amonoton's law, Boyle's Law, Charles Law, Henry's Law, and Haldanian's Theory on gas absorption and elimination by body tissues.

Blood glucose is the only source for carbon when humans dive, which forces muscles to rely primarily on anaerobic glycolysis. This means that oxygen depletion is not the only major problem for those who hold their breath and swim. Blood glucose levels must be attained for underwater swimmers that will sustain activity. Breathing water must assure the proper functioning of the circulatory system.

The high salinity of sea water causes hypertonic reactions in the lungs. Fresh water has too little salt in relation to the human blood & it causes hypotonic reactions. Either way, the water (either fresh or salt) causes the alveolar tissue to damage and the body begins leaking proteins out of the mouth.

Secret naval intelligence researchers tied to the Illuminati studied what happens underwater to the heart rate, cardiac output and stroke volume, blood pressure and flow, the various important organs and the human brain, the muscles and bones and venous circulation, the hemoglobin affinity for O_2, the effect of being submersed on blood gases, how oxygen is stored, and how hemoglobin concentrates in the body.

Another advancement was to discover how to manipulate the genetic codes for the growth of skin, so that very dense skin could be created. The genetics for all types of animals have been spliced and diced and all of weird humans and creatures have been created. Many are freaks and serve the NWO no benefit. One of the big underground facilities for genetic research is Area 51, which is also close to San Diego, where the Seal Teams are HQ. Area 51 is also an important mind-control programming center.

Fritz's June-July-August Newsletter '95 further discussed the underwater bases, underwater supply depots, underwater mining research, undersea warfare systems, Tektite II, the mind-control research during the Conshelf underwater living experiment, the U.S. Navy underwater research ship the Eagle, Scripps Institution of Oceanography and the Physiological Research Laboratory for Naval Intelligence use, underwater research by Rothschild and Bowers, Remote Controlled Vehicles (RCVs), & CURV (cable-controlled Underwater Recovery Vehicle), and special underwater tools such as the hydraulic underwater saw.

Mind Manipulation

This is a picture of one type of collar used in conjunction with behavior modification techniques to teach obedience to slaves. This collar is shown on a female. One effective device used on males is a battery operated apparatus made of leather and steel which fastens around the legs of the male victim and electroshocks the penis in the urethra canal via an electrode. A programmer can stand at a distance and carry out aversion therapy via a transmitter that triggers the excruciatingly painful shock to the victim, until the correct programming is learned.

THE SCIENCE OF MIND MANIPULATION BY PSYCHOLOGICAL PROGRAMMING METHODS: BEHAVIOR MODIFICATION, PSYCHOLOGICAL MOTIVATION & NLP

One way to explain how the slaves are conditioned is to relate an episode where the two authors observed a Satanic family carrying out conditioning to reinforce their children's mind control as their family "ate" at a restaurant. After relating this interesting incident, the chapter will cover the various psychological methods used to condition slaves.

OBSERVATIONS OF A SATANIC FAMILY CARRYING OUT MONARCH CONDITIONING ON THEIR CHILDREN.

The husband of the family was about 28 and the wife was about 26. A young man (perhaps an uncle of the children) about 25 also sat at the table with them. The family had 5 children, ranging from about 1 1/2 years old to about 7 years old. During the entire time we watched them, which was over an hour, we never saw one act of love, not one act of nurturing on the part of the parents. Everything was programming, programming and more programming.

The husband had an attitude of control over his children. He was a young somewhat wild cock-sure type. From piecing together things it was clear that he made a good salary and that he and his wife enjoyed profanity. His wife had the most dead looking eyes we have ever seen in a person. She looked every bit the part of a Satanic priestess of the worst type. The young man of about 25 had very large knife hidden on his back that we noticed only by close observation of his movements. Although it was 1 o'clock, the adults were calling their meal "breakfast."

The main male child was about 5 years old. He had an older sister and two younger sisters, and they all had a baby brother. During the entire time that the family was there, the children ate almost nothing. The 5 yr. boy munched on a watermelon rind, trying to draw some sustenance from it. Part of mind control is depriving the body of food. The poor children never once asked for anything; that is a clue that something wasn't normal.

During most of the time that the family was in the restaurant, the mother and father took turns shooting one question after another at the five year boy. The questions were like: What is the capital of Florida? What is the 70th element on the periodical chart? What are the names of the first five presidents? What is the square root of 121? The boy would roboticly answer each question successfully. The questions were not questions but programming and commands. The mother sternly said, "What make of car was that? That's a question." (Actually what she was saying was a command.) Around this time they said, "Wake up, wake up, wake up." (hypnotic command.)

A couple which was in the restaurant was watching how obedient the children were, and they were also overhearing how excellent this little boy could answer difficult rapid-fire questions. They were impressed and the lady came over to tell the parents how wonderful their family was. After oodling for 10 minutes over how great this family was the woman went on to other things. It was difficult for both of us watching to stomach the compliments this stranger was giving to these parents. The natural impulse was to get her to shut up her compliments. She naively made all these compliments little knowing, that these parents were practicing one of the most hideous if not the most hideous type of mind control invented.

Asking questions rapid fire is another mind-control technique. In fact, all of the elements of what Fritz watched at the table that day were practiced on Fritz, the co-author, when he was in Beast Barracks at West Point, USMA.

The little girl was repeating her programming, "I don't have anything inside me." She was actually singing it. One of the girls had different alters coming out and was having a conversation with herself between different alters (personalities). She placed her hand over her temple in scarecrow fashion (Wizard of Oz) programming. Her head movement was a dead giveaway to those of us familiar with Monarch programming.

The parents had chosen the spot to eat because of the large surreal picture above them on the wall with blue & red flowers, water and mountains. The picture was acting as a scrambling-scattering mechanism, when the boy studied the picture, which he did for the longest time in a trance.

The middle girl was dropping crayons into a styrofoam cup and saying "get into the fire." Then she would say "I'm purple." "I'm pink." "I understand your purple." "I understand you're pink." "Get out of here for a minute." What she was doing was giving the crayons personalities. In the Monarch programming, the person is totally dehumanized so that some alters think they are ribbons, some monkeys, some clowns, some dolls, some trees, some lions or tigers, etc. The sexual alters are often programmed to think of themselves as cats and butterflies. While the girl was coloring, her father reached over the table without warning and took her colors, "You don't deserve these colors and I should have taken them away before now." The girl had done nothing wrong. This is part of mind control. The person learns that there isn't a right or wrong only that they must be obedient. The little girl did not even respond when her colors were yanked away.

When the mom talked to them, she said "children"--she never once personalized things.

The parents began another programming session and said something like, "I will spank you. If you don't count then you can be spanked, we will count 20 times." The constant double messages were obviously breaking down the children to think as programmed rather than respond like normal people to the outside world.

The woman turned to her little baby and said, "Tell daddy good-bye". When the child waved good-bye, the woman snapped, "Your not going anywhere." This serves to create confusion. Then she kissed him and said, "Baby, do you want a picture?"

We decided to say something to them, and we did so in the form of a compliment about their children. Neither parent showed any pride in the children when the earlier lady had gushedly complimented the children, nor when we complimented them with a sentence. Instead, when we complimented the children, the father began shooting off a series of difficult questions to the boy. This was simply more programming, but apparently he must have thought that we'd be impressed with the boy's ability to answer difficult questions that seemed way beyond what many teenagers would know.

Two strange things happened during the course of our verbal interaction with this satanic family. First, the waitresses had given the family free ice cream coupons, but the parents gave them to us without the children even batting an eyelid. Second, I asked the father what the age of his children were and he didn't know, or acted like he didn't know. Then he blurted out, they are 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 years old. His wife knew that that answer must have looked bogus to us, and she reprimanded him, "You don't even know the age of your children." To which he replied, "Yes, they are 2, 3, 4, 5, and 6." He second answer was equally implausible, but his wife didn't protest, and the poor mind controlled children were experiencing just one more element of Satanic mind-control. They are not even allowed to realize how old they are. Dates, and times, and ages are kept very confused in the children's minds for secrecy and control. Not only that, but by giving a hypnotic induction "1, 2, 3..." the father had lowered each of the alters which were holding the bodies of his children into a deeper trance. With these alters tranced, another word from the father could have easily pulled up other alters.

OTHER ITEMS THAT PARENTS DO TO THEIR MONARCH CHILDREN

Double bind communication is commonly given multiples by all of their abusers. Some of these double binds are well thought out and some just occur due to the craziness of the entire thing. For instance, in ritual or programming, the child may have the option to stab or be stabbed. In fighting the programming, if an alter goes toward health, the programmers have set in a booby-trap. Which evil does the slave live with--the lies of the programming or the lies of the external world? How does one tell the truth to a therapist, when the therapist is not capable of hearing the truth, and yet still demands to be told the truth? Yes, double-binds abound.

Another trick is to alternate leniency with harshness. This trick is done in the military also, and has been worked with success by the Chinese government upon the people of Red China. When leniency is alternated with kindness, the effect is devastating and disconcerting because the person looses the ability to predict what is going to happen. Everyone likes to control his or her life. Predicting what is going to happen is part of a person's mind gaining control over their environment. Even that control is stripped from a slave. They soon learn to quit trying to protect themselves, and they quit trying to think for themselves but docilely submit to whatever fate assigns them. The mind can't figure life out, so it quits trying to understand life, and just fatally submits.

Dr. Green (Mengele) was very gentle when drawing blood, and he was very gentle when giving the children X-rays. He would sweet talk them and give candy. But he was very sadistic when he'd follow this up with abuse. The programmers have preferred to be inconsistent with the children like this. Soon the child doesn't know what hate and love are anymore. The person, who claims he loves them, gives them torture or abandons them to be tortured by someone else.

A third trick is to give the victim monotonous tasks, such as chanting or copying long amounts of written material. This helps prod the dissociation, and is a torture that doesn't leave marks.

AN OVERVIEW

All of the elements of mind control are incorporated into the Monarch program. If a person surveys what the everyday cult mind control which is NOT part of total Monarch mind-control looks like, you will find the same elements of everyday cult control also are employed at various places within the Monarch programming of a person's alter system. (This didn't happen by accident either, the Illuminati have examined all these lesser cults to see what they could borrow for their own mind control.)

Some of the elements which the Monarch program shares with other typical types of cult mind control are:

1. THE NEEDS OF INDIVIDUALS ARE PROMISED TO BE MET, BUT ARE IGNORED FOR GROUP GOALS.

The Illuminati handler (master) will promise to meet individual needs of alters, but these needs are ignored for group goals. For instance, certain Monarch alters of a person's system may be told they have no faces and no hearts. They are programmed not to see their faces and not to hear any heart beat. If a pulse monitoring machine is hooked up to the alter, the alter will go into a trance. For instance, the handler might promise faces and hearts but will never give them to the Monarch slave when he could. The promise is a control mechanism.

2. ISOLATION FROM THE WORLD, SO THAT THE ONLY REALITY IS THE LEADER'S REALITY. The Illuminati isolates the slave so new ideas are available or allowed except their cult leader's ideas. "Whatever the Papa Bear [master] says is reality." Each alter will only communicate with a few other alters. What this does is divide the person from their own parts. The will and mind is broken so that there is no organized resistance, nor any access to other alters who might know something. The slave will often be denied mother, grandmother, grandfather, aunts, sisters, children, grandchildren, & friends. They will be deprived of all naturally occurring relationships via the mind control. This doesn't they mean exist in a vacuum, it means that the handlers will prevent natural relationships to develop. Isolation is very key→→and parts are made to feel like animals rather than people to isolate them from humanity. No ideas are allowed the slave to confront their programmer's lies. They are programmed to hate Christ and the God of the Bible, so that they are isolated from the true God and His abundant spiritual resources.

3. THE PERSON'S SENSE OF IDENTITY IS LOST. The Monarch slave lose his/her sense of self to the cult and to the person's master. No sense of where I begin & end, and where the Master begins and ends. The Monarch programming goes beyond what many cult have done, the alters are hypnotized to not see their faces, which is part of their identity.

4. ALTERED STATES & HYPNOSIS IS USED. The handlers/programmers use hypnotic techniques. They induce dissociation by songs, chanting, guilt inducing sessions, torture, isolation, as well as using songs, repeating triggers 3X, and lots of hypnosis.

5. A SENSE OF PEACE IS INDUCED, ESPECIALLY WHEN ONE MERGES WITH WHOEVER IS LEADING. THE HEAD OF THE CULT WILL TAKE CREDIT FOR WHAT THE SLAVE IS. They induce a sense of peace leading to the fantasy of merging with leader, often suggested by leader. Then the victim has the abuser placed internally in them. For example, the master may say he was one with the slave and that he "created" the slave. The handler will claim to be God.

6. OUT OF BODY EXPERIENCES. Out of body experiences (O-B-E's) are induced by the torture & Illuminati training, as well as splits.

7. SENSORY BOMBARDMENT & FATIGUE. Sensory bombardment used, such as prolonged sleep deprivation, environmental control, and love bombing. Cages, love bombing of certain alters, and a sterile nursery/toddler room are employed.

8. CRITICAL THINKING AND DISAGREEING WITH THE LEADER IS FORBIDDEN. The slave must suspend ability to think critically or disagree with leader. The slave must never question the Master (also called the handler), never get angry at the handler, or else the slave wants to be punished. The slave must always obey or pay with pain. The alters are splintered from others so can't use their information for analysis.

9. The slave must reorganize reality through identification with aggressor (Illuminati master). Strong identification is created with the master. The slave is programmed to protect the master.

10. Individual sees locus (location) of control with the Master and the Illuminati rather than self. Programming overrules self.

11. Black and white thinking is created by the programming.

Many of the Gnostic cults (see the Fritz's Be Wise As Serpents book for an examination of what a Gnostic cult is) have employed these tactics. People in the Jehovah's Witnesses and CUT, which are Gnostic cults, as well as members of many other groups--such as the CIA will recognize that these methods were used on them. (The CIA is in reality just another cult, and an Illuminati-controlled cult at that.)

ISOLATION

For children who are being taken out of Day Care Centers and programmed without their parents knowledge, they will be isolated from their real parents. The abusers will tell the children that they are actually the "real parents" and that they intend to come and take the child away from its parents later. They will make the innocent child feel like it is cut off and rejected by everyone including the world at large. In a sense, this is true, because the child is expected to endure the most horrible abuse and yet has no one to talk to. Feelings of isolation and despair take control over the child's mind. These ways of thinking are also spiritually enhanced by rituals to bring in demonic spirits that will help insure the child is dominated by feelings of hopelessness.

During the entire life of the slave, the handlers and programmers are always trying to sow distrust in the victim. The programming is often designed to sow distrust in everyone on the outside except the godlike figure the Master. Even the Master is not trusted so much as feared and obeyed by the slave.

The slave is also subjected to isolation as a child being placed into freezers, closets, dark rooms, boxes and isolation tanks. Sensory deprivation is a serious thing, that has been discovered to cause people to hallucinate. The brain goes into an altered state just from sensory deprivation. Polar explorers who see only white for days on end must deal with this danger.

HANDWRITING MODIFICATION

Psychology developed over the years a number of projective, objective and subjective tests of personality. Ludwig Klages (of Germany), H.J. Eysenck (of England), and M.N. Bunker (of the U.S.) are some of the notable researchers who took handwriting analysis out of the occult realm and into the scientific realm. (The co-author, Fritz, happens to be a certified Graphoanalyst through IGAS, who has done Graphoanalysis professionally. IGAS has strict standards not to allow members to do anything associated with the occult, but insists they keep their work on a scientific basis.)

When a person writes, he will use about 200 separate muscles in the hand, arm, and body. The mind coordinates all these muscle movements. A good handwriting analyst has about 800 different things that he can look for in a sample of handwriting, such as how hard did the writer write with his instrument, how big, where did he start on the paper, how did he cross his "t" etc. In other words, the mind in order to write had to make hundreds of decisions within seconds. There are too many decisions to make them all the decisions consciously. This is why document examiners can authenticate signatures. Most of the many decisions as one writes are done subconsciously, and the decisions are influenced by state of mind, personality, the state of the physical body, and the environment.

The good handwriting analyst is able to work backwards. Why was the decision made to make the capital P look like an L? Why did the person start their writing half-way into the paper and waste half the piece of paper? Through scientific studies and observations, a vast wealth of understanding has developed by graphologists about why certain decisions are made. Some graphologists use a wholistic method, others like graphoanalysts, analyze each stroke. Both methods will give the same results if the handwriting analyst is skilled at applying the principles of graphology.

Handwriting analysis has not gotten the credibility it deserves, in part, because it is such a powerful diagnostic tool, the intelligence agencies have wanted to keep it to themselves. However, the nation of Israel, uses handwriting analysis to hire with, and a high percentage of the businesses use it in hiring also. The nation of Israel has had a high rate of success with handwriting analysis.

How does handwriting analysis play a part in the mind control? Several ways. A number of the programmers are skilled in handwriting analysis. They are well aware that the abuse of their slaves will show in the handwriting. Through behavior modification (usually torture) the front alters are trained to write in a fashion that hides the abuse. The abuse will show in the handwriting of most of the alters, so many of them are programmed not to read or write. This is why some of the child alters will have older alters write for them.

The programmers were also aware of how the mind heals/changes itself via handwriting therapy. If the mind will place enough energy into writing a particular way--it will go ahead and put enough energy into becoming what it writes. In other words, if I am lazy, but I get determined enough to focus the brain so that it doesn't make handwriting strokes that indicate laziness, then my brain will also change its lazy attitude in other ways. In other words, I can begin to change a personality trait by working on the handwriting decisions that stem from that trait. The programmers can and do help modify their slaves' personalities this way.

They of course will employ a number of personality changing techniques as a group package. The goal is to bring as much pressure to bear as possible to get the original trait modified. This will be done in accordance with the programming goals for the various alters within a system. Remember, some alters need to be outgoing and other reticent, some melancholic, and others sanguine or choleric. The programmers know what they want and how to modify what they have to get the temperament and personality traits they want.

BEHAVIOR MOD (MODIFICATION)

Behavior modification comes in various packages. One package has been called ELT (Electrolytic Trtmt) developed by H.C. Tien.

One simple version of behavior mod is to find out what someone has done which is good, and praise and reinforce that behavior. Then state the goal. And then continue to reinforce promptly the good things the person is doing. The goal in mind must be measurable. An example of this, might be for a handler to praise his kitten and to purchase it nice things if a client is satisfied with the sexual service he got. The reinforcement needs to be soon, and appropriate.

"Thinking behavior" is a term that behavior mod scientists use. "Adverse conditioning" is another. Anectine, which paralyzes the body and makes one think they are suffocating, can be used for aversion conditioning. The victim is told not to do a particular behavior or else experience discomfort.

When behavior modification is done in programming, you can be sure that there is paper work done to chart the progress. Rather than worry about what a person is thinking, the behaviorist charts a person's behavior and then gives reinforcements of correct behavior (or the opposite adverse rewards of punishment) to modify it. Victims are conditioned to carry out certain behaviors.

If an alter does something wrong, there is an immediate consequence set up for it. Soon it is conditioned not to do what the programmer doesn't want.

The behavior mod scientists believe that creativity can be controllable. When a child creates a new form he is rewarded. Soon the child learns to create.

Illuminati Delta-Beta alters will be trained in espionage. They will be trained to recognize a person's physical identity instantly. One method of training which has been used is to teach people to remember reflexively rather than analytically. Thousands of faces or thousands of license plates, or whatever are flashed on a screen, and when a repeat is shown the person must press a button. If a mistake is made, the slave is treated to a nasty little shock. After a while a person develops the correct reflexes. Slaves are being trained in recognition from the time they are small children, this is important so that they can build their internal worlds with mirror images and other confusing things.

The following "deeper" programming is an example of classical conditioning. The child's hand is cut so that the child goes into a trance of shock, and then each time they use the word "deeper" they cut deeper to enhance the shock/trance state. By pairing the word with this trauma, when they are through, the word "deeper- asleep" will throw some alters instantly into a very deep trance.

PSYCHOLOGICAL MOTIVATION

When a person has been knocked down and degraded, traumatized by poor sleep and little food and water, he is more susceptible to suggestion. He can then be told that he himself is the cause for his own degradation. If he just behaves betters, his treatment will improve. When the person accepts his guilt for the bad situation he is in, then the programmers give a target for the blame--God, country, or whatever the person had depended upon. The programmer then aggravates these hostile feelings, and keeps nurturing them until the person is livid with anger toward the object of blame. The victim is coached to project their blame onto this target of blame. When this is accepted, the conditions for the victim improve. Once the person has targeted their blame, then the Programmer becomes the friend to help one fight the evil target. Anything and everything is rationalized in this "All becomes fair in war." Enemies are easy to create. People readily accept them. The intelligence community has long played on people's fears about communism. People might be shocked to realize that this was one of Hitler's favorite methods to recruit loyalty from people. It is why the Nazi's secretly burned down the Reichstag, and then blamed the communists. The Illuminati are masters at making Christianity the fault for everything from homosexual suicide to the world wars.

NEURO-LINGUISTIC PROGRAMMING

NLP means Neuro-Linguistic Programming, which are practical communication skills. Programmers were using NLP before it became known as NLP in 1976. Some NLP techniques are obvious truths, and some are more subtle truths in dealing with human nature. NLP can be more of an art, than a science.

One of the truths in NLP is "Everyone lives in their unique reality built from their sense impressions and individual experiences of life, and we act on the basis of what we perceive our model of the world." (O'Connor, Joseph & John Seymour. Introducing NLP. San Francisco, CA: Aquarian Press, 1993, p.4.) That is why alters have their worlds created by their programmers, and then the occult alters are indoctrinated with satanic beliefs. (Chap. 11 Part A deals with this indoctrination.)

Let's list some other "assumptions" that NLP practitioners believe in without explaining them:

- Almost all communication is non-verbal.
- Knowledge of content is not required to make behavioral changes.
- Our internal representation of the world is not the world but only our own feeble map of it. The map is not the territory.
- People will choose predicates which correspond to what representational system they are using, and which one they choose can be seen from eye accessing cues.

If one studies NLP, one will find that NLP books such as Basic Techniques Book II by Clifford Wright, teach people how to create dissociative states which are alternate personalities, and that they teach people how to develop different states of mind, and pseudo multiple personalities. It is difficult to express all the different cross-overs that NLP has with Monarch Programming, but at different times the concepts of NLP certainly would be helpful to the handlers. However, it must be stressed that NLP IS NOT Monarch Programming.

One of NLP's suggestions is that a person assess their "present state" and their "desired state." This simply common sense suggestion is often carried out during programming. The Programmer will tell the victim WHAT KIND of alters they want produced and HOW MANY when they begin the torture. The motivation to do this is also suggested by NLP and is accomplished by the programmers threats to the person's life, and by the person's desire to be free of pain and torture.

Milton Erickson's work on altered states has been picked up by NLP. Likewise, at least part of the programming hypnosis is based on Erickson's ideas.

CLUES FOR OBSERVING A VICTIM

Lateral Eye Movement (LEM) can be a useful skill to the programmer. Monarch victims are sometimes programmed so that the real LEM is not done publicly by the victim, to prevent people from getting visual clues as to what is going on in their mind. A person who is thinking in visual images will generally speak more quickly and at a higher pitch than someone who is not. These types of clues help the Programmers be more skilled, but it isn't a necessity.

ANCHORS

NLP researchers have noticed that people have emotional states in which the entire body will take up a posture in carrying it out. Memories can come into a person that causes the body to take up the negative states again.

The NLP practitioners have developed language which includes such terms as Anchors, emotional states, and triggers. These words are used to describe ideas that have long been in use.

For instance, let's say that when you heard a particular song at some point in your life you were having a good time (emotional state). Now that every time you receive a trigger to that memory, such as the song, you regain that good feeling that is attached to the memory of the song. Every time you hear the song, you feel good, which then in turn, continues to act as reinforcement of the association of a good feeling to the song. A stimulus that is linked to and triggers a physiological state or emotional state is called an anchor.

Our lives are filled with naturally occurring anchors, such as our favorite childhood smells, or the alarm clock. One of the Illuminati kingpins in Germany, a Krupp, liked the smell of manure, and built his house so he could smell horse manure all day.

NLP is the art of building associations with an anchor. A past emotion can be linked to something today. If a person is afraid of public speaking, then a good feeling can be linked to giving talks. The skilled programmer will anchor an emotion with several sense cues--including auditory, visual, and touch.

The person visualizes an emotional state from the past. When the state is reaching its peak, the anchor is placed in. The anchor needs to be unique, distinctive, & easy to repeat in the exact form that it was done. Much of the trauma-based programming is actually setting anchors using extreme trauma. When the anchors are tested (fired), if the emotional state is pulled up, then the anchors have worked.

Firing two separate anchors at once is called collapsing anchors. Two separate states can be fired at once. There is a methodology for collapsing anchors together.

FUTURE PACING

Future pacing can be used to help program a person toward his occupational objective which was charted for the victim when they were small. Future pacing is a mental rehearsal that is practiced in the imagination so that the person can deal with some future challenge. Expectations can often become self-fulfilling prophecies.

NLP also is used to teach people how to learn. It teaches people to learn a variety of methods for a single skill. However, this type of self-help info is not freely given to the slave. It might be used if the programmers needed to develop the person hypnotically in a certain direction.

PACING FOR HYPNOSIS

Because Milton Erickson stands out as a genius among those who have used hypnosis, and people are still trying to figure out fully what he did, it is appropriate to mention his work. We don't know how these ideas of Milton Erickson's are used by the Programmers. We do know that the CIA has paid close attention to his ideas, and that some of the Programmers have some of the smoothest tongues. If there is some way to utilize Erickson's work to help control Mind-controlled slaves, then the Intelligence agencies have no doubt found it. On the flip side, several de-programmers used Ericksonian methods to unlock the programming of the people they want to help. What we describe in this section is just a small sampling of Erickson's methods.

Another type of NLP pacing besides the one just previously mentioned was developed by Milton Erickson. He would gain rapport with anyone by describing to them what they were feeling, hearing and seeing. He would induce a peaceful state by speaking slowly, using a soft tonality, and pacing his speech to the person's breath. Gradually hypnotic suggestions are introduced to lead them into what is called "downtime." He would gently encourage people with gentle suggestions such as, "It's easy to close your eyes whenever you wish to feel more comfortable..." But you may wonder how can anyone know what someone else is thinking? Erickson developed language that was vague enough for people to match their own thinking to what he described. He would use smooth transitional words such as "while", "and", and "as". The type of vague sentences he would say are "It is well known that people can read books and make changes."

Milton Erickson learned to distract the dominant brain hemisphere, and also speak in a complex way that all seven (plus or minus two parts of the conscious mind) would get engaged in trying to figure out what his ambiguous statements meant.

Milton found that he could say anything if he set it up in the context of someone else saying it. He also found that the unconscious mind does not process the linguistic negative. Rather than tell a child "Don't fall" tell it "Be careful."

REFRAMING WITH METAPHORS

Metaphors, some from Druidism or from some other occult teachings, are used by the Programmers. For instance, the seasonal changes that leaves on trees make is an example of a programming metaphor.

For those readers who don't know what reframing is, the following in the book Reframing, Neuro-Linguistic Programming and the Transformation of Meaning by Bandler and Grinder (Moab, UT: Real People Press, 1982) is an excellent story to explain it:

"A very old Chinese Taoist story describes a farmer in a poor country village. He was considered very well-to-do, because he owned a horse which he used for plowing and for transportation. One day his horse ran away. All his neighbors exclaimed how terrible this was, but the farmer simply said 'Maybe.'

"A few days later the horse returned and brought two wild horses with it. The neighbors all rejoiced at his good fortune, but the farmer just said 'Maybe.'

"The next day the farmer's son tried to ride one of the wild horses; the horse threw him and broke the leg. The neighbors all offered their sympathy for his misfortune, but the farmer again said 'Maybe.'

"The next week the conscription officers came to the village to take young men for the army. They rejected the farmer's son because of his broken leg. When the neighbors told him how lucky he was, the farmer replied, 'Maybe.'

The meaning of an event depends upon the FRAME we place upon it. Those frames are perceptions. Occult fairy tales are great for reframing events. A frog turns into a prince. Rudolf's embarrassing red nose becomes a guiding light to bring happiness to people.

Many of the common things in our everyday life are reframed by the Programmers to have hidden mind-control meanings. The Teddy Bear the child is given by her Daddy is to remind her how helpless she is to prevent him from raping her. The carousel toy is to remind the child of dissociation and the internal carousel built into the mind. Many of the things that parents, who are intentionally raising a programmed child, do, look nice on the outside unless one can reframe what they are doing in the context of total-mind-control based on trauma and fear.

Reframing can be done by collapsing anchors. For instance, the sober part of an alcoholic and the drunk state of the alcoholic are given the same anchor and then these are collapsed together to get the drunk to stay sober. The two states are taken in a process of integration for the reframing to occur. Reframing someone with MPD is almost impossible without integration, but reframing a particular alter with metaphors is not out of reach. The programmers have much more chance to reframe while they program than the therapist, because the programmers set in defensive programs to prevent other's from reframing.

POWER WORDS, REVERSALS, & PUNS

In NLP, 7 senses are taken into consideration. First we see, then we hear, and finally we have the senses of internal kinetics and our emotions. The Programmer also takes into consideration what are called "power words". Those are words which have specific meaning for the person.

The programmers also love to use reversals and puns, for instance in Disney's Ducktales the character says, "I stole 'em fair and square." Other typical reversals are "Life is death, and death is life", "Pain is love, and love is pain." Another example is one used on Cathy O'Brien, where the words "Service Entrance" were used to mean "Serve us. En-Trance." Naming an alter "Allison Wonderland" --a pun on Alice in Wonderland-- is another example of a programming pun. The programmers love to use these types of things.

THE MIND'S NATURAL ALARM CLOCK.

The programmer's have made use of the mind's natural ability to wake itself up like an "alarm clock" if it wants. Slaves may be given the coded message that the draconian enforcer will come by to pick them up at 1 a.m. The slave will automatically wake up in the middle of the night, and in a trance like a sleep walking, a deep LGP alter will take the slave out to the street to be picked up. Many slaves are being used at night without their families suspecting anything.

Sleeping patterns are also related to personality. REM sleep is believed to help restore the effectiveness of certain brain pathways in which norepinephrine is a transmitter substance. By programming different alters to have certain sleep patterns, their personalities can be adjusted. Of course this is done in conjunction with many other aspects of mind control.

The RIGHT BRAIN & the UNCONSCIOUS.

The Programmers are also aware that right-handed people use their left brain hemisphere for highly conscious processess which require good attention, focus & intentional decisions; while their right brain will tend to work on the unconscious & automatic chores. Split brain programming takes this contrast into account.

Spirit Manipulation

THE SPIRITUAL FOUNDATION FOR PROGRAMMING LAID BY THE PROGRAMMERS ARE THE GENERATIONAL SPIRITS WHICH ARE LAID IN THE WOMB & INTRODUCED TO THE CHILD WHEN VERBAL AS THE CHILD'S "FRIEND" & "SPIRIT GUIDE". A CLAN'S GUIDING SPIRIT IS ALSO CALLED A TOTEM. THE KEEPERS OR GUARDIANS PROTECT THE SPIRITS WITHIN AN ILLUMINATI SYSTEM. THERE WILL BE ONE ALTER WHICH KNOWS ALL THE DEMONS WHICH HAVE BEEN LAYERED IN.

FROM THE AGE OF FIVE, THE CHILD'S CULT PARTS WILL BE TAUGHT THE GENEALOGICAL HISTORIES OF THEIR SPIRIT GUIDES. AT THE AGE OF 12, SOME CANDIDATES FOR AMER. TRIBAL CHIEFS HAD TO WAIT IN THE WILD FOR THEIR TOTEM TO GUIDE THEM. THEY MUST REMAIN IN THE FOREST UNTIL THEIR GUIDING SPIRIT APPEARS. THIS IS WHY THE ILLUMINATI STUDY THE XIBALIAN MYSTERIES WRITTEN IN THE POPOL VUH.

THE 10th SCIENCE - USING SPIRITUAL THINGS TO CONTROL A PERSON.

Saving this chapter for last (of the mind, body, spirit chapters) is like saving the best wine for last. The authors know first hand that the Illuminati fears more than any other information getting out, that the spiritual aspects of programming would be revealed.

This chapter has been organized into the following parts: a. using spiritual principles against a person, b. how the Monarch program miniaturizes what is done on a larger scale, c. dehumanization, d. fear, e. the use of guilt, shame & ridicule & anger f. teaching that the master is God, g. portals, focal points, h. vows & oaths, i. the use of demon possession, layering etc., j. the use of angel alters, k. the use of Scripture, l. Theta programming.

The 10th science includes some of the most secret elements of the Monarch programming, and certainly some of the most controversial. Psychologists and psychiatrists are an unlikely group to delve into demonology, although there have been a number of studies done in this area. Six examples of such studies:

- Braude, S.E. (1988). "Mediumship and multiple personality." Journal of the Society for Psychical Research, 55, 177-195.
- Krippner, S. (1987). "Cross-cultural approaches to multiple personality disorder: Practices in Brazilian spiritism." Ethos, 15, 273-295.
- Rodgers, R.L. (1991). "Multiple personality and channeling." Jefferson Journal of Psychiatry, 9, 3-13.
- Rogo, D.S. (1987). "The spiritual side of multiple personality." In D.S. Rogo, The infantile boundary: A psychic look at spirit possession, madness, and multiple personality (pp. 243-246). New York: Dodd, Mead, and Co.
- Ronquillo, E.B. (1991). "The influence of 'Espiritismo' on a case of multiple personality disorder." Dissociation, 4, 39-45.
- Smith, R.D. (1981). "Hypnosis, multiple personality, and magic: A case study." Voices: the Art and Science of Psychotherapy, 17, 20-23.

The Gamma programming is the secret layering in of demons. However one wants to describe these demons--the victim has to deal with their "reality". The ceremonies to demonize the victim occur even before they are born. Generational spirits are very important to determine how the Programmers program a person. But this 10th science goes way beyond just demonology, because it deals with the fundamental issues that effect our views of God, our fellowship with Almighty God, and our view of the occult sciences of astral projection, ESP, telepathy, etc.

PART A. THE USE OF SPIRITUAL PRINCIPLES TO ISOLATE THE SYSTEM FROM GOD.

In the course of deprogramming Monarchs, and rubbing shoulders with programmers, it became clear that the programmers of the Monarch program are fully aware of the spiritual principles which are in operation for everyone. In 1930, a leader of one of the groups which today carries out trauma-based mind-control, wrote that the occult masters are not interested in uplifting the souls of men, but that "These Masters...have in reality no interest in soul or astral development, except as a means of forming passive illuminized tools, completely controlled in mind and actions." The Monarch victims of today are the tail end of centuries of efforts by the Kaballists, Freemasons, and the Illuminati adepts to completely control other human beings.

The following quote comes from a communist manual on how to brainwash a nation. It could just have well been written by Monarch Mind-Control Programmers.

"The first thing to be degraded in any nation is the state of Man, himself. Nations which have high ethical tone are difficult to conquer. Their loyalties are hard to shake, their allegiance to their leaders is fanatical, and what they usually call their spiritual integrity cannot be violated by duress. It is not efficient to attack a nation in such a frame of mind. It is the basic purpose of [mind-control] to reduce that state of mind to a point where it can be ordered and enslaved. Thus, the first target is Man, himself. He must be degraded from a spiritual being to an animalistic reaction pattern. He must think of himself as an animal, capable only of animalistic reactions. He must no longer think of himself, or of his fellows, as capable of 'spiritual endurance,' or nobility...

"As it seems in foreign nations that the church is the most ennobling influence, each and every branch and activity of each and every church, must, one way, or another, be discredited. Religion must become unfashionable by demonstrating broadly, through pyschopolitical indoctrination, that the soul is non-existent, and that Man is an animal."

Later this chapter will describe how a person is dehumanized.

One spiritual principle is that if you can get a person angry at God, you can get that person to commit any sin. Great effort is taken, via staged events to make the victim being programmed certain that God has rejected them. For instance, some victims had someone play God and walk away from them when they needed help in a life & death situation. The 1980 Hollywood movie Altered States, which is about a university professor in the 1960s who experiments with mind-altering drugs and sensory deprivation tanks, shows some scenes where God turns into a goat. Some of the religious scenes in this movie, match some of the anti-God/religious programming of some Monarch slaves. The Monarch slaves are repeatedly warned that God is cruel and judgmental, and that He wants to destroy them for the wicked things they have done. Bible verses that tell of the wrath of God & God's anger are read to the victim.

An example of how the slave is programmed to hate God will now be given. A hypnotic drug will be given the victim when they are about 6 years of age. This will relax the person and allow the programmers to take the child into the deepest trance, so that the programming will be sure to enter into the very fiber of the child's being. After several hours of being in a deep trance, as the drug begins to wear off, the child will be strapped very secure into a tight fitting coffin. A man with long white hair, and a long robe, with sandals, staff and a white robe will present himself before the child, and announce that he is "God the great I AM". Then "God" will look in a big book and announce he cannot find the person's name so he will have to send the person to hell for being bad. The coffin will then be lowered into a deep pit---like a mine shaft, and the victim will be told that when they can no longer hear God's voice that they will be a cat and not human. God can't find them in the book because they have no soul, and are a cat. Deeper and deeper the child is lowered. They are told this is the penalty for having tried to pray to God.

The programmers make sure that the slave is implicated in many gross sins, such as the murder of innocent children, in order to insure that the person is sure that God hates them. Then the victim is told that God is a consuming wrath who hates them. The injustice of God creating a world of suffering is also taught to the slave. All this is to insure that the victim hates God. That hatred toward God will express itself in the victim's system's willingness to do any sin, without conscience.

PART B. THE MONARCH PROGRAMMING IS A MINIATURIZATION OF WHAT WAS BEING DONE TO ENTIRE PEOPLES OR CITIES

Demons are attracted by the "scent" of people. We are made in the image of God, and we are attractive prey to those who hate God Almighty. Cities are magnets for demons.

When demons target a person or people, a common tactic is to make trouble for the person. When a person's problems reach a crescendo, they will be in a state of mind to grab any solution that is passing by. People then make pacts with demonic forces. They sell their souls hoping for relief from their problems. All this is clear as a bell to the spiritually enlightened, but the demonic forces are able to dull the senses of their victims to the point they no longer have the slightest realization that they have sold their souls. People make a choice to accept the falsehood offered by the demons for their relief, rather than stick with the truth which seems to hurt. The demonic lies may be that colds and flues are caused by evil spirits--when in reality they are caused by viruses and bacteria. Or the opposite type of lie may be given--that demonic forces have no influence over disease, that only viruses and bacteria exist. In Africa, modern medicine is often viewed as White Man's magic, because they fight disease with incantations which the demons have taught them to use to cure their problems.

Authority to demons is transferred to them by festivals, ceremonies and pilgrimages. Strong demonic manifestations usually occur around festivals, ceremonies, rituals and pilgrimages which are being done everyday around the world. These ceremonies and rituals are welcome mats for demonic forces giving them the right to rule. Every area of the world has them. And often demonic signs and wonders occur at these rituals and ceremonies.

The power of a lie has to be preserved and fueled by tradition, which is manifested via rituals. Without tradition the power of the lie would die out. If the tradition is being rejected by a people, the demons often augment it with "new" deceptions. The first lie doesn't stand a chance. The pre-existing bondage then is strengthened by new deceptions that seem more appropriate.

If you were asked now, "HOW DOES SATAN ENSLAVE PEOPLE?" you should know the answer because it was just given it to you.

The answer is Satan's control is trauma-based. A trauma is applied to the lives of people. They reach out for some type of answer to the trauma, and the demons offer some type of answer--so many Hail Marys, or so many sacrificed cats, or pray to some idol which is a disguised demon. The lies are turned into myths which the people believe. The myths are a blurring of reality which the people on one level may know are false, but their minds can't break loose of the power of the lie. The power of the myths are fueled by tradition and demonic manifestations and demonic attacks. Anyone who steps outside of the demonic lie is attacked. The people feel they are being personally attacked when their traditions are ignored. Because a people has willingly sacrificed the truth for the falsehood in their need for relief from their trauma, they have chosen to be deceived. This choice to be deceived has a great deal of spiritual power to it. They are no longer truth-lovers. It is not enough to come to these people with the truth. They have rejected the truth. They must at some point will to seek the truth again. These people can have all the proof shown to them about the truth, and they will continue to reject it. Their demonic bondage needs to be broken somehow.

This bondage can be broken in a number of ways. Pointing out the inadequacies of the lies is sometimes sufficient to break the demonic spell over people. But after the lies are broken, they need to be followed by the truth--and the love of truth.

The Monarch Mind Control programming is simply the sophisticated application of what has been done to humanity on a large scale being scaled down and applied to a single human body. Trauma and lies are used in the same way. The different alters sell their souls to the lies in return for their safety. A basic ingredient to the programming of a group of people (or a group of alters) is the same--trauma and fear.

The Land of Oz was ruled by a shadow-leader, the Wizard of Oz. Most countries are ruled by unseen people and unseen powers. The Wizard of Oz story is so representative of how life is for Satan's world. No wonder it is the programming base for so many Monarch mind-controlled slaves.

The solution to Satan's control, was that the disciples of Christ would be so united in love that the world would see the solution. "That they all may be one...that the world may believe." For the Monarch slaves, the therapists have wanted integration. For the world, Christ wanted integration. But there are formidable spiritual strongholds which divide us. These spiritual strongholds are far stronger than most Christians can imagine. The heartbeat of the Body of Christ is to bring all humanity to their Creator God. This can be done by breaking down all the lies and programming that separate the parts of the Body of Christ so that those of Christ are so well integrated in love and spirit that the world believes on the power of Christ.

Each of the programming acts has a spiritual, mental, and physical side to it. The slave has his or her will stripped from them so it becomes unnecessary to think in terms of their guilt--they are slaves who no longer have the freedom of choice. If they kill, or steal, or tell an untruth (lie), they have not done it intentionally. Still the Programmers know that there are spirits involved to spiritually prepare the slave to do these acts. For instance, they implant Spirits of Greed and lust into the victim. An Illuminati value system is drilled into the victim.

Any person who is not taught to dedicate personal rights and possessions to God, will end up with all types of surface forces such as insecurity, worry, anger, envy, jealousy and tension. This goes for multiples or non-multiples. These surface forces will in turn cause all types of surface weaknesses such as lying, stealing, cheating, and arguing. If these surface weaknesses are displayed by anyone, they are evidence that a deeper spiritual problem exists. However, the slave is not being set up to display these vulnerabilities as they will, but ONLY as they are programmed. An Illuminati Beta model can have sex only with who her master allows her to have sex with. Nor is she granted the privilege of refusing to sexually service someone. If the slave is allowed free will, they often will reject the life style programmed into them. The reason they can reject the Spirits of Seduction & Lust that have been layered in to insure that these moral weaknesses exist, is because the will of the alter being programmed was being coerced. There was duress involved. Satan has some claim, but not the stronghold that comes from those whose active will is involved in a sin. That doesn't mean that some slaves don't develop a taste for their perversion.

The point is that the ability to have these personality weaknesses, should the programmers want them, can be spiritually set into the slave by teaching the slave to resist the grace and love of God. It may be shocking to realize that the slaves are specifically programmed to resist God's grace and love, and to hate Him. This is not left to chance, and is accomplished by a number of events in the slave's life.

Another spiritual area that is tampered with is the self-image of the person. They are not allowed to think of themselves as made in the image of God (unless they are front alters created or allowed to be Christian). Instead of allowing the victim to learn about Jesus, the victim is consistently belittled and compared to others. This is in violation of a spiritual principle found in 2 Corinthians 10:12, "For we dare not make ourselves of the number, or compare ourselves with some that commend themselves; but they measuring themselves by themselves, and comparing themselves among themselves, are not wise." John 5:44 and 2 Cor. 10:17,18 teach how it is to be done correctly.

Fritz, co-author, knows of one programmer who is still programming who is fully aware of these scriptures and how they apply spiritually. When people are not allowed to accept themselves, they end up resisting the will of God. The wrong attitudes are built into the slave, so that they will always resist the will of God. Again if the programmers want a Christian front, they may program the correct thinking into the front alter. To do this doesn't threaten their hold on the system in the least. To have Satanic alters and Christian alters which are diametrically opposed to each other's thinking only insures that if they would discover each other in the mind, that they would reject wanting to learn about the other part, and would go into denial of the part's existence.

The programming and mind-control is being linked to a belief system. Taking this one step further, we can also say that the programming is also a conflict between two faiths, the faith that the alters place when they visualize and create their occult-system, that is their faith in demonism and magic, versus the faith of those who follow the God of the Bible. The method of creating hard-core Satanic alters from traumatized Christian alters is an obvious example of this. Some secular therapists have been slow to admit this conflict. If we look at the Illuminati's brand of Druidism, we will notice that the Book of Pheryllt which is a Druidic book for rituals gives four symbols which can be made to evoke the four elemental forces also called the four basic portals. Visualization is said to be the key to the occult, and to opening portals with these four signs. As the deeper parts of a slave are drawn into such activity, they are in reality placing their faith in that belief system. How can you take something away, without giving something in return? An alternative faith in a God and belief system that is not connected to mind-control is an important therapeutic aid.

You can not hate something passionately if you are unaware of it. When two groups are very similar, in order to high light their individual identity they will have a high level of animosity toward each other. In order to create strong Satanic alters who hate God, the Illuminati actually encourage the young two year old victim to understand and accept the love of God. Upon this faith in a loving God will be built the rejection and trauma to create wounded alters, who hate God because they feel rejected. Rejection is a tool of Satan across the board in the world. Rejection creates a sine wave of hills and valleys. (The way of the Lord is made straight leveling these hills and valleys.) When a person (or nation) is rejected they will often shift to one of two extremes: either they try to perform to meet up to expectations or they will retaliate against rejection. Both are extremes (the hills and valleys of the shadow of death) of the what resembles a sine way.

straight & narrow way
rejection Performance
knowing who one is in Christ retaliation

Both rejection and retaliation are tools of bondage. The enemy will work a person to get them to feel either rejected or angry. If either side of the sine wave is latched onto by a person (or nation) they will set in motion a dynamic where they will end up with the other side of the curve. This is because the human mind has an inbred desire to balance things out. If we feel rejection, then we may retaliate or try extra hard to perform. This sets up a BONDAGE LOOP.

The Cabalistic Tree of Life is the knowledge of good and evil--performance. The programmer by repeatedly REJECTING the slave, build into the slave a high level of performance. The slave is not allowed to get angry at the programmer--which is the opposite peak of the sine wave. The human mind will naturally try to balance the performance peak with increasing the anger/retaliation peak to match it in opposite intensity. Because the slave can not get angry at their programmer, they turn this anger inward and upward toward themselves and God.

The performance of the slave for the master is a form of false love. Performance love is false love. "If you do this for me, then I'll love you." Christ loved us when we were yet sinners and unlovable. This is the type of godly true love described by Paul in 1 COR 13 which seeks not its own. Self-preservation is a tool of death. That is one reason Christ did not preserve himself--even though he could have called angels--he wanted to show the world true love. Fear gets its root in death. The threat of death of a spouse, of oneself, of one's dreams, of one's identity, or of one's fleshly body creates fear. Death comes from Satan. Life from Yahweh God. Fear is built on a threat of some kind of death. Self-preservation then is actually based upon fear which is in turn based on death. This is why Christ said one must lose their life to gain it. To escape the satanic bondage loop of self-preservation built on fear, we must reach out for the love of God.

Self-justification is not normally seen by people as a bondage loop, but it often is. Only the sureness that Almighty God loves us gives us the strength not to get caught in the self-preservation tactic of self-justification. There is a place for defending the truth, but it must be done in love. Christ and his disciples taught that we are justified by faith in God--not by self-justification. Self-justification can easily be related to the self-preservation bondage loop. We simply have to have an inner knowing that we are made in the image of God, and that He is working in each of our lives. Since we are His work, He will justify us. All of the Monarch slaves, are a work of God. The cult has simply refashioned what God created. The slave needs to recapture the loving view God has of what He created. God doesn't make mistakes. He has placed lots of beauty and value in each person. Each person is His handiwork, isn't the human body fearfully and wonderfully made? After someone has been made to participate in crimes against humanity, the Programmers intuitively have created a situation where the person may fall into self-justification, for example, "They deserved to die." This is a subtle, but dangerous tool of bondage.

Much of the trauma-based mind-control is based on simple fundamental spiritual life-spiritual death issues. The Spirit of the Lord does not give fear. It comes from the enemy. Abductees, who claim to have met aliens, claim that the aliens feed off of human fear. Fear brings spiritual death. To show this dynamic in another way, let's describe a common thought for alters of Monarch slaves. This thought is "If I stay with the programming I'm safe." This is the same thought that society in general is taught via fear of self-preservation. "If I stay with the crowd, if I stay with the system, then I will be safe." This is why peer pressure, which seems safe, can lead many young people into death. All this fear of self-preservation by remaining in the programming (whether individual or societal) will be transferred to loyalty of the AntiChrist--that is the plan.

The Truth shall set you free. Anytime we reject the truth for safety and peace because of our fear for self-preservation, we accept a lie. If the truth sets a person free, then by definition, slavery means to "not to have truth." All lies lead to bondage. They create strongholds. Many religious groups are built upon a collection of truths and lies. The truths are used as the enticing attractive front, the lies are used as the enslaving bondage. This is why there is almost no end to all the lies used to program Monarch-type trauma-based total Mind-controlled slaves.

An important mind-control programming dynamic is the creation of images. This will take some explaining.

One spiritual dimension of humans is that we like to behold our God. This was built into us. Archeologists have noticed that ancient man has always worshipped. It is built into man to worship, and we like to behold whatever we worship--whether that is God, ourselves, or some other image. In other words, worship is image oriented. This is the power of images. One of the most ignored commandments of God, of which Fritz wrote a book about in 1977, was the commandment God gave "thou shalt not...make any likeness of any thing that is heaven above, or that is in the earth beneath, or that is in the water under the earth." EX 20:4 Students of God's Word are warned to "examine everything carefully; hold fast to that which is good." 1 THES 5:21. What is significant is that God's commandments in Ex. 20, which were a distillation of His laws, could have simply stated "Thou shallt not make any graven image", but instead went on to make a big issue in that same passage about any image of God's creatures (the word translated "things" has historically been understood as "living things.") In DT 4:15 "pasal" images--that is images formed out of any material with a tool (ax, chisel, or engraving tool) and the "likeness of male or female" and "similitude of any figure" are forbidden. Next, it again forbids the likenesses of living creatures. The word "image" occurs about 100 times in the Bible, and is usually accompanied by judgements such as "I will cut down...destroy...break down...smote." In a number of verses (EC 7:20, PS 106:29, 39), the scriptures speak about how man is always seeking inventions that provoke God to anger. The creation of images of many varieties was a big part of Egyptian magic, and still is. Because the creation of images is so esteemed today, a balanced view/discussion of the spiritual ramifications of images (& their creation) is a rare subject.

"For the invisible things of Him, from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even His eternal power and Godhead, so that they are without excuse." RM 1:20. (cf. ISA 6:3) One ex-Programmer has talked at length, that part of the motivation for the many programming images, is so that they can establish a world built by Satan, because they want to insure that there is no testimony about God's power. (By the way, some deliverance ministries are having success in helping heal victims by pointing out that Satanic programmers only build from elements God has already created.)

Mirrors, and lots of them, are important in occult programming because they make images. They create so many internal images one doesn't know which way to go. Images are lies. We often create false images of the people we want to love. Do we love them or their image? Movie stars are loved for their image, and rarely for who they really are. Some of them have acknowledged that they don't feel loved by their fans, because their fans are only worshipping an image. Again, we must remember THE TRUTH SHALL SET US FREE.

What is our real identity? Who are we really in God's eyes? Why did He allow us to be born? What was His real purpose for us? These real questions which are so hard for so many of us, are the reality that we need in our lives. The bondage of images has yet to be understood.

The word "duplicity" is based on the word duplicate. Machiavelli taught the elite how to rule through duplicity--that is to rule via imitation images. This is nothing more than one of the operational principles of mirror images placed within the Monarch Mind-controlled slaves.

Whatever gives life is duplicated in a mirror image by Satan. Life swallows up death, as the Kingdom of God's genuine light gets progressively brighter. The copy of this is that performance must get progressively better--i.e. technology must change to get better if we are to have life. The Amish show that society's penchant for technological progression, does not improve life. The Amish have a very successful life-style free from divorce and crime. Missionaries to Africa have come back at times wondering if the primitive tribe they spent time with didn't have many things which our technologically advanced society had lost. This doesn't mean that an invention won't help mankind--it is that mankind will not get life from technology. Technology must be understood in the entire context of life. If a person catches onto the lie of technology or performance, they may try the opposite lie--platforming. Many troubled people reach out to God, receive help, and then platform by saying, "Thanks for the help God, but I'm O.K. now." God's love is not performance-based, but we still need to continue to press toward the mark of the high calling of God, transforming and renewing our mind, ever growing spiritually. Things which do not grow are labelled dead. How do we grow without being performance oriented? That is the message that Christ tried to bring people. The programmers get their slaves caught in a performance loop. The slaves are not going to get freedom, if a minister of some church traps them into some religious group that is performance-based, rather than unconditional godly-love based.

It is sad to see victims of mind-control free themselves at great cost, only to run from one controlling group to another. If we neglect to look at the spiritual dimensions of mind-control slavery, we then are neglecting to see some of the elements of total mind-control slavery.

IN SUMMARY, SOME OF THE FIRST THINGS ATTACKED.

What is often the first thing which is attacked in individuals and nations in order to control them? It is their sense of identity as a spiritual moral being. Both individuals and nations are targeted to destroy their ethical self-respect. The individual and the nation must be brought to think of themselves as animals.

Another primary tactic or tool is to traumatize the victim who is to be controlled, and then provide relief when a demonic lie is accepted.

Rejection is an important trauma, because it creates a desire for performance and retaliation, and gets people trapped in a bondage loop. Lies put people into bondage. Images are a type of lie, that lead to bondage. This is why so many images and lies are placed into the Mind-controlled slave. These images and lies are inherently bondage-makers. Fear and self-preservation are grounded in death. To preserve ourselves, we will allow ourselves to be enslaved.

(Eventually, Mind-controlled slaves and society in general in order for peace, safety and self-preservation will transfer their allegiance to the master programmer, the Illuminati's AntiChrist.)

PART C. THE DEHUMANIZATION PROCESS

The dehumanizing of a multiple--that is of a fragmented personality--is done to most of the alters, but the front alters are allowed to be human. Because alters take on the characteristics of what they were created from, the front alters have to be some of the first splits so that they have a sense of family and that they are human. That does not mean that the first series of splits can't be dehumanized later--they are, they are turned into gems (crystals).

How do you make an alter into an animal alter? It may not be quite as difficult as some may imagine, because they can create alters with "clean slates"--that is they are the plain tablets that Dr. White (Dr. D. Ewin Cameron) prided himself that he was able to make out of adult minds. When a part of the mind has no reality to reference, and is tortured and told lies, then it will accept what the programmer says is real.

When an alter is created via torture, if you want a cat alter, they will have the child tortured in a cage surrounded by cats of some type. The new alters will be told they are cats. Their programmers will actually kill a little child in the worst way in front of these alters and tell them that that is what happens to little girls and boys. Do they want to be a little girl? No. After watching the horrible things that happen to little girls, they do not want to be little girls or little boys (as the case may be). They want to be a cat, because as a cat they will not be killed and tortured like the children. The alters are forced to eat like cats with cats. They are repeatedly shamed and degraded and repeatedly told they are cats. Lie detector Instruments are hooked up to the child to determine if the alters actually believe they are cats. When the alter can actually state, "I'm a kitten." or "I'm a tiger." and pass the lie detector test, then the programmers know they have succeeded.

But what if the mind resists being told it is a cat? As long as the child is a girl it is given faeces to eat. But the cats are fed wholesome meals in front of the victim. The little girls in the other cages are dirty and tortured and ill fed. Do you want to be a little girl?

A great deal of simple torture is applied to make sure that the correct answers are given. If your life depended upon saying you were a cat, you'd be a cat too. Further, children have a vivid imagination. Normal children can easily role play, and they can easily imagine they are something they aren't, because their personalities and egos have not solidified.

Again nothing is left to chance. A fake blood transfusion of cat blood may be given the child. Very often high speed films of kittens playing and having fun are shown in one eye, while the other eye is forced to few little girls having to undergo the worst of tortures. This viewing is forced upon the child, as its eyes are held open and the child is strapped into a viewing chair.

The dehumanization process will make alters into various types of birds, cats, dogs, aliens, horses, earth elements, gemstones, rocks, and countless other items. They will then place in back up programming to insure that the alters continue to believe they are not human. The ingenuity of the back up programming to ensure that they continue to believe the lies are extensive and ingenious. A great deal of hypnosis, and drug induced states, and drug-hypnosis is used to carry out the dehumanization process.

The programming will be reinforced by a cat alter's environment, because the alter's handlers will always refer to them as kittens or other types of cats.

The painful rape of a child with its legs held in a butterfly configuration is used to get butterfly alters.

To get a puppet, the body is given a drug which paralyzes the child. Then electroshock is applied to certain muscles upon the command of the programmer. The effect is that the child has no control over his body, and the programmer can make the child's body parts jerk and move by electro-shocking the muscles. The child actually becomes the puppet of the programmer. This is a very powerful program. One of the names connected with Monarch programming is Marionette Programming. The child literally becomes a Marionette. This concept appears to have been cooked up by the Germans under Hitler.

An alter System as a child is physically shown that they are a marionette puppet. Their muscles are electro-shocked in such a way as to take advantage of the natural reflexes. When electro-shocked that way, the victim's body parts jerk out of our control at the whim of the programmer to prove to the victim that they are a puppet. At this time, the rules are given and rule number 8 is that the alters are their puppet. Illuminati programmer Dr. Mengele, used puppets in a dollhouse as he programmed. He did skits with his puppets. "Dance Marionette dance," he'd say in his thick german accent. Pinocho's story was used to name the spirit guide Jimney Cricket.

Along with rule no. 8, he taught the following rules at this point:
1. Listen to your instructions., 2. There is no room for error., 3. "The Game Timer"--these were the specifics of how to move, the melted mirror, etc., 4. There is a chain of command, the King's men., 5. Your Master would chart your course., 6. You will receive orders, what to do, a memorized script to follow and fulfill., 7. The Creator and Master would always own you into infinity., 8. You are puppets on a string. "Dance Marionette dance. You are to speak only those words told to you, and to only speak those words when your string is pulled., 9. There is no room for questions., 10. The controller always plays the role of the White Rabbit.

Dark side alters of a System are taught to know these rules as part of their being.

Dr. Joseph Mengele (known as Dr. Green) carried a violin, which was used during programming. He programmed slaves to respond to the key word "Fiddler".

During programming, the victim will be made to believe that all their insides have been removed and tape recorders placed into them and surgically hooked up. To the child being programmed this is real. This is part of the dehumanization process to protect them from spiritual growth and freedom. The programmers' dehumanization parallels what is done in the army when the drill sergeant yells at the new recruits names such as "maggot" and "worm".

PORCELAIN FACE PROGRAMMING

The Porcelain Face Programming was already touched on earlier in chapters 2 & 7 when the fire tortures and Gatekeeper alters were written about. Fire torture and melted wax is used to make the child victim believe their face has been burned. Then the programmer generously gives the traumatized alters a porcelain mask. The alter getting the Porcelain face may be given a "gem" hypnotically like Jade and that becomes their secret name. There are several different methods that are available to lay in the porcelain face programming. There has been a great deal of porcelain casts made of people's faces and then masks made of them. In fact, when a handler dies, at least in one case the replacement handler wore a mask to look like the previous handler. Human baby skin is used to construct a mask from the victim's facial cast. A mask is worn by the Illuminati victim when they are married to the AntiChrist.

The Porcelain Masks are often part of the Camelot & Shakespeare programming. Another use of porcelain masks which was only experimented with was to place masks on Pawn alters which were used as alters who would guard things by scaring other alters with their fearful porcelain countenances.

This programming has spiritual ramifications, because it is one of the programming methods to steal alters of their faces. The alters getting porcelain face programming will only see a porcelain face in the mirror until the programming is taken down. As long as the computer on their level is operating the programming to that alter will be intact.

HEARTS OF STONE

The programmers leave no stone unturned when they strip the alters of a system of any vestige of humanity they might have.

The programmers make the alters believe that the programmers have surgically removed their hearts & replaced them with a stone.

To reinforce this programming the victim is hypnotized to fall into a deep trance if at any time the victim's deeper alters are hooked up to anything monitoring the heart. If and when someone tried to prove that these alters have a heart by taking their pulse, they may be surprised when these alters trance deep enough that the machine doesn't even read. This is how the programming keeps the lies safe from exposure.

The Programmers will hypnotically take the hearts for a number of reasons. One is blackmail. They will promise to return the hearts, if the victim obeys, returns home to the cult when needed, and is present when the Anti-Christ needs the victim. It is doubtful these alters would get their hearts back by their cult considering all the false promises that are typically made.

The Programmers will give the hearts to a queen mother alter for safekeeping. They may be hidden somewhere like in the Temple of Molech. The Temple of Molech in some survivors is used as a depository for memories of child sacrifices. It is not a place any alter could or would want to go in the internal world.

In return, the Programmers give the victim stones, yes, hearts of stone.

Stone-like protectors will stand guard in the background. Their voodoo doll appearance reflects the voodoo images that are built into Monarch Internal Worlds.

By removing the victim's hearts, it removes any chance that dark alters would have a soft warm spot in their heart for anyone. They will be told that they are incapable of having friends or of loving others. This is quite effective in separating these alters from others. That isolation is a part of the mind control.

Because the alters believe they have no life source within themselves--that is no heart, they have to look to their master. If the master places his hand upon the victim's chest they may feel alive.

Because people need a heart to feel, alters are programmed to believe that they are incapable of feeling and have no feelings. They can not cry during their own suffering, and are encouraged to feel incapable of caring for the suffering of others. In spite of all the brutality and isolation of the programming, the alter's humanity will lay in the background, but whether alters will ever acknowledge that humanity is a big question.

If people ask these heartless alters to give their hearts to Jesus, they may be told that they don't have one.

In all covenants, something is given to the cult. In this case the victim's hearts are (hypnotically) given to the satanic Master. There is a Keeper of the Seals who keeps the items given when a vow or covenant is made. If a person is a traitor to a vow, then the cult has an object to carry out voodoo or magic upon to punish the person.

Monarch Mind-controlled slaves know their orders, and are locked into obedience.

HYPNOTIC SURGERY

After the Programmers steal the deeper alters' hearts, their identities, their free will, their real families, and their faces and their humanity, they are kind enough to sew back into the victim's chest via hypnotic surgery black stones. They do all this surgery by hypnosis.

Via hypnosis, the Programmers can heal the victim's wounds after they torture the victim. They can basically make or remake reality to be what they want.

PART D. FEAR

The thing that stands out so vividly for those who have met victim's who are in therapy is the Spirit(s) of Fear that control them. Waves of paranoia roll back and forth through the alters. Everyone needs to bear in mind, that the programmers were sadists, and they didn't get satisfaction from their programming until they could see raw terror in their victims. The primary vehicle for programming was the raw terror that is repeatedly instilled into the victim. To achieve total terror, the sadist programmer gains total control over every aspect of a person, their thoughts, their bowel movements, their life, even the power to commit suicide is stripped from the victim. Nothing that originally belonged to the victim is left untouched.

A realistic fear of most victims, is that they will never be believed. Indeed, many therapists are serving the final insult to these severely traumatized people by denying the authenticity of things the victim experienced himself and even wishes were not true. For a victim to overcome their fear to tell, after all the years of programming not to tell and threats not to tell is an enormous feat. Very few victims, ever get to this point. And yet, when they do overcome this enormous barrier, they must face disbelief. Traditionally, the psychiatrists have treated these victims as if their abuse is nothing but psychotic nonsense. How many fleeing victims have been locked up and told they were Paranoid Schizophrenics?

The fear of losing one's identity within a coven or religious group, say the Church of Scientology, is balanced out by the structured framework that these groups have. Members identify with each other, because they participate in the same rituals and have given their allegiance to the same idealized master.

PART E. THE USE OF GUILT, SHAME, RIDICULE & ANGER

The Chinese and police agencies have been especially good at developing methods to solicit confessions. This is done by a variety of punishment and reward strategies, and the Mutt & Jeff routine. Confession and self-criticism have been used by religious groups, esp. the Jesuits as a method to convert persons to and then perpetuate a belief.

One of the things that the deeper alters will not be taught about is forgiveness. Because forgiveness of oneself and others is such an important spiritual dynamic, to not know about forgiveness cripples many deeper alters from healing from the deep spiritual wounds they have received. Forgiveness is an act of the will. Forgiveness of oneself is usually a major issue with deeper alters who generally don't know how to do this. However, the handlers and abusers will be sure to heap lots of guilt--whether deserved or not onto the poor mind-controlled victim.

It is natural for a person to focus on himself--after all, if a person doesn't think for himself who will? Often a person accepts their strengths, but focus's on their weaknesses hoping that that weakness will somehow be reduced by the focus that is placed upon it. The programmers know how to take advantage of that. They set impossible standards of perfection, and then demean the victim because they have failed to live up to the impossible standard of perfection. Black and white thinking develops in the slave's mind. The programmers will not allow the victim to display natural feelings of anger, sadness or doubt. To do so means that one is a failure and weak. Of course they are natural feelings, so the slave has to do a great deal of repression and self-incrimination for having these natural feelings. The slave learns to turn his or her anger inward. Many of the male slaves end up committing suicide. They beat themselves up with subconscious & conscious guilt.

Anything and everything wrong or bad in the slave's life is blamed upon him. Of course not all things are meant to be remembered by the slave. Guilt can play a natural role in the forgetting of memories too.

If the Monarch slave would remember something terrible, the religious front alters can be made to feel repentant for such terrible thoughts. Then the natural desire to forget can be reinforced by suggesting that the evil memory be removed from the mind. In other words, memories are forgotten because they don't conform to a person's moral code. If good morals are programmed into the front alters, they will take the hypnotic suggestion not to remember what has really happened that they had to participate in. The front alters will only remember a sanitized version. The person may even want to think of the memory as "only a dream" because the guilt associated with believing the reality of it.

If a person is hypnotized to have guilt about something that they didn't commit, then they can be gotten to believe that they did it. For instance, a false implanted memory of the Monarch slave killing a child may be implanted with the command, if you do not obey we will kill more children and you then will be guilty for not just this child but others.

People will tend to justify their abuse by saying "I was bad, I was evil." The programmers take advantage of this natural tendency.

Nothing the slave does is good enough or worthy of praise. After they sexually please a customer, they are called "bitch" and "whore" to make the slave feel guilty, when all they have done is follow orders. The whole situation causes the slave to work harder for approval which of course is very tentative and fleeting at best. The Master just keeps control, and sets the standards higher if the slave gets close to reaching perfection. The Master must insure that the slave feels guilty and dirty.

Many of the slaves endure a guilt that is common among soldiers and concentration camp survivors--the guilt of having survived when others died. "Why did I live and they die? I was no better than them?"

Any desire on the part of deeper alters to want something for themselves is painted as "selfishness". They will be internally and externally punished for any pleasure. If a sexual alter enjoys a sexual encounter, she is programmed to internally feel some type of severe punishment program. One standard punishment for a female slave who appears to have actually enjoyed a sexual act is to cut them from vagina to rectum, and sew them back up without anesthesia WHILE the slave is forced to watch her punishment in silence without tears or screams.

One form of tormenting a slave is to ridicule the slave as they have to carry out a wretched assignment. Many slaves lose their zest for humor because they end up the brunt of so many bad jokes. Comedians, because they are skilled with puns, and other words games, have often served as handlers or programmers. Bob Hope is the best example of a Monarch slave handler who uses his verbal skills as both a handler and comedian. Bob Hope has a side to him that the public doesn't see. Over the years, Bob Hope has spent millions of dollars on his team of gag writers to keep him well supplied with gags.

ANGER

The use of anger is not haphazard. The spiritual ramifications of anger are very well known to the programmers. They know that anger opens up spiritual portals for demonic activity. Remember, chapter 7 on structuring explained how the programmer purposefully push the victim almost to its breaking point to get angry alters. The use of anger is seen in a number of different areas of programming.

The Gatekeeper alters will be depressed and angry alters to insure that they remain good portals for demons. Gatekeeper alters function as Gatekeepers in several different capacities. Gatekeeper alters will be found to the whole system, often on the second level (section) down. Gatekeeper alters will also be found guarding important sections like the Carousel and Castle.

In review, Anger toward God, anger toward the outside world, and anger toward themselves are all built into a System. Where was God? Where was the outside world, when all these things were happening. Many, if not all, of the victims of Monarch turn their anger on themselves, which is the only safe place to vent it. Most of the deeper alters of a Monarch system will have very low self-esteem and will have lots of guilt and anger toward themselves.

The slave is victimized so much, that when their handlers give them the chance to victimize someone else, some victims find release in assaulting others. Of course the entire process of transference further entraps the victim, and provides more guilt and more debilitating spiritual dynamics. The slave may be given the power of life or death over others, as well as the power of deciding another person's eternal fate. Sometimes this power is addictive. This addiction can be a trap that binds the slave to his source of power. The power that the Illuminati give their slaves is one of the major barriers preventing deeper alters from moving toward freedom when their systems have a chance.

Slaves also turn a great deal of anger in on themselves. The self-image of most alters in a System is extremely low. The anger that alters have becomes a tool of the handler to insure that the slave never thinks highly enough of themselves to do anything about the control over them.

An example of this is Monarch slave Loretta Lynn. Loretta Lynn's handler is her husband Doolittle. Although Loretta has worked (slaved) very long hard hours she credits Doolittle for all her success. Her programming allows her only to give him credit for her successes.

In her "autobiography" Loretta Lynn A Coal Miners Daughter, which was written by a professional writer who sat down and worked with her, Loretta says on page 63, "In a lot of ways, it was good for me to marry someone older than me [her husband Doo was a WW II vet/satanist who married her when she was 13], because I could learn from him. But, in another way, it wasn't so good because I went directly from Daddy to Doolittle without ever being on my own. Even today, men are telling me what to do. My husband, my lawyer, my accountant, my personal manager [Ken Riley, her road manager has been her mind-control handler, and Alex Houston & Reggie Maclaughlin have done some of her recent programming]. In a sense, I still don't have complete control over myself. Maybe I never will. But if it wasn't for Doo [her nickname for her husband & handler], we wouldn't have what we have today."

Anger within a System can be dangerous, when one alter directs its anger toward another alter. Sometimes one alter will try to kill another alter. Actually, this happens more often than one might imagine. If the alter succeeds of course, the body will be dead, with the resulting consequence that everyone dies. The programmers enjoy seeing this type of drama, but they don't want it to be carried out to its final conclusion, so they generally, if not always, have alters who can step in and take the body and stop this. If the alter system can't, then alters who understand what is going on can call their master for help, and the master can once again show how dependent they are upon him for life. This is the "divide and conquer" strategy. The divide and conquer strategy is used repeatedly in constructing an alter system.

PART F. TEACHING THAT THE MASTER IS GOD; THE PROGRAMMERS SET THEMSELVES UP AS GODS.

The Programmers and the Handlers are setting themselves up as gods, or Almighty God, or as a being from a superior race of aliens, such as Koldasians or Pleiadians. Interestingly, if one listens, these different alien races make conflicting claims for whatever good the earth has. However, those of us who have followed the Monarch programming know that these aliens are just men who do the Programming. Time-life Publishers (owned by men in the Illuminati) subtly gave this away in their book The UFO Phenomenon when they referred to UFO abductions as "the Oz factor." They go on to say that its like Dorothy in the Wizard of Oz on page 71. Then they go so far as to reemphasize the point by showing a picture of Dorothy in Oz. In the TV series on aliens & UFOs called the "X-Files", they begin a show with an "I love you-I love you not" Monarch programming script.

Often the Programmers tell the alters which they have created, that they are their Creator and therefore their God. In a spiritual sense, they took the place of God in every way, including attributing the scriptures about God to themselves. This works well for Illuminati alters, because they are indoctrinated that all humans can be divine. It also works well with non-Illuminati alters as long as they are under mind-control. However, the actions of the handlers are so ungodlike, that should the programming break down, and the alters get a taste of reality, these lies soon are transparent. The lies that the handler is an alien are much harder to refute than the lies that the handler is God. The trend appears to be for the handlers to refer to themselves as a superior race of aliens.

Most if not all of the people seeing aliens, are really just being jerked around by their handlers. This doesn't mean that aliens do or don't exist. It does mean that those of us who have been working with people who have alien contact experiences and who understand Monarch Mind-control have only seen people obviously under mind-control. Fritz has yet to meet someone who has had an "alien contact" who wasn't under mind-control.

In 1992, a book Exposing The Mystery of Iniquity was started by Fritz Springmeier showing the connections between so called "aliens" and "demons." Is it coincidence that the demon Sir John Dee conjured for his enochian magic looks just like a small grey alien pictured so often today? People who have participated in high level Illuminati ceremonies speak about guardians which are nephalim (half human-half demon) which are the offspring of mixing humans with demons, and who look like the variety of "aliens" that are so often reported. The subject of nephalim and whether aliens are or are not visiting us is too vast for this book. However, these nephalim guardians are perceived as real by Illuminati members, and they strike incalculable fear within the members of the Illuminati. As one of the big sources of fear, the guardians take their place as part of the control mechanisms to keep slaves in place.

Polls taken by others, have found that 100% of Satanists have had a experience with UFOs, and report some type of "alien" abduction. (The Programmers & upper level hierarchy don't get themselves in polls, and the lower levels are all programmed.) The point is that there is a close relationship between UFOs and the occult world. On the following page are some of the more respectable scripts that persons, who are victims of "alien abductions" see in their heads. Signs of MPD were visible in each of these cases, and these abductee are placing their wills at the command of these "higher beings". Their wills are subservient to the will of the "alien". They receive messages in these scripts in altered states of consciousness. Some of the scripts are blatantly satanic magic scripts and sigils, but the majority are blatantly of human design. It stretches the imagination that most alien scripts would have a language and script that matches the English alphabet, with the same letter frequencies of English letters--that is "a's", "s's", "m's", and "t's" are found in abundance. It stretches the imagination passed the breaking point to think that aliens light years away with different vocal cords or whatever they have, evolved a script that corresponds to English, when our alphabet doesn't correspond to Greek, or Sanskrit, or Ogham that closely. Quite a few abductees have the "aliens" give them more complex versions of their "alien script" as they get older. The simplified version is received as a child, and then it evolves. It appears that there are now numerous programmers, who are simply concocting made-up scripts, and hypnotically telling their poor hapless victim that the script is alien. In this respect, these scripts are really codes--not "alien scripts". They are full of what are called follows. Follows are symbols that are similar to one another, which are a variation on a theme. Test results have shown that made-up scripts have many more follows that an actual real historical script.

The occult world are teaching that the Akashic record of all recorded information lies somewhere in the essence of space called the reticulum dei (the network of God). The mind-control victim, who actually gets his automatic writing and his information from deep in his system, is led to believe that he has gotten it from the Akashic record.

The spiritual dynamics of the Programmer setting himself up as God are far reaching. The spiritual world mirrors the physical world. In the physical world, in biology, researchers have found that chemicals that resemble other natural body chemicals can be substituted in for those original chemicals with far reaching effects. For instance, anti-histamines do not destroy histamine, they resemble histamine enough that they steal the places that histamine molecules attach themselves to cells. Because the histamine molecules have had their attachment places stolen, they can't interact with the cells. Within the spiritual realm the very same thing happens.

The reader has seen the Intergalactic script (Chap. 7), which is given to some Monarch slaves. Let's look at some of the other scripts given to them by their handlers. Many of the "alien scripts" which are given are crude and obviously fraudulent, but the more interesting are given below. One of the reasons there aren't government experts examining "alien writing" is that they know where these scripts are coming from. It is the same source that automatic writing came from earlier in this century.

The Anti-Christ is less of a Christ destroyer as he is a Christ replacement. True spiritual power is replaced within the world by the religious spirit. Within Christendom, the religious spirit has replaced much of the positions that should have gone to true faith. Therefore the power of true faith is destroyed by simply being replaced and its position usurped. The foundation for the religious spirit are fear and pride, which are also foundational pillars for the Monarch programming. The religious spirit can be detected when someone reads an admonishment and can apply it immediately to others and not to oneself. When a person sins, for example Eli in the book of Samuel, the religious spirit will propel them to make a sacrifice to cover that sin like Eli did. However, that religious zeal to cover sin by doing good and giving sacrificially of oneself, stems from the religious spirit not the holy Spirit of God (See 1 Samuel 3:13-14). Religious zeal done to cover sin is not accepted by Almighty God. Eli's sons "despised the offering of the LORD" (1 SAM 2:17).

One of the outgrowths of SRA upon the Monarch victim is that they will generally exhibit black and white thinking. Black and white thinking is actually an element of the religious spirit, which in spiritual terms pervades the Monarch victim. The Monarch victim's system is set up to usurp true faith. Something has to replace true faith, and the religious spirit is a good substitute. Perfectionism or unloving idealism is part of the religious spirit. This perfectionism will demand that if a person can not be perfect, they should give up. The holy Spirit of God gives hope. The religious spirit destroys hope by demanding more than people can give. As long as people are travelling the journey of seeking God, they don't need to have arrived to perfection. Idealism wants people to be at the destination at once or not start the journey. This religious spirit has stopped many victims of Monarch programming from moving forward to real freedom. It is a very powerful type of spirit.

Many people are waiting until they are perfect to help minister to others. Sadly this is an outgrowth of the religious spirit. We do not need to be perfect to help others. The following is an actual account: a Christian man who didn't understand mechanics very well stopped to see what he could do to help an elderly couple stranded on the road. The car miraculously started for the Christian and he was able to have the couple follow him to a repair station at the next town. But the attitude of the Christian was to make himself available to God--not that he was going to fix someone else's problem. The couple was sure they had been visited by an angel.

What is being discussed is how setting oneself up as "a god" or "God" is part of the religious spirit that attracts itself to so many of us. One of the attributes of the religious spirit is that it will notice what is wrong in a person rather than discerning what is right. Unless discernment is based upon love, discernment will be warped. Churches caught up in the religious spirit have mercy on the things that are abominations to God. Likewise, they show unwarranted mercy on the actions of ministers who have mercy on things that are abominations to God. One of the best examples is the religious front this book discussed in detail in chapter 5. Billy Graham, a Monarch slave handler, is on public record endorsing Mao-tse-tung's teachings, abortion, salvation through witchcraft, the One-World-Church in alliance with the world's political power, and many other things. Quite a number of Freemasons, ex- and current members have stated that Billy Graham is a secret Freemason, however, his staff denies this. The religious spirit has ran a campaign to cover up Billy Graham's personal use of prostitutes, many of them Monarch kittens. And some of these Monarch kittens have been able to reveal the facts of their abuse. Billy Graham is a "prophet" who works for the Network. The point is that churches turn a blind eye to these things. Fritz has tried to approach ministers about these things, and there isn't an open ear.

By the way, Almighty God still can step above what Billy Graham is and work in spite of it. Satanists can infiltrate the highest church positions, but they won't stop good from eventually conquering evil, and God's will being done. When we write "God's will", please understand that God has several types of will, including a conditional will, and an ultimate will. His conditional will is let men have what they want. His ultimate will is to see His creation be a wonderful paradise.

The religious leaders in Jesus' day got rid of true prophets. The religious spirit today will do the same.

The religious spirit causes people to flagellate their backs with whips. A Russian branch of the Illuminati, called the Skoptsi, are famous for the self-inflicted tortures including castration that they carry out upon their bodies. The religious spirit causes people to have self-abasement for the wrong motives. Discipline and faith are worthy things to have, but not if they are done out of only love for oneself rather than also love for one's Creator. This is why satanic alters have such a hard time seeing what Christianity has for them. They see the religious spirit of Christianity and they realize that Satanism has a more powerful form of religion. Satanism is based upon legalism (the rituals have to be exactly so), and upon pride, and fear.

To make an analogy, the religious spirit is like a man or woman who dresses to get compliments rather than dressing nice to please their spouse. In other words, the man who wears something that offends his wife, because he wants other men to think he is macho, has a similar motivation as the religious spirit.

The author of the religious spirit is Satan, the author of death. God wants people to choose thing which are excellent and make their lives count for eternity. On the flip side, the programmers, who worship & serve Satan in their invocations, murder their victims in 4 ways of death-- mental, moral, spiritual, and physical death. They program 4 types of ongoing suicide into their slaves. They bring them a. mental suicide, b. moral suicide, c. spiritual suicide, and d. push some alters to physical suicide, and program others to commit physical suicide. They push their slaves into near death experiences--some alters die, and are discarded. Often, there are "dead" alters within a live System. a. To perpetuate mental death, the programmers administer drugs, hypnosis, and false philosophies, and programming to wipe the truth out of the slaves mind. This is mental murder. b. Resistance to evil is the essence of life. By requiring their slaves to engage in the worst moral impurities, these parts lose their spiritual eyes. This is moral murder. (2 PTR 1)

PART G. Portals and focal points.

Within the occult world, the entire study of demonology is wrapped around the geometric shapes that serve as focal points for demons (such as made by crystals and pyramids), and the portals by which demons can enter the human body. A demon doesn't have to be materialized (conjured up) to enter into a body.

Geometric shapes which are believed to attract demons are placed into the internal worlds of slaves.

The will of the person also plays a role in the introduction of demons into the body.

Torture attaches and layers in demons within the body. Sex and blood sacrifices are used to attach powerful demons. According to high level demonology, certain powerful spirits can only be manipulated if there are blood sacrifices. This may seem strange, however, the record (evidence) bears out that generational victims of possession who have had demons placed in via blood sacrifices are definitely controlled by more powerful demonic forces.

All of the chahkra points, and the orifices to the human body serve as portals. Both the Illuminati and Christian deliverance ministries agree that the mouth, ears, nose, anus, etc. are portals. High influxes of demonic energy into the body is accompanied by a burning sensation. The Mother of Darkness who is assigned to a child who is being programmed has to oil the child periodically to protect it from this burning.

The goal to possess someone of spirits, or to be possessed by spirits has been practiced since the early times of mankind. In Llewellyn's New Worlds of Mind and Spirit magazine June/July 1994, issue #943, they write, "The golem of Prague is perhaps the most famous example of 'practical cabala'--the use of cabala for magical cabala." Scholem in his excellent treatise on the Cabala has an entire chapter about the Golem. The golem were mind-controlled slaves created by the magick of the Cabala.

The Cabala, according to the best masonic authorities, including Albert Pike in his famous Morals and Dogma book is the basis of Freemasonry. By extension then, it is clear that the goal of having a mind-controlled golem has been the goal of Freemasonry, because that goal is the best example of practical cabala. This is the paper trail, that let's us view the secret goals of the secret world of Freemasonry. There are Cabalistic grades within Freemasonry.

Sexual slaves were used by the higher and more occult Masonic rites in the 19th century. These sexual slaves were subjected to trances and demonic possessions. They were subjected to all types of perverse magical rituals. The Cabala teaches intercourse with demons.

Theurgy is the skill or ability to invoke demons variously called angels of light, genii, spirits of various kinds, such as elemental spirits. Demons come with a price and that price is blood. Satanism and Luciferianism and other similar cults are blood cults that require blood to be sacrificed to pull in certain demons. For instance, blood may be taken from both the tongue and the genital area and mixed in a certain ceremony to invoke a particular demon. Demons are not bought with gold or silver, they are bought with blood.

Some spirits are invoked by placing alcoholic enemas into the child. These children get totally intoxicated with alcohol, some to the point that they even die from the ceremony. This is all done to bring in particular demons.

The Spirit Choronzon and Typhon are critical spirits to place into a person for the Mind-Control to work. The Illuminati do not believe the Mind-control will work without the assistance of these spirits. Typhon and Choronzon do the tunneling and the MPD work.

An example of an important ritual to demonize the victim is the baptism of the child victim to Satan. Satan may be called Set in the ritual. There are variations on this ceremony, so a victim's personal baptism may vary in some or all of the details. This is actual variation of the ritual done to Monarch mind-controlled slaves:

The child is stripped nude and given a purple robe. It is placed inside the pentegram, and an "altar" which is made by a nude woman or child is brought forward. A horse or jackal is inscribed with the inscription "Nebebka" on the neck or forehead. Then the animal is sacrificed to whatever name the group is using for Satan (such as Set or Saman). The abdomen of the beast is split open completely, and the liver removed. The 4 spirits of the 4 watchtowers are invoked. The slave child being baptized is smeared with fat from the dead beast. The Gatekeeper spirit is called by ringing a bell. Then the child is placed into the animal's belly. A part of the raw liver is given to the child and the rest consumed by the group. The child is then baptized in blood. A cut called the Devil's Seal is placed on the child on the left hand, or under the armpit, or on the upper part of the head. This in Cabalism is the Mark of Foundation. The Priest reads out of the Book of Satan and the Book of Names. The victim repeats after the Priest. In this fashion the Priest ritually gives the person a new name. The Dance of Hod (Glory-the sphere on the bottom left of the C. Tree of Sephiroth) is then begun in a circular motion by the cult, to oppose Netsah (Victory-the sphere on the bottom right of the Tree). The Priest of the coven will then dismiss the demon(s) he has conjured. At times this ritual is done with a child sacrifice rather than an animal, & sometimes it is done in conjunction with another ritual, such as All Hallow's Eve.

To empower the Monarch System, special rings which have been dipped in the blood of sacrificed victims, are given to the victim with instructions to wear it faithfully. The rings are used as focal points to insure the continued demonization of the victim. Some examples of this would be a Blue Topaz ring, a Black Onyx ring, or a Diamond ring. Black Onyx is used to capture souls. Whether the therapist believes this or not, becomes irrelevant in view of the fact that the deeper alters in a Monarch System are skilled in demonology and they do believe it, and take consolation that their magical powers are never challenged by therapists. These deeper alters will continue to do much of the demonization of the system for the Programmer, and this delegation of this job, means the Programmer/handler is free to focus on other things.

Our experience is that the Slave Masters within the Illuminati, when they take away the hearts of the alters of a system, they give them a heart of stone and a ring. The ring is important for if they lose this, they think they will not get their hearts back. The slaves will wake up in the middle of the night looking for a ring--but never knowing what ring they are looking for. "CATCH A FALLING STAR, PUT IT IN YOUR POCKET FOR A RAINY DAY" ties in with this story line. The star is magical stardust. During programming the Programmers use "magical star dust." If the slave loses their ring, they are told the Master will never love them. When the Master comes to give his love, then the slave will get to use their magical wand with its star dust. The ring of the Programmer, which has occult power from being used in ritual, is also used as a hypnotic cue. The ring also represents occult power and authority.

PART H. VOWS & OATHS

- The Illum. & generational occult families attach Ancestral & Generational curses (noted about in EX 20:5-6, DT 23:2, 2 KG 5:27, JER 32:18, JER 3:25, LEV 26:40) to the victim.
- The Programmers create soul ties (intermeshment with others in an ungodly way), including intermeshment of spirits. Sex, emotional dependence, anger and love can be tied to this dependence. The spiritual power of the Communion meal--which is a form of the Passover meal (deliverance) & the Marriage Supper of the Lamb (wholeness in heaven) is reversed by Black Mass's symbolism/bondage.
- The Moriah & other occult groups attach curses to a person that are brought on by occult involvement. These curses are the consequences of sinful occult involvement.
- The Monarch programmers force the slave to make blood covenants, contracts, oaths, and to shed innocent blood. Often times the deeper alters feel like they have made these contracts willingly--however, if they could see the whole picture they would realize that they were forced and deceived into accepting these occult practices. To free themselves of these oaths and covenants every alter has to break them, or at least the main alter breaks it for others. What various witchcraft and Illuminati slaves will experience will be Satan drawing blood from their left hand and causing them to write in the slave's own blood a formal contract entering his service. The ceremony has a lasting impression. Their signature in the Great White Book, which is an important Illuminati document, which has everyone's signature will change color, and they will lose their magical power, etc. This creates a double bind, if they keep the System "safe", they can't get out. They need to understand that greater is Jesus than he who is the world. See COL 2:15 also, which speaks about him triumphing over the principalities and powers. The Illuminati & the Network keeps books which have the signatures of all their membership, including slaves. They tell the slave that if they ever break a covenant with them, that Satan will cause the signature in blood to turn green. In other words, the slave is led to believe and is convinced that if they ever renege on their vows to Satan and the New World Order, they will be instantly found out.

Even the american presidents are reported to be threatened with this type of threat.

The "birthright" of a child born to Illuminati parents is to be allowed into satanic coven level activity. Alters which function at coven levels, will be far removed in a Monarch system from Illuminati hierarchy alters. The coven level will also be called the anarchy level and is represented by an A. One of the early oaths taken by the Illuminati child before the Grand Druid Council is, "Satan the Way and the Light. No one comes to me except through the father of light which is the Anti-Christ. I, [birth name], by my free choice take the following oath. I commit to serve my body and spirit in union with the father of light for the total prosperity and insurance of the victory of Satan and the father of light the AntiChrist. Now within an unbroken circle of spiritual power, understanding and accepting the consequences of breaking the spiritual circle which joins the Mothers of Light (later they learn that they have joined the Mothers of Darkness). with each other and to the father of light. I [Illuminati coven name] with these bonds in place commit to rule within the spiritual union over the principalities of darkness to insure Satan's power and control over the world. I forever take on the seal of the father of light and commit my eternal life to serve Satan as the prince of peace, savior, and spiritual light for ever and ever. I now denounce the truth of the God, the resurrection of Christ and the power of the Holy Spirit." Should the person break this vow, they are programmed to remember torture on a cross, which is designed to cause a seizure and heart failure.

The Final Vows of a Mother of Darkness or a Grand Master will make these cult alters feel like they are bound and trapped in service to Satan. They are almost always unaware that Almighty God doesn't recognize such vows, and will willingly release them from their evil servitude. The black stone is used in the Mothers-of-Darkness vows. The book of Revelation speaks about a white stone with a name written on it. Mothers of Darkness alters get a black stone with their assigned Queen goddess names written on them.

Those who have been on the inside of Satanism know that oaths taken by occult lodges and satanic cults are at times enforced. The oaths describe the type of traitor's death that is to be carried out. An example of the types of penalty these oaths carry can be seen in the following words,

"All this I most solemnly and sincerely promise and swear with a firm steadfast resolution, to keep and perform the same without any equivocation, mental reservation or secret evasion of mind whatever, binding myself under no less penalty than that of having my throat cut across, my tongue torn open, my heart plucked out my body severed in twain, my bowels taken from thence and burned to ashes, should I knowingly violate this my solemn obligation."

The covenants, and vows and threats all work together to keep people in line.

Alters within a Monarch slave are conditioned by their servitude to believe that their life is controlled by Satan, who is stronger than God. Where was God when they needed him? And yet many of the Monarch slaves coming in for therapy have had numerous miracles in their lives that have given them the latitude to reach out for health and freedom. If the Monarch alters can not see the positives of what God has done, they will remain trapped in their perception that Satan rules.

Actually, the survivors of the Illuminati's mind-control were meant to play a big role in helping God upset the detailed satanic script. And because these people sincerely gave their lives to Christ around the age of 2, God will honor that and help them. At any rate, even the informed secular therapist should realize these programmed slaves are in the middle of some power struggles. They are instruments of the Satanic hierarchy to carry out their plans.

The Network goes out of their way to enhance the slave's perception that the occult rules. Along this line, President Reagan insisted the Monarch programmer Michael Aquino wear his black satanic ritual robes to a White House party. (One can read more about that night in Transformation of America, p. 129-130.)

Working hand in hand with the vows and the oaths, are the extreme measures the Network goes to, to convince the slave that they are always being watched. This is the "You can run, but you can't hide" programming. Supposedly, the slave is being watched by satellite no matter where they go. For instance, at Offit Air Force Base in Nebraska, an underground viewing room is used to convince Monarch slaves they have no place to hide. There the walls have numerous "satellite pictures" from around the world. The satellites are called "Eye in the Sky." A four-screen viewer pretends to respond to the type-in commands of an air force official who tells the slave, "Where will you run? To the Artic? The Antarctic? Brazil? The Mountains?...We can find you there. There is truly no place to run and no place to hide." This show, which was made to convince the mind-controlled slave of the NWO's prowess, is just a pre-made slide show, it is just theatrics.

However, the computer chips they have been implanting into people do give them the ability to track their slaves. And the intelligence agencies do have spy satellites. The NWO is protected from nuclear attack via the Pentagon's C^3I (pronounced "see-cubed-eye") meaning command, control, communication & intelligence. An important part of C^3I is MILSTAR which is a global central nervous system of 9 satellites and about 3,500 million dollar MILSTAR terminals on the ground. The CIA has among other things, the $300 million Vortex spy satellite and a $500 million Magnum spy satellite which were recently launched.

PART I. LAYERING IN DEMONS

In the American Journal of Psychotherapy, two noted psychiatrists and an M.D. from India wrote an article "Multiple Personality in India: Comparison with Hysterical Possession State". The tenor of the article was that in India, the psychiatrists have to deal with demonic possession rather than MPD which is found in the west. They made comparisons of demonic possession in India to the MPD of the west, which are similar but not the same. Later, other articles and letters were written about this article. One of the criticisms was that these Indian psychiatrists were trying to compare their demonic possession to the west's MPD when it was obvious that their cases of demonic possession did not meet all the criteria of MPD. In the experience of the co-authors of this book, demonic possession is not MPD (DID) but it does have many of the same characteristics.

If we understand programming from the Programmers point of view, they believe in both MPD and Demonic possession. From the programmers point of view, they try to create the alters and demonize the alters. Several ex-Programmers have told Fritz that if a person really wants to understand the Monarch trauma-based mind-control, they need to realize that it is fundamentally demonic-based.

Both of the co-authors have had to sit through lectures by secular therapists who dismissed Satanism and the occult as simply as an excuse on the part the abusers to traumatize their victims. According to these secular therapists, demon possession and satanic rituals have nothing to do with therapeutic issues, but are merely games and charades put on by the abusers. We beg to differ with this point of view. Programming and mind-control can not be separated from demonology and occult ritual. Even the "alien programming" uses lots of occult symbols, rituals & spiritual programming.

An example of how ritual & programming overlap is the sabbat ceremony to insure that cult slaves keep silent no matter what, even under torture. On a full moon sabbat, a large oak tree will be used to hold this night ceremony. A Majic cake, also known as a Red or Acacia Cake is made for the ceremony. The demon seer is invoked using the name Shaddai (one of its 9 mystic names). An unbaptized child, who has been taken from Christian parents, is in the middle of the Pentagram, and a live altar consisting of a woman is used. A magic square called Satar formula is carved onto the child with an Eagle or Rooster claw. The child is turned to the 4 directions and then turned face down toward the east. The child must curse and blaspheme God Almighty. Then its mouth is gagged with a purple cloth. Flesh is cut from the child, and mixed with black millet and given to Satan (also called Sheitan). Prayers in Enochian are said. Incense is lit. The child is now sacrificed to Satan, using the ritual athame (perhaps a black handled dagger), while the child is condemned by the cult to hell. This type of ritual is to instill fear of talking and praying into the cult members.

One of the secret ceremonies to invoke demons comes from The Book of Beasts. It is an ancient ceremony to summon demons. The ceremony begins with reading the Tetragrammaton Elohim, the Creature of Judgement is invoked, as well as the 9 mystic names of the dead. A child is skinned and sacrificed. The Book of the Old Faith is read from. And then the demons are dismissed and a bell rung in the 4 directions. Monarch slaves recall the stench of the demons, and the roar that they make when invoked. To live through a horrifying experience like this does impact the slave, and therapists need to quit ignoring the various impacts that effect the victim of occult ceremonies.

On the flip side, victims of mind-control need to realize that although demonic possession is one of the tools of control, that the diagnosis of "demon possession" should not be used to cover up the many other issues involved with the mind-control including body memories, a lifetime of severe abuse, abandonment issues, safety issues, and all the rest of the garbage that goes with having been a mind-controlled slave. These many other issues need to be addressed too.

When one of the authors of this book, Fritz Springmeier, began working with Programmed Multiples, he was told by several independent of one another that they had problems with spirits, which they called Legion, Beelzebub, Asmodeus, Leviathon and Behemoth. Occasionally Hanan was mentioned. After doing some work, false satanic trinities were found leading these Structured Multiple's systems. Interestingly, other ministers who were working in other areas of the country with Illuminati programmed multiples were finding the same thing. If we comb the rare books of Europe, there is a book in french Cruels effets de la vengeance du Cardinal Richelieu ou Histoire des diables de Loudun by Aubin (Amsterdam, 1716, pp. 215 +) and as well as another one, Delacroix, Études d'histoire et de psychologie du mysticisme. Paris, 1908, pp. 328-344., which tell the story of the Uruline convent in Loudon between 1632 and 1638. This convent plays a role in the Illuminati bloodlines. What is of interest to us, is that the nuns back in 1632 found themselves "possessed" by demons. These demons made the people act like animals, such as bark like dogs, rave in altered states, go into trances, have uncontrollable changes in personality which they would be amnesiac about. A male voice would appear in a female, etc. The mystic Father Surin, who came and tried to help the convent, himself got possessed for 20 years and had an entire change in personality for 20 years. He wrote that at times he felt like Satan. Seven demons manifested themselves in very different but distinct persons within these nuns. The Catholic priest (an exorcist) could make the different demonic personas take the bodies of the Loudun nun Jeanne des Anges, and her face & body & voice would change from one possession to the other. These seven demons were Asmodée (also called Asmodeus), Léviathan, Béhémoth, Aman (Haman), Isacaaron, Balaam, and Grésil. They also had a false trinity Lucifer-Beelzebub-Leviathon associated with them. French psychologist P. Janet in 1888 noticed that many of his patients found themselves losing control of their body to what they called a demon who would often be named Astaroth, Leviathan or Beelzebub. (P. Janet, L'Automatisme psychologique. Paris, 1888, pp. 440 +.) Reports from other areas such as Germany over the years are similar. Is this mere coincidence? It is stretching the imagination to believe that so many separate incidents have commonalities, and identical demonic entities, and yet are not related in some fashion.

By the way, medieval witchcraft, Rosicrucianism, and the Illuminati have all had rituals where people dress with Cat, Lion, Owl, Cuckoo, and Parrot masks. In altered states, these medieval witches may have actually flipped into animal alters who thought they were a cat or owl, etc., which would account for written accounts by medieval craft adepts that witches would transform into animals.

Demonic possession is getting more and more recognition by psychologists.

Some psychologists have discovered that their programmed multiples responded very positively to deliverance of demons, and were able to get more accomplished in a few hours of deliverance than years of psychology. What does this tell us? Well, it is NOT "scientific proof" that demons exist, but it is proof that deliverance can be very helpful. One can debate the exact reasons why deliverance works--perhaps it is merely that the helping person is entering the other person's construct--but the events of successful deliverance strongly indicate that what has happened is an actual deliverance of demons.

Because this book is about HOW the victim's are controlled, and the programmers believe that the primary ingredient in the mind-control is demonology, we will cover demonology. If that bothers some readers, then they need to ask themselves, Are they really wanting to understand HOW the mind-control is done, or simply superimpose and replace the HOW it is done with what they themselves would do? Several times psychologists have been heard saying, "We don't know how the programmers think. It would be helpful to know." How many people are really ready to hear the answer? Recently, one of the Programmers (and names could be mentioned) never got excited as long as his slave was in therapy, but when his slave got a deliverance, he came totally unglued. On the flip side, anyone who can read this book entirely to this point and think that Illuminati slaves only have a problem with demons has somehow missed most of the book.

The programmers are so demon possessed that people who have worked with them say that the powerful demons within them try to compete with each other for power. Those who have worked with the programmers know how the programmers themselves have been skilled in conjuring demons with a nine-foot circle with magical phrases like "Bagabi laca Bachabe, Lamac cahi achababe,..." Rituals have been performed at the programming sites. (On the flip side, deliverance ministries can send demons to the throne of Almighty God to get instructions.)

One of the first stories read to a slave may be the Jungle Book by freemason & occultist Rudyard Kipling (1865-1936). The story is used to teach the child to have animal spirit guides, such as the bear and leopard spirit guides found in Jungle Book. The main character in Jungle Book is neither animal or human, but in between. Neither world accepts this orphan boy. Slaves are taught that they are not human, but not fully animal, but something that can't be fully accepted or understood by anyone. Jungle Book provides the script for this. A bracelet keeps the boy safe by giving him the power of the gods. The slave is taught to get demonic power from jewelry which is given to them. There are many other features of Jungle Book which are used for the initial programming too, such as the pack of wolves (protectors in the system), snakes in the hell pit, a Boa Constructor snake to guard the castle, the need to pass through the waterfall to get into a wonderful world, a black jungle of death on the other side of the waterfall, castle jewells, caged birds, etc.

Later, alters will be told they are the leader of a pack.

Via the Jungle Book story used as a demonic programming script, the child's alters are taught that they are orphans with no mother or father, and that they must play and have the animal spirit guides as their friends.

HOW THE PROGRAMMERS UNDERSTAND DEMONOLOGY

Demonology is the key to what the programmers accomplish. Some recent efforts to expose the Monarch Mind Control have portrayed the programmers as very cynical about their "magick". While there may be exceptions to the rule, within the Illuminati, demonology is not taken lightly, but is considered to be the real science of the Sciences of Mind Control.

The goal of the Illuminati programmers is stated in their own writings in latin,"Quod superius est sicut quod inferius et quod inferius est sicut quod superius ad perpetranda miracula rei unius..." Meaning that their goal is to achieve the wonders of the "one thing" where "that which is above, is like that which is below and that which is below is like that which is above." In other words, they take the dark spiritual realm of Satan, as the pattern for the world. This latin phrase is also used to support astrology, which influences some of the programming decisions. The concept of astrology was created by reframing God's "event markers" as event controllers. While Americans think of 1776 as independence year, 1776 was originally chosen as the most favorable year to reorganize the mystery religions into the formal Illuminati because 1776 consists of 1100 and 666. 1100 is the Babylonian counting system's number for 666. Babylonian satanism is a foundational part of Moriah's Illuminism. Some of its bloodlines are descendents of the Pharisees who secretly practiced Babylonian satanism at the time of Christ, incl. child sacrifices. It's standard operating procedure in the occult world that- what you see is not what you get, double-meanings are the norm.

Those students of Monarch Mind Control who do not want to delve into what the Programmers are doing are limiting their own understanding. Most of what the Programmers do is actually spiritually based and connects to their understanding of demonology. Much of what the victims of the Monarch Programming experience will be understood in the context of the spiritual world. Obviously some is illusion. Obviously some is delusion. However, when the high level programmers teach novice programmers, they will be teaching the spiritual principles you the reader are about to be told. (A few therapists across the U.S.--and their names will not be revealed, have had miraculous recoveries of their Monarch slaves when they addressed these demonic and spiritual issues. These are therapists, who tried the old methods for years, and then in desperation were willing to listen to ex-programmers and other informed people about the spiritual side of the programming.)

Everything in life has a physical and a spiritual side to it. Things in the spiritual effect the physical, and things in the physical effect the spiritual. They are two worlds. The Alice In Wonderland story is highly regarded by the programmers, because it portrays the situation that exists between the spiritual world & the physical world. When people within the physical look toward the spiritual, it is like looking into a mirror. Initially, they will only see the physical world reflected back. But if they go beyond the mirror, they would see a "mirror image" of the physical exists in the spiritual realm. When Christians pray they say, "Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." Earth is a mirror image of heaven, not an exact copy, but someday they will be alike, according to Scripture. According to messianic jews who understand the OT well, the ceremonial law is being enacted in heaven spiritually as it's mirror image once was done on earth.

When the programming is seen only in a secular fashion, much of its design is missed. What have witches used to see beyond time and space? Mirrors. Remember the witch saying "mirror, mirror on the wall, who is the fairest of them all"? The idea is magical mirrors, the speculums, which will lead one "through the looking glass mirror" that then allows the victim to magically transcend time & space.

One of the important keys to success with Monarch programming are generational spirits. The cover for this is studies in genetic science. The programmers believe that genetics are important, but the real abilities to program someone come from the generational spirits that are built up in bloodlines. This is why the Illuminati were in part skeptical that non-generational occult bloodlines could be successfully programmed. They have found that they can be (especially with all their high tech equipment), but the best candidates are those with strong generational spirits. The difference could be compared to those who raise race-horses for the Kentucky derby and those who have horses as a hobby. A race horse must have high spirits. The suburban housewife & daughter who ride as an occasional pastime could care less for that quality of horse. The military can produce cannon fodder with the simple mind-control of Basic Training. They don't need sophisticated time intensive mind-control techniques like the Monarch Program for some military positions.

Third world children are being programmed to become baseball players etc. But the highest occult avocational positions will be given to people with exceptional generational demonic power.

Within a Multiple you will find duplicates of a particular name. For instance, you may find thirteen Susies. Susy I may not even be aware of the other Susies. The internal worlds of the Monarch victim are structured along demonic patterns. Within the demonic world the spirit Moriah is not itself in every victim that has Moriah. Moriah # 10,882 may be in victim A, and Moriah # 3,355 in victim B. But the difference is academic because the Moriah in each victim is a member of the same demonic family--the Moriah Spirit Family. They are for all intents and purposes the same spirit. The Illuminati programmers are acutely aware of the generational spirits, who they are, and how they function. The ten commandments warn that a person's iniquity will affect the next 3-4 generations. EX 20:5b

A generational spirit is given "appointment" over a victim at birth. The victim will receive generational spirits from their biological father and mother. Satan can not be the creator of heaven and earth, but he can satisfy his desire to do so, by creating an internal world within the victim, a heaven, earth and hell of his own creation. The armies of spirits which are placed into the infant will cooperate with the programmer and the child to produce the programming. It's like the Father ("Papa" the programmer), son (child) and unholy spirit (demons) work together. The internal creation of worlds within the victim will be the heart beat of Satan.

A Regional territorial commander demon will make weekly rounds in an area, and so the structuring work done with generational victims, combines ideas from the generational spirits as well as the regional commander. The curses and the vows give the Commander the legal right to exercise control over the victim. Within any geographic area, there has been a layering in of demons, much in the same fashion that the programming and demons are layered into a Monarch victim. The most important territorial spirits in an area are the root or original spirits. In the United States these are Indian Spirits. Territorial spirits may contribute ideas as to what will be effective for programming in their area.

There are geographic patterns to spiritual warfare. Each area has its deities and spirits which rule the valleys, homes, and nations. These particular spirits exercise power over the local people. The evangelist is not going to progress, unless he understands the spirits that are ruling what he is trying to liberate people from. The basic territorial spirits are the original ones. In the U.S. these are the Indian spirits. That is why the Illuminati pays such a strong interest in the Indians. The original principalities are the foundation, the bedrock upon which everything else is layered upon. This also is done in Monarch programming. A number of Monarch slaves have Indian shamans and spirits placed in their systems.

Upon the original foundation, the newer ideologies are layered in. In Russia, communism was simply layered on top of the original territorial spirits. In China, communism was simply layered on top of the original territorial spirits. This is one factor why Chinese & Russian communism were never alike.

Traumas and crises will produce strongholds. Our understanding of our blind spots is often weak because we use others as our measuring stick rather than the divine word of God. Blindspots & strongholds may take outside intervention in our lives to eliminate.

How many of us see that Moroni on top of Mormon temples is a ruling demon? How many of us have realized that the rising sun on Japan's flag is the Sun goddess who is a ruling spirit over Japan? If we go to Hawaii we will see some of the "natives" are interested in Pele, the God of Fire. The volcanoes have been used by the demons to entrap the people to Pele, the God of Fire. One of the things that the author's book Ezekiel 6:3 An Inhouse Directory shows is that many of the ritual sites have occult names. Devil's Canyon may well be a canyon for devils. The names people give geographic areas are important. They show the types of pacts that people have been making. When the psychiatrist Karl Menninger of the Menninger Foundation dealt with spiritual issues with people in mental hospitals (i.e. he had them ask for forgiveness of sins), he was able to clear out whole sections, and send the patients home well. (His bro. Roy W. Menninger, an Episc., & also a psychiatrist, worked in Boston State Hosp. while in the military in '52-53.) There is a direct tie between much of the insanity today and demons. Spiritual principles should be studied by Christians to understand how demons operate and what gives them entry rights and power. Certain objects and people are focal points for spirits.

WHO are the experts?

Basically, two types of people involve themselves in studying demonology--those who are involved with performing works of darkness such as magic, or those involved with performing works of godliness such as deliverance ministries. Jesus told his disciples to command the demons to leave. He didn't ask his disciples to let him cast out demons, nor did he ask his disciples to ask the demons to leave. No, the responsibility was placed upon his disciples & they were asked to command the demons to leave.

The Illuminati maintain hidden libraries full of ancient treatises on demonology, which they avidly study. Some of the more important demonology books are the Sixth and Seventh Book of Moses, The Black Raven, The Spring Book, The Spiritual Shield. A whole series of magical books bearing the name of Solomon exist, of which the Key of Solomon is widely known. Clavicula Salomonis or the Clavicle of Solomon is also well known. More and more of the ancient writings seem to be coming to light in these end times, and the hierarchy is getting bolder and bolder in the release of this information. A Cabalistic Jew will study the Talmud until he is 40 or so, and the study of the Cabala is reserved for the only those who have studied a long time. The Zohar and the esoteric teachings are not taught until late in life.

Opposite the Illuminati, are those dedicated Christians who study demonology, not to invoke demons but to free people from them. Each state in the United States contains a few Christians who understand demonology and deliverance from it. The blood of Jesus Christ (Yeshua ha Messiach) is very powerful against demons. High level deliverance can not be done without angelic and the Holy Spirit's help. The Christian who gets into studying and fighting high level demonology needs to learn the significance of getting God's help. Without God's help, the deliverance will back-fire in the face of the deliverer. Members of the Illuminati are bound in servitude to Satan. One of the strong shackles that bind Satanists to Satan is the high level of demonology they are enslaved to.

HOW are the demons organized?

It is very clear that there are different types of demons, and that they are divided up into different ranks, functions, orders, etc. A great deal of time has been spent by both brilliant Christians and satanic Magicians to chart out the names, ranks, and structure of the demonic armies that Satan commands. One accurate method of ranking demons has 365 ranks of demons, with no. 1 being the highest level of demons. The numbers of top level demons are numbered in the trillions, while the lower level imps are incredibly numerous. There is no shortage of demons to carry out the work of Satan on this planet. These demons are sometimes variously referred to as spirit guides, angels, wizards, ghosts and aliens or a number of other disguises. Both early Christians and the occult have often divided up the evil spirits under fire, water, wind, and earth. The power of Enochian magic comes from the Watchtowers of these four elements.

Some common types of Evil Spirits are:

> Spirit of the Anti-Christ (1 John 4:3)
> Spirit of Bondage (Romans 8:15)
> Spirit of Divination (Ezekiel 21:21)
> Spirit of Death
> Dumb & Deaf Spirit (Mark 9:25)
> Spirit of Error (1 JN 4:6)
> Familiar Spirit (LV 20:27)
> Spirit of Fear (2 TM 1:7)
> Spirit of Haughtiness (PRV 16:18, 19)
> Spirit of Heaviness (ISA 61:3)
> Spirit of Infirmity (LK 13:11
> Spirit of Jealousy (NM 5:14)
> Lying Spirit (2 CHR. 18:22)
> Perverse Spirit (ISA 19:14)
> Seducing Spirits (1 TM 4:1)
> Spirit of Whoredoms (Hosea 4:12, and 5:4)

Each of these types of Evil Spirits has a number of specialists. For instance the Spirits of Whoredoms contains spirits which can specialize in the following:

A Spirit of Unfaithfulness
A Spirit of Prostitution (whether Spirit, Soul or Body)
A Spirit of the Love of Money
A Spirit of Idolatry
A Spirit of Chronic Dissatisfaction
A Spirit of Fornication
A Spirit of Gluttony

The Spirits of Bondage include:

A Spirit of Fear
A Spirit of any number of addictions (drugs, alcohol, etc.)
A Spirit of the Fear of Death
A Spirit of being a Servant of Corruption
A Spirit of Compulsive Iniquity

These lower echelon demons are too numerous to keep track of. When a portal is opened which gives a particular demon legal access into a body, they move very quickly into the physical body. When a man lusts after a woman, he will open a portal, such as the mouth through which a demon (spirit of lust), shaped for instance like a frog, will jump in through. This demon will then insure that the evil thought will be acted upon. The principalities and powers exercise dominion over spirits. Further, high level Satanists are well aware of all these things.

When godly people of faith identify, bind and cast out specific demons, they should practice loosening the appropriate good spirit to take its place. If we bind a spirit of Bondage, we loose a spirit of adoption. If we bind a Spirit of Error, then we loose a Spirit of Truth.

There are 3 powerful satanic covens of 21 persons. They are distributed in Monterray, CA, Phoenix, AZ and the third in Idaho. L.A. also has a fourth headquarters for the Coven of the 21st Star. These 21-person-covens are made up of very intelligent, powerful persons. These type of covens attract powerful commander demons. Within the co-author's area, Bend, Portland and Eugene areas in Oregon have powerful covens. The power of these types of powerful covens will be reflected in the spiritual world.

Paul under the Spirit's inspiration wrote, "while we do not look at the things which are seen, but at the things which are not seen. For the things which are seen are temporary, but the things which are not seen are eternal." 2 COR 4:18 The invisible things are more important that the visible. If we recognize this, the Word of God says that this will help us keep from losing heart! "Therefore we do not lose heart. Even though our outward man is perishing, yet the inward man is being renewed day by day." 2 COR 4:16

Spirits are in a sense a mirror image world. They are placed in the victim first. The programming and the images that are built will be built with their cooperation and guardianship. Spirits are appointed to protect each program and each memory. A spirit commander called a chief executive is set in command of the victim's life. Military command structures around the world are structured on how the demonic command structure exists. Some soldiers have the same function, but are not actually the exact same person. So it is with demons. Victims have their own individual demons, but they are models of what that type of demon is supposed to act like.

The child is exposed to films, books and stories. The spirits interact within the person's mind to lock these pictures in place. The demons in a sense serve as mirrors within the child's mind, reflecting the images the child needs to fix in the mind. As the programmer, child and demons structure the internal world, the demonic spirits will guard these structures. The force or energy behind the structures is the demons. In order to guard things further, demonic castles and temples will exist within a system to guard it. Entire spiritual quadrants will exist, that are entirely spiritual and contain absolutely no alters.

These spiritual worlds can not be seen physically. Only spiritual power and discernment can reveal them. In fact, while the normal person uses 5 senses, the Illuminati teach their alters and people in demonology to use 7 spiritual senses.

The child will be shown films and stories, but will then be programmed to forget them. However, the demonic spirits will guard these concepts. The core is involved in giving energy toward these spiritual programming goals. The willful contribution of energy to these demonic goals must be guarded so the core is hidden. While other children are playing with children, the victim of Monarch Mind-control slavery is being taught to dance and play with internal playmates which are demons. This is to familiarize the child to the spirit world. The child's family becomes its internal world. There are some teachers in public schools and pre-schools that are openly helping children do this.

All the time that the programming is going on, the spiritual world stays hidden in the darkness. Gnomes, sometimes called dwarfs, are one of the four divisions of nature spirits. They know where the gold is within the earth. This is why Joseph Smith, Jr. who was from an important generational occult bloodline which has generational programmed MPDs, did magic to elemental spirits when he was looking for jewels and gold as a young man. In reflection of this, the Gnomes (also known as dwarfs, elves, or minihunes) of the internal world mine the gold and jewels--the programs of the System. Illuminati programmer Manly P. Hall wrote in his classic book The Secret Teachings of all Ages on page CVI, "...there are many types of gnomes evolving through the subjective ethereal body of Nature. These earth spirits work in an element so close in vibratory rate to the material earth that they have immense power over its rocks and flora, and also over the mineral elements in the animal and human kingdoms. Some,...work with the stones, gems and metals, and are supposed to be the guardians of hidden treasures."

The Disney family and the Disney corporations are part of the occult world. While the names Dopey, Happy, Bashful, Sleepy, Grumpy, Sneezy, and Doc sound like names picked to please children, they are actually the translation from Scandinavian of the demonic dwarfs Toki, Skavaerr, Varr, Duri, Orinn, Grerr, and Radsvid. Note that Disney placed a character with a green mask in a dark mirror, and had in his shows what was called the "Spirit of the Magic Mirror" which was also called The Slave of the Magic Mirror.

The Monarch slaves "most precious programs" are concealed in the ground and are guarded by the gnomes built internally by the programming. These gems have power that is channeled from Satan.

Most of the readers thought Snow White and the 7 Dwarfs was simply a harmless piece of fiction. They most likely didn't realize that it is demonology. An example of the importance of these types of spirits is Findhorn's use of them. Findhorn Institute in Scotland, which has branches by other names in other countries, is like the Vatican of the New Age. It secretly sends out orders to many witches and New Agers. To spell it out clearer, Findhorn, the Vatican of the New Age movement, is one of the channels of communication from the secret Illuminati councils to their people worldwide. The success of Findhorn's community, according to Findhorn is their use of elemental gnome spirits in their gardening and planting.

What is someone who believes in good spirits to do with this information? To recognize that the patterns for the programming are inspired by demons, are held in place by demonic energy and are guarded by demons. The programming can be collapsed upon itself if this demonic "glue" is taken away. But only a few individuals understand the spiritual forces behind the programming. This understanding takes spiritual eyes. If the spiritual is not dealt with, the person can be reprogrammed at will by the demonic entities that still control the victim. This is the "missing piece that has frustrated advanced secular therapists.

Within Illuminati slaves, they will have the All-seeing Eye placed in their system guarded by legions of demons. Within the very eye of the all-seeing eye, the Programmers will place some actual alters. There will also be demons placed within the construct too. The De-programmer must be careful to separate the demonic from the human element and get the alters who are held captive in the eye out. The Programmers do a great deal of mixing demons with alters, and they place alters all over the system in captive or hostage situations so that the System of Alters is literally blackmailed into cooperating if they don't want to hurt parts of themselves. The Programmers do both internal and external blackmail.

Within the Monarch programming, the demons are layered in between the worlds. In the older Illuminati programming, mirrors were placed into the System and the demons were layered behind the mirrors. The mirrors would separate levels within the mind. The demons would protect the mirrors. If a Monarch alter would shatter a mirror, the demons behind it are released and all hell breaks loose in their mind. Therapists who have tried everything for years to deal with the mirrors, have found that a few minutes of correct spiritual warfare accomplished more than years of trying psychological techniques.

In the 1980 models of Monarch slaves, the Programmers began placing a planet of alters, interspersed with a planet of demons, as they would build a solar system. This had the same layering effect as the mirrors. The demons then would be assigned to protect the different levels, in this case represented by different orbiting planets.

Principle demons that are popular to place into Monarch systems are:

Æsculapius--the satanic miracle healer, related to Apollos, in the pagan world he was depicted with his head encircled with rays. In order to show pagans that it was O.K. to worship Jesus, the Catholic church put the golden rays of Æsculapius around pictures of Jesus. He is also at times represented as the sacred snake.
Absolom--, Amon--(various spellings) A marquis of Hell, who has the gift of prophecy.
Apollyon - This demon is over the bottomless pit and is described by REV 9:11. Demon of fear and destruction, who may be a deep part of a System.
Apollo--The AntiChrist's father
Astar (Star, Ashtareth, Ashtaroth, Astarte, Ishtar)-Bible students will find this demon referred in many Bible passages including JDG 2:13 ACTS 20.
Balilo-- witch demon, Beelzebub-- Ruling demon
Beliah--the chief demon, with the name meaning "worthless one". Beliel-- sexual demon, Bes-- Spirit ruling the dwarfs. Blackwell--legion demon, upper rank, to divide the mind. Blood(aka Yahweh Elohim)--dark spirit using God's name & part of Black Mass, conn. w/ early 3-year-old trauma to "locked-up child".
Choronzon--to help with constructing the mind control
Dameon--

Dagon--the fish god over water. The fish sign was adopted by elements of the Catholic church to secretly keep Dagon worship alive. The Pope wears the garb that the Pontiface Maximus wore as leader of the cult of Dagon. One system had a water monster named CTHULHU.
Electra--
Enigma-- , Geb--voice behind the earth spirit,
Gerberus--
Guardian angels--the Illuminati may assign guardian angels called Hafaza.
Javen--double-minded demon
Kali--bloody female goddess
Kemosh
Leviathon (Seen as a sea-monster, or Tyrannosaurus Rex, or Dragon-like)-This demon runs up and down the spine. Leviathon is related to the Babylonian reptilian God Tiamet (which looks like the Reptilian aliens portrayed today.) Is tied to the double-helix. It can actually be three spirits. Bible students can read about Leviathon in Job 3:8, Job 41:8, 15, 22, PS 74:14, ISA 27:1
Lilith--a bloody demon, known as the "terror of the night". The occult story is that she was Adam's wife before Eve, and that her offspring with Adam were demonic-human monsters. It might be worthy to mention that in Druidism, the life-force or energy force is considered to be the Dragon. There are several names for this Dragon including Wyvern, nwyvre, or the winged lion.
Mammon--the demon of avarice
Meganosis--
Metatron--Sometimes said to be Enoch.
Moriah-
Moloch (also spelled Molech)--The various satanic-luciferian groups that program offer child sacrifices to Moloch, an internal Temple of Moloch may guard the innocent blood of children sacrificed during ceremonies. Historically, the people in Israel sacrificed children to Moloch at Tophet in the Valley of Hinnom near Jerusalem. Drums (tophim) were beat so the cries of the children couldn't be heard.
Mormo- Important demon placed in Mormon Monarch slaves.
Nanna-
Nemo--Mormon programming
Octopus--blood sucking demon
Orion--placed over Mormon victims, the name Orion is popping out all over the place, Pan-protector of woods
Ronwe-Squat--a number of Illuminati Monarchs report that this demon gives them the ability to understand foreign languages, Shu--does internal weather magic Others incl.-Typhon (program tunneling connections in the mind), Verono, Vultar Val (legion), Pan whose depression sends one Rege (drugs), who sends one to Bacchus(addiction) which then starts a bondage loop.

THE JOKERS

The everyday demons who the alters have to contend with if they step out of line, are the Jokers. Jokers can jump out of the mirrors and drag an alter into the looking glass world. Alters going into the system away from their assigned living quarters end up in mazes of mirrors. The mazes of mirrors can't be broken because demons are placed behind the mirrors. However, deliverance methods work well to destroy the power of these demonic protected mirrors.

Many, if not most of the occult world do not view spirits as evil. Illuminati children are taught that these spirits are playmates. Since the child is not allowed real friends, they are happy to have demons to play with inside their mind. One major religion whose adherents publicly seek spirit (demonic) possession--although they again view spirits as being capable of both good and evil, neutral in connotation much like the Greek gods, is Voodoo.

VOODOO (Vaudou)

In discussing how trauma-based mind-control is done, voodoo must be included as a component. Many of the Mind-controlled slaves have had voodoo as part of their trauma, and many had voodoo dolls placed into their Systems. When vows and oaths are made, an object is given to the satanic cult or the Illuminati for the Keeper of the Seals to guard. If the vow is broken voodoo magic can be used against the offender by using the object given in the sealing.

Voodooism came from Africa, where it is called Ju-Ju. A recent book Blood Secrets is the true story of demon worship and human sacrifice by a former JuJu high priest Isaiah Oke, who gave up JuJu magic for the Christian faith. The Basuto in Africa call witches "baloi", the Akans say "obayifo" and the Lovedu say "vuloi". There are different names and variances of magical practices, but what most people don't realize is that these are just different styles of JuJu-ism. The JuJu priests (called a babalawo) will rule the religious/magic lives of an African village. JuJu is satanic, and much of it is kept secret by its high priests. The Priests take blood oaths of secrecy.

The West African name for Satan is Esu. A group in Phoenix, AZ claims to be in contact with an alien named Jesus Esu Sananda.

Another word that has come from Voodoo is the word zombie.

Many members of the Illuminati go to the Caribbean and South America to attend Illuminati rituals. Umbanda (Brazilian satanism), which is sometime mistakingly called Macumba, openly has satanic rituals on Copacabana Beach. Many of the elite have made their pilgrimage to Copacabana Beach, incl. european royalty and the Pope. There are 7 bloodlines in Umbanda, and a newcomer must join one of these. If Amer. Illum. slaves have memories of Argentina and other Latin American countries, the memories could easily be true. The Illuminati within the Jehovah's Witnesses' Bethel HQ (which are programmed multiples) have used quiet islands in the Bahamas for rituals. In 1958, it is believed (according to 2 partly de-programmed multiples) that it was Andros Is., Bahamas which they used for their rituals.

In Haiti, Voodoo, called Vaudou, is the religion of the majority of the people, about 90% of the people. This is interesting because it gives us an example of what the situation is like when an entire nation regularly seeks to be demon possessed. Possession behavior in the various black occult groups, such as Umbanda (brazilian satanism), Haitian Vaudou, and the St. Vincent Shakers (also called Zeckeeboom people) is a learned behavior. Candidates for mediumship in Sao Paulo Umbanda are given special training in trance & possession. They use dissociation techniques such as focusing on a lighted candle, or turning the person and snapping the fingers to put people in trance. In the U.S., because demon possession seems rare to psychiatrists, they have labeled demon possessed people as "crazy". However, in Haiti, an entire nation regularly conducts rituals to become demon possessed. Since the norm is to be demon possessed, it fails to be abnormal behavior. Many of the other labels and explanations that psychiatrists find easy to give concerning demon possession in the U.S. obviously just don't explain what is happening in Haiti. Some of the explanations given by psychiatrists for demon possession in Voodoo is a. repressed personality is coming to the surface, b. that the voodoo trance is an act to impress a crowd, c. it stems from hysterical nervous disorders, and d. it stems from psychopathy, neurosis, or schizophrenia.

a. In Haiti, demon possession of people can not be a repressed personality because the person being possessed of a demon must behave according to rigorous rules of how each demon is supposed to act. Far from expressing himself, the victim of demon possession tries to personify some mythical spirit whose character on the whole is foreign to himself.

b. In Haiti, most people who go into the demon possessed state are not observed closely because it is the norm for people to become demon possessed. People at the ceremonies may cast absentminded looks at the people being possessed, but the entire scenario gains the possessed person very little attention. Nor does an entire crowd in Haitian Voodoo get possessed, or go into a collective delirium. The excitement is quite varied with the crowds.

c. If explanation c. were true, it would mean an entire nation is hysterical and mentally deranged. 40 years ago it was shown that the Haitian people are not all hysterical, but that demon possession in Haiti was the normal means of communicating with supernatural powers. If demon possession trances were genetic in origin, then why do some groups of blacks from the same gene pool but living in other nations have absolutely little to do with the occult?

d. Investigators in Haiti have had to discount demon possession as a neurosis. According to one investigator the number of schizophrenics and psychotics is very small within cults like Voodoo. "Here the very marked lack of response to the cathartic therapies employed in possession cults in the case of seriously disturbed individuals...is itself a testimony to the robust mental health of the majority of participants....The latter have no difficulty at all in communicating their problems. They operate within a culturally standardized medium of communication. Nor in contrast to the true self-insulated psychotic, do they miss their "cues." They respond in the expected way, and others react equally predictably." A Brazilian psychiatrist said that no "frankly schizophrenic person would be able to pass the probationary scrutiny" involved to join this religious group. (These last two quotes come from a study of Black Religious groups.)

Interestingly, studies made of W.W. II war criminals show no personality differences between them and the normal population. Could it be possible that there really is a demonic element in the lives of people that helps move them in the direction of evil?

So`what is demon possession in Haiti's Voodooism? According to the Haitians a spirit which they call "loa" joins a person like a rider mounts a horse. The spirit then controls the person like a rider. The possessed person is called a "chual" which means horse, and the spirit is said to mount or saddle his victim. Blood sacrifices are often associated with the demon, and the possessed person will drink the blood from the sacrificed animal. Polished stones, and herbs, and trance and dissociative states are used to attract spirits.

While the Monarch slaves have trauma-based dissociative states, the practitioners of Voodoo have ritually induced dissociative states. Voodoo rituals will involve chanting, drums, at times handclapping and frenzied dancing to induce the dissociative states. In fact, several features have been identified which bring about dissociative states in the black religions of the Caribbean and South America. First they have dancing to a pronounced and rapid beat. Next, the induction into the dissociative state frequently follows a period of starvation and/or overbreathing (hyperventilation). The beginning of the demonic possession is characterized by a brief period of muscle inhibitions, or a collapse. The person who is experienced at being possessed acquires a specific behavior pattern for the deity that is supposedly controlling it. And finally, the head and limbs may tremor under trance, and the person may become dissociative enough that they can pick up red hot irons. The possessed can be conscious, semiconscious, or unconscious.

Studies made of this situation where an entire nation like Haiti actively seeks demonic possession allows us to discount some explanations and get a better picture of what demon possession isn't. It also helps to understand what is involved in demonic possession.

The first major authoritative work on Haitian Voodoo written in 1884 by Spencer St. John reported on the terror, the blood rites, and the cannibalism of Haitian Voodoo. This has been too much for some people to believe. Still, if people stop to realize how Voodoo came about it, it makes sense. Conservative estimates of the number of slaves brought into the port of Saint Dominque while it was a plantation colony are 900,000. The conditions on the island for the slaves was like a Nazi work camp. The cruelty on the colonial Haitian plantations was beyond comprehension. The Africans brought in as slaves already practiced JuJu. Under the crucible of the severe torture of slavery, the slaves formed Haitian voodoo, which is a conglomeration of African Voodoo, masonic rites, and European magic and Catholic saints and symbols. For 2 centuries, their African vaudou was these slaves only power against their cruel plantation owners, and is partly credited for helping Haiti become the first free black republic in the revolution of 1804.

In Haiti, Cuba, Brazil, Trinidad and other areas of the New World, where JuJuism has transformed itself into black occult religions, the old gods of Africa: Damballa, Erzilie, Legba, Obatala, Ogun, Oshun and others have been equated with Catholic saints and given the names of these saints.

The ritually induced dissociative states of Voodoo are generally accompanied by amnesia, that is lost time. During this lost time, the person acts as if he is a spirit (god). This is a ritual based dissociative state rather than a trauma-based dissociative state. The Illuminati Monarch programming at times attempts to combine the two bases--ritual and trauma--to create a dissociative state. This is why is it difficult to separate out the religious factor.

INDIA

Up to now there have been numerous cases of demonic possession in India, but there has been no case of a true multiple personality. The reason why is that the multiple's in the U.S.-Europe are being cranked out by trauma-based mind-control and the Illuminati hasn't been programming in India like the U.S. & Europe. As the slaves that are being created disperse, within time, we will eventually start seeing multiples in India. In the American Journal of Psychotherapy, Jan. 1981, p. 115, it states, "However, so far, no case of double or multiple personality so labeled by a psychiatrist, has been reported from India in the professional literature. Considering that hysterical disturbances in general are quite widespread in the country, this is surprising. On the one hand, it could mean an actual low prevalence of multiple personality in the country."

For those of us who understand what is happening, it is obvious why multiples aren't found in India. The fact that multiples aren't found in India ought to wake up people that multiple personalities is not "demon possession" nor is it simply the result of bad parenting or everyday type of horrendous trauma. Almost everyone has a trauma in their early life, and is somewhat dissociative, but that doesn't make them have multiple personalities, which are programmed and have separate histories and altar names. India has over twice the population of the U.S. and yet no multiples reported. After reading this book, the reader understands why not.

It might be appropriate to point out here that the early American cases of MPD (now called DID) are from bloodlines associated with the Illuminati. The first widely reported American case of MPD was Mary Reynolds in 1811. The Top 13 Illuminati Bloodlines covers the Reynold's bloodline as being a major Illuminati bloodline. Two other earlier Amer. MPD cases are one involving a man from Edinburgh University, Scotland and one found discussed in a letter in 1791 written by a Reverend Joseph Lathrop of Mass. to the President of Yale Ezra Stiles. (See Letters and Papers of Ezra Stiles, President of Yale College, 1778-1795. New Haven: Yale Univ. Press, 1933.) Those, who have tracked the conspiracy, or read Fritz's writings, know that Yale founded by the Unitarians has long been important for the Illuminati. The Unitarians have been connected with hermeticism and money from the start.

HOW THE ANTI-CHRIST SPIRIT CONTRIBUTES TO CONTROLLING THE SLAVE

Within the Illuminati hierarchy slaves, the Spirit of the Anti-Christ operates. The Mothers-of-Darkness are only allowed to become Mothers-of-Darkness after they marry the AntiChrist. The entire worldwide collection of Mothers-of-Darkness alters will serve the physical AntiChrist as a private harem when he takes over. They will also serve as an inner elite guard of the physical AntiChrist. They describe the consummation of the marriage with the AntiChrist as being badly burned. Because the AntiChrist, who is alive and well today, will be/is already the master handler and the master programmer a description of him is given in Appendix A.

How does the Spirit of the AntiChrist influence a Mind-controlled slave? Some of the things that this Spirit does to control individuals is to cause them to judge themselves. Another thing done to control the slave's alters to change their focus so they can't grow spiritually, bribe the person with enticing doctrines of demons, and mislead people from true freedom into religious bondage. We will clarify what we mean as we explain these things in the next few paragraphs.

Satan himself spawned the Anti-Christ spirit, as well as leading the demonic angels into their evil. The Spirit of the Anti-Christ has as its purpose the destruction of everything that God has built within the person--their looks, their curiosity of beauty, and their personhood itself. The Spirit of the AntiChrist is attached to the religious spirit when people get Christianity without the Spirit of Life.

Many Monarch slaves with the Anti-Christ spirit are working under the cover of being good Christians. The Bible even talks about them, "For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works." 2 COR 11:13-15.

The greek word translated "transforming" is also the source of our word masquerade. It means to have a front, with a hidden character behind the front. The words of the apostles warn Christians about "double-minded men" (JS 1:8) and that Satan's key people will masquerade with false fronts.

In contrast, the Scriptures admonish followers of Christ to have their public lives match their private lives.

Satan lavishes the Spirit of the AntiChrist upon his hierarchy. He doesn't lavish his spirit within what he views as the "rabble" of humanity, who do not directly serve him. When the Spirit comes into a person, it comes in as a cold clammy spirit that consumes all hope and all joy in life. Rather than being a fresh breeze bringing joy, this Spirit of the AntiChrist is like a vacuum sucking life. It is like being raped. Victims of this spirit, say they felt like they were raped and defiled by it. The person's own natural feelings of cleanliness will feel violated. This Spirit can touch our lives in different ways and at different levels. When our personal standards are violated, the person will often not forgive themselves. Instead, they judge themselves. This further illustrates how the AntiChrist sets up abusive patterns. By judging ourself, rather than forgiving, we set ourselves up as God, for only God can judge a person, for He is the only one who has a true standard and measuring stick to judge by. Captured by the cycle of abuse of the Spirit of the AntiChrist, a person will continue to beat up upon themselves. At some point we forgive ourselves, and in so doing we are saying that the memory no longer has mastery over us.

As Christ is the incarnation of God in the flesh, the AntiChrist will be the incarnation of Satan in the flesh. (cf. REV 13:4) Satan wanted God's power and glory, but not the character of God. The Spirit of the AntiChrist has a wisdom that it promotes which is "earthly, natural, demonic." (JAS 3:14-15) The Spirit of the AntiChrist will entice people with the Doctrine of Demons. (See 1 TIM 4:1) For instance, "For when they speak great swelling words of vanity, they allure through the lusts of the flesh, through much wantonness, those that are just escaping from them who live in error. While they promise liberty, they themselves are the servants of corruption..." 2 PTR 2:17-19

The AntiChrist Spirit breaks our ability to love God & others.

Satan's original pride came from selfishness. The Spirit of the AntiChrist brings selfishness, but it brings it in a hidden way. The AntiChrist Spirit will cause pain. Heaven, where the Spirit of the AntiChrist is absent--has no suffering. The hidden damage of pain is that it inflicts self-focus. Christ as he hung on the cross was able to continue to focus on others. While most men would have been thinking about themselves in self-pity Jesus was still thinking of others. He said to his mother, "Woman, behold your son." And to John, "Behold your mother." To paraphrase, Take care of my mother. Later he said, "Forgive them for they know not what they do." (See the Gospel of John) Jesus even brought someone to the Lord while he hung on the cross. He was evangelizing. Don't so many Christians look for the ideal situation to lead people to the Lord, yet Christ did it under the worst of conditions.

Self-focus, selfishness and pride are closely related. It is hard to point out where one begins and the other ends. The Spirit of the AntiChrist wants to draw others to its position of pride. So it inflicts pain and suffering, like it did to Job to draw the attention of the person off of Yahweh God and one's fellowman and onto oneself. All the commandments hang on us loving Yahweh God will all our heart, soul, and mind, and loving our neighbor as ourselves, but the AntiChrist Spirit gets our focus off of Yahweh and others and onto ourselves.

Bitterness may develop in us. Bitterness grieves the Holy Spirit. Bitterness will seat itself in our mind, and like a transponder will emit bitterness. A lack of peace and joy results. The Spirit of the AntiChrist has sidetracked the whole maturing process. As a child grows into an adult it learns to shift its focus from itself to others.

Can we go in and focus on our own problems and solve them? If part of the problem is self-focus, then the answer is "no." The answer lies in focusing on the Holy Spirit. Living and walking in the Spirit of Christ is the health we seek. (GAL 5:16; JN 15:1-11) Does it work? Yes. The authors know of many cases, where all kinds of individuals solved all kinds of problems by receiving the Holy Spirit into their lives.

They see the supernatural cleansing that happens, but many times they don't understand the principle behind what they just experienced. When some of their problems persist, do they turn again to focus on the Holy Spirit? Often they focus on themselves, self-pity, bitterness, etc. Counseling today often takes this approach. It is fine to identify the problem, but then following that- the solution is not to focus on the problem but to get out of the path of death.

The process of healing.

Healing may be a process, not an event. We break an arm in a second, it takes many months to heal. We break our capacity to love God and our fellowman, but we expect an instant cure. Anyone who has met the Spirit of the AntiChrist needs to learn how to love again. Love is an action word. One learns to hammer nails by hammering nails. One learns to type by typing. One learns to love by loving. The survivor who has been controlled by the Spirit of the AntiChrist may need to get a teacher of love, a "Loving teacher" so-to-speak.

PART J. THE USE OF ANGEL ALTERS

Many Illuminati models had "angels" or "spirit guides" created that could provide divine messages to the Monarch slave. The Illuminati/Intelligence agencies have been highly successful with controlling people via their religious beliefs by implanting alters who are seen by a Monarch slave as being a messenger from God or the god(s). For someone like, Loretta Lynn, they use spirits of Indians. Another example of this, is someone having 3 Black Angels. The concept is the same though. This works in closely with having demonic guides.

PART K. SCRIPTURES IN PROGRAMMING

An ex-Programmer states that the Illuminati Mind-Control intentionally used verses from every book of the Bible. The Programmers also intentionally used everything Jesus said in one distorted way or another in the programming. A person can pick up a Bible with Jesus' words in red, and get a quick idea of one area of the Bible which was heavily misused. The programmers love to reframe (twist) parables.

Billy Graham, who is a Monarch handler, is very adept at weaving in programming language in with biblical messages. For instance, as this book was being finished, in his 1995 televised Christmas message, given in front of a fireplace with 13 candles lit behind him, he said, "Come home so I can give you a new heart." A little later he activated the Plowshares programming, and a little later he said, "from the cradle to the cross to the ground", which is a phrase any deeper cult alter would have an entirely different meaning for than the person on the street.

Readers, who read chapter 5, will remember what was written about Billy Graham. When Billy Graham was in Portland, his ministry somehow got the addresses and phone numbers to all the Monarch survivors in the area, who he invited to a personal meeting with him. While he had his mind-control survivors gathered, he talked to them and set off their programming with their personal codes. This was observed by several witnesses. His ministry also sends codes via their messages flashed across the bottom of the T.V. screen.

The reader needs to bear in mind that bloody Satanic holidays occur around Christian holy days. The Winter Solstice occurs around Christmas. Every Christmas, the Illuminati covens around the world build mangers with children which the sacrifice. This is worked in to enhance the programming they are doing with their children. Around Easter time, the Illuminati do Death, burial and resurrection ceremonies (traumas). Nothing sacred to Christianity gets overlooked. The method that it is mocked depends on who is in control of that region's ceremonies.

The idea of using Scriptures for programming accomplishes several things:

a. therapists are usually secular and unfamiliar with the Bible. This prevents exposure of the programming cues and triggers and fronts.

b. ministers are usually unable to believe in psychology and mind-control programming and so their Bible knowledge is not of any therapeutic benefit because they are ignorant of Satan's devices. Some Christian ministers are putting out advice that Multiples need to be helped by simply telling "the person" to quit using multiplicity as a way to cop out of responsibility. First, there is no "person" who is using multiplicity as a cop out--the personality of the person has been shattered--and no one person represents the entire mind. Second, the person is not in control of their mind to stop what is happening. They are under total mind control.

c. the last place people would look for understanding Satanic programming is in the Bible.

d. when programmed multiples go to church, they can be used, and programmed by using Christian terms. There are "Christian" churches in Washington, Arkansas, Tennessee, and California and many other places which are 100% cult mind-control operations, such as the "Lord's Chapel."

e. When a programmed multiple tries to set themselves free by taking in spiritual knowledge of God, they find that the Bible is a programming trigger, that sets off programming or brings up some alter. Reading the book of 1 John might bring up the Illuminati's alter named Jesus.

f. The cult which is doing the programming by making a mockery of God, can build their egos and their pride. It may allow them to feel they are more powerful than God Almighty.

g. The victim can be told that "God" is telling them to do something. And who sets himself up as "god"? --the cult programmer.

There isn't anything in the Bible that can't conceivably be misused, but some of the Scriptures and their programming misuse are listed below. Scriptures that lend themselves to double-binds, to obedience or cover stories that seem to justify the programmer and the programming are used. Names of Queens and Kings in the Bible can be used for alter names. The men who wrote under inspiration, knew that scriptures could be misused, in 2 COR 4: 1-2 Paul writes about himself, "Therefore seeing we have this ministry, as we have received mercy, we faint not; but have renounced the hidden things of dishonesty, not walking in craftiness, nor handling the word of God deceitfully..." Clearly, mishandling the word of God deceitfully is an ancient art.

GENESIS--
Genesis Creation Story--cover story for the creation of parts of a slave's System Tree of Life--used to create an internal Cabalistic Tree of Life for alter magic Adam & Eve--code words
Garden of Eden--part of the System, usually the early pure part that needs to be guarded by "angels"(demons)
Angels--alters or demons placed into a System. Angles could be a method by which the abuser sends messages to the person, thus giving divine credibility to the programmer's message. Angel names can represent alters and demons placed into a person.
Sodom & Gomorrah--a type of suicide program
Genesis 22:17-18, "That in blessing I will bless thee, [the programmer as god is going to bless the victim with torture] and in multiplying I will multiply thy seed as the stars of the heaven, and as the sand which is upon the sea shore; and thy seed shall possess the gate of his enemies; and in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed [all the areas of the system]; because thou hast obeyed my voice." [the programmer's voice]
Melchizedek--a type of occult order or rank
Genesis 38--pledge of a signet, bracelet & staff--trigger cues to open up a System to obey.
Joseph & Esau's birthright--Satanic birthrights emphasized as if sanctioned by God's word.
EXODUS--The 12 (actually 13 with Manassah and Ephraim) Tribes of Israel can be used for the code names of alters and sections of alters.
House of Israel--code name for section/structure of a system
Plagues of Egypt--Program to terrorize a slave.
Oaths and Covenants--their existence in the Bible is used to emphasize the validity to Satanic oaths and covenants. The curses that God says will happen if disobedience takes place are used by the Handlers to instill fear into the victim, that if he doesn't comply, God's curses will fall on them. The Catholic/Jesuit programming relies heavily upon the Bible. The Bible verse ECL. 5:4 "When you make a vow to God, do not delay to pay it...It is better not to vow than to vow and not pay," is used by these Satanic programmers to hold their victims under vows made under duress, hypnosis, or deception. (DT 23:21 also emphasizes keeping your vows.) These Satanic Mind-controlled slave handlers do not tell their slaves that Numbers 30 states that many vows, such as the vows of children are null and void. The first fruits of things belong to the real God of the Bible and can't be vowed away. The Satanic groups like to take the first male child in mockery of what belongs to God. Evil vows, vows made under duress (just like contracts made under duress) are null and void. But the Handlers never tell their slaves these "finer points of the law." Instead, they use the Bible to justify their own goals.
I AM [one of the names of Yahweh]--used as a programming cue or name
EX 15- "I am the Lord that healeth thee". The programmer can apply this to himself as he helps rescue the victim from a manufactured life-threatening crisis.
Ten Commandments with LEV 20--used to belittle the victim to show him that he is rejected of God.
When the Programmer sets himself up as God, he can misapply all the verses calling on people to serve God such as DT 4:29 "Seek the Lord thy God, thus thou shalt find him, if thou seek him with all thy heart and with all thy soul." See DT 8:18 also DT 11:13, "love the Lord your God, and to serve him with all your heart and with all your soul." Of course many of the alters have been stripped of their hearts during programming and given a heart of stone. They do not have a real heart to serve God, but they can serve their master with their heart of stone.

OT HISTORICAL BOOKS--1 KG chapters 16-21, The story of Ahab, Jezebel, and Elijah. The Programmers play themselves in the role of Jehu coming to protect what is his. The only admirable thing for Jezebel to do, is to put her make-up on and prepare herself to die. This story is used to make a woman slave think that the only admirable thing to do is to prepare to die like Jezebel. The Vineyard of Naboth is also used as a programming theme.

The show Mysteries of the Bible is an example of how the Bible and television can work together to control a person. This show had an episode about Jezebel, Ahab and Jehu. It must be remembered that Dr. Green's internal alter in some victims is called Jehu, and that another programmer has taken the identity of Ahab and that one of the deep cats is the Grande Dame programmer represented by Jezebel. The effect of the show on one Monarch System was this: Jehu has the power over the gates and to bring judgement upon Ahab and Jezebel. Jezebel in the show Mysteries of the Bible is praised because when she knew she was going to die she got her makeup on and she got herself ready for Jehu and allowed herself to be killed. The System understood the show to mean in paraphrase: "this is a threat, you are to get yourself ready for Jehu or whoever and comply."

PROPHETS--
EZ (Ezekiel) 1:15-17 and the rest of the chapter. This whole chapter is used to build the internal circle within circles of interconnecting worlds of the alter system.
Jeremiah 18:3--When the child is 3 or 4, a utility program called the Potter Wheel is placed in so that the Programmer can work with an entire section of alters if he so desires. When an alter(s) go up on the wheel, they are available to be worked on. They will be asked to "stand in file according to rank and serial no."

EZ 37-The story of the Valley of Dry bones is used as a way of reactivating dead robots--or dead robotic clones within a Monarch system.

JER (Jeremiah) 47:3--in this verse horses show up when a boundary was crossed. This is used to put in protective programming.
Nahum 3:2--the sword=staff
The entire 3rd chapter of Nahum is used to make slaves feel that God has rejected them. They have no heart, because of their evilness.

DANIEL
Daniel 10--the Beast with 10 toes (used for programming in the Beast computer)

GOSPELS--
MT 5:13 "Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savior wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out and to be trodden under foot of men." This is used to justify punishment of the slave.

MT 6:22-23 "The lamp of the body is the eye. If therefore your eye is good, your whole body will be full of light. But if your eye is bad, your whole body will be full of darkness. If therefore the light that is in you is darkness, how great is that darkness!" These words are used with a mean programming trick where disobedient alters are pulled up, locked into placed, placed mentally within crystal chandeliers and then the sexual organs, mouth, and side of the brain are shocked in sequence. The "light" does a severe shattering to all the alters which experience the shocks. This shatters the disobedient alters and they are replaced with others.

MK 3:24-25, "And if a kingdom be divided against itself, that kingdom cannot stand. And if a house be divided against itself, that house cannot stand." Used to help justify backup programming that will not allow disobedience. The slave's front alters are told to go along with the rest of the System's desires, and if not, then the house (body) will fall (commit suicide). This type of scriptural programming is used in a demonic way to keep the victim from straying from the script of the mind-control.

MK 4:6 "But when the sun was up it was scorched, and because it had no root, it withered away." This is used to make sure the roots of the programming are not uprooted.

MK 4:28-32, "And he said, Whereunto shall we liken the kingdom of God?...It is like a grain of mustard seed...But when it is sown it groweth up and becometh greater than all herbs, and shooteth out great branches; so that the fowls of the air may lodge under the shadow of it." In the programming, a tree is programmed mentally into the victim's entire body. This tree carries the programs, and the birds nest in it. This scripture is used for the imagery of part of that programming.

MK 5--This entire chapter deals with the story about Legion (which is a large number of demonic spirits). The story is also found in MT 8:33. Legion is placed into the person to guard the All-Seeing-Eye.

LK 1:46-52, When a person is traumatized and the Master is allowed to save the victim, he can present himself as Savior and will use this scripture to buttress his authority.

LK 11:9-10, "And I say unto you, Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened unto you. For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened." This is used to reinforce the knocking triggers that open up a system. MT 7:8 is almost identical to this scripture.

JN 15:4, "As the branch cannot bear fruit of itself, except it abide in the vine; no more can ye, except ye abide in me." This is used to force the slave to stay within the programming script, so that the fruit (the programs) will not be damaged. The slave has been given lots of alters and demons whose only assignment is to protect that fruit-bearing (the program-bearing) capability of the System. This chapter continues, "If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you....If you keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love." JN 15:7,10 In other words, the Master is telling the slave, if you do what I command, you remain in my love, but I will pull my love away if you don't comply.

ACTS 17:28, "For in him we live, and move, and have our being; as certain also of your own poets have said, For we are also his offspring." The slave is bonded totally with their master. His existence is their existence.

PAUL'S WRITINGS--

ROM 1:7, "And he said unto them, It is not for you to know the times or the seasons, which the Father hath put in his own power." The slave is to depend upon the Master called God for all this.

ROM 1:18, "For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness." Used by the Programmer/handler to justify their wrathful abuse.

ROM 6:16, "Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey; whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness." This scripture is a good one to use with ROM 13:1 to make the slave think that obedience to the Master's authority is righteousness.

ROM 7:22, "For I delight in the law of God after the inward man." God is the Programmer, and the slave is to delight in the programmer's laws.

ROM 9:20-22, "Nay but, O man, who art thou that repliest against God? Shall the thing formed say to him that formed it, Why hast thou made me thus?

"Hath not the potter power over the clay, of the same lump to make one vessel unto honour, and another unto dishonour?

"What if God, willing to show his wrath, and to make his power known, endured with much longsuffering the vessels of wrath fitted to destruction."

The programmers teach the alters that the Programmers are the Potter and the alters and their minds are the clay. What right does the clay have to question the Potter. This is a powerful verse used to insure compliance and acceptance of the programming.

ROM 13:1, "Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God." There is the perfect scripture to be misused to prove to the slave that their master has to be God or at least ordained by God. Who has power? where does power and authority come from? God. This is a favorite verse within the Catholic realms to demand loyalty to authority. To defy their authority is to defy God. It is the perfect double-bind for the slave.

1 COR 3:16, "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you? If any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy; for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are." The slave has a temple built into their System and they are told that their master is God. If they defile that temple (by touching the programming)--their master will destroy them.

1 COR 11:27, "Wherefore whosoever shall eat this bread, and drink this cup of the Lord, unworthily, shall be guilty of the body and blood of the Lord." Actual blood and an actual human body are consumed. The person is told they must be worthy of this or else they are guilty.

2 COR 1:22 "God; who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts." Can be applied to the Programmer, who is God.

2 PTR 2:22--Slaves are cursed with the verse and as dogs told to return to their own vomit. During the tortures of eating foul things, the slave doesn't want to vomit--because it is a standard practice to make slaves eat their own vomit.

REVELATION (OR APOCALYPSE)--
The White Stones of REV. 2:17--The deeper alters go through a ceremony where the white stone is taken and a black stone with their name is given.

REV. 6-8. The 7 seals are used for Armageddon Suicide programming. First, the white, second the fiery red, third the black seal, and the fourth is pale, it is death & hades, fifth, is blood and beheading, sixth, is earthquakes internally, and the seventh is golden which is silence.

RV 21--The description of heaven is used to build internal structures and the stones used in heaven are used for access points. "The street of the city was pure gold, like transparent glass." RV 21:21 lends itself to Wizard of Oz Yellow Brick Road programming. The words "Alpha and Omega" are programming triggers. The trumpets and seals of Revelation and the horses of judgement are all part of the charismatic Monarch Mind Control.

THE BIBLE IS OPPOSED TO MIND CONTROL& PROVIDES MANKIND WITH AN ANCIENT WARNING.

The prophets of the Bible warned that mind control would dominate the world in the last days. For instance Paul wrote, "Now the Spirit speaketh expressly that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils." 1 TM 4:1,2 "...the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not..." 2 COR 4:4/ Along this line Jesus the greatest prophet said, "When the Son of Man comes [referring to his own second coming], will he find the faith on the earth?" Lk 18:8

Paul warns "Let no man deceived you by any means: for that day shall not come, except there come a falling away first [from the truth]." 2 THES 2:3,4

He tells us that in the last days people will not endure sound doctrine which means sound teachings. The prophet John warn that the love of the truth was all that would protect people in the end times from the mass deceptions coming. It is this mass mind control and individual mind control which allows the satanic New World Order to carry out a world-wide satanic conspiracy right under the noses of the world's citizenry without the majority of people even being alarmed!

"...The whole world lies in the control of the evil one." 1 JN 5:19

Part L. THETA PROGRAMMING

Theta Programming got its name just as the Alpha, Beta, and Delta Programming in part from the four types of EEG brain waves. Theta waves are frequent in children. The 4 types of waves are rated according to their wave frequencies which are delta- 1-3 cycles/sec; theta 4 to 7 cycles/sec; alpha 8 to 13 cycles/sec; and beta 13+ cycles per second.

Psychic warfare became a branch of the Monarch Programming. This is the Theta Programming. It is the marriage of occult practices with state of the art science. The idea to be able to copy what Elisha did to the King of Syria (2 KG 6:11-12) when he "telepathically" spied on the enemy, discovered their plans, and thereby ruined their chances of success. Today this has been called "ESPionage", and the U.S. Army's term is "psychotronics". Of course, the CIA's position is that they couldn't find anything that worked, but that is simply not true, because the co-authors know of many Theta alters and Theta model systems which have Theta programming which is successful.

Black magicians have been honing their skills on how to deflect magical attacks for centuries. Are their efforts superstition and empty nonsense, or do they really have efficacy? The Illuminati and Hitler believed in black magic. And in recent times, the other groups involved in trauma-based mind-control have also looked into magic based psychic warfare. For those readers who skipped the split-brain programming section, you may want to read that section to find out how the Illuminati create alters via split-brain programming who are very intuitive and capable of interacting in higher demonic spheres such as the occult planes of the magical Watchtowers.

Some of the groups who did research for the Monarch's Theta Programming are:

AiResearch (AI can stand for artificial intelligence) Manufacturing Co., Torrance, CA (such as psychic warfare & ESP)
Biological Dept. of Air Force Research, Baltimore, MD (telepathy)
Bell Telephone, Boston, MS (telepathy)
Defense Intelligence Agency
Duke University Parapsychology Lab, Durham, N.C. (parapsychology, ESP, telepathy)
Garret Air Research Corp., El Segundo, CA. (ESP, ELF)
General Electric, Schenectady, NY
Institute of Noetic Sciences
Maimonides Dream Lab in Maimonides Medical Ctr., Brooklyn, NY
NASA (telepathy and many other things)
National Institute of Mental Health (funneled money to telepathy/clairvoyance projects for the CIA)

Naval Surface Weapons Center and China Lake
Princeton Univ., (ESP, remote perception, telepathy)
Stanford Research Institute
Veterans' Administration Hospitals

Whether the public perceives Psychic warfare as viable or not, billions of dollars have been spent on it, and numerous Theta models produced. Twelve psychics in a room together are said to be able to guide missiles which are fired. There are a number of excellent books that have come out on the subject. The New Earth Battalion and the Delta forces of the U.S. Army consist of Monarch slaves trained in Psychic warfare. (The reader is invited to read for instance John White's book *Psychic Warfare Fact or Fiction? (*Wellingborough, UK: The Aquarian Press.) Col. John B. Alexander has been one of the more visible and prominent military men assigned to training and providing the U.S. Army some elite units of warrior-monks who can fight with both martial arts and psychic warfare. Of course, they picked their elite mind-controlled programmed multiples for this. Col. Alexander's position has director of "the Advanced System Concepts Office" in Adelphi, MD. He has worked with Col. Michael Aquino with Monarch slaves. Upper level martial arts involves the use of the occult. The Ninji are one of the few groups who openly realize that their martial art power comes from demonic powers. A half crow/half man spirit empowers them. The Samurai would kill the Ninji because they used witchcraft in warfare. But the Samurai and many other martial arts also use occult powers, which are actually different forms of witchcraft and demonology, even though they don't recognize it as such. Now American Monarch slaves in the U.S. First Earth Battalion are taught to throw energy balls, to move people during hand to hand combat, and do other things using occult forces. (Yes, these warrior/monk groups are even getting into blood sacrifices.)

In 1987, The Seattle Times, ran a front page story on Lt. Col. Jim Channon, who worked with the military Theta models. The story is entitled "The New Army's experiment with 'New Age' thinking". The article says, "So the army tried 'New Age' thinking - the idea that the world can be changed by changing the way people think about it, and that the mind has invisible but tangible powers yet to be tapped. Centers were established at Fort Ord, Calif., and in Washington, D.C., to explore the intriguing idea that mind power plus firepower could either win wars or make them unnecessary. From 1980 to 1982 the proposals were expanded at Fort Lewis by Lt. Col. Jim Channon....The Army began by finding young officers enthused with 'new thought' and combining them with skeptical scientists. The two groups were quickly dubbed 'the butterflies [an appropriate name for Monarch mind-control men] and the bees.'...One result was an Army think tank at the Pentagon that evaluated the paranormal - unusual psychic or mental phenomena. It brought in proponents of extra sensory perception (ESP), mental spoon-bending, people who 'channeled' spirits and even a helmet designed to unite the left (logical) and right (intuitive) halves of the brain."

Col. John B. Alexander, US Army and part of the Monarch Programming, wrote for Psychic Warfare, "Psychotronics may be described as the interaction of the mind and matter. While the concepts may stretch the imagination of many readers, research in this area has been underway for years, and the possibility for employment as weaponry has been explored. To be more specific, there are weapons systems that operate on the power of the mind and whose lethal capacity has already been demonstrated." Some of those systems are Monarch systems of the Theta Model, and many of those in the military are young men of the Illuminati. Some have been seen at NORAD, in Colorado, which helps confirm that Theta models are being employed to bring in the Anti-Christ. (NORAD is a main center for Alex and Janus end-timed programming.)

THE FIRST EARTH BATTALION

The First Earth Battalion is a banner under which the forces of good in the world can unite and find strength in spirit with others who share a common goal. Warrior Monks are guardians of the good, guardians of humanity, nature and the planet. Warrior Monks in the United States Army are already teaching soft tactics. Others in the fields of economics, politics, and international affairs are already searching for new ways to work for the greater good in their own arenas. The modern Citizen Samurai in day to day existence is engaged in moral combat to reorganize and focus personal life to its highest good.

This manual was created from the ideas and teachings of over a hundred groups on the New Age Frontier of the West Coast of the United States. It is a primary tool to assist you in giving and getting the most possible from your experience in a human form in the physical realm of this planet earth. It will assist you in preparing for possibilities and events about which you may presently not even be able to dream. Prepare yourself so you will be ready... Begin your work locally until the call goes out for global action.

motto
"Think globally Act locally."

guidelines

The manual is a self instructional workbook which contains operational procedures for changing old patterns of action into new ones. The reader can benefit by practicing the exercises contained and by reading and studying the manual as a reference textbook.

Awareness training, bodywork, martial arts, and spirit work are included in the manual as well as the advanced tactical ideas of the First Earth Battalion itself. Visual concepts will help the reader grasp many of the multi-dimensional ideas. A bibliography is included for further study. Where possible, names and addresses of various groups are included for the training described.

The ideas included are the most powerful and workable concepts gleaned from visits to over one hundred advanced human performance useful for many to do the work in some detail and then periodically use the pages as "flash cards" to keep their awareness at the highest useful level.

This manual is experimental and will be revised after the first limited edition goes out . . . is critiqued . . . added to . . . and refined for mass consumption. The drawings and verbiage were executed by Jim Channon after each of his visits. The follow-up manuals or supplements promise to continue these reports from the frontier of the third wave world.

THE FIRST EARTH BATTALION

Col. Alexander claims that the ability to transfer energy from one person to another has been proven, that emanations of body energy have been proven and picked up by Kirlian photography, and finally that hypnotic states have been induced telepathically.

The Pentagon and the CIA spent many millions of dollars on ESP, at least $6 million per year. According to the information that has leaked, there are psychic humans, but the ability is not a consistent ability available for all.

In the early 1980s it came out that the Navy had 34 psychics, who they paid $400 a month, to track Soviet subs. The CIA claimed during the cold war that 200 Russian experts were working on telepathy.

Many of the Illuminati's Monarch slaves will speak about learning on the astral plane. One reason it is difficult to deprogram a slave, is because the deeper parts know how to astral project, and can carry out the demonology which helps their master to astral project to them so that the System can be reprogrammed. Whether the therapist believes in demonology or not, if the therapist deprograms a client and then finds out that the deeper parts have undone the work via the astral plane, the therapist should look into how to manage this problem. This type of reprogramming rarely needs to occur because few slaves are ever even partially deprogrammed.

One of the most skilled programmers of Astral Projection is the Programmer B. Bowers. He is known nationally for this skill. He worked with the famous Manly P. Hall, who also had a reputation in the Illuminati for Astral Projection. Astral projection is accomplished by a focused trance where the spirit by demonic power leaves the body and travels to a particular point. Grand Masters within the Illuminati can give lessons to students on the astral plane. Much of their Illuminati occult learning, according to some Illuminati slaves was done on the astral plane. We will discuss several methods on how this is done.

The traditional druidic method (the three stepping stone method) to teach astral projection called "spirit flight" is to get 3 stones, a silver one, a gold one and a black one. Three small stones which are painted would work. The silver represented the female, and the properties of silver. The gold represented male and the properties of gold. And the black stone represented midnight and the unknown and the properties of coal. The silver stone will be placed at a carefully selected location at some distance from the student's house, and then farther out the gold stone will be placed, and still further out the black stone. During sleep the Druidic student will practice seeking out the "three stepping stones" in order.

Telepathy has been developed by the Illuminati, but is a closely guarded secret, which their Illuminati slave alters are trained in. Telepathy is used by Delta teams to coordinate their activity and to sense if one of them is in danger. Duke University (which ties back to the Duke/Reynolds Illuminati bloodlines) has done massive amounts of research into psychic abilities. Only certain people have the ability to be a psychic. A certain type of brain structure is required and the CIA has identified and mapped everyone with this natural ability in the U.S.

However, the Programmers are not above "cheating" in creating psychic phenomena within the slave's mind too. Since slaves can not be consistently given Theta programming, a surgical implantation of a sodium/lithium powered high frequency receiver/transducers coupled with a multi-range discharge capacitor was placed into the brains of Monarch slaves. This gives the handlers the ability to signal by remote signals to the victim's brain. When the receiver picks up the signals they electronically stimulate certain areas of the brain which in turn triggers pre-set programming. Implants are now being placed in a high percentage of the Monarch slaves.

HOW OUT OF BODY EXPERIENCES (ASTRAL PROJECTION) ARE DONE

Another method of creating psychic phenomena with the aid of electronics is astral projection using sound waves. This method seems to work fairly consistently, although it is possible it wouldn't work for some people. It was discovered that astral projection occurs at a point that the body is asleep and the mind is awake. Focus 10 is the state of mind where the body is asleep and the mind is awake, and with the proper stimuli the mind can wander off into the astral plane. A few odd people get into the Focus 10 state by themselves, but it is rare. The brain works off of waves that are less than 16 hz. and the human ear can't hear anything below 30 hz. so at first it appears sound waves can't influence the brain. However, if one ear hears 100 hz. and the other ear hears 104 hz. the brain will hear a ghost beat of 4 hz. 4 hz happens to be a theta/delta frequency on the border of sleep and waking that can possibly launch an astral trip. Focus 10 is just the starting point for astral travel. Focus 12, 15, 21 and beyond are the real trip. When a person astral projects it is said to change the EEG pattern to a special pattern called Alphoid.

To stimulate someone to astral project they are induced into sleep, and then just as they lose consciousness, the mind is jolted awake with some high-frequency beta signals. The body remains asleep, and the mind is then free from the body to wander. A hemispheric synchronizer (which was patented in 1975) is used to get both hemispheres working together. Those who want to read more on this subject might start with Journeys Out of the Body by Robert A. Monroe, and Far Journeys, and D. Scott Rogo's Leaving the Body: A Complete Guide to Astral Projection, and A Traveller's Guide to the Astral Plane by Steve Richards.

OTHER THETA CONTROLS

ELF (Extremely Low Frequency Waves) are being used to modify people thoughts, implant thoughts, and modify their emotions, such as make a person angry. ELF weapons are being used on civilian targets in the U.S.

High pitched sounds, and helicopter flying with P7 mind control equipment are also augmenting the abilities of the Illuminati/Intelligence Agencies/NWO Network.

TELEPATHY

Essentially all Illuminati slaves have dark side alters who are taught to be telepathic. There will be differing opinions as to whether this is real or imagined. IF it is real, and we will work off of that assumption, then how do the Illuminati do it? Again there are varying opinions about how it mechanically works--it appears that it may involve all or part of the following components:

a. The human nervous system is able to change the gravitational constant in a field surrounding a person. If the sender had a low field and the receiving party had a higher than normal field, thoughts can flow from the sender to the receiving party.

b. Somehow altered states of consciousness influence telepathy. Experiments with two people who simultaneously hypnotize each other, have found that they enter a shared world in which they do not have to verbally speak to communicate.

c. Demonic spirits provide insights to those who are involved in the occult world, as a method to further entrap the occultist. In other words, the person is cooperating with some other intelligence. Although the various occult groups have different ways of explaining telepathy, with Alice Bailey & Lucis Trust (and spin off groups like the I AM movement) it is explained that you are an ascended master. In some groups, telepathy is described as putting on energy and then controlling that energy. It is seldom in the occult world that telepathy is linked with demonology. However, those in the occult world who are skilled in demonology are fully aware that the "energy" that one controls to carry out telepathy are demons. In the occult, the telepathic person must control his demon and then send it to another person. The first person's demon must then control a kindred spirit in that person. High ranking demonology, such as in the high ranks of the Illuminati, would view telepathy as the ability to control demons.

d. An excess of negative ions in the atmosphere has significantly increased telepathic scores in experiments.

When telepathy occurs, researchers have noted that the parasympathetic nervous system is activated, & this occurs along with an increased amount of acetylcholine in the brain.

According to the high levels in the occult, there are 7 points in the Auric Body. These points are not on the physical body, but are on what is called the etheric body (or the body's astral energy) whose location is approximately in the same locality as the physical body, except that it extends for a few inches beyond. The 7 points--(all important demonic portal points) are the top of the head, the third eye, the throat, the chest-heart area, the solar plexus, the lower abdomen, and the genital area. (The back of the head and the spleen make up 2 other points that are not considered as active. There are 21 minor centers, and 49 focal points found on the human body.) Streams of energy called nadis carry the astral energy to where the sender's mind focuses to have the energy taken. The recipient feels this energy in the solar plexus. Another area that is said to be active during telepathy is the throat. The throat area on the etheric body is said to be able to transmit mental thoughts if the sender and receiver are in harmony and rapport, and are dissociated. Intuitional telepathy is said to be a function of the third eye and the throat areas working together to send thoughts. In review, there are several different types of telepathy, all of which use different points of the etheric body.

Whether therapists believe in telepathy or not, if they work with Illuminati slaves who feel comfortable to express themselves, then the therapists will find out that the deeper parts have been trained in mind reading and telepathy.

An Illuminati Monarch mind-control slave will be twinned with another Monarch. If these two persons are in the same room and send forth a glance of love toward each other, they will establish a connecting energy link that allows them to telepathically communicate. When two Multiple personality Systems meet, there will be communication going on dozens of levels as all types of alters seek out their counterparts and begin to communicate.

A drug containing alkaloids derived from the Ayahuasca vine in Brazil is said to place a person into the telepathic state. Canada outlawed it in 1947 after a company sold it publicly in 1946. The U.S. may also have outlawed the drug. Sodium amytal destroys psychic abilities, and caffeine enhances them.

Also a positive intent by the receiver and the correct emotions of both parties helps.

KILLING FROM A DISTANCE

Various methods have been attempted by the military to give their warrior monks the ability to kill by psychic powers. One reported project in the late 1970s, which appears to have tried to link technology with some previous occult ideas, was called Dreamscan. When a person was in his dream state, waves matching brain waves are to be generated by some type of hardware, in order to cause the death of the sleeper. Some intelligence assets in AT&T were said to be involved in this.

IN QUICK REVIEW

The military and the Illuminati are using telepathy, psychic warfare, astral projection and other occult sciences with their programmed slaves. The ability to carry out some of these occult sciences (psychic abilities) can be greatly enhanced by certain drugs, brain wave patterns, training, and demonology. Non-illuminati models may not have these abilities built in, but the deeper alters of Illuminati slaves generally have some alters who are trained in all these abilities.

THE PHILOSOPHER'S STONE

One of the major goals of Alchemy was "The preparation of aurum potabile, liquid gold, a sovereign remedy, because gold being itself perfect could produce perfection in the human frame." -quoted from The History of Chemistry as quoted by Manly P. Hall in his The Secret Teachings of All Ages, p. CLV. Gold has long been called the metal of wisdom by the Illuminati. The Illuminati are well aware of the alchemical quest to create the correct type of gold which will bring enlightment to the world. The Rabbi's, who know the Cabala, have considered the secret of white powdered gold the greatest secret of all times.

Somehow the Egyptian Pharaoh's had learned the secret of how to make white powdered gold which when seen up close is transparent--like the gold described in the Bible as making up the streets in heaven. This gold is monotonic (with molecules in a high spin state), and looks like baking flour. It greatly enhances the pineal gland, and a similar substance of iridium greatly enhances the pituitary gland. Regular yellow gold or gold salts will cause the hair of the subject to fall out, but white gold is safe to ingest. After ingesting the white gold for over 9 months, a subject will become extremely psychic and disease free. The person's body will also glow.

Whether the Illuminati discovered this white gold, and have been using it secretly when their adepts went into hiding for months of long training, or whether they were only playing with substitutes we cannot say. (By the way, some occult groups groom slaves in the craft for 24 hours a day for a year.) At any rate, in recent years a man named David Hudson, who is of the Holy Blood line (13th Illuminati Bloodline, of the de Guise lineage), discovered and patented white gold. He named the white gold Ormus, which is the occult name for the Prieure de Sion. Ormus also pertains to gnosticism in the ancient world. Ormus is also the Hebrew words for "golden tree", which David finds appropriate since this white gold is the elixir of life that the sho-bread (& manna) was made from. This is said to be the reason the Priest glowed when he came out of the Holy of Holies, after eating the sho-bread.

David Hudson, told co-author Fritz that he was supportive of the cabalistic goal of Adam Kadmon. Because Hudson knew the cabala very well, it seems likely that he understands what Adam Kadmon is really all about. Monarch slaves of the House of Rothschild have revealed how the Illuminati are able to do what they call Proxying. This is a Mind-Spirit transfer, done by the twinning traumas, channeling, telepathic communication, and astral projection so that all slaves worldwide are being pulled into one single interlinked Demonic One World Mind.

We do not understand how white gold and iridium help the body become a semi-conductor so that the body is highly psychic, but it does. We hope to find out more.

David Hudson has the patent (U.S. patent and some international patents) on white gold. There are a number of scientific studies on white gold which verify the power of white gold on the human body. When the co-author Fritz talked to David Hudson, he certainly knows the occult world exceptionally well, besides being skilled in the Cabala. He claims he has nothing to do with the occult world, and that he stays away from the Illuminati. He says that he took what was occult and turned it into science. The co-author's talk with him left many questions.

David Hudson has given mankind the most important secret that has captivated the best minds of the occult world for centuries, the Quest for the Philosopher's Stone.

FURTHER SPIRITUAL BONDAGE SNARES

There are a number of activities which are snares to entrap people, both Monarch slaves and people in particular, which are not commonly recognized as such. One has to view them in their overall context and the consequences of what these activities lead to.

According to Biblical teachings, Satan is trying to develop man's hidden abilities as well as provide him some extraordinary supernatural power to encourage man's indepedence from God, as opposed to man's faith in, fellowship with and dependence upon his Creator. As man developes these hidden powers that were part of Adam's natural mental, psychic, and physical abilities, mankind increasingly feels more godlike. Man's independence from his Creator Yahweh God, makes him more vulnerable and more dependent upon Satan. (Cf. verses in Scripture about the fall, 1 Cor. 15:4,5,46, how man is a combination of spirit, body, soul in 1 Thes. 5:23, and how Satan's system will do trade in the souls & the power of the souls of men, REV 18:11-13.) Due to the corruption of man, God doesn't want to develop these abilities. For instance, atomic power may make man powerful, but man has not developed spiritually enough for these abilities to be used in a godly fashion. Mankind, according to the Bible, is not ready for these abilities, until mankind is on a higher spiritual walk with God. Today, mankind lacks the authority from God to use occult powers. Mankind's flirtation with occult powers, is similar to the teenage boy who is disobedient to his father's guidelines and uses his new sexual powers before he has learned responsibility and how to use his new power responsibly. We are not to be ignorant of Satan's devices. Understanding about these powers, just as the teenage boy understanding about sexuality in a constructive way, is not the same as the irresponsible use of these powers.

One of the most dangerous, ensnaring spirits, is the Spirit of Gambling. The Illuminati know that if they can get a man hooked on gambling, that gambling will bring in every evil spirit with it. When a man is hooked on gambling he will do anything. Gambling introduces covetiousness, greed and lust. A man with big gambling debts will murder, sell his children, lie, deceive, steal, etc. This is not simply the two authors' opinions, but the experience of the Illuminati in working with human nature. When the Illuminati want to destroy a lineage, they will purposefully try to get a man or woman in that lineage hooked on gambling. That will begin a cycle of evil spirits being passed down for generations. In order, to introduce the gambling spirit into society on a mass scale, they are working off of several traumas. The rejection, abuse, lack of power and lack of respect that the American Indians received from the White man, has opened the American Indians up to accepting the lie that opening gambling institutions on their reservation lands is a good thing. The American Indian is gaining back some power and money, but their gambling operations will actually lead them into further bondage. The state governments are finding it hard to finance projects, and their manufactured hardship is also opening the door to state run gambling. Again we see the trauma, and the subsequent programming lie being done on a mass scale. Once the gambling spirit is entrenched, it will continue to strengthen its control over people and society. These things are well-conceived spiritual operations that are blindsiding Americans because "evil" spirits are no longer politically correct to talk about.

Illuminati Monarch slaves, such as a Mother of Darkness or Grande Master, are given occult powers. They are also frequently connected to gambling--they will have alters who like to gamble. Rather than being activities of power and opportunity, occult power & gambling are really activities that ensnare people. The symbol that the Programmers use to symbolize the bondage loops that they construct is the infinity sign, the same sign that we saw on the front of Billy Graham's Decision magazine.

Internal Controls

CHAPTER 11
SCIENCE No. 11- INTERNAL CONTROLS

A. TEACHING OCCULT PHILOSOPHIES

Learning plays an important part in perception. The Programmers try to get their victims to subscribe to philosophies and ideas that will make it hard for them to rebel against their controllers. This is what is termed indoctrination. The same methods of teaching that others find useful are employed. Ways of thinking are incorporated by the slave via handlers, programmers, and the cult they belong to.

Everyone tries in their own way to make sense of life. This is a natural brain function, so that the human mind can understand how to deal with the future. The mind takes raw data, and then applies some type of logic, and comes to conclusions. Once accepted these conclusions can be as hard as nails, and they will defy any attempt to change them, even in the light of new evidence. If the Programmer is smart enough, he can get an alter to logically believe anything. Once the belief is embedded, it will remain there tenaciously.

In the Illuminati, "great" masters and adepts teach "hidden mysteries". The slave feels the authority that emanates from this teacher with special gifts and abilities. The slave is hardly in a position to question the teachings being given from on high.

Circular reasoning, lies, and other tricks are used to convince the person that the occult world is true. For instance, "God abandoned you, therefore you need to cling to us, the only ones who would see any use in you." (The truth is that the cult staged a crisis where their actor playing God abandoned the child to the cult's abusiveness. The whole event was simply cult abuse--with God taking the blame.) "We are trying to fashion a better man, a man with far more capabilities than before, with better genetics. Those who oppose us, are trying to keep humankind back in the dark ages." This is circular reasoning and outright lies. (They are not interested in helping mankind, only destroying it.)

To make occult philosophies more palatable, the occult world attacks the character of anyone whose life would dispute their false claims. They also use a great deal of rationalization, where the end justifies the means. Many slaves have had to sit and listen to their masters rationalize their brutality.

Within the Illuminati, ranks are achieved with much learning and ritual. Within the Temple of Set, a member is required to read certain books. Fritz, the co-author has a list of books a Temple of Set member is asked to read, with the comments attached by the Temple of Set to each suggested title. In their suggested/required reading Category 19 entitled "The Metamind" is Metropolis by Thea von Harbou. Their comments are "An Expressionistic portrait of a negative utopia in which humans are controlled by machines...the basis for many electronic/audio-visual ritual techniques employed by the Church of Satan and further developed by the Temple of Set." (p. C21-2) Another is Physical Control of the Mind: Towards a Psychocivilized Society by Jose M.R. Delgado. Their comments, "Delgado, Professor of Physiology at Yale University, is one of the most distinguished authorities in the field of Electrical/chemical Stimulation of the Brain (ESB). This book is necessarily dated, but it is so well-written that it deserves to be perused as a preface to more recent works on the subject." (p.C-16?-2) The Psychology of Anomalous Experience by Graham Reed. Their comments, "This book addresses unusual, irregular, and puzzling experiences- deja'vu, illusions, delusions, hallucinations, etc.-in terms of the mind's normal psychological processes of gathering, monitoring, processing, and storing information." (ibid.)

This is just a brief look to illustrate to the reader that leaders of groups like the Temple of Set are avid students of mind-control. (An almost complete membership list of this group at one point in time, is provided in Appendix A.) The librarian of the Multnomah County Detention Ctr. shared with co-author Fritz that Sheila, formerly second-in-command of the Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh's commune at Antelope, OR studied, via jail/prison interlibrary loan, books on Hitler's mind-control techniques. Many other examples could be given of how mind-control is being studied and taught by these groups.

One more book on the Temple of Set's reading list would be worthy to point out, The Psychology of Man's Possible Evolution by Peter D. Ouspensky. Their comments, "Should be read especially by those members whose magical ability is hampered by flaws in their balance factor....A series of lectures which explain the Gurdjieff approach to the concept better than G. himself was able to do."

There is an important link between Gurdjieff, mind-control, MPD, etc. but the subject is big and needs to be further investigated. Co-author Fritz has been investigating this link, including talking with leaders of the most successful Gurdjieff commune. As with so many groups, what you see, is not what you get.

TEACHING THE IDEOLOGIES OF WAR

One of the ways to control a person is to get them angry and then channel that hate. Wars have been used for centuries by the oligarchies that run things to control their people. Right now, the New World Order is carrying out a Drug War, an Environmental War, and a Bosnian conflict for the express purpose in their own plans to control us. They have a mock-alien invasion planned to further justify more control over our lives. Over the years mankind has created an entire industry around warfare. There are long traditions within military units, that for some reason must be "upheld" by the men who serve in those units. When people buy into the philosophies of war, they can generally be persuaded to give up or do anything to contribute to that war. After all, any sacrifice will be minor compare to the large numbers of bodies that will end up dead. One of the large purposes of the Monarch type of trauma-based mind-control is to produce robotic soldiers who will do anything. Normal military training is usually sufficient for most military needs, so it is clear that Monarch slaves have some ulterior uses that the military doesn't want the public to know about.

VARIOUS DELTA FORCES

The military as well as other groups have created numerous delta teams, delta forces, delta groups etc.

DELTA ASSASSINATION TEAMS

These teams are projects that the Satanic Hierarchy and the CIA collaborated together on. The programming that was placed into people was ingenious and very complex. As the program progressed over the years, the programming became more sophisticated and past mistakes were improved upon. The Delta Teams were programmed to carry out various assignments such as political assassinations. The members of these teams are housewives and other ordinary people who were programmed years ago. The Delta Teams are part of the CIA's psychic warfare bag of tricks. The CIA works so closely with the military that the Delta Force is easily expected to be tied in with the CIA & U.S. intelligence.

DELTA FORCE

The system tapped Frank Burns to create the Delta Force. Frank Burns was a Green Beret. What kind of things did Frank get involved with AFTER joining the military? Hold on. Frank Burns was an SDS (Students for a Democratic Society--an Illuminati organization) organizer. He was also deep into Zen Buddhism, which is the same as mysticism. Frank Burns as an officer also studied under the Esalen Institute. The Esalen Institute is at Big Sur, California and is the American equivalent of the infamous Tavistock Institute. The Esalen Institute created "sensitivity training" programs for the business world under the title "Organizational Development (OD). Esalen people were brought in to Fort Ord where Frank Burns was the commander and began training people. The army promoted Burns to work in the Chief of Staff's office as an "senior organizational effectiveness consultant", which allowed Burns to introduce Esalen programs all through the army. This could not have accidently happened.

Frank Burns in a conversation with a two-star General about the need for "wholistic" soldiers coined the slogan "Be all that you can be in the army." Burns phraseology began the army's recruiting slogan. It refers to the Human Potential Movement that the army has incorporated from the New Age movement.

The army is moving toward becoming an occult fighting force that practices witchcraft with its warfare. Some of the units moving that direction are Psy-Op operations, which has included Satanists within its officers. The Delta Force network of various Generals and other high ranking officers is merely one facet of the drive by the Illuminati to transform the American army into something akin to occultic warriors that will be as fierce as the Nazi Death head units. Bear in mind that George Bush, commander-in-chief of Burn's Armed Forces has come from an Illuminati family/ & the Ill. Skull & Bones chapter that was part of the secret support for Hitler. They have been using as an insignia what they themselves (the Skull & Boners) call "the Death Head". It is not surprising then that support for the Delta Team activities has come from the very top.

Frank Burns set out to create a warrior monk. Lt. Col. Jim Channon, in Delta Forces, also put forward the idea. Channon visited more than 130 New Age groups in California doing what was called "social experimentation." It is an idea that the occult have repeatedly carried out. Hitler's S.S. were an special elite group of warrior monks from which about 3,000 went through religious initiations. (As the war progressed the primary focus of the S.S. shifted from being the Black Order to merely being a reliable military group called the Waffen SS.) There were 3 levels of initiation, the last reserved for the hard-core Satanists at the top. The Nazi initiation seems to have been an attempt to get the force of the Vril. The Ordensburgen (Castles of the Order) were training centers for the elite Nazis, including the S.S. (Having been in the military, I know first hand that the success of the S.S. and Waffen S.S. units in being fierce warriors is attributed by some of our leading military men to their training to be warrior-monks.) One group of the S.S. called Knights of Poseidon volunteered themselves for castration, in an experiment to change them back to the supermen of the mythical and magical Hyperborea. Some of the best Sufi organizations were warrior monks. Burns and his Task Force Delta generated the First Earth Battalion, which is an occult military unit trained in martial arts, and witchcraft. Men who are selected for First Earth Battalion are given an occult initiation which includes the following oath:

"I have the capacity and therefore the duty to contribute to the development of myself, my associates, and our planet, simultaneously now! I take personal responsibility for generating evolutionary conspiracies as a regular part of my work. I will select and create conspiratorial mechanisms that are not costly in time or resources because I am aware of the five channels available to me (such as radio, television, and word of mouth.) I will organize a self-supporting high commando group that will create and perform evolutionary breakthrough actions on behalf of people and planet. One people, one planet. I will then pass this concept on to others who are capable of generating further self-organizing commando teams."

What ever happened to defending this nation? Military units such as the First Earth Battalion although they are supported by American tax dollars are not here to protect America. They are global minded. They are here to protect an occult world government. They are out there actively promoting the New World Order. Several years ago, Egendorf states that $4.5 million (which came from you and I, and other Americans) had already been spent on Delta Force's 80 different projects.

The Green Berets is another organization that has been heavily targeted by the Satanists, to indoctrinate and recruit. The Green Berets are increasingly moving toward being warrior-monk group. Many of them are now programmed multiples.

One man who is being looked up to by many American Patriots and Christian Patriots as the leader to help them oppose the New World Order is Bo Gritz. He was a recent presidential candidate. Bo Gritz was a Green Beret and a Delta Force commander. Bo Gritz is very proud of the fact that he wrote the manual for the Delta Forces. He also worked for the CIA. Bo Gritz is one of the military's best programmed multiples, and perhaps one of the most dangerous. Insiders have told me he IS the most dangerous. Numerous insiders both for and against Bo, have talked about Bo Gritz, and that he is a programmed multiple.

According to Bo Gritz's campaign literature for President he was a commander in Delta Forces. Reproduced on a previous page is Bo's own presidential campaign literature where he states that he is "Intelligence Officer & Reconnaissance Chief, Delta Force." He is also "Chief, Special Activities, U.S. Army General Staff, the Pentagon" and "Principle Agent, National Security Council, Intelligence Support Activity". Under qualifications Bo states that he is a "Security & Counter-terrorist Specialist." Within the government, they are already referring to Christians who are against the NWO as terrorists. Bo is their greatest counter-intelligence counter-terrorist they have. He came in like a storm and took control of the Patriot movement, and it has been like pulling teeth to warn patriots about who he is.

Bo Gritz himself was a Green Beret, and was used to assassinate 300 people. His blood lust caused him at one point during the Vietnam War to shoot 30 prisoners in cold blood. I also heard Bo talk about say being Temple recommend Mormon. That means he was at that time in good standing with the LDS Mormon church so that he could go to the Temple and participate in its rituals. Those who are alert realize that the temple rituals are like Masonic and Witchcraft rituals. Now he is no longer a Mormon. But he still continues in the military philosophy he believes in. Bo Gritz is going around the nation teaching SPIKE training to anyone who wants martial arts skills.

Bo has done an excellent job in identifying for the New World Order every person in the nation who could threaten their plans for a martial law NWO takeover.

Bo Gritz likes to call attention that he is one of this country's foremost counter-terrorist agents. This is true. The New World Order believes patriots and Christians are terrorists, because they stand in the way of the world's acceptance of their world dictator. Bo Gritz has done a great deal to infiltrate and neutralize the opposition to the New World Order. He has been their best counter-terrorist agent.

B. INTERNAL COMPUTERS --PERFECT DELEGATION; INTERNAL COMPUTERS WHICH AUTO-CONTROL A SLAVE

If a master has to constantly spend time whipping and motivating his slave, as well as forever watching that the slave doesn't escape or do shoddy work, or physically or verbally injure the master, then controlling the slave can end up to be a full time job. When the master gets too much involved in the control process, he ceases to be master, and becomes a slave to the control process.

The intelligence agencies knew that they would have to create mind control slaves who could police themselves. If the master has to constantly guard his slave, the slave will be more trouble than he is worth.

Many successful people have gained their success because they knew how to delegate. The most successful supervisor is the one who can delegate the best. The programmers had to find ways to cut their supervisory requirements to the bone if they were to make owning a Monarch slave worthwhile.

The method chosen was to build "computers" into the slave's mind that would internally regulate everything. They do this by taking hundreds of the alters and dehumanizing them and turning them into parts of a computer. For instance, the shutter on the All-seeing eye of the computer, which is seen in the mind like a camera shutter, is a child alter who job is to open and shut. (Another primal part is inside the eye's pupil.) This shutter part knows what goes on in all the system subconsciously but if discovered by a therapist and pulled to the front of the mind will not be able to vocalize about the system. The software for this "computer" could be programmed into it, and all the individual programming of every alter can then be tied back to the computer. In other words, each alter would be programmed on how to view life, to act, to think, and to function in their job. This programming would be linked to a computer. The programmers invented the perfect method to decentralize their control over their slaves and yet still supervise with the tightest of control. Each alter is linked to a computer (internal-not an external one) built from a foundation of fear and trauma.

Since each section of alters was to remain secret, each section of alters for a slave is given its own computer, and then linking computers were built to link the various sections, and then finally a major backup computer is built, and then finally the internal Beast computer. Bear in mind that this is all built internally in the mind of the victim. We are not talking about actual physical computers built out of physical microchips, wires, condensers etc.

If the programmer concentrates on a single point when giving instructions he will get better results. Rather than complicating things for the slave, you gain power over the slave (and any subordinate) if you can give simple clear instructions. For this reason, a large share of the alters in an alter system are given very clear straight forward jobs. Because their jobs are so straightforward, these alters will often remain fragments, rather than alter parts with full blown personalities. The programmers don't cloud the issue. An undeveloped alter will be given one single clear, basic job. By stringing 1,000's of alters together with single tasks, a highly sensitive system of alters can be created. Each piece of the System is separated by some degree of dissociation to make it a separate piece.

By dividing the mind so much, it is incapable of fighting what has been done to itself.

Before we begin describing the technical details of an internal computer, bear in mind that every Monarch System is unique and yet they all follow certain patterns & methodologies. Most of the models for the first few decades follow these patterns, some of the newer ones have more updated imagery.

POWER SOURCES

In an Illuminati System, a computer is created for each section of alters. That computer will be given a "power source", which if unscrewed like a light bulb will go out. The light from one of these power sources might be emerald blue or emerald green or other color.

The reader may want to refer to chapter 4 for the codes to understand the structuring of the various computers and systems.

COLOR CODES & RIBBONS

In a standard 13x13x13 Illuminati alter system, 13 colors were used, and each computer was given a color. These would be pink, orange, yellow, white, red, brown, blue, green, black, purple, silver, gold and platinum, and clear.

Color programming is reported to have been developed at UCLA. Whatever the case, Systems all over the United States have color programming.

The hierarchy of colors in a System is often as follows (from top power down): Platinum, Gold, Silver, Purple, Black, Red, Green, Brown, White, Orange, Yellow, Pink. Clear is also used as a color for secret areas of the system. This hierarchy of color coding can be switched. The internal programmers can reassign colors if they need to, in order to protect the programming. Alters, sections, and parts of the computer are all color coded. The color coding for alters is not the same just because the alters are in the same section.

The color coding within the Illuminati Mind Control is fairly consistent, however a sample of an alternative Illuminati color scheme will also be provided.

A survey of colors is as follows:

CLEAR. Secret or shell alters who can take on any color are coded clear. These are alters who serve as images or as a stage for other alters. This would include "Guardian of the Vail" alters.

GOLD. This color is for the supreme leadership in the System, which includes the Grand Druid Council.

SILVER. This color is for the Satanic alters who perform high level Satanic rituals. The Mothers of Darkness have silver coding.

PURPLE. These alters see themselves as the abusers, rather than the Illuminati. These alters were involved with the programming. They have been taught to forget the abuse and to reframe it in their mind as training.

BLACK. These alters were born out of Satanic ritual, and are Moon children. The Delta and Beta alters are black coded. They do the dirty work for the cult, such as blackmail and assassination.

RED. These altars see themselves as witches. They were born out of witchcraft ritual, believe they have great spiritual power, and tend to deny that they have been abused.

GREEN or EMERALD GREEN. These cat altars recognize they have been abused. They still see themselves as belonging to the cult family, and deny that they have been abused to protect their cult family.

BLUE ALTERS. Clones, armies and the ribbons appear to have blue coding. These alters will go so far as to hurt the body to protect it from leaking information or deprogramming.

WHITE. These are Atlantean alters who have been given Aryan type racial nonsense to think they are superior. They believe in genetic engineering, and a master race.

ORANGE. These special protector alters are scouts who warn of danger from internal or external threats.

YELLOW. These are the strong Christian alters of which there will only be a few in the System. They help serve as a balancing point to control the System as well as to hide what the System is all about.

PINK. These are core related alters. They maintain the true feelings of the true self apart from the cult programming and the cult family's programming. These alters are viewed as weak because they are emotional and often break down and weep. They are fragile emotionally.

An alternative color scheme that is used:

DARK EMERALD GREEN. This color is assigned to the AntiChrist-Satan alter(s). Green is the occult color for Satan and happens to be the most sacred color. Few people outside of Satanists know that Green is more sacred for them than any other color.

LIGHT GREEN. The gods and goddess alters which are triads which function in Illuminati ceremonies get this color coding.

WHITE. The internal programmers who come around in white robes get this color assigned to them, as if they are doctors or angels of light.

RED. Sexual alters are given the natural color of sex and arousal red.

BLACK. Connecting alters that are Nexus alters between various system parts.

PINK. Reporting alters.

DARK BLUE. Non hierarchy cult alters.

LIGHT BLUE. Alters in charge of the way the system runs, such as the judges.

YELLOW. Alters which are ritually and sexually twinned with alters of other systems.

ORANGE. Guard alters which are heavily programmed for obedience.

VIOLET-PURPLE. Front alters and small child alters placed into boxes.

CLEAR. Shell alters to deceive the outside world.

GOLD. The traumatized alters upon which the programming is built on.

Joseph Mengele and the programmers who worked with and under him, used a large dollhouse with 26 rooms. Each of the rooms were painted with one of the 13 different colors in order to build into the child's mind, the 13 front and the 13 back computers.

The internal computers worked off of color codes, as well as other codes. A dollhouse was used to instill into the child's minds the compartments of the computer. Each room was done up in a different color. One particular room was a secret room, and this represents the secret world of Petra which is hidden behind two large rocks. This secret world is coded the color clear. Besides the special color clear, the following colors appear in the system: Gold, Silver, Purple, Black, Red, Green, Blue, Brown, White, Orange, Yellow, and Pink. Each color has meaning and a rank. Just as the hour glasses could be turned, the color coding can be switched in rank.

This is why in some systems there is a "Computer Operator Black", a "Computer Operator Green", and a "Computer Operator Purple", etc.

During the programming a black box with needles and wires which attach to the body for electroshock is used. While electro shocking the victim, colored scarfs coming out of a box are showed to the child. The scarfs would help form the imagery needed to build colored ribbons internally. Alters would be created using the Tall Book of Make Believe story of the Pancake people. Using this as a base or foundation, the alters would then be dehumanized one step further into thinking they were ribbons--such as ticker tape, which could transmit information from one computer to another area of the mind.

The Ribbons had the ability to travel between the different levels and to transmit messages through the System, especially to the computers. It is believed they could do this because they were spirit.

When a System is accessed by a programmer, one procedure is to obtain a Ribbon alter and then inform the Ribbon what he wants. The ribbons transmit messages to the internal computers. The ribbons on older systems use morse code.

Who are the Ribbons? The Ribbons are the beginning of the Luciferian alter-like demons and alters. They are primarily the message bearers from the computers to the different computers, levels and alters.

The Ribbons might have angelic names (Michael, Gabriel, etc.). The word angel means messenger. The ribbons serve a very similar function. They transmit ticker tape with morse code messages. They are at work most of the time for a System.

A sample cover story for what they guard--which is the main computer with the gems and the core, is that the ribbons guard the System's "Garden of Eden".

Some more of the cover story that may be given is this: Ribbons were supposedly formed out of the dust of the ground and were placed in the Garden of Eden to create every pleasant tree. (See Genesis 1.) The ribbons relate to the Tree of Life. But to eat of the Tree of Knowledge of Good and Evil will cause death. The name of the first river of four in the garden is Pashon. Out of the first river come four heads. The River Pashon has gold, ballium, onyx, rubies, diamonds and precious stones. These gems are the programs the dwarfs mine.

If the System has charismatic programming, the alters will have porcelain face programming. In this case each ribbon's color will match the color of the stones in the masks--that is yellow, white, blue, green, purple, red and black. The colors of the ribbons correlate or match the colors of the Dollhouse rooms.

What do ribbons do? The Ribbons serve the programmers and the computers, who in turn serve the evil master Spirits. Things that the Ribbons do for the computers have been identified as follows:

a. The Ribbons eat from the system's internal "Tree of Good and Evil"., b. Ribbon programming consists of several things--where they reside, who they are and what they are to protect., c. Ribbons must protect the computers in order to protect their own life. The Ribbons will be programmed to believe that reversing the computer will reverse the Ribbons' life.

The ribbons themselves operate with mechanical hearts (not human hearts).

The cover stories may include the following: All Ribbons are hid behind a little girl, who is a front for them & who tells the creation story. The little girl will tell the creation story which included the Ribbons. Behind her runs a silver cord. The silver cord has to do with heart programming. The silver cord has 3 strands that cannot be broken as per ECL 4:12. This silver cord goes off if the Ribbons are touched. Ribbons are set up so that suicide programming is triggered if they are cut. Actually, french braiding conceals a 4th strand.

In review as stated, during the programming, a box with colored scarfs was shown the child while severe electro-shock was given to the body. A colored scarf represents a ribbon which runs a message from a colored room to a similar colored alter.

In a System which is structured into families and cities and worlds and sections, these "geographically different" structures in the mind of the victim can be connected via the color coding. In other words, the alters are structured into a 3-D cube structure. Then a fourth dimension (the color coding) is added to tie in all of the three dimensions.

A central computer was placed in at the bottom of the mind. Using various techniques the victim is brought to the deepest altered state possible, and a computer is built into the mind via hypnosis and alters. This can be done by freezing the entire body and just keeping the head active. Or it can be done by bringing the body to a comatose state where the heart is beating faintly. This step can only be done under the strictest medical supervision.

The memory storage area for the computers include the Emerald City Library (staying with the Wizard of Oz theme) which contains alters who only function is to memorize & retain with photographic memories pages and pages of information. The layout with codes of the entire system can be stored in a storage bank, so the programmer could access this area if his own records were lost. The libraries contain the historical genealogies of satanic iniquity from early ancient times to present. This ancient occult information has been reported by at least half a dozen Illuminati slaves as being retained internally by demons.

HOW MONARCH SLAVES ARE BEING DESIGNED TO INTERFACE WITH THE UNIX SYSTEM OF THE BEAST COMPUTERS

In line with what is being done by the Illuminati around the world with their network of computers--the computers have access codes similar to 666 666 666, and back out and close down codes similar to 999 999 999. These are the codes that the UNIX universal system uses, and the Monarch slaves are being created with codes that interface with the UNIX system for computers. (On some systems if the computer is shutdown it will request an input code of 666fff666fff666fff666...This can then be reversed F6F6F6F6F6F6F6F6F6F6.) The UNIX system is being used to allow the New World Order's big BEAST computers to communicate with any known computer, including the minds of their Monarch mind-controlled slaves.

In the 1960s, the U.S. Department of Defense began linking computers together into a superhighway now developed into the Internet. Hundreds of thousands of computers around the world are tied in. Like buildings in a city, each computer has its own unique address. Most of these addresses are registered at the Network Information Center in Menlo Park, CA. Individuals can also be registered at the NIC too. The U.S. Military links into the system with their Arpanet and Milnet networks, which tie together such divergent things as MIT computers, West Point computers, NORAD computers, Air Force Systems Command Space Division computers at El Segundo, CA and U.S. Army DARCOM at Seckenheim, Ger. (to name a few). These are all being tied together to form one vast electronic brain.

There are nine secret BEAST computers of the New World Order, at the time this was written. "Big Bertha" is the nickname of the BEAST computer located at the secret military installation called Dreamland at the secret Groom Lake, NV test site facility. Papoose Lake is referred to as S-4. The other super-secret facilities in the area are named S-2, S-6, and S-66. This area has become the Illuminati's prime programming facility for turning out Monarch slaves, and the Monarch slaves which are turned out from this area have turned out to be the worst basket cases. In other words the programming is very severe which is carried out in this area. This area has also been used for the space program, for the U-2 & SR-71, for the CIA's A-12 spy plane, for the Stealth fighters (Lockheed F-117A Attack plane) and bombers, the Aurora, and for the U.S. government's "Above Top Secret" flying saucers. The Big Bertha computer (named after the Illuminati Mother-of-Darkness Bertha Krupp) can be talked to in half a dozen languages and will answer a person back in the language they speak.

On a daily basis, airplanes fly into the Groom Lake facility. The callname of flights bringing workers and people go by the call name "Janet". About 12 Janet flights come into the facility everyday. These flights are usually Boeing 737s and arrive from places like a secure terminal run by EG&G at McCarran Airport in Las Vegas and from the military's Palmdale, CA facility. These 737s are unmarked except for a red stripe running down the fuselage. Large military C-130 arrive with cargo, and Illuminati dignitaries arrive in smaller twin-engine craft. Victims for the programming are brought in via planes, & other routes.

One of the BEAST computers occupies three floors of the headquarters of the European Economic Community building in Brussels, not far from the important Illuminati Mother-of-Darkness worldwide headquarters castle near the Fr.-Bel. border near Muno, Belgium. Another BEAST computer is in Luxembourg.

In observing the operations of the Illuminati, it has been seen that telephone area codes are used as part of a mind-controlled slave's code. We do not understand everything about their codes, but it does tie in with other things that are happening.

Every person in the world has been assigned an 18 digit tracking number, which consists of 3 groups of 6 numbers. The first 3 numbers assigned in the BEAST computer to everyone are 666. The next is one's national code. The U.S. national code is 110. Then the next 3 numbers are you telephone area code, and then finally your 9 digit Social Security number. The code then is 666+Nation code+Tel. area code+social security no.= BEAST I.D. no. for an individual. According to Dwight Kinman's book The World's Last Dictator, 2nd ed., (Woodburn, OR: Solid Rock Books, p. 256) VISA has already begun issuing VISA cards using the BEAST 18 digit number.

When an American makes a bank transaction on an autoteller within a matter of seconds the BEAST has been informed of the activity. These computers use UNIX. The particular programs for the economic transactions just described are a worldwide computer network called SWIFT (Society For Worldwide Interbank Financial Transactions). The SWIFT works off of the UNIX system and can communicate with any computer. It was developed by AT&T and uses C language. (Bear in mind that there are dialects of UNIX, such as the standard AT&T UNIX and for instance Berkeley UNIX. The UNIX system uses both timesharing and multitasking. The mind of a Monarch slave also does both multitasking and time sharing.

One of the nice UNIX features, is "protected memory", which is also part of the Monarch programming. A kernal is what the UNIX programmers call a "protected person". It is very similar to the internal "person" (alter) who helps the Monarch slave's programming functions.

The big item about UNIX is that it has permissions granted. This is similar to the Monarch programming. Permissions are granted to 3 types of entities. The Top Programmer or "god" as he is called, of the UNIX System receives what is called the individual permission. The next permission is called group permission, and it is given to insiders who work with the system. The final permission type is the world, which has very limited access. The parallel between this and the Monarch programming is surprising. In some cases the programmers may have matched things on a one-to-one correspondence.

The Monarch program also has a Top Programmer who is called "god" to the System. He has total control over the system. His programming permissions can not be deprogrammed out by others who might want to usurp his power.

Hidden from the casual user of the UNIX system are the Daemons and Demons. The UNIX programmers decided to use the old english spelling for demon= Daemon. These are computer processes which work secretly behind the scenes and are given actual demonic names--some corresponding to actual names of historically known demons, such as Asmodeus. Asmodeus is also a demon which is placed into many Monarch slaves. In the UNIX system these demons are treated like persons in the computer's user director. Demons in the computer system do not have to log onto the computer, but they work behind the scenes and are given the same powers that people users are given. They are set up in the same structure as how the computer treats people.

Permission in the UNIX system is granted using an 8 bit count with 0 through 7. The three kinds of permission are the read, write, and execute permissions.
If no permission were granted in any way the UNIX system would indicate "_ _ _ _ _ _ _ _ _" on the screen which means 000 000 000 or nine 0's. The super user called god is given the code 777 which means super user. However, the permission of 666 gives the user the power to everything the 777 permission gives, except that the 777 permission allows the god the master programmer) to execute not executable programs. The Postmaster Demon is the head demon, and his permission level in UNIX is 666. (In the Monarch Programming "Mr. Postman" is a code word used internationally.)

The most important part of the BEAST system is its communication power. The Electronic Mail System of the BEAST allows it to communicate worldwide, and along with electronic mail comes levels of permission to view or work with the electronic mail. The super user (god) is called Root.

A programmer on the Beast must get permission. His program must get permission. That program that gives permission must also get permission. In other words, there are levels of permission that must be gone through. This is similar to the Monarch program. For instance, the alters personalities which would control the body during Illuminati gatherings have very tight access permission. It is very hard to access these hierarchy personalities.

Both the UNIX system (and the Monarch programming) creates "children" by "spinning". The "child" spins off. When the "child" is finished it is "killed" in UNIX lingo. When the programmers created child processes in the computer, they were having problems with the child processes killing the parent processes. The same type of problems have had to be dealt with in the Monarch programming. The initial programmer is often the biological parent of the child, and this parent is very responsible for extreme tortures being applied to the child who is being programmed--not to mention all of the expendible children, who are killed in front of the child to highlight the reality of the trauma. The natural reaction of the child being created is to hate the programmer. Naturally, the Monarch programming had to overcome that natural tendency, which it does very successfully.

The UNIX system uses an internal clock within its computer system. The UNIX clock is called CRON. CRON checks files to see if the programmer has put in any files to run.

The UNIX system uses data bus lines, which are like the Monarch programming ribbons, which go through the system. These ribbons or data bus lines take information and commands from the computers to other computers.

Within the UNIX system, insiders have revealed that the Daemon (Demon) processes of all the UNIX systems have a security flaw. That flaw is that the Postmaster Daemon has access to them in spite of who the god is of that particular UNIX computer system. So while owners, who purchase UNIX systems think that they have exclusive control over their system, an external Postmaster Daemon coming from the Beast could use its permission levels to over ride the power of the local owner of the system. The Monarch system has a similar feature, the Illuminati programmers know how to access the base or primal anchors to the programming and yank out any programming they want. All the slaves of these lesser groups such as the CIA, Church of Satan, Mafia, etc. can all be reprogrammed rather quickly to serve the Illuminati, if they are not already due to the Illuminati programmers extra knowledge on how to get into the base programming.

In these many ways, the UNIX system serves both real computers and also for the internal computers of some slaves' mind.

The slave's system becomes a computer system. It functions as a series of computers that are connected to the master computer which is sunk into the mind at the lowest hypnotic level, which is a level often placed even below an internal "hell pit". To access the different computers, combinations of cards were used for the codes (numbers are also used. See Chapter 4.). Various parts of a Monarch system correspond to what any computer would have. A microprocessor register has 3 sections on a computer to make it functional. In Monarch Systems, you would find these 3 represented by 1. stored data in the library and alters with photographic memories, 2. an instruction section with codes, and 3. stacking mechanisms. Linked to all this were a crystal, clock, hour glasses, a compass and an entire demonic command structure. The eye in front of the big computer will be protected by legions of spirits. The front big computer runs front quadrants and the back computer runs the deeper quadrants.

The software so to speak for the Omega programming (computer) may be set up to include a stacking program called the Potter's Wheel. The Potter's Wheel is a misuse of the Bible, and is a type of programming that the Charismatic/pentecostal movement carries out. The Mormons and the Catholics have their own distinctive "software" programs. An initial stacking mechanism would work by telling alters to "Stand in Order according to rank and serial no." Another code along with a hand signal would place the Gatekeeper alters up on the Potter's wheel for their "creator" to work on them. A group of alters could be taught to go up on their Potter's wheel by seeing a pattern of dominoes. It is whatever the programmer decides.

The dominoes were used for coding, but they also had the programming feature of being able to tie alters together so that if the System is tampered with out of sequence, a domino effect would take place. This domino effect is for one program to set off another program to set off another program. Soon the Monarch slave's mind is trying to deal with dozens of suicide programs running simultaneously, along with perhaps other programs such as scrambling programs.

For instance, one story line used is the mice run up and down and open up new levels of programming and are tied to the pendulum/clock mechanism. The mice can activate the hour glass, and a gold-winged green skirted fairy Whisper balances the hour glass on her wings.

If the slave goes toward freedom, the slave's mind triggers programs of all kinds, and the mind ends up not knowing if it was coming or going with all the different programs which activate. A more exhaustive look at all the craziness and activity of the Omega & Gamma programs which activate to defend the Illuminati's Mind Control are given in other chapters. The programming has been designed that if it was taken out improperly, it is to come back Seven times Seven stronger. This is also a clue that the programming is partly a demonic manifestation, cf. MT 12:43-45 et al.

COMPONENTS OF THE CONTROLS

At the center of the System are the mechanisms that control it, such as the Master Computer, the All-Seeing Eye, the Compass, the Master Clock, and the Quadrants that tie in together. The System may have 3 hourglasses spinning on axes. These hour glasses can also be called matrixes, which are on your standard 3 axes, a X axis, a Y axis & a Z axis. The worlds are various sections of these matrixes.

There are backup worlds & mirror image worlds. Occasionally, there will be a double system. Some of the more important alter System are even far more complex than a double System or a double Double System.

Each alter is split so that every alter has another alter created from it. Then there are demonic doubles--demonic mirror images in the System. The double images shown in the picture are very real when describing our System. Some therapists have noticed "Satanic Guardian Angels" which talk to their patients. They do not know what to make of these. Some classify them as hallucinations, because they do not have any room in their belief system for demonology. These are the demons that do control the multiple's mind.

Thor, with his hugh hammer is a painful demon. Thor's image is made of cast iron & carried an iron mallet. Thor is a black strong figure. When his hammer strikes, the slave gets split brain headaches. Programmers can use the story of the Giant with the Hammer in the Ozma of Oz book (pp. 141-155) to give the imagery when programming. A special series of sweeping motions with both hands will relieve the split brain programming, but some alters can only tolerate these hand signals being done by the master. By the way, Thor is an important protector in Satanic/occult beliefs, & the religion of Thor now has equal stature/popularity in Germany as the Lutheran church.

The programs are put into a System and given codes. These programs use Greek, Hebrew and Druidic letters (or other esoteric languages) in their activation codes. Actually, these alphabets also are the way these people numbered with, and the Greek, Hebrew & Druid letters were used as numbers. These programs could be called Utility Programs, because they function much like the utility programs of a computer.

Along with all the programming comes cover programming. Generally, front stories cover almost everything in a System.

Dominos have been used in Monarch programming as the basis for what is called a "Mother Board" in actual computers. Telephone tones key in on a slave's computer matrix. At times, telephone tones in everyday life will make slaves accidently wacky.

All computers run off of base 2--which uses the numbers 0, and 1. O and 1 can be represented as on and off. In the programming, they were represented by "He Loves Me", "He Loves Me Not." The Programmers, especially Dr. Mengele, enjoyed taking a daisy and pulling its petals off one at a time. First petal, "I love you". Second Petal, "I love you not." IF the last daisy petal was "I love you not--then the child was dramatically killed in front of other children to be programmed. The Illuminati's method of death--skinning alive--has been developed into a fine art, for both programming and ceremonies. A drawing of this skinning procedure by a witness is on pg. 338. The daisy game, which was scary for a child, heightened the victim's attention. Matrixes were built upon this deadly game.

How did it feel to be programmed with Mengele's "I love you, I love you not" programming? A victim recalls,

"The child was place in a cage exposed and naked. The low voltage wires were rigged to the metal of the cage. The child experienced a continual erratic or sporadic prolonged voltage of shock until the heart would pulsate and the anxiety level of the child became out of control.

"Then the Dr. would enter the scene with his sneering taunting smile while holding a daisy in his hands. The sporadic voltage would continue to flow through the child's body. As the shock continued, the Dr. stood before the child pulling petals off the daisy. His only communication was voiced in these words, "LOVE YOU, LOVE YOU NOT, LOVE YOU, LOVE YOU NOT," while pulling off the daisy petals. This action would drive the child crazy because the child knows full well if that last petal is pulled off it meant death. The child that is not loved is skinned alive before the other children.

"...we can now begin to understand that the expendable children were in other cages placed all around us for the eye to see. They went through the same process as we watched. When the last petal of the daisy was pulled from the flower they were killed. Then the terror of what we had just experienced through the seeing and hearing, let us know we were next, but when? By the time the doctor got to "He loves me not" some children no longer knew fear. Their ashes were taken from the crematorium and used in the garden for fertilizer, as a reminder to all what happens to unloved children.

"In the clinical room, the lights were used to program the day's events. The bright light continually flashed starting with 7 lights, then six dots, then five dots, then four dots, then three, then two dots, then 1 dot. In the blindness of the lights, we could hear the doctor's voice, "LOVE YOU, LOVE YOU NOT." over and over again. A child could have a false trust when the lights flashed 7 dots. By the time one dot was flashing, the child's terror had once again risen. The doctor never pulled the last petal off for us, but we can't forget how he teased us. He smiled and walked away, 'NO, I LOVE YOU.' and walked away."

If we use L=I love you and N=I love you not we can build the following matrix for the internal computer:

1	2	3	4	5	6
2	3	4	5	6	1
3	4	5	6	1	2
4	5	6	1	2	3
5	6	1	2	3	4
6	1	2	3	4	5

This type of configuration can even be tied to color programming, and to dominoes, where the numbers are represented as the dots on a domino. By making numbers into dots--the numbers can be represented by lights in the same patterns of black domino dots. This means that dominos can be used to program a child, and who would suspect anything about dominoes?

Another thing that lends itself well to use as a programming code are a deck of cards. Many slaves have this. It can be tied in with the Alice In Wonderland story. When cards are used, a section (also called a world or city) of alters will be given its own computer. To access that computer, a code consisting of several things including 2 cards can be used.

In review of what Chapter 4 said about codes, often double codes are employed--what is meant by that is that suppose we have 13 important alters in a section. They will designate each of these "A" alters. Then they number them each 1 through 13. But then they will double code them so that as we count up, we also count down. Then they attach a generic level number to them, say 2,000. So putting this together we have Emerald Green 2001-13a for our first alter, then next is Emerald Green 2002-12a, the next is Emerald Green 2003-11a, and so on. Then the magical name of the alter or the Tribal name of the alter can be attached onto this to complete an access code. While it seems perhaps complex at first, all an alter is remembering is a color, a common section no. and their rank no. and their file letter, and their magical name. (The name to pull them up--will not be their name for public use.)

Alice In Wonderland, the Wizard of Oz and the Tall Book of Make Believe played a fundamental role as "software" in a System. The Wizard of Oz stories are often used to show how & what structures to put in the small victim's internal world. The stories even teach HOW to create an internal world and its parts.

Some of the T.V. shows & movies, which served as Monarch programming scripts (i.e. the software) include:

Batman
Bewitched
Bobby's World Cartoons (deliberate triggers)
Dameon/Omen movies
Disney movies (all of them, some with deliberate triggers)
Duck Tails Cartoon (deliberate triggers)
ET (used in alien programming)
Fantasy Island (deliberate triggers)
Ghost Busters (used for "who ya' gonna call" theme)
Love Boat (used for mind control of cruise prostitutes)
My Fair Lady (finishing school for slaves, such as Youngstown, OH)
Star Wars
Steven King Horror Movies
Tiny Toons Cartoons of Steven Speilberg (deliberate triggers) Wizard of Oz movies

Some of the books which were used as programming scripts, which haven't been mentioned yet, are the Dead Sea Scrolls, the Egyptian Book of the Dead (satanic rituals follow closely the rituals of the Egyptian Book of the Dead), Steven King novels, & Wilbur Smith's. The Mother Goose nursery rhymes were used prolifically for internal codes in slaves.

Now that we have discussed the widely used "soft ware" available to the programmers, we don't want to forget the root program, the tree which was used as a method of organizing the various programs, just like a computer's subdirectories branch out more subdirectories. If the programming is tampered with, the slave will want to cut the tree--however, since the tree is in them, this means they will want very badly to cut their arms, especially their veins. The programming is not guarded as much as the computers. Everything guards the BEAST computer including deaf alters who have to be communicated with using a hand number code system. Such a code might resemble finger signing 1,2,3,4,5,10=15 & following this with a shutdown code which simply reverses the access equation. Surrounding the central All-seeing-eye will be alters & programs with insanity, fear, hopelessness, cutting, burning, aloneness, etc. Strong demonic forces are attached to these alters & programs. They also can trigger the slave to have abusive behavior as punishment.

A System is given a life force which is able to regenerate a system, the jokers who protected the programming, and you have the alpha-numeric codes, the cards, and dominoes (represented by a dice) that formed the access codes to parts of the System. The alters will often feel the heartbeat (which may be an alter) associated with the computer

In the background is a Luciferian blue light. This Satanic light empowers the Joker. It along with the Joker and the internal programmers give a System the ability to regenerate itself. One can shut down internal computers which run programming to the levels of the System using the same codes that the original programmers use, but until one also takes care of the 13 Jokers & the faceless white-coated programmers who control the Omega Programming, then the back up computers can regenerate the programming & rebuild the system.

JOKERS

If the computers are given cards as access codes--it works in well to create Jokers who are wild cards within the system, which can imitate anything.

The Jokers have a Luciferian form. Luciferian is the term that the programmers used. This means that it is spirit. Because the Jokers are Spirit, they can take any form they need to and they can do what they want to do, until they are bound & cast out with the rest of their hierarchy of demons. The Jokers will pop up when a victim tries to study the codes & programming that direct that victim's life.

Around this cult core are the jewels (which are the programs the dwarfs mine). Remember the story of Snow White and the Seven dwarfs? Also swirling around Silence are ribbons which we will discuss later.

TREES. The trees bud at certain times. This is one way the imagery of the tree to connect to the time that rituals are to happen. If the tree is barren of leaves (no programs--i.e. deprogrammed), then the system is to grow more leaves.

C. INTERNAL HIERARCHIES

The programmers build chains of command within the groups of alters that they create. They credit themselves with bringing order out of chaos. When a system of multiple personalities thinks of rebelling, they are in the similar situation as a colony wanting freedom from its mother country. Can we govern ourselves, and what governing structures can we keep--since the structure itself is colonial? Can the mind work together to help itself? The concerns are legitimate questions. And yes, the multiple's mind can function outside of the control of the programmer's hierarchial arrangement, but not without alters taking on different job assignments.

In the slave's hierarchal chain of command, adult alters are assigned to insure that child alters don't get out, unless the abusers want a child alter out. Likewise, commander alters are needed to keep the switching smooth, and to keep things orderly. Subordinate alters are taught to submit to their king, or governor, or queen alter.

Immense power and indoctrination is given to the key cult alters ruling a system. The internal hierarchial arrangement means that the host alter coming into therapy (often a Christian) may not be as completely open as therapists think. They must play an internal game of going toward health while not pushing the buttons of deeper more powerful alters. A lot of internal politics may go on. A front alter may promise a deeper alter secrecy in order to consult with it. This makes for all kinds of triangulation and manipulation within the alter system itself. The entire hierarchy of alters has a lot invested in protecting the core from trauma, which was why the core was split in the beginning. Trad. therapy goes after the core & the multiplicity that protects it, thus insuring resistence from the entire hierarchy incl. front alters, who in MPD systems seeking help are often close to the core. The core self is best not directly pursued by the therapist, but gently encouraged on its own to reconnect.

CHAPTER 12.
THE SCIENCE OF EXTERNAL CONTROLS

MONITORING (ASSET CONTROL)

Every intelligence service since time began has sought methods of owning people and ensuring they stayed loyal. Two of 13 Illuminati families who are known to have developed extremely well-run bloodline intelligence groups are the Li family and the Rothschild family. The Li's family started its Chinese intelligence back in 1400 A.D. They had already been an ancient chinese aristocratic family for many centuries prior to this. Some of their techniques for their agents were state of the art mind control techniques.

The Rothschild's personal spy network and their own mail service was known to be superior to the national european governments during the 19th century.

Traditional spycraft has involved the ability to recruit and keep agents loyal. The professional spook manipulates his recruits for a living. He becomes adept at controlling people. For thousands of years, spy operations have honed their skills at controlling people. Because they work secretly, they generally have done whatever they wanted. When you combine the resources and centuries of intelligence operations of the Illuminati, along with the credibility of government intelligence agencies supposedly guarding our national security, the combination is horrific. There are no moral or financial restraints on what is being done. If the intelligence groups want to dabble in keeping a severed head alive apart from the body, (or a frozen body with an active head) which they have done, there is no one to stop them.

Handlers of slaves use both natural and contrived cues to convey to the slave that they want obedience. A natural non-verbal threat cue would be brusque movements, and an innuendo in their voice. A contrived cue would be placing both hands behind the head, which is a code for "I AM YOUR MASTER, OBEY ME." Another cue for slaves to obey is when the master makes a fist with his right hand and touches his forehead. This means, "OBEY." Even children, who were multiples, who were being taught to control their mother who wanted to leave the cult, have been observed using the fist to the forehead to try to get obedience from their mother. Staring is one method that the Programmers use. Charles Manson, who was both a slave and a handler, is an example of how a penetrating hypnotic stare is used by the Programmers.

One way to control people is to wear clothes of authority. Dr. Green, Dr. Black, Dr. Star, Michael Aquino and other programmers have worn Nazi uniforms while programming, and at other time have worn Satanic Priestly garb.

A beginning point to control people is understanding human needs, and understanding the individual to be controlled. A good case officer learns everything he can about the asset (person or slave) he is to control. Case officers/handlers have been constantly working at improving their skills of control. Monarch slaves who must function as intelligence officers, who recruit spies, are trained in the art of listening and conversation. Learning to listen without interrupting is a guarantee of success. CIA handlers/ programmers have an extremely personable side to them--and a very deadly animalistic side to them too. They will be trained to look anyone they want to recruit in the eyes and withstand their stare. "Friendship begins with a smile; recruitment with a stare." (This is a quote from the book Suvorov, Viktor. Inside The Aquarium. New York: Macmillan, p. 108. During training, men in U.S. Army Intelligence are told to read this book to understand how U.S. intelligence works.)

The entire lives of Monarch slaves are kept on records. Zbigniew Brezinski, and the heads of the CIA, and Sec. of Defense Cheney are just some of the men known about who have access to the computer records that contain records on every active Monarch slave.

Not everyone has a price, but everyone will respond to their needs being met.

James K. Van Fleet, an important military intelligence officer, wrote about how to manage people. In military intelligence, they keep files on people where they identify which subconscious desires of people are important to the person at the time. All this information is kept in SOFT FILES--which are not official files, so these files have never officially existed and are not given up even to Congressional subpoenas. The Intelligence agencies know that if they find out what the person wants above all else in life, they can control the person. The nine areas that are monitored to see if they are important at the moment are:

1. emotional security
2. recognition of efforts or reassurance of worth
3. creative outlets
4. a sense of personal power
5. a sense of roots--belonging somewhere
6. immortality
7. ego-gratification
8. love in all its forms
9. new experiences

Once they monitor these areas and then they determine which needs are priority needs for the person, then they will use what they call "the depth approach" to subconsciously gratify those needs in a way that they gain control over the person.

Modern companies are doing this too. Dough mix isn't sold, but making a family memory with the children is. Soap isn't sold to get dishes clean--but rather soft beautiful hands are sold. Cosmetic companies don't sell an item--they sell you hope or an image. Fruit dealers don't sell fruit, they sell health and vitality. Car dealers don't sell cars, they sell prestige and images. Freezers aren't sold, emotional security from having a full freezer is sold. They have learned to genuinely appeal to the 9 subconscious desires. In intelligence, these desires are called "weaknesses", because intelligence case officers and handlers will attempt to manipulate those desires for their own gain by sincerely helping the person. They set up short-range & long term goals and plans on how manage a person.

For instance, if a Monarch slave's day to day alters want ego-gratification, a creative outlet, and reassurance of worth, the Illuminati may promise the slave that if the alters comply they will give them a singing contract in Las Vegas. If they need to appeal to their emotional security--they can promise a big salary and a nice house. If they need to appeal to immortality they can promise to award them a star on Hollywood Boulevard or whatever religious immortality they can credibly offer. (The slave will get the short end of any deal.)

Anything the slave gets is going to come at a price. The slave will have to do something in return for the Network. Illuminati alters are promised power, honor, glory and wealth. Considering the power and wealth of the elite, they do have the resources to make good on this if they want. However, the price of obedience might be to shave one's head in submission and sacrifice a child.

Another important point is that the abusers want to get the active cooperation of the person being used. This can be accomplished by lies (or facts if they are convenient) which appeal to the person's views of right and wrong. For instance, a pedophile will talk to the child who they are going to rape to get its cooperation.

The CIA handlers will listen to what a Slave needs, and solve it for them. Bear in mind, they will only do this if the slave doesn't live with the handler and is pulling in the wrong direction. For instance, the CIA has lots of sleepers, who are dangerous people just waiting to be set off. In these cases, the CIA has to work with front alters who aren't aware of the mind control. Rather than force an issue with control, sometimes a gentle manipulation will work. Then again some slave alters are under such strong mind control that they simply need an order, and don't need gentle manipulation.

The isolation that the handlers impose on their slave to prevent real relationships with outsiders, and the strong bonding of the slave to its master (trauma bonding, etc.) that is administered via the mind control, actually provides a chance for freedom IF the slave survives its master's death. Most slaves are programmed to die soon after their master dies--the co-author Cisco was. If the slave survives the suicide programming, the Illuminati will have already taken into consideration who the slave will be passed onto. Cisco's system survived their programmer/master's death, and they were not able to break the intense bonds which made the System loyal to that master. Because there is so much secret mind-control slavery going on, if only a small percentage begin to break loose because their loyalty programming backfires on the Illuminati, it has still has given us on the other side a significant break.

Another example of an MPD system becoming exposed when a handler dies, is when Rothschild, the President of Oilfield Scrap & Equipment in Kentucky, committed suicide. He was the handler of a highly functioning MPD slave, who was his secretary, Mary Davis. Mary Davis could not function after his death and sued in court-- Davis v. Oilfield Scrap & Equipment Co., 482 So.2d 970 (La. App. 3rd Cir. 1986)--for worker's compensation because she could not function after her handler's death.

Because the Illuminati have kept their membership secret, people have not seen the connections between the various cases of multiple personality that surface. In Iowa in 1987, a Multiple named Freeman was arrested for stealing a car. In South Carolina in 1990, a Rutherford with MPD was in court. In North Dakata in 1988, an MPD daughter named Johnson tried to sue her abusive father named Johnson for her sexual abuse. In 1984, a Multiple named Hall was hit by a truck and was in court. In 1987, a Multiple named Jones tried to use his MPD to get off of a murder conviction in Washington. In 1988, Marie Moore, a Multiple in N.J. ran a coven which tortured teenagers. The police found a well hidden body in her house, but the corrupt judicial system did not convict her of murder. In 1988, a Ms. Wheeler applied for Social Security disability benefits due to mental impairments such as MPD. In each of these MPD cases: Freeman, Hall, Jones, Johnson, Moore, Rutherford, and Wheeler are all surnames that have many members in the Illuminati. The secrecy of the Illuminati has protected people from seeing their hidden genealogies. Tracking these genealogies would in turn start exposing the extent of their mind control.

As the handlers isolate the slave from mainstream society, they can begin to give them things that will satisfy their long suppressed emotional needs. These are given in a way that they further lock the person in to the control. For instance, the slave has been stripped of power, he craves power--so he is given power over other people's lives. The slave has been stripped of its real family, so he is given roots by a long generational occult bloodline, and a cult family.

Each Monarch slave exists in their own situation, but there are often common features to how they are controlled. For instance, the handlers like to restrict the mobility of their slaves. Some of the slaves will never write their own checks, will never drive anywhere, and will seldom watch television unless it is something like a Walt Disney movie which is mind-control programming. Some slaves are allowed to drive, but only on a limited basis and their sense of direction is stripped from them hypnotically.

In January, 1995, this co-author's newsletter From A Follower of Christ had a feature article on Marilyn Monroe. Monarch mind-controlled slaves like Loretta Lynn and Marilyn Monroe lived tightly controlled lives, and were not allowed to drive automobiles. The one exception is that Loretta has been allowed to drive her car around the ranch. The following is some excerpts from the co-author's January '95 newsletter because it gives a good example of how Marilyn Monroe, a mind-controlled slave had her life very tightly controlled.

EXCERPTS

...On a day in October, 1957, a woman named Lena Pepitone was hired to take care of Marilyn Monroe. In 1979, she published her memories of the time she was the primary person taking care of Marilyn Monroe. I personally think that Lena Pepitone was clean, and didn't know what she was dealing with. She describes in detail her life with Marilyn Monroe. The inside story of life with Marilyn is nothing like people might imagine. Lena's book is such a clear description of how life with a Monarch slave can be--that I decided to use her book as the basis of some articles.

Marilyn Monroe was an orphan, and during her infancy the Illuminati/CIA programmed her to be a Monarch slave. Before becoming an actress, while she was still a stripper, she spent time with the founder of the Church of Satan Anton LaVey. Victims of LaVey have pointed him out as a mind-control programmer. At that time, Marilyn was going by several names including Mona. When they made her a star, Marilyn lived on the 13th floor, in 13E at Sutton Place, NY the world of the rich and famous. That is where Lena came to help her. However, Marilyn's existence was not that of a rich person, but was more like that of an inmate. Marilyn was allowed to have no personal life, outside of the dictates of her programmers and her masters. The programmers and users bore down so hard on controlling Marilyn that they repeatedly came close to driving her insane.

The following format the words in italic are direct quotes from Lena Pepitone's book which is entitled Marilyn Monroe Confidential An Intimate Personal Account, NY: Simon & Schuster, 1979.

- p.16- "Floor-to-ceiling mirrors were everywhere. Even the dining alcove at the rear of the living room had a table with a mirrored top. All these mirrors didn't cheer things up."

In programming Monarch slaves, mirrors are used a great deal. Within the Monarch slave's mind, countless mirror images are made. The slave sees thousands of mirrors everywhere in their mind. Because Marilyn was so stripped of any personal identity, she decorated her house as her mind looked on the inside--full of mirrors. Although other Monarchs may have some desires to decorate with mirrors, Marilyn is the most extreme case I know of filling one's house full of mirrors.

- p.25-- "Marilyn's bedroom was definitely not a queen's chamber...There were no paintings in the cramped, square room, only mirrors."...

Marilyn's controllers kept her down. Even when she was famous and great, she lived like a slave. She was not allowed to have any self-esteem beyond what she was programmed for.

- p.29 -- "May was finally able to call for the chauffeur to take Marilyn away."...

Marilyn was a captive, she didn't go anywhere on her own, she always had someone drive her.

- p.32-- "First of all, Marilyn's life was incredibly monotonous for her. Her doctor's appointments (I later learned these were appointments with psychiatrists) and her acting lessons were virtually all she had to look forward to. She spent most of her time in her little bedroom..."

Marilyn went out of the house to be either programmed or groomed. Other than that she stayed cooped up in her room. Does the reader begin to see that the woman was a slave with no life of her own?

- p.33-- "She [Marilyn] didn't even own a television, never listened to the radio."

They stripped Marilyn of any contact with the outside world to insure that their mind control would work. They were afraid that something might go wrong with the first Presidential slave that was allowed to be highly visible to the public....

- p.41-- [Marilyn says], "Shit. My life is shit," she wept. "I can't go anywhere. I'm a prisoner in this house." Marilyn is only telling the truth.
- p.43--"Because Marilyn had no real friends, she concentrated on herself."*

The closest friend Marilyn had is saying that Marilyn Monroe had no real friends. Doesn't that strike someone as strange. Marilyn didn't have any real friends. Almost the only ones in her life were her abusers, and they worked hard to strip her of any personal goals or esteem.

- p.70-- "You can go anywhere," I [Lena] assured her. "Anywhere in the world." "Who with? she asked sadly. "Who with? By myself." "Mr. Miller, your friends..." "What friends? I ain't got nobody."

Many times during the programming, the programmers separate the victim from anyone who could be a support person, they are isolated from having friends and relatives unless the relatives are in the occult.

- p. 71 --Marilyn repeatedly calls herself a prostitute. She says, "They laugh at me. What am I ...nothing...a prostitute." Further on the page Marilyn tells Lena that no one has cared about her for her entire life, including her mother....
- p.77-- "Don't take my baby. So they took my baby from me...and I never saw it again." After Marilyn had a healthy baby it was taken away from her and she was never allowed to see it. It was very likely sacrificed. Marilyn was too afraid to ask what they were going to do with it.
- p.100-- Marilyn loses her baby at the same place that some of her programming was done at. One can speculate that they took the baby for some perverted use....
- p.134--"The operation took place at Polyclinic Hospital where Marilyn had lost her baby the year before...[Marilyn said]"Going back to that hospital's a nightmare....Pain? What's pain?" For her, the only pain was in not having her own child."*

Notice she always go back to the Polyclinic Hospital. Monarch victims have had to endure vast amounts of horrible torture. They learn to survive by disassociation.

insignificant points in people's lives are being manipulated. (Bear in mind the intelligence people are carried away and overdo much of what they do, even over planning some of their ops.)

POINT 4. The chief is given the order to "hit at convenience." They are watching and probing to discover a weak point, and when they find a weak point they will strike at convenience.

POINT 5. Listening devices are installed. (The Illuminati's intelligence agencies are illegally monitoring the lives of Americans with bugs that go up to 2 Ghz. Companies like Tektronics which work with the CIA are selling counters which won't detect bugs at 2 Ghz. In other words, what is mainly sold the public is inadequate, but BK Precision does sell a counter which goes past 2 Ghz. for those who want to know when they are being illegally spied upon. Since MI-6 & the CIA cooperate, the CIA can simply say that their American intelligence information is from MI-6. It may be illegal for the CIA to spy in the U.S.-ha! no one stops them, but British MI-6 can legally spy on American citizens.) The intell. groups themselves use BABBLERS, which are electronic devices that emit noise & chatter & destroy the effectiveness of bugs.

POINT 6. Teams of experts are brought in to brainstorm about the operation. The people called in on a case will be coordinated by a team or teams. One of these teams will consist of various experts whose combined brains will give great ability to plan.

POINT 7. The person will be watched by moving in an observer into a nearby building.

POINT 8. An intelligence woman or man will be sent door to door selling perfume or something else--perhaps they will pose as Jehovah's Witnesses.

POINT 9. The door to door undercover intelligence person will be very personable, very nice to talk to.

POINT 10. The team will take all the surveillance information and spend hours going over every detail, and they will debate and get tense as they hash out the significance of certain intelligence pieces of information as they work out a plan of action.

POINT 11. The Intelligence people will take advantage of the social needs of someone close to their prey. They might give his wife some opportunities for fun things away from the house. They know how to take advantage very quickly & smoothly of the social needs of people who are around a Monarch slave. (They put used car salesmen to shame.)

POINT 12. The intelligence people have the capability to enter without keys.

POINT 13. They practice "motionless following." That means they followed people in shifts. They will follow by tag teams so to speak, and use car phones.

POINT 14. They like to use "trade" occupations as a cover.

POINT 15. The man will give a business card which had an actual office, etc. but which was a front. They will be willing to give a business card--which is a real address, but only a CIA front. The day they realize they are exposed, the phone will quit working. Handlers and men within the Network often use business cards and other cards they carry in their wallets as codes indicating various things.

In intelligence operations, the agents will take their "intelligence"--that is the info they have collected, and put it through 4 steps. 1) "direction", who is going to collect what where. 2) "collection", the actual spying. 3) "processing", analyzing and integrating what they have collected, and 4) "dissemination", distributing (via reports, talks, charts) the analyzed and rewritten reports to their customers. Most of the intelligence groups have a reputation for distorting the truth in the third stage to fit their agency's "party line".

Count St.-Germain (169?-1784) is a good example of an intelligence officer. He was one of the leading Illuminati of his time. He did alchemy for Louis XV, and magic for the Masonic leader Karl, prince of Hesse. He spied for the Dutch and the French, and who knows who else. His fundamental allegiance was to the Mystery Religions of the Illuminati.

Modern day examples are Lord Victor Rothschild, one of the leaders of MI-6, Sir Dick Goldsmith White, Jewish, Mason, & leader of MI-6 from 56-69, Sir John Rennie leader of MI-6 from 69-73 whose son Charles Tatham Ogilvy Rennie was a known major drug runner, Major General Sir John Sinclair, of the Illuminati, MI-6 chief from '53-56.

MI-5 has had a number of Illuminati/Freemasons called Director-Generals (rather than Chiefs) running it too.

Nigel West, a pseudonym for a man who worked for MI-6 devoted an entire chapter in his book MI-5 about how Hugh Astor and Victor Rothschild ran Britain's double agent division. ALL, I repeat ALL of the German agents spying on England during W.W. II were double-agents actually working for the British. If anyone tried to work for the German's secret service who wasn't disloyal, that person could only work for the Germans IF they turned into a double agent for the British. Today, almost every one working against MI-5, MI-6 and the Illuminati's New World Order, is a double agent. This book may be followed by a number of similar books by double agents of the New World Order's Network.

CIA OPERATIONS INVOLVING GEORGE WHITE

George White, working for the MK Ultra Mind Control program supplied during the 1950s a long list of prostitutes to the CIA for study. During the 1950s, the CIA was refining its knowledge of what makes a prostitute tick. How do you use them? How do you train them? How do you teach them to do both espionage and seduction. What are the elements of seduction? All these sciences were refined. For instance, if a prostitute stays longer than she is paid for, she will shock the john, and he will find his ego greatly boosted. With the right methods, the prostitute agent can elicit all types of secrets from the vulnerable male. With the ability to create Black Widow Spiders (deadly seductive Monarch alters), the Illuminati gained one more sure method to control others. Seduction and then blackmail. The CIA, just as FBI J. Edgar Hoover did, keeps detailed files on sexual preferences. It supplies what people want, but the supply comes with a price that the individual is now under blackmail.

B. BLACKMAIL

This dirty game has been honed to a fine art, which is a standard feature of the Illuminati/intelligence groups. The CIA term for blackmail is an "OK FIX." When they use a person's past sins to force someone to do something they refer to this as "biographic leverage." Any weak point in a person can and will be exploited. Sexual entrapment for blackmail is referred to as a "HONEY TRAP". Black widow alters are being trained and sent out for this purpose.

Blackmail of the slave begins when it is beginning to get verbal. At 3, the cults will tell a child they have a bomb planted inside them, that the cult can detonate if they don't obey.

In order to blackmail, or threaten, you have to have something to threaten the person with. Men are frequently entrapped by sexual behavior which is criminal. Sometimes they are also entrapped by murder.

The Monarch slave will be allowed to have children so that they can be blackmailed into complying to save the children or grandchildren. The Monarch slave in turn may be used to blackmail others. Certain alters are trained in this.

A Monarch Beta model is highly trained in seduction and will seduce a man. Then an alter which feigns death will take the body and the man will be threatened for having killed the woman. Many politicians and ministers are operating under blackmail today. When Jimmy Swaggart's ministry fell, over 200 Assembly of God ministers called headquarters and confessed that they had similar problems. The extent that blackmail is being used by the NWO would boggle people's minds.

Porn films are taken of the Monarch victims, so that they can be used to blackmail the

When Marilyn says "What is pain?" she is being accurate in reflecting her response to pain. She could not have pain--because she would disassociate it. Certain alters are created to take the pain, and the other alters don't have to experience it.

- p.135-- "I found Marilyn in a small room without any view. It was very depressing, especially since there were no flowers or any other signs that Marilyn had friends who were thinking of her."

Imagine a great actor like Marilyn is given a room without a view and no flowers or anything to cheer her up.

- p.137-- "Marilyn's now almost daily visits to the psychiatrists..."...

She was closely monitored.

- p.193-- Marilyn's half-sister tries to come into Marilyn's life. Marilyn says, "I have a right to have a family." And on the next page, "Gee, you're really my sister. My sister....At least you lived with relatives."

Marilyn's masters did not want her to have any family. They often strip the deeper alters of a Monarch slave from any ties to any non-cult person....

- p.199--Marilyn orders a $3,000 Emerald green dress to be made. Emerald green is often the most favorite color of Monarch slaves because of their Wizard of Oz programming which is usually the foundational programming.
- p.202-- "Frank...clipped two gorgeous emerald earrings on Marilyn's ears."

Again we see that emerald green is often used by Monarch slaves.

- p. 205-- "Aside from her evenings with Frank [Sinatra], Marilyn's life in California seemed identical to her life in New York. She didn't read, didn't watch television, didn't go anywhere. Although the sun was always shining, Marilyn was as pale as ever. She didn't like to go outside during the day."

As time goes on the case officer or handler will weave and ever firming ever tightening web of control around his asset. They will often use rapport. Many of the CIA's Monarch programmers are very likable people, they have learned the skill of "B.S." and building rapport. Some of this involves just understanding people and NLP.

The handler will look for telltale signs such as absenteeism, lateness, nervousness, or inconsistency. He will rely on intuition, spies, astral projection or psychic abilities to keep tabs on the asset. Then if a problem develops it will be addressed with appeals to patriotism, greed, ambition, or fear. Whatever works is the motto of the game.

When slaves are picked up, the men picking them up are called Draconian enforcers. Both authors of this book are very familiar with some of these men. They are often big male Monarch slaves. A popular Illuminati access point is to grab the right hand with the enforcers thumb in the area between the victim's thumb and index finger. The pressure will be strong enough to leave a bruise after the access. At different times in different states there have been patterns to what kind of car they drive. They often take the cars from cooperating dealerships, so that there is no license number to trace. They also use stolen license plates on their cars. In 1993, in NY they were using brown volkswagens. In the Oregon area (especially Portland), a full time Monarch slave enforcer named Rex drives his large red pickup or at times someone else's other vehicle (like his Illuminati boss's white pickup truck). He will carry a gun and a cattle prod. The cars in some places have been often red or black. A white or silver car sometimes is used to denote someone of rank. When limousines are used to pick up slaves, they may switch license plates regularly because the plates contain access codes. This was one reason the establishment began allowing people to customize their own license plates!

When one wants to control a group of people, as a leader of a country Machiavelli's book is great. Some of those principles can be scaled down to working with individuals.

Fritz has observed that almost across the board, if slaves are left within a non-cult family, relatives will consistently misperceive what is happening in the slave's life. Switches between personalities are reinterpreted to fit the world view of the observer--the multiple is merely perceived as "moody" and "irrational". Half-way decent cover stories will generally suffice to cover the slave's activities for the mafia, the CIA, and the satanic cult they belong to. The slave merely needs to pull up a good front alter for public consumption, for people want to think the best of everyone. The public will watch the 7-Swans fairy tale where a magical coat turns swans into a princess, never guessing that a news story far greater is happening all around them.

One way to control a person is to identify who the key people are in their life and then influence those people. Some of the work in controlling Monarch slaves goes on behind the scenes, even without the slave ever realizing it. A number of Monarch slaves have been maneuvered into marriages without actual mind-control even being necessary.

One of the items to successfully controlling people is that they know who they are taking orders from. In the military, officers get frustrated because they end up getting conflicting orders from conflicting jurisdictions. This happens with the control of Monarch slaves too, when too many chiefs and not enough indians are around. When a slave ends up serving several handlers within a short period of time they can get really messed up. This is because the slaves receive severe abuse and their programming can be splintered and destroyed if not handled correctly. Of course, the slave takes the blame, but that doesn't eliminate the problem. If a handler wants a better chance of his slave functioning smoothly, the slave shouldn't be tampered with by lots of handlers. This common sense logic of management seems to have been missed by a large number of handlers. One thing can be said, someone who is a common drug dealer had better not tamper with an Illuminati Mother of Darkness alter slave if they want to stay alive. It appears that slaves are seldom tampered with without permission.

Another ingredient in controlling people is knowing what your competition is going to do. Because the cults work with the intelligence agencies, they often know who, what, where, when, and how their enemies are going to challenge them. The authors of this book could write a book on how the Illuminati/intelligence agencies have watched them. People such as therapists and ministers who challenge the Monarch trauma-based programming have nice growing dossiers in CIA files.

A note should be made that the American intelligence agencies tattooed some of their slaves with blue Monarch butterflies, bluebirds, or roses for identification purposes. The bluebird relates to the CIA project name Project Bluebird. Some satanic cults tatoo the "sign of the great Beast" on the heads of victims. They also place scars with occult designs on their victims. The Illuminati slaves, who are hierarchy members of the Illuminati, are not tattooed, although a hard-to-see scar consisting of dots in a triangle on the third eye is done to some members. The prohibition against marking up one's body is not consistently enforced in the Illuminati--it seems this standard is enforced more with the women than the male Illuminati members. CIA slaves have received the Butterfly tatoos from the age of about 11 on up.

PLANNING A TYPICAL INTELLIGENCE OPERATION, or the STANDARD TEXTBOOK TECHNIQUES OF A MODERN INTELLIGENCE AGENCY.

The following points are of a scenario which was developed as follows by the author: Fritz observed how the CIA were carrying out an operation to recapture a Monarch slave who was trying to escape. These activities follow standard spook textbook methods, and for instance, fit the same patterns of an intelligence operation codenamed Operation Sphinx described in detail in the book By Way of Deception. By exposing how an operation is put together perhaps it will become clearer how the CIA monitor an asset they fear is escaping.

POINT 1. An event that looked like an accident was planned. The event was impossible to miss. This can include car accidents, people waving one down to tell you that you have a flat tire, etc.

POINT 2. They studied their prey to determine his/her routine. They will watch a residence intently to determine the person's routine and take advantage of this.

POINT 3. Then an insignificant accidental event is planned. Repeatedly, in the many Monarch people the authors have known, the tiniest victim. Monarch victims are forced to commit ritual murders which are photographed and then used to blackmail the poor mind-controlled victim.

Perhaps, one of the cruelest forms of blackmail which is carried routinely by handlers, is the threat to incarcerate the mind-controlled slave in a mental hospital. The co-author Fritz has read a number of books about the situation in America's mental hospitals, and sections of these books will literally make a person vomit from disgust. The legal climate in this nation has made it easy to stick someone else in a mental hospital. Once there, they are routinely given tranquilizers Mellaril, Thorazine or Stelazine so that they can't rebel against the most wretched conditions.

Nadine Scolla was a nurse in a mental hospital who wrote an expose based on her diary while she worked. Her book is entitled Keeper of the Keys (Westlake Village, CA: F&J Publishing Corp., 1976) The following are quotes from her account of working in a mental hospital, "How can they allow such places to exist? They really need to reform, but who is going to do it?...We're supposed to be civilized and yet many people are treated worse than the lowest form of animals. Who cares about these patients? (p.15)...Doctors receive one hundred thousand dollars a year starting salary, and the nursing personnel receive the highest pay in the profession, and yet the patients get the worst of care. (p.19)...I could see that the patients had no rights here. (p.27)...[on page 49-50 she reports about a secret hospital grave yard where patients could be buried without anyone knowing]...Do you remember the young rape victim and how they treated her-the girl with beautiful olive skin and long brown hair?...They filled the bath tub with cubes of large ice and dropped her into it. They removed her from that and placed her in scalding hot water. She came out red as a lobster. Her body was badly blistered. This treatment didn't help, so they decided upon shock treatment. 'I never saw anything so awful in all my life. They forcibly strapped her down, tied her hands and legs, stuck the electrodes to her head and placed a tongue blade in her mouth. She couldn't scream, wiggle, or do anything. After the treatment...Tammey was dead. Her body was limp-she was still trapped in the chair. It was more than I could take. I had to go off by myself and cry.' (p.51) I don't understand how our local government can allow these people to be treated worse than a dog in the local pound. At least the animals have their own cubicle and their own food dish. (p.73)"

According to what Nadine Scolla was told, half of the patients in mental hospitals are schizophrenics. A hefty percentage of these "schizophrenics" are really programmed multiples who are being quietly discarded by the system. How many victims of trauma-based total mind-control have ended up sent to mental hospitals? Many tens of thousands, maybe the exact number will never be known.

America's mental hospitals have also played an active role in the programming and the research for the programming.

C. BRIBES

Their skill at bribes is an extension of understanding human nature, and human needs and wants. It works together with blackmail.

D. The CONTROL of the MILIEU

One of the basic ideas of creating a mind-controlled slave, is to control the entire milieu of the slave. This is expressed in Nexus Seven. The environment of the slave is designed for what is called "story immersion."

A Monarch slave who has been given the basic Alice In Wonderland and Wizard of Oz programming will see objects connected to these story lines in almost every store. Restaurants in Dallas and San Antonio (The Time Machine Restaurants) which are used to reinforce programming, have mirrors on their walls, doors and ceilings and their waitresses dressed like programming script characters--such as Dorothy of the Wizard of Oz.

It is no accident that one of the leading Satanic singers calls himself Ozzy Ozburn, or that a certain Mexican witch calls herself Oz. It is no accident that recently a witch wrote the book The Witches of Oz. It is no accident that the elite have promoted the Wizard of Oz theme with television product advertisements. It is no accident that the U.S. has Oz stamps, that television has Oz cartoons, and Oz characters are appearing all over the place. For a while even Kansas had an Oz theme to their license plates ("Land of Ahs"). Hillary Clinton, (a 6th level Illuminati witch & sadistic Monarch slave handler) received a witch's hat in anticipation that she would be called the wicked witch of the West, and that Mary Matalin (who married Clinton's top campaign advisor James Carville) had a photograph of Hillary Clinton as the Wicked Witch of the West on her wall with the caption "I will get you, my pretty, and your little dog too!" The witch's hat and the caption both are popular with these people associated with the White House because they are so rich in triple and quadruple meanings. The deadliest meaning is that the Monarch Slaves that sexually service Hillary and Bill Clinton have Wizard of Oz programming. Hillary is really the Wicked Witch of the West! to these poor Beta slaves. The constant bumping into Wizard of Oz paraphernalia or pictures of it helps focus the slave's mind onto their Wizard of Oz programming.

MGM Grand recently built a multi-million dollar pyramid complex with a theme park which is based on the Wizard of Oz and the Alice in Wonderland themes. The hotel at the MGM Grand is the world's largest with 5,000 rooms, which shows that mind-control is big business. A team of actors dressed up in the Wizard of Oz theme like Dorothy and her friends (Tin man & Scarecrow) and walked on a yellow brick road constructed in the MGM complex. Emerald City is part of the theme park. The complex cost $1 billion according to the Las Vegas Review Journal, Dec. 19, '93 page A1. This complex is given the occult name Luxor, and is at 3900 Las Vegas Boulevard South. It has been advertised as the "Next Wonder of the World." It's a shame that the 1990's big wonder is a programming center.

Another part of the control of the Milieu is labelled "planned spontaneity" by the controllers. The Monarch victim repeatedly finds experiences "just happening." These are the coincidences that are so mystical that people feel there must be a higher significance to the event. Many of these are well-staged events. A slave may try to escape marrying the person they are commanded to marry. The handlers stay one step ahead of the slave, and through a series of coincidences introduce another acceptable person. The slave in an effort to escape grabs the first available substitute who has been coached on how to push all the correct green mental buttons to get the escapee to marry them. The slave jumps from the frying pan into the fire.

Things which validate the programming and the mystical beliefs of the cult will be repeatedly introduced. The skill in introducing these secretly into the life of the slave are amazing. There is no limit to what can be attempted, and some of these staged events are worthy of Houdini.

The occult world has placed their symbols all over the United States. The most esteemed institutions such as Walt Disney are fountains of the occult. Walt Disney movies are steeped in magic, and yet American society is so drowned in the occult, they have been desensitized to how it permeates American culture.

The concept of "Sacred knowledge" versus "profane knowledge" is introduced.

If the slave should escape, the first choice is to send someone who can pick them up. I have heard of slaves escaping from Europe on the plane, only to be picked up by a handler when they land in New York. Mt. Shasta's programming site, accessed by helicopter, specializes in reprogramming escaped slaves. Jerry Lee Lewis has a notorious reputation among the Network as being exceptionally sadistic in reprogramming escapees.

However, if the slave is not needed, and is wanting out--tens of thousands of them have been locked up in mental hospitals as paranoid schizophrenics. In the mental hospitals they can continue to get drugs and electro-shock--the very things that caused their problems in the first place. The insiders have a name for these slaves, they call them "broken butterflies". If the slave tries to go to court, according to some the Non Compos Mentis Law prevents them from testifying against their abusers. At any rate, with or without this law it would not be easy for a victim to get his testimony accorded the respect it deserves. If they get psychiatric help--their therapist can not tell anyone about what they have suffered, and the therapist is hamstrung about what they can do in court for the client. Recently, 15 states have created statutes of limitations on sadistic rape. This is in response to all the Monarch slaves who have begun recovering memories.

The extent that entire culture and society protect the Monarch Programming is enormous. Anyone admitting MPD (aka DID) is in fear of being labelled crazy and losing some of their rights and their job.

Because the conspiracy (the Network) is so vast, an examination of how the Illuminati controls society would be needed to cover the subject of milieu control. This would take an entire book. The reader is encouraged to read some of Fritz Springmeier's other works which expose how the Illuminati's control extends over all levels of society. Most people have settled their minds on this issue without getting the facts. When the real facts are shown, it blows people's minds. Some of the easiest and everyday items to show people, are simply a dollar bill--with its Illuminati symbol on the back, and a can of vegetables which has a bar code on it. Every bar code has 3 secret and non-functional numbers in the bar code, which are 666.

The silent hammer that strikes out at the Monarch slave is that everywhere they go, the occult world is there. Several cars are named after Satan. The name Saturn, and Belair are well-known as occult names for Satan. When Freemasonry's greatest philosopher/Illuminati Mind-control Programmer/Grand Druid Council member Manly P. Hall wrote Cabalistic Keys to the Lord's Prayer (Los Angeles, CA: The Philosophical Research Society, 1964, p. 10) he wrote "Saturn = Hallowed be thy name." The men who head these auto manufacturing companies are in the Illuminati. There is no question that they were NOT ignorant of the significance of these names.

Many other occult names of big significance to the Illuminati involving eagles have been placed on cars. Electra is a recent car named after a demon. Viper is a slow and deadly creature, why would one want to use it to name a car? Viper is also the name of an important demon. Viper is found in Black Widow Monarch slaves. Some readers may begin to feel that things are being stretched. The connections of numerous car names to the occult could be exposed, but that is not the purpose of this book. We will quote straight from a company their own explanation for their car's name in this next paragraph, simply to make the point, whether other perceive it or not, the Monarch slaves have to exist in a world full of satanic/occult symbology that ordinary people don't understand.

Mazda's president, Norimasa Furuta, published a book in 1990 which it intended to give to all its employees. The book explains its purpose "...we have written a booklet to explain how MAZDA became the name of our corporation and what it means in order to help everyone who is related to MAZDA enhance their creativity and develop their potential." The book entitled The Globe: In Search of the Origins of Mazda, goes on to explain about the founder of Mazda car company, Matsuda Jujiro, who is heralded as a great seer who "believed in himself, in his friends, and in heaven, and he achieved a truly global vision." Mazda company's book The Globe then explains that the company name Mazda comes from the god Ahura-Mazda which was the "god of light" and the "god of wisdom" according to the book. Jujiro believed that Mazda represents the "origin of civilization." The "god of light" (Lucifer) is often credited for starting civilization by those who aren't Christians. The name Mazda according The Globe symbolizes "unlimited possibility and stimulates people's dreams." Mazda's book puts down in writing their New Age goals to "establish peace for mankind with a global point of view," and "a spiritual foundation" toward which to work toward a "new age." The book further states civilization started in Egypt and that Christianity evolved from the pagan mystery religions.

Another book associated with Mazda cars, is the book The Meaning of Life given to everyone who test-drives a Mazda--that was as long as book supplies last. I quote the book "...the time when regions and continents existed keeping a certain distance from each other is a thing of the past....We are eager to transmit the meaning of MAZDA to the children of MAZDA who will create a new MAZDA...With a strong desire for peace and through the production and sale of automobiles and machine tools, MAZDA has advanced on a course to unite the people of the world" [bold added] (pp 78-79.)

An adept of the Illuminati is taught about Ahura Mazda. He would know that Mazda was the Persian God of Light who was also known as Ormus--which is another name for the Preiure de Sion, which is a powerful group protecting the 13th Illuminati Bloodline.

Some of the names of cars which could be triggering to SRA survivors include the Demon, the Vagabond, Dodge Ram (Goat of Mendes), Buick's Phoenix, Ford's Cobra, Mercury's Cougar, Eagle Jeeps, the Le Baron Eagle Logo, Navistar Eagle Truck (which may have Eagle mud flaps, and Goodyear Eagle GT tires). For most of us an eagle is a symbol of what is noble and beautiful. Historically, the eagle and the snake have been the logo of the tribe of Dan, considered the "black sheep" of the 12 tribes. The Prophet Hosea said, "Set the trumpet to thy mouth. He shall come as an eagle against the house of the LORD, because they have transgressed my covenant, and trespassed against my law." (HOS 8:1) And the Prophet Obadiah said, "Though thou exalt thyself as the eagle, and though thou set thy nest among the stars, thence will I bring thee down, saith the Lord." (OB 1:4) The co-authors of this book didn't create Illuminati history nor their symbols. We are only reporting on them. We would like the eagle simply to represent what is noble and fearfully made by God. Indeed, in some verses like in Isaiah the eagle has a positive connotation. However, the construct, the reframing that is done by the Illuminati upon these symbols is that the eagle represents Satan's empire. The Assyrian, Roman, and Nazi empires used the eagle. The Illuminati point these things out to their initiates, and ask, "Is this a symbol of Christianity, or the power of our lineages which ruled those empires?"

It is not the co-authors desire to interpret what Hosea and Obadiah meant. Nor is it our desire to dissuade anyone from buying the cars mentioned above. Our only point is that the survivor lives in a world of occult symbols and occult programming triggers. How do you convince someone to quit fearing the power of their abusers when it has its symbols on their money, their canned food, their cars, and their churches? (Yes, there are such things as All-Seeing Eyes in some churches and Masonic logos on others, and other occult symbols. Hislop's The Two Babylons is devoted to showing all the pagan symbology in the Catholic church.) Are we exaggerating? Fritz went into one fast food restaurant and the cups and placemats had a wizard throwing occult energy balls with occult symbols, the next fast food place had place mats showing the King Arthur story which is an extremely important myth for the Illuminati (the quest for the Grail!), the next fast food place had place mats giving children instructions on how to hypnotize your parents, the next one had a Wizard of Oz theme, and the next one was selling occult movies. Fritz kept these place mats to use in his talks! This nation is immersed in the occult and so desensitized they don't realize it.

The public thinks nothing of a Gargoyle Coloring/Activity book. This type of thing is commonplace in American society. If one examines Golden Book's Gargoyle Coloring/Activity book (1995) still being sold, you will find Gargoyle demons named after geographic locations that the child can color, you will find a Magus with a Book of Spells that the child can color. For activities, the child can duplicate pictures, work codes, match shadows with their figures, match objects and images, and work with robot heads of which several can be placed on one body. All these activities reinforce the type of skills that the programmers want children under mind-control to have. The book has castles, robots, a sentence about a kitten which is a code about a computer disk, and mazes. A perfect book for the programmers to give a child, and the naive public walks by these kinds of books on their store shelves everyday. The Illuminati's mind-control goes on in part right in front of America's nose, and they don't see it.

One of the saddest things for Monarch mind-control survivors is that the Programmers are so systematic in destroying everything of beauty and value in life. Everything conceivable that can be degraded will be. This mind-control has spread like an unseen cancer to every segment of life, and threatens to destroy this nation from the inside out. Imagine that every time you heard your own national anthem that it reinforced your mind-control programming? That is the life of these victims of mind-control.

We wish the American people could realize that George Bush and Bill Clinton are on the same team. Both are descendants of the top 13 Illuminati bloodlines, both are totally corrupt morally, both are into the occult, and both were trained by the same person in subliminal language techniques. The best in subliminal language techniques is said to be Tony Robins, and he is who the elite got to train both George Bush and Bill Clinton.

Monarch Mind Controlled Slaves have been created since the late 1940s. Since the early '60s, Monarch Slaves have been specially created for American presidents. These models are called Presidential Models. There are now living about 600 people (Monarch slaves) who were created into Presidential Models. That is a large harem. Presidential Models fit a particular set of physical standards, not one of the Presidential sex slaves has been black. President Kennedy, Johnson, Nixon, Ford, Bush, Reagan and Clinton have all been slave handlers. Many slaves have some deeper alters who have a realization that their Presidents are in on the corruption, how does that make them feel?

The cults which program pay particular attention to show the child, men in police uniforms and ministers of churches which are participating with the cult. This has the effect of embedding in the mind of the victim that there is no escape--that the entire structure of society is secretly in cahoots with the programmers. Not all policemen nor all ministers are dirty, but because of the Monarch program, the entire structure of American society has been seriously compromised to the extent that all sectors are infiltrated and contaminated. Unfortunately, the worst fears of the victims, are in reality close to the truth. The Monarch victim is further victimized because no-one wants to believe them in how controlled American society has become. The truth is we are on the verge of losing civilization as we know it, and entering into a dark sadistic slave-master society that will make Hitler's Third Reich look like child play.

What part of our lives are not controlled. We go to our jobs--our boss is naturally given the right to control us. For many centuries, the Machiavellian elite have provided the masses with "Bread and Circus". That means "keep the people feed and entertained and they will not rebel." After Americans come home they are kept busy with entertainment. The only exception to their work, and TV watching, are their trips to their churches. Even the various religions are secretly under elite control. See Fritz's Be Wise As Serpents book for an 800 page expose of how the various Christian groups and New Age Religions are controlled. The point is that people are kept busy and occupied, and they seldom try to step outside of the path that the elite want them to stay in.

A slave's front system will be a normal busy person for years, while the deeper alters serve their various functions for the elite. There is simply little that occurs that shakes the routine that gets established. If the handler doesn't live with the slave himself, he will often place another slave as the spouse, to oversee the slave. The marriage couple's deeper alters spy on each other.

The schools that the slaves will go to are often controlled by the abusers. Some of the more obvious ones are Groton, a school for the elite's children, and Santa Clara University and Williamette University used by the Illuminati to train their politicians for public office. The Beta Theta Pi is a political fraternity through which quite a few Illuminati politicians have joined. The Jesuit schools throughout the United States are used for abuse and programming. Note, that Bill Clinton went to the Jesuit university in Washington, D.C. called Georgetown University. A number of the military school that parents ship their elementary boys off to are used by the elite for the ongoing abuse and programming of slaves.

The Illuminati foundation, the W.K. Kellogg Foundation, gave the initial funding for the Quest Program for the public schools. The Quest Program is being adopted by various public schools. It also goes by the names Skills for Adolescence, Skills for Growing, and Skills for Living. One of the early editions of Quest had an exercise called "elevator" where the teacher uses visualization and guided imagery. The teacher places her school children in a mild hypnotic trance described in the Quest literature as "a quiet contemplative mood." Then the teacher tells the students, "You are on an elevator." Each button on the elevator represents an age of the child. When the students push a button, the elevator takes them back to experiences at that age.

It is not possible in the scope of this book to cover how every sector of our lives are controlled. Those who are interested need to read some of Fritz Springmeier's other writing including Be Wise As Serpents. However, it would be appropriate to cover how television shows and Hollywood are intimately linked to Monarch Mind-Control programming.

A great deal that is coming out of Hollywood is linked to mind-control in some fashion. Some of the hottest entertainers are Monarch slaves, such as Madonna, a Marilyn Monroe replacement. Co-author Fritz was given a catalog to Vidimax, which is an New Jersey occult porn video club by someone wanting to help his research. This cult video club sells actually snuff films. They sell the real life footage of cannibalism, virgin sacrifices, occult rituals, and worse. When Madonna was a teenage slave with the name Louise Chiccone living in NY East Village, a real life film was made of her being raped (a setup), and then her cult family taking the rapist and sacrificing him. Vidimax sells this for $19 to their members. Some of their videos are live footage of how kidnapped people have been tortured into becoming slaves. One of the catalog listing says, "tortured until their wills are broken and they become Olga's submissive slaves!...WARNING EXTREME GRAPHIC VIOLENCE...BACK BY POPULAR DEMAND." By the way, the Illuminati have their own private porn distribution. Many people ask, "Why do they need mind-controlled slaves?" Part of the answer is they need them to make their sick porn.

The history of the connections between the entertainment world and the occult and royalty go far back.

One group of people known for their travelling entertainment, the gypsies, have some interesting parallels with the Illuminati bloodlines. A gypsy proverb is, "If you want to stay survive, you must be a devil." Both groups have kept their bloodlines and their identity. Both are secretive. Both groups live double lives. Gypsy children will be given a secret magical name, and a name to use for outsiders. Gypsy children are often baptized in a magical circle. Both groups are into the occult, such as cannibalism, black magic, the evil eye, and white slavery. The gypsies believe in Charani, a big bird consumed by fire who rises from the ashes. The Illuminati call this the Phoenix. Both groups have a secret code that allows them to do anything to outsiders (who are called "Gadja" by gypsies meaning "enemy"). The gypsies originated in India and migrated west to Iran and Turkey and then to Greece and then into western Europe in the 1400s just prior to an occult revival in Europe. The largest gypsy tribe in India is Ghor. They follow Durga (Kali). Other tribes also worship Kali under different names such as the Black Virgin for which they make an effigy called "Bibiaca" which simply means "lady". Gypsies made up early groups of travelling entertainers.

Sir Francis Bacon, who wrote under the pen name of Shakespeare, was the founder/leader of the Rosicrucians of his time. (The proof of who Shakespeare was is in several books, for instance, see Alfred Dodd's research in his excellent book Francis Bacon's Personal Life Story.)

The previous two paragraphs are offered as examples of how close the occult world and entertainment have been over the centuries. The history of the two worlds coincide for many centuries back, so it shouldn't come as a surprise that today's entertainment industry is still closely linked to the occult world, nor should it come as a surprise that the Illuminati have made sure they have control over the industry.

During W.W.II, the entire country was mobilized for the war effort and Hollywood was recruited so to speak to help with the war effort. For instance, cartoons were created as training films and as war propaganda. The military hired thousands of entertainers for USO Camp Shows, Inc. which was under the Special Services Division of the U.S. Army. Bob Hope, who worked for MI-6, British overseas intelligence, was the leading entertainer for USO tours. After the war broke out he went on 12 major overseas tours which took him and his beautiful troop of stunning knock-out girls to every front of the war--from the quiet fronts like Panama to places like Italy and North Africa. To make a long story short, Bob Hope was used to run messages to programmed multiples for British & American Intelligence. Later, after the war Bob Hope became a slave handler. In some of Fritz's other writings, Bob Hope's connections to the Illuminati are gone into. U.S.O. magicians were found to be the most overall popular USO show. The International Brotherhood of Magicians is intimately connected to the occult world and puts out a magazine The Linking Ring. Under the auspices of the USO (controlled by military intelligence) the country western industry's roots developed. The country western industry became a front for drug running, money laundering and white slavery for the Programmers of Monarch total Mind-controlled slaves. The USO also created at least 200 bands, from which came Lawrence Welk's band, Sam Donahue's band, Claude Thornbill's band, and Guy Lombardo's band to name a few.

Over the last 45 years perhaps the most popular place for couriers to be signalled to meet was by someone holding a bird in a cage or at a shop with birdcages. The allusion to carrier pigeons is so obvious. Look at a caption "Speaking of WRENS" with a cartoon from Bob Hope's book I Never Left Home (NY: Simon & Schuster, 1944) written in 1944 during the middle of W.W. II. The cartoon shows Bob chasing a girl with a bird cage and saying, "Tweet, Tweet, Tweet." Hypnotic commands are given 3 times. What seems like a harmless cartoon, is more like a signal telling people that Bob Hope is in charge of a flock of carrier pigeons (couriers), which we know he was. When talking to a group of soldiers during the war, Bob said, "In London the bobbies caught a guy walking around in the fog with a bird cage giving the mating call but the American counsel got me."

TWEET TWEET TWEET

Speaking of WRENS....

Walter Bowart in his researcher's edition of Operation Mind Control discusses the case of two W.W. II vets, who had their W.W. II memories erased by the military using drugs, hypnosis and behavior modification, before they were released from the army in 1947. This is found in Cassiday, Karen and Judith A. Lyons.

"Recall of Traumatic Memories Following Cerebral Vascular Accident" Journal of Traumatic Stress. NY: Plenum Pub. Vol. 5, No. 4, Oct. 1992, p. 627. The point is that evidence is surfacing from various locations that the U.S. government was carrying out mind-control during WW II. This was done under the auspices of British Intelligence (MI-6) during W.W. II.

When Canada entered the W.W. II with Britain, one of the best british secret agent training schools was set up between Whitly, Ont. and Oshawa, Ont. on Lake Ontario's north shore across from the U.S.-Can. border. The site was called Intrepid Park. Agents called it "the camp" or "the farm". Today, the CIA have their own "farm" (Camp Perry). The official British name for this spy camp was British Security Coordination Special Training School No. 103 & Hydra. STS 103. It was also known as Camp X. British SOE (Special Operations Executive) set itself in NYC. Americans from the FBI and OSS went to Camp X for training, as well as the SOE,SIS, BSC, and the Canadian RCMP. The British were already using mind-control at this stage.

The connections are endless. Edgar Allen Poe, who was into the occult and worked for British intelligence wrote The Raven. Vincent Price starred in Hollywood's version of the Raven, and passages of the book have been used as codes for a number of Monarch slaves, who had to memorize portions of the book with their photographic memories.

Warner Communications came out with the book/& movie "Sybil" which is about a woman with multiple personalities. The book and movie "Sybil" are full of mental slides (misinformation detours are called "slides" by the CIA) to prevent people from looking and thinking in the right directions concerning MPD. Structured MPD (DID) like Sybil's, occurs only from very specific trauma-based programming. Even the name Sybil is an occult name, although the idea that occult was involved in creating Sybil's MPD is not hinted at. The chief financial power behind Warner Communications was the Illuminati/Pilgrim Society member Eugene R. Black, retired head of the World Bank. Warner Communications is headquartered at Rockefeller Plaza, and has produced quite a few occult movies and occult books, for instance their movie about a demon "It Lives Again."

When Monarch slaves watch television, the shows they watch can relate to their programming in the following ways.

1. First, many of the shows have code words or programming scenarios which are deliberately in the shows to control the slaves: such as Star Wars, Star Trek, The Wizard of Oz, the Love Boat, Fantasy Island, I Dream of Jeanie (Delta Genie in the bottle programming, and "YOUR WISH IS MY COMMAND" type trigger), The Little Princess, the Miss Universe Contest 1995, Duck Tails (created to control child slaves, with deliberate triggers such as "earthquack"), Bobby's World cartoon, Steven Spielberg's Tiny Toons, My Fair Lady (used in several of the slave finishing schools), ET (for alien programming), etc.
2. Some of the shows which are supposedly pure fiction show elements of actual Illuminati ceremonies, Illuminati history, drug running methods, etc., such Bell, Book & Candle, Burn Witch Burn, Curse of The Voodoo, Equinox, Manos, The Hands of Fate, Witchcraft '70, as Spirits of the Living Dead, Frankenstein, Night of the Living Dead, Bewitched (with actual witches as actors). Raising Cain shows torture and MPD. Hellraiser 3 depicts "gatekeepers."
3. Some of the shows portray the Monarch total mind-control program (!): Telephon, The Manchurian Candidate, Videodrome, Labyrinth, Trancer II, The Attack of the Robots, Dr. Goldfoot & the Bikini Machine, Attack of the Puppet People, The War of the Zombies, Colossus-The Forbin Project, and The Point of No Return starring Jane Fonda's Bridgett, who is connected to the OTO. (By the way, Monarch mind-controlled slaves have been shown the movie "Telephon" to emphasize to them that their minds are controlled by their handlers, and for them not to forget it.)
4. Many of the movies and shows use Monarch slaves as actors & performers: such as Rosanne kill the old flesh." This is the type of suicide programming given Monarch slaves. He is ordered, "Come to Mickey." Mickey happens to be part of Mickey Mouse programming and one of the nicknames of the programmer Michael Aquino. He is then shown a picture of suicide. Then the hypnotic command, "Come to Mickey" is said three times. "Long live the new flesh." The movie announces, "The battle for the mind of North America will be fought in Videodrome."

TRANCER II

This is also billed as a "cult classic". Who decides what is a "cult classic"? At any rate, this is another film which depicts part of the Monarch total mind-control. We will not take the space to cover indepth, but will touch on a few items here. The main character is McKnowlty which sounds a lot like MK Ultra. Is it a play on words? It could be.

A council like the Illuminati's with lifetime appointments is in the film.

The persons under control in Trancer II bear some resemblance to the Monarchs. Some of the language that is used is lifted from the language handlers use. "FOLLOW MY INSTRUCTIONS, SLEEP, SLEEP, SLEEP" a person is instructed. "RABBIT SPEAKING", "YOU BELONG IN A GREEN WORLD." The movie also has Freeze codes which are a color.

KRULL

This 1983 movie with Ken Marshall and Lysette Anthony is just one more example of hundreds of Hollywood movies which show some aspect of the Illuminati &/or their mind-control.

Krull is an island ruled by sorcery. A prince searches for a magic ornament to save his bride and their kingdom. The film has a poppy field, castles, an All-Seeing-Eye, armies of robots, Satan, and other features that a Monarch internal world will be set up with. A person can turn into a dog, pig or lion.

THE LITTLE PRINCESS

This Shirley Temple movie was just one of many Hollywood films used for programming. The princess has a nice "dream". Slaves are programmed to view their service in the real world as dreams, and their fantasy worlds in their internal mind as reality. The Princess has a scene with hot cross buns and ravens. This scene was used for programming. The Princess sits on a throne. There are fairies and a joker, which are used in programming. The father is said to be dead, but is not dead in this movie---thus creating the type of reversal that the programmers like to work into the minds of slaves. A rich genie helps the princess, and when she finds her Daddy, she wakes him up with a kiss and a song. The girl's name is Sarah, a name which appears within a number of Monarch system's as an alter name.

MISS UNIVERSE CONTEST

The broadcast of the 1995 Miss Universe Contest did a very unusual freeze-framing of the show while it was on. The screen was mysteriously freeze-framed 9 times, this was a trigger for Illuminati Mothers of Darkness alters. A Mother of Darkness type throne was sat upon by the winner of the contest. An all-seeing-eye was flashed up on the screen with the code A MAY ZING written on it. This is the type of puns that the programmers enjoy. The winners of the contest came from INDIA, CANADA, and the USA. The order and names of those countries have to do with end times programming. The names were a code to certain Mothers of Darkness systems. India wore a Mother of Darkness type garment. Canada wore black and white, and USA wore Red. Miss India gave another code during the interviews, "If someone wants to put monkey's on your back, if you stand up they get on your back."

THE MANCHURIAN CANDIDATE

In 1958, the author Richard Condon had his novel The Manchurian Candidate published which describes an American Army sergeant, who is captured and programmed to assassinate on the cue of a queen of diamonds of a deck of cards. Richard Condon's ability to think about the potential of behavior modification and hypnosis, had allowed him to stumble upon what had actually been going for over a decade.

Frank Sinatra bought the movie rights for this book, let the movie out briefly and then squelched the second release of the film.

Frank Sinatra has been a slave handler. He has handled Bob Hope's slaves, when Bob Hope has lent them to the Rat Pack (which consisted of Dean Martin, Frank, Sammy Davis, Jr. Peter Lawford & Joey Bishop). Frank Sinatra spends time with the Rockefellers and the Rothschilds. Both he and Dean Martin have handled slaves. Dean Martin was described by The Hollywood Reporter as a "hypnotically attractive, homegrown American monster." In Fritz's previous writings he has exposed how Peter Lawford & Sammy Davis, Jr. were satanists. Dean had the audacity to want to bring out a slave on his T.V. show on a lease in a tiger outfit. As mentioned previously, the sexual alters see themselves as kittens or cats and are given obedience training with the type of collar Dean wanted to bring them out on stage with on television. The television network stopped it.

As Frank Sinatra grew up, his parents always had money. His mother was a cigar-smoking cruel foul-mouth woman, who performed illegal abortions. She got caught once and had to face the penalty on Feb. 27, '39 in a Hudson Special Sessions Court. Frank's hero was Benjamin "Bugsy" Siegel, boss of Murder, Inc. About 30% of the dirty work for the Illuminati is carried out by the Mafia. The Illuminati have their own death squads which are superior to the Mafia, but individuals must approach one of the Illuminati councils for approval to assassinate. Often it is easier for someone in the Illuminati just to put out an unauthorized contract than to go through proper channels. Bugsy associated with all the Mafia heads including Charlie "Lucky" Luciano who controlled mind-controlled slave Marilyn Monroe.

Both Frank Sinatra and CIA mind-control programmer William Joseph Bryan, Jr. (aka William Joseph Bryon, and William Jenning Bryan III, etc.) were members of the Tommy Dorsey Band.

Bryan programmed people while he was with the Air Force as Chief of Medical Survival Training which was the Air Force's covert mind-control section. Later he opened up his own hypnotherapy Institute on Sunset Strip in Hollywood where he programmed some people in the Illuminati who are actors. He also was the person who programmed Sirhan Sirhan to be involved in the Robert Kennedy assassination. He also hypnotised Alvert Di Salvo. After Bryan died in spring, 1977, the CIA cleaned out all of his files including his home files. Bryan was fat, 6' 1 1/2", and a Satanic priest in the Old Roman Catholic church. This is same satanic church that William Schnoebelen was a Satanic priest in, before giving his life to Christ. (Bill Schnoebelen tells his own story in Lucifer Dethroned. Chino, CA: Chick Publications, 1993.) Schnoebelen was offered a slave but turned down the opportunity to be a handler.

In William J. Bryan, Jr.'s book entitled The Chosen One The Art of Jury Selection, Bryan teaches how to use hypnosis on jury members to win one's case. On the back of the book he states about himself, "In addition Dr. Bryan served as an Electronics Engineer in the Navy in World War II, was Director of all Medical Survival Training for the United States Air Force, and a leading expert on brainwashing." William J. Bryan was the technical director for Frank Sinatra's movie The Manchurian Candidate. It was hoped that the movie would scare Americans into thinking that the enemy (the communists) was carrying out mind-control.

THE SIMPSON CARTOONS

There are episodes of the Simpsons which blatantly promote the Freemasons, the Illuminati and even show items of the Monarch mind-control such as "following the Yellow Brick Road." The episodes are quite revealing.

Aspects of Illuminati programming can also be seen in the movie "Spirits of the Dead", where spirit copies of one's abusers are placed into the slave, and the movie "Cat Girl", where a beautiful girl is turned into a killer beast.

Several movies have come out showing the concept of creating robotic people such as the Barr, Vette Mittler, Marilyn Monroe, Loretta Lynn, Crystal Gayle and possibly Wayne Newton (a child singing protege, who never wrote a check for himself in his life). They also use lots of slave handlers such as Frank Sinatra, Peter Lawford, & Bob Hope. And occasionally the use programmers such as Anton LaVey, Jerry Lee Lewis.

Cisco, the co-author of this book, while in the Illuminati, was given repeated reason to believe that Elvis Presley was also a Multiple programmed by the Illuminati. We know that at times he went by code names, one which is publicly known was John Burrows. His group, called the Memphis Mafia, have talked about his ability to go into altered states of consciousness, even seem dead. Recently, another Illuminati slave, also stated that Elvis was an Illuminati slave. Cisco points out that Elvis' twin brother was dead at his birth, and that Elvis knew that this gave him double spiritual power (according to Illuminati beliefs). The Illuminati will often kill a twin, so that the other will get the power of two souls. From what we understand, Elvis Presley's handler/programmer was a Col. Tom Parker. Elvis belonged to a team of 4 Illuminati men. Elvis is publicly known to have studied yoga, numerology, drugs, and received some new age spiritual training in an academy overlooking Pasadena, CA. He was an active member in the Theosophical Society. After Elvis Presley supposedly died, the Sun International Corp. came out with an Elvis Presley album called Orion, with the winged-sun-disk on its cover. The winged-sun-disk is an important Egyptian magical symbol used by the OTO, Theosophical Society etc. Mae Boren Axton, known as the Grand Dame of Nashville, played a pivotal role in Elvis Presley's life. Elvis & the Beatles were chosen by the Illuminati to introduce rock music to the United States. There is no doubt about Elvis' and the Beatles' musical talent. Elvis' close friend Wayne Newton is highly suspected as also being a slave. Elvis worked with Burt Reynolds and Jerry Lee Lewis who also connect in with the Illuminati's mind-control operations. The authors are puzzled why Elvis' grave, which had millions of dollars spent on its security, has his name misspelled? We are also puzzled why Elvis, who repeatedly stated he wanted to be buried beside his mother, is buried beside his father, who he privately stated wasn't even his real father. Why has no one ever tried to collect insurance on Elvis' death? Once again, it seems, the front stories that the public hears are full of inconsistencies. We believe that some people in the Illuminati know the true story about Elvis Presley. For sure Elvis' mysterious mind-control programmer/handler Col. Tom Parker would know.

STAR TREK, THE NEXT GENERATION

The original series of Star Trek had lost money, but in September, 1987 a new series called Star Trek, The Next Generation was started with $1 million dollars budgeted for each of its 24 episodes. The episodes pushed the Illuminati's agenda in every show. People were being aroused to bombard Paramount with requests for a new Star Trek.

Bob Justman who worked with Roddenberry said, "When I left Star Trek in 1968 it was a disaster. It was a failure as far as the network was concerned." That is because it didn't make money. Hollywood tells us it makes these movies because they are what the public want and that they have to go where the money is--the closer truth is that Hollywood makes movies that push an agenda--Hollywood makes movies that Hollywood wants to make. And since Star Trek was part of the NWO's mind-control, the show and it successors had to go on.

How important is Star Trek? A witness has talked about Boeing workers sneaking off their jobs and hiding in the tunnels underneath the hugh Seattle Boeing plant so they could watch Star Trek shows. This enormous Boeing plant is used for rituals and mind-control. This Boeing building is enormous, for it is where they have assembly lines to build the hugh jets, like the 747s, 707s, etc. An extensive maze of tunnels lays underneath the main building, large enough to accommodate all the tens of thousands of workers on any shift.

It is interesting who was associated with the production of Star Trek: The Next Generation. Script writers for the Next Generation had a Star Trek Bible to write from. These script writers included such persons as Alan Adler, Dennis Putnam Bailey, three Grays, Debra McIntrye, Ronald Moore, Grant Rosenberg, Randee Russell, Bryan Stewart. These are common names within the Illuminati. Coca-cola, an Illuminati-run corporation, was one of the major advertisers for Star Trek, and the god-man Dalai Lama of Tibet, who is a Star Trek fan, visited the cast of Star Trek in 1988 in Hollywood and got his picture taken with members of the cast. Probert who worked with Star Trek productions also worked with Walt Disney's Imagineering subsidiary.

□ Data is a humanoid with an on-off switch who can store vast amounts of data. His memories can be so strong that personalities in those memories fight for control of Data. (See the episode aired 1/23/89).

□ Holodeck creations of people (humans who are mirror images) who are aware of themselves. This is a well-used concept for programming Monarch alters. The first episode with this aired 1/11/88 and got several awards--an Emmy Award, and an award from the George Foster Peabody Award board.

A few other items which will show the reader the occult agenda of Star Trek, the Next Generation and how it fits into the mind-control programming (dates that the show aired are in parenthesis): a Reptilian Race called Tellisians (10/12/87), a Cosmological Egg-from the cabalistic magical world view (10/26/87), a brain scanned by a probe (11/9/87), age regression, reverse aging and memory loss (2/8/88), android duels & a crystalline body (1/18/88), a race of computer operators (2/1/88), an ozone hole in the atmosphere kills a planet (2/15/88), a matriarchal oligarchy--shades of the Mother of Darkness's oligarchy (1/25/88), people who are only holographic projections (4/11/88), a cyberneticist & androids (2/13/89), doubles (mirror images) (4/3/89), half-human half-robot people (5/8/89), clones of people (5/22/89), a holodeck person who doesn't know his last name (6/19/89), Betazoids (11/13/89), and a drug which causes hysterical paranoia (7/17/89).

Colorado is the area where trauma-based alien-theme programming is carried out with a mock UFO. Gaston, one of the programmers in that area, is turning out top secret Monarchs with solometric systems. NORAD and Colorado Springs and several other Colorado locations are major headquarters for end-time call back programming. Interestingly, they have placed the Star Trek Fan Club in Colorado.

VIDEODROME

This recent movie portrays Monarch Mind Control and S&M. Mind-controlled slaves are frequently used to create S&M films. The Illuminati's S&M porn film industry has been booming for over 4 decades. (Compare the name Videodrome with Vidimax mentioned above.)

The porn films done of a particular Monarch slave who is used as a porn star will be coded according to the code name given to the star. Let's say they call the Star "Lily", then the porn movies will be cataloged Lily 1, Lily 2, Lily 3, etc.

This type of porn involves a great deal of real torture, humiliation, and actual deaths of people. This type of porn is portrayed in the Hollywood movie Videodrome.

The main character in Videodrome represents what a mind-controlled slave would see. The main character Max is told, "I want you to open up to me." He then feels intense pain and doubles up and falls down, and submits, "all right." Then he is ordered to "Give us channel 83." He then proceeds under the mind-control to kill two partners, who he has previously liked and with whom he has had no quarrels. He is further told, "You are an assassin for Videodrome. They can program you. They can make you do what they want."

Interestingly, the name of the brand of cigars smoked on the show are named Medicis. He is told, "To become the new flesh you must 1920's movie Golem, the 1966 movie Cyborg 2087, and the movie Frankenstein. According to Illuminati history, the Collins Illuminati bloodline did pre-20th century experiments to create a Frankenstein, and Mary Shelley's novel is actually secretly based on their research. The Rothschilds have carried out successful production of synthetic people this century. This is all in accord with the black magic goal of controlling bodies, whether live or dead. The 90 min. "Night of the Living Dead" expresses the satanic black magic goal to control bodies.

And if the Illuminati can't control their slaves, the final solution, if nothing else works, is to- as the CIA say- "terminate with extreme prejudice" (a.k.a "Executive Action"), like they did to Mary Pinchot Meyer on Oct. 13, 1964, Princess Grace Kelly & countless others.

E. TWINNING & BONDING

Two Sisters-of-Light (the level before Mothers-of-Darkness) will be placed before a many-faced mirror with intense lights and programmed to see each other as inseparable. They become twins, and are programmed to die if the other one dies. They are taught to be one in body, mind, and soul. They are bonded in many ways, including torturing each other, and sexual bonding. The trauma bonding that they undergo will consist of a. being put in life or death situations together, b. given programming scripts which intertwine & fill in to complete each other to make a whole, c. are placed in jobs that require total compliance with the programming in order to survive, d. are bonded together to other people.

The scripture "A house divided against itself cannot stand" (MT 12:25, MK 3:25) is used to program people to stay in line with what the team is doing.

High level four-person female teams and a four-person males team are programmed to work together after the Anti-Christ takes over. These types of teams form the male-female component of a larger 3-part team.

With the advent of advanced medical technology the Illuminati are now able to make quintriplets, implant the eggs in surrogates, and then switch the identical children during their lifetimes. This type of high level subterfuge is going on, and it makes the identities of some slaves complicated to say the least. Readers may want to get some of the articles Fritz has written about the clones, synthetic people, organic robotoids, and double look-alikes that the Rothschilds and the rest of the Illuminati families are engaged in creating. The twinning programming is very complex and detailed. Within the Rothschild bloodlines--the 5 family lines that began with Mayer Amschel's 5 sons going to 5 capitals- network/bond their female slaves together with Gennifer-Sally-Elsie-Sarah-Penelope programming. (The 6th son to finish the red schield hexagram is/was a bastard.) This is all part of a complex satanic world mind that is being created. This is the Adam Kadmon. Twins (& teams) claim to be telepathic with each other, and observations of slaves, has tended to support that claim. Many therapists have failed to take the twinning part of the programming into account. Twins must be deprogrammed together for best results, if one is left out they may try to impede therapy.

F. PEER PRESSURE

At the beginning of the programming, the Programmers are dealing with a small infant who is unable to verbalize to others about their abuse. They are further frightened in every way, and tortured, and given behavior modification to teach them to remain silent. Even without all these strong threats which always exist, the child would not capable of fighting back. The child will naturally think this is the way the world is, and of course, the programmers are reinforcing the idea that this is the heritage or path that the child is supposed to be following. The dissociative parts of the child do not fully comprehend that being sexually assaulted daily by their father is wrong. They are being misled by their abuser that it is correct, that that is their purpose in life. The child is never given a chance to realize that it has a right to refuse. It is conditioned to obedience. The abuse seems to be just another part of things that belong to the world of adults. For children, adults do many things beyond comprehension, at times ridiculous. And they seem to need no reason to do these things, except for the fact that they are adults. Other adults that come and go are also participants in the abuse, so the child doesn't grasp that he can be defended by other adults. The programmers are always doing unexpected things to the child, so the child quits trying to figure life out, and fatalistically complies with what it is expected to do. Children all over the world grow up in an adult world, and are at the mercy of adults.

As the alters begin to experience life, they are generally in situations where the attitudes of the people around them, reinforce their programming.

Boys are told by society in general to take their lumps in life "like a man". They are taught to fight their own battles, and not to whine. Few boys risk the shame that comes from talking about their abuse. Society is not kind to "whiners". Females are permitted to show emotions, without the social sanctions levied on males.

If the child victim of mind-control comes from a family where only one of the parents is a participant in the abuse, then what often happens is that the clean parent, will never even discuss abuse issues with their child. Few adults ever really discuss abuse issues with children. The child is generally isolated from their peers as much as possible by the child's handler's and programmers. They place other children that belong to the cult in the child's life to report on what the child is doing.

When the child victim begins to "stretch their wings" so to speak and meet other people, there are very few people that will threaten the control of the programmers. When the slave does find a good therapist to make friends with, this friendship will trigger all kinds of programming, unresolved issues around adults, trust, etc. The slave feels double-binded. If they move toward health and freedom, it creates many more problems than staying in slavery. They need to see the bigger picture. They need to be given something positive to live for outside of the slavery. Psychiatrists are not permitted by their boards to get personally involved in their clients lives. Traditional therapy doesn't address some of the issues that will stop the slave from wanting to gain freedom.

Internal peer pressure from multitudes of programmed loyal deeper alters, and external peer pressure from cult children the victim is bonded to, begins to exert an overpowering force for the child to stay on the beaten path. Few people ever buck the system, and go against peer pressure. Someone as hurt and docile as a slave is going to want acceptance, and is not likely going to want to step out of line with society and their peers. Until society admits that there is a problem with mind-control, it will be a dangerous thing socially for a child slave to admit to what the victim is actually experiencing every day.

Are there any HAGABARDS or MOSES?

Now the reader has the FORMULA for the mind control. Now what?

These programmed multiples continue to eat away at the moral fiber every one of America's Institutions like an army of termites. On the outside the structures still look strong, but they are being readied to collapse, for the reign of the Illuminati's AntiChrist.

There is a series of books called the Illuminati books which are a fictional account of how the Illuminati run the world. In the novels, the Illuminati run essentially everything--which is actually what is happening. The hero, Hagabard fights against this ancient conspiracy.

Who isn't familiar with the Biblical example of the elite ruler, who leaves his place of royalty to lead a nation in slavery to freedom? this hero's name is Moses. He also frees the people spiritually from the spiritual bonds of their hermetic magical culture. If there are any Hagabards or Moses' or Aarons out there, it is time to buck this World System. "LET OUR PEOPLE GO. LET OUR CHILDREN GO."

Thus saith the LORD, Let my people go, that they may serve Me. (EX 8:1b)

APPENDIX 1. The PROGRAMMERS

INTRODUCTORY REMARKS

For any recipe you need a cook. So who has been cooking up the RECIPE for making Monarch Slaves? The authors felt that after reading the recipe, that some readers would be interested in learning about the master chefs who make human robots using trauma-based mind-control.

According to an ex-Programmer, the Programmers for decades have been treated like royalty whenever they step foot onto a military base, or enter a hospital that carries out mind-control. They are always expected. Generally, the commanding general on a base would met them and escort the programmer in a limo. If the base commander couldn't make it, an important physician might take his place. The programmers have keys, and codes to get into special areas.

After many thousands of Americans died in WW II fighting Nazism, our government's intelligence agencies (incl. the military intelligence groups) in cooperation with the Illuminati and its people in the Vatican, smuggled 10,000 of the worst Nazi-fascist war criminals into this country. This is on public record now. Part of this was under Operation Paperclip. The DoD (Dept. of Defense) also worked at smuggling Nazi mind-control programmers under Project 63. Every W.W. II veteran who fought ought to be angry that after putting his life on the line for "democracy" and freedom, and supposedly defeating the Nazis, our government brought in men like the S.S.'s infamous butcher Dr. Joseph Mengele to program American children with trauma-based mind-control like he had in the concentration camps.

In fact, Fritz has worked with an Illuminati victim of Joseph Mengele, who was programmed in Germany in a concentration camp, and then smuggled to the U.S. via Canada by Jesuits working with the Illuminati. Once in the U.S., this person continued to be programmed by Mengele, who went by many names including Dr. Green. He is described in detail in part d. of this Appendix.

We must begin to get beyond the fronts and covers that the programmers have for the world.

Jewish professor Ernst Bergmann, of the infamous Leipzig University, is also surprisingly an strong advocate of Nazism. His main book is A National Socialist Philosophy of Culture. He writes, "A new type of mankind is being developed." He is mentioned here so that people stop looking at labels, and start looking at what is really going on.

One of the principle goals of Nazism was to remake mankind. The Ahnerbe of the Nazis was set up to do genetic research and experiments. And one element of that was to be able to create the prefect obedient mind-controlled slave.

A first glance at the lies told us by our press will give one the impression Nazism was anti-communist, nationalistic, & Christian. However, a close look at Hitler and today's Nazi leadership, will reveal that Nazism is Socialism (or Marxism, exactly what communism is about) and that Nazism is not nationalistic, but international in its view. Further, it is Satanic and based on the Nordic mystery beliefs (Odin, Thor, etc.). It is not based on Christianity. The Vril Society was the mother of the Nazi party. "Vril" means the Light Force. What Light force? Lucifer the light bearer's light force. The true nature of Nazism is being concealed.

When Hitler came to plan, he was placed into power in accordance with the Illuminati plan which was spelled out in writing. This plan said, "Nowadays if any state raise a protest against us it is only pro forma (provided in advance) at our discretion and by our direction, for their anti-semitism is indispensable to us for the management of our lesser brethren." Illuminati international bankers brought Hitler to power, and Illuminati kingpins like Rockefeller, Onassis and the King of Sweden traded with the Nazis. Spain stayed neutral during the war to serve as a conduit of supplies to keep Hitler's war going.

Hitler was a participant in rituals where human sacrifices were carried out. He himself killed a number of men by pulling their hearts out of their bodies while they were alive. One Monarch slave remembers his father, who was powerful in the Illuminati, describing how Hitler killed a man in front of him by pulling his heart out. Some of Hitler's key advisors and key men were in the Illuminati. There are also lots of tie ins with the OTO, the Vril Society, the Thule Society, the Society of Green Men. The head of the Tibetan Monks that Hitler imported to help him lead Germany was known as The Man with the Green Glove. The monks were posted in Berlin, Munich, and Nuremberg.

By the way, the NWO is still using Tibetan Monks. Have you ever watched how much travel the Dalai Lama gets in? And did you notice that Tibetan Monks were imported in the Bakaa Valley Colorado by a U.N. leader? The Mishpuka (Jewish Mafia) leader Pritzker who lives in seclusion on Haulon Rd., Libertyville, IL 60048 on a 1300 acre piece of expensive real estate, had the Dalai Lama consecrate a shrine for him. Haulon Rd. has two access points, a northern and a southern. (The road was bought by Pritzker and is guarded. Pritzker has been active in Chicago for the Mishpuka. He is reported to have spent millions renovating his house, where for some reason, dead bodies keep showing up on its estate grounds.)

Our political leaders have been aware that Nazi Mind-control experts were imported after the war. For instance, some of the Nazi war criminals smuggled in became some of Richard Nixon's personal friends. Even the Mossad were fully aware that thousands upon thousands of the worst monsters that the world has known were smuggled into the U.S. for the Illuminati by the Vatican, the Intelligence Agencies, and other groups.

The Rothschilds and Nelson Rockefeller forced the Jewish Zionist leadership in Israel to keep silent about the Nazis who were smuggled into the U.S. after W.W. II. In return for Israel's silence and the Mossad's silence about the thousands of high level satanic Nazis who were brought into the U.S., the nation of Israel was allowed. They made a deal, according to high level insiders. Nelson Rockefeller had enormous power in South America. In June 1945, when the U.N. was being set up at San Francisco, Nelson Rockefeller attended. While Nelson Rockefeller was there, he busied himself with directing the South American delegates. Rockefeller's bloc of 19 Latin American countries had more U.N. votes than Europe's nine members. Rockefeller was a key person, if the Zionist's wanted the U.N. to vote so that the nation of Israel could be established.

The Zionist leadership used what they thought was blackmail, if you don't let Israel be established we will expose how you are smuggling nazi war criminals into the U.S. Of course, the Illuminati wanted Israel to be created--so those in the Zionist leadership who knew the bigger plans of the Illuminati, knew that the Illuminati-run CIA wasn't giving up anything. If anyone asks why the Mossad didn't expose MI-6 and the CIA's extensive hiring of Nazi war criminals, they say today that they were using it for blackmail to get Israel what it needed.

Those in the know, realize that is just an excuse. The Mossad has hired its own share of Nazi criminals, and at some point learned mind-control programming from the CIA, perhaps even from Mengele (Dr. Green).

The Nazis used Croats and White Russians to carry out some of their genocide policies. Not all of the monsters of W.W. II were German, many were White Russian collaborators. Essentially every White Russian War Criminal from W.W. II that survived the war was placed on one NATO payroll or another. The U.S. intelligence even hired German SS administrators. Why? Because U.S. intelligence is controlled by the Illuminati.

The White Russian Nazis were settled in the NY-NJ area, especially in South River, NJ. One of the worst monsters was Stankievich who ended up living in Richmond Hills and working for the CIA. He got a job working for Radio Liberty in NY! Isn't that ironic that "Radio Liberty" has hired such monsters. Does our government put out propaganda or is it really the champion of freedom that it portrays itself to be?

The Nazi mayor of Minsk was brought over by the CIA and given a job at the N.Y. Library of running the Slavic desk. One of the chief White Russian war criminals, the Vor Kommando Moskau chief recruiter was made head over a NY county medical society. John Foster Dulles, brother of the director of the CIA, was trustee of the Rockefeller Foundation. The Rockefeller Foundation was a participant in Nazi mind control research done by Mengele and others for the Kaiser Wilhelm Medical Institute in Berlin. After the war, John Foster Dulles helped smuggle Nazis into this country, including those who were Illuminati Mind-control experts. Bill Casey, later director of the CIA, was also busy helping bring in Nazi war criminals after the war. He served on the International Rescue Committee in NY which he used to bring Nazis into New York. Prior to the war jewish German scientists were smuggled into New York through the Arnold & Constable Store, which housed the ADL on the top floor.

The South American countries, especially Argentina, ruled by the Perons, was connected to both the Illuminati in Germany and the Illuminati in the states. Many germans went to Argentina, and they simply continued doing what they had done in the past. Satanism working under the veil of Nazism was very strong in Argentina where many of the German Illuminati leaders moved after the war. Another place that the Germans loved to move to was Oregon, especially Portland, OR.

The head of Hitler's intelligence was the brilliant Reinhard Gehlen who worked for the CIA after the war. He is Illuminati. His brother was Doc Winters who lived in Pullach after the war. Mengele, (the Dr. Black of Monarch Programming, who was an Illuminati Grand Master himself) would occasionally visit Doc Winter's Pullach residence.

To renovate the image of Nazi criminals, they became Anti-communist crusaders. A group of fascists from Asia and Europe were taken by U.S. Intelligence and molded into the WACL (World Anti-Communist League). And we of the sheppel (sheep) were given more Hegalian dialectics.

Those of us who still care about humanity's freedom, and that human spirit not to be broken by the elite's total mind control, have got to get beyond labels, and the media's propaganda, and the false fronts.

• Understanding the PROGRAMMERS

Many men have contributed to the research of trauma-based mind control. The men who learned how to torture during the ancient Babylonian days, during the Roman days and during the Medieval days passed their secrets to the rulers of the secret Mystery Religions. Some of the 13 Illuminati bloodlines trace their history back to the ancient times of Babylon.

Because the programmers are driven by the spirit-world, they are very jealous and competitive towards each other. It is a dog-eat-dog world amongst them. The demonic forces within in them are in competition too. Yes, the programmers have had their friction, their jealousies & power struggles with each other. Some of these inner battles have been fought with and over their mind-controlled slaves. When two programmers work on a single slave, they might both put in their own secret back doors to insure that the slave remains loyal to himself rather than other programmer.

There has also been ongoing tension between the half-blooded & full blooded Illuminati programmers.

Because each of the various programming centers specializes in perhaps a dozen types of programming, programmers go to different programming centers. The props for the scripts are often kept at the programming centers. The programmers will dress according to the script they are giving the victims, which might mean they may be dressed as the Wizard of Oz, a Nazi, a doctor in a white coat, a white rabbit costume, a corrigan sweater as Mr. Rogers, or in the nude.

One of the most cruelest evil geniuses in recent times was Dr. Mengele. Dr. Mengele used 3,000 twins during the time of 1943-1944 for research. Most of these twins died. The twins were chosen out of the vast numbers of people who were brought in to the German concentration camps. By the time W.W. II ended, Mengele knew a great deal about how to torture children in order to get them to bond totally with him. Even today some of the survivors of his horrible experiments believe that Mengele loved children. They love him as their father. Mengele also developed the ability to create artificial twinning between two people. Mengele carried his violin with him when he came onto military bases. His violin hid his color bands and probes for color programming.

Other men worked with Dr. Mengele and soon became programmers in their own right. Dr. Cameron of Canada became a Monarch mind-controlled slave programmer known as Dr. White. Another programmer who was not a full blooded generational Satanist was Gog known as Dr. Blue. Heinrich Mueller is known as Dr. Blue. Dr. Blue lived in the northwest area and has two sons--their programming and cult nicknames are Teddy Bear (Theodore) and Robin Hood (Michael). Two programmers known successively as Dr. Black are L.W. and W.B. A protege of L. W. is Ed Hummel who works in states such as Texas and Oregon. Ed was originally from Texas, and W. and B. were originally from Oklahoma before they began working in the Northwest. Two of the most ruthless programmers on the West coast are Jerry Lee Lewis and Michael Aquino. These two men are as cold blooded as they come, ranking right beside Mengele in their ability to torture. Michael Aquino (DOB 10/16/46, 2430 Leavenworth St., San Francisco, plus other addresses), because he was in military intelligence, was in a position to pass on his diabolical programming abilities to dozens of military officers. His wife works with him, and her name is Lilith Sinclair (DOB 4/21/42). Michael Aquino has travelled all over the U.S. doing programming. Michael Aquino used Cathy O'Brien as the star victim in his training video which teaches military officers how to create Monarch mind-controlled slaves. One of the old time programmers (early 1950s-80's) who worked as a psychiatrist in southern California went by the programming name of Sid.

The principle Illuminati programmers were known as Dr. Black, Dr. White, Dr. Green, and Dr. Blue. They oversaw the training of thousands of part-time programmers.

The better programmers are able to get into the mind of the victim much like Colombo (Peter Falk), who is, by the way, in his personal life part of this all.

The reader needs to understand that a victim who is given the Monarch mind-control may have a number of programmers, but the slave will be trained to only respond to the voices of a limited number of users. If someone tries to use a slave and has the wrong voice, it could trigger suicide programming. A human robot may have alters which can rescue the body from a suicide alter, but the message will be clear to the mind-controlled slave that it should stay away from non-approved users or face possible suicide.

We have now entered an era where second and third generation robotic mind controlled slaves are programming. The programmed are now doing much if not most of the programming. This means many of the programmers are men with MPD. Some programmers are hard-core military men who see any type of "discipline" or "training" as good if the end product produces better obeying soldiers. These hard-core military men have lost any proper boundaries on what is O.K. for training. This explains why the whole apparatus to create mind-controlled slaves is turning out new slaves at an alarming rate. The small number of victims who are painstakingly saved by de-programming and therapy is slight compared to the number of new slaves being created. Over two million Americans have been programmed by trauma-based mind control since 1947, & the CIA admitted its Mind Control publicly in 1970, and yet the existence of the mind-control is still secret to the general public.

Doctors such as Dr. Gaefsky, at the Bethesada Naval Hospital and Dr. Beecher at Harvard, under the auspices of the CIA worked to perfect the use of drugs to mind-control people. Dr. Jensen, was the CIA programmer who programmed Candy Jones (birth name Jessica Wilcox, and CIA alias Arlene Grant), the famous sex object of males during W.W. II. Candy Jones was a Monarch carrier pigeon (courier) for the CIA. Candy Jones received some of her programming at The Farm which is the CIA's Camp Peary. Dr. William Jennings Bryan also helped the CIA in programming. Naval Psychologist Lt. Comdr. Thomas Narut contributed his ideas on how to develop mind-controlled assassins. Some of the assembly-line Delta assassination teams are using programming techniques based on Narut's programming research. A Dr. James Monroe also worked for the CIA in Mind Control programming. READERS ARE ASKED TO REMEMBER THAT SOMETIMES SEVERAL PEOPLE MAY HAVE THE SAME NAME. Disclaimer: The readers are asked to check these people/names out for themselves before drawing any final conclusions, maybe the leopard has changed his spots.

The Temple of Set. The Temple of Set (The Temple of Power) is built upon mind-control. Since most of the members are either victims of mind-control or perpetrators or both, it would be productive to give the membership of this organization. Dr. Flowers, the Grand Master of the Order of the Trapezoid, may well be a programmer. In the least he is a slave handler. Some Total Mind-controlled slaves will have Order of the Trapezoid things internally. If they do, the therapist should recognize that this is Temple of Set (Power) programming.

The membership of the Church of Set has been a closely guarded secret. Here it is.

A few words of explanation are in order. Most of the names in the list are the actual names of people, but some people joined the Temple of Set under aliases. For instance Eddie W. Hands is an alias for Edward Wayne Cox of Chatham, Louisiana. E. Wayne Cox may have chosen this alias because he runs an international business of selling left hands taken from victims of human sacrifice. The left hand is called by these Satanists "the hand of glory."

Although Senator Robert C. Byrd's name doesn't appear on the Temple of Set's formal membership, he properly should be included in any membership list, because it was his legal expertise that helped Aquino set up the Temple of Set so that it would be legally protected by the Constitution. Behind this legal Satanic organization is a large amount of illegal Satanic activity, including sacrifice, slavery, mind control, porn and drugs. Senator Byrd is an example of how evil men can pervert the use of the Constitution for evil.

Another name which is not on the formal membership roster is Jerry Lee Lewis, but Jerry Lee Lewis works so closely with the Monarch slaves of the Temple of Set that he is an integral part of the Temple of Set system.

This secret membership list follows this pattern NAME OF PERSON--POSITION IN THE TEMPLE OF SET (i.e. rank), PLACE OF RESIDENCE, OTHER OCCULT OR SECULAR FACTS ABOUT THE PERSON. Roman numerals are used to identify Setian ranks, I have taken the liberty to abbreviate these roman numerals into our everyday numbers, such as VI° = 6°.

Here is the PAST AND RECENT SECRET MEMBERSHIP IN THE TEMPLE OF SET (a spin-off of the Church of Satan, and recently reconstructed as the Temple of Power.):

Alex, Frank R.--Setian 1°, Illinois
Alleé, John D.--Adept 2°, Mass., editor of satanic newsletter Brimstone. Frank Sinatra fan.

Zajkowski, Marie M.--Priestess of Set 3°, CA,
Zimmer, Brian E.--Adept 2°, OH,

DR. GREEN (Dr. Joseph Mengele)

The most significant programmer, perhaps one could give him the title of the father of Monarch Programming was Joseph Mengele, an ex-Nazi Concentration Camp doctor. Thousands of Monarch mind-controlled slaves in the U.S. had "Dr. Green" as their chief programmer.

Physically the doctor was 5'8", dark-brown hair, greenish brown eyes, and gracefully handsome. He was a Dr. Jekyll-Mr. Hyde character who disarmed people by his kindness. He was gentle and quiet and intelligent, while still having a very sadistic brutal side to him. Joseph Mengele was born into a wealthy Satanic bloodline, and became one of the most powerful Satanists in the world. He was an expert on demonology and the Cabala. He was at least a Grand Master in the Illuminati, but how high he went up the hierarchy ladder is unknown to this author.

Because he was part of the Illuminati and their bodies are not to have visible scars, Joseph Mengele did not take the SS tatoo on his body when he joined the Nazi SS. Mengele became the camp doctor at the famous Auschitz Concentration Camp. Joseph Mengele was in a very key position as the camp doctor at Auschitz. He was able to use countless thousands of people as guinea pigs for experiments. One of the chief items that had to be charted in detail was how much torture various humans could take. The charts were worked up so that the Illuminati would know exactly how much torture and how much nurturing to carry out in creating trauma-based mind-controlled slaves.

After Joseph grew up in Gunzberg with a family noted for their secrecy, and an abusive mother, he studied at Frankfurt-am-Main, which is a satanic stronghold in Germany. He interned at Leipzig, a town known for being the site of modern learning theories. Later he joined the SA and then later the SS.

At the end of W.W. II the United States army took custody of Mengele, and the secret satanists of the satanic brotherhood, got Mengele quietly smuggled into the U.S. Mengele was given a higher profile in South America to lead people to think that he spent his time in South America. Actually Mengele spent a great deal of time travelling worldwide especially to places like Tavistock and China Lake's Naval Intelligence base where Monarch slaves were created from innocent children.

Although Mengele did indeed live in Brazil, Argentina and Paraguay a great deal of misinformation and disinformation has been dumped on the world by the CIA and other groups working for the Illuminati.

Mengele continued to love music and dancing throughout his life. He became a human puppetmaster who used music to program with. He liked both the violin and the piano. He did lots of musical key-tones programming. Some of his proteges also used music to program with. This bent toward using music then contributed to the fact that the American country western industry is an outgrowth of the Monarch program. The country western industry is a cover for the drug running done via Monarch slaves.

Another bent of Mengele's also contributed to a direction that the Monarch program took. Mengele was fascinated by twins and twinning. Mengele experimented on thousands of twins, most of who died from the torture of the experiments. Science experiments need two groups, one of which is a control group. Twins make research easy. Mengele used them extensively. He was developing, along with some German and Italian researchers, the capability to trauma bond people to their abuser to such an extent that the victim would be totally loyal to their abuser. During episodes in the camps when Mengele saved people from execution by the S.S., some of those people remained loyal to him to this day in spite of an awareness of how many people he cruelly tortured to death. Monarch slaves are programmed to think they have a twin somewhere. Many of them have been twinned into 2 person and 4 person teams also.

Mengele was known by people in the camps by his victims as the Angel of Death, Vater (father), Vaterchen (daddy) and Schoner Joseph (beautiful Joseph). Monarch mind-controlled slave victims who were programmed by him know him by names such as Doctor Green, Papa, David and Fairchild. Monarch slaves remember the cadence of his shiny black boots as he marched back and forth while programming them. Whether programming in a lab, or experimenting on humans Dr. Mengele enjoyed reducing people to the level of animals. However, many times his victims were restrained from crying tears.

Mengele is well-known by his Monarch victims for his daisy game programming. He would pull off a daisy and say "I love you." Then he would pull of one and say, "I love you not." When the last daisy petal came out "I love you not", he would then kill a small child in front of the child he was programming.

Mengele was in Dallas during the killing of JFK, which was achieved by trained Monarch slaves. (In fact, the Beaumont, TX Enterprise on Mon. April 10, '94 in the Metro Sect. B, on page B cont. to 4b reports that a sworn affidavit exists where a man connects Joseph Mengele with Kennedy's death and to have seen Mengele at the Texas Book Depository.) Luis Angel Castillo was just one of the Monarch mind-controlled slaves sent to kill JFK on Nov. 22, '63. A woman from Germany named Mrs. Krebs, along with a host of other programmers, worked with Mengele on the Kennedy assassination.

In 1956, as part of the ongoing deception (and also showing the audacity of the Illuminati) Joseph Mengele applied and got an Argentinean foreign resident permit under his own name. He even travelled to Europe to various countries in 1956 using his own name.

DR. WHITE (Dr. D. Ewen Cameron)

Dr. White was the cover name for D. Ewen Cameron (b. Dec. 24, 1901-Sept. 8, 1967). He was born in Scotland, was tall, imposing, & blue eyed, liked whiskey, and wore custom-made suits. He called women "Lassie." His favorite book growing up was Frankenstein. It is said that Frankenstein inspired him to go into psychiatry.

Cameron was president of the powerful American Psychiatric Association, and later the president of the Canadian Psychiatric Association, and then later the first president of the World Association of Psychiatrists. He was chairman of the Canadian Scientific Planning Committee.

Dr. D. Ewen Cameron, of Montreal, Canada was Dr. White when carrying out Monarch programming. Cameron tried to continue some of Mengele's eye color research in Canada. Mengele was trying to discover for the Nazi's how to make brown eyes blue. Cameron received funding from the Illuminati. Cameron also got funding from the CIA. The Rockefeller Foundation gave him $40,000 in 1943 to create the Allen Memorial Institute for psychiatry, an Illuminati front. He began doing programming early in the 1950s.

Cameron had served on the gruesome western front in W.W.I.

As an Illuminati kingpin and programmer, Cameron (Dr. White) was very sadistic and cold blooded. He visited other programmers on the West Coast periodically.

One leading canadian doctor said that Cameron "was not possessed of the necessary sense of humanity to be regarded as a good doctor." The man was able to instill fear into people by looking at them.

He met frequently with Allen Dulles, the head of the CIA. He travelled frequently including making stops in Washington. Many of the Monarch slaves on the east coast were victims of Cameron.

He worked long hours at his mind-control work like a driven man. In 1961, just one of Cameron's institutions administered under his supervision 60,000 electrical shocks to patients. This is just what was recorded at one institution for one year. Who knows how many victims got electrical shocks and programming by this man?

He worked with the Jesuit part of the NWO in Canada.

Leonard Rubenstein was one of his trusted assistants.

Cameron encouraged dissension among his staff in divide and conquer tactics to maintain his power.

Cameron had a big ego that allowed him to steal other people's work and give himself credit for it, in his publications.

• THE ANTI-CHRIST, the chief handler/programmer

The AntiChrist will have both public and private lives.[1] The two will not be the same. Deep in the heart of the AntiChrist he will want to rob, kill, and destroy.[2] He will be a man of war, but his public image will be that he is a man of peace.[3] He will be a winner. The public always likes a winner. This will be a man with a hardened heart, but a man of charisma.[4] Charisma has been noted to develop when a person is a foreigner (novel) and has some feature that causes people to feel sorry for the person --some wound or physical defect (like Gorbachev's red splotch on his head). The AntiChrist will have the public appearance of being a genius, not only a wizard of words, but a commercial genius, a military genius, a diplomat of the highest order, a leader, and an intelligent good looking man.[5] However, this is the public image. Some of this will be created by madison avenue techniques. He will be fearless,[6] a skilled negotiator, a poker face who is capable of crafty deception. In fact deception characterizes the man. He is Satan in human flesh,[7] who will use religion for evil. He will use good for evil.[8]

His lineage is from several directions. He may have Hittite blood,[9] blood from the Tribe of Dan,[10] and blood from Assyria.[11] He may also claim to have Egyptian royal blood.[12] He will be proclaimed the returning messiah for the Buddhists, the Islamic religion, the New Agers, the Christians, etc. Inman Mahdi, the Messiah, etc.[13]

However, the group of people who he will be most connected to, will be the Jews.[14] His sphere of influence will not just be jews, but he will reinstitute blood sacrifices in the Temple in Jerusalem.[15] This may well be the abomination of desolation that the Word of God warns about.[16]

The AntiChrist will arise on the scene like a thief in the night[17] and will surprise people by his rise to fame. He will come from obscurity[18]--but he will have all the correct credentials[19], and bloodlines[20]. All the correct occult signs will occur around this individual.[21] Because of historical precedence, we know that chaos and confusion will set the stage for the grand entrance of this man onto the stage of public attention.[22] Problems will be created, so that this "great" man can pull mankind out of the worst disasters. The world will be trauma-bonded with him.[23] He will be a savior saving mankind from extinction and death.[24]

However, while he promises and provides a new life for humankind, he is actually a merchant of spiritual death.[24] The eternal fate of individuals is determined by how they respond to him.[25] A remnant of true believers will endure to the end[26], but many will succumb to the deception.[27] The AntiChrist will not have to face a hostile church--the church will be in apostasy and will accept him.[28] The AntiChrist will have to face a few John the Baptist types, who he will use his guillotines on.[29] In other words, the AntiChrist will not be antagonistic toward the church--but he will subtly destroy it and cause it to serve only him.

He will disregard the true law of God[30]--the spirit of the law, but he will be a legalist, who wants law and order[31]. He will have both a False Prophet and a another close friend the Beast[32]. The daily blood sacrifices will become the global correct view, and Christians who oppose these sacrifices will be in trouble.[33]

All the trappings of Rabbinic and Talmudic and Cabalistic Judaism will be revived and flourish.[34] He will pretend to be like Christ--he will be compared to Christ in the media--but he will also be opposed in reality to everything Christ stands for. As so many Satanic cult leaders do, and as is standard within Illuminati rituals--the AntiChrist will be killed and brought back to life.[35] This simulated death will be done in front of the public, and this will give him the appearance of superhuman strength and divine favor--for being able to receive a deadly wound and then to heal and revive so quickly.

Jerusalem will be the religious capital of the New World Order[36]--but there is reason to believe that there will also be both a political and an economic capital, and a computer and a police center[37]. There will probably be 3 public capitals and many other centers[38]. Just as during the Roman Empire there were many religious centers, such as Ephesus was the spiritual center for Diana worship being one of the 7 wonders of the Ancient world. Mt. Olympus in Greece was a sacred mountain in ancient times, with sites for consultations with the Oracles. In modern AntiChrist times, Glastonbury, UK and Mt. Shasta, CA may serve as spiritual centers. The New Age pilgrimages to Mt. Shasta which are covers for the mind control done there may well continue to serve that same function in the AntiChrist's reign.[39] Rome or London could become political capitals. An economic capital could be established almost anywhere. The computers are already being centered in Europe. Once he has taken power, he can enter into Jerusalem like a hero, triumphantly.[40] He will command universal worship via the technological advances that have been made in communication. All the spirits of evil will collect themselves in this one person of evil. He will be shrewd, and will be able to understand dark evil things. He will do things according to his own will. At least some outside of the inner circle will know that he is homosexual, (and bi-sexual).[41] He will have the full force of the world's system behind him, trying to make him look better. He may be born in the Middle East --perhaps in Pakistan like Lord Maitreya (Rahmat Ahmad).[42]

Historically, Satan's AntiChrist spirit has captured a number of men.[43] For instance, Antiochus IV Epiphanes, Caligula, Nero, Ghulam Ahmad and Hitler. However, these have been only partial manifestations. Satan working through secret satanists such as Karl Marx set up Communism. In Russia, Marx, Engels and Lenin were made into a Father, Son and Holy Spirit triad. The picture of the 3 was prominently displayed all over Russia. Lenin was created into a Christlike figure. (The extent of how much communism substituted these men for the trinity hasn't been covered by the controlled Western media.) The men of this false godhood were given the attributes in Russia of the Father, Son and Holy Spirit by state propaganda. I mention all these things, because again this was a partial manifestation of the AntiChrist spirit along with the Beast and the False Prophet. Those who would understand how the AntiChrist will act in public, need to study Machiavelli, Hitler, Antiochus IV Epiphanes, Lenin, and the many other partial manifestations of the AntiChrist spirit, such as the Popes. Most Reformation reformers and early American puritan leaders regarded the Pope as the AntiChrist. He certainly has often been a good example.

The private life of the AntiChrist will be very identical to other Illuminati kingpins. He will participate in Illuminati rituals. He has already been presented to Illuminati councils for approval. All the Mothers of Darkness will serve him as brides, as well as an inner body guard. Like Faust, and everyone else in the Illuminati, the AntiChrist has made many covenants, oaths, and vows to Satan himself. He has been taught that he is a god man. In public, he will proclaim himself divine. In private, he will consider Satan to be his own god. He will strive to do the best job for Satan possible, because he has been taught that he will rule with Satan in hell, and his position in hell will be determined by how good he does his job now. He will be totally turned over to Satan, the Father of all lies. He will feast on the blood of sacrificed individuals, and may well be addicted to drinking blood, like Vice-Pres. Al Gore is.[44] Those who do not have a love for the truth, will come under the spell of the AntiChrist's deception which will be flooded over the television screens, and through the controlled media.[45] He will push all the correct buttons verbally when he speaks, and he will even flatter people.[46] He will be the world's tyrannical but much loved dictator, a father figure.[47]

The AntiChrist will be working on creating "supermen", the genetic wonder man that Hitler was working to create. Instead of using God's approach to perfection, the AntiChrist will have the most superior genetic approach so far. In other words, to the public with their warped thinking, he will look like he is improving the human race genetically, and in every other way too.

The Illuminati are planning to install him as Lord over the earth around the year 2000. Occultists (incl. known Satanic leaders) have been prophesying his coming. Hollywood under the direction and financing of the Illuminati have given us the Damien series and other films on the AntiChrist. David Bauer, a psychic adviser and Baptist minister, has prophesied that the AntiChrist will come in the year 2000. Jean Dixon, who has connections to the Illuminati has prophesied this too. So has the English astrologer Edwin Lyndoe. They declare that this leader will be a savior of mankind. Jeanne Dixon went so far as to say that the AntiChrist was born on Feb. 5, 1962. (See Dixon, J. My Life and Prophecies. Fred. Miller, 1971.) The witch Sybil Leek even pointed to a son of a Jerusalem dentist, David Morris as being the man. (Leek, S. Reincarnation: the Second Chance. NY: Stein & Day, 1974). All kinds of people are pointing at the year 2000. Occult prophecies about the year 2000 come from Irene Hughes, Alan Vaughn, Edgar Cayce, Kenneth Odhar and many others. De Sabrato, an occult prophet believes Christ will return in 2003 in the form of an ET Christ.

However, if plans fall apart there are indications that the AntiChrist could arrive later in the 21st century. Henry Kissinger said, "We are going to have a New World Order, if not in this generation, then in the next." One of the men who worked high up in the New World Order, and who had inside information felt that the AntiChrist wouldn't rule until 2047 and that he would be born in New York City and have blond hair and blue eyes. From what the Lord has shown this author, and taking into account the vulnerabilities of the Illuminati's plans, this author would state that the AntiChrist may not arrive until quite a few years from now. On the other hand, there are already candidates who have been presented before the Illuminati councils who are candidates to become the AntiChrist.

The primary candidate for the position of AntiChrist is being kept in a heavily guarded small town near London. Only those who are summoned by him enter into the room where he is located. Individuals who come into his presence immediately want to worship him. He is a Rothschild. The mother of either the NWO's John position or the Christ position was S. E. D. [name may be available on request from Fritz Springmeier] and his name is Alexander Rothschild, Jr. The name Alexander is very important to the Illuminati. Baron Rothschild passed on his spiritual power when he was ritually murdered in 1976. This Rothschild AntiChrist is known as the Son of Apollo.[48] From a reliable source close to Lord Maitreya, he is jewish. The Illuminati have a Mary position, also known as the Madonna position, which are women that are closely connected to the AntiChrist. Within the last few years, all the Madonna-position systems united in ritual in London, Frankfurt, Austria, and Switzerland. The name Queen of Heaven (Seriramis) is also applied to high level women close to the AntiChrist. Programmed multiples, who rise above the Grande Dame level, enter levels designated by a, b, c & d. Guinevere, the name of King Arthur's wife & Lancelot's mistress, designates one of the positions of the 4-female Illuminati teams around the AntiChrist. It is written Gennifer for english speaking systems.[49] Prior to the AntiChrist 2 witnesses are to come to "which spiritually is called Sodom and Egypt." REV 11:8. In the past, God has sent his 2 witnesses (Moses/Aaron), (the two to Sodom, see GEN 18:16+) on Nisan 1 (Passover). The orthodox jews expect the return witness of Elijah on Passover. The real 2 witnesses/& or the Satanic 2 false- witnesses may appear around the Passover time. (cf. REV 11:1-3, 7:1-17, 14:1-5, JOEL 2:30-32, & ACTS 2:19-21.) These witnesses and the Illuminati's "John the Baptist" position are some of the prominent people who are slated to die in the end time drama being prepared by the Illuminati who are trying to copy scripture, and by God Almighty who is directing things on a higher level. Readers must bear in mind that Satan knows the Scriptures too, and is a great imitator.

FOOTNOTES

1. This is a universal trait of men with the AntiChrist spirit. While Christ is truth, Satan is deception. Having a facade, being two-faced (like the god Janus) is standard for these men. Judas Iscariot with his kisses for Christ is just one example of thousands of examples. James 3:17 shows that the Holy Spirit is without hypocrisy, but the Evil Spirit is devoid of the Holy Spirit's fruit and is full of hypocrisy.
2. The Spirit of Satan desires to rob, kill, and destroy. Satan's desires will consume the thinking of the AntiChrist. The Word of God indicates that whatever the AntiChrist wills to do, he will do according to Dan. 11:36. In this sense, he will be the master magician, the Adept of Adepts.
3. Scripture indicate that he will bring a false peace to the earth, and that he will be a man with fierce countenance.
4. Scripture indicate he will be worshipped, and the power of the media to make heros out of any actor has been well established.
5. Scriptures indicate he will be considered very intelligent. They also indicate what spheres of influence he will lead, and what roles he will play. Taking these into account, and taking into account what the Illuminati have planned, and taking into account that Satan's world likes to develop certain public images for its heroes, then it is a given that Satan's AntiChrist will appear gifted or well developed intellectually in many areas. While intellectual stature is not important to God, it has always been in Satan's world.
6. Dan. 8:23
7. Scripture, and common knowledge among Satanists is that the AntiChrist will be produced from the seed of Satan and aminated by Satan himself. Lk 22:3 shows that Satan himself entered Judas, how much more so then will the AntiChrist be the embodiment of Satan.
8. The Scripture show that Satan likes to use good things like the Word of God for evil purposes.
9. Illuminati belief is that they are descended in part from the Hittites.
10. Early Christian leader Irenaeus felt that Scriptures and early teachings indicated that the Tribe of Dan would raise the AntiChrist. The Midrash on Gen. 49:14-17 supports his view, and it states that "darkness will come over the world from the Tribe of Dan." Other conspiracy researchers like myself have discovered that the Tribe of Dan's lineage is playing a big role in the Illuminati.
11. Isa. 10:5, 12
12. Jeanne Dixon prophecies that he will be descended from Pharaoh. The Illuminati are making coronation plans at the Great Pyramid in 1999. It is quite possible that the AntiChrist may have blood from a Pharaoh, or at least the pseudo-documentation to make people believe it.
13. The Illuminati are already doing this with Lord Maitreya
14. The Word of God shows that he is accepted by the Jews as being the Old Testament messiah. In order to do that he must have some credentials that look good.
15. Rev.
16. Mt. 24:15
17. The Illuminati have been working hard to keep the AntiChrist's identity a big secret. Cf. Acts 1:7 and Mt. 24:36. God has kept some things secret too. Satan will come like a thief in the night. 2 Ptr 3:10.

18. The Son of Perdition will be "revealed"--2 Thes 2;3-4 "with powers and signs and lying wonders" 2 Thes 2:9.
19. He steals ("cuts off") the worship deserved by Christ for himself. Rev. 13:16, 17, and cf. 2 thes. 2:9. It is clear that the AntiChrist must have credentials that allow himself to be palmed off as a Christ. He will be a genuine imitation Christ.
20. We know he will have an elite generation satanic bloodline because he belongs to the Illuminati, which in itself is the elite bloodlines. He will be the elite of the elite. There are spiritual reasons why Satan needs people from generational satanic families for his leadership. His legal claims over the AntiChrist and his occult powers are increased by the circumstances of being from multi-generational satanic families.
21. This is simply part of being within Satan's kingdom.
22. This is according to the Illuminati's plans, which have been discussed at length with this author by people trying to escape the Illuminati.
23. A common tactic by satanic leaders, there is little doubt that this tactic will also be used by the supreme dictator, the AntiChrist.
24. Satan gives spiritual death, Christ gives life--that is one of the themes of the Bible.
25. Rev. 19:20. Those who take the AntiChrist's mark are thrown into the Lake of Fire.
26. The gates of Hell will not prevail against the church. There will be faith, although it will be as in the days of Noah--it will be a rarity. Various scriptures indicate that Satan will never wipe out the entire church on the earth.
27. Mt. 24:24. He "will break the Holy People." Dan 12:6-7
28. A number of scriptures indicate that there will be a falling away- Christ asks, "Will there even be faith?" This apostate church is Babylon the Great, which is described in Rev. 17- 18. The entire world will worship him. Note how many Christians are united with the ecumenical activities of mainstream Christendom. The majority of churches are now participating in ecumenical activities, even the supposedly conservative evangelicals.
29. Rev. 12:11, Rev. 6:10
30. Scripture call him "the Lawless One" because he hates God's spiritual laws and will try to destroy the sacrifice of Christ by reinstituting blood sacrifices.
31. This is according to Illuminati plans, and also matches what the previous partial manifestations of the AntiChrist have been like. Hitler was always preaching law and order. This is a common theme by the NWO. Satan is always a great legalist.
32. He will deny the Father and the Son (1 John 2:22) and present to the world the False Trinity described in the book of Revelation. (Rev. 13:1)
33. Cf. Jn. 16:2
34. This has already happened. The Temple rituals have been reinstituted, and even the blood sacrifices are secretly being done underground.
35. This is hinted at in a couple of places in Scripture. It is such a standard satanic trick, that it would be amazing if it were not done. Part of anticipating one's enemies actions is to know their thinking. This would be in line with satanic tactics.
36. Cf. Lk. 21:24. When the Times of the Gentiles ends, Jerusalem is to be restored to being a spiritual center. cf. Dan. 11:45-12:1.
37. This is a conclusion by the author after studying plans of the elite, including UN plans, and other activities and statements by those in the NWO.
38. This is a conclusion by the author after studying plans of the elite.
39. This is speculation on author's part, which takes into consideration what is already going on in secret.
40. Illuminati plans. The Jews have long waited for the Messiah (the New David) to enter Jerusalem through the Golden Gate. This expectation was mentioned to the author when he was in Jerusalem.
41. Dan. 11:37. The Illuminati have been promoting homosexuality because they want people to accept the homosexuality of the AntiChrist. In Dan. 11:37 it indicates that "Neither regard...the desire of women."
42. See the Be Wise As Serpents book, Chapt. 1.4
43. John 2:18 and 1 John 4:3

44. Two different ex-Satanists have independently provided information on Al Gore's addiction to blood. Illuminati kingpins are often addicted to the Adrenalchrome that pools in the body just prior to a person being sacrificed. Various newsletters give more information on this and related issues.
45. Mt. 24:4,5,11; 2 Thes. 2:10-12 "Because they received not the love of the truth..."
46. Dan. 11:32
47. Rev. 13:3,4, 7, 8, 17
48. This entire paragraph comes from various Illuminati Mind-controlled slaves who were in important positions around the AntiChrist, who have been deprogrammed.
49. This information comes from half a dozen top important Illuminati mind-controlled slaves who are in the process of being deprogrammed.

Appendix 2

Programming Sites

APPENDIX B. THE PROGRAMMING SITES

Some MAJOR MIND-CONTROL PROGRAMMING SITES with explanations of their programming. (Fritz Springmeier originally exposed many of these sites in 1993, so it is possible they have made some changes since they were originally exposed. Most of these operated for years, and may still be operating. We are aware of that some of their programming bases have been moved after exposure.) Besides these major programming sites, there are countless minor ones. For instance, some of the programming sites for water-beach tortures have been visited by the co-authors, but are not listed. The massive Boeing Plant in the Seatle, WA area with its large amount underground tunnels has been used for programming, as well as the ARCO Beaver Valley Plant in Pennslyvannia. So has the chapel at the Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn. which was built by A.W. Mellon of the Mellon Illuminati family via their Mellon Foundation. This list is not put forth as comprehensive. Without question, this list is only the tip of the iceberg.

29 Palms, CA-

Area 51 (Dreamland, Groom Lake), NV--Area 51 is also known as Dreamland. There are a number of extensive underground facilities in the area. This was one of the first genetic research facilities in the U.S. and perhaps the first major genetic research facility. The people/workers & victims are brought in by airplane and tube shuttle. The worst cases of UFO/alien type of Monarch programming is coming out of Area 51. The eggs from slaves are being harvested and weird genetic creatures are being developed from human eggs which have been genetically mixed with other things.

Bethseda, MD--The Bethesada Naval Hospital

Bingham, UT--A red brick house, which was a closed House of Prostitution. The building was used for KKK programming. Child porn was produced in the basement, and upstairs programmed child slaves serviced KKK members. The KKK activity in the area connects in with the Illuminati controlled Kennecott Copper Co. (aka Utah Copper Co.) Russell G. Frazer, head of Bingham's Klavern & doctor for Kennecott Copper Co. did the electro-shock to split personalities.

Black Forest, Germany--Because the U.S.-U.K. and Germany do so much programming, and some of the people in the U.S. were programmed in the U.K., Germany or Russia, it is worthwhile to mention some of the German programming sites. A number of witnesses report about castles in the Black Forest which are used for programming & ritual. Basal, Sw. on the border with Germany is a important Illuminati center. Frankfurt, Berlin and Zurich are all important programming/ritual sites. The Jesuits and the Catholic churches are very active in programming in Germany.

Boulder, CO--The headquarters for EMC, a type of electra-magnetic mind control that is being broadcast to modify the thinking of Americans, and to control slaves.

Butner, N.C.--Center of Correctional Research, all types of mind control are carried out and experimented with on the inmates.

Camp Peary, VA--The CIA's The Farm is located on a narrow strip of land between the York & James Rivers near Williamsburg, VA, used for programming CIA slaves. It has red brick buildings, and looks similar to a small college. The official crytonym was ISOLATION. People who are brought in who don't know where they are for training are called Black Trainees.

China Lake Naval Research Base (Inyokern), CA--This facility had a country store, and hangers, and a hospital (address for the hospital is the code- 232 Naval Air Weapons Station) which all provided sites for programming. This site has been operational since the early 1950s. Large numbers of children (batches of 1,000 or 2,000 or 3,000 children were run through this facility at a time. This facility did much of the original traumas and mind-splitting tortures that created the MPD. Other facilities then specialized in further programming that was then layered in on top of the original China Lake programming. A great deal of dehumanization in cages was done to large numbers of tiny children at China Lake Naval Facility. Nimitz Hospital did drug testing of the children prior to their programming.

Colorado Springs,CO--The ALEX system programming and end-times Military programming is coming out of Colorado Springs and is connected to NORAD. One of the Colorado sites is doing alien programming with mock UFOs.

Dillsboro Nike Base--Monarch programming of many kinds

Disneyland, CA--Disneyland has been an off hour site for Illuminati and satanic rituals for years. Programming has gone on using Disneyland as one big prop for programming. Many of the Disney movies are used for programming, and some Disney scripts are especially tailored for Monarch slave programming. The Peter Pan programming can use the ship. The space programming can use the space props. The satanic programming can use the castles. Lots of mirror programming is done at Disneyland, and Disneyworld. There is also Magic Mountain programming, and programming using the Around the World Dolls, and its theme song. Some of Wizard of Oz and the Cinderella programming was also done at Disneyland using costumes. Preverbal children are taken to Disneyland to get them ready for the scripts.

Disneyworld, FL--Disneyworld was created as the eastern counterpart to the Disneyland programming site. One of the rides in Disneyworld plays "It's a small, small world" which is Disneyland developed programming theme.

Ft. Campbell, KT--Base programs are placed in here.

Ft. Detrick, MD--involved with medical/biological experimentation

Ft. Holabird, MD--This site is no longer in existence, but was the Army Intelligence School. CIC used the school. The place was known as "the Bird."

Ft. Hood, TX--programming involving military uses of Delta Monarch slaves was done here.

Ft. Huahuachua, AZ--HQ for Army Intelligence.

Ft. Knox, KT --The 1st Earth Batt. was developed here.

Ft. Lewis, WA--involved with the Psychic warfare part of the Monarch Programming.

Ft. McClellen--

Ft. Meade, MD--The National Security Agency was created on 4 Nov 1952. Its headquarters were Fort Meade, VA. The National Security Agency (NSA) employs tens of thousands of employees and has a budget larger than the CIA. It has also been kept far more secret, while the CIA has been used as the fall guy to protect the National Security Agency's reputation. In the late 1960's, under Operation Minaret and Program Shamrock, the NSA and its British counterpart GCHQ began monitoring much of the communication within the USA and UK. The NSA monitors all american calls via computers using trip words, specific names, specific addresses, specific telephone numbers, etc. NSA has several computer to record all the millions of conversations which the computers have examined and deemed worthy of recording. How the NSA can get any use out of millions of recorded telephone conversations is beyond me? What intelligence agency could adequately process so much information?

These organizations now monitor all communications within both countries.

At least one congressman got upset that his phone was bugged by the NSA. (see David Corn's article, "The case of the bugged senator" in Nation, Feb. 6, '89, p. 152.)

The NSA has developed a fiberoptics network called Internet computer network. An orange book is used to specify some of the NSA's security levels.

An informant in the National Security Agency states that establishment newspapers like the Wall Street Journal and the New York Times are used to communicate secret messages which are placed within want ads, buzz words in editorials, and via other methods. Because of some of what this person told me, I have given some possible examples in this newsletter of how people might be using the papers for secret messages. For instance using Michael Jackson with his hands making some type of sign might be a signal. Manfried Adler and the US Senate Committee investigating the CIA found that 90% of the CIA's secret messages are transmitted via the media, with the aid of coded texts and pictures.

A raised forefinger or two raised forefingers while a speaker is talking means that the message is a masonic message coming from a masonic speaker.

The Illuminati uses code words within the large establishment papers to warn their people what they are going to do with the economy. In this way, people in the Illuminati can take appropriate responses.

Goddard Space Flight Center--NASA mirror-theme programming

Grissom AFB, IND--

Hollywood, CA--One of the programmers/handlers in the Hollywood area is surprisingly Anton LaVey. This is one reason Anton LaVey has followers who will carry out his very wishes. LaVey's children of course were programmed too. His own girls have been participating in the nude in satanic rituals since little children.

Homestead AFB, FL--

Kirkland AFB, NM--

Lampe, MO--This has been the site of a CIA near-death trauma center where slaves are programmed. It is an R&R center for the CIA where they can have any sexual perversion or drug they want. This has been a large cocaine supply depot also. Hal Meadows was director of this center which is deep in the woods surrounded by cabin chalets overlooking a small deep lake. A gravel road leads to the site which is fenced and well-guarded. Hal Meadows address was Box 27, Lampe, MO 65681.

Langley, VA-- Slaves for the wants of intelligence.

Las Vegas (sites in and around Las Vegas), NV--MGM's Grand Hotel and Theme park were built for programming, but there are also some sites outside of the city used. In the general area of Las Vegas in remote sites, the elite gather for slave auctions once a year where Monarch slaves are sold and traded. One of the favorite slave auction sites was 20 miles out of Las Vegas and 10 miles off the main road into the site. The Mob is involved with Monarch slaves in Las Vegas. A blue-eyed 11 year old girl will go for $50,000. Toronto, Canada is another regular site for Monarch slave auctions.

McClellan AFB, CA - Very bad Child and adult porn using Monarch victims is distributed through this base as well as the other bases listed in this list. A T.W. Sanderson worked with Monarchs at this base.

MacDill AFB, FL --Near Tampa, FL

Maxwell AFB, AL --

Montreal, Que., Canada -McGill Univ., McGill Psychiatric Training Network, Allan Memorial Inst., St. Mary's Hosp.- The Zombie Room (Sleep Room) in the basement, the Isolation chamber and the Grid Room at St. Mary's Hospital were used for programming.

Mt. Shasta, CA--Underground facilities around this hugh mountain in the Lake Shasta area are putting out Monarch programming that makes the people think they are in communication with aliens. This facility is for torturing & reprogramming captured runaway Monarch slaves. People are brought into the area via helicopter, plane, or flying saucer. This site is probably the largest mind-control programming center. It is in a remote wooded area. It is heavily guarded, has fences, and a large contingent of black helicopters. Mt. Shasta is equipped with state of the art high tech programming equipment. Mind-controlled slaves who are soldiers are programmed and trained at the Mt. Shasta facility.

Nashville, TN--These sites work with the Country Western Music Industry which is actually a CIA front for moving drugs to finance their dirty black activities. Fiddler's Inn, Nashville fits in with the Monarch Programming.

Papillion, NE--

Patrick AFB,--

Portland (Old OMSI, New OMSI, Bldg. near Monarch Hotel at 8800 SE Sunnyside Rd., Mormon Temple, etc.), OR. The Old OMSI building had a back door on the west side in which slaves were taken in to the bottom floor and reprogrammed. Although security guards aren't visible, they are there with electronic surveillance. The people running OMSI are tied in the Illuminati. The DC-3 airplane outside of the building was used in the programming as a hypnotic trigger. The submarine docked outside of the new OMSI building is also used as a programming hypnotic tool. The new Mormon Temple has an extremely high tech underground tunnel facility for programming built underneath it. Witnesses have collaborated their testimony on this high tech programming site under the Portland Mormon Temple. Although building plans are to be public information, the city of Lake Oswego makes it very difficult to view the temple's building plans. The plans show that the foundation walls are far thicker than any conceivable earthquake would ever call for. The reason is that the foundation helps house an underground arena for the Illuminati & and their guests to watch perverse shows.

Presideo, CA (incl. Alcatraz, San Francisco)-- The Illuminati and various Satanic cults used the Presideo for their programming. Split-brain & other programming was done at Letterman hospital. Fort Point was used for Illuminati ritual & programming, as well as a number of churches, underground gun emplacements and the large circular Greek column art building at the Presideo. Alcatraz, abandoned as a prison, was used for water tortures and other programming. Tunnels connected buildings, and the Mule/Horse buildings and the cemetery also were used. This is one of the older programming sites. Psychic warfare activity also was experimented on in this area. Letterman Hospital has been used for the initial drug testing of the infants before programming. Lots of isolation programming in damp cold places was done at the Presideo. Lots of porn and military programming have also been done here.

Redstone Arsenal, AL--

San Antonio, TX--

Salt Lake City (Mormon Temple)--This underground facility works in conjunction with the Mormon hierarchy who are allowed to create slaves. The Illuminati put in base programming that still gives them ultimate control beyond the control that the Mormon programming has.

Scotty's Castle, Death Valley, CA-Mengele (Dr. Green) programmed in some of his "internal boxes", as well as other Illuminati programming was done at this site. Mengele had a large circular red bed in the castle which he stocked with his little girl slaves, who already had kitten sexual alters.

Scotty's Castle is a castle located in Death Valley, CA. It has a very interesting history.

To reach the castle one is required to drive through many miles of desert. If one drives to Inyo County, CA, the same county that has China Lake Naval Testing Grounds, and Inyokern, and then you drive on Hwy. 190 into Death Valley National Monument (it is not a park or forest, dead valleys are called monuments), next you go north on a road after Stove Pipe for 35 miles.

The man who built Scotty's Castle was Walter Perry Scott (1872-1954). Walter P. Scott was the son of an alcohol distiller and horse breeder in Kentucky. Walter did not get any formal education. He left home and went west where he worked as a mule driver, and a water boy. From there he became a horse wrangler. Because of his talent with horses Buffalo Bill made him the feature rider along with Annie Oakley in Buffalo Bill's family show. The show travelled and Scotty was with it eleven years. During this time, Scotty made many important friendships with men of power and wealth. In 1900, Walter married and left the show. He got a loan from Julian Gerard, a NY banker, to go prospecting for gold which he failed to pay back. Julian Gerard was repeatedly sending people to hassle Scotty to get his money back. In 1905, Walter Scott ("Scotty") scattered gold nuggets and $100 bills from N.Y. to L.A. Where he got all this gold and $100 bills is a mystery, but it wasn't from prospecting. The idea of finding a secret mine was very obviously a cover for however Scotty managed to get his money. Scotty is well-known for his penchant to throw away $20 gold pieces as if they were candy wherever he went. Nobody believed he had a mine, strangely the IRS never got interested in Scotty. Why?

The IRS went after Charles Caughlin who was exposing the elite, the bankers, the Freemasons, etc. in the early 1930's on his radio show. There was no reason to suspect Caughlin of any cheating on his Income Tax, and the audits found the IRS actually owed Caughlin money. However, the national papers printed front page stories of the IRS investigation, and practically ignored that the man was exonerated. Yet, the IRS left Scotty alone. Hmmm.

Although Scotty was married, he became intimate friends with Albert Mussey Johnson (1872-1948), a Chicago millionaire, who was v.p. from 1906 to 1926 of the National Life Insurance Co. Albert M. Johnson was born in Ohio, and lived in Arkansas and Missouri before moving to Chicago. Johnson came out and stayed in Death Valley. The stay helped his health, and he and Scotty remained close friends.

In 1924, construction secretly began on a castle in Death Valley. The best of materials were used and the materials had to be hauled clear out in the desert by truck to Grapevine Canyon where the castle sits. Hundreds of workers were hired.

The castle got its kitchen tiles from Spain. Special rugs were made on the European island of Majorca for the castle. Tiles for the incompleted pool came from the Mediterranean. Many of the furnishing of the castle came from cathedrals and palaces in Spain and Morocco. Draperies made for the castle were hand-tooled in selected sheepskin leather. Sixty hand-carved panels, each of a different design, were installed in the music-room ceiling. A Welte Mignon organ reported to have cost $160,000 --the finest of its kind in Western United States was placed in the music room, even though Scotty could not play the organ. Twelve bathrooms were installed. Several kitchens were installed. Tunnels and secret rooms were built under the buildings. Around $2 million (dollars of that time period) were spent on building the castle, supposedly from Scotty's "gold mine." The castle became known as Scotty's Castle. It is ideal as a Satanic ritual site. It can accommodate numerous people. It is remote. It has hidden rooms and areas, and tunnels.

Tavistock, England--This has been the primary programming center for England. The Rothschild programmers work out of Tavistock. A large number of slaves in America have been programmed there.

Tavistock has been doing mind-control since before W.W.II. Under the supervision of London's W Board & 20 Committee MI6 and MI5's Section BIA ran double agents and mind-controlled spies/couriers during W.W. II. MI6 has had an office at Century House, No. 100, Westminster Bridge Road. MI5 offices have been in part on Curzon St. MI5 has operated behind a number of fronts, incl. their fake travel agency Casuro Holidays. MI-5's address for mail is Room 055, The War Office, London. Special Intelligence Service (SIS) dealt with all types of mind control. Tavistock was under SIS. The British government has had their own telephone exchange with a 222 prefix, which was later linked to another secret exchange YTAN. Outsiders could dial 222 8080 to get into the secret govt. exchange.

Men like mind-control expert/hypnotist Eric Trist worked for Tavistock. A six-man team which wore black berets also helped w/ mind control at Tavistock.

Two people who became terrorists after their visits to Tavistock are Angela Davis and Stockley Carmichael who went to a conference at Tavistock entitled Dialectics of Liberation in 1967. It's main building is a bland 6-story building. The address is The Training Office, The Tavistock Clinic, 120 Belsize Lane, London, UK NWs 5BA. Tel. no. 071-435 7111. The chief exec. is Anton Obholzer. The Chair of Prof. Comm. is Nicholas Temple. Both are skilled in psychology. The Tavistock Clinic was founded in 1920, and in 1946 the Tavistock Institute was created as an independent body to assist the Tavistock Clinic. The Institute does more of the research. The Royal Free Hospital at the University of London works with Tavistock Clinic, as well as the Science Policy Research Unit (SPRU) of Sussex University. A large number of Britian's psychologist, social workers and police get their training at Tavistock. Tavistock has set themselves up as the authority on ritual abuse and MPD (DID). In other words, the primary programming site, is pretending to be the leading institution trying to solve the problem! That's a good cover.

Tinker, AFB, OK--Tinkerbell programming is carried out here. This programming makes alters think they are like Tinkerbell in that they will never grow up or age.

Titusville, FL--At the Kennedy Space Center. Mind control testing is done, and base programming such as the Wizard of Oz programming is done here. Also NASA high tech programming is done here.

Tulsa, OK--Believed to have an Alice In Wonderland theme to their programming. Oral Roberts University is used for programming. The programming to infiltrate and capture the Christian church via the healing/charismatic movement has centered around Tulsa and Oral Roberts University.

Utah State Prison--The prison has carried out mind control for over 30 years on their inmates for the intelligence agencies with the help of the U.S. government's power to cover it up.

Versailles, IL--Brain implants are put into Monarchs here.

Washington, D.C. area--The basement of the Pentagon and other facilities around Washington D.C. such as the Jesuit Georgetown Univ. Hosp. are involved with Mind-Control. Presidential Models are moving in and out of Washington, D.C. carrying messages and performing their sexual acts for the lusts of politicians. There is also a NASA Mind-control Programming Center in Washington D.C. Secret tunnels connect the White House to other buildings. These tunnels are used to bring in slaves. Some secret rooms in the lower White House are set aside for rituals.

Wright-Patterson AFB--Near Dayton, OH, Virtual reality programming is carried out here.

Youngstown, OH--The Youngstown Charm School has been run by Illuminatus Prosser Seward Mellon along with a U.S. Congressman named Jim Trafficant. The old stone building originally belonged to one of the railroad elite. This school is for Beta models and gives them advance sexual charm training. This school produces about 6 new Monarch slaves every three days. Mafia deals are carried out on the second floor of the charm school. A slave who is being trained/programmed at the Charm school will take a course that last a few days. The first day may be spent hanging in a dungeon which was once a basement wine celler. The torture dungeon has all the traditional torture devices, a stretching rack, whips, hanging chains, etc. In the dungeon rooms were a black Nubian goat "Satan", a small donkey "Nester", and a small white pony "Trigger", as well as dogs and snakes. The slave is taught silence in the dungeon as they are subjected to bestiality.

- We have just touched the surface of the vast network of programming sites. Two examples of an entire series of programming sites--1. the Coast to Coast campground resorts & 2. the Jesuit-run institutions, which are often programming sites incl. Jesuit College, WV. An example of the former is the Park City Diamond Caverns, KT Coast to Coast resort, which has had a sensory deprivation tank, headphones for state of the art harmonic programming, etc. These membership camp sites are used to program children. Nor have we touched upon the large numbers of programmed Russians & Eastern Europeans that are coming into this nation. When this book was written more people immigrated to the U.S. from Russia than anywhere else. Europe is teeming with prgmg sites, incl. the Vatican. Sebulun Zuflucht in Marienheide, Ger. is about the only european attempt at deprogramming.

Bibliography

BIBLIOGRAPHY & SOURCES

The co-authors brings lots of experience and study with this subject into the creation of this book. The sources that have contributed to their knowledge would take a book as long as this to list every source that has gotten them to their understanding of the subject.

PRIMARY SOURCES ON PRIMARY SUBJECT--TRAUMA-BASED TOTAL MIND-CONTROL

1. Numerous professional papers.
2. Personal accounts about slaves (published).
3. Unpublished paperwork, tapes, interviews of slaves.
4. Therapists
5. Books on Mind-control.
6. Books on associated topics, such as PTSD, the Mind, hypnosis, drugs, witchcraft, and the various aspects of control.

1. NUMEROUS PROFESSIONAL PAPERS.

Carole Goettman, George B. Greaves and Philip M. Croons put out a reference book Multiple Personality & Dissociation 1791-1992 A Complete Bibliography, 2nd edition. (Lutherville, MD: The Sidran Press, 1994). Co-author Fritz has gone through the Bibliography which lists in 150 pages essentially all the articles ever published on MPD and Dissociation, and he has read all that he could obtain via the large research libraries. Dozens of the articles, and many of the books which appear in this complete bibliography have been read. Most of the professional literature on the subject is trash. During the 1970s, Americans got interested in Multiple Personalities, after having lost interest in the subject as W.W. I got started. I believe the therapeutic community was probably nudged by the military/intelligence agencies to lose interest when W.W. I broke out, and that anyone who did get interested got scooped up into the government during W.W. II and the Cold War. Some of the helpful professional papers have been notated in the book itself. A perusal of the index will provide part of the sources for this book.

2. ALL THE PERSONAL ACCOUNT (AUTO-BIOGRAPHICAL ACCOUNTS) THAT ARE AVAILABLE.

The list of auto-biographies (or biographies) of victims which were consulted include the following:

CHASE, TRUDY.

Chase. Trudy. When the Rabbit Howls. NY: Dutton, 1987.

DORSETT, SYBIL ISABEL.

Schreiber, Flora Rheta. Sybil. Chicago, IL: Henry Regnery Co., 1973.

FORD, SUE.

Taylor, Brice with Patrick Stone. (written as a novel). Starshine. Huntsville, AL: The Brice Taylor Foundation, 1995.

JONES, CANDY. (born Jessica Wilcox).

Bain, Donald. The Control of Candy Jones. Chicago: Playboy Press, 1976.

LYNN, LORETTA.

Vecsey, George with Loretta Lynn. Loretta Lynn A Coal Miner's Daughter. Rockefeller Plaza, NY: Warner Books, 1976.

MONROE, MARILYN.

Pepitone, Lena. Marilyn Monroe Confidential An Intimate Personal Account. NY: Simon & Schuster, 1979.

O'BRIEN, CATHY.

O'Brien, Cathy with Mark Phillips. Trance Formation of America, The True Life Story of a CIA Slave. Nashville, TN: Global Trance Formation Info, Ltd., 1995. Also Cathy O'Brien and Mark Phillips put out numerous monographs and a number of articles in the Contact magazine, which were also consulted in writing this book.

STRATFORD, LAUREN. Satan's Underground: The Extraodinary Story of One Woman's Escape., 1991.

WHEELER, CISCO.

Wheeler, Cisco with Fritz Springmeier. They Know What They Do, An Illustrated Guide to Monarch Programming-Mind Control. Oregon City, OR: Springmeier & Wheeler, 1995.

OTHERS VICTIMS:

Casey, J.F. & Wilson, L. The Flock. Alfred A. Knopf, 1991.

LaCalle, T.M. Voices. NY: Dodd, Mead, & Co., 1988.

Lancaster, E. & Polney, J. The Final Face of Eve. NY: McGraw-Hill, 1958.

Schoenewolf, G. Jennifer and her selves. NY: Donald I. Fine, 1991.

Sizemore, C. & Pittillo, E. I'm Eve. Garden City, NY: Doubleday & Co., 1977.

Thigpen, C.H. & Cleckley, H. The three faces of Eve. NY: McGraw-Hill, 1957.

3. UNPUBLISHED PAPERS, TAPES, & INTERVIEWS WITH VICTIMS.

These sources will have to remain confidential. Over a dozen Illuminati slaves provided notes from what they have found out about their lives and mind-control systems. The co-authors have interviewed and personally known dozens more, who have been visited with. Notes were kept on some of these interviews. Fritz taped some of his interviews, and in more than one case got a computer disk of the person's life story with colloborating evidence.

4. THERAPISTS.

Fritz is appreciative to the following therapists for the help he received:
Dale Calvocade, Ukiah, CA, who helped me understand the religious covers better.
Dr. Carol Clifton, Portland, OR, who helped me understand the value of patience, kindness and listening in helping victims help themselves.
Dr. Loreda Fox, Denver, CO, who helped give a better understanding of the spiritual dimensions.
Catherine Gould, TX, who helped me understand the role of alters within programs.
Denny Hilgers, Pasadena, TX, who helped me understand the deeper codes, and the deeper systems better, and the importance of a person's identity.
David W. Neswald, Irvine, CA, who helped me understand the primal traumas better.
Randy Noblitt, Dallas, TX, who helped give a better understanding of overall picture, and how some of the codes are constructed.
Mark Phillips, Nashville, TN, who opened up a deeper understanding of how the Network operates, and provided some direction for how we should approach dealing with mind control.
Doug Riggs, Tulsa, OK, who helped give a better understanding of the religious fronts, and who helped tremendously understand how this trauma-based mind-control fits in with the Word of God.

5. BOOKS (& LONG PAPERS) ON MIND-CONTROL

Bowart, Walter H. Operation Mind-Control. original edition and the totally revised Researchers edition of 1994, which carried the same title.

Chavkin, Samuel. The Mind Stealers, Psychosurgery and Mind Control. Westport, Conn: Lawrence Hill & Co., 1978.

Estabrooks, G.H. Hypnotism. NY: E.P. Dutton, 1957.

Lockwood, Craig. Other Altars, Roots and Realities of Cultic and Satanic Ritual Abuse & Multiple Personality Disorder. Minneapolis, MN: CompCare Publishers, 1993.

Marks, John. The Search For The "Manchurian Candidate" The CIA & Mind Control. NY: W.W. Norton & Co. (paperback version), 1991.

Mediaecco. When The State Rapes, Part 1 & 2. Gorredijk, Netherlands,

Thomas, Gordon. Journey into Madness. NY: Bantam Books, 1989.

White, John. Psychic Warfare, Fact or Fiction? (An investigation into the use of the mind as a military weapon.) Wellingborough, Northamptonshire, UK: The Aquarian Press, 1990(?).

De Laurence, editor. The Lesser Key of Solomon Goetia, The Book of Evil Spirits. Chicago, 1916.

6. BOOKS ON ASSOCIATED TOPICS.

Both authors have read many books on tangent subjects. The list of books that have been read and researched prior to writing this would take another book to record. The co-author Fritz found himself consulting his own books, Be Wise As Serpents (1991), The Top 13 Illuminati Bloodlines Vol. 1 (1995), and Exodus 20:4-5 (1978).

The co-authors purchased and read the 14 Oz books. They also have a number of the other books used for scripts such as, Mother Goose Rhymes, The Tall Book of Make Believe, Michael Aquino's version of Star Wars, etc., Snow White & the 7 Dwarfs, The Island of the Blue Dolphins, Through the Looking Glass, etc. Fritz purchased his own copy of The Graphic Work of M.C. Esher. NY: Ballantine Books, 3rd edition, 1972. in order to have on hand the artwork which contains so many mirror images and inversions and is so often used for programming.

As I, Fritz, sit down to provide the sources for the reader, it is apparent that the task is beyond my time restraints. Knowledge accumulates. A random sample of just two of almost countless references looked at to come to the author's level of understanding would be Jean L. Sutton's workshop book Ritualistic Abuse of Children Identification and Case Management Strategies which was used in workshops for teachers and child services division people on Fri. Sept. 11, 1992 at 815 N.E. Davis St., Portland, OR. Another example is The New Yorker's, May 24, 1993, article "Remembering Satan--Part II". Neither one was referred to in writing the book, but these two and countless others over the years form the accumulation of understanding that is needed to tackle writing a book on Multiple Personality Disorder (Dissociative Identity Disorder).

To be able to write this book, Fritz, the co-author has studied material, books, newspapers clippings, articles, etc. from the following ASSOCIATED TOPICS with a close estimate of the number of items studied in each area: Aliens & UFOs (40 items), Amish-Mennonite (30 items), Astronomy & astrology (25 items), Behavior Modification (12 items), Black religions in the New World and Africa (6 items), Brain (30 items), Caballa (10 items at least), Computers (25 items), Computer languages (8 items), Crime (25 items), Demonology (30 items), Druidism (20 items), ELF waves (20 items), Fairy Tales (7 items), False Memory Syndrome (5 items), Freemasonry (35 items), Holograms (6 items), Hypnosis (12 items), Intelligence (20 items), Jesuits (6 items), Ku Klux Klan (15 items), Medical technology (15 items), Memory (20 items), Mental Hospitals (5 items), Military (10 items), Mind (25 items), Movies (20 items), NeuroLinguistic Programming (6 items), New World Order (50 items), Particular Individuals such as the Rothschilds, Rockefellers, Collins, Mengele, Cameron, Wheeler, LaVey, Aquino, Elvis Presley, Doris Duke, and many others mentioned in the book (50 items at least), Personality (25 items), Satanic Ritual Abuse (50 items), Spiritual warfare (40 items), Spying (25 items), Underwater research (40 items), Voodoo (3 items), Witchcraft (50 items). Some of the books that would have been cited if every detail had been footnoted can be found footnoted in other writings by Fritz Springmeier.

Also I, Fritz, have spent time examining the Word of God to try to understand what God's written word revealed by His Spirit would teach me about this situation. There are numerous Bible verses that pertain to the information in this book which are not referred to in this volume. The primary issues created by the traumas are a. identity issues, and b. issues concerning fellowship with God. Much of the trauma and programming is cloud the issue of who the person really is, and how they can have a beneficial relationship to God Almighty. The Bill Gothard Basic Youth Seminar which the co-author Fritz has attended 6 times, has been very helpful to him to understand what the programmers do, and how they strip a person of what they need to be spiritually strong. In fact, Fritz knows a number of the programmers have attended the Bill Gothard Seminar themselves, and know how to use beneficial information for evil purposes. Likewise, the Christian can take the occult knowledge of revealed in this book and use it for good instead of the evil that it was designed for. The Institute has a hard volume reference book on Research in Principles of Life as well as a workbook. Cisco, the other co-author, has studied MPD, SRA, Bible issues, and occult topics indepth. Her personal knowledge added a depth to the book that could not have been achieved without her.

William Frost of San Antonio, TX was a good friend of a tall lean Texan named David Hill. David Hill had been taken in by Mafia boss Joseph Bonanno, who was as a surrogate father to him. After David Hill became a Christian, he used his first hand knowledge of the Mafia, the occult world such as his Masonic experience to put the pieces together about the NWO. He had just completed a very detailed manuscript for a book exposing the NWO, when he was murdered. After David's murder, William Frost was able to retrieve David's manuscript and sent me a copy. The death was not ruled a murder by the authorities, but men who have written lengthy exposes on the New World Order do not commit suicide before they get their books published. It was keen-minded David Hill who warned Billy Graham for many hours about the New World Order, only to be told by Billy Graham, that Billy was "a captive" (Graham's own words) of the New World Order. The information William Frost gave me about David Hill, was later verified in many ways by Joseph Bonanno's surprising autobiography A Man of Honor, Simon & Schuster, Rockefeller Center, N.Y., 1983. It's somewhat unusual for Mafia chiefs to write autobiographies. In it, Joseph Bonanno says he looked up to Billy Graham, and that David Hill joined up with Billy Graham. In 1974, Billy Graham came to Joseph Bonanno's house in Tuscon with David. Graham sent him a Christmas card every year, and called him soon after his wife died to offer condolences. These things are mentioned on page 333 of his autobiography. David Hill's manuscript was encouraging to me, Fritz, because he verified many of the same things that I'd found. His manuscript was quoted in Vol. 1 concerning the top families.

Information about the names of programmers and programming sites and the Temple of Set membership has come from recovering victims of Trauma-based mind-control. Information about Illuminati bloodlines, ritual sites, and important buildings has also come from Illuminati members who are recovering from Illuminati mind-control. Many more witnesses to Illuminati Mind-control will come forward if people learn how to help these people, and to believe the things that have happened to them. Now that this legitimate information is being circulated, it can be expected that "witnesses" with bogus information/bogus memories will come forward to detract from the credibility of this book.

MAIN INDEX (for citations from the Bible see Scripture Index)

NOTES: Words have at times in this index been abbreviated in unconventional methods to shorten citations. The geographic locations named Fort have all been listed under the abbreviation Ft. for the readers convenience. In order to simplify things, Cabala is spelled Cabala in the index, but has been spelled various ways in the book so that the reader becomes familiar with its variant spellings.

DEDICATION

This book is dedicated:

To my son, Johnny, who has suffered the pain of being kidnapped abused and tortured. May he know that I tried with all my strength to find him, to solve the case and finally bring his story out before the public. May he know his family loves him and he is not forgotten.

To the countless other kidnapped children may they not give up hope

To the parents of kidnapped and murdered children .... May this book give you hope to go on, when the pain is so great and the world looks bleak.

THEY HAVE NO CRIME....
I HAVE NO SON !!!!
THE FIRST TWO YEARS

My story really begins on Sept. 3, 1982; we had attended a Valley High school football game to watch our older son play. Johnny asked if he could buy some popcorn, as he walked down the bleachers toward the concession stand, a policeman approached him. They visited briefly, my husband then went down and asked Johnny to stand near the playing field, so we could see him from where we were sitting. Johnny obeyed and stood by the railing, the policeman had followed him and continued their conversation.

A few moments later, I looked down and Johnny was no longer by the railing. Again, my husband went down to locate him, he discovered him under the bleachers in the darkness talking to the policeman once again. John brought Johnny up to sit with us. A short time later the game was over and on the way out of the stadium, Johnny pointed to the policeman and said… " He was really nice, maybe I should think about being a policeman when I grow up." We went home. I thought at the time this was very unusual behavior on the part of the policeman and as we left the stadium, I turned around and memorized his face. This incident became very important in the days to come.

The following day, Saturday, September 4, 1982, Johnny went to a movie in the afternoon with his friend Mark. That evening, my daughter and her boyfriend came from college, our older son was also home, I fixed a nice dinner. It was so nice to have all of them home at the same time. We had what I call "the last supper." I remember how much fun the kids had that night, joking with each other, laughing, and enjoying being together. About nine thirty p.m., Johnny jumped up saying "I am going to bed, I have to do the paper route in the morning before we go to the lake". Before saying good night to everyone, he asked "Can I do my paper route alone tomorrow morning"? His Dad said, "I guess it would be okay.". I immediately said "No, your Dad will go with you like always, it is so dark at six a.m. and I don't want you out on the street alone." Johnny said "good night", gave everyone a hug and went upstairs to bed. A few moments later, Johnny was back in the kitchen standing next to me as I was cleaning up after dinner. He gave me another hug and said "Mom, I will always love you… you are the best "! He then went to the stairs, turned looked at me, smiled, and then disappeared up the stairs. This was to be the last time I would see my son for over fourteen years. (5,293) days.

Early on September 5, 1982, our phone rang, I looked at the clock and it was one thirty a.m. My husband took the call saying, " Yes, alright, yes, alright, okay" and then hung up. I asked him who it was and he replied, " It was a wrong number." I remember thinking it was very odd; we had been receiving calls like this every Sunday morning at the same time… for the past four weeks. Never before had my husband spoken to anyone until this call but he always said they were just "hang up calls."

A few hours later, our phone started ringing again, the neighbors were saying they did not receive their Sunday paper and wanted to know if Johnny was running late. I got up to check if Johnny had overslept, he was not in his room, I went downstairs and noticed Johnny's wagon was also gone. My husband said "he is probably running late.. I will go help him. Why don't you start breakfast, then we can leave for the lake when we are finished." It was a beautiful Labor Day weekend and we had plans to go boating at the lake. I began to fix breakfast and suddenly, I felt something was very wrong. I walked to the refrigerator and put all of the things back, which I had taken out for breakfast and sat at the kitchen table.

John, Johnny's father burst through the door yelling "JOHNNY IS GONE… HIS WAGON IS SITTING TWO BLOCKS AWAY FULL OF NEWSPAPER, CALL THE POLICE SOMETHING HAS HAPPENED TO HIM". By then the phone was ringing off the hook, everyone wanted their newspapers, I told the neighbors something had happened to Johnny, the papers would be delivered as soon as possible but we had an emergency. One man said, "We just want our paper". I immediately called the West Des Moines Police Dept. While a neighbor helped my husband deliver the papers. We waited 45 minutes for the police to arrive (we live 10 blocks from the police station)! I telephoned our daughter at college anc our other son at his job, asking each of them to come home immediately I knew it was serious and I wanted my family all together.

I then telephoned Johnny's, District Manager at the Des Moine: Register to ask for the names of the other boys, picking up newspapers a the corner paper drop. She came right to the house after hearing wha had happened. I made phone calls to the other news carriers, they eacl told me a man was seen talking to Johnny, he was driving a blue car anc stopped him for directions, as he walked away towards the corner to picl up his bundles of papers. Johnny continued to walk with our little dog Gretchen towards the corner and did not at any time go over to the cai The driver then made a U-turn in the street and followed Johnny back t the corner, where the other children were also folding newspapers. Sooı an attorney, John Rossi arrived to pick up newspapers for his children, h also talked to the driver of the blue car.

Mike Seskis, a paper carrier, 16 yrs old at the time told me, "Johnn said quietly this guy is weird, something is wrong with him, I am scare and am going home." Johnny started to walk away; suddenly the drive of the blue car started the engine, backed up and drove away from th scene. The attorney had left while Mike remained on the corner. Mik reported "just before the driver pulled away ... he flicked the dome ligh on and off in his car 3 times." Just then, Mike saw a man come out fror between two houses and follow Johnny down the street, around the coı ner and out of sight. He watched until he saw Johnny turn the corner ou of sight. The second man followed Johnny around the corner, he also sai "I heard your dog growl, but nothing else seemed wrong at the time" an continued folding his papers.

At that moment, the two Bosen brothers were approaching th area, also pulling their wagon on the way to pick up their newspaper: They reported seeing Johnny sitting on his wagon slumped over, but th boys were in a hurry and went on. Seconds later, all of the witness's hear the slamming of a car door, screeching of tires and the car leave the are at a high rate of speed, running the stop sign and traveling North on 42 street towards the Interstate. Another neighbor, P.J. Smith also heard th car door slam, looked out his bedroom window as the car pulled awa All that was left on the sidewalk was Johnny's wagon still full of newspa pers... Johnny was gone.

The police finally arrived to make out a missing persons report. had collected all this information from witness's before they arrived. answered all the entire questions; the police officer then looked at me an said, "Has your son ever run away before?" I couldn't believe what I wa hearing, after sharing all of the information from the witness's.... ho could he even ask such a question. I replied "my son has never run away.... not in the past and not now"! The officer acted unconcerned as if this was normal, just another runaway in his mind. He left the house and we heard nothing from the police department for the next eight hours.

While waiting for the police to contact us again, I telephoned friends and relatives all over Des Moines area to let them know what happened, giving them the description of the car, asking for help in a search. We started searching the immediate neighborhood and then expanded the search. Large groups of people were beginning to form, helping us search parks, near the rivers, any secluded area, which might be a crime scene. I stayed near the phone handling all the calls, which were coming in and telephoning police departments in other areas. I soon discovered no one outside our area knew Johnny was missing. The West Des Moines Police had not sent out any report to other areas. Approximately three thirty p.m., two detectives returned to the house and requested a picture of Johnny, asked a few questions and left.

I called the parents of the witnesses again, they told me two police men came to their home, listened to the report but had not brought a clip board or a piece of paper to write anything down. These parents were very upset with the police, they knew nothing was being done to help us locate Johnny and reported it to me.

Soon the word began to spread that a child in West Des Moines was missing and reporters appeared on the front porch wanting pictures and a story. We handed out photos of Johnny, telling them we would appreciate it if they would publicize his picture and ask for any information possible. The police meanwhile were not doing anything... They were using their legal right at that time to not take any action on the case for 72 hours. It would be two years before a law was passed in Iowa to force the police to act immediately when a child is missing for whatever reason. Johnny was clearly kidnapped and we could not get any type of police investigative action for 72 hours. We had to get friends, relatives and neighbors to form search parties to look for Johnny.

The police chief Orval Cooney instructed us not to talk to the media but to sit in our house and not to even participate on searches. We of course did not listen to him, continued to search throughout the entire night all wooded areas, along country roads, ditches, any place a crime might have taken place. We feared the worst and kept our eyes trained to look for a body. The evening news carried Johnny's pictures and our phone was ringing constantly. It was complete bedlam at the house. We were in shock that the police were treating this so lightly and we could not get any kind of help for Johnny.

As darkness fell, it started to rain, our relatives soon began arrivng during the long night to help in any way they possibly could and to show support. Most of them lived several hours from Des Moines. We simply could not believe something like this could happen two blocks from our home. Johnny had never gone on the paper route alone, his father always went with him, until that one morning. Why! Johnny's older brother had gotten up early to go to work and knocked on Johnny's door to be sure he was up. Johnny had always come in to wake his Dad to do the route together. We do not know to this day why he went by himself. It all happened so quickly, our son was gone, we knew he had been kidnapped from the reports of the five witnesses and here we are alone, the police would not help. What were we going to do?

The phone rang again, it was a representative of the Des Moines Register, Johnny's employer… they wanted us to find a replacement for him to deliver the papers.. There was very little consideration from the Des Moines Register. At this point, I lost my temper and called the editor James Gannon, reported to him what had happened to our son and how the circulation department of the paper had treated us. I then told him exactly what he could do with their typewriters, press and paper. The lack of response by the police and Des Moines Register was about more than I could take. Mr. Gannon apparently made some calls and called back shortly to tell me that the newspaper was going to offer a reward of $5,000 for information.

No one slept the first night, as all of the relatives gathered to show support, I said "we are going to leave the porch light on… one of my children isn't home yet." The porch light was to remain on for eleven years. The next day, more than 1,000 people arrived at the police department volunteering to search for Johnny on foot. A call was placed to Governor Robert Ray to ask for use of the National Guard helicopters for an aerial search. His response was " you have to prove it is life and death, then there would be a fee of $750 per hour to use the helicopters…. And a fee to be paid to the pilots". It was simple… we did not have the money.

As the people searched throughout the day, the police were not helpful in any way in organizing the search or directing it. It was a "do it yourself project". One search team after another would return to the house to give us a report. The report was the same at each search site… the police chief would arrive use a loud speaker and say to the crowd "Go home folks, the kid is probably just a damn runaway." I was stunned and couldn't believe what I was hearing. Why was this man behaving this way, was he drunk or just stupid? My little boy was gone; he had done nothing to anyone. Johnny was only twelve years old.

Our Police Chief, Orval Cooney had a reputation as the town drunk, only a few months before the kidnapping; he had beaten a man in a local bar while intoxicated. It was quite a news item for a while, but Mayor George Mills allowed the man to keep his job. There had been a full-scale investigation of the West Des Moines Police Department after twenty of his own officers filed reports of negligence, among other charges. It was evident that we were working with a police department incapable or unwilling to handle a crime of this magnitude.

After hearing these reports from the search teams, I made another trip to the police station. Orval Cooney and Gene Meyer. Dept. of Criminal Investigation were sitting in the chief's office, when I arrived at the station. I confronted the Chief about his remarks to the search teams, Gene Meyer interrupted by saying "We do not consider Johnny to be in danger, until you (his parents) prove his life is in danger." I asked them if they had begun any type of investigation on the vehicle, as one witness had given a partial license plate number, the name of the county and state on the plate. Both the Chief and Meyer reported they were not going to make a decision to do a motor vehicle license search for at least another day. The Chief then said, "We have never had a case like this, we aren't sure what to do." I replied "I don't fault you for this, but please call other police departments for assistance." The chief told me" he would not do that because they wanted to handle it themselves!

Again, I couldn't believe what I was hearing.... My son's life was at stake and the Police Chief had an ego problem. I returned home, frustrated, angry and made the decision to call the media. I scheduled the first of what was to be hundreds of television interviews. It was Sept. 7th and the police continued to wait another day to begin an investigation. I later learned from three Sheriff's departments in neighboring counties... they had sent men to assist in the search for Johnny, and were told by the Chief "go home, we do not want your help." He was refusing any type of help for our son.... What is wrong with his man? Is he a lunatic or just stupid or was he protecting someone?

During the first TV interview, I made a "plea for my son's life, to beg his kidnappers to contact us and we would meet their demands, we wanted our son and loved him very much". I also included a special message to Johnny to remember he is loved and try to stay strong until we find you. Following the news showing the interview, every nut in the city began calling our home and driving by our house. Although there were some people, who were very sympathetic, others were cruel and said, "your son is dead and begin laughing, then hang up the phone". Some called to criticize me for not crying on television.

The most unbelievable expressions of humanity began to surface. Due to the interviews, we began to receive leads and would call the police to report them. Each time, the police would say "it is probably nothing."

It was evident by their lack of professionalism that they were not investigating this case. I had no choice but to become my own investigator, checking out all these calls one by one. Many of them were a dead end but everything had to be checked, just in case it might yield a clue. The ground searches continued for one more day... people then had to go back to their jobs, the long holiday weekend was over. Our relatives had to also return to their own lives. The reality began to sink in "Johnny was gone and no one but his family was going to do anything about it."

A few other business's contributed to a reward fund which had been started to find Johnny, which had been started by the Des Moines Register, we added $40,000, the equity in our home, to the $20,000 already being offered. We stipulated our portion of the reward was "for the safe return of Johnny".

I knew it was necessary to create a missing persons poster to send them out. But I didn't know how to begin this project. I assumed the police departments assisted parents with this... they informed me that wasn't their job. There were no Missing Children's organizations to turn to at this time. Many were created following Johnny's kidnapping. The FBI was nowhere in sight... why were they not involved? Kidnapping is a Federal Crime....if you are wealthy enough, apparently we weren't!

My heart was heavy, I felt, I was going to completely fall apart but knew if I did, there would be no one to help Johnny, certainly not the local law enforcement. Our family had never experienced a violent crime, nor had any problems with the police in our lives. This was all new to us, it seemed there was nowhere to turn.

The media did continue each day to call us, doing interviews with updates, new pleas to the kidnappers and reports on the growing reward fund. The media became more instrumental in our case than the police department. At least they were helping us to circulate Johnny's picture locally and to other areas of the state.

I made another trip to the police department to plead with the police chief, while I was at the station, I overheard an officer say "Why does that stupid family leave the porch light on for a kid that will never come home". The officer saw me standing there.... Why such cruel remarks? But this was just the beginning as I was about to discover.

By Sept. 8th, the police now wanted to ask questions. They asked if we had threatening phone calls, anything unusual happen in the week prior to Johnny's kidnapping. I reported to them the phone calls in the middle of the night prior to the kidnapping and about the policeman at the football game on 9/3/82...I was told neither was important. This concerned me, as the man at the football game resembled the description from witness's of the driver of the blue car, kidnapping Johnny. However, the police chief would not pursue the matter and told me to forget it.

During this most tragic time of our lives, suddenly we were forced to be investigators, fund raisers, do interviews on television, and continue to keep our jobs and our sanity. How are we going to do it? I had no training in these things.

The Police Chief kept telling me that the FBI would not be entering the case. I decided to call the local FBI office and request an agent to come to my home. They sent Special Agents Ed Mall and David Oxler. When they arrived they sat down at the table and told me they would not be entering the case because, in their words "WE HAVE NO CRIME." I responded, "I have no son, he was kidnapped, you have all the information from the witness's, kidnapping is a Federal Crime." The agents informed me the Police Chief, Orval Cooney had briefed them telling them there was no need for them to enter the case… That he could handle the situation. I could not believe what was happening. It seemed the world had gone completely nuts. A little boy was kidnapped off the street and the FBI would not enter the case. I grew up watching the FBI Story with Effram Ziembalist Jr. and really believed that they entered kidnap cases and set up a command post in the homes of the families. NOT TRUE…. It is nothing like TV … not one thing in this case would I consider to be a real investigation.

It seemed all hope was gone, then someone called and suggested about Child Find in New York, I called them and arranged to have all the material sent for registration for Johnny. I sent the check for the initial fee and in the following months, continued to receive requests for more money, we had finally over the months sent several hundred dollars. Each time, Child Find would tell us that it was for printing and distribution costs on our son's case. And that just as soon as Johnny's picture was placed in their national book it would be distributed all over the country. Unfortunately, they over estimated their ability to help or their budget, because it was over eighteen months before my son's picture finally was printed in their book and distributed….it to dentist's offices and doctors offices etc. There was no way Johnny would be in a dentists office to have his teeth cleaned and be recognized. It was a complete waste of our money and our time. At that time their organization was set up to help victims of "parental kidnapping."

I was scheduled to be at a school board meeting to discuss the kidnapping. At that time, we took turns covering the telephone at home. The police instructed us to tape record phone calls and let them know where we were at all times. I reported to them, I was attending the meeting. The police then telephoned John at home, saying they wanted to see him at the police station right away to go over material on car license plates. They sent the Police Chief and Gene Meyer to the house to cover the phone while John was gone. I happened to come home early and discovered both of these men searching our home without a search warrant...I asked them to leave my home. I never received an apology for their conduct or deception.

The following day... I made a trip to the police department....The Police Chief said "you people are so straight, we couldn't find anything wrong or illegal about you when we looked through your house." He sounded positively disappointed. I then told him that the case needed more concentrated investigation, he replied "They were actually going to put the case on the back burner because it was becoming very quiet and nothing was happening....the phones just aren't ringing."

It was only three weeks after the kidnapping at that point. I took care of that immediately, upon returning home, I called a number of friends and asked each of them if they would call four friends, asking each to call the Police Chief and demand to know what was being done in the Gosch kidnapping case. Soon the police were flooded with calls and they could not put the case on any back burner.... It had suddenly come "alive" once again.

The week of September 24th, a small article appeared in the Des Moines Register, an attempted abduction of two young children in a small town just outside of Des Moines. The man arrested was from Omaha, Neb. and was connected to a pornography ring. I took the newspaper clipping to the Police Chief, Orval Cooney, asking him to investigate and call the Police Chief in Omaha, Robert Wadman. Our Police Chief refused saying, "I don't have a feel for this so I am not going to do anything." I then went to the FBI office and was told once again "they did not intend to enter the case, because the Police Chief told them he didn't need their help." In desperation, I called a press conference and raised "holy hell" releasing the information that neither the police nor the FBI would investigate my son's kidnapping.

Within four days of my press conference, I received my first of many death threats. A male voice on the phone said "Stop making waves or you will die." What I did not realize at the time was that I was knocking on the back door of what became the Franklin Credit Union Investigation conducted by the Nebraska Legislature. John DeCamp, a longtime Nebraska State senator detailed it in a book, The Franklin Cover-Up on "child abuse, Satanism and murder, which went far beyond the confines of Nebraska. Police Chief Wadman from Nebraska was implicated. It is no wonder our police chief would not investigate this matter. I was so close to discovering what happened to my son within three weeks after he was taken, they had to find some way to stop me.... The death threat and the refusal of authorities to investigate severely limited me in trying to find my child.

The West Des Moines Police Chief was considered an authority in Johnny's case and was being invited to speak at a number of civic organization meetings. It was reported to me that Orval Cooney began spreading a story that Johnny was not our child but adopted and ran away to find his parents. I had to produce his birth certificate publish it in the newspaper to prove Johnny was my son. This ludicrous behavior by professional law enforcement official was hurting our chances of having public support to locate our son. I could not understand why he would behave in this manner when a child's life was at stake. Looking back on it today, it is perfectly clear why the Police Chief did not pursue an active investigation to find Johnny. You will read why in later chapters of this book.

It became clear that we would receive more help from a private detective than the police. I began collecting names of investigators to be interviewed. I had also contacted a number of national TV shows - 60 Minutes, 20/20, Mike Douglas, Phil Donahue, Nightline programs to tell them what was happening here. They were very nice but told me to submit the story in writing with clippings. This was their policy but it takes longer.

I made the decision to tell the police we were hiring a private detective. When I told Police Chief Cooney, he became outraged. He began yelling and threatening me. He shouted: "You have no right to bring in an outsider!" I replied, "You cannot tell me what I can or cannot do to find my son. I will hire a private detective...If you have a problem with that ... stick it up your ass!" I walked out of the police station and returned home. I made arrangements to travel to Omaha Nebraska the following day to interview a private detective.

At four p.m., the same day our doorbell rang. There stood the Police Captain, Bob Rushing, with his hat in his hand, saying the Police Chief now wanted us to take a polygraph test. He told me: "They would try make an effort to keep it out of the press, so as not to embarrass us." I couldn't believe what I was hearing! My son is gone. They handled the case negligently from the beginning and now just after I announced hiring a private investigator.... they were demanding a polygraph test. That conversation ended by my asking the Captain to stay, while I called the media and arranged a press conference to announce; We were being harassed by the police, simply because we had planned to hire a private detective. He could not stand the heat and left before the press arrived. I did the interview and received many calls of support from people in the community.

The following day, I traveled to Omaha, Nebraska to interview and hire Dennis Whalen, a private investigator. He was recommended to me because he had solved a case of a missing child in Carter Lake, Iowa. He located Todd Bequette who had been kidnapped, held for two years by a man who repeatedly sexually abused him. In order to pay the retainer fee, I used all the cash value in my life insurance policies and money in savings for the children's education. We made all the arrangements with Dennis to come to Des Moines and begin work within a few days.

I returned home that evening, the phone rang. It was Good Morning America asking us to be on their show October 11, 1982. I accepted and made plans to travel to New York. This was to be the first of over 50 network appearances through the years. It was wonderful to have this opportunity to show our son's picture on Good Morning America to millions of people. I lived in hope that there would be one solid lead, which would give us the answer. It would help us solve the case and find Johnny.

On October 9th, the night before I was to leave for New York, I received a phone call from a man asking for $10,000 ransom. I notified the West Des Moines, who again said "it is probably nothing". This call was not investigated by any law enforcement.

The following morning, I left for New York and the Good Morning America program. We arrived in the city, as I rode in the tax, I kept looking out the window thinking Johnny could have been taken to a large city such as New York. The hotel accommodations were very nice but I kept wondering why they allowed all of the horses along Central Park to "poop" all over the place. This was the first trip to New York and I was somewhat surprised by the "aroma". It is called the "city that never sleeps", I felt fortunate to have this opportunity. That evening, I did find a little time to unwind, as it had been non-stop stress from the moment Johnny was kidnapped, I was operating on very little sleep. I went down stairs in the hotel and had dinner just observing all the people who were no doubt living a "normal life"…. something, which was taken from me. I no longer had anything that resembled a normal life.

The following morning, I got up, got ready to go to the studio, there was no way I could even think about eating food. As I was waiting in the lobby for the limo to arrive, a woman sailed in from the dining room, introducing herself as Kristin Cole Brown from Child Find in New York. She was to appear on the program with me. I kept my distance from her as I could remember all of the checks I had written to Child Find and my son's picture had still not appeared in their book. I knew that Child Find primarily worked on "parental kidnappings" not "stranger" so perhaps that is why they were not effective in Johnny's case. However they continued to ask for money until I shut off the spigot.

Kristin was just too bubbly for the occasion, she chirped in the limo about how her make up would look on TV that day. I remember thinking at the time, my son is gone, I am turning inside out here and this woman is concerned about her eyeliner. However, when we got to the studio and we were called into the make up room, they had to do an "overhaul on Kristin and the make up artist said to me "your make up is beautiful Mrs. Gosch, what products do you use? We don't have to add a thing … you are ready to go on the air. " I hadn't done anything special… just got ready for the day as though I were going to work.

Finally, I was escorted to the studio and introduced to David Hartman. He is a very tall man, extended his hand to shake mine and made me feel welcome immediately. We were seated on stage; the soundmen were installing microphones on us. David continued in a very kind sensitive manner to ask more details about Johnny, the case and asked to see the photo I brought with me. He took it in his hands shaking his head, looked back up at me and said, " I am so sorry this happened to your son." The show began, I was able to give the entire description of the kidnapping, show Johnny's picture and answering questions that David Hartman asked concerning the case.

Kristin Cole Brown was then brought on stage with us and she gave information to the public about Child Find and all they do for parents of missing children. I did not get another opportunity to set the record straight about the difference between parental and stranger kidnappings….and that this organization primarily worked on parental. They may have changed their format by now.

As I walked out of the studio, I decided to not take the limo back to the hotel. Instead I walked and about twenty people came up to me, who had seen the program. They were so kind, telling me they were praying for my son. It was surprising to me in a city that large that people would take the time to share their kind comments with me.

When I returned home from New York, the local media reported on the Good Morning America appearance…they gave it good exposure. A number of people called saying they were happy we had the opportunity to show Johnny's picture on national TV and hoped it would bring results. The down side of this (and there seems to always be a down side to everything) some in the city called to say, "You looked too good on the show, your make up, your outfit … how can you be suffering?" Two friends who owned beauty shops also called to tell me the topic of discussion in the shops for a few days was "How Noreen Gosch looked on TV… she looked too good… she can't be suffering… she is in this for just the publicity".

Those that gossiped and criticized me did not understand that I would always present my "best foot forward", in case my son would see the show. I wanted him to see a positive reinforcement, to hear that his mother was working very hard to find him and would not give up. On a network show you are only given a few precious minutes to tell your story. I wasn't going to waste it by sitting there crying and being unable to speak, nor would I go in looking like I just crawled out of bed.

On October 13, 1982, I spent the day with the private detective. My husband left for a business trip, my mother, older son and private detective were all talking over details of the case. Shortly before, midnight the same man, who had called two days earlier with a ransom demand, called again and "told me to drive to a phone booth at the corner of Hickman Road and Merle Hay Road, that I would find the ransom demand there. He told me, I only had a short time to comply with the demand or I would not see my son again." My private detective told me to grab a pair of gloves to handle the note and off we went. I didn't know if there would actually be a note or if it was a hoax but I had to check. When I arrived at the phone booth, I got out of the car, slid my gloved hand across the top of the booth and sure enough there was a note. I ran back to the car, got in and we could see the note was addressed to Mrs. Gosch. I drove home and called the FBI after reading the instructions.

I first called the West Des Moines Police; they of course said it was nothing. I then called FBI demanding an agent come to my home, reporting we had received a ransom demand. Agent David Oxler, at first refused to come to the house, saying "it is probably nothing!" I explained what the note contained and he finally agreed to come to the house. When he arrived, he took one look at the note and said, "this does not pertain to Johnny and we are not going to do anything". How could he say that... the note was addressed to me and they talked about Johnny in the note? I couldn't believe or accept what he was saying, THE FBI REFUSING TO ACT ON A RANSOM DEMAND.

I couldn't think of anything else to do so I grabbed a piece of paper and "asked Agent Oxler to sign it, date it and state that he was refusing to act on this ransom demand and we would all sign as witness's, my mother, Dennis Whalen (private detective), my older son and myself". Then if my son were killed due to his refusal to act, I would file charges against the FBI for negligence.

Agent Oxler then said "if you put it that way, we will check it out but you will have to drive your own car to the area, we will not put one of our agents in to drive it." It was a very bad section of town, there had been a gang murder there just ten days prior. And now the FBI would not send anyone with me for protection nor allow our private detective to go along. The private detective told Agent Oxler " he was going with me regardless!"

Just then the phone rang ... I turned on the tape recorder and answered the call. It was the police chief, Orval Cooney, asking for Agent Oxler. I handed him the phone, after they finished talking he walked back to the table and sat down. I noticed the tape recorder was still running, I had forgotten to shut it off. So I reached over and turned it off. Agent Oxler got up and threatened to arrest me for tape-recording their conversation. I told him, "it was not intentional and I had been instructed by the police record every incoming call. " He wouldn't listen, grabbed me, shoving me into a wall, taking the tape recording out of the machine and put it in his pocket. To this day, we have never recovered it, I am sure it contained off color remarks about me that they did not want me to hear.

At 1:45 a.m. the FBI called and told me to proceed over to the address in the ransom note and make the money drop. The result of the ransom demand was a disaster the police & FBI waited so long to get into formation. Just before I left the house, the man called back to tell me time was up...we had waited too long! Nevertheless, I followed instructions drove to the location, dropped the bag on the corner but the man never surfaced to pick it up. Dennis Whalen and I returned home to wait the rest of the night. The despair that followed this episode was unbelievable. I had always believed that the FBI would handle these cases that they would respond to a ransom demand. I was so disappointed with every aspect of this case and how it was being handled. The true victim here was Johnny and no one was doing their job.

The only conclusion, I can arrive at for survival in this time and place, is the fact that from the beginning; I was plagued with people placing obstacles before me. I literally had to fight to go over, around or through them for Johnny's life. I had never been through anything like this in my life... having to fight for everything. There was no time for "pity parties" or falling apart even though I felt so badly. Johnny was the victim and I kept that focus. My heart actually hurt; there was actual pain in my chest, which never went away, day or night. The pain remained with me for four years, three months and twenty-six days.

Years later, I began working with the Polk County Victims Association, giving talks for their support group meetings. I learned that all of the other victims, who had lost a loved one to violent crime, also shared the same physical pain in their heart area that I had experienced. The counselors at the Association explained to me that it is very common for victim survivors to have the pain in the heart region, lasting from the onset of the crime up to ten years. They were very interested in the actual time my pain was present before waking up one morning to discover it had vanished. I looked it up in my daily journal and I had recorded the day, I woke up without my pain. Which was four years, three months and twenty-six days after Johnny was kidnapped.

The following day, the story was all over the media in Des Moines, television, radio, and newspaper that there was a ransom demand. During the interviews I shared with the public that the FBI refused to help on that night. The usual public uproar took place, which amounted to dozens of phone calls to our home once again. The phone rang every fifteen minutes day and night. Some people were praying for me and others wanted to criticize. The law enforcement then began to harass our private detectives, refusing to work with them.

The police forced our investigators to come in to the department, saying them they would not accept their P.I. licenses because they were from the state of Nebraska. This caused us a delay. Our investigators had to find a P.I. in the state of Iowa who would issue them a license under his agency. This was also another outlay of money, which we could ill afford. The detectives were able to finally begin working.. The first morning they were doing a "stake out" of the kidnap scene to determine times, lighting, and distance of the cars from the witnesses. The West Des Moines police drove up and once again forced our detectives to come into the station to explain what they were doing on the street corner at 5:56 a.m. This was a continued type of harassment by the West Des Moines police. They were not willing to investigate the kidnapping but it seemed they were not about to let us do it either.

THE BIG "DO IT YOURSELF" PROJECT

I continued with our massive flyer program and to finance all of this and private detectives, it was suggested that we sell "WORLDS FINEST CANDY BARS", with Johnny's name on the candy wrapper. Many children's groups have used this kind of fundraiser at some time to raise money. In the history of this company it was reported to me that The Johnny Gosch Foundation sold more candy bars than any other group in the United States. Over a three year period, we sold 400,000 candy bars, which we received fifty cents profit per bar. That did raise $200,000 to help pay for private investigators and the additional expenses, which accompany a kidnapping and search for a missing child.

I chose November 12, 1982, Johnny's 13th birthday, to have our first meeting of the Johnny Gosch Foundation. Twenty volunteers came, some were old friends, but many new acquaintances that were dedicated to helping us find Johnny and change the system for the positive. We elected a board of directors, Bill Hornbostel, an attorney to file for incorporation/non-profit tax-exempt status and Bob Duitch volunteered his services as an accountant to handle all money incoming and outgoing. We kept all of this as a separate entity. John and I had absolutely nothing to do with the finances other than to work with all the volunteers at the fundraisers. The board of directors managed the Foundation.

Word began to spread throughout the country via the media ... JOHNNY GOSCH'S PARENTS ARE SELLING CHOCOLATE TO RAISE MONEY TO FIND THEIR CHILD. For a time it became quite a human-interest story, but for a very touching reason. A reporter for the Washington Post wrote a very compelling story about a set of parents "selling chocolate to save their son." We had candy bars in 80 stores; weekly volunteers from the organization would pick up the money and replenish the candy supply. Candy bars were being sold in other parts of Iowa, Illinois and Minnesota. Many people realized that we were average working people, who could not withstand the expense of an ongoing private investigation alone. I borrowed all the money I could from my life insurance cash value, our families helped as much as they could. Our resources could only go so far but it was imperative, we had to keep the private investigation going otherwise we would never know what happened to Johnny.

I made a decision to go public with our case for several reasons:

1) To find Johnny
2) Educate parents throughout the country.
3) Bring positive change in legislation forcing police to treat "stranger" kidnap cases with priority.
4) To give other parents hope – to convey the idea of "not giving up on your missing child".
5) To help other parents cope with the tragic loss of their child.

When it was first suggested that we sell candy bars and then Johnny Gosch bumper stickers.... I was upset to think that in this country of wealth and waste a parent would have to do this in order to recover their kidnapped child. KIDNAPPING IS AGAINST THE LAW. BUT WHERE WAS THE LAW? IT IS A FEDERAL CRIME!

It is difficult to convey sometimes to others how desperate a parent feels when they do not receive the assistance from law enforcement. In our community, it was as though people found this to be unpleasant and preferred not to talk about it. A West Des Moines City Councilman told me " I was embarrassing the city on national TV!" I was treated as "modern day leper" for some time. No one thought it could happen to them, that the Johnny Gosch case was an isolated incident. Readers Digest reported in a article that there are as many as 100,000 children kidnapped in the United States each year. What makes people in this area think it couldn't happen to them?

Due to all the publicity, I received the biggest break of the entire case; Ken Wooden called our home after reading articles about Johnny and wanted to visit with me. He had been at Iowa State University doing a week of being a "guest professor". He suggested Perkins Restaurant near the airport. When I arrived Mr. Wooden and Professor Colson of Iowa State University were waiting at a table. We sat down to talk, when suddenly Mr. Wooden asked me "Do you really want your son back or is this all an act?" I was so stunned, I just stood up and said, "I am not sure where that came from but I do not have time to talk with you" and prepared to leave. He quickly said Professor Colson "I like her.... She has spunk."

He asked me to sit back down and explained that he had worked for ABC and CBS as an investigative reporter. He done a great deal of research on pedophiles, how they molest and kill children. He also wrote the "Children of Jonestown" the story of Guyana and the massacre that took place. He had been following the progress of the case through the media as well as many others in the country. He told me "IT WAS TIME TO ENTER THE NATIONAL ARENA!" He said "Johnny is probably no longer in the state of Iowa." He also said he wanted to see how strong and determined I was....

He asked me to go forward with an awareness program, telling the truth of what is happening to our children and to fight for better legislation on both a state and federal level. He said he would help me every step of the way, share information with our private detective and me to make an impact in this country. He reported to us the grim statistics of other families destroyed by this tragedy and crime. The divorces and the suicides which so common among the parents. He had asked me to speak for so many of the children, whose parents could not do it.

The day I met Ken Wooden was one of the best days I had experienced since the kidnapping. A man from outside of Iowa, who actually cared enough about our son to really give me some "hands on advice."

He said, "it might get rough, the public and press will doubt you, laugh at you and try to discredit you, because the truth you will bring out will be difficult to accept." Then he looked at me and said "are you willing to fight for you son?" I agreed to do what ever was necessary in order to find my son. I had no idea of the roller coaster ride that was ahead of me. All Ken warned me about and then some was about to begin. I have never had to fight so hard for anything in my life up to this point.

It was through Ken, I learned about the organized aspect of these kidnappings and how children were used. Organizations such as

NAMBLA....North American Man Boy Love Association, The Rene Guyeon Society and others. The first targets sex with little boys, the second sex with little girls. Both their motto's seem be "sex before eight or it is too late." It was very difficult for a time, to cope with this new information. It made me feel ill knowing someone has taken my son to be used in the same way. But when I would weaken, I would look at Johnny's picture and remind myself "HE IS THE VICTIM, THIS IS NOT THE TIME TO CRUMBLE."

Ken took time to teach me how to write a press release, which would be noticed when it was sent to a radio or television station or program. He did not forget about Johnny after he left Des Moines, he continued to work very closely with me. Both in an effort to find Johnny but to also achieve progress in this country. He was a turning point in this case and in my life.

Ken sent me the names of every producer to contact on the entire big network TV shows. I began the long process of letter writing and sending packages of materials to these producers, in hopes of being selected for the shows. Within six months, I began receiving invitations to appear on the talk shows, magazine shows and special productions.

One day, as I neared the elevator in the building where I worked, a man approached, shook hands with me and said "Hello, I am Terry Branstad and I am running for Governor". I replied, " Hi, I am Noreen Gosch, my son was kidnapped and I need to talk to you." With that I hopped on the elevator with him and his press secretary/campaign manger. I told him, I needed help and had ideas for legislation. He said to his press secretary..."make a note for me to get in touch with Noreen after the election." Terry Branstad was elected Governor of Iowa and he didn't forget what he said in the elevator that day. Soon after the election was over and he got settled in office, I was able to schedule an appointment with him to discuss legislation changes concerning not only Johnny's case but also abused children needed for the state of Iowa

The next big event that shaped our investigation on a national level was being chosen for an HBO Documentary Movie called "Missing." Dave Bell Associates was the filming company hired to do the project. The filming was to take place during Thanksgiving week in November of 1982. The producer Terry Meurer Dunn, the film crew, and soundmen ... the entire entourage came to West Des Moines. This was a documentary film and we were to play ourselves. They did use local people to reenact the kidnapping of Johnny. Our interview lasted five straight hours, it was exhausting... They showed how hard we worked to raise money to find him and also the never-ending faith we displayed that someday we would see Johnny again.

They filmed all types of day-to-day activities. The producers and crew planned to stay with us through the "first Thanksgiving without Johnny," showing how we as a family coped.

The producer wanted to film me shopping for the Thanksgiving turkey at the local HyVee grocery store. They chose the busiest time of the day, with many customers in the store. So much controversy, speculation and publicity had taken place, that I felt as though I were on public display. I grabbed for a 24-pound turkey, hoisted it up to the cart, it slipped out of my hands and bounced along the floor, drawing even more attention to the scene. At that point, there was nothing to do but have a good "laugh"…. something I probably needed…..comic relief. The film crew, producers and I stood in the aisle at the busy grocery store laughing till tears ran down our cheeks. I am sure the other customers thought we had lost our minds.

They recreated the crime scene, interviewed many people in the Des Moines area, including the Police Chief Orval Cooney. Cooney stated in his interview "the Goschs are damn stupid people". The producer Terry Dunn was so stunned the police chief would utter such a crude comment, that she gave us the "sound bite" on a tape to prove his remark. I couldn't understand why a public official, one who was supposed to be looking for my son would say such a hurtful remark about us.

Terry Dunn, the Producer asked the police chief if they had any finger prints of Johnny Gosch? His response was..."Mrs. Gosch wanted us to fingerprint her son's room but it makes such a hell of a mess, we decided not to do it".

The HBO film "Missing" aired for the first time in June 1983. Many people having missing children began to contact The Johnny Gosch Foundation for help after seeing the film. They wanted to know how to begin a search on their own cases. By going public with our case, it was the beginning of an increased awareness for families. Many will search indefinitely for their children and probably, will never have an answer. It began a movement in this country, which was heard from coast to coast. An awareness of the danger to children falling prey to pedophiles, either in a sexual abuse situation within their community or being kidnapped from their hometowns all across the country.

Today you cannot pick up a paper anywhere in the country without seeing an article of someone sexually abusing a child. Seldom do you see an article about kidnapped children. Yet it continues to go on between stranger and parental kidnappings numbers over a half a million per year. An added situation today is the throw away children which add another half a million to the number.

Our organization had become very active in fund raising and awareness programs. I was asked to be a speaker at many schools. I developed a comprehensive program with films to be shown to parents and children, called "IN DEFENSE OF CHILDREN". Ken Wooden assisted with information and statistics, I could share in my talks. During my programs, I gave parents the profile of a pedophile enabling them to see more clearly those who might be abusing children in their communities. In many communities, following one of my programs there would be arrests of pedophiles, which had been operating in secrecy for many years. This program was very necessary and also enabled us to qualify for the non-profit classification as we were providing a very needed service with in our state for all children.

Our detectives advised us to find a good composite artist to do a sketch of the kidnapper. I called the Des Moines Art Center; they were very kind and recommended a fine young artist. He worked with each of the witness's separately, then all together to create and refine the composite picture of the suspect. This is another area, which Police failed to complete. As soon as the composite drawing was finished, I again called another press conference to release the picture. As soon as our sketch was released, the police then did a composite drawing also and it resembled a "MR. POTATOHEAD!" Even the witnesses said it did not look like the driver of the car, the suspect. We added this picture to our missing persons posters, which have numbered into the millions sent out with across the country.

I decided to make an appeal to the Des Moines Register editor... James Gannon, only to make someone aware of things the police were not doing in the investigation. I had made repeated efforts to gain cooperation between the police and our detectives from the beginning of the case. They simply would not.

The result of my letter pleading for help was another disaster. Mr. Gannon published it on the front page of the paper and allowed the police to dissect it in print and make crude remarks. The letter was never intended to be used for publicity ... only as a plea for help for my little boy. It was another blow to our family, the impact left me shell shocked, unable to sleep, severe loss of weight because I simply could not eat under all of the stress.

I was afraid to open up the newspaper each morning, because I didn't know who would be attacking us next. Nor could I understand "why!" I kept asking this question daily how could they do this and why ... what was their motives? Why would Gannon, the editor of the Des Moines Register encourage and assist in the attacks against parents to find their child. Today, we know many important people in business and in government are themselves pedophiles or for one reason or another are sympathetic to those who are. Pedophiles can be in any walk of life, male or female teachers, coaches, scout leaders, politicians and police at all levels.

I felt a deep commitment to establish new legislation regarding the "period of time" in which the police wait in a missing person case. Most often they wait 72 hours as they did in Johnny's case. This is valuable precious time in the missing person's life. I gathered all of my materials on legislation for my appointment with Governor Terry Branstad. I worked with an attorney, telling him of the ideas I had for a bill, he helped me write it in the proper language. When I presented all of my ideas and suggestions, I was so pleased to discover Governor Branstad, a kind man who listened. He had an open mind and said, "He would read it over and do what he could to help." We did meet again later with a revised edition of the bill after the Governor and his legislative staff had an opportunity to look it over. It was decided that a bill would be drafted.... it was to be called THE JOHNNY GOSCH BILL.

At first, no one wanted to sponsor the bill... they all felt it would be too upsetting to law enforcement, but I continued to talk to both Senators and Representatives, eventually Vic Stueland, from my home town, who knew me from the time I was a baby, sponsored the bill in the House. A short time later the Senate sponsored the bill.

I was then informed by well meaning people, that if I really wanted the bill to be passed, I would have to wine and dine the legislators. Just as the lobbyists do. I refused to do it that way; I had a full time job, a part time job and the search for my son... I didn't have time or money to wine and dine legislator I did another press release to this effect. This launched the most hectic schedule for the next full year, as the Johnny Gosch Bill did not make it out of committee the first year and we would have to begin all over again on the following session of 1983/1984.

Speaking engagement invitations were coming every part of the state of Iowa and other states. I was booked every night of the week and weekends. My program, "In Defense Of Children" gives a very in depth presentation, on prevention but also the Profile of a Pedophile and how they operate in a community. Not only for the kidnapped child but the many who are molested and the cases never resolved. I worked closely with our private detective and Ken Wooden in gathering material for this project.

Each morning, I would go to work, as soon as I got off work, I would be on the road to present another program. I was blessed to have volunteers in the Johnny Gosch Foundation, who took turns traveling with me and handling the literature table. I had a number of brochures and information for the parents to take home to educate their children on safety. We had huge operating costs the first few years, due to the amount of printing for all our literature and legislation material. So we always carried a supply of Worlds Finest Candy Bars to sell at the programs to help defray the cost of printing.

Then came a devastating blow in April 1983. Another boy from West Des Moines was reported kidnapped. Immediately the FBI were called in.... very different than Johnny's case, when they stated "THEY HAD NO CRIME". It was the son of a very wealthy man in West Des Moines, a very prominent family. Listening to the news reports was like reliving Johnny's kidnapping all over again. The FBI solved the case in 36 hours. They did pay a call to our home at eight a.m. the following day. As they entered our home, Special Agent Herb Hawkins, in charge of a five state region, stated "WE REALLY HAD TO MOVE FAST ON THAT CASE, THERE WAS A HUMAN LIFE AT STAKE." I couldn't take it anymore and said to Hawkins..."WHAT DO YOU CONSIDER OUR SON..... DOGFOOD?"

Herb Hawkins was sitting in Johnny's chair at the table drinking coffee and replied,"Mrs. Gosch, there is something you don't understand... the other boy kidnapped.... their family is more prominent, their son was worth more money, we had to act fast". Again, I couldn't believe what had just been said to me. In essence " the rich and influential... the FBI will work to find, but sorry you are out of luck."

I completely lost my temper, after many months of this type of treatment, they finally told me the truth...."JOHNNY DIDN'T MATTER BECAUSE WE WERE NOT RICH AND PROMINENT IN THIS COMMUNITY".

I honestly do not remember throwing my cup of coffee across the table and just missing the head of Special Agent Hawkins by half an inch. The FBI quickly left our home very quickly after the flying coffee cup. I realized, I needed a new plan; I had to do something different ... because nothing was working. At that moment, I didn't think I would ever be all right again. I decided after that blow... to pack a bag and leave town for several days. I did not tell anyone where I was going and traveled several hundred miles away, checked into a hotel to rest, I needed it so badly.

The police called the house to talk to me and couldn't reach me. They then called my husband saying, "They would put out an alert because there were concerned something had happened to me and I might be missing." My husband told them, "You can't put out an alert, she isn't missing, she is over 21 and it hasn't been 72 hours yet." Essentially their 72-hour rule was being reversed on them.

During the time away from Des Moines, I did rest but more importantly all alone in that hotel... I HIT BOTTOM AND GUESS WHAT....

I SURVIVED. I had never felt such dispair...I wasn't sure what to do next. That FBI Agent actually did me a favor, even though it was cruel on his part to say such a thing. He had given me the "tools" to create national interest in Johnny's case.

The night I returned home from my short "rest", the phone rang; it was Ken Wooden. He had heard about the coffee cup incident in Washington D.C., while at a dinner meeting with William Webster, Director of the FBI. Mr. Webster said, "Some crazy lady in Des Moines Iowa, threw a cup of hot coffee at one of my agents." Ken Wooden asked Mr. Webster "what was the woman's name?" Webster replied "that newspaper boy's mother, that Gosch woman". Ken replied to Webster "If Noreen Gosch threw a cup of coffee at your Agent, he must have done something horrendous... because she has displayed tremendous courage and control throughout this entire nightmare." In his call to me, shortly after his dinner with Webster, Ken said to me "The next time you throw a cup of coffee at an FBI agent... I don't want to hear that you missed".

Ken suggested I send all of this information once again to all of the talk show contacts and he would do what he could on the situation. I began receiving invitations to CBS Morning Show, Hour Magazine, Phil Donahue, ABC Morning and Nightly News, and many more. The story about the coffee cup became public with my appearance on Donahue. I related the entire story on national TV. In a newspaper article, Agent Hawkins first denied it, and then said, "Mrs. Gosch is mistaken", then finally "admitted he had said every word". He no longer is in this part of the United States. He was moved to another area and has nothing more to do with our case.

Within six months of the kidnapping, a young man identifying himself as Paul Bishop contacted me by phone. He told me an international kidnapping/pornography ring had taken my son. I asked, "How do you know that to be true, can you prove it!" He replied, " I work for a government agency which is investigating pedophile organizations. And there are indicators in your case that suggests your son was taken by such an organization. We feel he is being used for pornography and prostitution." All clues were pointing to the kidnapping being organized and not that of a "lone criminal". I found it difficult to believe and accept that my son could have been targeted by such an organization. It was only in later years, I was to learn the possible reason Johnny was selected

Again it was brought to my attention that Orval Cooney; police chief was continuing his tirades against our family. He was constantly making derogatory remarks about Johnny, our family and me. In desperation, I telephoned several members of the West Des Moines City Council, on a Friday afternoon. I told each of them I was filing a 20 million dollar lawsuit against the city on Monday morning, naming the Police Chief as being negligent in my son's case.

Stunned, the city council called an emergency unpublished meeting on Sunday evening, in the basement of the police department. The following morning, it was announced the police chief would retire, as he was too ill to continue in the job, he went out on medical leave, it was the only way he could keep his pension. Finally, he was no longer making negligent decisions on Johnny's case. I never intended to file the lawsuit but I wanted them to think so. Approximately three months after he left office, Orval Cooney was arrested for shoplifting at a Target Store; he took videotape and some molly plug screws for hanging plants from the ceiling.

We had the State director of DCI (State Police) Gerald Shanahan followed for two months by detectives and then a little list was presented to his superiors as to his activities during this time. A short time later, he tendered his resignation. During the first 18 months on our case, several people were removed from their positions, which gave fresh people to the case. This eased the frustration level of having to deal with the people, who treated my son's case with such little regard. We hoped the new people in these positions would have more of an open mind.

We received an invitation to speak at the "10th National Conference of Juvenile Justice Judges & District Attorney's Assoc.", in Hilton Head, North Carolina, sharing the podium with Ken Wooden. Due to the collective talent and contacts in our audience this resulted in much more publicity all over the country. It gave me the opportunity to work on Federal legislation, which was the Missing Children's Act of 1983. The audience of judges and district attorneys numbered to three hundred. It was an excellent opportunity to become more visible concerning Johnny's case and also convey what we were trying to accomplish in Iowa and on the national level. It was also the first time I was introduced to John Walsh, father of Adam Walsh kidnapped and murdered in Florida in 1981. John was working on federal legislation and he mentioned that our "paths would cross again to work together."

In December 1983, Ken Wooden invited me to testify before the Justice Department at Sam Houston University in Houston Texas. Parents of missing children gathered and were asked to tell their story on video camera, naming names and sharing what went wrong in their cases. I met John Walsh for the second time, he came to share his story about his son Adam, who was murdered a year before my son was kidnapped. While I was there I met many people from all over the country, all carrying the same burden pain. It seemed apparent that in every case, the police reacted very slowly or not at all. The families were left with the frustration of not knowing what happened to their child.

All of the video taped testimonies were taken to Washington D.C. and a few months later the Justice Department appropriated the first ten million dollars to start the Center for Missing and Exploited Children. I was invited to the White House for the dedication of the new Center for Missing Children. It was a huge success to have this Center created; it meant that parents had for the first time a place for help, support and guidance when their child was taken. The Center was designed to act as a liaison between law enforcement and the families, to help create and distribute missing persons posters, and an 800 number for calls on sightings of missing children ...1-800-843-5678. They had people to handle the caseloads and keep in communication with the families. This was important so parents did not feel so isolated and alone in their tragedy, as we had before the creation of the Center.

The Johnny Gosch Foundation was constantly growing and the speaking engagements were continuing. Over a period of six years, I presented seven hundred programs, all over the country.

A very special young couple came to meet with us; he was the editor of the Ankeny Press Citizen in a neighboring town. They joined our organization and he began to write a series of articles on Johnny's case, telling the true story. Ron and Luann Sampson, played a very large role in shaping this entire investigation.

The Des Moines Register was ignoring any kind of helpful publicity (no one could understand why.... (Johnny worked for them), so we worked with other forms of the press, in and outside our state. I received a phone call in the spring of 1983, a woman saying, she worked at the Des Moines Register in the newsroom.... She reported, "Shortly after the kidnapping, the editor at that time, came into the newsroom and announced ...all articles written about the Gosch boy WILL be slanted against the family and for the police." She would not give me her name... she was afraid of losing her job. I now knew what was happening but didn't understand "why"!

Ron's articles really began to shake people up and finally for the first time, they were made aware of how our family had been treated. We had an avenue of communication on our case, which was fair. We spent many hours together formulating this project; later Ron became the President of the Johnny Gosch Foundation. I felt such gratitude for all of the people who helped us, prior to and following this series of articles. It made me more determined than ever to continue to work towards a safer environment for all children

As I traveled, giving speeches throughout Iowa, I collected legislative contacts in every community. I circulated a clipboard to my audiences asking everyone of voting age to sign their name, if they were interested in being a "legislative contact". I explained a "legislative contact", would be called if we had a bill being held hostage, if we needed them to call their legislator to put pressure on them to vote for a certain bill for children. We would also ask them to call as many people as possible for them to do the same. Many times bills are held "hostage" in a committee. Logic would seem to dictate that any bill concerning the welfare of children should be a top priority instead of being used as a "pawn" in a political catfight. In all, I collected nearly a thousand names, with the help of Teresa Burriola, a volunteer in the Johnny Gosch Foundation, who worked for a lobbyist. The names were sorted and placed in folders according to their counties/districts with the names of their Representative and Senator.

Word reached Governor Branstad office about my legislative contact project. On a number of occasions the Governor called and asked me to activate our massive telephone tree, we could generate over 500 calls to legislators within an hour and did so many times. Putting pressure on the Senator or Representative, deliberately holding a bill hostage.

My work with Governor Branstad proved to be very rewarding; he is a fair and honest person. We created many positive legislative changes in the state of Iowa, which have been copied in other states. Finally in the second year 1984, the Johnny Gosch Bill passed into law. It felt like such a victory. It had made all of the late nights, driving, speaking and work worthwhile. At the signing ceremony on July 1, 1984, the Governor said to me quietly "I had an extra pen done for Johnny, if he is found, I want him to have it. None of this would have happened if it hadn't been for the tragedy of his kidnapping and all of your work".

Those words meant a great deal to me, the Governor had gone out of his way many times on a personal level to assist me with kindness. It is refreshing after all of the other difficulties and obstacles. The police now have to begin an investigation immediately when a child is missing. IT IS THE LAW. Needless to say a few policemen in the state did not care for the idea but a surprising number appreciate having it in black and white on paper.

Despite the victory of the Johnny Gosch Law being passed, there were several disgruntled lobbyists and legislators who said to me… "You got your bill passed but now who will provide the money to enforce it… we are on the finance committee and we are not going to allocate dollars for this…" I reported these comments from the lobbyists and legislators to the Governor's office and said it was necessary for this law to be enforced the next time a child was taken. Little did I know that only a month from that day, another paperboy would be kidnapped from Des Moines?

THE SECOND KIDNAPPING

I received a phone call from Sam Soda, local private investigator. He claimed to have valuable information for me and wanted to meet as soon as possible. We arranged to meet at his office the evening June 13, 1984. This was another of the tons of calls from people trying to help, I had no idea if his information was something I could use or not. Many of the leads turned out to be nothing. But I accepted the meeting with him.

I brought a tape recorder along and placed it on the table. Sam raised no objection to being taped. During this meeting, he disclosed information about a "second kidnapping in Des Moines". He claimed this came from his informant. The kidnapping was to occur on the second weekend in August, on the South Side of Des Moines and that it would be another paperboy. I thought it strange that he would be telling me this and not the police. When I questioned him on this point, he claimed that I should be the one to take the information to the Des Moines Police, as it would be their jurisdiction. I thanked him for the information and left. I thought that if this information were on the level… it would be a chance to prevent another kidnapping. I believed him but still questioned why he told me and not the police.

I went the very next day to the Des Moines Police Dept., asking if I could play the tape of the meeting with Mr. Soda for them. The uniformed officer at the front desk would not allow me to talk to a Detective, he insisted, "If they felt my information was of importance they would call me". Repeatedly, I told him that I had a tape recording and in a couple of months, there would be another paperboy kidnapped. They treated me as though I had lost my mind and didn't want to be bothered with me. I was shocked, my son was kidnapped and they were rejecting information to prevent another crime.

When I left the Police Dept., I contacted WHO, WOI & KCCI TV station program managers. I did speak to each of them and relayed the information, telling them I also had a tape recording of this conversation. I was shocked to find out that even though they listened to me, no one wanted to listen to the tape.

I was very uneasy about the whole situation and felt that Mr. Soda had given me important information. Someone needed to take it seriously. I contacted Frank Santiago, Des Moines Register reporter, who had been assigned to Johnny's story since the beginning. He was the only one who really listened to the information. He asked if I had been to the police. I told him "yes and to the TV stations". He showed concern and then thanked me for the information. But the Des Moines Register did not do any type of article on this new information. A couple months, later after Eugene Martin was kidnapped, I went back to the Des Moines Police Department and asked if they were "ready to talk to me about the contents of the Sam Soda tape." I was told "no, they had too much to do with the new kidnapping to investigate and for me not to talk to the press or the Martin family about the contents of the tape". One officer also said " We can get a gag order placed on you if necessary!"

DEEP THROAT

Just as in the movie "All the President's Men", Des Moines also had its "Deep Throat". It became increasingly important to have certain information released in the press at precise times. I knew that if I approached them.... the information would not be taken seriously or have the impact as if it came from an anonymous informant who was accurate. I hired a man to make the phone calls, supplying the reporter with accurate information. I knew the clock was ticking closer to the date in August, which was predicted for the next kidnapping of a Des Moines Register paperboy.

When I had information to be released, I would call Deep Throat; he would go to a pay phone, placing a call to the "newspaper reporter", giving him the information, with the facts for him to verify everything. Within a couple hours, I would receive a phone call from "the reporter" saying " that his anonymous informant had just given him new information and that every word of it was true because he was able to confirm it." There would then be a story, which followed in the newspaper.

At these times, it was imperative that information be released strategically to obtain a desired effect from the "guilty parties" involved locally in the case. It was then and then only, I would know if I was on the right path of investigation. To some people it might seem or sound a bit "calculating" but I was up against many powerful people. When your child is taken and you are forced to do your own investigation, you do what you have to do.

After a succession of appearances on Good Morning America, The Today Show, CBS Morning & Evening News, Charles Kuralt Sunday Morning, Phil Donahue, Inside Edition, ABC Morning & Evening News, NBC Morning & Evening News, and 48 Hours, where I was able to share my story about my son and alert the public to the ever-present and growing danger of child kidnapping. I received a call from Karen Burnes, a producer with ABC's 20/20 in July of 1984, asking to present Johnny's story.

This was the beginning of a long relationship with not only Karen Burnes but also ABC's 20/20. The show depicted the effort I had to make to cope with the loss of my son, which required me to become a public speaker, fundraiser, detective and "thorn in the side of police, FBI and political bureaucrats." It seemed the only way to get anything done on Johnny's case was to shout long and loud on any forum I could find.... from the stage of a church or school, newspaper, magazines to a radio or TV studio. Plans were made with Karen Burnes to film Johnny's Story with 20/20, on the second weekend in August.

Paul Bishop, made another short trip to Des Moines, July 31, 1984. It was at this time, he reported the name of the man who was the "spotter".... in Johnny's kidnapping. Paul explained that a spotter is the person who secures a photo of a victim prior to a kidnapping. Years later in 1991, I learned from Private Investigator Roy Stephens, that Paul Bonacci, (who participated in Johnny's kidnapping) positively identified a photo of Sam Soda as the man, who brought photos of Johnny to the kidnappers, who stayed in a motel room in West Des Moines, on September 4, 1982, the night before the kidnapping.

When Paul spoke his name, I said, "Paul, you need to listen to this tape." I played recording of my meeting with Sam Soda. He listened...I then told him of my attempts to share the information with the police department and media. Paul was not shocked at what he heard on the tape and paid a visit to Sam Soda, questioning him concerning the source of the information on a second kidnapping. Sam was not too cooperative, became annoyed with Bishop, asking him to leave his office. There is indication today that these two individuals knew each other prior to this time.

Before Paul left Des Moines, he created a very intricate map of the Johnny's crime scene, indicating time sequence of each aspect of the kidnapping. Paul dated and initialed the map using GPB (George Paul Bishop)

After Paul flew back to Washington, I began to hear from Sam Soda on a regular basis. He wanted to be the investigator for Johnny's case. He asked for a bank account to be set up for him to draw upon for a salary. I explained to him, we already had a private investigator and could not afford another. He continued to attempt to be involved in any way he could on the case.

I think this suggests how intricate are the manipulations of those involved in the kidnapping and exploitation of children like Johnny. Eventually, I had reports from not only Paul Bishop but also Paul Bonacci (See Bonacci chapter) implicating Sam. What better way for them to keep track of my progress in this case than to plant someone in our very midst? To this very day no police agency has ever conducted a thorough investigation of Sam Soda's alleged participation in Johnny's case.

During this time, I had also been working with Senator Grassley from Iowa, he had been particularly helpful in facilitating with the FBI. A short time later, I received my invitation to testify in Washington D.C. before Senator Arlan Specter's Hearing on Organized Crime and its Re- lationship to Kidnapping. Senator Grassley's office made all of my arrangements

I was instructed by Senator Grassley's office to Federal Express a copy of my testimony and to carry a copy on the plane when I flew to Washington D.C. In testifying before Congress or State Legislature, you are required to prepare a written presentation of your testimony. Paul Bishop met the plane and escorted me to the hotel. I checked in and then he took me on a tour of Washington, followed by showing me some of the blighted places in D.C. Where children as young as ten years old, hang out on the streets late at night. Today those blighted areas include places like the White House Mall at night. Even Congressmen are not safe on the steps of the Capitol.

Later that evening, Paul and I spent time going over every word of my testimony. I wanted to be sure that when I presented my information the following morning that it was clear to the committee, "an Organized Pedophile Group" took my son. Again and again, I have met with denial on the part of individuals and organizations that any such groups could exist in this country. For my protection, two men, dressed in suits were posted outside of my hotel room door all night. A major disturbance occurred downstairs in the lobby during the night, the police were called and arrested the man causing the problem. I have no idea if it was related to me.

The following morning, Paul Bishop, accompanied by two men arrived at the hotel to drive me to the Capitol for the Hearing. The bodyguards accompanied us always a few steps behind us. They were dressed well but business causal rather than suits. Paul looked very polished wearing a dark brown suit. As I entered the room, I noted there were reporters everywhere from ABC, NBC, CBS television, radio, newspaper and magazine. I recognized Special Agent Kenneth Lanning, a member of the Behavioral Science Unit of the FBI Training Division at Quantico, VA, I walked towards him, saying, "Hello, I am Noreen Gosch", extending my hand to shake his.... he pulled back and said, "We know who you are". With that statement there was a definite chill in the air. It was as though the FBI resented me being asked to testify.

Paul sat beside me at the table, the two bodyguards blended into the background, as I testified to my knowledge of the slave auctions in the U.S. During my testimony, Senator Specter asked a number of questions about my son's kidnapping and the investigation. I explained the FBI refused to enter the case, because they wanted me to prove my son's life was in danger. The lack of response from the local authorities created the need for private investigators.

At this hearing were books made available by the FBI showing children in a mail order type catalog, and offering them for sale. How much more needed to be proven about the existence of organizations national and international that were buying and selling children. This book was spiral bound about seventy five to a hundred black and white pages, with six or seven children's pictures on a page. Below each child's picture was offered details about the child, hair and eye color, weight etc. The question that must be asked is that with this information in the hands of the FBI and the Senate, clearly indicating that an organization capable of not only photographing children around the U.S. but offering them for sale and kidnapping to order, why is this still unknown to the majority of Americans. I have made repeated attempts to obtain copies of this catalog, which would prove beyond a shadow of a doubt the existence of an organization or organizations that do buy and sell children.

Councilwoman of the City Council of Philadelphia, Joan Specter stated " I found it rather shocking to hear there was a book "How to Have Sex With Kids", and I decided to verify the fact that it was indeed obtained at the book store. I called the bookstore and asked if they had a pamphlet of how to have sex with kids. They said, "let me check", they returned to the phone and said, "we did have the pamphlet and are out of it but we can reorder it." I said thank you and hung up. And then the pamphlet was delivered to my office. I looked at the pamphlet and saw that it was a How To Do It Pamphlet. It described how to find children, how to go to playgrounds, how to get baby sitting jobs, and then it described how a man who is over 200 pounds can have sex with a child.

It seemed to me that if you have a pamphlet available in a bookstore, which was not a pornographic bookstore, and someone goes in and buys that pamphlet, there is a sense that there is nothing wrong with having sex with kids. Because, after all, here is the book in a regular book store available to anyone who comes in. This is taken from the minutes August 8, 1984, (the same hearing where I testified) of the Organized Crime Hearings and it's Relationship to Missing Children

Senator Specter asked Paul Bishop of his relationship to the case, to me and did he know this to be true. Paul indicated he was an investigator and that every word of my testimony was accurate. Paul remained by my side during the hearing; answering questions asked by Senator Specter, these were the only words he spoke. This struck me as very unusual but then I had never been in this arena before to observe how a CIA man would conduct himself. At no time did Paul ever identify himself as CIA during the hearing or afterward during the interviews with the Washington Press. He withdrew from the view of the cameras. All attempts on my part to obtain photos from the hearing were unsuccessful.

Following the hearing, I requested from one of the staff members a copy of Mr. Lannings testimony and the pedophile material that was displayed on the table, including the catalog. She asked " Mrs. Gosch would like a copy of the material presented by Mr. Lanning" and an FBI Agent told her "This is the property of the FBI and it was acquired from a pedophiles lair, it cannot be given to anyone".

It was appalling to me to me that with all this material in the hands of the FBI, presented by Ken Lanning to Senator Specters committee and examined by the National media, that there is ever any question today in the year 2000, about the existence of national and international kidnap organizations. Today children are a commodity used in TV commercials and magazine ads in a sexually provocatively manner. Is it any wonder that children are no longer safe in our schools because the pedophiles have managed to become their teachers, coaches, and become mentors to young children.

My own private investigator attended a slave auction with naked children paraded on a stage. Paul Bonnaci, who assisted in kidnapping my son claims to have attended many auctions. Everyone from psychiatrist to policemen report talking to people who have attended or been a participant in such auctions. If there is any doubt that Slavery is alive and well in America in the year 2000, there should not be. I examined the same FBI evidence in August 8, 1984, that Senators and the entire news media present examined.

Is there a plot to conceal this from the America public? FBI and countless witnesses such as myself have repeatedly presented ample proof before the U. S. Congress. Yet the average America thinks you are crazy if you declare Slavery exists and is a well-guarded U.S. Government secret. I have a book in my possession, which identifies various members of the U.S. Congress as compromised by having had sex with children, or owning slaves themselves. Paul Bonnaci who participated in the kidnapping of Johnny also stated, he was repeatedly sent to Washington D.C. to have sex with Massachusetts Representative Barney Frank. The Washington Times published a front page story stating a child prostitution ring was being run out of his D.C. apartment

It has now been sixteen years since Senator Arlen Specter has been given these materials. To my knowledge, no major report was given to Congress about the growing and influential pedophiles operating throughout the United States. What happened to the new media who immediately surrounded me following the hearing anxious for more details about Johnny? They had the same access to that catalog that I did. Why hasn't it become a major national story? I testified that slave auctions were being held in the U.S. The catalog clearly confirmed my testimony.

My schedule was so tight, I flew immediately back to Des Moines to meet with the crew from ABC 20/20. The following day, Karen Burnes and the film crew from 20/20 arrived in town. It was a beautiful Saturday and the second weekend in August. They filmed locations around Des Moines and West Des Moines, including the site where Johnny was kidnapped. Later when we arrived back at our home. I decided to share the information regarding a second kidnapping, supposed to occur the following day. I played the Sam Soda tape recording for Karen and shared how I had been to the Des Moines Police Dept., telling her of the reaction I received.

I had hoped they would at least patrol the paper drop areas on the South Side of Des Moines. I also told Karen, I had given the information to the News Directors at the local TV stations. She showed great interest in the information.

After we finished filming for the day, the crew went to the airport and flew back to New York. Karen remained in Des Moines and stayed at the Marriott hotel. The next morning began with the shock of the phone ringing very early. It was a reporter at the local ABC TV station, telling me "the second kidnapping had just taken place". He kept saying, " It happened just as you said it would Mrs. Gosch".

I asked the reporter, how he knew what I had reported, as I only talked with his manager. He replied "they spread it around the news room ...everyone thought you were nuts!" He informed me the police were calling it a kidnapping immediately and the FBI were bringing in twenty-two agents from Quantico, VA to assist in the investigation and search. The young boy kidnapped was Eugene Martin, a newspaper carrier, preparing to deliver his papers on the South Side of Des Moines.

In Johnny's case, the FBI refused to enter the case, the reason they verbally gave me in my home was that "they had no crime and it was my responsibility to prove my son's life was in danger". Why now with Eugene Martin's kidnapping under identical circumstances was the FBI coming forward with a bevy of FBI agents. Could it be that somewhere during the months of Johnny's kidnapping ......the law enforcement here learned something?

Based on this phone call alone, I called Karen at the hotel and told her the "second kidnapping had just happened", exactly as Sam Soda had told me on June 13, 1984. She immediately swung into action contacting her network and arranging for a film crew to come back to Des Moines, when the crew arrived, they went directly to the Des Moines police department.

The police department was in a state of confusion; Karen placed, put, shoved a microphone in the police chief's face and demanded the answers to the following questions. Are you bringing in FBI Agents for this case? They didn't for Johnny Gosch! Are you going to use canine search teams? They didn't for Johnny Gosch! Will you do an aerial search? They wouldn't for Johnny Gosch! The Police Chief had no comment about the Johnny Gosch case and stated the department would do everything in their power to solve the Martin kidnapping. The police went all out using FBI, SWAT Teams, Canine Searches, and Aerial searches but like Johnny, Eugene Martin was probably quickly taken out of the immediate search area. This case appeared to be a duplicate of Johnny's kidnapping.

Karen stayed in Des Moines for several days, interviewing and gathering information on this latest tragedy. The story about Eugene Martin and Johnny appeared immediately on ABC news. Karen and I continued to keep in touch as the years rolled by.

After the Martin kidnapping, I expected the Des Moines Police Dept, to contact me and want to discuss the information I received from Sam Soda. Despite the fact that my information proved to be valid, the police never asked to listen to the tape. Sam Soda knew another boy was going to be kidnapped. Shouldn't the police have asked how did Sam Soda know? Who did Sam Soda know? Did Sam Soda also have the information that would have solved or prevented this crime?

Instead... I was warned not to talk about it to the press and certainly not the Martin family. I could not believe what I was hearing. But it certainly can be explained; they had the opportunity to prevent the second kidnapping, due to the advanced information. Instead of listening to the information, I tried to give them; I was treated like a "nut" and dismissed. If the newspaper drop points had been patrolled, Eugene Martin might not have been taken. If the local media would have created pressure about the tape, police might have been forced to take action. But neither the police nor the media wanted to listen to the tape recording. Where the kidnapping of children is concerned it is difficult to arouse the social conscious.

Suddenly an apathetic law enforcement body.... And The Des Moines Register, who now had TWO KIDNAPPED PAPERBOYS, began to act. We continued to pay for our own investigation. Money was donated to reward funds. The newspaper printed thousands of missing person's flyers to distribute all over the United States. We printed and paid for distribution of our son's posters. The change of attitude was amazing.

Jim Gannon, the same newspaper editor, who smugly ignored our case except to do damaging articles and instruct the staff to slant articles against us... wrote an article "MAD AS HELL THAT TWO CARRIERS WERE KIDNAPPED".

President Ronald Reagan telephoned Jim Gannon to tell him what a good job the Des Moines Register was doing publicizing these kidnappings. I questioned why did it take two children kidnapped to shake the social conscience of this newspaper editor? How tragic and sad for the children.

We were still selling candy bars to pay for all of our flyers, watching this same newspaper rollover and do it for another family was very painful. I am glad that all of our work had brought this kind of awareness and progress but at the same time, my heart ached for my son. Going through the first few days of the second kidnapping was like reliving Johnny's. Every bit of the pain was still there and had not lessened.

I thought my life was busy before but after the second kidnapping the speaking engagements and public appearances mushroomed. People felt threatened... would their child be next?

A few days later, NBC Today Show contacted me, asking if I could get in touch with the Martins, as they had been unsuccessful. It seems the FBI (was this the Efrem Zimbalist Jr. from the FBI TV Show, I had been waiting for) had more or less set up a command post in the Martin home and calls were being screened. The Today show wanted to interview both the Martins and us the following day. I called the Martin home, an FBI Agent answered the phone, I posed as a relative and asked to speak with either of the Martins. He handed the phone to Don, Eugene's father. At that time, I identified myself, told Mr. Martin "They want us on the Today Show ... tomorrow!" We then made the plans to do the Today show from the local WHO-TV studio in Des Moines, the NBC affiliate. When I met them at the TV studio, the Martins told me "The FBI told us not to talk to you!"

In a total reversal Sam Soda, began to contact the Des Moines Police telling them that Paul Bishop (my CIA contact) had been in Des Moines a short time before the Martin kidnapping and was somehow involved. Sam must have bent the ear of some influential people because shortly afterward a Federal Grand Jury Hearing was scheduled; Paul Bishop was subpoenaed to testify.

He returned one more time to Des Moines. Following the hearing, Paul took a taxi to my home. He had been questioned about Eugene Martin, what he was doing in Des Moines, who he talked to in Des Moines for over six hours. While he was sharing the details of the hearing; the phone rang a number of times. It was Sam Soda each time wanting to know if Paul Bishop was there. He became very agitated, when I told him Paul was not there. He claimed, he needed to talk with Paul and could not find him. We felt it best for Paul to change his travel plans, I made arrangements with friends for Paul to stay the night at their home. He flew back to Washington D.C. a couple of days later, under different name. I received two more phone calls from Paul in the following week that was to be the last time I saw or spoke with Paul. The phone number to call Paul at Langley Air Force Base was no longer working.

Shortly after that visit, Paul Bishop or Robert LaVeck vanished without a trace. What happened to Paul Bishop, we have never been able to discover. Paul used to call me "Mom." He was a young person in his twenties and I sometimes wonder, had he been used in some manner by the very element that took my son? Was he sent here to share with me the threads of truth, which would unfold later? It was years before the CIA was revealed as a part of this problem of missing children in our country and the world.

A reporter asked me to describe in a few words one time something positive about this experience, if there was such a thing. I said, " I have had the opportunity and privilege to meet so many fine people... together we have made a difference in this country. People, I would not have met otherwise and it is sad that it had to be at the expense of a child's life. I feel that all of what I have accomplished has been done in Johnny's name, so that his kidnapping did not happen without any progress in our country. I just hope in some way he is able to know we did everything possible to save him. If I had not fought hard to save him, I would not be able to now look at myself in the mirror or at his picture."

The first sound of the words still echo in my mind from the Police and FBI...."Mrs. Gosch, we have no crime...." My reply has always been "But I have no Son... Kidnapping is a Federal Crime!"

Johnny is not the only case in this country but we certainly worked against the odds to overcome and go on. If anything this was the biggest "do it yourself project had ever encountered." Most parents do not realize that much of the search for their child will be up to them. If they drop the ball so to speak... there goes their child's case.

Some in the country have called me a "nut or troublemaker" and have said, "I should just shut up and quit." Would they quit if it were their child missing? It is easy to judge when it hasn't happened to you. I have learned to live with all the elements that go with this tragedy...from the pain of losing a child in a violent crime to living in a fishbowl.

My entire world was shattered on the morning of September 5, 1982 and yet some how I received the energy, support and guidance to go on with my life, rising above the tragedy to accomplish many things, which will last for others.

Ken Wooden researched and wrote this guide as an outgrowth of his work as an investigative reporter for ABC News 20/20 and as the founder of the National Coalition for Children's Justice and the National Child Victim Computerized Network. The information is based on interviews with convicted child molesters and murderers—the experts.

Ken Wooden has authored three books which center on the injustices suffered by children. Weeping in the Playtime of Others, a best-seller, served as the basis for three "Sixty Minutes" segments. The Children of Jonestown is the culmination of his investigative work for NBC News and the Chicago Sun-Times; it garnered a Pulitzer Prize nomination. His third book, soon to be published, Prey-Missing and Murdered Children, is the result of five years of investigative work.

Wooden's articles and books have prompted Congressional inquiries and legislation dealing with interstate commerce of children, the child pornography industry, foster care reform and, most currently, the problem of missing and murdered children.

HAPPY DAYS
JOHNNY, ME AND NEPHEW

Survival.... A way of life for Noreen

I had the benefit of growing up in a home filled with love and being instilled with the "right stuff" from the beginning. I was the oldest of six children, growing up on a farm with my five brothers, we learned about the simple pleasures of life as well as the "work ethic". I never heard a harsh word spoken between my mother and father. They were the most loving and devoted couple/ parents I have ever seen to this day. When I was fifteen my father died of cancer. He suffered tremendously and was bed ridden for many months. During this time, we cared for him at home, while pulling together as a family to with the tremendous job of running the farm.

At my high school prom, a young man, who had just returned from the Air Force, a former graduate of our school, came just to see all the decorations in the gym that night. He came to the school with his younger brother and my younger brother, who were friends.. As they were sitting in the bleachers, he saw me on the dance floor with my date and asked his brother; "Who is that girl in the pink dress?" My brother replied "that is my sister, Noreen." . Later that night when he went home, he told his mother " I have just seen the girl I am going to marry". I am sure his mother was a little shocked to hear such a revelation.

I was graduating from high school at seventeen, it was only about a week later that Bob came to my home to see me and asked me for a date. I had never dated anyone that much older than myself.... He seemed nice and I was impressed by the fact that he was interested in me. We did start dating... within a year Bob asked me to marry him and gave me a diamond. All caught up in the whirlwind of planning a wedding, it seemed that time stood still and flew by all at the same time. Soon we were married and settled in our home.

The following year, I was expecting our first child. It was only a few months after she was born that Bob became ill, he went to the doctor and they ran some tests. Surgery was recommended.... The verdict came back cancer..... colon cancer. He was operated on at the University of Iowa Hospitals in Iowa City. It was 1963 and there was very little they could do other than surgery. Bob recuperated quickly and returned to work. I was both surprised but pleased a few months later to discover I was expecting our second child. Towards the end of my pregnancy, Bob returned to Iowa City Medical center for a check up. When he got home, he told me they discovered a reoccurrence of the cancer and he would have to go through more surgery.

I was terrified for him, our little family and me. Our second child was born with in a few weeks and then leaving both children with my mother, we went back to Iowa City for more surgery. The day of surgery, I was told by hospital staff that Bob would be in surgery and recovery for many hours; that it would do me good to take a break from the hospital and to come back later. I did as they suggested and went to visit my sister in law in a nearby town. While there I took a nap before going back to the hospital. I had a dream while resting, in my dream, I was driving into the hospital parking lot and there was a parking space right as I turned the corner. (Extremely rare at that hospital) I went into the hospital, got on the elevator. When the doors opened, I was greeted by an orderly who said" Please come with me, Dr Crowley wants to see you right away". I followed him to a long narrow, room, with green walls and white furniture. Dr. Crowley walked in and took my hands and said " I am sorry but we had to close your husband back us, there is nothing we can do for him. He is full of cancer and will not live, much longer.

I woke up with a start, telling my sister in law about the dream, she said " just take it easy, you have been under a great deal of stress, just had a new baby and haven't fully recuperated yourself yet". So I thanked her and headed back to the hospital. As I pulled into the parking lot.... I saw the parking space right there (just as my dream), I took it, went into the hospital.... Got on the elevator... when the doors opened, there was the same orderly as in my dream, asking me to go with him to meet Dr. Crowley I followed him to a long, narrow room with green walls and white furniture. I knew what was about to come. The doctor entered the room and took my hands and then told me "I am sorry but we had to close your husband back up, there is nothing we can do for him.... he is full of cancer and will not live, much longer."

I couldn't believe my ears and yet, I knew he was telling the truth. I had been given the information hours earlier to prepare me for this shock. I was alone, just nineteen and I didn't know what to do. Bob was still in recovery and I couldn't see him. I made a phone call to my sister in law; she had three young children at home and said her husband would come to the hospital.

Before he arrived, I was permitted to see Bob, as I walked towards his bed, I saw all the tubes he was hooked to but something looked strange, one tube was bright red. I pushed the button for the nurse and she came, I showed her what the tube looked like, she pushed me out of the way, yelled for help and told me my husband was bleeding to death. It was all too much for me and I fainted. When I woke up I was in a hospital bed, my husband was in the other bed in a private room, with my brother in law sitting on a chair. He had been told what took place. He had also donated blood for Bob as they were the same blood type.

Bob pulled through and was sent home, he did recover somewhat for a short time from the effects of the surgery.... And he didn't LOOK SICK.... That was the part that amazed everyone, he looked the picture of health and yet he was dying. The months went very quickly and he began to go down hill very rapidly .. It seems that once there was the surgery the cancer began to spread like wildfire.

The doctors told me he would never feel "good again" but they would do everything they could to make him comfortable. Soon Bob was unable to work, he was too weak. We were living in a home on acreage close to his parents and mine. The baby was not quite a year old and his sister only two and a half, when our world exploded one night. Each day was a struggle, a worry, I tried to keep the spirits up for Bob, who was worried about leaving his family. It had been very hot, on September 21st, 1965; we went to bed that night trying to get some sleep

During the night, I was awakened by what sounded like a freight train roaring overhead but yet right though our home, we did not live near a railroad track. Everything was black, except for occasional lightening out side with tremendous thunder. The whole house was shaking, I tried to get up to make my way to our sleeping children, down the hall in their room. When I got up, I was hit in the ribs and in the face with the dresser drawers which came flying out .... I blacked out, when I awakened, I was laying in the field next to our home, rain hitting me, I got up and had searing pain in my chest and face. I started digging though the rubble to locate my babies. I found my daughter, unconscious, laying face down in broken glass. I picked her up, just then she started to scream, I kept telling her I was there and everything would be okay...while I looked for my baby son. I pulled one of the doors up from the house and saw through the lightening, rafters from the ceiling in the house had pierced through the end of the baby crib and into the mattress like harpoons. I looked all over and couldn't find him. He came crawling out from under some rubble, he looked to be just fine, scared and crying but not injured.

I began to look around only to discover that large sections of the house had landed on both cars and the roof of each car was flattened. I don't know how we managed but we got into the one car with over half the roof flattened with no windshield and drove to Bob's parents home. We were lucky to be alive. We suspected and it was later confirmed that it had been a tornado. It destroyed our home and both cars. We all went to the hospital emergency room. Both of the kids checked out okay but Bob and I were injured. I had broken ribs and had spears of glass embedded in my face. I was fortunate I still had my eyesight. Bob in his weakened state was banged up badly after being tossed around in the storm, his condition only worsened after that storm.

Within days there were insurance adjusters to work with as our home was a total loss as well as both cars. They were very kind and did help us speed up the process. We continued to stay with Bob's parents until we had another home we could move to. Most all our belongings were either destroyed or blown away. The kids toys such as teddy bears, plastic toys all had to be thrown away because they were riddled with glass. Clothing and shoes had to be thrown away as the tremendous force of the wind drove the glass spears through the fibers of the clothing and the shoes. I had never seen such destruction in my life.

I got us moved into another home, Bob was so sick and weak, he laughed when he walked in carrying his box of pills/medication, saying that is all he had the strength to carry. Within a short time, his health had taken a turn for the worse. He was in so much pain. Both of the children were still so frightened from what they experienced in the storm they couldn't sleep at night. The days were exhausting but so were the nights, I rarely got more than three hours sleep. The doctor gave me Morphine. The visiting nurse taught me how to give the injections to Bob for pain. There was no money for us to place Bob in a hospital, as he waited for the cancer to take him. He also wanted to be near the children for as long as possible.

Bob made the statement; he was going to "live long enough to see his son walk". Approximately ten days later, the baby pulled himself up and walked from the coffee table to the couch… that night, I had to call for an ambulance. Bob lapsed into a coma and was taken to the hospital, where he died a few hours later. We had only been married three years, three months and two days.

Bob died about thirty days after the tornado destroyed our home, took everything we had. I was just 22 years old, with two children and had to learn how to start completely from scratch.

I felt so grateful that my children were alive, they could have been killed in that terrible storm. I knew we would make it.... we had each other. I watched as everything I owned was destroyed and taken from me, I had to borrow a dress for his funeral, as I no clothing to wear, it had all been destroyed or blown away but realized at that young age how important, precious and fragile "LIFE" is.....

I learned how to be a survivor, from this experience. I learned how to start over with nothing. I viewed life much differently than any of my family or friends after the twin disasters.... destruction and death. Little did I know. ...these terrible events would prepare me for what was to lie ahead in the years to come.

By this time I was faced with raising two children, no husband and no job. I thought it couldn't get any worse but it did. One day shortly after Bob's funeral, a little man knocked on my door. He identified himself as being with our insurance company. I let him in.... he sat down and began to explain that "unfortunately because Bob died just four days short of the waiting period for cancer patients, that I would not receive any of the insurance benefit." He was sorry but also said "it is too bad you couldn't have kept him a life a little longer." Gads, the things people will say sometimes.

I realized that I had to go to "Plan B", unfortunately I didn't have one yet. I needed a job, so I began to scour the ads for job opportunities. I found one, applied and got the job, it was in an insurance agency. My mother agreed to watch the children, while I worked. I really liked my new job and it was all working out.

Two months after my husbands death, I was in the bedroom of our home, I heard someone knocking at the door. Before I could get there my little daughter of two and a half, opened the door, thinking it was her Grandfather. Instead, it was a stalker, a man was standing in my living room, I had no idea who he was. He told me he saw my name in the obituaries... and thought we ought to date. I quickly told him, I was very busy that night but could I have his phone number and I would call him later. I wanted him out of the house and away from my children without incident. He was satisfied with that and left. Within a few minutes, a friend of ours stopped... I immediately told of the "unusual visitor" who had just left. He immediately called his friend who was the Sheriff, giving him the mans name. We learned this man had preyed on "young widows" for years and was well known to the police and Sheriff's department. He was warned to stay away from me.

I didn't realize this man had been stalking/watching me for weeks.

He would follow me to work, sit across the street and watch my office, where I went to lunch, etc. Following the Sheriff warning him to leave me alone, he continued to position himself across the street and follow me to the restaurant at lunchtime. He did not approach me after that but it took a few more weeks before he lost interest.

That winter I had everything from frozen pipes in my home to power outages. I was really looking forward to spring. When the beautiful weather arrived, so did tornado season again in Iowa. One day in June, the sky turned black, the wind started to blow, I knew another tornado was coming, I piled my children and dog into the car and droved to my mothers. I pulled into their driveway, lawn chairs, tree branches and debris was blowing everywhere. I stopped the car, put it in park, just then my Stepfather John came running out of the house and yelled "Get the hell out of there". I shoved the car into drive, stepped on the gas, just in time to miss a building blowing over on that spot. This was one night I would have been safer at home.

Nearly a year had passed since Bob's death. My dear friend Peggy, called me saying "why don't you come to dinner next week and this time leave the kids with a sitter." At first I was offended, why didn't she want me to bring the kids? She knew I didn't go anywhere without them. (I was terrified to let them out of my sight after almost losing them in the tornado). But I reluctantly agreed to go to dinner. When I arrived at her house, I was wearing jeans, a shirt....Looking very casual. When Peggy opened the door she shrieked "my God, look at you, we have a man coming here to meet you tonight... get in this house and hurry we have to do you over before he gets here." I said "what you set up a blind date.... Why did you do that... I am not ready to date". She replied "I knew you would say that so I didn't tell you ahead of time."

She took me into her room, opened her closet and said, "pick out an outfit... I will do your hair, (she was a hair dresser)" I hurriedly selected a different outfit, she did my hair and within minutes the door bell rang. There stood her husband, Jim and a friend of his named John Gosch. They had served in the Marine Corp. together and this was my "blind date".

We all managed to get through a nice dinner, the food was good and conversation kept light. After a few hours, I said I needed to get home, so I prepared to go to my car. John asked to walk me to the car. Once we got outside, he asked me for a date the following evening. I looked at him and said "look, I am a widow with two young children, if that scares you... you had better pass". He smiled and said " I already know you are a widow with two small children, Jim and Peg told me. Now would you like to go to dinner with me tomorrow night?" I accepted and that is how my life with John Gosch began.

We dated for over a year and were married in 1967, Johnny was born in 1969. We had built a new home, John had a good job and we had a wonderful little family. I thought we had a happy life but I learned many years later, John had been unfaithful to me multiple numbers of times, while he traveled the country as a salesman.

Only weeks before Johnny's kidnapping, John Gosch phoned me from North Carolina, while on a business trip. He told me he was going to commit suicide. Obviously he did not but from then on things were never the same.... (see John Gosch chapter)

Living with the stress and grief of Johnny's kidnapping, coupled with the increasingly bizarre behavior of my husband. My weight dropped from 115 to 89 pounds. I looked like a walking skeleton. I had to keep going, no matter what.... Johnny's life depended upon it. There was not time to sleep, eat or rest. I was holding down my job, the speaking engagements, fund raisers, public appearances for the coming years. I sometimes wonder where I received the strength to go on. I know the support and prayers of many people had to help but there was also a little voice inside of me telling me.... "don't sit on a pity pot.... Keep moving... you are not the victim... your son is! "

THE SPEAKING TOUR

During the eighteen years Johnny has been missing, I gave over seven hundred speeches to all types of groups, churches, schools, big companies, police departments, open to the public, and private groups. The name of my program was "In Defense of Children", it was an awareness program which gave the "profile of a pedophile". The program explained to both parent and child information to recognize those in our society who would molest a child.

All of the programs were rewarding but there are two, which stand out in my mind.

One night, I was traveling very late from a speaking engagement in Boone, Iowa to Minneapolis. I had to be in Minneapolis early the next morning, I got as far as Mason City and decided to take a break. I pulled in at Hardee's, it was about eleven p.m. The place was packed; it must have been after a game, as the place had loads of kids. I went to the ladies room before ordering food, as I went in there were two teen-age girls putting on their lipstick in the mirror. They glanced at me and went back to primping. I was using the "facilities" when I heard them leave the restroom… just moments later I heard "HEY EVERYONE, GUESS WHO IS IN ON THE TOILET…. NOREEN GOSCH!" I thought … "Oh God, what am I going to do now… there is no back door". I waited a few minutes, collected myself and walked out with my head held high and said "hello folks, how is the food here?"

Sometimes people stare, point or take the time to talk to me. It is something that I had to become accustomed to "living in a fishbowl" due to the enormous press coverage Johnny's case received. I knew it came with the territory but at times it has been uncomfortable. I had given my word to Ken Wooden, I would continue to speak out publically, as an advocate for the protection of children.

I know the work I have done has made a difference, many people have contacted me thanking me for the information I have shared from all the stages. It helped to prevent kidnappings and some sexual abuses to children. Due to my programs the parents and children knew what to look for and what to do, if the child found themselves in a bad situation. Hearing that made it all worth it.

In Garner Iowa, there was a full auditorium, nearly a 1,000 people. The crowd was very receptive to the information; I was talking about the need to "hug your child every day". As I talked I noticed a little boy with big brown eyes in the second row watching every move I made. He had a chocolate bar he was munching; he was about four years old.

After the program, a crowd gathered around me to talk, and this little boy made his way through the crowd to me and wrapped his arms around my legs, he looked up at me and wanted me to pick him up. When I reached down and scooped him up had chocolate on his face…. He threw his arms around me and said, "he knew I didn't have my little boy at home any more to hug me", I was covered with chocolate and didn't care. I just smiled through my tears…. Realizing that this little boy heard what I said and understood … Johnny was gone from our home, let me know I was reaching the little ones. God often speaks through the mouths of babes.

Gosch filmed for Japanese documentary

A Japanese film crew paid a visit to the John and Noreen Gosch home last weekend to film part of a television documentary they are making entitled "America's Missing Children." Seated on the left of the couch is Noreen Gosch, mother of missing newspaper boy Johnny Gosch, being interviewed by interpreter Chris Carniglia of California and Kinio Kurita of Nippon A-V Productions, Tokyo, Japan. A Japanese film crew was in the West Des Moines area last weekend filming the Gosch and Martin families who have each had a teenager kidnapped while delivering newspapers.

The two men are from Nippon A-V Productions in Tokyo, Japan and are accompanied by an interpreter from California since neither of the men speak English.

The television documentary will be entitled "America's Missing Children" and while in the area this weekend, the film crew interviewed and photographed both the Gosch and Martin families in their homes. They had earlier filmed a family on the east coast who also has a missing child and before returning to Japan will film a west coast family whose child is missing.

Through the interpreter, Kunio Kurita said Japan does not have the same problem with kidnapped children as does the United States. In Japan few children are kidnapped and those that are come from wealthy families where they are taken for ransom. They do have problem cases of run away children and children taken in divorce custody cases, as does the United States.

Central Iowans Turn Out To Hear Gosch Story

By ROSE KODET
(T-R Correspondent)

CONRAD — Approximately 400 men, women and children crowded into the BCL High School's 300-seat auditorium Thursday night to hear Noreen Gosch tell about the Sept. 5, 1982, abduction of her son Johnny and explain to both parents and children how they could avoid a similar experience.

The Gosches have been speaking to capacity crowds throughout the Central Iowa area in the past few weeks. Earlier this week, she spoke in Marshalltown and has made other appearances in Hubbard, Zearing, Ackley and Alden.

Future appearances in the area include Nevada on Monday, Ames on April 16 and in New Providence on April 27.

Gosch stated that the type of person who abducts and/or molests children is "not the dirty old man on the corner with a bag of candy. This is 1984 and it's much more sophisticated than that."

With television camera lights blazing and all eyes glued on Gosch, she recounted what she and her

'Forget our son? How dare they?'

WEST DES MOINES, Ia. — Johnny Gosch got up as usual at 5:30 a.m. on Sept. 5, 1982, to deliver his Sunday newspapers. On his way to the paper drop, a man in a car stopped him to ask directions.

Minutes later, a second man on foot approached Johnny from out of the shadows and walked him down the block. A short while later a car door was heard to slam, and a car was seen running a stop sign.

By 6:05 a.m. Johnny was gone. My husand and I were awakened by people who had not received their newspapers. It was then our entire world shattered. Our son was gone — kidnapped. Four witnesses reported the events to us and the police. We found Johnny's wagon full of newspapers on a corner two blocks from our home.

We immediately called the police. Our son was 12 years old. It was the policy of the police department to fill out a report and then wait up to 72 hours to see if the missing child was a runaway. We begged the police chief to act and to bring in extra assistance. He refused, saying he wanted to solve the case himself.

The chief had been investigated six months earlier for negligence and alcoholism on the job. We knew what we were up against. We contacted the media, did interviews, distributed Johnny's picture, posted a reward and called surrounding police departments to be sure they knew about Johnny — only to find that they knew nothing. Our police department had not told them.

We then hired a private investigator. To pay for it we sold candy bars and had garage sales and benefit dances. They say money isn't everything, but it becomes everything when your child is kidnapped.

Noreen Gosch is a secretary, yoga teacher and mother of three.

In this country we have foundations to save baby seals, whales and battleships. But there's no help for missing children and their parents. It is the burden of the parents alone.

Johnny had been entered into the computer as "missing." We struggled for a year to have him reclassified as "abducted" — a vital difference, since it changes the way police pursue leads. Not until another newsboy in our area vanished under the same circumstances was our demand finally granted.

> "We have foundations to save baby seals ... But there's no help for missing children"

But it should have been automatic. We should not have had to beg. The police were negligent. We filed a complaint with the U.S. Justice Department, only to be informed that due to the age of our son, the way police respond is a judgment call; they presume the child is a runaway.

Our son is a victim of a very sick crime. Yet one law enforcement officer had the gall to say to us, "Why don't you have another baby and forget about this whole thing?"

Forget about our son? Forget about finding him? How dare they. He may be alive. For many weeks the police told us, "We have no crime." But we still have no son.

Help for missing children. Illinois State Representative Lane Evans (left), Illinois Congressman Paul Simon (center) and Noreen Gosch of West Des Moines, mother of missing newspaper boy Johnny Gosch, held a press conference last week to announce a new legislative effort to help find missing and abducted children.

Noreen Gosch — In Defense of Children

A crowd estimated at over 1,000 people — part of which is shown in the photo above — packed into the Nevada Junior High Fieldhouse Monday night to hear Noreen Gosch, mother of missing paperboy Johnny Gosch, give a program entitled "In Defense of Children." Gosch told of efforts to strengthen laws concerning missing children, and also gave tips on ways to prevent child abductions. CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE AGENCY ON THE SCENE - 1983

From being a working mother, I was suddenly immersed into the world of James Bond. Before Johnny was kidnapped, I 'd never heard the word pedophile, now I use the word many times a day. A year after my son's disappearance, I was a CIA ASSET.

Within six months of the kidnapping, a young man calling himself Paul Bishop contacted me by phone. He began to tell me that an international kidnapping/pornography ring had taken my son. I asked, "How do you know that to be true, can you prove it!" He replied, " I work for a government agency which is investigating pedophile organizations. And there are indicators in your case that suggests your son was taken by such an organization. We feel he is being used for pornography and prostitution." All clues were pointing to the kidnapping being organized and not that of a "lone criminal". I found it difficult to believe and accept that my son could have been targeted by such an organization. It was only in later years I was to learn the possible reason Johnny was selected.

I didn't know there was an organization like North American Man Boy Love Association or the Rene' Guyeon Society. The first targets little boys, the second little girls. Now most Americans realize that highly connected businessmen, lawyers, judges, politicians and police are involved in pedophile activities. We have only to look at newspapers in our local area to find teachers, clergy, scout leaders, coaches, arrested and charged with child molestation. What we do not see is the important politician, judges etc. charged with similar crimes. These important individuals seem to be above the law. Children who make claims against important people are either dismissed as liars or imprisoned for perjury.

We maintained telephone communication for months, in April of 1983; Paul made the trip to Des Moines. He called me when he arrived and asked that I meet him at Shakey's Pizza Parlor on Hickman Road at noon. Shakey's was an extremely popular restaurant at the time. I arrived at eleven forty five and found only two cars in the parking lot. Strange, I thought to myself.... This lot should have been filled.

As I stepped inside I was as nervous as hell, there sat one young man in a booth, he rose to shake my hand and said "I am Paul Bishop", he stood about six foot three, dark brown eyes, medium brown hair, well built, very handsome face.
I would never have thought that this man would one day call me "Mom". He could not have been more than twenty-three years of age at the time.

We sat down; he lifted to the table a large very worn, brown leather briefcase. I noticed a three ring binder type of book all enclosed by a zipper. To the left of the booth, stood a man, approximately forty years old, looking as though he were standing "at attention" in some type of military pose with his hands clasped behind his back. He didn't speak, nor acknowledge me at all. It felt strained and almost eerie at first because, we were the only people in the establishment. I wondered what I walked into! Who had the clout to take over a popular restaurant and turn away all its regular noontime customers? Why hadn't they chosen a more quiet or isolated setting? They must be very powerful people and wanted me to recognize that fact.

Paul began talking about my son, telling me an international kidnapping/pornography ring took Johnny and that my son was very much alive. He claimed Johnny was being used in pornography, prostitution and perversion. I kept asking him how he knew this, just as I did many times over the months of phone communication, prior to his visit to Des Moines.

It was not until then that Paul Bishop revealed himself as being with the CIA, he claimed he worked as an "Agency Asset", he opened his wallet, producing a government identification card with his photo but it did not say CIA. I looked at it and said "anyone could have one of those made". I told him I had never heard of an Agency Asset. He then began to explain that they are put into situations to gather information, affect certain types of action and they are chosen carefully. He told me he was also known as Robert LaVeck. I remarked that he looked so young and how could he be in that kind of position. He then explained, Assets are people who will blend in to achieve a certain goal. So the Agency will use many people in different walks of life. Today we know the CIA has used clergy, doctors, journalists, and housewives as Agency Assets. I didn't realize that I was about to become one of those assets.

As I sat there listening to all of this, my mind was spinning, so many thoughts were going through my head, how could I trust this person. Who is he really and what was he doing in Des Moines Iowa, talking about my son's case? I just sat there half numb for a long time, trying to gather as much information so I could ask intelligent questions.

He stated, " We wanted your help." I asked, "how can I help you? What does the CIA want with me?" He replied, "We need one stable parent in this situation to act, when directed to speak out to the public as to what happened to your son".

I doubted who he was, I could not grasp why they would want me. To convince me, he carefully unzipped the three ring binder laying on the table. Slowly he rotated it and pushed it across the table to me. It was a complete dossier of my entire family, including those who have died. Noticeably absent was any reference to Johnny's father.... John Gosch. He allowed me to read through these pages, I was amazed and shocked that anyone would or could amass so much information on any one individual and here were pages of it involving my whole family. There were things I had not thought of in twenty years, which were detailed in these documents. I was not only shocked but frightened!

I realized this young man was definitely part of an powerful organization, which has the ability to gather extremely detailed intelligence data on ordinary people. So I listened intently to what he was proposing. He explained that I would be asked to supply information, give frequent press conferences to keep Johnny's story alive, so they could continue to pursue the investigation (supposedly?) He asked to travel, giving presentations about the case and sharing information from private investigative reports. How ironic the local police and the FBI were not interested but the CIA was. He claimed the CIA was in the process of investigating a very large organization, responsible for kidnapping children in our country and internationally (See The Finders). I agreed to assist but wasn't sure what I was agreeing to at that point. However this seemed to be the only game in town.

Paul came to my neighborhood and asked questions of many people in the area, writing everything down in a notebook. After spending a number of days, Paul had concluded his initial assessment and prepared to leave Des Moines. He told me that he had a code name of "Firefox", I was given a phone number to reach him. I later learned the number was at Langley Air Force Base, CIA Headquarters.

For months we continued to be in daily contact by phone, I would telephone him when there would be developments on the case and to report information supplied by our private investigators. Other times, he would call me with directions to release certain information to the media.

All of the information was regarding leads being investigated on the case. Many times I wondered, what is this all for? What purpose is it to share information with the media? He would explain that there was a need to keep Johnny's case alive in the media, otherwise people would forget about it and the case would be buried forever.

Paul began to give me names of people he suspected as being involved in the kidnapping. Some were unfamiliar to me but then he gave names of people living right here in Des Moines— some of them extremely wealthy members of this community. Hearing of local involvement didn't surprise me, I asked him what we were going to do about it, the police were still not willing to explore any aspects of the case. He said he would make another trip to Des Moines in a couple months.

I followed all that I was required to do, many times not really understanding the need. However, each time there was a burst of publicity, more leads would come to us. Everything from "sightings of Johnny" to information about possible suspects. As they would come pouring in, I would in turn give them to our private investigator. Time and money were very necessary to properly follow up on each bit of information. I exhausted myself trying to find ways to raise funds. Parents of a missing child cannot afford the luxury of not checking out everything, one never knows when a piece of information might be the piece of the puzzle which would lead to solving the case.

I had been kept very busy doing speaking engagements, people all over the country wanted to hear the Johnny Gosch Story. My audiences ranged from several hundred people to over three thousand. I traveled every evening of the week, telling the story and sharing safety tips with parents and children. When I began this there was not awareness that children were not safe in their own front yard. But today despite the tremendous awareness of kidnapping children continue to disappear.

Sam Soda, local private investigator called me claiming he had valuable information for me and wanted to meet as soon as possible. He said it concerned " a second kidnapping in Des Moines." I made arrangements to meet him at his office on June 13, 1984. I brought a tape recorder along and placed it on the table.

During this meeting, he shared information that there would be a "second kidnapping in Des Moines". He claimed this came from an informant. The kidnapping was to occur on the second weekend in August, on the South Side of Des Moines and that it would be another paper carrier. I thought it was strange that he would be telling me this and not the police. When I questioned him on this point, he claimed that I should be the one to take the information to the Des Moines Police, as it would be their jurisdiction. I thanked him for the information and left. This was to begin an association with Mr. Soda, which lasted a number of years. Years later, Paul Bonacci who participated in the kidnapping of Johnny identified Sam Soda as the man who brought pictures of Johnny to the kidnappers, in a motel room in West Des Moines, on September 4, 1982, the night before the kidnapping.

I did go to the Des Moines Police Dept., asking if I could play the tape of the meeting with Mr. Soda for them. The person at the desk would not allow me to talk to a Detective, he kept saying if they "felt my information was of importance they would call me". Repeatedly, I told him that I had a tape recording and in a couple of months there would be another paperboy kidnapped. They treated me as though I had lost my mind and they didn't want to be bothered with me.

When I left the Police Dept., I decided to at least talk to the TV station program managers. I did contact each of them and relayed the information, telling them I also had a tape recording of this conversation. I was shocked to find out that even though they listened to me, no one wanted to listen to the tape. I was very uneasy about the whole situation and felt that Mr. Soda had given me important information. I also called Frank Santiago, Des Moines Register reporter who had been assigned to Johnny's story since the beginning. He was the only one who listened to the tape. He verified my story when a police detective lied about my ever bringing the tape in to the police.

I received a call from Karen Burnes, a producer with ABC's 20/20 in July of 1984, asking to present Johnny's story. Plans were made with Karen Burnes for Johnny's Story by 20/20 to be filmed on the second weekend in August.

Paul Bishop returnedto Des Moines, July 31, 1984. It was at this time, he gave me the name of the man who was the "spotter"….in Johnny's kidnapping. Paul explained that a spotter is the person who secures a photo of a victim prior to a kidnapping.

When I heard the name, I said "Paul, you need to listen to this tape recording". He listened…I then told him of my attempts to share the information with the police department and media. Paul was not shocked at what he heard on the tape and paid a visit to Sam Soda, questioning him concerning the source of the information on a second kidnapping. Sam was not too cooperative, became annoyed with Bishop, asking him to leave his office.

Before Paul left he created a very intricate map of the crime scene, indicating time sequence of each aspect of the kidnapping. Paul dated and initialed the map using GPB (George Paul Bishop)

After Paul flew back to Washington, I began to hear from Sam Soda on a regular basis. He wanted to be the investigator for Johnny's case. He asked for a bank account to be set up for him to draw upon for a salary. I explained to him, we already had a private investigator and could not afford another. He continued to attempt to be involved in any way he could on the case. I think that this suggests how intricate are the machinations of those involved in the kidnapping and exploitation of children like Johnny.

I had been working with Senator Grassley from Iowa, he had been particularly helpful in facilitating with the FBI. Many times Paul Bishop would call me from Senator Grassley's office, when finished speaking with me he would hand the phone to one of Grassley's aides who I was familiar with. She informed me there was a Senate Hearing scheduled in August 1984 and I would be invited to testify. A short time later I received my invitation to testify in Washington D.C. before Senator Arlan Specter's Hearing on Organized Crime and its Relationship to Kidnapping.

I was instructed by Senator Grassley's office to Federal Express a copy of my testimony and to carry a copy on the plane when I flew to Washington D.C. In testifying before Congress or State Legislature, you are required to prepare a written presentation of your testimony. Paul Bishop met the plane and escorted me to the hotel. I checked in and then he took me on a tour of Washington, followed by showing me some of the blighted places in D.C. where children as young as ten years old, hang out on the streets late at night. Today it is not safe even on the White House Mall at night.

Later that evening, we spent time going over every word of my testimony. I wanted to be sure that when I presented my information the following morning that it was clear to the committee, "an Organized Pedophile Group" took my son. Again and again I have met with denial on the part of individuals and organizations that any such groups could exist in this country. Paul not only approved of what I had written but was to back me up during the hearing. For my protection two men were posted outside of my hotel room door all night.

Paul Bishop, accompanied by two young men arrived at the hotel the next morning to drive me to the Capitol for the Hearing. As I entered the room, I noted there were reporters everywhere, television, radio, newspaper and magazine. I recognized Ken Lanning of the FBI, I walked towards him, saying, "Hello, I am Noreen Gosch", extending my hand to shake his. He pulled back and said, "We know who you are". With that statement there was a definite chill in the air. It was as though the FBI resented me being asked to testify.

Paul sat beside me at the table as I testified to my knowledge of the slave auctions in the U.S. During my testimony, Senator Specter asked a number of questions about my son's kidnapping and the investigation. I explained the FBI refused to enter the case, because they wanted me to prove my son's life was in danger, the lack of response from the local authorities and the need for private investigators.

There were books made available by the FBI showing children in a mail order type catalog, and offering them for sale. How much more needed to be proven about the existence of organizations national and international that were buying and selling children. This book was spiral bound about seventy five to a hundred black and white pages, with six or seven children's pictures on a page. Below each child's picture was offered details about the child, hair and eye color, weight etc. The question that must be asked is that with this information in the hands of the FBI and the Senate, clearly indicating that an organization capable of not only photographing children around the U.S. but offering them for sale and kidnapping to order, why is this still unknown to the majority of Americans. I have made repeated attempts to obtain copies of this catalog which would prove beyond a shadow of a doubt the existence of an organization or organizations that do buy and sell children.

Senator Specter asked Paul Bishop of his relationship to the case and to me and did he know this to be true. Paul indicated he was an investigator and that every word of my testimony was accurate. At no time did Paul ever identify himself as CIA during the hearing and afterward during the interviews with the Washington Press. He withdrew from the view of the cameras. All attempts on my part to obtain photos from the hearing were unsuccessful.

Following the hearing, I requested from one of the staff members a copy of Mr. Lannings testimony and the pedophile material that was displayed on the table, including the catalog. She asked, " Mrs. Gosch would like a copy of the material presented by Mr. Lanning" she was told by an FBI Agent " This is the property of the FBI and it was acquired from a pedophiles lair, it cannot be given to anyone".

I was appaled with all this material in the hands of the FBI, presented by Ken Lanning to Senator Specters committee and examined by the National media, that there is ever any question today in the year 2000, about the existence of national and international kidnap organizations. Children are a commodity used in TV commercials and magazine ads in a sexually provocatively manner. Is it any wonder that children are no longer safe in our schools because the pedophiles have managed to become their teachers, coaches, and mentoring programs.

It has now been sixteen years since Senator Arlen Specter has been given these materials. To my knowledge, no major report was given to Congress about the growing and influential pedophiles operating throughout the United States. What happened to the new media who immediately surrounded me following the hearing anxious for more details about Johnny? They had the same access to that catalog that I did. Why hasn't it become a major national story? I testified that slave auctions were being held in the U.S. the catalog clearly confirmed my testimony.

I flew immediately back to Des Moines to meet with the crew from ABC 20/20. The following day Karen Burnes and the film crew from 20/20 arrived in town. It was a Saturday and the second weekend in August. They filmed locations around Des Moines and West Des Moines, including the site where Johnny was kidnapped. Later when we arrived back at our home. I decided to share the information regarding a second kidnapping, supposed to occur the following day. I played the tape recording for Karen and shared how I had been to the Des Moines Police Dept., hoping they would at least patrol the paper drop areas on the South Side of Des Moines. I also told her that I had given the information to the News Directors at the local TV stations. She showed great interest in the information.

We finished filming for the day, the crew went to the airport and flew back to New York. Karen announced she was staying over another night.... wanting to see if the "prediction of the second kidnapping" would take place.

The shock of the phone ringing early the next morning with a reporter at the local ABC TV station, telling me "the second kidnapping had just taken place" was like reliving Johnny's kidnapping.

He kept saying "It happened just as you said it would Mrs. Gosch". He also informed me the police were calling it a kidnapping immediately and the FBI were bringing in agents from Quantico, VA to assist in the investigation and search.

The young boy kidnapped was Eugene Martin, a newspaper carrier, preparing to deliver his papers on the South Side of Des Moines. He had only had his paper route three weeks.

In Johnny's case, the FBI refused to enter the case, the reason they verbally gave me in my home was that "they had no crime and it was my responsibility to prove my son's life was in danger". Why now with Eugene Martin's kidnapping under identical circumstances was the FBI coming forward with a bevy of FBI agents.

Based on this phone call alone, I called Karen at the hotel and told her the "second kidnapping had just happened", exactly as Sam Soda had predicted on June 13, 1984. She immediately contacting her network and arranging for a film crew to come back to Des Moines, when the crew arrived, they went to the Des Moines police department.

The police department was in a state of confusion; Karen asked the police chief....Are you bringing in FBI Agents for this case. They didn't for Johnny Gosch? Are you going to use canine search teams? They didn't for Johnny Gosch. Will you do an aerial search? They wouldn't for Johnny Gosch.

The police chief had no comment about the Johnny Gosch case and stated the department would do everything in their power to solve the Martin kidnapping. The police went all out using FBI, SWAT Teams, Canine Searches, and aerial searches but like Johnny, Eugene Martin was probably quickly taken out of the immediate search area. This case was a duplicate of Johnny's kidnapping.

Karen decided to stay Des Moines for several days, interviewing and gathering information on this latest tragedy. The story about Eugene Martin and Johnny appeared immediately on ABC news, a tremendous advantage for any victim of kidnapping.

After the Martin kidnapping, I expected the Des Moines Police Dept, to contact me and want to discuss the information I received from Sam Soda. Despite the fact that my information proved valid the police never asked to listen to the tape.

Instead I was warned not to talk about it to the press and certainly not the Martin family. It was difficult for me to understand how they had the opportunity to prevent the second kidnapping, due to the advanced information and chose to ignore it and me. Instead of listening to the information I tried to give them, I was treated like a "nut" and dismissed. If the newspaper drop points been patrolled Eugene Martin might not have been taken. If the local media had taken action, the police might have been forced to take action. It seems that where the kidnapping of children is concerned neither media or police show much interest.

I can understand how at first someone might think, the information wasn't accurate but when there is a possibility of a childs life at stake. I feel it calls for investigation.I felt terrible that this kidnapping had taken place ... I tried to get the attention of the people here but no one would listen. I took the responsibility and went to the authorities despite the fact I was treated like a nut.

To this day, there are some who refuse to admit that I brought the information. The parties I shared it with... know I am telling the truth and played the tape for them. As for the rest, may God forgive them for ignoring this and allowing another child to be taken from our community.

A few days later, NBC Today Show contacted me, asking if I could get in touch with the Martins, as they had been unsuccessful. It seems the FBI had more or less set up a command post in their home and calls were being screened.

The Today show wanted to interview both the Martins and us the following day. I called the Martin home, an FBI Agent answered the phone, I told him I was Don's sister and wanted to speak to him. The agent handed the phone to Don, Eugene's father. I said "Don, this is not your sister... it is Noreen Gosch.....The Today Show wants us tomorrow.... can you do it." We then made the plans to do the Today show from the local WHO-TV studio in Des Moines, the NBC affiliate.

Sam Soda, in a total reversal began to contact the Des Moines Police telling them that Paul Bishop (my CIA contact) had been in Des Moines a short time before the Martin kidnapping and was somehow involved.

Sam must have bent the ear of some influential people because shortly after ward a Federal Grand Jury Hearing was scheduled and Paul Bishop was subpoenaed to testify. He returned one last time to Des Moines.

Paul was detained at the hearing for hours. Following the hearing Paul took a taxi to my home. While he was sharing the details of the hearing; the phone rang a number of times. It was Sam Soda each time wanting to know if Paul Bishop was there. He became very angry and agitated, when I told him Paul was not there. He claimed he was looking for him and could not find him. We felt it best for Paul to change his travel plans. I made arrangements with friends for Paul to stay the night at their home. He flew back to Washington D.C. a couple of days later. That was last time I saw or spoke with Paul.

Shortly after that visit, Paul Bishop or Robert LaVeck vanished without a trace. Suddenly, the phone number at Langley was no longer working. We have never been able to discover what happened to Paul Bishop.

For some reason Paul always called me "Mom." He was a young person in his twenties and I sometimes wonder, if he had been one of the boys we now know as "lost". Had he been used in some manner by the very element that took my son? Was he sent here to share with me the threads of truth, which would unfold later? Paul gave me the first pieces to this puzzle. He knew things about this case which were revealed and documented years later in 1992. Below is the last communication I had with Paul Bishop, in a letter dated August 3,1985.

PAUL'S FINAL LETTER TO ME

Dear Mom,

Although almost all of our previous communications have occurred over the phone, I felt that just this once maybe a letter would be more appropriate. Even though the active search and related investigations into Johnny's abduction have ground to a standstill., a spark of hope remains burning within me, that one day we can have an answer. Quite frankly and painfully, my personal opinion on Johnny's ultimate fate is that he will or has been murdered. If there truly is a greater power, then I earnestly pray for his intervention and that Johnny is spared

The most difficult task for me personally, has been, to be able to search within for the courage, fortitude and love to be emotionally strong, when you had your periods of crisis, grief, hurt and turmoil. This task was especially tough, since I wanted to convey to you, that I personally cared about you, your other son and daughter, even John without appearing to be one of the jackals examining your personal life under a microscope.

In a final review, you and I with much help from many caring individuals, won many a victory over a system of law enforcement, legal, political and public opinion that just doesn't work. Johnny may be a martyr, but we won. The war goes on, but thanks to you personally, great strides forward have been made.

Never let the bastards get to you and hope that the cup of coffee you pitched at the system never lands. Instead, let it lubricate the wheels and cogs so that future generations can be safer from the horrors of what occurred to your son and family.

My only regret throughout this nightmare is creating an enemy of your husband. I believe that all conditions aside, had he listened to me and received my active personal support...much of the ugly shadows and family disintegration might have been averted. Based on the sketchy information and data, I still think John was molested as a boy, a traumatic experience from which he never fully recovered. When the full impact and realization of his son's situation hit him, John lost himself there for a period of time based on observations, he may be still processing. However, as I have stated, things will never be the same again.

What has always amazed me is the amount of inner strength you have shown during this tragedy, of course, you truly are not of this world & plane of existence. Remember, your family has so much love, care and support to offer you, utilize them when necessary to get you through future dark times. And should you and John be able to re-establish your marriage based on your mutually changed personalities, egos, and talents, draw upon each other's resevoirs.

If when you were growing up you dreamed of a life of adventure, needless to say, you got it. The cost though was way too high.

Please sit down someday with your family, if you will, and explain to them the in's and out's of my involvement, so that they have a better understanding of our relationship.

In the meanwhile, my thoughts and prayers go with you.

Paul

JOHN GOSCH...JOHNNY'S FATHER

I was married to Johnny's father for twenty-six years... In all that time most people think they would know everything about their partner in life. That wasn't the case with... John, he was very silent about a lot of things in his growing up years

John grew up on a farm in Northwest Iowa; he has thirteen brothers and sisters. In school, John was football jock, the whole nine yards.... He was suddenly whisked off to a Seminary to complete his senior year of school. The Crosier Fathers Seminary in Hastings, Nebraska for his senior year.

John claimed to have been thrown out of the seminary somewhere near the end of the senior year... for what I have no clue...but showed up at home one night at dinner time. His sister told me ... "Mom and Dad were very upset to see him come home." Approximately a week later he was off into the Marine corp.

After he returned from the Marine Corp in 1966, I met him through some friends.. Nearly a year had passed since the death of my first husband. I was alone raising two small children.

My dear friend Peggy called me saying " why don't you come to dinner next week and this time leave the kids with a sitter." At first I was offended, why didn't she want me to bring the kids? She knew I didn't go anywhere without them. But I reluctantly agreed to go to dinner. When I arrived at her house, I was wearing jeans, a shirt....Looking very casual. When Peggy opened the door..... she shrieked "my God, look at you, we have a man coming here to meet you tonight... get in this house and hurry we have to do you over before he gets here." I said "WHAT… you set up a blind date? Why did you do that? I am not ready to date". She replied "I knew you would say that so …I didn't tell you ahead of time."

She took me into her room, opened her closet and said, "Pick an outfit… I will do your hair, (she was a hair dresser)". I hurriedly selected a different outfit, she did my hair and within minutes the doorbell rang. Her husband, Jim answered the door, there stood a friend of his named John Gosch. They had served in the Marine Corp. together and this was my "blind date".

We all managed to get through a nice dinner; the food was good and conversation kept light. After a few hours, I said I needed to get home, so I prepared to go to my car. John asked to walk me to the car. Once we got outside, he asked me for a date the following evening. I looked at him and said, "look, I am a widow with two young children, if that scares you… you had better pass". He smiled and said, " I already know you are a widow with two small children, Jim and Peg told me. Now would you like to go to dinner with me tomorrow night?" I accepted and this began my life with John Gosch.

John and I dated about a year then got married. We built a home in Eldridge, Iowa. Most things in our life seemed very normal, just like other people down the block in anywhere USA. We were thrilled when we found out a year later that I was expecting a baby. Everyone was adjusting to our new life together.

Johnny was born on November 12, 1969; he was such a good little guy, just like the other kids were as infants. It was a time of happiness in our lives. Within two years, a job transfer came through for John and we moved our family to Albert Lea, Minnesota. It was a beautiful little town and we loved our home there. We lived close to the lake and it was a very peaceful time in our lives. John's job required some travel, so we adjusted to the new schedule.

Several years later, the company John worked for transferred us to Des Moines. It was a big adjustment for all of the kids, they had started to form close friendships in Minnesota. But everyone adjusted, liked their new schools and found new friends. For years life was pretty calm and normal for the Gosch's. Nothing earth shattering took place. Not until early in 1982…

BEFORE THE KIDNAPPING

A great many strange things began to happen in the months prior to Johnny's kidnapping. John, my husband at that time had never been really a close father to the children, but his treatment of them became not only unfair but also cruel many times. He seemed to have a hatred, which was boiling over into our family life, and he would take it out on the kids. He began to treat my older son, with unkindness and ridicule daily. He was a good kid and had not done anything to deserve this treatment. The same was true with our daughter and Johnny.

June of 1982, John wanted to take our son's Joe and John on a fishing trip, to Lake of the Ozarks in Missouri. He explained, "it might be his last or only opportunity to do so", I thought it was a strange remark. They did go on the trip and it was uneventful. Although after returning from the trip the boys said his depression was really becoming apparent, as though he is operating with another personality, I couldn't understand what was happening to him.

In July of 1982, John left on a business trip to North Carolina, he called me from Raleigh, N.C., one evening and said "I am going to kill myself, I can no longer live with it", then hung up the phone. I was home with the kids in West Des Moines. I had no way to reach him; whenever he traveled he did not give me any kind of itinerary or a way to reach him in the event of an emergency. I telephoned the Raleigh N.C., police department and told them of what had just happened, that he would be staying close to the airport, as he had reservations going out the next morning to return home and that he was driving a rental car. The police located him in a motel and made him phone home to let me know he was fine. When he returned home, he gave no explanation of his words or actions. But rather became very agitated and angry when I asked questions.

August 1982, John insisted on taking Johnny with him on a business trip, they went to Omaha, NE. One of the places they toured was Offutt Air Force Base, which was a highlight for Johnny, as he loved planes. He was so excited as he talked about it when he returned home. It was strange; as Johnny described their trip he could only remember parts of the days he was gone with his father. I attributed it to a young boy only remembering the highlights, which were the airplanes.

Following this business trip, we began to receive hang up phone calls every night, usually about one a.m. or two a.m. John always answered the phone; it was located on his nightstand.

One evening in August, John was late coming home from work, when he arrived, he began to rant and rave that "he was dying and had a terminal illness", he named the doctor who had told him. I called the doctor the following day only to be told that John had not even been in for an appointment, he was not even a patient. When I asked him about it, he denied ever telling me that he was dying. He had said this in front of all three children, they looked at each other and at me ... all of us were puzzled. Again, I couldn’t understand what was going on or producing this unusual behavior.

The end of August came and the kids started school Johnny was enrolled at Indian Hills Junior H.S. It would be his first year there. The first week of school was a short week, as Labor Day Weekend was the first holiday. It was Friday night, the first football game of the season. John, Johnny and I went to the Valley High School Football game. During the game, Johnny asked if he could go to the concession stand to get something to drink. I said “okay” but to come back to the seat afterwards. I waited for a while and he didn’t come back; so I went down to investigate. He was under the bleachers talking to a man in a police uniform. I called him to come back and he did so. After the game was over, we were walking out of the stadium and the same police officer was standing there, Johnny waved to him and then said to me “Mom, I think I would like to be a policeman when I grow up”. We then went home.

The following day, Saturday, Johnny went to a movie in the afternoon with his friend Mark. That evening, my daughter and her boyfriend came from college and I fixed a nice dinner for all. It was so nice to have all of them home at the same time for dinner. After they ate, the kids all were laughing and having such a good time visiting. Johnny jumped up and said, “I need to get to bed”. He wanted to get up early the next morning, to do his paper route. Johnny had a paper route for the Des Moines Register on Sundays and also delivered the evening paper on weeknights. He had been doing the route for a year and had a perfect service award for each month. A record he was proud of… it meant that he had always been on time with deliveries since he took over the route.

The night before the kidnapping, our whole family was home for dinner, which I now call “The Last Supper”, we had a wonderful time together. Johnny got up from the table, looked at the clock and said he had to get to bed. He had to get up early the following morning to do his paper route. Before he left the kitchen Johnny said, “Dad, why don’t you stay home tomorrow, I can do the route alone”! John said, “Well I guess it would be okay!” It worried me, as it was so dark at that hour of the morning they had to start deliveries. So I said, “no, John, our agreement is that you would go with him on Sunday mornings. John finally said, “No, Johnny, wake me in the morning and we will do the route together”.

Johnny gave everyone a hug and went upstairs to bed. A few moments later, he was back in the kitchen standing next to me as I was cleaning up after dinner. He gave me a hug again and said “Mom, I will always love you…. You are the best!” He went to the stairs, looked at me, smiled and then went up to bed. Little did I know at that moment… It would be the last time; I would see my son for nearly fifteen years.

We received a phone call at 1:30 a.m., every Sunday morning from the beginning of August, until September 5th, the morning, Johnny was kidnapped. My husband, John would pick up the phone and say "You've got the wrong number", and hang up. On the morning of the kidnapping, Sept. 5, 1982, at 1:35 am, the phone rang, he answered, I woke up to hear him saying "alright...alright...okay, " then he hung up. I questioned him about the call and he just kept insisting it was a wrong number. He seemed nervous at the time but it was late and I drifted back to sleep, not realizing the worst was about to happen.

Johnny had a paper route for the Des Moines Register on Sundays and weeknights. He had been doing the route for a year and had a perfect service award for each month. A record he was proud of... it meant that he had always been on time with deliveries and since he took over the route.

The next morning our world was blown apart by the phone ringing ... neighbors were complaining they hadn't received their newspapers. I leaped out of bed, ran down to Johnny's room, he was gone. I assumed he was out working on the route and was running late. I thought it strange John was still asleep in bed, as he had told Johnny he would go with him that morning. John got up and said he would go help Johnny. Moments later he returned to the house, his face was ashen... yelling, " call the police, Johnny is gone, his wagon is full of papers at the corner, something has happened to him.

It is said that everyone reacts differently to any situation. I believe that but what I experienced following Johnny's kidnapping.... I was not prepared for at all. Of course, the kidnapping was a tragic blow to all of us that knew and loved Johnny. Personalities are changed by the events that happen in our lives.

Following the kidnapping, there was unbelievable turmoil and chaos at our home. The phone was ringing every ten minutes, our home was transformed into a command post for the searches which were taking place daily. So I guess, I didn't interpret the subtle changes taking place as "red flags". We were all stressed to the max and to just function each day became an "art form".

John began to take issue and argue with every decision, which had to be made concerning the case. It was almost as if he was trying to place obstacles before me and I didn't understand why. Stress, pain and worry seemed the logical answer at first.

Within ten days after the kidnapping, we both had to return to our jobs, taking turns manning the phones at home so that it would be answered 24 hours a day. Life had to return to some kind of organization. John's job involved travel over several states. So much of the time, he was on the road. When I would ask him for an itinerary... phone numbers, motels where he would stay... he told me "no". I certainly didn't understand this at all. We had a kidnapped child and I was left to handle every decision.

I was not able to reach him when things happened and decisions had to be made. Unfortunately, that also placed me before the public doing a "solo act". Soon the rumors and normal talk took place in the city...most of it attacking me for demanding answers on the case. There should have been a more aggressive investigation from day one. Instead, the West Des Moines Police classified Johnny as a "runaway" for several months. I tried and tried to get John to stand with me and go to the police to make changes. He simply would not. Instead he would say he had to go out of town. I then took over and did what had to be done.

I used to hear things like.... Poor John, his son was kidnapped but Noreen is such a "bitch". This used to hurt me tremendously; I couldn't understand why people would make such judgments when I was trying to fight for my son's life.

John began to change very rapidly, he would get up in the middle of the night and prowl... the neighborhood... walking, walking, walking. One day, I received a call from a neighbor telling me to "keep my husband at home". The neighbor went on to say "they had been away from home the previous evening, leaving their seventeen-year-old daughter home alone. John stopped at their home, ringing the doorbell around one a.m. The girl answered the door, he asked if he could come in. She let him in ... feeling sorry for him, thinking he just needed to talk. Once inside the door, John began telling her how much he needed some hugs and kisses. The girl became very upset, irate and told him to leave or she would call her parents. He took off and walked home". My neighbor was furious but said in view of the tragic loss they would not press any charges against him and cause me any further pain. I talked to John about this when he returned home the next day. His comment was "the girl is a slut'. This girls isn't, wasn't and never will be a "slut". She is a wonderful person and I could understand how the mother felt. She had been a friend of mine but that quickly ended the friendship and within three months the family moved from the neighborhood.

After this incident, John was very quiet for a couple days. One morning, I was on my way to work, I had this terrible feeling come over me and knew I needed to go back home. I made a "U-turn" in the middle of Woodland Ave. and drove home as quickly as possible. I walked in through the garage door being very quiet. When I opened the door to the kitchen ... John was seated at the kitchen table loading a pistol. I walked in and asked him if he was "going hunting". He replied, "I can't live with this any longer, the stress is too great, I am going to kill myself today". I thought carefully because I felt he meant it and was going to do it. (I knew if I could make him angry he would momentarily take his focus off the gun) I looked at him and said "Well for the love of God don't shoot yourself in the house and leave the mess for me to clean us...go somewhere else and do it". He said, "you are sure mean, telling me to do it somewhere else". He put the gun down and stood up, walking away from the table. I made a dive for the gun and got it.... Asking him to sit down while I called someone, to talk to him. He surprisingly did as I asked. I called the police department and asked if there was someone, who could come over to assist me by talking to him. They did send a detective. Later the detective told me "John needs counseling".

Later after things had calmed down, I told him in order to survive this we should go to trauma counseling together. He refused, saying he didn't need it. I did seek out a trauma counselor to talk over the things, which were happening. I had one child missing and two other children to think about. One of us had to remain stable and I guess that was me.

Everything and everyone increasingly agitated John. He was cruel to our other children, telling them, he wished the kidnapper had chosen them instead of Johnny. He was horrible to the private investigators, who were working very hard to give us the answers we so desperately needed. Again, I attributed it to stress. WRONG!

There was the obvious need to raise money to pay investigators. It was suggested we sell "Worlds Finest Candy Bars" and I should accept speaking engagements. John threw a fit about the candy bars, although it is a legitimate fundraiser. When I would leave home to travel to speech, he would throw things at me, yelling.... Calling me filthy names. I would think, why wouldn't he help instead of trying to destroy every avenue of progress. I again thought stress was causing him to change so drastically but something else was emerging. John's entire personality would switch.... much like I witnessed years later with Paul Bonacci. Paul suffered from MPD (Multiple Personality Disorder).

Nearly eighteen months had passed, I was still working my job, teaching my Yoga classes, and accepting every speaking engagement offered to me. It was August of 1984, approximately a week after the Eugene Martin kidnapping. We were invited to attend a dinner. We were staying at a motel in Davenport, Iowa, not far from my family home. Things were going well but then someone asked how the case was going and if we had any other children. I looked over at John, he was suddenly playing with his food, looking all around, like a five year old. His whole facial expression had changed again.

I knew we had to get out of there and quick before there was an incident. Each time I had seen that expression on John's face previously, he had caused a scene in our home. I didn't want one in this restaurant. We got outside, were in the car and driving out of the parking lot. Suddenly, he doubled up his fist and began hitting me in the face. I tried to jump from the car to get help, he threw the automatic locks on the car and sped away from the parking lot. Over the course of the next two hours, I thought I was going to die. He drove me around for two hours, stopping the car to beat on me, then speeding up again and driving like a wild man. Finally, I could see a familiar area, I quickly pushed the automatic locks forward, unlocking the doors and jumped from the moving car, rolling into a ditch filled with mud and water. I laid there in the darkness until I heard his car leave the area.

My foot was hurting badly, as I climbed up on the street from the ditch, I had lost one of my shoes. As I was standing alone by the side of the road, a dark colored van pulled up, the door opened and a man took a snapshot of me, using a flash on his camera. They too sped away.

I could see the motel in the distance so I began walking, by now my foot was hurting so badly I knew it had to be broken. When I got to the motel, I walked into the lobby, the desk clerk looked at me strangely, I asked him for the key to my room. He handed it to me; I hobbled down the hall, going into my room. Once inside, I looked in the mirror, I was covered with mud, blood, my face was swollen, my jaw wouldn't come together, and it appeared to be dislocated. I looked down at my foot it was swollen twice it's size and turning blue. I knew I needed some medical attention.

I called my brother, telling him that John had snapped, beat me and I was hurt. He said he would be right over. He arrived with my sister in law and Sam Raley, Scott Country Sheriff's Deputy (now retired). They began asking me lots of questions; within a few minutes there was a knock on the door. Three more of my brothers were standing there, (I have a big family… nine brothers and two sisters), they all came to help me. It was decided, I needed medical attention but they didn't want to take me to the emergency room due to publicity. The reporters would be on it immediately. They contacted a doctor in the area and he agreed to come to the motel to treat my injuries.

The detective stayed for a long time asking questions, made some phone calls to other law enforcement. They caught up with John driving around in the area. I kept telling everyone there that John seemed like he had "snapped into a different personality without warning and he began beating on me". I didn't understand it. (please see the Sheriff's Deputy report later in this chapter)

It was August 1984, just after the kidnapping of Eugene Martin. The publicity was raging about Eugene Martin and Johnny's case. I decided not to add any fuel to it by pressing charges against John. Instead, I contacted my attorney, he talked to John telling him, he would have to move out of the house and leave me alone for a time or I would press charges. He did take up residence for a time at a nearby motel. He could only use the house while I was gone. I had my attorney draw up divorce papers, he did so but also warned me that this was the worst possible time to proceed with such an action. That I should try to wait till the publicity died down, thinking it would be better later. My attorney gave the advice he thought was best but it was the wrong choice for me.... I should have filed for divorce at that time.

John was eventually allowed to return to the house and live. He traveled most of the time, away most of the week. He would only come home to repack his suitcase. Most people thought I was divorced years before I actually filed, because they always saw me alone.

My nine brothers also took him aside and told him to "never hurt their sister again or there would be dire consequences." From that time on John ignored life, our marriage and me. There was no life together. I realized in 1984 the marriage was over.

John became very secretive and made many trips to Lincoln and Omaha Nebraska, spending a lot of time there. Here again, no phone numbers or itinerary was ever furnished to me. I had no way to reach him when he traveled if there was an emergency or anything urgent on Johnny's case.

I was working many hours, still on the speaking circuit, so I tried not to notice his absence. I felt it was probably better in the long run. It wasn't long before, I would get phone calls from men in town, saying, "Keep your husband away from my girlfriend or wife". I received many of them. John had his own life separate and apart from mine.

Johnny's case had come to a very quiet period, not too many leads coming in, my speaking schedule was still very active. Network TV shows continued to invite me to go on and tell Johnny's story. I was doing everything I could to keep the story alive.

I was at work in July of 1991, when a friend called me to say "there is a young man who has confessed to kidnapping Johnny", it is all over the news. I had known about Bonacci for only about a week. I had been told to keep it quiet by Private Investigator Roy Stephens from Omaha, Nebraska. So I was surprised it was all over the news. All the TV stations were reporting it... The FBI came marching through the door of my office to question me. I told them I didn't have much more information than they did and they should check with Mr. Bonacci's attorney, John DeCamp, whom I had never met.

It was upsetting to have it released to the media in this way and the FBI charging into my office. I was anxious to talk to John when he got home from work. He didn't come home that night. Finally around five a.m. he came walking in the door. When I asked, "Where were you all night"? He replied, " It is none of your business." I asked if he had heard the news about Paul Bonacci? He said " Hell yes, I knew about Bonacci... for over two years and didn't tell you"! This was a shock, I had no idea he had been keeping all of this information from me or WHY. Why would a man, a father keep something so important from the mother of their son? I had a thousand questions, which were not being answered. Not by John anyway! I knew in time I would find the answers and that became my focus.

The press went crazy with the news of Bonacci, some believed him, some thought he was a nut. I didn't know what to think because I had never met him. It was several months later, when I was able to go to the prison to interview him myself. I contacted WHO TV and asked them to go along and record it all on film, so there would be a record of anything Bonacci told me.

I asked John to go with me to the prison....HE REFUSED, SAYING HE WAS TOO BUSY! At the time I thought this most odd, strange and it disappointed me...this was about our son.

All the publicity was seen and heard nationally, within a few weeks a call came from America's Most Wanted. They wanted to do Johnny's story and include all the information about Paul Bonacci.

In 1992, America's Most Wanted filmed Johnny's story, this unleashed a great deal of publicity, the case seemed more active than ever before. The hundreds of calls, which were generated, brought us many good leads and information.

There was a very strange outcome of one of the leads, involving John Gosch. The lead was about a man near Sioux City, Iowa, which Paul Bonacci had identified as "Charlie" and a being part of the kidnapping. It seemed Charlie owned the house on a farm, where they took Johnny after he was kidnapped. It was there he was molested repeatedly on film. Charlie's house was a "safe house" so to speak, a "way station" for the kidnapped children. Before they were sold off to their "pedophile buyer/ owners". Many kids had been brought there over the years. Who would suspect in a small town, on a farm?

I worked with the Country Attorney in that part of the state. Surveillance was set up to watch this man. The County Attorney felt they had enough evidence to arrest Charlie. He told me the day they were to make the arrest. During conversation in our home, I told John about the call from the County Attorney and the date for the arrest. I told no one else.

On the day scheduled for the arrest, the County Attorney called me, he was "livid", he was screaming over the phone, "why would your husband deliberately sabotage 10 months of police surveillance work?" I had no answer for him. I asked what he was talking about. He reported " the officers and detectives were in place ready to move into make the arrest, when John drove up, went to the front door, knocked....Charlie answered the door, John said "I am Johnny Gosch's father, I want to talk to you" Discussion followed between John and the man. John then went inside of Charlie's mobile home he kept on the property. Apparently the police had a listening device because they reported to me the conversation between John and Charlie. This was the only warning the Charlie needed and the cover of the investigation was "blown". After John left his home, Charlie packed a bag and took off in his truck for weeks.

I couldn't blame the County Attorney,he had a right to be angry. I was angry too. Why would the father of a kidnapped son, jeopardize, sabotage the only possible arrest we had the opportunity to make in years on this case? At that point in time, it made no sense to me. Needless to say, the County Attorney washed his hands of it and stopped all investigation. Who could blame him on this one? He had been so very kind to me through the whole thing.

At that point, I knew I could no longer stay married to a man, who would deliberately sabotage the investigation. Nothing made sense about the behavior that John was exhibiting. It seemed he wanted to stop the investigation at any cost. I began making my plans to file for divorce.

In 1993, I filed for divorce; never dreaming it would take so long or be so disruptive. The decision to leave was one I thought about for a long time. It is never easy to end a long relationship, partly because of shared memories and living in a routine of life, fear of the unknown. But our life together had deteriorated to the point that it was not a marriage. I could no longer overlook the secrecy, infidelities, beating and finally the sabotage of Johnny's case. I guess that was the last straw for me. None of it made any sense until a few years later.

The divorce was not final until 1995; I continued to work and struggle with Johnny's case, doing it alone as I had for so many years prior, I was just doing it from a different residence. The search and investigation went much slower due to the change in income. I worked extra jobs when ever possible in addition to my regular daytime job in order to have the money to continue the search for Johnny.

I was subjected to more than normal harassment during and following the divorce from John. For a man who didn't want to be a part of the marriage, I couldn't understand why he didn't just "let it and me go". My divorce attorney told me he had never seen anyone try "to destroy another human being with such vengeance in all his years as an attorney." That made me feel great… but he was right. It was during the divorce, all my video tapes and many records on Johnny's case were taken by John out of spite.

Johnny's case had gone for another 10 months without any solid leads of information. I prayed one night that I would be able to know one way or the other if my son was alive or dead. If he was alive, I would find the energy and the money to continue, if he was dead, I wanted to know.

I was invited to go to California to the Leeza Gibbons show, I told them I didn't think I could make the trip this time due to my heavy work schedule, and it was almost Christmas time. They pleaded with me to come back on the show because of the tremendous response there had been when I was on two months earlier. So I agreed. During that show, Leeza asked me to give a special message to Johnny. I looked at the camera and said "Johnny, I know you are alive, contact me, I will help you. I still live in West Des Moines in an apartment. I no longer live in our old house, I am divorced from your father"!

The Leeza Show was about well-known psychics; Dorothy Allison and Cheri Mancuso who work on kidnap cases with police departments. While I was on stage, they were able to give some very accurate predictions about the case. Both ladies were very talented and extremely kind in the way they shared information. Things, which were about to be discovered. Dorothy Allison asked to see me in the dressing room privately. After the show, I met with her and she reported to me "To believe a young man who had confessed in the case, because he was telling the truth and it would later be proven in court. She also warned me to be very careful, because there was a woman "impersonating me" making public appearances. She then told me … Johnny is alive and will appear at your door when you least expect it"!

I flew home after the show, taking the late flight out of California, thinking about the experience, wondering if Johnny heard my message. I accepted what the psychics told me on this show but had my doubts about the "imposter". Little did I know what was ahead for me.

I remember the night as though it were yesterday. I had just come home from a family reunion and unpacked the car; it was March 18, 1997. I had gone to sleep fairly early that night but was awakened by a persistent knocking at the door. When I went to the door and looked out the security glass, I saw him…. it was Johnny. I asked who it was and he answered, "it is me Mom, it is Johnny." At first I thought this…isn't real but as I looked through the glass, I knew it was my son. I opened the door; he came in and gave me a big hug. Johnny told me he saw me on the "Leeza Show" and knew he could come to me and I would help him. (Please see the detailed account of Johnny's visit in "Why Johnny Can't Come Home)

Life changed drastically after Johnny's visit home. I had to find a way to help him bring out this story and at the same time protect him. You will see as you progress in the book the legal steps I took to protect my son and myself.

Within months, I did some more network TV shows. One of them was Inside Edition, they did a fine story and this led to ABC 20/20 calling me to do another update of the story. My long time friend Karen Burnes, a producer for 20/20 was the one to do the show.

After meetings with her in New York, we decided on a film schedule and dates to begin in November of 1997. The ABC crew arrived in Des Moines to begin filming. One of the things they wanted on film was a meeting with John DeCamp, Bonacci's attorney and me. I had never met John DeCamp.

Karen, the producer, the film crew, George and I all met at John DeCamp's office in Lincoln, Nebraska. As we walked in, John DeCamp took my hand and said "Noreen, it is so good to see you again"! I looked him rather puzzled and said, " I have never been here before, I have never met you." Silence fell like a rock.... Everyone looked at one another not knowing what to say. Then everyone looked at me like I had lost my mind.

DeCamp said "well sure you have been here, with your husband, John in 1989, we went out to the prison together to see Paul Bonacci". I repeated again, that I had never been there. He finally called in his assistant and office manger, Jan, saying to her "Jan, didn't John Gosch come here in 1989 and introduce his wife to us, then we went to the prison?" Jan said "yes you sure did but it wasn't this woman (as she pointed towards me)". Needless to say we were all dumfounded. None of us knew what to do or say.

Jan, Decamp's assistant, immediately went to get records they had of all phone calls which came in she kept them by year.... She looked through them and found many entries of a woman also telephoned asking for records on Bonacci, saying it was Noreen Gosch.

Decamp and Jan also remembered John Gosch giving them a phone number in Des Moines for them to use but they were instructed to "NEVER CALL THE GOSCH HOME AND DISTURB NOREEN".

This was just the beginning of the unraveling of yet another part of the mystery of Johnny's kidnapping. Why would John Gosch have an imposter … posing as me? Why would he introduce her as me, take her to the prison, to speeches in Colorado and numerous other public appearances? These were questions none of us could answer.

Reverend Morrow of Lincoln, Nebraska and part of the Nebraska Leadership Foundation did the same thing when introduced to me. He shook my hand saying it "was good to see me again". I had to explain to him I had never met him before.

In a conversation by phone with Dr. Judienne Denson Gerber concerning Bonacci, I said to her " I hope one day we can meet in person". She responded, "Noreen, we did meet in 1989 in Nebraska, you were there with your husband many times. You were in court during the Bonacci hearings years ago". I then had to explain to her that there had been an imposter. She was as shocked as I was when it was discovered.

I was so afraid to meet anyone new, because I thought they would tell me they had met me before. To date there are twenty-five people of importance on Johnny's case and the Franklin Investigation, who all dealt with the "other Noreen Gosch… thinking it was me".

Early on a Sunday morning, I received a phone call from a woman in Omaha Nebraska, saying, " Did you know you have a double"? There had been an article in the Omaha World Herald that morning about Johnny's case and it had my picture. This was my stroke of luck, the woman knew the name of this woman but did not have any idea she was impersonating me.

Once she told me the name of the woman, I began investigating, I found out she had been a private investigator for a short time. I telephoned her former boss and gathered some more information. Another coincidence (or was it) , this woman knew and had worked with a man, John Gosch had secured to interview Paul Bonacci concerning his information about Johnny.

I kept hearing she looked like me from so many people. John DeCamp suggested I call the Secretary of State's office, a friend of John's, and explain the situation. I did… the man was so patient on the phone, he put me in touch with the Private Detective department, where I related the whole story once again. That man told me "this is your lucky day, we keep photographs of everyone who has ever applied for or gotten a license". I will search for it in our archives. If I find it …. I will send it.

In about a week, in the mail came a package containing the photo. Yep…you guessed it! She did look like me. Her hair was styled very similar to the way I wore mine in 1989 ….she looked enough like me to pass for me.

I kept hearing reports about the woman appearing in Colorado giving a speech with John … posing as me. I did a little more digging and eventually found someone who had taken a photo of them together. I am not releasing this woman's name at this point, as it might be a very important at later date, if I decide to take legal action. I am placing the pictures in this section of the book.

It was brought to my attention that John had telephoned ABC, Karen Burnes assistant, and told her not to telephone me any longer because I wasn't able to take the stress. Nothing was farther from the truth, it appeared he wanted to prevent me from discussing the case with the media.

As this all unfolded, I remembered the predictions of the psychic, Dorothy Allison on the Leeza Show, telling me "someone has been impersonating you during this case." Dorothy was right about many things but most certainly about the impersonator.

Other than the absurdity of this whole situation the questions should be asked: Why would anyone impersonate me? What possible reason could there be? What benefit to anyone to have this imposter?

I have not seen John Gosch since the divorce was final... We had attended a friends wedding. He came over to me and said, " I wish I could be more like you". I said, "Why would you want to be like me, you were so mean to me". He replied " You aren't bitter and hateful to people. I know it hurt you when Johnny was taken but you didn't treat other people badly because of it. I did and have destroyed every relationship I ever had". I said to him... " It isn't too late for you to get counseling ... you can still have a life."

In this chapter, it was important to relate certain facts surrounding the case, John and our life together. I have no feelings of bitterness towards him or anyone else. Elements within this chapter are very important to this case. I have spent nearly twenty years of my life putting the pieces together on this case. It is time for it to come out. Johnny deserves that much consideration.

To Whom It May Concern:

My name is Sam L. Raley, I live at 948 Cimaron Drive 52804, Davenport, Iowa. I am a friend of Ron Hesse of davenport, Iowa, the brother of Noreen Gosch. The following is the events of August 17, 1984.

At about 7:45 p.m. Ron Hesse called me at my home and stated the following: Ron's Sister Noreen Gosch had just called him from a motel and was crying and wanted Ron to come right away. She stated that she was at the Ramada Inn on Brady St. in Davenport. Ron knowing I was a law enforcement officer called and asked me to go with him. I asked Ron if his sister had called the police and he said she had. I then said, I would go with him.

Ron picked me up at about 8:00 p.m. and we drove to the motel. At the motel, this is what we found. We went into Noreen's room and she was crying and in a mess, the right side of her face was marked, her right eye was turning black. She had finger bruises on her arms and neck. Her face was bloody, hair messed up. She had blood all over her clothes and many other marks on her body. There was a girl who worked at the motel there with her, her name was not known to me.

Ron asked her who had done this and she stated her husband, John Gosch. By the time we got there, as far as I know, he had left the area. She stated that " he began beating her in the car on the interstate". When he pulled off the interstate, she jumped from the car and landed in the ditch ... then walked back to the Ramada Inn on Brady Street in Davenport and called her brother, Ron.

At approximately 9:00 p.m. the Davenport police arrived. Officer Mike Wyatt Davenport P.D. stated to us they had been busy and therefore there was a delay in responding to the call. The officer took her statement. We left the motel shortly after the Davenport PD arrived, as two other brothers arrived to help her.

JOHNNY DOESN'T LIVE HERE ANYMORE

November 12, 1985, it is my son Johnny's sixteenth birthday. My thoughts of him is stronger on special days. Where is he? What is happening to him? He always loved the excitement of birthdays in the family, especially his own. He would have requested his favorite "German Chocolate Cake... triple layer of course". And always those "relighting candles", that produce so much smoke, it would set off the smoke detector in the hallway.

Just like any young boy today, he would want his drivers license and begin to use the family car just as his friends were doing. Each passing birthday is another reminder of how much of his family's life is missing. What kind of pain and suffering is he going through at the hands of his kidnappers? Would he even know it is his birthday today? I would buy a little gift and card, putting it in his room; in hopes that one-day he would be home with us again.

We kept his room just as he left it with his electronic game sat on the night stand, his bulletin board had all of the perfect service awards from each month he had the paper route. He had thirteen awards in all. On the other side of the room sat all of the models of rockets that he so carefully built. Each time he would earn a little extra money, he would ask to be driven to the hobby shop at the mall, where he would purchase more "rocket supplies". He was very interested in the space program and would buy anything connected to it. With the change he would receive at the store, he would run upstairs to the floral shop and buy a single rose for me. They would wrap it for him and he would have it all tucked behind his back, out of sight, when I would meet him to drive home. Then he would whip it out with a big smile on his face and say, " this is for you, Mom".

From the time Johnny was five years old he would tell everyone that he wanted to be an "architect". People would smile because he was barely able to pronounce it properly and most little children that age didn't know what an architect was or did. He continued with that dream, asking for a drafting table and supplies for Christmas this coming year.

Passing by Johnny's room had both a comforting and painful effect upon me. At times it would be so painful I would have to keep the door closed. Yet at other times, I would go in there and sit quietly praying for inspiration to keep the story alive, not knowing what to do next to try and save his life. I never for one moment believed that Johnny was dead. I felt his presence.

At first we didn't allow anyone in Johnny's room, thinking the police department would want to dust for fingerprints. However, the police chief, Orval Cooney said that they would not be taking prints because it "makes a hell of a mess in the house"! Later, when reporters would ask if they could photograph his room, we then allowed them in for a short time. Many of them would walk out saying they felt something in that room, almost as if they were connected to him in some way. I was not the only one to feel his presence in his room.

I will never forget the reporter who came out of Johnny's room. His face was as white as a sheet; he asked me " Have you noticed anything unusual in that room?" I replied "Like what "? He stammered then said " Electrical shocks were hitting my face and body as I stood in the middle of the room, I have never experienced anything like this before"! That was the first time I knew I was not the only one that felt something in that room.

I had talked to other parents of missing children who were reunited with them. They shared how important it was to buy the gifts and cards so the child would see they were never forgotten on birthdays and holidays. In 1985, the Ankeny Press Citizen newspaper asked me to write a letter to Johnny for his birthday and they would print it. So their readers would be able to understand what it is like to not know where your child is, whether he is alive or dead and face another birthday without him.

I was about to leave the house for an appointment in the afternoon, when the phone rang; it was a woman by the name of Donna Chapel. She is a long time Country Western and Gospel singer. Donna at that time had recorded three albums in Nashville and was planning the release of her fourth album. From her life on the road as a singer, to the dark side of Nashville, to life on the farm, to love of a mother for her child, Donna explained that she expresses her emotions in music just as her family had done for generations. In 1936 Donna's three aunts, the Amburgey Sisters, were pioneers in the country and gospel field with the first all female string bands in history. From the coalfields of Kentucky they rivaled the famed Carter family.

In October of 1985, Donna had made an appearance in Washington D.C. at the Farm Aid program. As she was walking through the airport, she saw a huge picture of Johnny hanging on the wall. It really began to bother her, wondering how she would feel if someone would take her son, almost Johnny's age. After she boarded the plane, she was inspired to write another song, "Johnny Doesn't Live Here Anymore" in tribute to my son Johnny. The song serves as a memorial for all parents who have lost a child and suffered this pain in their lives. She then decided it was time to call and talk to me about the song.

We hit it off immediately on the phone, as she explained how her thoughts and prayers had been with me and how seeing my son's picture in the Washington D.C. airport affected her. She asked, "Could I meet her at one of her performances to hear the song". I made arrangements to meet Donna on November 23, 1985 in Sioux City, Iowa (ironically I learned five years later that this is where Johnny was taken within hours of the kidnapping). She wanted me to hear it before she sang it at the show; this was to be the first time the song was sung publicly. We took a few private moments for her to sing it for me. As I sat listening to the words, I felt heartbreak and comfort. It is difficult to describe how both emotions can be felt at the same time. Donna had captured the feeling of emptiness in our home. He was no longer would coming home after school, saying "Mom what's for supper. No longer bringing me a rose and all the normal things we take for granted on a day-to-day basis

I knew that in a short time the song would be sung again. This time before hundreds of people and it would be difficult to keep my composure. I was touched by the words in the song and also by the love and kindness of Donna. Who was moved to write a tribute to my son. To have people you do not know remember him and do something extraordinary such as this made me feel so very thankful. That night was the beginning of a loving friendship, which has lasted for many years between Donna Chapel and myself.

Since that night, when we met for the first time, Donna has continued to sing Johnny's song at each and every performance throughout the United States. Donna requested a picture of Johnny; I furnished her with a very large framed picture of him. On stage with her at all times is the picture of Johnny on the first day of his paper route. When people see this picture and hear the words to the song there is not a dry eye in the audiences. The song brings a great deal of heartfelt emotion from everyone. Many people can identify with the words and how they might feel if their son or daughter would be taken from them.

The first day of his paper route, we took a picture of Johnny. He of course like most children, did not want his picture taken. Little did we know that this photo would become the "publicity picture" used by all forms of media for years and years following the kidnapping?

As I look at this photo today, I realize that more than half his life has been away from his family and friends. If I had it to do over again, I would have never allowed him to carry the Des Moines Register.

We discussed recording this song in Nashville, how soon the song could be released, as well as the remaining details. This was an area so new to me. Donna made all the arrangements for the recording and traveled to Nashville early in 1986. We kept in touch by phone and letter as to the progress of the recording. We made a decision to present the song in a meeting with our Iowa Governor Terry Branstad, on April 29th, 1986, the release date for the song nationally. Country radio stations all over the country were sent copies; it was received well by the public.

As I travel around the country for speaking engagements, TV and radio interviews I would play this song before each event. It always gave me an uplifting feeling and strength of my resolve to let every man; woman and child know what was happening to the millions of Johnny Gosch's around the world.

Johnny Doesn't Live Here Anymore

v.1: He'd get up before sun-up, throw the news by the door, and that day was no different-like many times before, and his pillow still showed the print of where he laid his head, but now Johnny won't be sleeping in his bed.

v.2: His life had just begun, he had everything to live for, he was slowly turning into a man, his smile would brighten up my day, now that's all taken away, and I know Johnny doesn't live here anymore.

CHORUS: He doesn't live here anymore. He won't walk right
Through that door, and say "Mom, what's for supper", and throw
His books down on the floor. And the hardest part of all, I don't know
Where, I don't know why. We didn't even have the chance to say goodbye.

v.3: As time goes by, I miss him more. Things aren't like they were before. We send our love up to the stars, for they must know just where you are. We'll always wait and love you more, and keep the light on by the door, but now, Johnny doesn't live here anymore. I know my Johnny doesn't live here anymore.

DONNA, ME AND GOVERNOR BRANSTAD
APRIL 29, 1986

Donna Chapel presented the first copy of the song "Johnny Doesn't Live Here" to Governor Branstad. She was inspired to write the song after seeing Johnny's picture at the Washington D.C. airport. Donna still sings Johnny's song at ever performance while holding a large picture of him.

Branstad to seek tougher laws child abuse, kidnapping

By Judy Daubenmier
Gazette Des Moines Bureau

DES MOINES — Strengthening laws to prevent exploitation of children will be a priority of Gov. Terry Branstad during the upcoming legislative session, the governor said Monday.

Branstad said reports of sexually abused or missing children are increasing and must be stemmed.

"These sorts of things are happening all across the country," he said.

"They're happening too often. I believe we need to respond," he said.

Branstad told reporters he is looking at proposals to require background checks of people working in jobs dealing with children, such as in day-care centers.

Branstad also said he is considering legislation to allow the Iowa Department of Public Safety to disseminate information about missing children.

The department is now involved in a lawsuit over its refusal to give the news media names of children who are missing.

Branstad also said he may propose tougher legislation regarding the use of children in pornographic movies.

Gov. Terry Branstad

'We need to respond'

"There's a great deal of concern about children," Branstad said.

"We've had a 100 percent increase in the sexual abuse of children over the last three years in this state. We have two newspaper carriers that are missing and presumed to have been kidnapped. There is great concern about the exploitation of children.

" . . . I intend to make dealing with this issue one of my personal priorities, and one of my recommendations to the Legislature will deal with substantial changes in our state laws to be more effective in improving the safety and security of our children in this state."

The governor said he hoped sympathy for missing Des Moines newspaper carriers Johnny Gosch

The kidnapping of Johnny Gosch is still an unsolved crime. Thanks to the courage and tenacity of his mother, Noreen Gosch, dramatic changes have been made in Iowa law and federal law to help missing and exploited children and their families. It took the "chutzpah" of a Noreen Gosch to accomplish these dramatic changes in public policy. This book tells her story!

Terry E Branstad

....BILL

My Mother told me "when things get so bad.... they have to get better." I would ask her "what time will that happen, Mom?" She was amazing through the kidnapping of Johnny, always a positive support for me. Helping to keep me bolstered with the principles I was raised with my whole life. My Aunt Rita would call me on a regular basis ... telling me "No situation merits a disturbed attitude... you can handle anything that comes to you..." Meaning .... No matter what happens keep a cool head, keep calm, think before acting or speaking. It is true, no matter what situation happens in our life, the situation will always remain the same... it is how we happen to IT that makes the difference".

Trying to live that... is a tall order when your son is kidnapped and you begin to see how the system doesn't work. There were many times when I felt things just couldn't get any worse. Then something would happen which would renew my hope of finding Johnny and getting answers.

In October 1982, a tall man walked into my office, I couldn't believe how much he resembled the actor, Clint Eastwood. I didn't recognize this man and thought he was there to talk to my employer. Instead he pulled out a business card, handed it to me and said "When you get tired of what the police are NOT doing, give me a call, I can help you!" He then turned and walked out of the office. I wasn't exactly sure of what just took place but I put his card in my wallet.

As with a roller coaster ride, the ups and downs come at you fast.... they did on Johnny's case too. I felt I was at the end of my rope one day; the private investigators we hired were trying to do their job. Each time they would be working on a lead, not causing any problems to or for the police. The West Des Moines Police would arrest them ... which would put a temporary stop to the investigation. It appeared to me that it was deliberate. But who am I... just the Mom seeing it all through my eyes.

I finally decided to call this man who offered his help. I had no idea what kind of help or how but I thought "what the heck, I can't lose anything". I called him ...he said "lets have a cup of coffee". I met him after I got off work that day. He was a very kind man, seemed caring and interested in the case. I was so nervous, not knowing what to expect.

He started by explaining " there is a lot you don't know about the kidnapping of your son. He was taken by an organized group, who kidnaps kids for sex and profit. I have a friend, whom I have known for years in business, he is a very powerful man and has offered to help you. " I asked " in what way can he help"? He responded, "You will only be allowed to contact him through me, I will then reach him, relaying to him any request you may have at the time. Unfortunately, we cannot return your son to you, they have him so hidden and we cannot get close to him. What I can offer at this time is information at any time you need it. Protection for you and your family should it be necessary."

I told him I was afraid and didn't have anything in which to give them in return for their help. He then smiled and said "we know that, we know you are struggling, we also know you are getting a bum deal, it is time you had a break." I finally said, "Okay I will be most grateful for any help you can give me." He told me to call him whenever I had a request for information or protection and he would do his best to have an answer for me within twenty-four hours. If I have information for you in the mean time, he would call me and say, "Lets have a cup of coffee".

I call him "Bill", I have never revealed his real name to anyone and never will. I was given help above and beyond my expectations at the time of our first meeting. When I needed information concerning a suspect in Johnny's case I would receive it within a very short time. It seemed they could locate almost anyone.

One time, I needed information on a particular suspect, I had given it to the Police as well. Bill called me back within two hours; it took almost two weeks from the police. One of the detectives from the police department said in front of me "I wish I had her connections and could get information that quickly". I didn't want to know how he they got the info so quickly, I just appreciated getting it.

It might sound small to some people but when the chips were down and there wasn't the ongoing investigation with the Police, I had to take charge using private investigators and use any means possible to get the truth.

Bill's men provided protection for family members and me a number of times when there were death threats made against us. If it hadn't been for their help, I know for certain I would have lost another loved one. I was up against powerful people in this kidnapping and they did not like it that I was pushing for an answer on the case. Most of the time, my family was unaware that I had men posted near them round the clock until situations were stabilized.

I do not know to this day the identity of Bill's friend. Bill once mentioned he was the head of a powerful "family"!

As we progressed through years on the case, I had to call upon Bill many times, each time, I would think... "Well maybe he is getting tired of this and will say ...no this time." But not once was I ever told "no". Instead, I was met with as much cooperation as possible.

When Paul Bonacci surfaced in the news... July 1991...Bill called me and said, "Lets have a cup of coffee". We met... "he told me Paul Bonacci was telling the truth about Johnny's kidnapping , the pedophile/porn ring and people Bonacci named." Bill also named several men from Des Moines involved with the same ring." He warned me to be very careful what I would say publicly concerning Bonacci or local involvement. He then said, "there is a woman who has impersonated you... I want you to wait several months before going to the prison to meet Bonacci." I didn't totally understand his reasoning on that one but I agreed to trust him, as he had been accurate with everything since we first met.

Bill was always there when I needed him, but there were periods of time when the case dormant. As the Bonacci story faded only to be revived by America's Most Wanted, there were times I called Bill to check out pieces of information. Leads coming in from the show.

The one thing Bill kept telling me was.... Johnny is still alive. He has not been killed. He also provided support and strength because there were times the information he had to give me was not exactly pleasant.

On the personal side, a man living in Des Moines got the wild idea to harass me, which he did quite thoroughly. He broke into my apartment, would telephone me up to 40 times a day, keyed my car on 4 occasions. It didn't matter where I parked it. He would find it. The man was a "nut ball" who was operating without any sense of moral judgment. It was finally through "surveillance" which Bill provided ... that I learned the identity of the man. Once I knew who he was, I could give information to the police and they could do something about it. It took approximately another year before there was enough evidence for an arrest.

In 1997, After Johnny had been here to see me, I told no one Johnny had been here, not even Bill. I couldn't and still keep my promise to my son. I knew he was living on an Indian reservation but there are hundreds in the U.S. and Canada. I had been to the Indian College in Lawrence Kansas to get the list. I had planned on contacting each one personally but thought there might be a better way. I called Bill asked him to meet me… I told him Johnny was alive but I didn't know where he was living. Bill suggested I go to WHO TV in Des Moines, ask them to do a "PSA (public service announcement) taped interview" speaking directly to Johnny, to broadcast regionally in the United States. WHO was very helpful, did the promo tape and began broadcasting in the area Bill suggested. Within 48 hours we had a phone call, people recognized Johnny's picture. Bill sent his men in…. Johnny had lived there for a time, worked but moved on to another location… the people either didn't know or wouldn't say.

We then broadcast in the second regional area…. Bingo… we got another call, someone recognized his picture. I called Bill and he sent his men right away. Then the day came….September 18, 1997… Bill called me and said, "Lets have a cup of coffee". His voice sounded different than ever before, I asked, "do you have good news" he replied, "yes I do".

I could hardly wait until it was time to meet him… when I got to the coffee shop, I sat down and said "well what do you have", he smiled and said "we found him, he is okay, safe and working", Bill gave me the name of the Indian reservation where he was living. I told him I wanted to go right away… he cautioned me to wait a little while then we would plan it a bit more carefully. Meanwhile, I would receive a weekly report on Johnny, where he went, who he was with, the times he was at the trading post buying his groceries, I knew my boy was at least safe for the moment.

When It was finally decided that I would go to the reservation and would be meeting Karen Burnes of 20/20, Bill told me to guard what I said to the Police Chief Willie Strong, because he was some how connected to criminal activity. When I arrived at my hotel, the cell phone rang, it was Bill, saying he was glad my trip was safe and he gave me the name of the hotel. If I had ever doubted his ability to watch someone it was removed with that phone call. The visit to the reservation is detailed in other chapters in the book.

I returned home from the trip, Bill agreed to continue a weekly report to me on Johnny's activities. A couple months later, Karen Burnes and the P.I. ABC hired went to the reservation on their own. Bill called demanding to know" Why are they there without you? Why didn't you go with them? Johnny heard some strangers came to the reservation and talked to the Indian Council, he is afraid, he took off. He is on the run now, looking for another safe place to live." This was definitely a "misstep" on the part of ABC to go there without me. It caused Johnny to bolt for safety.

Within a day or two Bonacci called me to tell me the same thing, Johnny was again running for a safe place to live. The best of intentions went wrong. It was certain both Bill and Bonacci were in their own separate ways able to know Johnny's movements.

It was only a short time later; Police Chief Willie Strong was removed concerning drug charges being filed against him. He had been very helpful to me when I was there.

Bill became ill and has died recently, I will be forever grateful to this man who walked into my office ... handing me his card and saying "call me I can help you." Without his help, I would not have had some of the pieces to this puzzle.

When one prays for help... you never know what in what "form" it might be. I have been blessed in many ways during the investigation.... Just the right person at the right time.

ON THE AUCTION BLOCK

Two months after my son was kidnapped, Dennis Whalen, our private detective called, asked me to meet him in a public place. I met him at Village Inn restaurant, in West Des Moines.

Whalen began by telling me that he had "contacts on both sides of the law!" I knew what he meant and didn't ask any further questions. He explained that he received a call indicating there was to be an auction of children. I was shocked this could be happening ... in America. The thought of children being sold on the auction block made me feel sick. As the years passed, I heard again and again that auctions of kidnapped children were being held in many major cities across the country.

I knew from what had already taken place, that my son's kidnapping was not a random act but one of an organized pedophile ring. I later learned that they were international in scope. You will find a chapter in this book called "The Finders" all evidence we have obtained indicates this group is run from Washington D.C. under the sponsorship of the CIA.

I asked how Dennis Whalen how he could smuggle himself into such a slave auction without detection. He explained "his underworld contacts were able to get him as a perspective buyer."

My private investigators took great personal risks to try and find what had happened to Johnny. The preparations to attend this auction were very intricate.

Whalen was told to drive to the old Kansas City Airport, park his vehicle and then walk to the end of one of the runways. He was instructed to wait in the darkness until a small aircraft would land, pick him up and they would be on their way. Whalen wanted to know how much he could bid for Johnny. In other words, how much money could I raise in a hurry. I told him $50,000. He told me he would do his best and be in touch with me. I was instructed not to talk to anyone about it. That if we were able to recover Johnny, I would only be able to report to authorities and media, that I paid a ransom demand with out the assistance of law enforcement.

Whalen drove to Kansas City; I waited nervously for several days until I heard from him again. Finally, one night he came to the house, he reported the following to me:

He boarded a twin-engine turbo prop airplane. He was blindfolded immediately even before take off. He knew only that they were in the air for a long time, approximately two and a half hours. He had no idea what direction they were flying until he overheard the control tower giving landing clearance to the pilot. At that point, he knew they approaching Houston, Texas. Gunderson has also indicated Houston, Texas is one of the locations where slave auctions are held.

He was taken from the plane, put into a car and driven approximately forty-five minutes. When they stopped and his blindfold was taken off, he was outside warehouse type building. He commented it looked like an "industrial park" housing lots of buildings for business and storage. He could see the lights of the city in the distance.

Once inside, he saw a number of men, some looked to be foreign buyers, they were wearing turbans. Soon the children were paraded out on to a stage. The auction began. He looked at the children, noticing how dazed they looked. Each boy was wearing a thin rope around his neck suspending a "number". They were only wearing underwear. All the boys seemed to be between the ages ten to thirteen years old. Johnny was not among them. I later learned from Paul Bonacci, Col. Michael Aquino had purchased Johnny, directly from his kidnappers within two weeks after he was taken.

As Whalen described the auction, I felt sick for a number of reasons:

1. How horrific this was to auction children
2. That Johnny wasn't among them
3. Wishing Johnny had been, so he could have been "bought back"

Whalen's contact told him the auctions take place all over the country; they move them, so as not to be detected. He also reported that a "blue eyed blond 13 year old boy could sell for as high as $50,000". Whalen was not able to go to any more auctions. They had discovered he was not a "real buyer". His cover was blown.

Once I had all of this information, I documented it, but who was I going to tell? I knew that in December of 1982, no one would believe me. I knew at sometime in the future all of the information I was storing, would become very important. I knew that others would eventually stand up to help confirm what is happening to children.

Ted Gunderson, FBI, who has spent more than 20 years investigating crimes against children, at great risk to his own life. He has multiple verifications of the existence of such auctions. He names Las Vegas and Toronto Canada as two other locations for these auctions. He suggested they take place in most major cities in this country.

Dr. Judienne Denson Gerber, Psychiatrist and expert witness on child abuse, also states auctions of this type take place in Baltimore MD. Paul Bonacci has personally attended many such auctions.

October 13, 1990
Report by Robert Hansel to Franklin Credit Union/Investigation
This investigator took over following the mysterious death of Gary Caradori, July 11, 1990.

" At approximately 2:00 PM, this writer proceeded to Donna Owens, (Alisha Owen's mother) residence, at which time, we discussed information regarding Paul Bonacci's diary. It is a synopsis of incidents that occurred to him. One incident took place in September of 1982, an account of a man named Amelio (Emilio), who took Paul to a farmhouse in Iowa and he saw two boys that were locked in a room with no windows and only one door which was bolted shut. One of the boys was approximately nine years old, 4 feet tall, 80 pounds, blonde hair, and one blue eye and one brown eye. He also had a scar on his left leg approximately nine inches long. He also had a mole on his chest. He cried for his mother a lot and according to Paul his name was Mark.

The other boy was approximately 5'5" in height, 130 pounds, blue eyes, and brown hair. The boy was wearing black jogging pants and had a dirty shirt on that had the name of Kim's Academy on it. At that time, Mr. Bonacci asked if this was Kim's Karate, which he never did get an answer. The boy was approximately 13 years of age and he found out later that his name was Johnny and he couldn't recall his last name. The boy was from Des Moines, Iowa. The other boy was from some town in Minnesota possibly.

This information had been circulated around Nebraska, two years before I learned about Bonacci. Caradori out found about Johnny as early as 1989, he called our home and once again John Gosch took the call and didn't tell me. According to the records, I learned Caradori was trying to share information concerning Johnny... they thought it odd that Johnny's mother didn't respond, since I had been so active on the case. It was simple.... I had not been told.

Bonacci declined to go on some of the kidnappings but his (forensically authenticated) diary of 1982-83 indicated that such kidnappings were routine for Emilio. He describes going to another farmhouse in Nebraska where a number of boys were being held, one night two men came and bought two boys.

In the chapter, called the Finders the customs investigator describes finding on the computer an evacuation order to move the children from safe house to safe house before the arrival of investigators. Paul states that warning usually come from "friendly" informants in law enforcement. July 17, 1991, Ted Gunderson on the Jan Michaelson show over WHO Talk Radio Des Moines described it exactly the same way.

There is no way, Paul Bonacci writing in 1982-83 could have known that a customs officer would find the same information on a computer in 1986. We know about it only because Gunderson salvaged reports that were ordered to be destroyed.

Bonacci told me, that in October 1989, he received a letter from "Mike"... telling that Emilio and "Charlie" had gone to "Minnesota to get another kid", It was just a week later Jacob Wetterling was kidnapped. After learning this, I telephoned Patty Wetterling to give her this information. I felt she would want to know and thought it might be something they would want to investigate. She was gracious but wasn't interested in this information at all. I left no stone unturned in Johnny's case. No matter what information came to me, I investigated it. Remembering in my mind the words of a very wise detective who told me... "Just because you don't believe something doesn't mean .... It isn't true".

Repeatedly women have surfaced claiming they were "mind control slaves" of celebrities, politicians and VIP's. Sue Ford, in writing her book "Thanks for the Memories" under the name Brice Taylor, states " Elitists in the market for mind control slaves, attended auctions that appeared at first like children's fashion shows and then progressed to strip tease acts. At this particular show where Bob Hope bought me, there were lots and lots of little girls and boys competing. They said these children were what they called "sponsored", if they were chosen. They said it was better to be chosen early because the sponsors (owners) could mold you the way they wanted you. There was a modeling ramp where all of us children were displayed. I modeled casual clothes, then sophisticated evening clothes, and then sensual/sexual attire and finally appeared totally naked.

I won first place at this show and was sold to Bob Hope on the open market. They put a white cape around my naked body and Bob Hope came up and stood with me, while everyone in the audience cheered."

How many thousands of children writing their stories will it take before we believe?

Perhaps the man, who has heard more sad stories from children, Father Bruce Ritter, founder of Covenant House in New York. A refuge for street kids. Covenant House began as a one-man operation in 1972 and continues yet today with branches all over the country. In his book, "Sometimes God Has A Kid's Face", Ritter describes, a young man who hitchhiked across the country to tell him that he, "Mark", had been sold to a "Fortune Five Hundred Company."

Mark described how at fourteen he was a throwaway kid. "I ran away when I was fourteen, my mother and father were alcoholics. I met this guy he gave me a lot of affection and a place to live. I needed the affection real bad. He taught me a lot about sex and I guess, he put me to work. I was young and pretty, so he sent me out to my customers dressed like a girl – transvestite. I lived with fourteen other boys in this big house. We were all pretty young and pretty scared; he made us all watch, a kid get beaten with a wire hanger. It was bad. That is what happened when you tried to leave. The next time you are dead.

When I turned seventeen and got some muscles, and my beard began to grow, I went butch... they made me join another group ... Man–to- Man... It was a "call service," pretty high-class customers.

Then the Fortune Five Hundred Company bought him. Ritter states, " You would recognize the name"

Mark continued, " I had a company car and an apartment and took care of corporate clients. They would fly me all over the country. The Corporation had a representative that would take a portfolio of the kids in their stable, both boys and girls to their clients. We didn't have any clothes on in the photographs. The clients could pick anyone they wanted."

Mark told Ritter that he had hitchhiked halfway across the country so he couldn't be traced. The next morning he had disappeared.

Ritter comments in his book, that there was a club near Time Square, where children could be bought anytime for drugs, for guns or for money.

In Readers Digest, October 1993, an article titled " Asia's Shocking Secrets" describes how men who want to have sex with children while traveling in foreign countries..... Are facilitated by top NAMBLA members in making arrangements to have a little boy or girl for their pleasure. NAMBLA was making the same arrangements within the United States for pedophiles but at a much higher price.

Johnny was considered the "Golden Boy or Celebrity Boy" due to all the publicity which circulated about him. This unfortunate title given to him, meant his captors could get more money for his services but it was also a reason to keep him alive.

UNESCO in recent reports sites AIDS, as a major contributor to the increasing number of children who are being sold into slavery world-wide for sexual purposes. The molesters of children consider them to be safer than prostitutes on the streets, since they would have little or no sexual experience prior to being kidnapped into slavery.

Why do parents have to plead for investigations of their missing children on talk shows?

THE FRANKLIN COVER-UP

On Jan 10, 1989, the Nebraska State Legislature created the Franklin Investigative Committee. It's chairman is Senator Loran Schmit, good friend of John De Camp, who was to play a major role in the Franklin Investigation.

As fellow Republicans, they had worked together in the Legislature, after DeCamp left; he became Loren Schmit's lawyer, business partner in developing and selling farmland around Lincoln. Schmit had earlier closed his ears to stories (rumors really about children being abused). It didn't fall within the purview of his investigations.

It turned out to be more than a simple investigation of another mismanaged savings and loan. In the end there would be evidence of Iran/Contra Money Laundering and an organization called the North American Man Boy Love Association, who put five million in the credit union as the nonprofit Church of the Beloved Disciple.

In early February 1989, Senator Schmit, received an intimidating phone call from Omaha Chief of Police Robert Wadman saying "I've got something on all of you," less than a month after the committee was formed. He states other phone calls followed all suggesting he shut down the committee,

When Schmit met with King on February 19th, 1989, King seemed more interested in warning Schmit he had powerful friends than discussing the failed credit union. King said "Harold Anderson, publisher of the Omaha World Herald called him all the time." He stated: "A large number of blacks in the Omaha Police Department and the FBI are related to him. And that Omaha Chief of Police Wadman was "a dear friend", whom he had offered the use of his Washington D.C. house. Wadman later denied knowing King

Loren Schmit said when he first heard the allegations of child sexual abuse connected to the Franklin Credit Union, he dismissed them.

"My job is to follow the money!" he declared, dismissing the other matters. His job he said was to find out for members of the black community in Omaha, what happened to their money and their credit union, which Larry King ran.

His early statements about following the money were misinterpreted by Foster Care, other organizations and individuals as a declaration that he was abandoning the children. It raised a firestorm of protest and he went to see John DeCamp. They both were to be discredited in a relentless campaign by the news media.

Schmit is an old time farmer and crop duster who came late in life to the Legislature and served 21 years before he was unceremoniously dumped. On Aug 21, 1989, he hired Gary Caradori, as Chief Investigator for the Franklin Committee. Because of his decision Schmit was once more threatened and within a short time the deaths began.

On November 4, 1989, Kathleen Sorensen died in a car accident on the way home from filming the second episode of two Cable Access programs that dealt with her uncovering the satanic abuse of her foster children. Although Geraldo Riviera did a two part series on Satanism in America. The program singled out the Omaha area as one of the centers for Satanism. Sorensen was one of the guests on Geraldo's program. Geraldo has since refused to do any further programs on Satanism.

A few courageous individuals like Kathleen Sorensen took their complaints to Foster Care, which were being ignored by the Attorney General Robert Spire. Foster Care Director, Carol Stitt, stated in "Conspiracy of Silence" that she put a "foot high pile of documents before the Attorney General".

An informant later claimed that the car accident, which killed Sorensen, had been pre-arranged with a satanic suicide driver. (See Gunderson Chapter). It is almost impossible to prove an auto accident was deliberately caused yet it offers often a sure fire way of getting rid of the problem. (See Rusty Chapter)

A little more than a month, after the death of Kathleen Sorenson, Caradori began the first of a series of interviews with kids regarding sexual abuse on the part of Larry King and others. Sexual abuse and satanic activity were intimately involved as was the military and the FBI.

On December 27, 1989 videotaped testimony was given to the Attorney General Robert Spire and U.S. Attorney Ron Lahners. On the same day, John De Camp accompanied Loren Scmit, at Schmit's insistence to the office of the FBI.

From "The Franklin Cover-up" DeCamp says; "I agreed to go, but on the condition that he first meet one-on-one with the regional head of the FBI, Nick O'Hara.

He did meet with O'Hara for about one hour. Then I was called into the room. It was only at that time, through discussion, that I learned that the individual in question was former Omaha, Police Chief Robert Wadman.

In brutal language and with the most somber demeanor possible, O'Hara made it clear that probably his closest friend in the world was Police Chief Robert Wadman, and anyone who would dare to accuse Robert Wadman of impropriety had better realize that in accusing Wadman, they were effectively taking on Nick O'Hara and the FBI.

When we left the FBI offices, I said to Senator Schmit "Wow, did I make a mistake. Anybody who dares to investigate this is going to get him or her buried by the FBI, if they start making any accusations against Wadman or anybody associated with him. "

I had no idea how prophetic those words were (Curator's death is linked to the FBI). See Rusty Chapter

On January 18, 1990, Decamp wrote a memo to World Herald Reporter Bob Dorr. In it, he mentions the papers Publisher Harold Anderson, Larry King, former Omaha Police Chief Robert Wadman, OWH Reporter Peter Citron, and Alan Baer as central figures in the Franklin Investigation.

Schmit found that the tapes Caradori had made which were given to the FBI had been leaked to the News Media. Pam Vuchetich, attorney for Alisha Owens one of the witness on the tapes turns confidential information over to the FBI, and compromises her client's position by making statements to the press. It was reported, she was having an affair with FBI Agent Mickey Mott.

The FBI Agent in charge claimed, "Stories of Child Abuse do not stand up to our scrutiny".

Less than a month later, a U.S. Magistrate Richard Kopf orders a "mental evaluation" of Lawrence E. King Jr. On March 29,1990, King is ruled incompetent to stand trial.

The next day, the media carried a story that two of the male victim witnesses failed a FBI lie detector test. No tests were ever taken by them. The following month, Troy Boner openly recants his testimony. On April 22, 1990, a World Herald article talks about the young people manufacturing "a carefully crafted hoax".

On May 15, 1990, former Omaha World Herald Entertainment Columnist, Peter Citron, found guilty on two counts of sexual assault of a child. Less than a month, before Omaha Mayor Morgan testified before a Douglas County Grand Jury that he was "outraged" at accusations that he had attended parties.

FBI begins harassment of Senator Loren Schmit's eighty-eight year old blind mother, Accuses Schmit of having mob connections.

From "The Franklin Cover-up"

"It was only after Caradori's first tapes had been turned over to law enforcement agencies, that leaks of what was on them began reaching the public and became the subject of widespread discussion. Articles began to appear in the Omaha World Herald aimed to discredit the witnesses and intimidate any other potential child victim-witnesses from testifying or coming foreword with information.

As the stories proliferated, Gary Caradori expressed to Senator Schmit his concern for the safety of the victim-witnesses who allowed them to be taped. Schmidt sought DeCamp's legal advice again."

Schmit stated: "These kids need protection or they are going to end up dead, or become afraid to continue to tell the truth. The committee has to do something to guarantee their protection."

The Legislature did not succeed in protecting children that came to them to plead for help in prosecuting their sexual abusers. Alisha Owens, who would not back down on the sexual abuse charges, received up to 25 years in prison on nine counts of perjury. Former Senator DeCamp made it clear that this was a gross violation of her constitutional rights.

The Legislative report agreed that indeed Satanism did exist in Nebraska and yes, they did use and abuse children and adults. In the satanic chapter it states that 100% of those involved in Satanism were also involved in drugs.

The Franklin report states: The most frightening thing about cult (satanic) abuse is the tendency to pass perversions, aberrations, and other psychic and physical injuries on to the children"

The report quotes an opinion of the US Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit, in upholding a drug dealer's life sentence without parole.

> Except in rare cases, the murderer's red hand falls on one victim. Only, however grim the blow: but the foul hand of the drug dealer. Blights life after life and like the vampire of fable, creates others in its owner's evil image—others who creates others still, across the land and down our generations, sparing not even the unborn.
> Terrebone v, Butler, 848 F.2d 500, 504 (5th Cir. 1988) (en banc),

The report then launches into a discussion of Satanism, as it exists in the country "The purpose of this report is not to deny people the right to worship Satan if they so desire. The purpose of the report is to discuss some of the problems that may be concomitant with Satanism, some of the indicia of satanic abuse, and some of the dangers that may arise in connection with satanic worship. Law enforcement personnel frequently respond to homicides, child abuse, arson, and other criminal activities that are done in connection with satanic activities...." How very different is this from the report of Ken Lanning of the FBI Web site claiming there is no criminal activity associated with Satanism.. A comparison between his theories and the facts are to be found in the chapter on Satanism.

The sad result of this report is that there were none. Despite the recommendations of Dr Judianne Densen-Gerber, psyciatrist and lawyer, Lee Orr, Kansas City Homicide Detective and Ted Gunderson, FBI Retired . Despite the death of Gary Caradori, the Legislature's Chief Investigator and of Kathleen Sorenson, a foster parent, who testified to the satanic rituals and murders her children had been involved in. Nothing was done.

Dr. Desen Gerber admonished the Committee: "I know that there have been extraordinary pressures on both the Committee as a whole and on individuals. I know the type of power that has been brought to bear. So I am not here to in any way criticize the Committee. I want to say one thing. I would not want the Committee to disband. I think that it is not in the best interests of the average Nebraska citizen ...I would also not want the material turned over to any other Committee, because it takes two to three years for the average person to get through the automatic denial that goes along with this kind of material.... I've got documents and I've got cases and I've got police that can tell you these are the things they've seen". She stated that Bonacci had witnessed or participated in five satanic sacrifices four in Nebraska and one in California. That he had performed necrophilia by having sexual intercourse with a dead child on film. He said there were two doctors present, who worked with the cult. She warned of increasing AIDS especially in younger children and stated that Bonacci also belonged to a Nazi cult. All cult sites usually show some homage or salute to Hitler.

The Franklin Investigation came to an ignominious end. The report issued from this investigation indicated that much more could and should have been done. But those involved were too important to be brought down by the rape and in some cases murder of children.

The report is entitled "Cult Abuse and the Safety of Children" unfortunately it went nowhere, not the FBI, not the Governor, not the Attorney General acted on its proven points. Information was given to various members of the Iowa Legislature, even while the investigation was going on. This information including reports from the police and others, indicated the same things were going on in Iowa as well. All information was ignored, completely unacknowledged.

Franklin Investigation Final Report:

"The Franklin investigation proceeded in ways that were at times surprising to the Committee members and their counsel. From the outset, members of the Committee, and various people acting as counsel or investigator to the Committee, were often thwarted in our attempts to gain information directly from the principle parties involved in the Franklin failure. There were individuals who, on the advice of counsel, would not communicate with the Franklin Committee at all. There were various agencies of a fact gathering variety, who felt free to pick and choose among the Franklin files as to what they did or did not wish to use, or follow up on, but who determined that the flow of information would be so one-sided. In view of these obstacles, it is perhaps surprising that the Franklin committee amassed the pure quantity of information that we did.

Although the Legislature had given the Franklin Committee a broad mandate as to activities that were to be investigated, it was finally the public that largely determined our agenda.

There were many people in the State, who believed that the Franklin Committee would provide their last resort, or perhaps their only opportunity, to discuss matters that concerned them.

It was, finally, citizens who came forward with the hope of giving or receiving assistance, which determined what, was and was not "Franklin related."

One of the issues that various citizens brought forward again and again was the matter of ritual abuse. People were concerned about cults, and the possible danger that could arise in connection with various cults.

There were witnesses, who claimed to have been victimized by unlawful activity, and there were other witnesses, who were concerned about what appears to be the proliferation of harmful cult activity throughout the country in general, and in Nebraska in particular.

The initial response to allegations regarding occult behavior is of course one of disbelief.

In a recent case in San Francisco, a pentagram had been carved in the victim's chest, and his body had partially been drained of blood during a ritual. Candle-wax dropping were found in his right eye. During closing arguments, prosecutor Paul Cummings described the proceeding as a "voyage into an underworld we don't want to admit exists in our society."

The report goes on to discuss a satanic cult uncovered in 1986 in Rulo, Nebraska. During the trial counsel brought in a witness named Priscilla Coates, from New York, who represented the Citizens Freedom Foundation, a support group of former cult members.

Continuing the report "She describes cults as destructive groups that are a problem on an international basis. She testified extensively about cults, and other destructive groups, (including Jonestown), in which children were constantly abused for purposes of cult discipline. She testified that she had information on cults encouraging people to commit numerous crimes ranging from prostitution to theft to selling drugs.

She stated that information regarding Rulo, in terms of forcing cult members to have sexual relations with their children and with each other, was not uncommon, and that bestiality (making people have sex with animals) was also not uncommon.

The members of the Committee are fully aware of the fact that people do not want to hear about cult activity, and are fully aware of the fact that to discuss Satanists is to risk being the subject of ridicule and even hostility.

The various horrifying experiences of the people at Rulo need not be set forth in this report...

The main concern of people who have been in contact with the Committee has been ritualistic abuse of children. Child abuse is intolerable both from the standpoint of the law, and from the standpoint of society in general. The problem with ritualistic child abuse is that many times it is difficult for children to communicate what has happened to them....

Our society is admirably aware of the problems of sexual abuse of children, and frequently a parent or professional will be on the lookout for evidence of child sexual abuse, but ritual abuse is almost never suspected, and often becomes apparent only after children act out, and discuss bizarre activities. Children will sometimes speak of people in scary costumes, make references to body painting, or have unusual bruise patterns on their bodies. Such children often play in an aggressive, sadistic way, and are destructive and intent in hurting of other children. Abused children often act out mutilation on their toys, threaten other children in bizarre and shocking ways, engage in play that is not appropriate to their age or normal experience of children that age.

Loren Schmit echoed the words of William Colby, former director of the CIA, when he said; "Children have been harmed and even killed, but too many important people are involved and "My God, I think they are going to get away with it!"

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR LEGISLATION

Sadly the warnings given to Senator Loren Schmit would be carried out (See Conspiracy of Silence video transcript). The Committee was shut down literally around him. He was removed from posts on other committees that he had been on for years.

Even more sadly the deaths that occurred before, during and after the investigation would go unpunished. (The Report issued by the Legislature cited Dr Judienne Densen-Gerber, lawyer and psychiatrist who examined Paul Bonacci.) She reported the association of Satanism to multiple personalities, and Satanists who are involved with cannibalism.

It also states "It is instructive to hear of some of Mr. Orr's experiences". (A Kansas City, Kansas homicide detective), who had been investigating satanic homicides around the Midwest. The report matter-of-factly states: "He once met the leader of a cult that believed that the power of ever lasting life was gain by consuming the internal organs of dead people"

This document that was never widely circulated...certainly not reported on by the Nebraska news media has a chilling effect because of the apathetic manner in which it presents, human sacrifice, blood drinking, cannibalism, mother, child, and baby sacrifice.

Dr Densen-Gerber told of the Antichrist cults, that are the more vicious because they contain breeder mothers, who have been "married to Satan", between the age of 8 and 13, and in which the young girl is tied to an altar, and a man dressed as the devil would rape the child, and there are numerous other disgusting practices such as blood letting, and the fetal Eucharist.

Dr Densen-Gerber's recommended satanic investigative teams inside the police departments of Nebraska and the Nebraska State Troopers. To deal with child sexual abuse, child pornography, child trafficking (euphemism for kidnap/slavery), and the use of illegal drugs by underage persons."

Nothing in the report would indicate this abominable conduct was being done by important politicians, businessmen and military both in Nebraska and Washington D.C.

Nothing in this report was ever acted upon by the Nebraska Legislature, no laws were passed.

Paul Bonacci

AMERICA'S MOST WANTED

PAUL BONACCI

If Paul Bonacci were your child, you would shrink in horror to hear what he has gone thru since the age of three. I can tell you that Johnny Gosch went thru some of the same tortures by the same men who tortured Paul.

If you have not seen that Hollywood movie 8 MM, then you cannot begin to understand what is going on in Iowa, America and the World. The movie is about a detective who is hired by the wife of a dead millionaire because his wife has found a film locked in his secret safe after his death. All she wants the detective to do is find out if the murder of a young girl is faked or real. Money is no object the widow says. He swims in the sewers of porno stores—pays $5,000 for a fake "snuff film" but eventually he finds the girls mother and the one who killed her. They kill his friend, burn the film and try to kill him. He escapes tells the widow it was real, she commits suicide and now he has no proof that the film exists, so in true Hollywood fashion he finds and kills the "snuff film" makers.

That was Hollywood and now the truth. The above film 8MM can be found in any video store, but so can "snuff films" There is a series of films called "Faces of Death." A part of the film was shown by Kansas City Homicide Detective E. Lee Orr at their meeting in Lincoln, Nebraska. A hundred and fifty members of the audience recoiled in horror at what they saw—a documentary of a Satanic cult from California who cuts open and eats the heart and liver of a young girl who has supposedly just committed suicide for the benefit of the ceremony.

This film was available in video store after video store all across America. According to Lee Orr this video documentary is a prime indicator that satanic activity is in the area. Orr spent the final five years of 25 years on the Kansas City police force investigating satanic homicides. He was amazed at how many satanic homicides he investigated that were later called drug related homicides.

You will learn here in these pages that Paul Bonacci participated in the making of snuff films in which the other child was killed. Paul Bonacci claims to have been with the head of the North American Man Boy Love Association in New York City and that he was sent frequently to Washington D.C. to warm Congressmen Barney Franks bed. He also participated in satanic cult human sacrifice, but refused to eat the eyes, according to Dr Judi-Anne Densen-Gerber, psychiatrist. Gerber specializes in NAMBLA and Satanism, and was brought to Nebraska by the Nebraska Legislature to determine if he was a Multiple Personality and if he was telling the truth. Densen-Gerber wrote a special report to the Nebraska Legislature in which she found him entirely credible and incapable of lying. She also stated that as a much abused multiple personality he belonged in treatment not in jail. Yet her expert testimony and the effort of his lawyer John DeCamp did not succeed in getting him freed. It would be years before Paul Bonacci was finally released.

Paul Anthony Bonacci was born on August 3, 1967 to Marilyn May and John Angelo Bonacci. The father was of Italian decent. Bonacci's parents were divorced while he was but a baby. His father never claimed him until he was almost 19, Bonacci's mother remarried, but it didn't last long. She divorced soon afterwards because of physical abuse by her new husband. She then married Jack McCoy, who treated her with love, honor and respect. Paul loved his new stepfather, but was, mysteriously never able to tell him. Bonacci remembers when he was four years old and his mother would go to work, he would try to follow to the bus stop. Bonacci recalled a couple up the street who gave him cookies. "A weird guy lived close to us who would take me home, too, but he started to harm me," Bonacci recalled. Down in the "weird neighbor's" basement Bonacci saw a wooden altar. Then Bonacci recalled a hideous, but vivid memory. "He had this little boy that was down there. He was probably about 2 years old, and I was about 4. He made me have sex with the boy. And as I was doing it, he started cutting the boy. He was telling me that he was putting the boy's spirit in me and then afterwards he told me that the boy wasn't really hurt, and that it was all just a game. That's how Alec was formed because Alec is only about two years old and doesn't talk or speak. He's a baby person. He kind of represents the boy that was killed.

When Paul speaks of Alec, he is describing only one of many "personalities" that live inside him. Paul Bonacci has been diagnosed as having multiple personality disorder.

Paul continued to recall the horrible tale: "He took the boy's skin off and then put it on me. That's why I want to take five or six showers per day. I'm washing my hands but I can't get the blood off. I always see it. It's right there!

When Bonacci was 5, he was molested by a baby sitter. When he was 6, he had a friend named Jeremy (a pseudonym) who was 13. Jeremy took Bonacci to his fort where they played a game called "truth or dare' (just like in the new Madonna movie). One thing led to another and they ended up performing fellatio on each other. At age 7,Jeremy introduced Bonacci to anal sex. Bonacci was small and Jeremy protected him from other boys, so Bonacci considered him like a big brother. Jeremy told Bonacci not to tell anyone and he didn't – not for a long time. He did finally ask his best friends mother about it, but she said it was normal and not to worry about it.

In the latter part of 1975, when he was 8, Bonacci started going with a friend after school to Sacred Heart Church. He recalls, "Even though I was not a Catholic, my friend introduced me to the priest. My friend only called him "Father."

In February of 1976, Bonacci went to the church around Valentines' Day. "The priest took me into a room where he began to play with me and said I was very pretty for a little boy. He kissed me on my cheeks and lips and told me it was a blessing to have a priest kiss you. He told me to come back the next day and he'd show me something real nice.,"

"The next day I came back again he took me into the room. As far as I could tell, he and I were the only ones in the church. He had a collection of football cards, which he said his father had given him as a kid. Most of the cards were real old. While looking at them, he came up behind my chair and put his arms around me. He then started undoing my pants. At first I told him not to do that. He told me I would go to hell if he didn't touch me and bless my whole body. I was scared and couldn't say anything. He picked me up out of the chair and began to pull down my pants and my underwear. He then laid me on the table and began to fondle my little penis. Then he kissed me and licked my penis, saying he was blessing me. I left when he finally let me go. I asked my friend if the priest ever did that to him. He told me the priest did it to him 10 times and that, " it's his way of blessing you!

"I was again molested by this priest who did the same thing to me on at least two dozen different meetings. This is the main reason for my dislike of the Catholic Church. I have been sexually molested by at least 10 other fathers or brothers in the Catholic Church.

"About July 4 of 1976, I met a man named Walter Carlson, while in Hanscom Park in Omaha. My family was having a picnic or reunion. I was by myself near the tires when he and two boys came over and began talking to me and asking questions. We played for a while and when he got ready to leave, he asked me if I'd like to come to his house sometime and play with his nephews. I said yes. I gave him my address and phone number."

"When I first went over, I played games with other boys who were there. This went on for several weeks,. All we'd do is play games or watch cartoons. Some of the boys were sexual with each other and with me, which didn't bother me since we were all kids.

"After awhile he started showing regular movies to us. Then the movies started having men and women engaging in sexual activity. Within six months, it was movies with adult men and boys engaging in sex. It was then that Carlson began touching me, at first on the outside of my clothes, then he undid my pants and fondled me and put his mouth on my penis! He also had me perform oral sex on him. He had us performing anal sex on one another while he watched or took photos of us."

Bonacci's recollections continue, "It was through Walter Carlson I met about two dozen other adult men, many of whom I knew by first names although some only by nicknames. Carlson also asked me to perform sexual acts with other boys and men for several men, who filmed the sex and sold the photos as kiddie porn."

"I honestly never learned the last names of all the boys I was with. Most of them were older than me and had been involved for several years more than me. Carlson and several men referred to us as pets and used us any way they wanted to use us. I had oral sex with four men whose names were Todd, Albert, Joe and also a guy named Tank.

"In 1977, I met most of the men at parties either at the Carlson's home or at Joe Burke's house. (Bonacci had met Burke in December of 1976. He didn't like him because "he tried to get me to do disgusting things with him and others." In early 1977 he met Kent Bruner.)

"I had been forced to have oral sex with adult men including Carlson almost every week. There was a man who's name was Anderson who is not the Harry Anderson whom I also met at Carlson's home in 1978. I only had oral sex with that Anderson one time, unlike Harry Anderson.

"I traveled with Walter Carson and several boys to Adventureland in Des Moines in the summers of 1977, 1978 and 1980 I went with him to Worlds of Fun in Kansas City, Missouri. Mr Carlson was a pro and knew how to keep everyone quiet without a lot of threats.

"In 1979, I started going around with Carlson and the men connected with him much less and hung out on The Milk Run and around the old Diamond Bar and the Stagedoor and the Cave (all bars). About the only reason I went to Carlson's was to take part in parties or in kiddie porn movies which were filmed at several different places."

"Over the next few years I went out with Carlson less and less and then he vanished altogether for a while. I have seen him since then at the Leavenworth Café in September or October of 1989, though I didn't say anything to him. He's out now running around looking for more young boys to molest. He was with one the last time I saw him.

It is noteworthy to point out here that Walter Carlson and Joe Burke were among 13 men arrested in Omaha in connection with a large pornography/pedophile case. Joe Burke had a library of 2,000 videos and 10,000 photos, which were confiscated. Convicted in December of 1985, Carlson was paroled in February of 1989. This was referred to in a 12/20/85 article in the Omaha World Herald.

Noreen meets Paul Bonacci

I first learned about Paul when Private Investigator Roy Stephens from Omaha Nebraska called to tell me that a prison inmate had confessed to the kidnapping of Johnny. It was March 1991. Roy brought a dozen tape recordings from his meetings with Paul Bonacci. As we sat listening to them, I was annoyed at the reaction of John Gosch Sr. He seemed less than interested, almost bored. He finally fell asleep and slept through the remainder of the tapes.

Roy explained it was very important to not talk to anyone about Paul Bonacci, he wanted the opportunity to check out the information Paul had given him. So I agreed with him and did not talk about it to anyone. Roy stated he wanted me to go to the prison and talk with Bonacci. I told him I would but wanted to wait until I could go and not display any anger or frustration with him. Paul has Multiple Personality Disorder and information came out very fragmented as he changed from one personality to another. I knew that if I showed emotion in his presence that he would clam up. Roy said, "he was counting on the shock value of having Johnny's mother come to see him, thinking that it would cause Paul to release even more information about his part in the kidnapping." I told Roy I would let him know when I could go to the prison. Upon hearing all the details of the kidnapping and sexual abuse of my son, I wanted the time to process this information.

It was only a few weeks later that I received a phone call from a friend, telling me that WHO-TV our NBC station was running a story about "THE INMATE IN NEBRASKA WHO CONFESSED TO KIDNAP-PING JOHNNY GOSCH". I couldn't believe it, no one had called me nor had I talked to any TV station. With in two hours of the TV news report, I received a visit from the FBI, two agents arrived to question me as to Paul Bonacci's claims of his helping to kidnap Johnny.

The FBI agents would not accept the fact that I did not have a great many details concerning Paul Bonacci. They went into their "MUTT AND JEFF" style questioning. No doubt, the FBI had already contacted the Omaha Field Office and knew exactly all of the details about Bonacci and their visit to me was simply to harass me. I finally told them to leave my office that I had no more information to give them and suggested they call John DeCamp, Bonacci's attorney and ask him questions. I had never met or spoken to John DeCamp.

Later I returned home to fix dinner. John did not come home that night. Finally around five a.m. the next morning, I heard him coming in the door. I went downstairs and asked "Where were you all night?" He didn't reply. I asked again "Where were you all night? Did you hear the news? Someone released the story about Bonacci! Did you know the FBI came to question me?" He turned around and with a smirk on his face he said "Hell, I knew about Bonacci for almost two years and kept it from you. I have been to the prison to interview him!" My mouth fell open, I could hardly believe what I was hearing from John. Why would a father keep information so important about his son ..... From his mother? John would not say any more, I knew he was hiding something but he became almost withdrawn every time the name Bonacci was mentioned.

I didn't learn until 1997 that John Gosch did go to John DeCamp's office, bringing another woman who looked like me, he introduced her as his wife, Noreen Gosch. Together they all went to the prison to interview Bonacci for the first time. John Sr. felt that he was telling the truth and called in Roy Stephens a private investigator to begin the long process of questioning Paul Bonacci about the kidnapping of Johnny.

I called Roy Stephens to let him know that the TV coverage was everywhere concerning Bonacci. He decided to drive to Des Moines. When he arrived, I confronted him with the information I had just learned about Bonacci, John Gosch and the visit to the prison. Roy acted very "sheepish" and kept looking at John Sr. for an answer. I knew there had been some type of collusion between them but neither one of them would talk about it.

Meanwhile, there were many local and network TV stations covering the story. This appeared to be a big break in the Johnny Gosch Case and people were very happy for us. However, around the next corner came the big slap in the face, one I was not prepared for .....Law enforcement considered Paul Bonacci a NUT because he had Multiple Personality Disorder. The West Des Moines police refused to interview him, saying he was not credible. The FBI refused to talk with him. Every word of Paul's confession had been hand carried to the FBI Headquarters in Omaha Nebraska.

I wasn't sure what was going on but it was beginning to look like the FBI was covering up something. Their refusal to talk to Paul, coupled with their visit and harassment of me directly after the first news report of Bonacci's confession. We had problems with the FBI from the beginning of Johnny's kidnapping but I would have thought this was different... we had someone actually confessing and giving details of the kidnapping.

During the months, Roy Stephens continued to work on the Bonacci information he was able to confirm details of Bonacci's repeated connection to Johnny over the years. He also gave us the names of the other people who participated in kidnapping Johnny. How they took him. Where they took him. What they did to him after they arrived at their destination. Who purchased Johnny and where he was taken after the first two weeks captivity. For the first time in all these years, we knew "WHO... HOW....WHY Johnny was kidnapped! Our first decent break and LAW ENFORCEMENT REFUSES TO TOUCH IT!

I contacted Roy Stephens three months later and told him I was ready to go to the prison and to set up an appointment with the warden. I decided to call WHO-TV and ask Jim Strickland, a reporter who had covered Johnny's case extensively to go to the prison with me and record on video all of Paul Bonacci's statements. I wanted a video record of this meeting. I also asked John Gosch to go to the prison with me.... He refused saying he was much too busy and couldn't make it. Again, I thought this was very strange because it was also his son who was kidnapped and yet he seemed so disinterested in following up with Bonacci.

The morning came to drive to the prison; it is about a three-hour trip to Lincoln Nebraska. Jim Strickland and the camera crew were to meet me in Lincoln outside the prison. Roy wanted to meet me at the Denny's Restaurant, leave my car and ride with him to the prison. When I arrived at the restaurant, Roy was waiting for me. I hopped into his car and off we went to the prison. As we drove up, I thought to myself .... I wonder what it is like to be behind bars, unable to have any freedoms. It must be awful.

As we entered the lobby area of the prison office, we were told that we would have to walk through maximum security .... This was a very frightening experience, the male prisoners were lined up against the bars and would yell sexually explicit jeers at me. I guess it had been a while since they had seen a woman. Finally all of the men in our group circled around me and I walked with them but inside of this protective circle, until we passed through the maximum-security area.

There was a very large room in which we were told to wait. Jim Strickland and his cameraman were busy setting up their equipment. I looked across the room and made eye contact with Paul Bonacci as the guards led him into the room in chains. At that moment, I knew for certain that I was about to hear exactly what happened to my son once again but this time the man would be sitting across from me at the table. I did something I have never done before throughout this case .... I fainted.... collapsing on to the floor behind the table, the camera man saw me begin to faint and ran to cushion my fall so I would not hit my head against the concrete wall. Both he and Jim helped me on to a chair as I collected myself to meet Paul Bonacci. WHO TV was gracious not to show my collapsing when they aired this story on Paul.

The guards removed the chains and Paul was brought to the table. Roy Stephens introduced Paul to me by saying "Paul, this is Johnny's Mom". Paul immediately broke into tears saying, "I am sorry... I am so sorry". I told him that " I don't blame you, please tell me what happened to my son". At that point, Paul hesitated and stammered but slowly began to tell me how the kidnapping took place. He talked about a man named Emilio who was the driver of the car and also had identified a composite drawing done by an artist I had hired based on the statements from witnesses. Paul said Johnny had been photographed about two weeks before the kidnapping. Those photographs were brought to a motel the night before the kidnapping to show Emilio who they were going to kidnap the next morning. The man who brought the photo was identified as Sam Soda. Paul had earlier chosen Sam's picture in a photo line up of twenty-five pictures.

He explained he had been ordered to lay in the trunk of Emilio's car along with Mike another boy brought along to help with the kidnapping. After Emilio made his first contact with Johnny by asking for directions, then leaving the area, only to turn around and go back to where Johnny was sitting in his wagon, preparing to deliver his papers. Paul and Mike were told to get into the back seat, lie on the floor and cover up with a blanket and to wait until they heard Emilio begin to speak to Johnny again. They did as they were told. Paul said Emilio had placed the barrel of a gun in his mouth and told him he would shoot him if he did not do as he was told.

When they pulled up along side Johnny sitting in his wagon, Paul and Mike started to talk to him to lure him over to the car. They opened up the car door, Paul said a man named Tony had been told to come from behind Johnny and push him into the car. Paul and Mike held Johnny down and placed a cloth with chloroform over Johnny's face, as the Emilio ran the stop sign and turned left onto 42nd street and headed towards the Interstate 80.

There actually had been three vehicles in the area. The car Emilio drove, a van parked several blocks away and a green station wagon on the street north of the kidnap site. Sitting at a vantage point and being able to see the entire kidnapping. The green station wagon had the type of rear door which opened from the top and the side hinge. It was a Ford product, only available for certain years. After learning the description of the car, I telephoned the Motor Vehicles Dept. asking for a list of vehicles owned by "Sam", the man identified by Paul Bonacci. Bingo.... Motor Vehicles had the entire list of vechicles owned by "Sam" and one of them was a Ford station wagon, green with the type of rear dor which opened from the side or top.

The plan for the kidnapping was to grab Johnny, Emilio to meet with the driver of the van which was Tony and they would transfer Johnny's body to the van. Then all three vehicles would leave West Des Moines in different directions and rendezvous at a farmhouse just outside Sioux City Iowa. A man named Charlie Kerr owned the farmhouse.

Johnny was kept in a room in the basement. The room was long and narrow, it had a dirt floor in that part of the basement, windows were boarded up with only slits of light coming through. The walls were painted a very dull medium green shade. He was kept bound and gagged most of the time. They administered drugs to Johnny. Paul and Mike were instructed to have sex with Johnny while Emilio, Sam and Charlie stood by watching and snapping pictures.

Paul told me "he and Mike talked to Johnny telling him that if he behaved and did what they told him to do..... he would live." He reported Johnny was very upset and kept crying wanting to go home.

Paul said, "They worked on Johnny making him feel guilty for what had happened to him. Telling him his parents didn't want him. He would be killed if he tried to escape from them."

They kept Johnny there for nearly fourteen days. There were numerous occasions of sexual abuse during this time. After this period of time a man that Paul called "The Colonel " who paid Emilio (the driver of the car) $15,000 cash for Johnny. The "Col" took Johnny to Colorado. He no doubt ordered his kidnapping. Paul did not see Johnny again until 1983 and 1984 in London Ontario Canada at an "encampment" where they kept kids being used by this pornography/prostitution ring. Paul last saw Johnny in 1986 in Colorado at an orgy held at a ranch owned by the "Col". Johnny had been renamed "Mark" and his hair was dyed black.

Johnny told Paul at that meeting "He tried to get away down the mountain but was tracked down by the men who were always at the compound/ranch and beaten then "branded with a hot branding iron". They often did this to kids who tried to get away. Telling them they would always be able to track them down due to the brand, which would always be on their body. Most of the boys were branded on their shoulder, hip, thigh or calf of the leg.

The Rocking "X" Brand

The brand used on Johnny and many other children. The brand was located as a Registered Brand in the state of Colorado by our Private Detectives. The Brand Registry Office would only tell us that the brand had been used but was not now in use by any ranchers in the area

A number of years later, Paul received letters from two friends saying that Johnny had been taken to Mexico by "the Col." he had surgery and went back to being a blond.

The television coverage Jim Strickland did was in the form of a series on Paul Bonacci. This was fed to the networks; as a result we received a phone call from America's Most Wanted. They were interested in doing Johnny's story and of course wanted to include all the information about Paul Bonacci's confession. I had the first of many conversations with Paul Sparrow, the producer who came to Des Moines to do preliminary interviews and line up all the details for the filming of the show.

They were to come to Des Moines and spend days doing the reenactment of the kidnapping, using actors and actress's to do all the scenes, even a little dog like Johnny's was hired. The day they did the actual kidnap scene, it was necessary for the dog "to bark on cue". The lady who owned the dog stood off camera and turned on a "dust buster" which the dog was afraid of and would then bark on "cue".

Paul Sparrow contacted Sam Soda and they created a scene in which Sam was giving me the details of the second kidnapping which was to come. All Paul would say to me about his discussion with Sam was that .... Sam is an unusual guy. The following day I received a phone call from Sam, he was all upset and nervous. He was almost out of breath and kept saying "America's Most Wanted thinks I had something to do with Johnny's kidnapping." I thought it interesting to say the least, that this would unnerve Sam to the point that he would call me after all these years. It had been almost seven years since I had talked to him.

Paul Sparrow and all of the entourage of people who accompany America's Most Wanted, then left Des Moines and went to Omaha Nebraska to interview Paul Bonacci, John De Camp and Roy Stephens. They were in Nebraska several days, returned to Des Moines to do a little more follow up filming in the area. Paul Sparrow came to our home the night before he left to go back to Washington and said to me "is this whole story real or is it some CAREFULLY CRAFTED HOAX!" I was outraged and informed him I didn't have to take that kind of remark from anyone. He later apologized for his remark but that he wanted to see just how committed I really was to solving this case.

The Nebraska Leadership Conference had published a small book called "A Carefully Crafted Hoax"

The title was misleading, it told in very matter of fact detail about a cover up of child sexual abuse, child porn, Satanism, and murder, that was being investigated by the Nebraska Legislature. The book debunked the Omaha World Herald stories that portrayed the investigation as a carefully crafted hoax. It became obvious that people in high places can triumph over children who had the backing of the Nebraska Legislature

The day came when America's Most Wanted were about to air the program. I received another call from Paul Sparrow saying "The FBI contacted them and told them to KILL THE GOSCH STORY."

In other words, the FBI did not want Johnny's story aired by America's Most Wanted. John Walsh and Paul Sparrow stood up to the FBI and told them they were going ahead with our story no matter what they said or did. The FBI evidently backed down and didn't interfere any further because the show aired in November 1992. The show received more telephone calls from the public than any other show in its history. Leads were coming from all over the country concerning Emilio and Charlie.

One of the many leads, which came in from the program, was a letter addressed to "Johnny's family". It arrived at our home with no street address or zip code..... It just said "Johnny Gosch's Family... Des Moines, Iowa."

The letter was from a young man, calling himself Jimmy. He described being involved in a prostitution/pornography ring. This ring also kidnapped children. Jimmy had been a runaway and was grabbed after he had taken to the streets. His parents suffered through other runaway episodes with him and hadn't searched too hard for Jimmy this time. In his letter, he went on to say that he not only knew my son but had spent many years with him. He told me he, Johnny and another boy stole a car to get away from the people, who had held them captive for years.

Jimmy sounded pleading and pathetic in his letter, saying he wanted desperately to meet with me and he would be in touch soon. Within a few weeks, I had received four letters from him, no return address on any of the envelopes. The final letter indicated he would call me when he decided to come to Des Moines.

Late one night in January 1993, I received a phone call, when I answered a voice said, "well I am here". I looked at the clock it was almost one a.m. I responded by saying "you are where". He said, " this is Jimmy and I am at the train station in Osceola, Iowa... can you come and get me?" Then he said "oh by the way, do you have any warm clothing, someone my stole coat while I was sleeping on the train." I didn't bother to check the weather, temperature or road conditions... I just bolted for Osceola.

I got up, hurriedly got dressed, ran to the basement to get some warm sweaters, gloves, hat and coat. Off I went into the winter night. It was not only cold but snowing heavily. Osceola is nearly an hour's drive from Des Moines. When I got to the train station, there he stood on the platform, huddled with a blanket wrapped around him.... all alone. Jimmy was about five foot five, brown hair, square shaped face, brown eyes and slight build. He looked to be about 22 or 23.

I pulled up and he jumped in the car. He knew who I was due to television and he was the only one there in the middle of the night. I felt safe in assuming that he was "Jimmy." When he got in the car, he said he almost froze to death waiting for me to get there, because the train station was locked up and he had nowhere to go till I arrived. I suggested we go to the restaurant/truck stop on the edge of town and get something hot to eat and drink. That sounded pretty good to Jimmy as he was tired, cold and hungry.

As we sat there talking, he related to me how these boys had been used sexually, by wealthy, politically connected pedophiles in this country. He said they kidnapped many children throughout the years. He also had with him some maps of the United States. He had enlarged copies of Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and Utah, he showed me the areas where they had "safe houses." Places in remote areas where the kids would be kept and it was too far to ever walk out. Some of the boys had tried and were dealt with severely, usually beatings and torture as an example to the others not, to try the same thing.

As I sat there listening, I thought to myself, I wonder if this kid is on the level, anyone could tell these stories. I asked him a few questions about Johnny. He then said, " I want to show you something".... With that he leaned over and pulled up the pant leg of his jeans. When I looked over I was horrified to see a scar of a "brand" on his leg. It spanned approximately five inches in height and three inches in width. It was the same brand Paul Bonacci had shown me. The Rocking "X" Brand. He explained that most all the kids had the brand somewhere on their body. The men told the kids, this was one way they could always track them.

Jimmy went on to tell me, I had created an insurance policy for Johnny with all the publicity over the years. He was known as the "golden boy or celebrity boy and the perpetrators could get more money for his services, so it kept him alive." It wasn't what I wanted to hear! But it did tell me that all the efforts counted for something. It kept my boy alive until he could break free.

After they escaped, Jimmy said, "Johnny and the other boy had gone with him to his parent's home and stayed for several days." Jimmy's parents gave them food, some warm clothing and a place to stay. After a few days, Johnny and the other boy left, saying they were going to live somewhere and would be in touch with Jimmy soon.

Jimmy later learned an Indian tribe had taken them in and given them shelter on a reservation. He explained there was no way any of the boys would contact their parents nor go to the police, they were too afraid. I asked why Jimmy felt he could go home to his parents. He replied that his dad only thought he had run away, he had no idea anything worse happened to him. I accepted his answer because I didn't want to challenge him, while he was in the mood to talk.

Before I knew it…. The sun had come up and it was morning. I asked Jimmy if I could call a private detective to come and visit with him. He said it would be "okay". I telephoned Roy Stephens in Omaha, Nebraska; he said he would be there as soon as he could. Roy arrived a couple hours later; Jimmy repeated the whole story for Roy as well. Then he showed him the brand; Roy had seen this before on Paul Bonacci.

Jimmy agreed to stay in the area for a while, so we could sort out some of the information. It was decided, he would return to Omaha with Roy. He could find him a place to stay. Once there, Jimmy was introduced to Paul Bonacci, John DeCamp and others. Much of what Jimmy told us matched the information we had gotten from Paul, a couple years earlier.

Jimmy told me his father was a CPA in a nearby state and I could talk to him if I wanted to do so. When I did hear from Jimmy's father, he told me about the night the boys came to his home, they were cold, tired and hungry.

After the two boys left, it was then Jimmy's father saw the America's Most Wanted show and realized one of the boys he helped was Johnny Gosch. Jimmy's father said he felt so badly and urged Jimmy to write the letter to me so I could learn more about Johnny. Not knowing for sure whom I was talking to on the phone, I sent a private detective to that city to check out the man. We did verify that he had a CPA firm and was indeed Jimmy's father.

During the time Jimmy was in Omaha, America's Most Wanted followed up on the story and what leads we had received. When I told Producer Paul Sparrow of Jimmy, he said they wanted to fly back out to the Midwest and do another update of the story. Plans were made for them to come the following week. When they arrived in the area, they interviewed me, Paul Bonacci, Jimmy, Roy Stephens and John DeCamp. Jimmy and Paul kept telling everyone there was a safe house located in the mountains in Colorado and they could take the film crew to it.

They set off on a trip to Colorado, Jimmy, Paul, Paul Sparrow, Roy Stephens and the crew. Once in the mountains, Paul Bonacci led them to the house. In the basement were cages where the boys had been kept when the adults were away from the site, to prevent the boys from "wandering away". It was all filmed and shown on America's Most Wanted in the updated show, in February 1993.

I intended to show these pictures in this book and repeatedly requested copies from America's Most Wanted. At first, they said they would send me the copies. I have waited over six months, with repeated requests. THEY NEVER SENT THE PHOTOS. I am not sure, if it is merely an oversight or someone didn't want these pictures shown again in this country.... perhaps the FBI stepped in once again. Is someone afraid that showing pictures of cages where kidnapped children were kept would be too much for the American people?

Despite the fact the information appeared in the updated TV show, no action was taken by any law enforcement. The FBI works very closely with America's Most Wanted .... Why was there no action taken?

After returning from Colorado, Paul Sparrow and Roy Stephens reported to me that every time the crew passed by a phone booth, Jimmy would yell, " I need to stop and make a call." He would jump out of the vehicle and run to the phone booth, make his call, acting very secretive. If anyone walked near him he would stop talking immediately.

Jimmy did not have a pocket full of quarters, nor a phone card of any kind...We can only assume, he was calling someone collect. He appeard to be reporting the every move of this expedition to someone. Roy Stephens told me he felt Jimmy was definitely working for someone and was sent here for a purpose...... to disrupt the investigation.

After three months, Jimmy left the area, returning to Wisconsin to live. Once there, he would call me "thirteen times a day", telling me that Johnny wanted to talk to me and would be showing up at my door unannounced, when I least expected it.

By spring of 1993, Jimmy faded from the scene. No one heard from him again. Only shawdowed pictures of him exist, he would never allow any other photo's to be taken. He insisted on having his face blacked out when he did the interview with America's Most Wanted.

BONACCI DOCUMENTS

When John DeCamp, former Nebraska State Senator, began to represent Paul Bonaci, he received from Paul, diaries and various written records. DeCamp then turned said documents over to the Nebraska Legislature. To avoid the allegation that they had been fabricated/written all at one time. They were sent for forensic studies, which determined that they were prepared over a period of time. The result of the forensic study confirmed various inks and papers could be dated back to the 1980's. Bonacci wrote these diaries in order to try to keep his multiple personalities straight. Imagine, a dozen people inside one body all trying to communicate with each other. One deliberately created to add confusion, one to cause destruction.

Monarch? When? How? Why?

"I chose to write this as a very separate account aside of all other issues involved. This is, I believe, the most accurate and detailed writing on my total involvement with Monarch and any of it's programs, I was directly involved with."

... Paul Bonacci

Project Monarch was an outgrowth of Operation Paperclip. It brought Nazi scientists into this country with all of the technology they developed, by experimenting on prisoners in the concentration camps. Monarch was one of 149 sub-projects involving 23,000 victims in drug and mind control. It was the worst known misuse of governmental authority for illegal medical experiments to occur outside of the Nazi death camps...... Congressional Record

It all began to my best belief sometime in 1970. My family lived in South Omaha and my mother and father had divorced. My mother had also already gone through her second marriage. Sometime during this time period my mother had a girl baby-sit me and my brothers and sister. This girl whom I do not recall had an older man who was in the Air Force and lived close by and took me to his house when my mother was at work. This man had another man who had long dark hair and a beard and mustache do sexual things to me and to two other boys. I was about 3. The boys I believe named Gary or Greg and John were both about 8 to 10. This man would have anal sex with these two and have them have anal sex with me. These boys I discovered later were involved in the Monarch Program.

The man with the long hair would tell me he would kill me when he'd make me put his penis in my mouth. He was a very mean man and sometimes slapped me.

This man was also into Satanism and sacrificed a boy, I believe named Alec. This was I believe about Halloween time in 1970. I've told about this but since the last integration (Paul is speaking of communication with his alternate egos. He may have as many as 20) more things have become clear. So I'll write this and many events again simply to set things right.

That night I was taken to the house and was taken to the basement. The boys Gary or Greg who I'll refer to as simply Gary and John were both there. Also the Airman who was wearing a red and black robe and a girl maybe 13 years old was also there. The boys Gary and John took me in a room, undressed me and put me in a red robe, with a a funny band around me with weird symbols on it. They also put on Red Robes and we had nothing on underneath them.

Bonacci goes on to describe in minute detail what was done to this child!

"This man then with my hands on the knife started stabbing the boy. He stabbed the boy in his stomach and both sides and then in the chest. When he did that the boy stopped moving altogether. He used my hands the whole time. After this they took me to the room again where I saw the men and girl eating the boys flesh. The man with long hair grabbed me and put the boys skin on me.

"At Offutt Air Base Monarch training was conducted. As an Air Force Historian, I knew this to be the number one Strategic Air Command Base in the Country. If The Soviet Union was to be bombed this is the Command Air Base that would launch major nuclear attack bombers against the Russians. Yet from the evidence of the treatment of children it would seem they were the one that should have been bombed. On such a base a civilian does not gain entry unless sponsored."

.....John Zielinski

At the Air Base we met the Doctor who was one of my commanders who I called Major. Both Gary and John were now about 11 or 12. This was during 1972 and 1973. Other kids I met there were Dave—Kelly—Matt—Brian—Jeremy-Tony-Bradley-John and -Cindy. There were total 10 boys in our group. Cindy was the one we were forced to beat up during our training.

During this time they would drug us and scare us with use of (demons-monsters) Men dressed in costumes most likely, they also had men have sex with us. When they would do different types of sex they would tell us a code and number.

The Doctor always came to protect us and he'd say that well for example Beta 1... etc. etc.
Gamma 107, which would have been for giving a guy b____ job. Almost every military alter was begun as a sexual one. This was to destroy any worth they could feel to fight off things they did not feel right in doing."

This training that Bonaci and other boys were undergoing even took precedent over school. He describes how he would be picked up and the school notified that he would not be there that day. The reader should understand that this activity was taking place on a high security Air Force Base. Dozens if not hundred of airman had to be knowledgeable about what was going on. This kind of activity was still going on at least into the 1990s if not at present. It is possible to investigate the facts of "government ritual child abuse" records must exists—witnesses are available. What is lacking is the will on the part of "big government" to investigate itself. What happened to checks and balance? What happened to justice? . It is not something to be found in the America government today. Any attempt such as Bonacci to report they have participated in a government program results in the total dismissal of the witness by all levels of government, local, state and federal.

Bonacci recalls, "During a trip to the house which was on the Air Base, I saw a Black man whom I believe now was Larry King, (this was fifteen years before the Franklin Credit Union was closed) I heard many times while at the house, my commander say that some big shot from somewhere was coming and he wanted two blond boys about 10. Or a thing like the Senator likes girls about 12 and wants them clean and smooth, which was pre-pubescent, no chest and virgin if possible. And I heard him say he wants a group of boys between 5 and 15 and he'll have friends to join the party. I heard him refer to congressmen, Generals, Colonels, Senators, governors and big businessmen, the owner of Brandies was mention several times, bankers, even diplomats from other countries. We boys were never told anything about anyone. I do know the bedroom most of the sexual activities took place had hidden cameras and microphones in it since they would show us boys how to get the men into positions so they could film sexual activities better or clearly...

What follows is a description of sexual acts they were forced to perform on various men. Bonaci writes my commander, and sometimes my handler, our handler as he refers to those in control of him.

"The training the Major did with us was in several areas. He and other trainers taught us to use sex as an instrument to gain control over others. We were taught that we were the greatest servants to our country by using our bodies to help gain control of the government in order for it to be strong. That we were hero's to give all we had. In other words they made us feel good about doing a disgusting job.

They used all kinds of codes and games to teach us things. They showed us how to make, bombs, traps, shelters. How to develop pictures and how to make gases and drug powders, weapons. How to use weapons, how to kill animals and showed us pressure points and karate. They never taught one alter very much, so they would use drugs or hypnosis which they taught us in order to create sub alters who were part of a more mature one but had separate functions which that alter did not know.

Writing as another of his alternate personalities Bonnaci said: They showed us how to build little bombs and how to make things to knock out people. Such as Chloroform." He was learning these things at Offutt Air Base, when he was five and six and seven years old. He was fourteen years when he placed chloroform over John Gosch's face. His techniques both sexual and violent, he learned at the top Air Force Base in the country.

"I also remember seeing Larry King at Offutt talking with my commander and other men, who worked with my commander, who I called or was told to call Major. I was never told his name and around us kids he never wore a tag. I learned pressure points and how to paralyze people.

The nature of the Bonnaci documents as explained by Paul Anthony Bonnaci present a thirteen and fourteen year old trained at Offutt AFB, SAC command trained as soldier and prostitute from the youngest age.

This notebook's first section is to be used for Military information and information that West Lee will be providing. Some information may be spread out but all information will be relayed exactly as originally stated with only spelling word corrections. Entries will be done as neatly as possible and no waste of paper will be made.

The following information has been gathered thru several talks and from information provided from West Lee. In discussion with West Lee "I asked him the following questions 1. Why he was created and by whom? 2. Why he is needed to censor information 3. Why he has chose to disobey by protecting me.

His answers were direct and straight out. 1. He was created to block entry into a sensible store of information. Also to promote confusion and to jumble information. The person who created him was one of the men involved in Monarch. No name was ever given to him outside the code name. Alpha-Charlie-666-Delta. He also heard some men call him Gerry no last name available. 2. He was not to censor but more so keep certain sensitive information outside my realm of knowledge. He was to make reality-fiction 3. Because I had saved his life one time when he almost drowned when a man tried to drown him. He says I hit the guy with a board and helped him get away and run from the man.

The reader must understand that Paul and West Lee occupy the same body. West Lee was being conditioned when his main alter surfaced and hit the man with a board. Then together they ran.

West Lee then asked me to tell the following story about him. He is completely aware of all of my life as Paul or any other alter, who has lived in my outward appearing life. He has tried to help me thru Mikey, who when I thought we had integrated, he was actually helping Mikey get things put together: West Lee is very bright with a IQ of a Genius (unless he has to spell words). He can use most any object as a weapon and can create deadly or harmful chemicals out of common household chemicals.

He does not like to harm people but is trained in assassination skills and tactics.

West Lee then proceeds to tell Paul how to poison someone with a mushroom, how to use chloroform to disable a human, and how to make napalm using aluminum salt, laundry soap and gasoline, he lists poison after poison... such as uses for mustard gas. At the time this document was done Paul was around 14 to 15 years old. He had participated in satanic sacrifices, murders of a children, the kidnapping of Johnny Gosch and had received two special tours of the White House for his services. (See Conspiracy of Silence)

The Courier

Paul Bonnaci lived thru hell. In granting him a million dollar judgment against an imprisoned Larry King. Judge Urbom declared, "He has suffered burns, broken fingers, beatings of the head and face and other indignities over a period of eight years. He gave up a desired military career and received threats on his life. He is a victim of multiple personality disorder, involving as many as fourteen distinct personalities.

Judge Urbom stated: "the plaintiff was subjected to repeated sexual assault, false imprisonment, infliction of extreme emotion distress, organized and directed satanic rituals, force the plaintiff to "scavenge" for children to be a part of the defendant King's sexual abuse and pornography ring, forced the plaintiff to engage in numerous sexual contacts with the defendant King and others and participate in deviate sexual games and masochistic orgies with other minor children".

This is a judgment for Paul Bonacci, Memorandum of Decision by United States District Court Judge Urbom on Feb 22, 1999. Note that he does say Bonacci participated in satanic rituals (many that resulted in the death of an adult or child). Remember Judge Urbom states Bonacci is truthful.

If Bonacci's statement concerning the kidnapping of Johnny Gosch is truth, and the satanic murders are truthful.... Why then has the West Des Moines Police, FBI and Governor Vilsack of Iowa chosen to ignore this information. Could it be Vilsack's close connection with former Governor Bob Kerrey of Nebraska? Could it be the WDMPD is protecting someone? Is the FBI negligent or criminally involved? This is clearly new evidence in the Johnny Gosch case and should have been investigated immediately following the ruling of Judge Urbom on February 22, 1999.

Bonacci telephoned me late one night, in March 1999, telling me that "Mike" one of the boys, who acted as "a courier", would be traveling through Omaha within 48 hours.... If I wanted to send a message to Johnny, I needed to overnight something the following day.

I did write a letter to Johnny and sent some family photos it was a few days later, Paul called me to tell me the message had been picked up at the drop point. He said it might take weeks before there would be a reply. Along with my letter, I had sent some family photos, thinking it might bring a response faster. I had also asked Johnny to designate a meeting place somewhere in the country and I would be there. It was at the time 20/20 was finishing their filming and they had pressured me to get him on film either through a video or photo… they felt it would be more compelling to have him tell a part of the story. It was explained that I could video him and yet not reveal his location.

I received a verbal response through Paul, telling me that they (the boys) had a meeting and it was decided they would all remain in hiding. They felt even though they could and would trust me, it was too much of a risk to their lives, as I would have no doubt been followed. There was then a statement …commenting on something in one of the family photo's I had sent, which told me Johnny had seen the message and it was really him responding through Bonacci.

Paul Bonacci had the attributes of a leader. The other boys looked to him. Johnny Gosch and others communicated with and thru him. In one of the letters he had shown me, it said; J.G. had plastic surgery in Mexico and went back to being a blonde. What follows is a letter from one of those who escaped what we suspect is Project Monarch and has found refuge with Kansas City Satanists. It is postmarked from Kansas City, Missouri Aug 20, 1992 and sent to Bonacci in Nebraska with no return address.

The post office stamped: "All mail must have a full name and return address Per DCS Rule, etc. It begins:

Dear Paul:

I wanted to let you know I am doing well. I am with friends here in Mizzou. They got Dicky and almost Lester, but Lester got away. Ricky is so doped he can't get away.

Our friends MC and MT both are well. They travel lots and so it's tough to spot them. Your nemesis Reme ask Jamy. Jamy is dying in some foreign hospital of aids. MT want's Jamy to get you his letter from a few years ago.

I know you as Paul, Pablo, Jamy and Mikey, or Poppy the Jungle Boy. Ask Mikey about Poppy (referring to one of Paul's alters apparently)

That stuff I gave C was heavy to get all those cruds. They won't get me that's sure enough. I can't write my name or address since I'm moving around all the time.

We will come to you when it's safe. It's safe for you because they are more scared of you if you're killed. Strange, right!

You will have to ask Jamy to decode this letter since I use int. I work doing odd jobs and get paid under the table. I don't even exist to anyone. I as Jamy knows was raised to be sacrificed (see The Finders) Born in a house so if no one can trace me that's why. My parents are protected by the FBI who works inside the Church of California, LaVey's group. They are planning to get a child from the Chicago area in September for the fall Solstice. They will take anyone now, so it may end up a street boy. I am a victim and so is MT and MK. They tried to get a kid from Omaha for the summer solstice. They didn't though. They got one from someplace in the south. I think a couple gave up to the police, they wouldn't say it was a sacrifice thought I bet.

Well I got to go for now. I will write more when I get something new.

Your Friend

P.S. Enclosed is a bad photo of me at 9. Bet you didn't know my hair was brown. A friend of mine got me this picture. The back was torn off, O, well. (Probably identification—many of these kids do not know who they are or where they came from)

At times Paul is able to send messages to Johnny Gosch and other communicate thru him. Note that his friend thinks the publicity is what has kept Paul alive.

RE: 1983 Appointment Book - Ink Examination

Exhibits

A 1983 Appointment Book with the months January and February removed and the printed numbers changed.

REPORT OF LABORATORY EXAMINATION

A chemical and physical examination was performed on the written entries of the referenced exhibit with the following results.

1. A total of five (5) different ink formulations were found in the exhibit. Three (3) blue ball pen, One (1) black ball pen and One (1) black Non-ball pen.

2. All of the above referenced ink formulations, except for the black non-ball pen, are similar to standard ink formulations which were available in 1983. The black non-ball pen ink formulation is similar to one manufactured by the Papermate Pen Co. and availalbe as the Accupoint Pen. The first availability date of this instrument is being researched at this date, but is believed to be in the mid-1980's. For this reason the fact that the days in the exhibit have been altered to reflect the days of 1985 is significant. Results of this inquiry will be forwarded at the earliest possible moment.

3. A relative aging examination was performed between several entries of the exhibit and known dated writings of the same ink formulations maintained in this laboratory. Results of this examination were either inconclusive in nature or indicated that the exhibit was not prepared within the last 1.5 years. A more specific determination of preparation date could not be made.

Bonacci grieves for all the other children who were kidnapped, raped and abused for the Monarch program/MKUltra.
He has done his best at great risk to right the wrongs.

A Man Called Rusty

It is hard to believe that even as we complete this book actions are being taken to silence those who have knowledge of the Franklin Affair and the kidnapping of Johnny. Phones are ringing, faxes are faxing. The Internet is alive with new information on Rusty Nelson?

If one picture is worth a thousand words then Rusty is the man to turn to because he has been the chief photographer for Larry (Lawrence King). King ran a child prostitution and blackmail ring. King's connections are to the highest officials in this land and to Craig Spence identified by the newspaper "The Washington Times" as CIA connected. Spence dabbled in child kidnapping, to supply the needs of his many customers, which included CIA's once highly secret MK Ultra/Monarch Project. The July 29, 1989, The Washington Times front-page article screamed. "Call Boys Given Midnight Tour of White House"

The Times said all kinds of investigations were going on. The FBI, the Secret Service, the Washington Metropolitan Police all were involved. Toward the end of the story, the paper stated: "It is suspected that children are being kidnapped off the streets of America and forced into prostitution and other perversions."

According to Paul Rodriguez who co-authored the above article, the paper eventually did sixty stories. " Rodriguez: We were able to do it thru the mother lode provided us of credit cards receipts and cancelled checks. And then lists of the clients. The prosecutors had all this stuff... there was possibly 20,000 documents. They sealed the entire record by court order." All material gathered by all branches of law enforcement were also sealed. Rodriguez describes for the viewers of "Conspiracy of Silence" how this was done.

Here's how Ted L. Gunderson, former Senior Officer in Charge of FBI operations in California sees this situation.. Since his retirement, he has been relentlessly tracking down those who abuse children whether in the name of Satan/CIA, the North American Man Boy Love Association, or like Larry King for fun profit and blackmail.

"Russell (Rusty) was a central character in the original Franklin Credit Union scandal, which occurred approximately ten years ago. Since then, he has had in his possession large amounts of physical evidence, including photographs, that implicate prominent law enforcement and political figures in crimes of child abuse, child pornography, and kidnapping, drug smuggling, money laundering, and illegal campaign financing. This also appear to be tied to the Iran Contra drugs for arms affair and illegal activities by the FBI and CIA. In Rusty Nelson 's statement of June 22, 2000, He also implicates some of the highest political figures in this country.

Over the years, much of his evidence has been confiscated from Rusty Nelson and never returned. Some of it remains hidden.

Rusty Nelson was on probation from Oregon and working in Nebraska since February 7, 1999 when he testified in Nebraska on behalf of Paul Bonacci in a civil suit against Larry King, a central figure/perpetrator in the above activities. (Bonacci was awarded 1 million in damages)

In May 2000, Rusty Nelson was taken into custody for a "probation violation" with no explanation as to the nature of violation. On June 19, 2000, an extradition hearing was heard at Columbus, Nebraska. Neither the persecuting attorney nor the public defender were informed of the details of the probation violation. Rusty Nelson was not present during the hearing. John De Camp, Rusty's lawyer, reports that the hearing was initially scheduled for July 6, 2000, but it was moved up to June 19 without notifying interested parties. The outcome of the hearing was that Judge Frank Skorupa, Platte Count Court in Nebraska ordered Nelson returned to Oregon."

This was part of a report entitled "Russell Nelson…Waiting to Be Killed published on the World Wide Web. On June 28, 2000, while John DeCamp was out of the country when authorities shipped Rusty back to Oregon.

Larry King minced no words on those around him and told them he could have them killed and it would be declared a suicide. Both Alisha Owens and Troy Boner lost brother's to so called suicides after they spoke out too loudly of the sexual abuse the had endured and observed.

In the United States we never think of an individual as a "political prisoner". But Russell Nelson and a number of other witnesses connected to the Franklin Credit Union investigation certainly fit that category. It was significant that the officials chose to move Rusty while DeCamp was out of the country. DeCamp has been the only defender for Rusty in Nebraska.

In 1988, John DeCamp, received a call from a detective in the Oregon State Patrol, who advised him they had arrested Rusty Nelson. Nelson, they said had in his possession thousands of pictures of children and other items, which the detective described as pornographic.

After several trips to Oregon and a great deal of paperwork, De Camp succeeded in arranging for Rusty to be placed on probation in Oregon, then permitted to return to Nebraska... where on February 5, 1999, he testified as an expert witness as to the involvement of Larry King with Paul Bonnaci.

The pictures taken by Rusty Nelson and obtained from authorities in Oregon were presented in evidence in the civil suit. The judge ruled that De Camp could view them, but that he could not make note of them in any way. The judge then placed a gag order on him...stating he could never reveal their contents under pain of disbarment. The judge stated the pictures could not be made public, as they would destroy the reputations of respectable citizen in the community. After they were reviewed by DeCamp they were permanently sealed by order of the court.

I hope the question is in the reader's mind. If these "respectable citizens" of Nebraska and Washington D.C. were caught in the act of having sex with children, are they indeed a "respectable citizen " who deserve every protection the court can give them. Or are they dirty perverts whose station in life renders them immune from prosecution no matter what their crimes"

Americans know little of the books that are censored due to "national security" or videos which are never bradcast as with "Conspiracy of Silence" or ABC 20/20...The Johnny Gosch Story..

In the Lincoln/Omaha area alone 80 children were identified as part of Larry King child prostitution ring. In Washington DC and other major cities in the country many children are involved in similar circumstances. In March 18, 1999, Rusty was featured on the Richard Boyden Talk show in Kansas City, Mo. KCXL 1140, a talk radio station. Here he discussed former Governor and now U.S., Senator Bob Kerrey's involvement and noted that King also ran a Day Care center in Washington D.C.

John De Camp reported that Rusty's testimony is consistent with that of Paul Bonacci. Bonacci had been used and abused since he was a small child, by priests, by Satanists and by politicians. He has admitted and detailed his participation in the kidnapping of Johnny Gosch in September of 1982. In the "Conspiracy of Silence" video Bonacci reveals that he was given a midnight tour of the White House once in 1981 and again after Johnny's kidnapping. It was arranged by Craig Spence, a so-called lobbyist, whose man service was furnishing young boys to anyone in Washington, who could pay with cash or his government expense account.

Rusty stated as a private photographer for Larry King, his duties included taking photographs surreptitiously of specific people. It was his job to make sure to photograph certain people if they "got together". In his testimony, John De Camp asked Rusty Nelson, "Who was at these parties?"

Nelson replied:" Politicians, dignitaries, wealthy business people... young people and Larry....

Nelson testified that he not only took pictures for King, but secretly kept rolls of film, which he mailed "home to himself. Rusty testified, he secretly also took other incriminating documents, including audiotapes, computer disks, and paper copies of documents including ledgers, without King's knowledge. He testified that he often mailed the documents back to his home, again secretly.

Rusty explains his attempt to retain these documents in his possession for years was insurance that he stayed alive. He testified that Larry King "flat out told me" that he had "taken out a man" named Charlie Rogers and made it look like a suicide; "This was another deal, I believe, through Wadman (then Omaha Chief of Police}" Nelson testified to one direct threat on his life by Larry King, and in the ensuing years, many threats conveyed with symbols that Larry King used to mean: "Drop it. Or you're going to get burned. He testified that he was shot at twice each time following the symbolic message. And in a statement from his cell, he indicated in writing on June 22, 2000, that he had been shot at for a third time.

Gunderson and DeCamp have made it clear that the extra legal maneuvers against Rusty were designed for only one thing... to put Rusty away before he can expose any more important figures in Washington D.C.

It was Rusty Nelson, who gave pictures and other documents to Gary Caradori July 11, 1990, the day of the fatal flight, which killed Caradori and his eight-year-old son A.J.

Caradori called Senator Loren Schmit and told him he had "the smoking gun." Caradori told the Senator, he would fly home that night but his plane exploded in mid-air. The wreckage was spread over nearly a mile of cornfield, near the town of Aurora, Illinois. Coincidentally, where Wadman, former Omaha Police Chief, had become the new Chief of Police.

A farmer witness said he saw a fireball then heard an explosion. Caradori's brief case and the rear seat of the plane vanished, but according to Sandy Caradori, her son's backpack came thru virtually intact. She said "the FBI seized the backpack, containing A.J.'s camera, finally after weeks, it was returned to her. The FBI had gotten the pictures developed from the camera " They apparently wanted to verify A.J.'s camera had not been used to take any incriminating photos.

A sheriff's deputy on site began picking up photographs given to Caradori by Rusty.... reportedly of recognizable politicians with children. It was reported there were "porn pictures scattered in the field". The deputy stated the FBI, who told him to leave, snatched the photos from his hands and to keep his mouth shut. The deputy left but did not keep his mouth shut. Less than a year later, he was severely injured in a car crash that killed his wife. He can no longer work. He is not inclined to talk.

The wreckage of the plane was examined on a military base rather than at a location under the control of civilian personnel. The crash was ruled an "accident" by government officials and not an act of sabotage.

June 30th, 2000,Ted Gunderson received a phone call from Pam Purdie, Rusty Nelson's fiancée, acting as John DeCamp's assistant, received daily reports from Rusty by phone. He was only allowed to phone his lawyer or someone associated with is lawyer. Rusty was transported from Columbus Nebraska to Omaha, Nebraska on June 29th. In route from Columbus to Omaha, his record sheet for taking medication disappeared and authorities were giving him the wrong epileptic medicine at the wrong time.

Purdie reports, he had an epileptic seizure the night of the 29th and injured himself quite seriously but was ignored by authorities. He stated they refused to give him a clean towel to clean up the blood. Rusty believes they transferred him to Omaha because he refused to take a Tuberculosis test. John DeCamp, an attorney assisting Rusty had advised him not to submit to any medical tests or shots. DeCamp feared Rusty might be poisoned or infected.

Pam Purdie stated, that Rusty told her his bed was not even five feet long, (Rusty is over six foot tall), he was fed lunch meat that evening which was green. He was fed pancakes with a white powder on top, he was told it was powdered sugar, but when he ate it, he began vomiting repeatedly and not able to even keep water in his stomach. Gunderson suggested in his report that he may have been given a substance, which is a "slow acting poison". I suspect that even dogs were being fed better than Russell Nelson.

Rusty who suffers from epilepsy was subjected to "sleep deprivation techniques", a bed, which was too small, and the guard knocked on the door every 30 minutes so his sleep was constantly disturbed. Any interruption or change in routine in addition to medication being withdrawn can bring on epileptic seizures.

July 3rd, Pam Purdie, informed Ted Gunderson that Rusty had suddenly been moved from a cell with a five-foot bed to a cell with an eight-foot bed and his meals were much better. They were providing him with his proper medication on schedule. Rusty asked Pam "What is going on…what happened to make this difference in my treatment? All hell broke loose here, all the guards are talking about this case".

Pam Purdie explained to Rusty that… "On July 2nd, Noreen Gosch drove from Des Moines Iowa to Omaha, Nebraska and hand delivered a 53 page report to the Douglas County Detention Center, informing them they were in violation of Rusty Nelson's Civil Rights. The report was prepared by Ted Gunderson." This formal complaint was sent to the White House and to Attorney General Janet Reno, FBI Office Washington, and any other concerned law officer or civil rights advocate, as well as the press and other concerned citizens. In each cover letter to the concerned citizens of this country, we urged them to send this report on to as many people as possible to begin a huge "letter writing campaign" to help keep Rusty alive.

Within 48 hours Rusty Nelson was moved from Omaha, Nebraska to the Correctional Corp. of America, Leavenworth Kansas. Immediately upon hearing of the transfer, Ted Gunderson, contacted Warden Stolc and informed him of the situation. Warden Stolc requested a copy of the 53-page report, it was emailed to him. The Warden specified that Ted should telephone him at seven a.m. Central time in Kansas, which meant Ted had to be up at five a.m. to place the call Pacific time in California. Warden Stolc, reported to Ted Gunderson, that he was shocked at this whole story and assured Ted that Rusty would be watched over and no harm would come to him. Warden Stolc paid a visit to Rusty's cell and assured him of the same. Within a few short days, the treatment of Rusty had once more deteriorated.

Pam Purdie reported, that Rusty had been given fermented oatmeal, which bubbled like beer, and he was once again being deprived of his medication to control epileptic seizures. He began to suffer seizures, which were lasting twenty minutes each, several times a day. He was running a very high fever and vomiting. Rusty believes these seizures occurred because his medication had been changed for an unknown reason. He is being given Dilantin for his epilepsy of Neurontin, the medicine prescribed by his personal physician, Dr. Anderson, of Columbus, Nebraska. During these seizures, July 10th, he fell to the floor, injured himself and was bleeding. He said a nurse came and checked him and was kind to him. Since his medications were changed, Russell Nelson reports hearing a high-pitched sound in his ears and that he can barely see and cannot focus his eyes. These conditions continued at this facility until he was transferred and moved to Oregon on July 13th.

On Saturday July 15th, 2000, John Zielinski made a visit to the facility where Rusty was being held. When he arrived, he was confronted by the head of security, James Perry, showing him a folder with Rusty's name and ID# CCA16582047 ... US Marshall ID#64659065 and asking for Russell Nelson. He was told there was no such prisoner there... they had never heard of him. When he presented his Media ByPass Photo ID, they immediately changed the story to: He was here but he is gone now, therefore we cannot talk about him. Gunderson stated this is standard procedure.

Days went by with no contact or word from Russell "Rusty" Nelson. Ted Gunderson said that in his experience, as an FBI agent it was highly unusual to transport a non-violent, low risk prisoner by car half way across the United States to Oregon. It was as if they wanted to make sure that Rusty didn't contaminate any other prisoners with his information.

I sent letters to everyone from the President to the Pope stating; Russell Nelson is a key witness Franklin Cover Up and my son's (Johnny Gosch) kidnapping case. Due to the information he possesses... his life is danger within the prison system of this country. What is happening to Russell is both tragedy and a travesty of justice as was explained in the report by Ted Gunderson.

In his July 12th, Urgent Report on Russell Nelson; Gunderson states these matters need to be brought to the attention to anyone in authority who might be able to assure that Russell Nelson receives proper medical treatment and to prevent him being suspiciously killed through seizures, poisoning, ill ness caused from neglect, bad food, " accident", "suicide" or otherwise. If Russell Nelson dies of suspicious circumstances, these letters from concerned citizens will be evident that the appropriate authorities were notified and their level of response well documented.

It is only through the efforts of concerned citizens that we can preserve our freedom.

The Shadow Knows—Russell Nelson

Lawrence E. King, President of the Franklin Credit Union of Omaha, Nebraska was a man of importance. Not just in Omaha, not just in Nebraska but also all across America from sea to shining sea.

But Larry King knew how to hustle, soon he was laundering money for the CIA's Iran-Contra operation and by furnishing plenty of boys to NAMBLA, who forked over $5,000,000 to the credit union. Such glorious activity could not go unrecorded so when Larry King met an aspiring young photographer, he immediately made Rusty Nelson his shadow. Where Larry King went...Rusty with camera in hand also went.A four foot photo of Larry King with President Ronald Regan graced the entrance to the Franklin Credit Union.

What do you need Senator, Congressmen, Governor, Judge. A little boy? Nebraska Boy's Town provides an ample supply for the discerning pedophile. Coke, Heroin, Speed Balls. Or perhaps a little girl?

His parties were the talk of Washington D.C. He rented a $5,000 a month mansion on embassy row where Rusty had his own room....a room that allowed him to photograph all activities. Rusty was 23, when he was introduced to King but he was more than that as he explained in the testimony of Feb 5, 1999 "I was taking pictures at a bar called The Max on 79th Street, in Omaha Nebraska. After a drag show, I had gotten to know pretty much everybody who were regulars like Ron. I was having some financial problems and you know, I needed to find a decent job... Ron goes...I know somebody who could use a good photographer. ...All of a sudden here's Larry King, I had no idea who he was, this, that and the next thing. I went and next thing I know I'm on a private jet to Washington, D.C. I sat in Larry's office at the credit union, sat in the meetings he'd have with the people. Seen him make payoffs to people. I watched as King handed over a briefcase full of bearer bonds to Col. Michael Aquino.... in a motel suite... The Ritz in Minneapolis, Minn (Iran Contra Payments) Very quietly.

"I went out and took pictures at his mansion on Embassy Row, where he held the parties"...He wanted me to do porn, kiddie porn and gay porn. (Alisha Owens identified Larry King as the photographer when she was being sexually abused.) I wanted no part of it. And he went to the extent of insisting on my wearing certain clothes, my hair had to be a certain way. They went as far as to take me out, supposedly it was Nancy Reagan's hairdresser doing my hair. It was permed, everything, totally changed my appearance.

Now Rusty goes on to describe another man, who was also a photographer, Larry shorter. He added: "It was just a fluke that I saw him." He went on to say this other man was passing himself off at times as Rusty Nelson, whose appearance was almost identical to his except he was shorter.

Nelson: Yes, I was told to disappear!

DeCamp: Who told you that he was three to four inches shorter.

DeCamp asked him: Are you aware of the fact that in testimony before the legislative committee various witness, investigator for the state and others effectively denied your existence.

On Feb 25, 1999, Attorney John W DeCamp, who had represented Paul Bonnaci for ten years issued this challenge in a To Whom It May Concern Letter, accompanied by the transcript of the trial.

I believe the U.S. Attorney has no choice but to either CHARGE THE WITNESSES WITH PERJURY HAVING TESTIFIED UNDER OATH IN A FEDERAL COURT ON VERY MATERIAL MATTERS (from Murder to Bribery to Perjury to the most vile corruption involving young people) OR, THE U.S. ATTORNEY HAS AN OBLIGATION TO INVESTIGATE FURTHER INTO THE FRANKLIN SAGA AND REOPEN MATTERS. This time there ARE PICTURES. This time RUSTY NELSON exists and testified completely contrary to Chief Wadman's (Omaha Chief of Police) testimony under oath to the legislature.

Let us repeat DeCamp: This time there ARE PICTURES!!! But where are the pictures... Judge Urbom has sealed the photos, the audio and videotapes. He has honored the request of Larry King from his jail cell in Colorado, that releasing the photos and tapes would cause harm to the Nebraska community. Who is he kidding.... we would have a mad rush by members of congress to resign. Congressmen Barney Fag would not beat this rap.

DeCamp concludes his letter saying: "If my witnesses in Court on February 5, 1999 are telling the truth... then Alisha Owen is also. If Alisha Owen is LYING as a jury said, then my witnesses are lying. It appears to me to put the U.S Attorney, Nebraska Attorney General and Judicial System on the horns of a dilemma and failure to act would to me at least appear to be a deliberate obstruction of justice at minimum." The pictures which were not are sealed by Judge Urbom .... Have been confiscated by the FBI.

To understand what is going on here you must realize two things. The so-called checks and balances of one branch of government acting as watchdog for the other two branches is no longer true. At both the state and the federal level the Executive, Legislative and Judicial Branch now constitute a gang. A gang sworn to defend each other on pain of death. Like the Mafia anyone who squeals is a marked man. Unlike the Mafia, who used to sink their defectors in cement shoes and drop them the river, the ruling elite prefer blacklist. It often means, they will never work again in their chosen professions. More than a few whistleblowers have gone from six-figure jobs to being homeless and on the street.

What about the bill of rights, both state and federal, which grants an individual the right to "due process"? These rights have been replaced by the law of "judicial sovereignty" any judge may rule for his friends regardless of evidence presented. If the opposing attorney objects—at worst he will be disbarred and best him, might have to find a job at McDonalds to help support his family.

There are many people who claim: "Well at least America is better than other countries." Not so. The murder rate in America is 73 times higher than the murder rate of any other country in the Western World. Nine out of ten children murdered anywhere in the Industrial world are murder in the U.S. Children in Northern Ireland are far safer in school than those in Chicago."

THE RALSTON RECORDER, JANUARY 10, 1985

Caradori Story Published, "The Ralston Recorder, Jan 10, 1985, shows Caradori to be an excellent investigator with world wide connections. FBI Agent Says "Caradori work suspicious June 11, 1991"......states The Omaha World Herald.

For private investigator Gary Caradori, the mean streets aren't in Lincoln. They're in Chandler's L.A. and Mickey Spillane's New York City—places where the hostile exterior only masks an even more violent interior.

The 35-year-old Caradori, born and raised in Ralston and a 1967 Ralston High School graduate, specializes in finding people....stolen kids, lost adults, in particular, teen-age prostitutes, and bringing them home. The consequences of his work could be fatal.

"They would kill you. Those young gals are worth a lot of money. That's their hardware. It's hard for people to understand that living here, "Caradori said. "In some places in Los Angeles, Detroit or Florida, there are people out there that would cut your throat"

When you start running around the streets of New York, in the Harlem area, in a lot of areas. I could name a hundred towns, don't think you're not thinking about those things. It's a lot different than going to a movie here in town

Leave Yourself and Out.

"You don't try to come on strong. A good investigator will blend in. The idea is no one will really know you're here. You just kind of slip in get done whatever you have to do and get out." Caradori said, "You go with whatever you're working with. You won't do anything people will want to remember."

Caradori said he's been roughed up a few times by both cops and cons, but unlike the TV operative, he's never had to shoot his way out of a jam.

"A couple of times I thought: "Maybe I'll have to use it (a gun) to get myself out of a situation. But I never have. That just comes from common sense and trying to leave yourself an out."

Good Investigative Techniques

Most detective work boils down to good investigative techniques. Although he couldn't share trade secrets or discuss specific cases, Caradori described how he and his partner, Mike Weatherl, go about their work.

We have a set of items we go through when we start out looking for somebody. Some of it pans out and some of it doesn't," he said "We do a complete psychological background on an individual before we even start, to get their makeup and pattern.

You have to put yourself in that individual's condition prior to leaving, trying to determine where they might go and what their thinking was.

We have built a network of contacts all over the country. Those contacts are worth their weight in gold that really helps. You don't just walk in or fly in to some location and people just give you things. It comes with the rapport you've made with those individuals; it comes with your professionalism with certain individuals.

The bottom line is to have the ability to look in all directions and not have tunnel vision. Never assume anything and never take no for an answer. So you rely on your investigative knowledge and you really come to rely on yourself and you always try to leave a way out. Leave the door open so you can get the hell out."

Made ABC News

When it comes time to get the person out of town, particularly in the case of the young prostitutes, the key is to move fast and be very mobile, Caradori said. "In some cases, two or three vehicles and airplanes have been necessary to stay ahead of the game."

Caradori has been successful making ABC news five months ago for finding two children, who disappeared 11 years ago. In another widely reported case, Caradori found a woman's father in East Germany 39 years after they were separated.

Home is a Sanctuary

The risk of being hurt is real, Caradori said.

"People sometimes they want to get back at you. Last year, I had a guy threaten to kill my kids. I guess that goes with the territory. However, that doesn't mean you don't take the necessary precautions to prevent that and you certainly don't want to look for it." Caradori said. "We try not to take those kinds of cases where we live. It's kind of a rule with us. You don't want to look over your shoulder every time you turn around."

For that reason, only about 20 percent of Caradori's business is in Nebraska...primarily corporate security, while most of his missing person's work is out of state. That makes it possible for him to return home, away from the mean streets, to relative safety and security of Nebraska.

"People don't even lock their doors here, so there's a lot to teach them about security. Lincoln is a good community to live in. Who wants to hassle with the crime problems of Detroit and L.A.?

"It's always good to get home. This is like a sanctuary," the investigator concluded.

This was more than four years before he was hired by the Nebraska Legislator to investigate the Franklin Credit Union Franklin. He learned that Lincoln and Omaha had mean streets as well. He and his son would pay with their lives for trying to help the child prostitutes of Nebraska. He told his wife Sandy, just before his death, "I know what happened to Johnny Gosch!"

The death of Gary Caradori and his son, A.J. sealed the fate of the Franklin Investigation. "There were a lot of people who wanted to see Gary dead"....said Sen. Loren Schmit.

JOHN DECAMP... RELUCTANT HERO

It is hard to say what John De Camp is most proud of—his 16 years as a Nebraska State Senator or his life since his downfall—trying to protect eighty sexually abused young people and awaken a sleeping nation to the corruption he uncovered.

John DeCamp is not your usual kind of hero... in his present life he appears unassuming, and yet out of desperation and the need to survive, he has written a book to awaken the conscience of the nation. "The Franklin Cover-up" now in its second revised and expanded printing is a labor of frustration and of necessity. It was friend and mentor Colonel William Colby, his one time boss in Viet Nam later head of the CIA, who inspired this book.

It was undoubtedly DeCamps suggestion to state Senator Loren Schmitt that they hire Colby to determine who or what caused the death of Legislative investigator Gary Caradori and his eight year old son A. J.. DeCamp in the forward to the first edition of "The Franklin Cover-up" quotes Colby:

Colby said, " What you have to understand, John, is that sometimes there are forces and events too big, too powerful, with so much at stake for other people or institutions. That you cannot do anything about them, no matter how evil or wrong they are or how much evidence you have...that is simply one of the hard facts of life you have to face. You have done your part. You have tried to expose the evil and wrongdoing. It has hurt you terribly. But, it has not killed you up to this point. I am telling you, get out of this before it does. Sometimes things are just too big for us to deal with, and we have to step aside and let history take its course. For you, John, this is one of those times."

Although this Colby statement would seem to be preaching John DeCamp, to forget it! Decamp sets the record straight in the revised edition of his book in the Chapter "In Memoriam Bill Colby."

"More than once, I was determined to put Franklin behind me and write it off as a horrible experience that I could do nothing about. Often, I would ask myself, "Why should I have any responsibility to do something, when others in positions of power and government responsibility do nothing? I know that Senator Schmit...felt the same way. I told Bill one time "I have done all I can do and have been burned badly—financially and credibility-wise—and, I am sure politically. I think it's time to just let it drop."

It was at those times that Bill Colby kept encouraging me and Senator Schmit, kept pushing us, almost forcing us to keep going, and to keep the press apprised. To quote his exact words: "This case is so much bigger than you think. It goes to the very highest levels; we have to keeping pulling the strings." His idea was not to investigate further—which he repeatedly warned me could be very dangerous—as to shine the sharp glare of publicity onto what had already been discovered to create the possibility of a real investigation.

It is a story of our government at both state and federal levels running amuck ...child sexual abuse, Satanism and murder...is this what any Governor or Congressmen should be about? If they are not directly involved, they are willing to go to almost any length to cover it up.

DeCamp points the finger at Nebraska Governor Bob Kerrey, who became U.S. Senator. DeCamp reports in his book, The Franklin Cover Up that Kerrey was not only involved in the cover-up but may well have been involved in the crime. Kerrey in turn helped Iowa's Democratic Governor Tom Vilsack become elected. To return the favor, Kerrey sister Jessie Rasmussen, in charge of the Nebraska Department of Health and Human services from 97-99 was hired to run the Iowa Department of Human Services.

John De Camp served 16 years as a Senator in the Nebraska Unicameral, some of the time side by side with State Senator Bob Kerrey. At one time, De Camp considered him a friend, they were fellow Viet Nam veterans, but DeCamp began to find him less than honorable. There is an old saying: "If you are not part of the solution, then you are part of the problem." Bob Kerrey is not just a corrupt politician covering for his peers, he himself is directly involved according to Larry King's photographer. Rusty Nelson photographed him at the punch bowl full of white powder. Who knows what other recreational activities Kerrey participated in at King's house on embassy row in Washington D.C.. (See A Man Called Rusty) King maintained a stable of child prostitutes both boys and girls. While his business partner, Craig Spence reported to be with the CIA, supplied young men, some aged fourteen years old, for a discerning clientele in D.C. especially Congress, the White House and the Pentagon.

Because of the enormous growth of AIDS in children and reports of Satanism in Nebraska. Was Rasmussen's job in part to hold the line and not let the information become public? Her performance is under scrutiny in Iowa. The politicians behind Project Monarch aimed to dissolve the American family. What better way to do it than to control state by state the Department of Human Services, which is supposed to aid and protect children.

During August and September of 2000 one only needs to read the local Des Moines papers to see children dying or being badly injured because the DHS didn't do its job. Rasmussen cries for more money while paying consulting fees of $5,000 a week to have her department evaluated.

September 17th, 2000, Des Moines Sunday Register reports nine children have died, all cases of abuse had been reported to DHS, prior to their deaths. Serious questions are being raised about the policies of DHS under its current director, Jesse Rasmussen. Brent Siegrist, Speaker of the Iowa House, called for further investigation of the conduct of DHS and Rasmussen in handling child abuse cases in Iowa. DHS director, Jesse Rasmussen has just asked the State Legislature for additional millions to properly protect children.

John DeCamp is a lawyer and an honest man—a patriotic man. Among those who despise lawyers, there is an old joke. Two men are walking in a graveyard when one spots a head stone. Here lies a lawyer and an honest man. Look said the other; they buried two men in the same grave. John DeCamp is an exception—he really cares for his God his country and its people.

DeCamp has taken up the causes of street kids, because he once was one. DeCamp has exposed the sexual abuse of children at Boy's Town because he once lived there. At thirteen his parents divorced. In his own words: "I split." He headed for Minneapolis where he was living on the streets. Police picked him up and a judge offered him two choices the Crosier Fathers or reform school. He took the priest and stayed with them over two years. Returning to Nebraska, he was still to young to be on his own and ended up in Boys Town.

He went to college and graduate from Law School before going to Viet Nam. Despite the fresh law degree, he requested a combat assignment. DeCamp spent 1969-1970 as a Combat Infantry Captain in the Mekong Delta. DeCamp was detailed to work directly under Ambassador William E. Colby, who was actually CIA Chief for S.E. Asia. Colby and DeCamp both Caltholics, sharing similar views became friends. Colby was to be his mentor and friend over the years. Colby later became director of the CIA under President Nixon and later Ford.

Disillusioned with how the war was being fought DeCamp became a minor celebrity when in an open letter, from the battlefield "Let Us Win or Get Us Out" demand. The World Press picked up on it and it became the campaign slogan that allowed him to successfully campaign for the Nebraska Senate seat, from the rice paddies of Vietnam.

In 1975, as Saigon was collapsing and the North Vietnamese Communist were invading, Senator DeCamp again made military and political history. DeCamp boarded a plane, returned to Viet Nam and organized what would be called "Operation Baby Lift" a humanitarian rescue mission in which 2834 half-American, half Vietnamese orphans were brought to this country.

For this work, Senator DeCamp was honored and decorated by the President at the White House and was named one of the Eight Most Outstanding Vietnam War Veterans by the Veterans support group. DeCamp always a veterans' advocate is one of two Nebraska Attorney licensed to practice before the U.S. Court of Veterans Appeals.

DeCamp had a stellar career in Nebraska. He was a delegate to the 1988 Republican Party convention. He had no idea that Larry King was there with an entourage of children to satisfy the desires of politicians and fellow delegates. A $100,000 party is given under the auspices of the Council of Minority Americans formed in May of 1988 with Alexander Haig, Jack Kemp, and Former Pres. Gerald Ford on its committee.

Back in Nebraska, Carol Stitt with the Foster Care Review Board is giving information to the Nebraska Attorney General Robert Spires relating to child sexual abuse. She had specific instructions from Nebraska Governor Orr, to pursue further investigations, which include not only foster care abuse but Boy's Town., the Girls Town.

What John De Camp did not realize was that the seeds of his own downfall were being sown around him. He had gone from a much touted (by the News Media of Nebraska) successful politician to a successful lobbyist but all this was about to change, and he would lose eighty percent of his business and must consider it lucky, that he did not lose his life in the process.

On Nov 4, 1988, the FBI and IRS raided the Franklin Credit Union of Omaha run by Larry King, who despite his $17,000 a year salary managed to throw frequent elaborate parties in Washington D.C. On December 25th, 1988 the State Foster Care Review Board turns over to the Executive Board of the Nebraska Legislator, a foot high pile of reports of sexual abuse of children. Two seemingly unrelated items were to unite and create the greatest explosion that ever hit Nebraska.

THE INDICTMENT AND CONVICTION OF ALISHA OWEN FOR PERJURY

Is It Constitutional? Is it Legal? Is it Valid?

There are 3 main points of law that would indicate a justification to set aside the guilty verdict of perjury, in the recent court case of Alisha Owen. Perjury is legally defined as: "willful lying under oath".

The FIRST point of Law being Amendment V of the U.S.Constitution. The Operative phase being "nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself." Alisha was under the compulsion of a subpoena and Neb. State Law 1977 LB 38 156, to testify as to her knowledge of child abuse in connection with the Franklin Credit Union Case. 2. Alisha was not advised of her rights prior to testimony before the Grand Jury.

The second point of Law being: Nebraska State Law 1977, LB38 156 28-711 "When any physician, medical institution, nurse, school employee, social worker, or other person has reasonable cause to believe that a child has been subjected to abuse or neglect or observes such child being subjected to conditions or circumstances which reasonably would result in abuse or neglect. He or she shall report such incident or cause a report to be made to the proper law enforcement agency.

Under this statute, on the basis of what Alisha saw and experienced herself and of what she had seen other children experience, Alisha had reasonable cause to believe that she herself, and other children were being subjected to child abuse.

Nebraska State Law 28 716 declares that any person making such a report or participating in an investigation shall be immune from civil, or criminal liability for making maliciously false statements. Alisha should have been granted immunity for her testimony.

28-717 Violations: Penalty. Any person who willfully fails to make any report required by the provisions of sections 28-710 to 28-717...shall be guilty of a class III misdemeanor. Alisha could have been liable under this law for failure to tell what she knew about child abuse in the Franklin Case.

The third point of Law being: The Douglas County Grand Jury was charged to specifically make a determination whether there was enough evidence to support an indictment of the individuals named as perpetrators in the allegations from the 'victim witness' reports of child abuse in connection with the Franklin child abuse investigation. The Grand Jury did not have legal jurisdiction to indict the witnesses to this case. The powers granted to grand juries are very specific and limited for good reason.

The grand jury in any case failed to offer any evidence of perjury by Alisha. The Grand Jury speculated that there may have been some business arrangement between Alisha Owen, Mike Casey and Gary Caradori (Investigator hired by the Franklin Committee). This alleged motive has no basis in fact or evidence. The grant jury is charged with the duty of finding evidence to indict for the crime.

THE EVIDENCE IS:

1. Alisha has never contracted with any firm or person for the purpose of "selling her story."
2. She has never granted ANY interviews to ANY reporters or ANY magazine, television or newspaper.
3. It is not proven that Alisha had any relationship but one of casual acquaintance with Mike Casey. (Sometime local freelance writer)
4. Paul Bonacci made the same types of allegations against the same people in 1986. This was 3 years prior to the formation of the Franklin Committee. Paul made these allegations to the Omaha Public School, Omaha Police Department and Nebraska Psychiatric Institute. These are some of the institutions named in his civil suit for deprivation of civil rights and negligence, because of their alleged lack of attention to his allegations. This supports Alisha's testimony and also shows that her testimony was not initiated because of some corroborative effort between Alisha and Mike Casey, the legislative committee, and Gary Caridori.

It appears evident, that it was a violation of Alisha's Fifth Amendment Rights to be charged with perjury as the result of her compelled testimony before the Grand Jury. It is unheard of in the United States to bring an indictment of perjury against a victim witness of a Grand Jury, and much more bring that indictment on the basis of a compelled testimony to that Grand Jury.

Secondly, the Douglas County Grand Jury was charged to specifically make a determination whether there was enough evidence to support indictment of the individuals named as perpetrators in the allegations from the victim witnesses" reports of child abuse in connection with the Franklin Child abuse investigation. Never before in the history of Nebraska has a Grand Jury attempted, or much more, succeeded in bringing an indictment against someone who did not fall under the scope of their charge of duty.

Thirdly, we believe that she should have been granted immunity under LB 28-716 we believe that a person in her situation is just what this law was created for. The public needs to know that never before in the history of Nebraska has such a travesty of justice occurred. Perhaps that is because in Nebraska the courts have followed the rule of state and federal constitutional law.

This travesty of justice certainly gives credence to the thought that perhaps the Douglas County Grand Jury was manned as an instrument to punish and silence the victims of these terrible crimes and to protect prominent and powerful alleged perpetrators, as well as, send a message to any other victims. This message has been heard very loud and clear.

John DeCamp is a man who has faced the ultimate frustration. The laws of this country and his birth State of Nebraska have failed the very people they are designed to serve. The actions of the courts, of the Governors, Legislators, U.S. Senators, Representative, FBI, police and sheriffs departments have made a mockery of his years of service to his country, in the military and to the State of Nebraska in 16 years service in the Legislature.

The people he sought to serve were cowered and manipulated to imprison the very children who were being harmed while the very guilty sexual perverts and deviants were being celebrated almost as heroes for the ability to beat down and jail their accusers. In the words of William Colby " there are forces and events too big, too powerful with so much at stake for other people or institutions, that you cannot do anything about them, no matter how evil or wrong they are and no matter how dedicated or sincere you are or how much evidence you have."

If there is a Nebraska Hall of Fame, an honor roll of heros, then John DeCamp deserves that special high place among them. In more than 12 years he has done battle with the corrupted system of Nebraska. He has often been knocked down but like Rocky Balboa, he never failed to get up and continue to fight..

William Colby

The following materials are excerpts from:
"Secret Agenda Operation PaperClip - Linda Hunt

"Blank Check: Pentagon's Black Budget" p-132-33 - Tom Weiner

William Colby entered John DeCamps life, while he was in Viet Nam serving as a Captain in Military Intelligence. Colby was chief of CIA's far eastern division from 1962-67. Since the 1950s Colby had been involved in CIA clandestine operations.

Quoting from Tom Weiner's book: "He took time out only to run the Phoenix program, a civilian led counter-insurgency operation that had led to the death of more than 20,000 Vietnamese." In reality this was a joint military/CIA operation that made the Mafia Murder Inc. look like child's play. I have personally talked to ex-soldiers, marksmen, who had a civilian CIA man, stand behind him with a cocked pistol saying: "See that old man in the village below. Kill him or I will blow your brains out!" This was Project Phoenix in action. Anyone who was remotely suspected as a leader in the small villages in Viet Nam was marked for death by execution from afar. According to Wiener the number in which the CIA acted as judge, jury and executioner was at least 20,000.

No war before Viet Nam has produced the number of post-traumatic stressed syndromes, as has the Viet Nam war. The number of those killed in Viet Nam exceeded 50,000. The number of Viet Nam vets, who have since committed suicide exceed to the number killed in action.. A company clerk in Vietnam, who handled the personnel files, reported, the CIA scoured records looking for psychos, which were put into a special division. The clerk remembers the CIA co-opting the printing presses used to make up multiple copies of new directives etc. When he returned, he found in the trash discards with satanic symbols on them. He was forced to accompany a group of soldiers once, but he remembers nothing of it except leaving and coming back. But he does know that the psycho units murdered and pillaged, did not hesitate to bash in the head of children before raping the mothers and then killing them.

These were part of the CIA operations that William Colby commanded during part of that war. They were part also of Captain John DeCamp's job. How then was this a counter-insurgency movement, which suggests Vietnamese killing Vietnamese? They might indeed have had a part in it but it was the CIA that acted as judge and jury, and then supplied the executioner. There is no record of how many men were killed rather than be forced to kill from ambush, civilian.

Here is Tom Weiner's description of Colby "Colby was a graduate of Princeton, Princetonian in his demeanor and speech: proper, almost patrician, in bearing; mild manner but capable of being cold blooded...

Colby's family background was military and devoutly Roman Catholic; both facts are clue to his apostasy. He would follow any legitimate order."

It should be noted here that like all employees, he was subjected to a mild form of mind control propaganda, which suggested that even dirty deadly deeds were possible in the service of country for the protection of national security. It was the National Security Act of 1947, that allowed the CIA to begin using any or all of the American population as a kind of laboratory animal preserve for trying out various means of mind control, both individual and in groups.

The CIA and another secret covert operations behind the government have infected whole towns with airborne virus designed to test the ability of infrastructure to sustain itself. Author Leonard Horowitz in his "Aids and Ebola" book produces documentary evidence that individuals and organization—including Universities under government contract produced the AIDS virus and set about disseminating it to promiscuous homosexual before including it in a hepatitis B vaccine and inoculated half of Africa.

In April 1971, Richard Helms, Director of the CIA gave a speech to the Society of Newspaper Editors. In which he declared "take it on faith that we too are honorable men." Four years later it fell to then Director Colby to admit that Helms had lied to Congress. From this point Colby was no longer well respected in the Intelligence community. He had committed the unpardonable sin, he told Congress the truth.

TED L. GUNDERSON, FBI
SPECIAL AGENT IN CHARGE
LOS ANGELES, RET.

TED GUNDERSON – MAN WITH A MISSION

The Real FBI Story

Ted L. Gunderson retired from the FBI in 1979 after 28 years. He was head of the Los Angeles Bureau of the FBI at the time, covering not only L.A but also a large section of California. Ted looked foreword to forming a lucrative Private Investigative Practice and bouncing his grandchildren on his knees. Instead 21 years later, some regard him as a kook and crazy conspiracy theorist. Gunderson chose to put his time and energy into investigating the unthinkable that in America women and children were victims of Satanic and pedophilic abuse. Pursuit of the truth has cost him a great deal!

For those of you who are old enough to remember Efrem Zimbalist Jr. in The FBI Story, which aired in the late 60s early 70s, you have a perfect picture of FBI Man Ted Gunderson. His job was to preserve and protect the public not to protect high ranking political pedophiles.

When Gunderson retired in 1979, he formed Ted L. Gunderson and Associates, of Santa Monica, California, an international security consulting and investigation firm. World-renowned trial lawyer F. Lee Bailey often hired Gunderson's firm. Bailey describes him as "a person whose investigative skills are unsurpassed by anyone I know or have known."

In 1979, just after his retirement U.S. Attorney General Griffin Bell appointed him special consultant to the Pan America Olympic Games, San Juan, and Puerto Rico. He was a consultant on international terrorism and security matters. In 1981-82, he was appointed by California Governor Jerry Brown and later became a consultant on terrorism and security for the Los Angeles Olympic Committee in 1984.

His service record was exemplary. Yet he has been removed from the Retired FBI Association, primarily because he does his job too well. In his first 9 years, he was in counter intelligence/espionage. But before his retirement, he was the senior agent in charge of Nashville, Dallas and finally in Los Angeles.

Gunderson is author, lecturer and radio broadcaster. E.P. Dutton published his: "How to Locate Anyone Anywhere Without Leaving Home." He has lectured and published numerous reports and articles on Satanism and missing children. His investigation includes the Oklahoma Bombing and the CIA Drug smuggling.

A retired FBI Man investigating the CIA is not exactly healthy. Gunderson has been forced to go underground and eventually lost his business while trying to avoid a series of murder attempts. Gunderson has no difficulty understanding how such death threats could have been lodged against Noreen Gosch. Gunderson has come to realize that the government eliminates its foes...by discrediting or death. Here are his words:

"For the last 20 years, there have been numerous stationery and moving surveillance's of me. When I see stationery surveillance, I strap on my gun and confront the individual or individuals. On two occasions, I chased the subjects out of the neighborhood. One ran a red light to get away from me. The individuals involved are probably contracted employees for the CIA, members, I suspect, of the "shadow government". They discontinued the stationery surveillances in 1993. Since then they have periodically entered my automobile, usually at night, and turned on the directional signal to let me know they have been in my car and are watching me.

On several occasions, they entered my condominium in Las Vegas, at night while I was sleeping and took files from my cabinet. From May 3 to May 10, 2000 while I was in Philadelphia, my condominium was burglarized. There was no forced entry. The suspected CIA burglars took four of my storage boxes of documents, which contained sensitive material and research. I have since been able to replace these. They also stole my FBI memorabilia, cherished items commemorating the days when I worked with my fellow agents on clean operations.

I have been photographed and videotaped on numerous occasions from automobiles and on one occasion on the golf course and on another occasion, at a picnic in a public park. I suspect the individuals taking these pictures are CIA contract employees. I have also received numerous threatening and hang up phone calls. Their favorite phone calls involve the sound of a phonograph needle at the end of a record. I have also received numerous phone calls of individuals chanting on the line. I have recorded these calls. My mail has also been opened and I filed a formal complaint with the postal inspectors.

In May 1993, while driving from Omaha, Nebraska to Lincoln, Nebraska, at 75 miles an hour, my right front wheel came off. I was in Nebraska working on the Franklin case. I called the Nebraska Highway Patrol. The Patrolman, Officer Lamb, told me the lug nuts on the right front wheel had been loosened, which caused the accident. Fortunately, I was able to control the car. The Repairman later told me that some of the lug nuts on the left front wheel were also loosened, but apparently the intruder was interrupted while loosening the lug nuts, as the others were intact.

ATTEMPTS TO FRAME TED L. GUNDERSON FOR A CRIMINAL VIOLATION

Between March and August 1983, the FBI and DEA attempted to frame Ted Gunderson (this writer) through a girl named Pam Fawsett, an FBI informant. In August 1983, Fawsett called me and said she wanted to meet with me. She told me of her assignment by the FBI, a plot that involved a series of recorded telephone conversations between her and me. She furnished a hand-written note by an agent, which listed the questions; she was to ask in one of the phone calls. The agent carelessly forgets to retrieve the note.

During the 6 months she was working with the FBI in an attempt to frame me, she was paid $2000 and had access to the FBI Modesto, California office. She even had her own coffee cup. She then furnished a series of three signed statements, and for documentation, the hand-written note the agent failed to retrieve. When I asked Pam Fawsett, why she came over to my side, she told me, "Ted, I woke up the other morning and realized you were the only honest son of a bitch I have talked to in 6 months".

The last time I talked to Pam, she said she was going into hiding because she was on a "hit" list. Pam was heavily involved in drugs and had numerous contacts in the drug community. Up to that time, I had worked a number of cases involving drug activity; among those was the Dr. Jeffrey R. MacDonald case. This case involved a major drug cover-up involving the transporting of drugs from Southeast Asia in military planes in plastic bags in the body cavities of dead G.I.'s coming into the United States (Time magazine, January 1, 1973). It is very possible that this planned "hit" is due to her involvement in this case.

WIRETAP ON GUNDERSON

In April 1985, I learned there was an illegal telephone tap on my office line at 1100 Glendon Avenue, Suite 1200, Los Angeles, CA. I filed a lawsuit and subsequently received an out of court settlement from GTE. I was placed in a position of taking the settlement rather than pursuing the lawsuit because I could not afford an attorney and could not locate one who would take the case on a contingency basis.

I learned that the tap was administered by a telephone answering service known as Answer All Answering Service, on W. Pico Boulevard, in Los Angeles. I visited the site and noted approximately 150 wires coming into the building that appeared to have been abruptly cut. The occupants apparently left in a hurry with their equipment.

Prior to filing the lawsuit with the phone company, I was tipped by a confidential source inside the phone company and was able to obtain photographs of automobiles parked in the area and people coming and going from that location. These photographs are in safekeeping.

TED GUNDERSON, CIA FILE

In July of 1999, a confidential source advised me, this writer, that my CIA file at Langley, Virginia is the thickest he has ever seen. Despite attempts by the "Shadow Government" to wipe out my documentation through burglaries, my file on CIA-FBI corruption is also the thickest one I have ever seen, except for the copies securely hidden in a number of places (recall Rusty Nelson), which are about the same size of the original, give or take a stolen box here and there."

Gunderson has continued to fight for the lost souls in America, who fall between the cracks, mostly because the public is asleep or busy listening to the propagandist, who run most of the major media. In his late 70s, Gunderson is flying, faxing, phoning and fighting in every way to restore law and order to this country, to restore a Constitutional form of government.

July 6, 2000, Ted Gunderson was on the phone at 5 a.m., to save the life of Rusty Nelson marked for extermination. Rusty was imprisoned because he had taken photographs at parties by Larry King, implicating some of the nations leading politicians. After more than 10 years on the run Rusty Nelson was jailed for taking pornographic pictures. Paroled from the state of Oregon, in the custody of Nebraska Attorney John DeCamp. Judge Urbom ordered all files and photos sealed, claiming that it would ruin many of the outstanding citizens of the state of Nebraska. Why would a Federal Judge consider people who had sex with children outstanding citizens?

Rusty took the pictures, Rusty had the negatives, so suddenly it became imperative that he be put back into prison and if possible die quickly. Gunderson has mounted and Internet campaign with hundreds of copies of a 50-page report fired off to Bill Clinton, Janet Reno Al Gore—anyone and everyone in any authority in this country.

Noreen Gosch droved to Omaha Nebraska to personally hand deliverd the report to the prison where Rusty was being held. The abusive treatment included withholding epilepsy drugs.

Gunderson wrote the foreword to the book "The Mystery of the Careful Crafted Hoax". The book was published by the Nebraska Leadership Conference to refute the Omaha World Herald campaign branding the Franklin Investigation as a hoax. Gunderson explains, how he became involved in investigations cases that the FBI would not touch…or as he came to realize later that the FBI deliberately covered up even to resorting to murder (see FBI Friend or Foe).

Gunderson states "After I retired in March, 1979 as Senior Special Agent in charge of the FBI in Los Angeles, California, I was contacted by friends of Doctor Jeffrey R. McDonald, the former green beret, who had been convicted of murdering his wife and two children at Fort Bragg, North Carolina in February of 1970. McDonald, as well as a group of close personal friends, claimed that he was innocent of the crime.

After hundreds of hours of investigation he interviewed Helena Stoeckley, who had become a suspect in the murders. In 1978, Stoeckley had contacted the FBI to make a full confession. The FBI, refused to talk to her. She had told others that she was part of a "satanic cult" that had only meant to frighten McDonald because he was identifying soldiers who OD'd on drugs to hospital officials. The cult was in charge of moving the heroine from Fort Bragg to the eastern market. It was being smuggled in the body cavities of dead soldiers Gunderson states: "In October of 1989, my associate and I convinced Stoeckley that it would be in her best interest to confess. She then gave us a signed statement in which she admitted her satanic cult had murdered McDonald's family. Stoeckley's admission was ignored. The Dept of Justice attorneys, and the FBI, stuck to their theory that McDonald committed the crimes. Despite the evidence of innocence, Jeffrey McDonald is still serving two life sentences. All efforts to secure another trial have failed.

At the time, Gunderson says, he had heard about satanic cults but didn't truly believe in their existence. But during the past 21 years, he has had contact with hundreds of adult survivors of satanic cults. These include former law enforcement officers, and politicians along with ordinary people. "I have talked with psychiatrist, psychologist and sociologist. I have developed confidential sources and informants who have had direct contact with cult members. Unfortunately 44 of them have been killed in the course of investigations. I have received and gathered hard evidence from journalists, who have written stories about the numerous "satanic murders" in America (Gunderson was always a field agent, Ken Lanning, who claims to be an analyst for the FBI at Quantico claims there is not one incident of satanic murders that he knows about).

Gunderson goes on to explain: I have helped gather information for books such as "The Ultimate Evil" by Maury Terry's and "Cults that Kill" by Larry Kahaner. I have been a guest on numerous radio and television shows. Today, I am regarded as an expert in the area of satanic cult crime"

Despite the fact that 20/20 secured boxes of police file documents on Satanism and child kidnapping from Gunderson, which they have now misplaced. They also regarded him as "a conspiracy nut". Why would they bother to gather these documents if they regarded him as such a "nut"?

Without hesitation Gunderson declares: "I can state without hesitation, that there is, indeed, a national cult network—including satanic, witchcraft, pedophile and occult groups—which is operating at full throttle within our society today. The activities of these groups (It is, in reality, one group which operates on many levels) including the kidnapping and molestation of children, as well as the torture and murder of human beings. Their favorite victims are children and newborn babies, the young the better.

The cult lives, indeed thrives on drug sales, pornography and prostitution. The cult network is largely responsible for the recent rash of "snuff" films, which are sold at high prices to people who crave this sick, degenerate material. Children kidnapped and literally "owned" by the cult are sold on the open market to the highest bidder. These children are taken right off the streets of our cities, and traded through a national pedophile network."

If you check the Chapter on Satanism, you will see two sides of the government involvement in the deepest level of Satanism. Aquino became a Satanist high priest with under Anton LeVay, who created the Church of Satan in California. Aquino rose in the rank from Lieutenant to Lieutenant. Col. military. Despite the fact he was accused at the Presidio Military base of molesting children.

Aquino later founded Temple of Set in the military. Satanism through his efforts is now a recognized religion in the military. He continued to receive the best military training ranging from the Command and Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, (School for Generals) to the War College in Washington D.C. National Security Agency documents indicated he was engaged in mind war experiment "creating for the government the perfect "Manchurian Candidates." Ken Lanning…supposedly an expert in Behavioral Science at Quantico, he and others in this department create profiles of cannibals, serial killers, Satanists and pedophiles. However, Lanning continues to assure everyone who logs into www.fbi.org that there is no satanic crime in America. This totally contradicts thousands of police reports.

Gunderson continues: The cult guards its secrets and controls its people primarily through the use of fear. They have an intricate system of reward and punishment. They also deal in disinformation, intimidation, blackmail and murder. My investigations have revealed that the satanic cult network has even set up preschools across the country, which they use as a source for kiddy-pornography and child prostitution. They have successfully infiltrated the public school system as well. (In the Chapter "A Man Called Rusty" Russell Nelson claims to have been beside Larry King on a Lear Jet, flying into Washington D.C., when King called Ronald Reagan about re-opening the pre-school. He claims he recognized Reagan's voice and the pre-school was re-opened by the time they landed in Washington) Several tabloids and the Franklin Cover-up book have shown pictures of Maureen Reagan draped over Larry King. The picture by its very nature suggests a close relationship. King sang the National Anthem at the 1988 Republican Party Convention.

Through out this country Gunderson has met with the media and shown them mountains of police reports, newspaper clippings that clearly indicate there is an epidemic of satanic human sacrifice and cannibalism. Rusty Nelson can confirm this with photographs; Paul Bonnaci was witness to it and participated in human sacrifice and snuff films.

Due to his relentless investigation of Satanic crime, sexual abuse of children and drugs. "Two confidential and reliable sources advised Ted Gunderson (this writer) in July, 1982, that there were two contracts on my life, one by the Israeli Mafia (on an unrelated matter) and the other by "the satanic cult" out of Florida and Houston, Texas.

My landlady advised me that on the first Thursday in July of 1982, at 1:30 a.m., when she was parking her car, she noticed two men sitting in an automobile across the street from my front door. One of the men got out of the car, walked over to her and asked if she knew where Ted Gunderson lived. I had previously told her, if anyone asks about me to tell them she didn't know me. She told the man she didn't know Ted Gunderson. She went into her apartment and watched from her window until 1:45 a.m. until she saw them leave. By divine intervention, I did not go home that night but was visiting a friend.

I successfully eliminated the Israeli 'hit' almost immediately through one of my confidential contacts. It took me a year and a half to eliminate the satanic cult 'hit.' Because I had to go undercover, I was not able to work openly during this year and a half and lost my private investigation business.

A third attempt on my life, occurred on May 19, 1987. By divine intervention, I stayed at my daughter's home and did not go return that evening to my business partner's home, where I was living. My business partner was out of the country; his wife and 12-year-old son were home. The next morning, when I met my partner's wife at work, she told me that at 11:00 p.m. that past evening, she heard an intruder come in the front door, on the first floor. She was on the third floor and locked herself in the bedroom. She went to the telephone extension located in the bedroom, but the phone was dead. She laid awake in bed terrified from 11:00 p.m. till 2:00 a.m., when the intruder left.

The next day, I contacted an informant, who advised me that Bill Mentzer, known in the satanic cult/sex/drug network as Charles Manson, II, was the individual who was waiting for me to come home the previous night."

Gunderson has indicated that over four hundred individuals, who are knowledgeable about the CIA's involvement in drugs and other criminal activities have been marked for death

Although Ted Gunderson is now nearly 80, he continues to travel... to investigate. One day his in Las Vegas, then Canada, Washington State, New York and Connecticut. Often times, he is running on a shoestring financially. His investigative business was forced to shut down, after he had to go into hiding to avoid yet another attempt to kill him.

In 1996, Gunderson thru his hat in ring, as a Presidential Candidate in the Democratic Party. Gunderson got himself on the primary ballot in New Hampshire. He was scheduled to take part in the debates. He had videotape, which he felt went a long way toward explaining why he was getting involved. On a Friday, a TV station told him it would cost five thousand dollars to put the program on and had agreed to air it. On Monday, they had decided that someone on the sales staff had misspoke and the price was actually $25,000. Not only was this beyond the budget, but also shortly before flying east to take part in the debate, he was notified he had been dropped.

No one who knows Ted would doubt that he is.... a man with a mission. He has watched in horror as the FBI, where he served for 28 years, turned into a Gestapo, who harass witness and victims of satanic sexual abuse. He has viewed Ken Lanning's findings, on the FBI Web site, as a disservice to the America public. When Gunderson served in the 50s-thru the 70's, when protecting the public, was the FBI's job!

Gunderson is like John DeCamp, a reluctant hero, who fights on today long past the age of retirement. Those who know him feel that if an honest President by some miracle could be elected, Ted L. Gunderson could make an ideal and honest head of the FBI.

The Finders: CIA Kidnappers

The Finders are a CIA front established in the 1960s. It has top security clearance and protection in the assigned task of kidnapping and torture-programming young children throughout the U.S. Members are specially trained government kidnappers known to be sexual degenerates, who involve the kidnapped children in Satanic sex orgies and slaughter of animals. They use a fleet of unmarked vans to grab targeted children from parks and schoolyards. In doing so, they use children within their organization as decoys to attract the victims close to the vans where they are grabbed by the adults. They transport the children to a series safe houses to keep them from being found.

They are then used in their Satanic ceremonies, for body parts, as sex slaves and some are auctioned off at various locations in the Northern Hemisphere. In the past, the Finders have auctioned off children, in a location near Las Vegas, Nevada, and Toronto, Canada.

Marion David Petite, the leader of the cult, is an identified homosexual, pedophile and a CIA officer. His son was an employee of a CIA proprietary firm, Air America, which was notorious for smuggling drugs destined for the U.S. out of the Golden Triangle into Saigon during the Vietnam War.

...Ted Gunderson,

Published in Media By-Pass Magazine February 2000

On July 17, 1991, Ted Gunderson was interviewed by Jan Michaelson's WHO - 1090 talk radio show in Des Moines. John M. Zielinski had arranged for a panel of experts including Lee Orr, K.C. Homicide Detective, expert on Satanic homicide, Dr Judienne Ann Densen-Gerber, psychiatrist and lawyer and expert of Satanism and North American Man Boy Love Association. And Noreen Gosch, mother of kidnap victim Johnny Gosch. When Michaelson asked how it was possible that these camps could be kept secret? Gunderson explained, that they usually had inside connections and if some branch of law enforcement planned a raid. The children would then be moved before anyone could mount a search. This was exactly the way it happened with the Finders.

WHO-TV cameras were rolled into Michaelson's studio. Major news coverage resulted from this interview. Michaelson has since declined to reply to any letters or phone calls from July 17,1991 to the present. Gunderson was later able to state that the Des Moines area had one of the safe houses. A local private investigator with friends inside the Des Moines Police and Polk County Sheriff's office confirmed the same information.

HOW THE FINDERS WERE UNCOVERED

An UPI story from the Arizona Republic, Phoenix Arizona, February 1987. Dateline: Tallahassee, Fla: Police said six filthy and confused young children, taken from two men charged with child abuse, had been given away by their parents as part of a Satanic cult ritual.

Authorities in Tallahassee and Washington were trying today to learn the identities of the six children, locate their parents and learn more about an, unidentified "satanic cult" apparently based in Washington.

The men were arrested in a city park Wednesday after someone called police about two well-dressed men in a blue van watching over six "filthy" children. A police spokesman, Scott Hunt said "It is our belief these kids were not, kidnapped, but that their parents gave them away because one of the rites of passage into this Satanic organization is that you have to give up your rights to your children."

The Washington Post reported today that the U.S Customs Service is helping with the investigation. Pictures, found at a Washington D.C. warehouse, linked to this group include those of children engaged in what appeared to be "cult rituals."

The newspaper said the group was known as The Finders and was made up of about 40 people, who lived in the District of Columbia and on a farm in rural Virginia; the remains of a popular 1960s hippie refuge that evolved into a Satanist society.

Hunt said a 6-year old girl in the group showed signs of sexual abuse. The children—four boys and two girls ranging in age from 2 to 6—were put in state custody.

Hunt said the children, who had not bathed in days and were covered with scratches and insect bites. They told police they had not eaten in 24 hours. He said, they had "bizarre" names like "Benjamin Franklin, "Honey Bee" and B.B.

The men initially told police they were taking the youths to Mexico to begin a school for brilliant children. When they could not explain the children's condition or name their parents, Hunt said, the men refused to answer further questions.

The children told police, they had not seen their mothers since before Christmas. One girl said the men fed them mostly fruit and all of them had been sleeping in the van or in a tent.

A U.S. Customs Document signed by Walter F. Kreitlow II, Special Agent and Frederic D. Haiduk, Resident in Charge concluded that it was no customs case, but that both the Washington D.C. Metropolitan Police Department and the Tallahassee Police Department were investigating child sexual abuse.

CUSTOMS AGENT - MARTINEZ REPORT

Customs agent, Ramon J. Martinez determined that the children ranging in age from seven to two were unaware of the function and purpose of telephones, televisions and toilets. The children had stated they were not allowed to live indoors and were only given food as a reward. These children were raised much like chickens or hogs.

Detective Jim Bradley, from the Metropolitan Washington Police, had been told by an informant in December of 1986 of the Finders, who where operating various businesses out of a warehouse located at 1307 4th St., N.E.. and were supposed to be housing children at 3918/3920 W St., N.W. "The information was specific in describing "blood rituals", sexual orgies involving children, and an unsolved murder, in which the Finders may be involved. With the information provided by the informant, Detective Bradley was able to match some of these children in Tallahassee with names of children known alleged to be in the custody of the Finders. Search warrants were obtained for the two locations.

Martinez writes: I was able to observe and access the entire building. I saw large quantities of children's clothing and toys. The clothing consisting of diapers and clothes in the toddler to pre-school range. No children were found on the premises. There were several subjects on the premises. Only one was deemed to be connected with The Finders. He was identified as Stuart Miles Silverstone, DOB/061941, U.S. Passport No. 010958991.

Silverstone was located in a room equipped with several computers, printers, and numerous documents. Cursory examination of the documents revealed detailed instruction for obtaining children for unspecified purposes. The instructions included the impregnation of female members of the community known as Finders, purchasing children, trading, and kidnapping.There were telex messages using MCI account numbers between a computer terminals believed to be located in foreign locations. One such telex specifically ordered the purchase of two children in Hong Kong to be arranged through a contact in the Chinese Embassy there. Another telex expressed an interest in "bank secrecy" situations. Other documents identified interest in high-tech transfers to the United Kingdom, numerous properties under the control of the Finders, a keen interest in terrorism, explosives, and the evasion of law enforcement.

Also found in the "computer room" was a detailed summary of the events surrounding the arrest and taking into custody the two adults and six children in Tallahassee, Florida on the previous night. There were also a set of instructions which appeared to be broadcast via a computer network which advised participants to move "the children" and keep them moving through different jurisdictions, and instructions on how to avoid police attention.

On Friday, 2/6/87, I (Martinez) met Detective Bradley at the warehouse on 4th Street, N.E. I was again granted unlimited access to the premises. I was able to observe numerous documents which described explicit sexual conduct between the members of the community know as Finders. I also saw a large collection of photographs of unidentified persons. Some of the photographs were nudes, believed to be of members of the Finders. There were numerous photos of children, some nude, at least one of which was a photo of a child "on display" and appearing to accent the child's genitals. I was only able to examine a very small amount of the photos at this time. However, one of the officers presented me with a photo album for my review. The album contained a series of photos of adults and children dressed in white sheets participating in a "blood ritual." The ritual centered around the execution of at least two goats. The photos portrayed the execution, disembowelment, skinning and dismemberment of the goats at the hands of the children, This included the removal of the testes of a male goat, the discovery of a female goat's "womb" and the "baby goats" inside the womb, and the presentation of a goats head to one of the children.

Further inspection of the premises disclosed numerous files relating to activities of the organization in different parts of the world. Locations I observed are as follows: London, Germany, the Bahamas, Japan, Hong Kong, Malaysia, Africa, Costa Rica. There was also a file identified as Palestinian.

He continued to narrate that other information he got from Metropolitan police indicated that they had files on private families not related to The Finders and they had undertaken a systematic response to local newspaper advertisements for babysitters, tutors, etc.. A number of the members of the Finders would respond and gather as much information as possible about the habits, identity, occupation, etc of the family. The use to which this information was to be put is still unknown. There was also a large amount of data collected on various childcare organizations. (Larry King, director of the Franklin Credit Union in Omaha Nebraska, owned a day care center in Washington D.C.)

The warehouse contained a large library, two kitchens, a sauna, hot tub, and a "video room". The video room seemed to be set up as an indoctrination center. It also appeared that the organization had the capability to produce its own videos. There were what appeared to be training areas for children and what appeared to be an altar set up in a residential area of the warehouse. Many jars of urine and feces were located in this area. I should also mention that both premises were equipped with satellite dish antennas.

Martinez ran into a stonewall, when he attempted to pursue the matter a month later. He tried to contact Detective James Bradley who was unavailable; he spoke to a third party who was only willing to discuss it off the record.

Martinez wrote concerning the passports of the men arrested, "I was advised that all the passport data had been turned over to the State Department for their investigation. The State Department in turn, advised MPD that all travel and use of the passports by the holders of the passports was within the law and no action would be taken. This included travel to Moscow, North Korea, and North Vietnam from the late 1950's to mid 1970's." At least two were considered off limits according to U.S. law.

Martinez continued: "The individual further advised me of circumstances which indicated that the investigation into the activity of the Finders had become a CIA Internal matter. The MPD report has been classified secret and was not available for review. I was advised that the FBI had withdrawn from the investigation several weeks prior and the FBI Foreign Counter Intelligence Division, had directed MPD not to advise the FBI Washington Field Office of anything that had transpired."

What has been said quite clearly by Ted Gunderson and others is that The Finders was and is a CIA operation, therefore could not be touched. The matter was closed from 1987 until 1994.

U.S News & World Report of Dec 22,93/Jan 3, 1994.
THROUGH A GLASS DARKLY

"The case is almost seven years old now, but matters surrounding a mysterious group known as the Finders keep growing curiouser and curiouser. The more the police learned about the Finders, the more bizarre they seemed: There were suggestions of child abuse, Satanism, dealing in pornography and ritualistic animal slaughter."

The article described several photographs of nude children, what Martinez recorded was hundreds if not thousands of photos. A photo album illustrating animal slaughter. Instructions for kidnapping and selling children, there was strong indication that they were marketed around the world It is a wonder the article made it in at all!

A ranking official for the CIA describes allegations of links with the intelligence agency as "hogwash".

U.S News reports Marion David Pettie, the leader of The Finders, says his group was never connected to the CIA and had never been involved in child abuse, pornography, Satanism, animal slaughter or anything of the kind. And who can dispute them since the CIA declared the evidence collected secret. Petite says the group numbers 20 and they engaged in freelance journalism, and research for a variety of clients and live as a communal, holistic living and learning arrangement.

To Ted Gunderson's best knowledge, The Finders continue to go on as before, rumors of further investigation by the Justice Department in 1994 are much exaggerated Gunderson has a complete bound report with all police and newspaper documents on the Finders.

REPORT OF INVESTIGATION CONTINUATION

2. CASE
3. REPORT NUMBER 1

DETAILS OF INVESTIGATION:

On March 31, 1987, I contacted Detective James Bradley of the Washington, D.C. Metropolitan Police Department (MPD). I was to meet with Detective Bradley to review the documents seized pursuant to two search warrants executed in February 1987. The meeting was to take place on April 2 or 3, 1987.

On April 2, 1987, I arrived at MPD at approximately 9:00 a.m. Detective Bradley was not available. I spoke to a third party who was willing to discuss the case with me on a strictly "off the record" basis.

I was advised that all the passport data had been turned over to the State Department for their investigation. The State Department in turn, advised MPD that all travel and use of the passports by the holders of the passports was within the law and no action would be taken. This included travel to Moscow, North Korea, and North Vietnam from the late 1950's to mid 1970's.

The individual further advised me of circumstances which indicated that the investigation into the activity of the FINDERS had become a CIA internal matter. The MPD report has been classified secret and was not available for review. I was advised that the FBI had withdrawn from the investigation several weeks prior and that the FBI Foreign Counter Intelligence Division had directed MPD not to advise the FBI Washington Field Office of anything that had transpired.

No further information will be available. No further action will be taken.

ACTION TO BE TAKEN BY LESD/TECS:

No action to be taken on the basis of this report.

A CIA internal matter meant no further investigation of the Finders and the police reports were declared "secret." The map above shows with a star the exact location of the warehouse.

FBI statement on Johnny Gosch: "WE HAVE NO CRIME.!"
NOREEN replies: "I have no son, he was kidnapped ......
Kidnapping is a Federal Crime.!"

FBI Friend or Foe?

September 5, 1982, Police Chief Orval Cooney kept telling me that the FBI would not be entering the case. I called the local FBI office and request an agent to come to my home. They sent Special Agents Ed Mall and David Oxler. When they arrived they sat down at the table and told me they would not be entering the case because, in their words "WE HAVE NO CRIME." I responded, "I have no son, he was kidnapped, you have all the information from the witness's, kidnapping is a Federal Crime." The agents informed me the Police Chief, Orval Cooney had briefed them telling them there was no need for them to enter the case... That he could handle the situation. I could not believe what was happening. It seemed the world had gone completely nuts. A little boy was kidnapped off the street and the FBI would not enter the case.

I grew up watching the FBI Story with Efrem Zimbalist Jr. and really believed that they entered kidnap cases and set up a command post in the homes of the families. NOT TRUE.... THEY DON'T!

.... Noreen N. Gosch

I used to be disturbed by the fact that media, police and FBI were not doing the job of finding my son or the people who took him. But it seemed that they were determined to place as many obstacles in front of me as they could.... I felt like a one armed fireman jumping from fire to fire.

My life was worse, when I didn't know why…THEY were trying to stifle the investigation and any hopes of my seeing my son alive again. They did not investigate my son's case ... DELIBERATLY! I believe my son and I were pawns in a much bigger game than I could even imagine.

Every time a clue or lead surfaced indicating Johnny might be alive…. the FBI…. The same FBI, who said "We Have No Crime", would gallop in and suck up all information, never to be seen again. I always referred to them like a huge "vacuum cleaner"…. Information and dirt goes one way…

In 1985, I received a letter from a woman in Sioux City, Iowa, she sent me a dollar bill she received in change at the grocery store. The dollar bill contained a hand written message from Johnny. It said, "I am alive…Johnny Gosch". The handwriting looked like samples I had of Johnny's. I immediately contacted a hand-writing expert to verify the signature…. He said it was definitely Johnny's handwriting and the approximate time frame the signature had been applied. It meant my son was alive.

I did not tell the authorities until I had the opportunity to contact Iowa Senators Charles Grassley and Tom Harkin asking their help in this matter. They put me in touch with someone from the U.S. Treasury Office in Washington, D.C. It was at that time I learned the "travel route" of this dollar bill. I learned that a dollar bill generally only travels in a short radius of the area it is released and it has a very short life. We think of a dollar bill as turning up on either coast etc, they do but the local area is more often the case.

I called back to Senators Grassley and Harken, telling them I wanted to do a "press conference" from the Nation's capitol to show the dollar bill and appeal to the kidnappers to return my son. Both Senators cooperated and did their part in setting up a date, time and place in the Capitol for the press conference. I took care of the rest. I sent packets of material to all of the people I had worked with in the media to that point. I gave them the location, date and time of the press conference.

When I arrived in Washington D.C., I was treated most graciously by both Senators and the men from the Treasury Dept. We discussed the plan for the press conference and the continued investigation of the "dollar bill".

While we were riding the "inter-building tram" from Grassley's office to the Capitol, Senator Grassley leaned over and said "Now please do not be disappointed if you only have a few reporters show up…. The Washington Press is very independent." I smiled and said "thank you". When we walked up to the Capitol, into the room for the press conference, the room was filled with press nearly a hundred from newspapers.

television (both local and network) and radio. Senator Grassley looked at Senator Harkin and said "My God how did she do this, I can get this many people to come to one of my press conferences."

The FBI by now had heard of the existence of the dollar bill, they no doubt saw the press conference. When I arrived home, the FBI paid a visit to my home and demanded "the dollar bill." I had made plenty of copies of it, verified it was my son's signature by experts and conferred with the U.S. Treasury Dept., so at that point, I turned over the dollar bill to the agents. The dollar bill has never been seen again.... It went up into the huge FBI Vacuum cleaner.

Kidnapped children are being kept alive and transported around the country... evidence such as the dollar bill in our case supported the fact Johnny was still alive. The case of the girl in Florida, whose picture was found in a convenience store parking lot, showing her tied and gagged in the back of a van. She is originally from Arizona and yet three years later, photos of her are found in Florida. I have spoken a few times to her mother and the photo was validated as "current". Did the FBI investigate this? Did they do any investigation on the dollar bill? I did my own investigation. I have learned the hard way that if you want something to be done....you have to do it yourself.

It has been more than 18 years since my son was kidnapped. I have relied upon my private investigators, who have been able to supply me with the evidence of not only what happened to Johnny but that he is still alive.

According to former Mayor of West Des Moines, George Mills; " Orval Cooney, West Des Moines Police Chief was a friend of Omaha Chief of Police Robert Wadman." In a recent conversation with George Mills, he quickly stated he had only met Wadman one time but he was "really Orval's friend".

Robert Wadman according to Senator Loren Schmit and the Nebraska Franklin Investigation was a major figure in pedophile activity in the Omaha area as well as a major figure in the cover up. Shortly after the legislature had formed the Franklin Investigative Committee, Schmit received a threatening phone call from Wadman stating "I've got something on you."

When evidence mounted in the investigation that led Loren Schmit to believe it was beyond the boundaries of the legislature, he sought out friend and legal representative John DeCamp to accompany him to the FBI offices. The Regional Head of the FBI, Nick Ohara, informed DeCamp and Schmit that Wadman was his close friend and a friend to the FBI. When the scandal ran Wadman out of town, he apparently had the assistance of the FBI in securing the job of Chief of Police of Aurora, Il. This was suspiciously near the site where Chief Investigator for the Nebraska Legislature, Gary Caradori's plane crashed, killing him and his eight-year-old son A.J.

A phone call from Caradori to Senator Loren Schmit, the night before the crash, stating; "I have the evidence to put them away," this might have jeopardized Caradori's life. Schmit and others involved later agreed the telephone lines must have been tapped. The question is .... Who has the capacity to tap the telephone lines to the Nebraska Legislature?

DeCamp states; "mystery surrounded not only the crash of the airplane, but Caradori's whole trip." The Lakefront Hotel in Chicago where Caradori stayed, the management of the hotel claimed they had no record of him. However, both his wife and business associate had made phone calls to him at the hotel.

Ted Gunderson, FBI Retired, in a report made public on the Internet, June 28, 2000, stated that the investigation of the crash was conducted on a military base.... This is unheard of in the investigation of a civilian plane crash.

Ten years ago, Paul Bonacci, a prisoner in the Lincoln Nebraska Federal Prison confessed to his participation in the kidnapping of my son. Bonacci's attorney, John DeCamp had the confession transcribed and it was hand carried to the FBI office in Omaha Nebraska, in 1989. That confession contained information about the kidnapping of my son Johnny.

The FBI did not act upon this information. Does the FBI have any obligation to notify parents when new evidence surfaces? The answer is "NO, the FBI operates much like a vacuum cleaner.... All information and debris goes one way." In this instance, the FBI had a vested interest to. ...Ignore and disregard any information concerning Johnny Gosch, which connected to the Franklin Scandal.

I did not learn of Bonacci until March 1991, although Johnny's father, John Gosch had not only received the information from DeCamp. But had been to the prison with a woman impersonating me to interview Bonacci. He made the decision to keep this from me. I found out following massive press coverage. Both the FBI and the West Des Moines Police announced they "were not interested in talking to Bonacci " Detective Gary Scott of the West Des Moines Police also stated in a TV interview "We do not want to try an reinvent the wheel."

The West Des Moines Police were shown viewing Bonacci's video taped confession, shrugging their shoulders and looking bewildered during the interview. When I watched it .... I kept wondering what kind of "wheels" were they trying to not reinvent.... And what did wheels have to do with it anyway"? It was such a dumb statement.

Battling the FBI in Nebraska

Over a ten-year period, DeCamp repeatedly filed a Civil Rights Law Suit on behalf of Paul Bonacci was indeed telling the truth, concerning his abuse by Larry King but also the kidnapping of Johnny Gosch. It had been rejected year after year until February 1999, when Bonacci was allowed to go before Judge Urbom, in Federal Court. Following the hearing, Judge Urbom awarded Bonacci one million dollars in punitive damages to be paid by Larry King. The ruling by Judge Urbom was the catalyst of new information to be used in Johnny's case.

Following this hearing, the FBI made no comment what so ever. The West Des Moines Police stated "we still do not consider Bonacci credible, despite the Federal Court Ruling!" What on earth does it take for Bonacci to be considered credible in Des Moines, when the Federal Court has ruled?

Governor Vilsack, when contacted for his assistance said; "This is not my concern.... Take your problem to the Dept. of Public Safety!" President Harry S. Truman stated, "The Buck stops here." Obviously not with Governor Vilsack. In Nebraska, the last four Governors, including Vilsack's friend Bob Kerrey, ignored even their own legislative investigation, which uncovered massive sexual abuse of children.

The Governor should have referred it to the Department of Criminal Investigation ...The DCI, as this was new damning evidence in kidnapping of my son. The DCI is the proper investigating branch of law enforcement. It raises a question about Vilsack's knowledge of State government. It was very obvious by the response I received, the Governor is not that concerned about what happens to children in this state or in solving the kidnappings of Johnny or Eugene Martin.

When Johnny was first kidnapped, the DCI was involved. One DCI Detective, Chuck Wood was sent to my home on a number of occasions. He and a detective from the West Des Moines Police always worked as a team. During interviews as they would ask me questions and I answered...Wood would look at me and always say, "If what you are saying is true.... And I doubt that it is!" That became his refrain each time we met his message was clear .... he was not only belittling me but also trying to intimidate and discourage me.

There were numerous times I had to be in meetings with Detective Wood, I had finally, instructed my attorney to tell Wood, that he would have to submit his questions in writing. I would only answer them in writing, if he was going to continue his intimidating behavior. The very last time I saw Wood, was at a "summit meeting with authorities, my private detective and me". I brought my knitting along... As we discussed the case, I kept on knitting, it finally unnerved Police Chief Cooney, he raised his voice: "WHY THE HELL ARE YOU KNITTING, WHY WOULD BRING KNITTING TO A MEETING LIKE THIS?" I replied "Knitting keeps me calm and it will stop me from acting on the temptation to smack the hell out of you...for your OUTRAGEOUS behavior towards me and my son's kidnapping." Cooney was taken back that I would respond in that manner, however, I had decided I would take no more of the rude remarks from these men.

It doesn't matter if remarks come from local law enforcement or the FBI, the impact is still the same. Why should I be surprised! The FBI still not investigating the case. What has changed in eighteen years? NOTHING! I have talked to countless parents of missing and murdered children over the eighteen years. The report is always the same.... THE FBI DID NOT HELP US AT ALL.

When you finish reading this chapter, there will be no question in your mind, if you can accept the truth of what is being said....

Call up the worst gangster movie you have ever viewed, consider Marlin Brando, in the Godfather as J. Edgar Hoover, The Director. In his book "Will" G. Gordon Liddy comments that Adoph Hitler was called: Der Fuhrer, and J. Edgar Hoover was "The Director". Liddy confides in his book, I killed people for J. Edgar. One assassination that they discussed was the killing of Political Columnist Jack Anderson, since some of his columns had annoyed Hoover.

In the book "Act of Treason" Mark North presents undeniable proof the Hoover learned of the plot to kill Kennedy by September of 1962. Not only did Hoover do nothing to stop it but actually worked to make sure that it would be successful. This book, which came out in 1991, was widely circulated It is the largest and most detailed of a series of books and television programs that presented the dead Hoover as less than a good and unbiased leader. Kennedy intended to remove Hoover. A PBS broadcast of "Frontline" identified Hoover as a homosexual with pedophile tendencies, claiming that he had actually been arrested in New Orleans for soliciting sex from a sixteen year old. All records were later expunged

It is easy to blame a dead leader for what was wrong with the FBI, but the problems have continued over the last ten years. The FBI has been portraying more of a Mafia Godfather image.

In Nebraska, the FBI raided of the office of Gary Caradori investigator for the Nebraska Legislature, who uncovered information on the kidnapping of Johnny Gosch and the sexual misuse of young children. The FBI confiscated Caradori's files the day after his death....those records have never been released.

On the old Geraldo Riviera Show, a woman told of Filming on Super 8 camera the death of Kennedy. She said, "I saw a bucket of blood coming out the back of his head." The next day two men identifying themselves as FBI asked for her film, promising it would be returned. She never saw them or the film again. She correctly identified the two agents when given a book filed with photographs of Dallas businessmen and law enforcement personnel. A woman from Geraldo's audience asked why it had taken her 28 years to tell the story? She replied she had been telling this story for 28 years, indicating it had taken this long for someone to listen.

Johnny Gosch was kidnapped! Eugene Martin was kidnapped! Jacob Wetterling was kidnapped! Is it possible that the FBI has had the job of covering the tracks of any kidnappers working in conjunction with the CIA?

Paul Bonnaci comments that Emilio, who was in charge of the kidnapping of Johnny Gosch, bragged "The FBI lets me do whatever I want with children."

Arrogance and apathy prevails in our country to the highest level. People see a Johnny Gosch case here and there but as long as it doesn't affect "me or mine", then people can turn away, as though it never happened. Arrogance on the part of law enforcement officials.... Apathy on the part of the public and media.

Stories of the FBI

J. Edgar Hoover forced William C. Sullivan out of the FBI in 1971. Sullivan was his number three man, assistant to Hoover himself and operational in charge of the Bureau's criminal, intelligence, and espionage investigation.

"When I left the bureau we employed over three hundred full time informants who reported from all over the country. Most of them were involved in crimes like hijacking, bank robbery, murder, and kidnapping. But some were members of the Black Muslims, the Black Panthers, the Ku Klux Klan, and the Minutemen, we heard about everybody, right across the board. During the late 1960s and the early 1970s the bureau must have spent a million dollars maintaining informants in the antiwar movement.

Sometimes an informant can become an agent provocateur who ends up participating in, perhaps instigating and even leading the activity he was paid to report on.

The FBI seems to have played a major role in the Nebraska Cover Up as early as 1982 – 83. An investigation had uncovered what was termed "male prostitution ring was identified in Omaha." An FBI press release in the Omaha World Herald in October 1983, stated "this thing is so big and involves so many prominent people around this state." It was suggested that was the motive for covering up the ring then, as it is today.

Two days after the death of the chief investigator of the Nebraska Legislature, Gary Caradori …before Caradori's body had been delivered home, the FBI presented a subpoena to Caradori's wife, Sandy for all his investigative notes, documents, receipts and files.

Once again the evidence is sucked up into the FBI Vacuum cleaner, never to be seen again.

The FBI then proceeded to launch several investigations of Franklin Committee Chairman Senator Loren Schmit. Several spurious lawsuits were filed against Senator Schmit over the period of a year, in an attempt to break him financially. At least one of the lawsuits was almost certainly instigated by an FBI agent.

The careers and families of members of Senator Schmit's investigative committee, whom Schmit frequently described as " three farmers, a plumber and a 70 year old grandmother" have all been threatened

Dear Mr. Gosch,
I'm very interested in knowing if this is his signature. I would appriciate hearing what you find out. I pray this is not a sick yoke.

ONE DOLLAR

Before dying of AIDS, Thorstad watched his organization grown from one in 1978 that had $600 in the bank and a handful of subscribers to a multimillion-dollar organization.

NAMBLA

The North America Man Boy Love Association was formed in 1978. According to the minutes of the meeting they had six hundred dollars in the bank and about 225 member subscribers to their publication. Ten years later, when the Franklin Credit Union in Omaha was raided, it was discovered that this Credit Union had five million in NAMBLA money.

They have vehemently denied charges that they had anything to do with the creation of a whole new subclass of pornography. They absolutely denied that they vigorously recruited run away and throw away child not to mention kidnapped children and even young infants being in kiddie porn.

Paul Bonacci, a young man who detailed his part in the kidnapping of Johnny Gosch so thoroughly, that Noreen Gosch totally believes him. In February 1999, a Federal Court Judge in Lincoln, Nebraska ruled that Bonacci had been repeatedly sexually abused. If this court ruling makes Bonacci absolutely creditable then he should also be believed when he says he went to Washington D.C, to have sex with U.S. Representative Barney Frank. He traveled to New York to become a "boytoy" for Peter Thorstad, head of NAMBLA.

Bonacci has MPD/DID and one of those personalities is based on Thorstad. He personally heard Thorstad speaking of Dr Judi-Ann Densen Gerber, a psychiatrist who was called "Public Enemy No. 1," by NAMBLA. She exposed NAMBLA, who promote their civil right to have sex with children. Thorstad said: "I'm going to have to get rid of that bitch." It has been established that Paul possesses a photographic memory, which allows him to recall every person he has been with, every location he has seen and describe it in detail.

Under the control of Larry King, Bonacci made snuff films and had sex with the corpses, made child/child and child/adult porno films...was routinely sent around the country to have sex with over 1000 men. How then was NAMBLA not related to what was going on? How then did NAMBLA increase its bank account from six hundred dollars to five million in the Franklin Credit Union in ten years?

Under Thorstad's leadership NAMBLA was the first American member of the International Lesbian and Gay Association granted consultative status to the United Nations Economic and Social Council. According to the American Family Association on July 30, 1994 the United States and 21 other nations voted to approve this status.

NAMBLA has grown since it first reported membership of two hundred to a worldwide organization with members in Europe and Asia. Robert Rhoades, NAMBLA's former membership secretary, is a government employee with the U.S. Veterans Administration, Roy B. Radow worked as the school psychologist at the P.S. 75 school in Queens, and Peter Melzer has held a teaching position at New York City's prestigious Bronx High School of Science. It is certain that Catholic priests have actively participated in recruiting boys for NAMBLA's organization.

NAMBLA defends sex between men and young boys. They favor abolishing all age-of-consent laws designed to protect minors. In 1993, the Constitution and Position Papers claim that they engage in no activities that violate the law. But in the next paragraph they proclaim: "We support the rights of youth, as well as adults to choose the partners with whom they wish to share and enjoy their bodies. We encourage young people to rebel against the anti-sexual prohibitions imposed on them by authorities: parents, school officials, so called 'moral' crusaders, the church, the law, the news media and the state." They further declare: "We oppose age of consent laws.

On December 29, 1982, on a nationally televised show, Thorstad was asked by the Host of the ABC talk program, The Last Word, if a boy as young as nine would give consent to have sex with a man. "Of course",Thorstad replied: "They do it all the time.!"

This was confirmed by anyone reading the NAMBLA Bulletin, where one man described receiving oral sex from his six-year-old brother. And a writer from Nebraska stated his first lover turned out to be a boy of seven and a half American Family Association Journal states "Realizing the incredible public relations disaster pedophiles represent to their cause, homosexual leaders have consistently tried to keep NAMBLA "out of sight".

The "Overhauling of Straight America" which the journal describes as "the landmark playbook for homosexual strategy, they quote an old Arab proverb: " First let the camel get his nose inside the tent and only later his unsightly derriere...the masses must not be repulsed by premature exposure to homosexual behavior itself."

Today Chicago and other cities believe that any child in the third grade is old enough to know how homosexuals have sex. Years ago, most kids were too busy playing baseball and roller-skating. Why do children this young need to be educated in pursuing "alternate life styles"?

NAMBLA INVESTIGATION

From "The Survivor Activist" publication, summer 1998. Survivor Connection web site http://www.angelfire.com/ri/survivorconnection. Angel fire network has a whole series of website dealing with the sexual abuse of children. For example ri is for Rhode Island, 52 Lyndon Rd., Cranston, RI 02905-1121 (401) 941-2548.

This is a statement made by Larry Echols.

"From July 3, 1997, to October 27, 1997, I was a paid informant working under FBI Special Agent Richard K. Lack of the Monterey, C.A., FBI Field Office (408/375-3123) under the code name "Pedbuster" During that time, I personally handed Agent Lack over 200 original letters from members of the North American Man/Boy Love Association (NAMBLA) which had been given to me by a NAMBLA member-turncoat. The authors of those letters detailed their sexual lust for and in some cases their actual rapes of young boys...and approximately 30% of those letters contained the writers" real names, addresses, phone and fax numbers, e-mail addresses, and other personal information.

In late July of 1997, I introduced Agent Lack to a gay, prominent member of NAMBLA, who is not a pedophile or pederast and Lack hired him as a paid undercover informant to work for the FBI. From July until late October, I was the principal conduit for providing NAMBLA informant's intelligence and evidence of criminal sexual activity involving children to Lack, including Internet posts, e-mails, and other Internet communications between the mole and NAMBLA members and BoyChat participants as well as some photographs of self-identified child rapists and their victims, some of them boys as young as eight.

Remarkably, this arrangement was necessary because the Monterey (CA) FBI office had no Internet connection, and the San Jose (CA) FBI office…the one responsible for Silicon Valley…had but one computer with access to the Internet.

Repeatedly the NAMBLA mole suggested to the FBI that he be wired for his frequent in-person meetings with sexually active NAMBLA members and other pederasts. But, much to Agent Lack's chagrin, this never happened because FBI Headquarters in Washington refused to approve it.

On October 23, 1997, at the FBI's Monterey office I met with FBI Assistant Director George Martinez, FBI Internet Child Sex Predator Task Force (i.e., "Innocent Images" in Baltimore, Maryland) Supervisor Linda Hooper (301/572-5400), San Francisco FBI Administrator Lillian Zillias, and Agent Lack. At that meeting, I brought examples of extremely egregious Internet child pornography featuring totally naked and sexually-aroused boys as young as eight which I had recently downloaded from the Internet and handed to Martinez, Hooper, Zillias, and Lack, and asked them if this was sufficient evidence for them to begin investigations.

I had thought that Agent Lack would get angry with me for downloading and bringing this material; however, his ire was directed instead at Martinez and Hooper when they pointed out to him that…even though such pornography was illegal…they would not authorize his or any other FBI Agent to investigate such pornography because U.S. Attorney General Janet Reno had instructed U.S. Attorneys around the United States not to prosecute such cases.

Four days later, Agent Lack called me into the Monterey office and told me that Martinez and Hooper had ordered him to terminate me. However, he said that the NAMBLA mole would continue to work with the FBI. But in late December, the mole was totally disrespected by a FBI polygraph examiner to whom Lack was required to send him…a bigot who accused this courageous man of "f_____little boys" totally contrary to the mole's past, including his criminal history—and at that the mole resigned from working with the FBI.

On November 17, 1997, I went to the U.S. Customs Service and from then until January 8, 1998, I was a paid informant under U.S. Customs Special Agent Robin Sterzer (408/535-5149) of San Jose, CA, with the code name "Alex Cole". During those seven weeks I provided both she and an unpaid informant, a California Department of Justice Special Agent Robert DeMiguel (415/351-3374) of San Francisco with their own sets of the aforementioned NAMBLA letters, as well as hundreds of downloaded pages of evidence of Internet activity by child sex predators and child pornographers which included copies of posts from BoyChat, e-mails, IRC communications, and even detailed photographs of child sex predators and some of their victims.

On December 19, 1997, I asked Special Agent Sterzer to reimburse me for over $1,000 in out-of-pocket expenses which I had incurred in my work for U.S. Customs, but she delayed doing so until Jan 8, 1997, at which time she told me that Customs would not reimburse me "Until we can give you a polygraph conducted by one of our examiners; but we don't have any in this part of the country and we don't know when we will have."

I refused to go along with this duplicity and also due to the continuing failure of the California Department of Justice to even reimburse my expenses, I ended my undercover work for law enforcement.

What will it take to get Janet Reno and the Justice Department to conduct a thorough investigation of the conduct of NAMBLA members? Surely the evidence indicated here proves that NAMBLA members are perverted criminals.

NORTH AMERICAN MAN/BOY LOVE ASSOCIATION

The North American Man/Boy Love Association (NAMBLA) is an organization founded in response to the extreme oppression of men and boys involved in consensual sexual and emotional relationships with each other. Its membership is open to all individuals sympathetic to man/boy love in particular and sexual freedom in general. NAMBLA is strongly opposed to age-of-consent laws and other restrictions which deny adults and youth the full enjoyment of their bodies and control over their lives. NAMBLA's goal is to end the long-standing oppression of men and boys involved in any mutually consensual relationship by:

1) building a support network for such men and boys;
2) educating the public on the benevolent nature of man/boy love;
3) cooperating with the lesbian, gay, and other movements for sexual liberation;
4) supporting the liberation of persons of all ages from sexual prejudice and oppression.

VOICE OF THE NORTH AMERICAN MAN/BOY LOVE ASSOCIATION

We have received reports that the FBI has visited members of NAMBLA, asking about John Gosch (see elsewhere in this issue).

If accosted or visited by the FBI, do not think you are dealing with reasonable people interested in determining the truth. You are dealing with the American equivalent (in methods and ethics) of the Soviet KGB. Since the emphasis is on the justification of thus-far squandered taxpayers' money, agents' salaries, etc., rather than on the finding of the truth, beware!

Be firm! Protect your right to privacy by cutting such encounters short. DO NOT SPEAK, EXCEPT FOR A REFUSAL TO SPEAK. REMEMBER, REFUSING TO TALK TO THE FBI IS NOT A CRIME, IT'S YOUR CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHT.

Read guidelines and detailed instructions in another part of this issue.

JOHN GOSCH - PHONE HOME!

NAMBLA has received an inquiry regarding the whereabouts of a missing Iowa youth, John Gosch, whose disappearance has generated considerable media attention. John is a 13- year-old youth of West Des Moines, who disappeared on September 5, 1982, while delivering newspapers.

NAMBLA firmly believes that youths should be allowed to determine whom they shall live with. At the same time, the request for our assistance has come in a unique form: a polite phone conversation between Brian McNaught (Boston mayor Kevin White's liaison to the gay and lesbian community) and NAMBLA spokesperson Brian Quinby.

The idea that NAMBLA would be well informed on runaways is both wrong and being used by the FBI against us. However, if anyone does know any runaways, suggest to him that he call the National Runaway Youth Hot Line (1-800-231-6946) to relieve anxiety at home and resolve the question about the conditions under which leaving occurred. The Hot Line is confidential and young people who use it can do so without being pressured into divulging any more information than they choose to.

NAMBLA HOLDS PRESS CONFERENCES ● ATTRACTS WORLDWIDE ATTENTION

NAMBLA's first-ever news conferences, held within an hour of each other in New York and Boston, propelled our four-year-old organization into the newspapers and on to the airwaves across America. By revealing the source of the picture alleged to be that of missing Etan Patz, NAMBLA quashed reports that members David Groat and Brett Portman, whose Wareham, MA house was raided on December 3rd, were in any way connected with the disappearence of Patz. The existence of the picture was confirmed by Nassau County Police the next day, clearing NAMBLA of any involvement in the kidnapping. The conferences served also to refute the sensationalized press coverage that declared NAMBLA to be a pornography and sex ring that accepts major credit cards and delivers hapless lads via Learjet.

The Boston news conference began at 9:15 on Tuesday, December 29th. Held at the Glad Day Bookshop, the thirty-minute conference attracted

The FBI has declined any comment to the press, except for an occasional "it was thought, at the time... ." SATANISM IN AMERICA
A Reality.... Not a Myth

CURRENT RITUAL ABUSE

A recent study by Bennett Brown, a University of Chicago Psychiatrist, involved with 37 adult ritual abuse survivors. These individuals did not know each other and were interviewed from differing locations around the U.S. The results of this study revealed 10 common factors of ritual abuse experience. They are as follows:

97% talked about the use of drugs in the cult
100% were sexually molested
100% were tortured
100% witnessed animal mutilations & killings
72% talked about coffins, graves & being buried alive with dead bodies.
100% had death threats
83% witnessed sacrifices of animals, children and adults
78% of women had stories of marriage ceremonies
60% of the women had stories of sacrifice of their own children and were impregnated for this purpose (breeders)
81% were involved in cannibalism and consumption of human body parts.
....Nebraska Leadership Conference

We have heard it all before. I don't believe you. This can't happen in America. You are just trying to scare us. People shy away from those trying to get the message out, as if carrying a warning about Satanism was akin to being a small pox carrier.

Two men have surfaced in the debate over Satanism, Lt. Colonel Michael Aquino (Satanist and mind control specialist in the military) and Ken Lanning, a supposed FBI specialist who monitors groups. Lanning's statement that Christians have done more harm than Satanism ever did has lead many to call him a Satanist. Lanning has definitely used the power of his position with the FBI to "claim that there is no satanic crime wave" in total contradiction to police reports by the thousands. An entire issue of "The Journal of Psychohistory" documents tens of thousands of cases being brought to the attention of psychiatrists and psychologists.

The editor, Dr. deMause states: It was not, however, until word began to get around the psychotherapy community that I was editing an issue of my journal on "Cult Abuse of Children" that I began to realize the full extent of cult activity in America today. Phone calls from all over the country poured into my editorial office from psychotherapists, who told me that they would like to read the cult abuse issue because they had treated cult abuse victims. When I then asked them if they wished to contribute somehow to the issue, they often said they couldn't...they were afraid to talk in print about their clients, even anonymously, because the cults had threatened them or their families with violence. Phone threats, dead cats on doorsteps, burning crosses on lawns and other convincing communications made them understandably reluctant to write anything about cults."

DeMause continues that one psychiatrist wrote him, after he learned the psychiatrist had given a paper on treating cult abuse victims, but he declined the invitation to publish his paper, stating:

"As you may know, there is some risk attached to treating satanic ritual abuse victims. A recent study by Dr. Nancy Perry indicates that as many as 10% of therapists treating such patients have been threatened or attacked by the groups to which their patients formerly belonged.

DeMause went on: In fact, even that therapist who had agreed to write about their clients for the cult issue often had second thoughts. Most promised articles but then didn't send them in. After I heard one psychiatrist give...a detailed account of his patient being sexually abused by a cult, I requested he write an article, which I published in this issue as it was written, attributing the increase in cult reports to "the contagious nature of group hysteria"...but without a single word about his own cult-abused patient!"

Dr deMause goes on to say that authors of false memory books also turned out to be pedophile advocates. Paul and Shirley Eberle's book "The Abuse of Innocence: The McMartin Preschool Trial" taken seriously by reviewers and widely quoted in magazine articles as authorities, were actually producers and publishers of kiddie porn.

Sgt. Toby Tyler, a San Bernardino deputy sheriff, who is a recognized expert on child pornography stated: "I have seen articles they have published such as "I Was a Sexpot at Five " and "Little Lolitas" included illustrations of children involved in sodomy and oral copulation and featured pornographic photos of the Eberles."

Yet when Ted Gunderson , recently retired head of the FBI in California and a team lead by an archeologist uncovered the tunnels at the McMartin Day Care, Gunderson could not get the L.A. Times or other major media to run the story. The tunnels contained satanic objects and were as the children described them.

Dr. deMause also comments on FBI's Ken Lanning, who says he has "been unable to find one murder of anyone by two or more people following typical satanic ritualistic prescriptions." Lanning ignores all kinds of convictions for cult abuse that are in police and court records, while others who have actually done ritual abuse investigation work for the FBI are ignored by the press. "

Dr deMause concludes: The more I dug into the literature; the "curiouser and curiouser" seemed the claims that investigation of cults are only witch hunts.

There is a group called the Cult Crime Impact Network, which estimates that as many as 50,000 human sacrifices a year are being performed by a nationwide covert network of satanic cults."

From Kenneth V. Lanning, M.S. Supervisory Special Agent National Center for the Analysis of Violent Crime, FBI Academy, Quantico, Virginia come a series of pronouncement. A selection from his outline will give you an idea of what he is trying to debunk.

He saves the "Big Conspiracy theory for last "which implies that Satanist are responsible for such things as Adolph Hitler, World War II, abortion, pornography, Watergate, Irangate, and infiltration of the Department of Justice, the Pentagon and the White House" (All these connections surfaced in the Nebraska Franklin Investigation)

Add to that "Organized, Traditional, or Multigenerational satanic groups involved in organized conspiracies, such as taking over day care centers, infiltrating police departments, and trafficking in human sacrifice victims. (Proven in Nebraska)

About music: Lyrics, symbolism, and influence of rock and roll, Heavy Metal and Black Metal music. Teenage suicide by adolescents dabbling in the occult. Lee Orr, Kansas City Homicide detective and satanic cult investigator said, "Omaha youth were carpooling to Kansas City to buy Death Metal. Which feature the sacrifice of mother and baby real or simulated?

Although Lanning does his best to explain away each and ever step of the "Big Conspiracy Theory." The exception is leaving out the major drug trafficking connections that bind the DIA/CIA to the Satanist drug traffickers. He has given a perfect outline of what is going on. A Chicago University survey of Satanic activity around the country revealed that 100% of the cult survivors were using drugs.

Lanning writes: What is Ritualistic Crime?

Lanning smoothly explains. "Ritual can refer to a prescribed religious ceremony, but in its broader meaning refers to any customarily repeated act or series of acts. The need to repeat these acts can be cultural sexual, or psychological as well as spiritual. Cultural rituals could include such things as what a family eats on Thanksgiving Day.

What Lanning fails to mention is the thousands of reported cultural ceremonies involving satanic murders with the child's hand involved ...held firmly in the grip of an adult to kill a playmate, or a child snatched off the streets. At least hundreds of convictions are in the courthouses of America. Tens of thousands of complaints have been filed from every corner of America. No amount of false memory manufactured covers these stories.

Charles Highams two books "Trading with the Enemy " and "America Swastika " shows how the Nazi worked in America before, during and after WW II. One factory even manufactured ball bearings for German fighter planes while telling the U.S. government it lacked the proper metals. He wrote of how Nazi war criminals found a place for themselves in America after Germany was literally destroyed.

"The Plot Against the Peace" published in 1946, revealed how the Nazi began training schools in 1943 for agents whose job it would be to carry on the Reich at the end of the war along with Teutonic Satanism. They were given new names and new passports, often of dead eastern Europeans and told to wait out the end of the war and apply for political asylum, fleeing communism. Switzerland was fully cooperative in this venture and the monies for the new Reich were held safe in "neutral" Swiss banks.

Col. Michael Aquino has long been claimed to be in charge of a Mindwar project for the U,S Military. He is the illegitimate son of a Nazi SS officer. As a young lieutenant, he joined the Church of Satan founded by Anton La Vey, a former circus barker, who found a new stichk. He was the sensation of the Men's magazines of the 1950s, conducting his satanic masses with the likes of Jayne Mansfield and with such followers as Sammy Davis Jr. Rising to the rank of High Priest did not seem to hinder Aquino's military career, even charges of molesting children did not stop his rise. What better place to molest them, than in the military. They are the largest provider of day care in the world. Day Care centers at West Point, New York and Fort Leavenworth, Kansas have carefully been dealt with so another fall guy took the rap for higher ups.

Ken Lanning, the so-called specialist in cult crimes claimed there are no Satanists. Although Aquino was on trial at the Presidio in California for molesting children as a High Priest of LaVey's Church of Satan. Aquino broke away and founded in the military the Temple of Set.. Satanism now has a place on an America soldiers dog tags just like Catholic, Protestant, Jew, Moslem and Witch—yes Witch

Lanning, would have you believe that no such groups exist or if the do they are of little significance. Yet police throughout America are reporting more and more cases of satanic connections to murders and disappearances of both children and adults.

According to Johnny Gosch and at least three others. It was Aquino, who picked him up and paid for him in Sioux City weeks after he was kidnapped. Referred to as the "Col.," ...Reports have connected him to Johnny Gosch, Eugene Martin, Jacob Wetterling and other Midwestern boys. All kidnapped to participate in a government program designed to create the perfect vessel for sabotage for blackmail and for murder. To accomplish this. ...They had to be subjected to satanic programming which created MPD or DID (Multiple Personality Disorder or Dissociate Identity Disorder) which provided more than just Doctor Jeykle and Mr. Hyde but a series of personalities suited to a variety of assignments.

Directly from Lt. Colonel Michael Angelo Aquino's own website comes the information that he was in Military Intelligence. During the time of Johnny's kidnapping he was with the Defense Intelligence Agency and attended the Foreign Service Institute at the Department of State. From 1981 thru 84 , he was in Washington D.C. If Cathy O'Brien can be believed, he regularly attended White House functions and hobnobbed with George Bush and Cheney. His last course attended was Joint Intelligence Operations Course at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas in 1990. He had graduated from U.S. Army Command & General Staff College in 1979 on the Commandant's List, like the Dean's list in college it meant he was in the top ten per cent of his class.

Paul Bonnaci states, he met Aquino. Rusty Nelson narrates for the federal court record his picking up bearer bonds from Larry King in a Suite at the Ritz in Minneapolis, allegedly Iran-Contra money. John Gosch identifies him as the man who picked him up and paid for him two weeks after he was kidnapped.

The record is established that he was in military service during the time of the kidnapping. He was then a Major writing from "Psyops to Mindwar" describing mind control techniques and their use in the military.

At the conclusion of the report of the Nebraska Legislature and the Franklin Investigation they did not shrink from reporting on Satanism, unfortunately absolutely nothing came of it.

Many Nebraskans remember the horror of the occurrences in Rulo, but there is a temptation to think of the murderous cult behavior in Rulo as an aberration. Or to think of Satanism, witchcraft, and other cult activity as being things that happen elsewhere than Nebraska. (On July 17, 1991 John M. Zielinski on WHO Talk Radio Jan Michaelson show challenged the Iowa Legislature: "To walk down the hill to the Des Moines River, up past the Botanical Gardens and have a look under the bridge over University. 'Missing Children our Dead' 'Satan Rules' An off duty police intelligence officer showed Zielinski this site in daylight saying, "After midnight, we do not come here. When the Satanist meet... they have guards with AK-47." (This officer also talked about local shoot outs that were in police reports but never made the Des Moines Register.)

The report introduces Priscilla Coates, from New York, a representative of Citizen's Freedom Foundation, a support group of former cult members. "She describes cults as destructive groups, that are a problem on an international basis. She testified extensively about cults, and other destructive groups, (including Jonestown), in which children were constantly abused for purposes of cult discipline. She testified, that she had information of cults encouraging people to commit numerous crimes ranging from prostitution to theft to selling drugs. She described the cult at Rulo, Nebraska as being somewhat typical, in terms of isolation, group paranoia, excessive discipline and demands for obedience, etc.

She discussed how destructive groups prepare customized versions of the Bible, so that they can use biblical authority to influence people. She testified that many of them have no life experiences to which they can return, and she discussed the difficulty in rehabilitating children, who had been subjected to cult abuse. She stated that information regarding Rulo, in terms of forcing cult members to have sexual relations with their children and with each other, was not uncommon, and that bestiality (making people have sex with animals) was also not uncommon,

The members of the Committee are fully aware of the fact that people do not want to hear about cult activity, and are fully aware of the fact that to discuss witchcraft and Satanism is to risk being the subject of ridicule and even hostility.

We understand this.

Nevertheless, because Satanism and witchcraft, and other forms of cult abuse demonstratively do exist, it is our duty to report our findings and discoveries, in the hope that perhaps the public may be made aware of such dangers as may exist.

The report states: "Because under the First Amendment... Congress may make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, or abridging the freedom thereof, there is a satanic church which functions as a legitimate organization.

After declaring Satanism as a Constitutional protected religion, the report continues: Their practices include 1) sexual child abuse: 2) prostitution; 3) incest; 4) orgies; 5) physical abuse; 6) homicides; 7) brainwashing towards suicide.

What in the above paragraph can be considered protected under the First Amendment? Quantico based, FBI Man Ken Lanning claims there is no satanic crime!

Kathleen Sorenson, Foster Mother

Attorney John DeCamp, like Ted Gunderson and Noreen Gosch stands ever ready to present the stories of the men, women and children who were abused and murdered to cover up the satanic activity that is rampant in Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, etc. From "The Fatima Crusader this account of Kathleen Sorenson, who lived and died trying to do right by the foster children she took into her home.

Sorenson appeared on the Geraldo Rivera's national televised special on Satanism. What follows is a transcription of an interview she gave on Christian TV in 1989, shortly before her death. It was based on her experience with over 30 children who spent months or years in her home.

"We got involved and learned about this subject because we were foster parents and worked with a number of children. And several years back, several of the children began, after a period of time and building up trust, to talk about some very bizarre events that had happened in their past and they were frightening and very confusing.

I really didn't know what to think. We went to the police, and we went to social services and there was really nothing anyone could do. (Or would do). These children we worked with are now adopted, in safe homes, and probably would never have talked had they not felt able to trust the people they were living with.....

There are certain things that are in common in the children's' stories when we talk about devil worship...There are things that come up in every single story, such as candles. They all talk about sex. Sex is without a doubt a part of every area of this, all sorts of perverted sex. This is what you will hear, about the sex, about the incest, and it is so hard to believe. But once, we get that, we have learned that we can go on and ask and find out...and it will involve pornography. Part of the reason, is that they use it to threaten the children. "We have pictures we will show the police if you talk." It makes the children feel that they are in great danger, and they are all very frightened of the law. They talk about the garish make-up that the people in the group wear, they talk about the singing that they didn't understand. Obviously that is chanting, and that has come up in every one of these stories, and none of them call it chanting. There will be dancing. Most often that will involve sexual acts. There will always be a leader and they will be very frightened of the leader.

The children, from a very young age, and I am talking about children who came out of birth homes, the family they were born to, worshipped the devil.

The children, I have talked to have all had to murder before the age of two. That is something beyond anything I could comprehend. But in some way, whether with the help of an adult's hand over theirs, by having them practice, by getting them excited to be part of the adult scene, they do murder.

They are told, they will never get out, no one will ever believe them, that there is no freedom that the law will get you. They are hopeless before they get someone willing to listen. They are threatened with death. Every time a child is killed in their group, they are told, If you tell, this will happen to you....They believe that these people know everything they are doing, everyone they're talking to. One teenager told me that she had been told, that if she ever got married, that they would fool her, it would be one of them. They set them up to fail in every area.

It is very prevalent in the Midwest... Iowa, Nebraska, and Missouri. Some people speculated that these states are headquarters....

As you listen to us talk about these things, there will be a natural part of you, which will deny much of what you hear. Believe me, we did too. I would like to share this with you, partly in the children's words, so that you can hear the things that they said that nobody could make up, that no child could know. That's what eventually convinced me, along with the deep emotion.

The grieving, screeching damage and hurt that they cry out as they talk. They are today (1989) between the ages of 5 and 17. We are talking about children forming consciences at that time, learning right from wrong. These children do not know. They come out and do not know what is right. They are confused, and most often they have been in multiple placements, they will go to a home, they will steal, they will lie, they will hurt animals. One little guy would sharpen pencils and try to stab people. I don't mean poke, I mean stab. People don't like that in their homes. Many are sent to psychiatric hospitals, where they are labeled psychotics, schizophrenics, and who would want them...

I will begin with the first stories that we heard, which will seem horrible to you, but are very mild to me, because we have progressed and heard far worse things. The first story is about two little boys, who were 7 and 9 when they told about sexual abuse at one point, and were very grieved. We talked about good and bad touching and we thought, we really had gotten to the bottom of it. Then one afternoon the little one began to cry, and when we couldn't get the answer from him, the older brother said,: "He is probably crying because he was in the room, when they killed his friend".

That was the first one we knew about. They talked about that particular victim being brought into a room, hands and arms tied, mouth tapped, and how there had been x's marked on his body, on his vital organs. That was bad enough. Within a very few weeks, we learned that it was not the adults who had killed that child. It was this oldest boy, who was talking.

The next person that we talked to was a little boy, who was very borderline mentally. He had language problems; it was very hard for him to explain himself. And when he began to come out of it, everyone was startled by the way he talked. We were really sure; we knew he had not been around these other children and heard anything.

"The part which made me believe this child's story, he talked about different babies being killed, but this particular one being stabbed, curled up in a fetal position. He was 9-years old when he was telling the story. His eyes became glazed as he said: 'They cooked that baby on the grill' And I thought, he has really flipped out. And he said "Oh, gross, it smelled like rotten chicken, or rotten deer.'

He then went on to tell us how they would cut out the heart, or cut off the sex organs, and save them in the refrigerator. A very typical thing that these kids talk about. They worship the sex organs. They kept it for another ceremony. I asked him where the bodies went. Eventually they talked about throwing babies in the fire.

And I asked them: You mean they were dead when they threw them in the fire?

And the littlest on said: "NO NO...Them was alive and them threw them." By this time we were really freaked out. How can you help these kids? Where do you find a therapist who can deal with this?

The next child I will share about, and I am going sort of by categories here with the types of killings. This little girl is 11 today, she was 9 when, she first talked. It was a very painful thing when she first started to share the sex things. The sex things are so harmful to children...She began to draw pictures of cats, and the cats all had tails that were on the other side of the page, or their leg was someplace else. She said she had to kill a pregnant cat. She had to kill the cat.... with a knife.

It progressed, the next time she had to kill a baby, the same way....The baby was alive and he was screaming. That child heard that, to this day, she has nightmares and flashbacks. They cut the baby open and they ate him. They do this, so there are no bodies left. They burn what is left and grind up the bones. And she talked about that, pouring gasoline on the bodies and burning them in the back yard.

We know there are mortuaries involved, to cremate the bodies...

The most horrible story about fire is extremely disturbing. She was a little girl when it happened and a teenager when she was telling me. She was describing a barn where they used to go to have their meetings. They used to gather outside the barn, and there would be chanting. Then as they went inside the barn they would split into different groups. She was never with any of her family. They all went to different places. I asked her where she had to go and she said, "I was always in the burning room."

They would take in children, probably pre-schoolers, and they would hang them from the rafters in this barn. There would be as many as five or ten hung in a row. This particular group was full clothed, which was unusual, because frequently they were naked. The children, like this girl, were all given candles.

You can picture the ceremony as she described it. The candles were lit. Then the adults would go forward and would pour liquid from a cup on each of the children's clothing, which was obviously gasoline or kerosene. Then they would give a signal and the others would have to go forward and set the children on fire. When they were done they would cut them down. The first child that this girl had to kill was a cousin, a little cousin.

What does that do to you? But you couldn't object... because the children who objected were killed. Frequently, she said, people would come in families, not knowing that their child would be sacrificed. She described the screams when they realized that their child had been killed...

A child, about two years ago, just fell to the ground at Christmas time; everyone thinks that Christmas is such a wonderful time. She confessed that she hated Christmas; she couldn't wait until everything was put away, because all she could hear was babies crying. Christmas is the time when the most babies die. She covered her ears and cried for 2 hours. She screamed.... Stop it... stop it... stop it! Talk to God and make Him stop it! All she could hear is the screams and the babies crying...

Christmas for the children has been one of the worst times. I have had three children tell me about a very similar ceremony. I will kind of merge and tell you how it went. They were taken to a church (three different children, three different churches). It is a very festive occasion. They are taken to the front of the church. A small child is now brought in. Two of them talked about babies and they put them on a platform. The adults are all celebrating, dancing and singing. The children are getting into the spirit of it. What they are doing is forming a circle around the child. The child represents the Child Jesus, and they begin mocking, spitting, and calling names. They encourage the children to begin doing it and you can imagine how it gets out of control. At some point they hand all of the children knives and then they are all hacking, and slashing until the baby is dead. And then they all celebrate because the Child Jesus is dead.

DeCamp comments. Kathleen Sorenson was aware that it was dangerous to tell the public what she did. She appealed to friends, "Pray for me." She was killed in a head-on car crash in October 1989. Ted Gunderson evaluated the accident and believes Sorenson was killed by a satanic contract suicide. The other driver didn't die, but well could have. In satanic lore, a person who loses his life in such a contract murder/suicide will be reincarnated with more power granted by Satan. Both the young woman driver and her husband had prior arrest records for cruelty to animals, a common marker for Satanism.

Not long after Sorenson's death, a teenager in a youth care facility told a worker, "You better watch out or we will get you like we got that lady from Blair." The youth went on to describe a ceremony of drawing lots for the privilege.

DeCamp concluded: "A few years ago if anyone had recounted something like her testimony, I would have recommended that they be hauled off to the loony farm. Today, I have no doubt that much—maybe all of it is true. I have been confronted with documentation of a world, I did not know about or believe existed."

Ted Gunderson has estimated that human sacrifice practicing Satanist group in U.S., Canada and Mexico number between three and three and one half million.

LETTER FROM A MURDERER

By David (Son of Sam) Berkowitz
From his private correspondence

...You asked about Satanists. I'm not talking of thrill seekers, who hang onto and join every anti-establishment group that comes along. I'm not talking about those who remain on the fringe of such groups. My letter is in reference to the elite and dedicated hardcore members of Occult groups.

You see, these people cannot be taken lightly. Please try to understand their philosophy of life and society. They have no fear of man-made laws nor the laws of God. To them, murder comes easy. Being anti-God, they love nothing better than a good kill.

These people will stop at nothing in order to fulfill their desires. They have the complete ability to elude the police and to cover their tracks complexly.

Many members of these hidden and secret groups are participating of their own free wills. Others aren't. Yet, they are there to obey every command and complete every task without question...lost souls, half-mad zombies they are.

There is a very important key that cannot be overlooked...it ALL ends in tragedy! So many people, who have followed the Left Handed Path (black magic) have met either sudden death via accident, suicide or murder. Or they have suffered financial loss, the ruination of their reputation, or they just ended up totally insane. It is the same story!

John and Michael (fellow members of his coven, and fellow murderers) are dead. My life is ruined, too. And I also came close to death several months ago.

Personally, I think it is best if you leave all this alone,,,you or whoever started this investigation. Just drop it! It's for your own good...Look; there are people who are a fearless lot. They HATE God! I'm not talking about common criminals. You know who I am talking about.

There are people who will follow a "Chosen Lamb" throughout the ends of the earth. If they feel that this person is the "next one"...well, they have money. They have brains and hate.

They will even kill in a church. Do you think I'm joking? Do you think I'm just bending your ear? I'm serious about all this. There is no reason why I shouldn't be. Sir, Satanists (genuine ones) are peculiar people. They aren't ignorant peasants or semi-illiterate natives. Rather, their ranks are filled with responsible citizens. They are normal on the outside, at least.

They are not a careless group who are apt to make mistakes. But they are secretive and bonded together by a common need and a desire to mete out havoc on society. It was Aleister Crowley who said. "I want blasphemy, murder, rape, revolution, anything bad." Surely you will agree that death literally followed Crowley's footsteps.

Do you still doubt me? You know damn well that these Satanists cover their tracks pretty good. You are aware of their intelligence (businessmen, doctors, military personnel, professors, etc) Cults, as you know flourish around college campuses. They flourish around military bases, too. Drugs flow all over these places (universities and bases). Young service men and young college students are involved in sexual relations. So mix the two of them up. Put them near each other and what do you have? You've got a pretty wild, dedicated and nasty bunch of zealous, anti-establishment devil worshippers. And what a deadly mixture it is...

George White who started with the OSS and continued in the CIA, dying of cirrhosis of the liver, wrote: "I toiled wholeheartedly in the vineyards because it was fun, fun, fun. Where else could a red-blooded American boy lie, kill, cheat, steal, rape and pillage with the sanction and bidding of the All-Highest."

MIND CONTROL, MONARCH & MK ULTRA

If you asked the average thinking citizen: Do you believe the government? Do you believe the government lies? Remember the Warren Commission. Kennedy was the victim of a lone assassin –Lee Harvey Oswald. The finger of evidence points to the CIA as a major player in the Kennedy's assassinations, with totally co-operation of J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI, and the Media.

The President, shaking his finger: "I did not have sex with that woman!

Over the past twenty years at least two books have been done with the word: Whistleblowers in the title. Who are these whistle blowers? They are individuals in government, industry, congress, CIA, FBI, military who see something that is at the least morally wrong, against the law or at the worst horrifyingly evil.

The United States government has conducted human experiments on a level with the worst human experiment conducted by the Nazi before and during WW II. Those same doctors and scientists were brought to this country by the hundreds to continue their mind control and drug experiments. Ex-CIA authors such as Phil Agee has implicated the CIA and other covert government operations to the genocide of at least 9 million people as the Covert Community sought to exercise its control outside the United States.

CIA man Terry Reed wrote in his book "Compromised" the Bush/ Clinton Connection going back to a time when Clinton was governor. It involved using the Mena, Arkansas National Guard Base to fly in planes loaded with drugs and fly them out carrying arms for the Contras, drug dealers, and drug revolutionaries. Other whistleblowers writing about the people the CIA has put in power evil men who have caused the death of at 30 million people. If the Moslems call America "The Great Satan" it is because of the CIA manipulation and murders around the world. They have toppled hundreds of democratically elected leaders and replaced them with the military or a repressive dictator.

Yes, many of those Nazi doctors guilty of the worst atrocities were cleared of criminal charges brought to this country and allowed to go on with their experiments. None was more deadly; none more harmful to the young people of this country than the MK Ultra program and it's many branches

Mark Philips told the listeners of KCXL a Kansas City area radio station. "There are now hundreds of books in print that describe the involvement of the CIA in drugs and mind control. To follow this story you only need to go to the largest library and start looking. Or you may find hundreds of sites on the Internet about drugs, about slavery, about mind control, about Satanism and the all lead back to the government or someone connected to the government."

Under the terms of Operation Paperclip there was cut throat competition among the Armed services to see who could secure the best Nazi scientists and engineers. "For its part, the US Navy was equally eager to snare its measure of war criminals. One of the first men picked up by the navy was a Nazi scientist named Theodore Benzinger. Benzinger was an expert on battlefield wounds, expertise he gained through explosive experiments conducted on human subjects during the waning stages of World War II. Benzinger ended up with a lucrative government contract working as a researcher at Bethesda Naval Hospital in Maryland. Quoted from "Whiteout: The CIA, Drugs and The Press by Cockburn and St. Clair

Mark Philips worked for NASA as an independent contractor supply monitoring equipment for behavior modification in what he assumed were animal experiments. Astronaut Gordon Cooper reveals that at least 54 of those experimental animals were children. He refers to them as NASA children and they were subjected to drug and centrifuge experiments which were supposed to give them "out of body" experience and improve the ability to communicate telepathically with "aliens" Gordon doesn't explain what aliens!

As with all whistle blowers, there have been major efforts to discredit Philips. Philips told Interviewer Richard Boyden: "MK Ultra is not an experimental program but an active program, which has been underway for at least two decades. It is a trauma based program. This program was a direct result of our importation of Nazi/fascist scientist under "Operation Paper Clip. President Truman attempted to put a stop to this in 1949 but was unsuccessful"

Mark Philips speaks first hand because he rescued a Monarch Mind Slave called Cathy O'Brien. The book they authored together "Transformation of America" is almost beyond belief—except that Paul Bonnaci and other children went thru much the same thing. More than 80 children were identified in the Omaha/Lincoln area. They in turn talked about hundreds of others in major cities across America, especially in Washington D.C. The investigation of the Nebraska Legislature turned up evidence of a mind control project run at Offutt Air Force Base near Omaha.

Johnny Gosch when he visited his mother Noreen in the middle of the night told the same story. He asked his mother to do something about the congressmen, the generals, the governors, and the DIA, CIA and FBI men, who had participated in his torture and the torture of thousands of other children. Johnny was able to talk only because he escaped along with a group of other young men from their handlers—using the very training they have been given to escape their captors. Both Johnny and Paul have been trained to drastically change their appearance, dying hair and skin to pass as an Indian or becoming a blond

Mark Phillips calls this a "U.S. Defense Intelligence Agency project for radically modifying human behaviors through MIND CONTROL Mind Control was begun by are importation of the Nazi/fascist scientists into this country—supposedly for the research involving propulsion and rockets. Actually of the 900 initially brought over in 44 in only 200 were involved rocketry, the other 700 were psychiatrist and doctors who had participated in experiments to control the human mind."

Mind control literally began in earnest under Adolph Hitler in the late 1930s. He assigned Heinrich Himmler, Gestapo Chief, the task of researching multi-generational incest families in Northern Europe. Hitlers early background in the Satanic and Occult provided the impetus for this examination of occult trained individuals who could be totally obedient to a strong leader, even unto death..

Philips continues: "These families were the basis of all mind control research because Adoph Hitler believed, like many of our so called leadership in this country believed, that nuclear war and nuclear proliferation was not the viable answer. There would not be anything left, no spoils for the victor. So Hitler thought it best to be able to control the minds of his subjects. They began by developing what Hitler and Heinrich Himmler called "The Chosen Ones" (See also "Plot Against the Peace" 1946 which details this operation which trained 8,000 agents designed to carry on the Reich after Germany lost the war)

These chosen ones were the children of the multi-generation incest abusing, psychological and physically abusing families (see Satan Ch). They had developed a peculiar psychiatric malady, dysfunctional identity disorder DID. Many years ago it was referred to as multiple personality disorder, which is a misnomer since they barely had any personality at all. The personality was fragment literally from abuse that began at birth. The father substitutes his penis for the mother's nipple and it goes down hill from there. (In a statement to the Nebraska Legislature Dr. Judi-Anne Densen Gerber told of a baby 8 months old being diagnosed with gonorrhea of the throat.}

The DID individuals develop some really strange traits, for example, they develop visual acuity 44 times that of you or I Adolph Hitler envisioned using these so called chosen ones. He would put them in positions of extra-ordinary control and power like heads of state. He would use them in "special forces" and upon certain cues, codes, keys and triggers, these people would act autogenically, and just an automatic response to whatever their program consisted off. The program was quite sophisticated even in the 1930s when it was actually in an experimental mode and after Project Paper Clip took over this scientist brought all the information with them. And we placed them in our institution of higher learning (Kinsey Sex Research had Nazi data). In military complexes and with corporations with a fair number of them going into NASA.

These scientists were developing according to a number of congressional hearings project that were abused human rights and abused the field of psychiatry. The 95 Presidential Hearings revealed the MK Ultra name and I am sure it has evolved into another unnamed program by now. Under the MK Ultra Umbrella there were many MK Ultra sub projects. Many of these involved tracking the same kind of multi-generational satanic/incest involved families in the United States and Canada, some of them even descendants of the original groups that Hitler had studied. .

Some of these children would end up being programmed robotic human beings that were used in special forces that were used in drug mule operations, money laundering, were used in the field of computers. There have been people surfacing in "legitimate" psychiatric facilities who were able to prove some of their background. They had been used for the sheer pleasure of some and to help fund the "Pentagon's Black Budget Operation". I am sure many of your listeners regard the drug problem as one that is separate from the government, when in fact the United States Government is the world's largest drug dealer."

In this radio program, Philips roundly condemns the psychiatric community for its failure to stand up and be counted. When Phillips rescued Presidential Mind Slave Cathy O'Brien (yes, Presidential) he sought help from psychiatrists to help deprogram her. Whether they were simply frightened by the consequence or already knew too much is the question.

The Monarch Project was a code name assigned to a new brainwashing formula, which was originally called "Bluebird." It was an outgrowth of Nazi experiment utilized by intelligence personnel in the U.S. Army during the 1950s. Unlike the Chinese who used something ancient like water torture, the U.S military resorted to drugs to gain control of the human mind.

In total violation of the Geneva Convention and the Nuremberg Laws they transported Chinese and North Korean prisoners to Japan. There they were subjected to LSD and a whole plethora of drugs designed not merely to elicit information but to turn them in to mind control slaves. In the next 50 years nearly 150 drugs would be tried on every one from inmates in prison to fellow co-workers at corporations to students in Universities.

Most of the American people can recite many of these drugs without prompting. Cocaine, heroine, amphetamines, marijuana, date rape drugs, etc. For all we know Viagra might have been developed out of these experiments. There were drugs that would render the subjects incapable of judging right from wrong, drugs that would turn them on sexually and prey on whatever weakness they showed.

Thus experiments, which began with the "enemies of America", were gradually administered to the people of America. In a brilliant move, the ruling elite decided to sell them they very drugs that would enslave them. The CIA bought at one time enough LSD to have drugged one quarter of the US population. FBI man Gunderson claims one drug proved to be capable of causing a heart attack within a half hour of being administered and was untraceable. Is this what happened to CIA Director William Colby?

While the military worked on prisoners of war, the CIA and FBI were experimenting with Candy Jones, a model turned modeling instructor, whom they turned into a secret (even from herself) undercover agent. British Secret Agent Intrepid, Sir William Stephenson told her she a "zombie" Agent. He stated to her that he had been able to use such agents during WWII, if captured their surface personality knew nothing.

Philips & O'Brien talk of the refined "zombie" drug, which made Cathy totally unaware of her past and indeed who she was in the present. If she were told she was Marilyn Monroe, she would from that point introduce herself as such until another command gave her another identity. Cathy was a Presidential model zombie and had far more scientific know how and care applied to her training than that Paul B, or Johnny G. had. Although one of Paul's alters is totally fluent in German. There is no record of his ever leaving the country, although he can describe Hotels in Cologne, Germany.

For the next 15 years, the new-formed CIA took control from the U.S. Army Ultra secret Monarch project, now code name MKI and MKII. Project Monarch was declared stopped by then President Gerald Ford. The CIA did stop experimentation but all records, equipment developed and under development were secretly handed over to the U.S. Defense Intelligence Agency. The DIA then secretly and illegally re-assigned the Monarch Project experiments right back to it's original founders.... The U.S. Army. Now it was cloaked under TOP SECRET U.S. Army Psychological Warfare Division.

The DIA used the excuse that it was for safekeeping. The discoveries detailed how to seize total control, undetected of a human mind for any "patriotic" purpose. The formula was so simple that even a person of average intellect and no moral foundation could successfully enslave almost anyone for any purpose. See the movie "Telefon" starring Charles Bronson for the best dramatic portrayal of how it worked. Although the film points a finger at the Russians, the adviser was said to have been from the U.S. governments mind control program.

Again the words of Mark Philips: " The DIA is a politically governed/operated U.S. government intelligence gathering agency whose responsibilities, progress, and assignments are "monitored" by the intelligence committees of both the House and Senate. This equates to politicians having access to ultra secret, ultra dangerous information.... which they could and HAVE USED against innocent US. citizens for their perverse pleasure and profits...undetected.

The original purpose of Monarch was to be used to "deprogram" captured espionage agents and to determine just what they had learned, second to make them "forget" what they had learned so they could be traded to their country in exchange for our agents.

The next step was to program the captured agent with a "cue" from one of our in place agents to retrieve secrets from them.

The Russians out did us by devoting billions of dollars to research and development of a new method...a complex formula of precisely timed and orchestrated physical and psychological tortures that were administered to "young recruits" (in the U.S. it became government authorized kidnapping and child breeding), children over a long period of time. These normally above average in intellect children were chosen due to their intelligence and genetics for being "conditioned" as the new generation of "super spies".

The U.S. aggressively began pursuing more exacting methods of super spy development. Michael Aquino, who had joined Anton LaVey's Church of Satan in California, broke off and formed the Temple of Set in the military, quickly winning both military approval and promotion. (Every indication suggests Bonacci, Johnny Gosch and others is that Aquino spearheaded the acquisition of new young Aryan type recruits.)

They were programmed to perform a variety of super human tasks with an incredible success rate. Meanwhile, Jimmy Carter signed another Presidential Executive Order, which supposed halted the remaining Mind Control experimentations. This was the second false "death blow" to Monarch Project aka MKI, MKII, and MKIII. It was business as usual at the DIOA and the U.S. Army Psychological Warfare "

Mark Phillips states: "At this point in time, this writer was no longer associated directly with the intelligence community and therefore have no espionage statistics other than hearsay (which I will not repeat) except for the following;

The New Revised Monarch Project was now under the direction of a U.S. Army Major (now Colonel) Michael Angelo Aquino...who would put a new dark twist into the Monarch Project...Satanism. Colonel Aquino says he himself was sexually abused as a child and is a sociopath....with a lot of political friends. Ronald Reagan a proponent of mind control since he was governor of California, insisted Aquino attends White House parties in his satanic regalia. According to Cathy O'Brien he resented this and considered Satanism only a means to an end, but he reluctantly complied with Reagans wishes."

What follows in the next ten pages of the report is a list of the kind of mind control programs, Alpha, Beta, Delta, Theta. Children are buried alive with spiders or snakes. Cattle prods or high voltage law enforcement type stun guns are used to command instant obedience. If they are order to have sex, or to kill the obedience must be made a reflex. See Bonnaci Documents Ch..

The Theta program, which involved mind reading and out of body experiments ultimately evolved into electronic possession. Using the proper electronic high frequency broadcaster, they can make a room full of people suddenly decided they all need to use the bathroom at once. Individual with implants and the right stimulation can go from nice guy to crazed killer in a matter of minutes.

The first victims were captured spies, from friendly and hostile nations. “The second groups were bright aggressive young men who applied to Officers Candidate School. After a battery of tests, these eager young men were allegedly told, they couldn’t go to OCS, but they could “volunteer” for a career in Intelligence where they would be given TOP SECRET training, James Bond “007” stuff. This true, but very misleading, information created powerful patriotic images in their minds. They envisioned being “special” espionage agents in just months instead of the years of OSC training.”

The final recruits were a little younger than the college types, more like two or three years old. Some were given by fathers, who got caught sending kiddie porn through the U.S. Mails, others got caught having sex with underage boys or girls. CIA agents offered them money, business favors, and protection from prosecution.

Some fathers were educated at government expense on how to precondition their little girl with tortures of the mind and body and with sex... which would give this child a “gift of insanity” an MPD/DID super child.

Some fathers became manufacturers to Uncle Sam producing dozens of children for the New Monarch project. Organized crime bosses dealing in child/adult porn, opened Day Care Centers to create a virtual “kiddie smorgasborg” When some of the occult conspirators got too sloppy as in the Franklin Legislative Investigation, the McMartin Day Care Center it could be taken care of .

West Point, N.Y., Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, Presidio, California—all military day care centers—all had incidents of child sexual abuse...all covered up.

Mark Phillips concludes: “Mind Control techniques/formulas unlike nuclear weapons systems can be reproduce without exotic and expensive component systems...in the privacy one’s own home by anyone of average intelligence and absolutely no conscience. "Mind Control, "states Phillips" is just as lethal as nuclear war."

He predicts the Mind Control, he also termed "white slavery" will be the largest "cottage industry of the 21 Century. The U.S. now has nuclear regulatory agencies which oversee everything from nuclear weapons to nuclear power plants. But Mind Control thanks to corrupt U.S. Government officials...is out of control.

Before 1980, when Aquino took over Monarch, there were reported only 200 cases of MPD/DID one of the most rare diagnosed psychiatric disorders. Today there are 24,000—which could mean from a quarter to half a million undiagnosed DIDs waiting around to explode with rage as a serial killer, child abuser, or mass murderer.

He concludes while, we're waiting for the answers, another child is being raped, mostly by the very person biologically designed to protect them...their father. Any one who reads a newspaper or listens to the local news will be struck by the amount of child abuse and murder. Recent headlines are filled with mothers and fathers, or stepfathers, or boyfriend/girlfriend who kill their own children, or step children.

Psychiatry: The Ultimate Betrayal

Bruce Wiseman, U.S. National President of the Citizens Commission on Human Rights and former chairman of the Department of History at the John F. Kennedy University. Wiseman in writing his book "Psychiatry: The Ultimate Betrayal" indites the entire psychiatric community in this country for its cooperation with the CIA drug experiments. Government records show the CIA ordered LSD by the ton from a midwestern drug manufacturer It was handed out to doctors and psychiatrist like a "candy" cure all for mental illness, when in fact it did far more harm than good.

This drug was not only dispersed to military bases but to many psychiatrist and doctors throughout the University communities who tested it on student "volunteers" One psychiatrist, Dr Ewen Cameron, former president of the America Psychiatric Association, used LSD in combination with electric shock to "depattern" the minds of paying patients. Wiseman state." It is ironic that Camerion, who was a member of the Nuremberg tribunal hearings of Nazi war atrocities, would later work for the CIA and violate the Nuremberg Code for medical ethics by sponsoring experiment on unwitting and unwilling subjects."

Wiseman's experiments were conducted in Canada with the financial backing of the CIA. Those patients are the only ones to successful sue the CIA and win—perhaps because they were Canadian and could not be blocked by invoking the National Security Act. These experiment and the subsequent lawsuit were dramatized in a made for TV mini-series shown in the U.S..

An Iowa City newspaper "ICON" exposed the University of Iowa Hospitals participate in such experiments. Later, information revealed that University Hospital also participate in radiation experiments in which mothers and new born babies were given radiation pills as vitamin supplements. The government needed to test the effects of radiation on human beings

Psychiatrist Louis Jolyon West created the greatest misstep in LSD experiments when he overdosed an elephant. The animal immediately fell over in a stupor. All attempts to revive the animal failed. Most of the animal experiments at Universities were conducted on two legged animals. Some students were paid a dollar for each time they took part in experiments.

Tens of thousands of soldiers from the 50s thru the 80s, were used without their knowledge. They were sometimes told they were taking part in a flu medicine development. These experiments on soldiers went far beyond LSD, hypnosis combined with drug cocktails were designed to create "a Manchurian Candidate".

Wiseman stated by the late 1950s, psychiatrist who administered LSD were all the rage. Cary Grant was among those who promoted the use of the drug and soon psychiatrists who used LSD in therapy were inundated with clients. Yet in the years to come the use of LSD would come to be known for its bad trips and its ruined minds. LSD was first discovered in Switzerland and was first probably used by the Nazi's who exercised control of Switzerland during WWII

Where was mind control going?

The CIA for over 50 years has been developing a mind control technology, a technology designed to alter the basic mindset of a people. Its purpose is to devise operation techniques to disturb the memory, to discredit people through aberrant behavior, to alter sex patterns, to elicit information and to create emotional dependence.

Its goal is to program individuals to carry out any mission of espionage or assassination even against their will even against such fundamental laws of nature as self-preservation.

The newspapers have been full of stories of mind control victims who have gone on to commit crimes. Sirhan, Sirhan with the assassination of Robert Kennedy. John Hinckley in the attempted assassination of President Ronald Reagan. In each instance these people have appeared dazed and out of it afterwards. Lee Harvey Oswald did have a memory and information he could have called upon. Therefore, had to be killed. The other men remembered nothing. It was safe then to put them away in a jail or a mental institution.

It is interesting that Walter Bowart was born in Omaha, Nebraska; the center for the only real investigation of mind control conducted by other than a do nothing Congress. The reason for the "Franklin Credit Union" investigation was the missing forty million dollars. It lead to CIA/Satanism and FBI/NAMBLA connections, which in the end brought forward the Paul Bonacci's and the Johnny Gosch. Both who later talked about mind control, Monarch and MKUltra. (see Bonaci Documents)

Walter Bowart in his book "Operation Mind Control" states in his author's note that the book is an exercise in Citizens' Intelligence and that the majority who contributed to it were private citizens working on their own efforts. Like the author they too were shocked and outraged at the many citizens of this country, who have been victimized by their own government.

Published in 1978, this was well before the information surfaced about the black men who were allowed to die of syphilis in order to study its long term effects, or those mothers and babies who were given radiation pills in order to study radiations effect on the human body.

Bowart describes the circumstances surrounding the four-year enlistment of David, described as a young Air Force Sergeant. "Ever since I got out of the service I haven't been able to give a day-to-day account of what happened to me during those four years. The scary thing is that I still have a horrible fear of talking. I have a tendency to speed up my speech when I 'm being pressed on something: I get very tense when anyone asks me about my service duties. ...Something has happened to my mind."

David joined the service in 1969. David had not been part of the 60s revolution he had not smoke pot or used LSD. David had hoped to be a doctor and, therefore, sought something in the Air Force related to this field. He was put instead in supply but told it was a cover for an Intelligence Operation; he was to be a part of it. But weeks past and he was still making supply entries in a computer.

Next he woke up in a hospital and was told he had tried to commit suicide. He has no memory of this. Interrogation and drugs followed, then suddenly he is granted and two week leave home. After his leave he is shipped to Guam. Instead of remaining at the main base, he is shipped to a small facility eight miles away. Here things were different. He was suddenly paired up with a woman, Pat, who throughout his stay would be wife and companion. They planned on meeting when they got out.

Yet afterward David could not remember her last name and had misplaced her address. Moreover when he applied for jobs that asked what he had done the past four years, he would break out in a sweat and flee the office.

David spent years under psychiatric care. He was finally asked to make a decision, did he want to spend the next 18 months unraveling the mind block, and so he could remember what he did in the Air Force. Or did he want to concentrate on functioning normally in his life today. He chose today and decided to forget his past. How many military personal walk around America with blank spots in the memory?

A "flashback" caused by a remembered incident the causes of "a rage" that under the write circumstance can lead to death. And in less trying circumstances to loss of job or marriage. America's future rests with coming to a true understanding of what happened in our past. A lone gunman did not kill Kennedy! Did Franklin D. Roosevelt know about the bombing of Pearl Harbor in advance? Do you have a blank spot in your memory bank where you cannot remember what happened for days, months of years as David has?

Do not be afraid to ask questions. I talked to a young lady a recent high school graduate working in a department story. When she had heard part of the story of what went on in Nebraska, she said: "My parents told me that if we criticize this government, they will come and arrest us!" Are we like the little old lady who fears to look under the bed for the burglar and instead covers here head and hopes he will go away?

Where are "The Manchurian Candidates?

Richard Condon author of the fictional "The Manchurian Candidate" wrote a Forward to "Operation Mind-Control" Condon writes: "As demonstrated inescapably by Walter Bowart in his book: Our Father who art in the American secret police has endowed hundreds of scientists at American universities to unravel methods of fracturing American minds... In this book, Walter Bowart has proven each step of this official, terminal, government anarchy, even though that appears to be a contradiction in terms. To alter and control human minds is the ultimate anarchy. What is offered by official apologists as a tribute to the needs of daring-do by romantic spies are acts of hatred and sadism against all people in an insane and degraded determination to extirpate conscience from society."

No better explanation can be made of what has gone on in Nebraska and to some extent in Iowa. When the investigation of the Nebraska legislature began revealing almost every person in positions of power were and are more interested in maintaining their position than respecting either the laws of man or God. In Nebraska sadistic pedophiles have been taken under the wing of protection of both the Republican and Democratic parties. Nebraska Governor, after Governor simply says: "Its not my responsibility". Although governors, legislators and all elected officials take an oath of office. "I will uphold the Constitution of the United States and the Constitution of the State of Nebraska.... Iowa, etc."

What happened to Johnny Gosch. We know from both Johnny and Paul Bonacci that immediately after he was kidnapped, he was repeatedly raped and molested while being photographed for pornography purposes. He was kept locked in a boarded up basement room. This was only the beginning of his journey for survival. Bonacci reported, Johnny was later taken by Col. Michael Aquino to Colorado, to begin his life of terror. Noreen Gosch has said of her son. He is no longer the same Johnny...not the boy who wanted to be an architect.

David entered the service because he faced being drafted but Johnny was not drafted.... he did not choose to serve his country at the age of 12. Those who saw him, as another kind of guinea pig gave him no other choice. Johnny came to his mother seeking justice, for himself. He wanted to live as a free man. "The Lost/Missing Children" posters are mounted on the walls of every Wal Mart in the country.

Ray Bilger writing in an article from www.davidicke.com

"I lived with Gail for a very stormy year and a half. She died in January of 1996, MDP (DID) and involvement in MK Ultra; pictures with Ronald Reagan, pictures at the Hefner Mansion, or was that her twin? And much more, I sit on quiet evening, maybe sipping a little Chardonnay... I speculate on what more I could have done ...to help "put Humpty together again." She committed suicide.

Jim Gentry on the same site replied: "My best wishes to all in this ongoing tragedy, even to the MK Ultra Handlers, those master behaviorists, with all the codes, keys and triggers. Guys, I wish you would all get religion: realize that your pet robots are real people, and defect: come over to our side. We need your skills to help heal what you have wrought over these many years."

A Doctors Boast

"I can hypnotize a man—without his knowledge or consent—into committing treason against the United States," boasted Dr. George Eastabrook in the early 1940s. This was the beginning of what would later be called Mind Control. Eastbrook actually conducted experiments on U.S soldiers to prove his point. One of the experiments involved placing a normal, stable private in a deep trance. He was told the officer was actually an enemy soldier who was going to kill him. When brought out of the trance he leaped for the officer's throat. The cardinal sin in the military is to attack a superior officer.

In 1958, Dr Louis Gottschalk, the CIA's "independent contractor" had prepared a think tank report which suggested that the intelligence agencies might control people through addiction. It was recommended that GI's newly discharged from hospitals would make subjects worth study since their need for pain medication made them easy to control. So our government began a series of experiments using a variety of drugs to control the people.

In a report from the U.S. Senate, August 3, 1977 entitled: "Project MKUltra, The CIA's program of research in behavioral modification. Behavioral modification sounds so pristine, so medical, it amounted to experiments to modify individuals, especially children, so they could be "Manchurian Candidate" assassins, human computers with photographic memories, drug couriers, and prostitutes. What they discovered thanks to the Nazi scientists is that one individual could be all of the above without their main personality knowing anything about it..

Here is an Excerpt

"3. The Surreptitious Administration of LSD to Unwitting Non-Volunteer Human Subjects by the CIA After the Death of Dr. Olson." (Understand that today the use of all kinds of drugs is the number one problem in America)

Much violent crime in this country is due to the need of the drug addicted, to get more money to buy drugs. Drugs also destroy the reasoning power and the brain, hence robberies of gas station, quick food places often result in killing of the clerks for what is often a few dollars to a few hundred dollars.

The government report continues: "The death of Dr Olson could be viewed, as some argued at the time, as a tragic accident, one of the risks inherent in the testing of a new substances. It might be argued that LSD was thought to be benign (Note: human experiments of a new drug were being conducted without the knowledge of the subject that he or she was being drugged). After the death of Dr. Olson the dangers of the surreptitious administration of LSD were clear. Yet the CIA continued or initiated a project involving the surreptitious administration of LSD to non-volunteer human subjects. This program exposed numerous individuals in the United States to the risk of death or serious injury without their informed consent, without medical supervision, and without necessary follow-up to determine any long-term effects."

A letter to Richard Helm, then Director of the CIA, in 1954 suggested:

"We intend to investigate the development of a chemical material, which causes a reversible non-toxic aberrant mental state, the specific nature of which can be reasonably well predicted for each individual. This material could potentially aid in the discrediting individuals, eliciting information, and implanting suggestions and other forms of mental control."

This report made it quite clear that although the CIA and other covert governmental agencies used and continued to use a variety of drugs to discredit individuals. In Bowart's book there is an incident described of how an agent slipped a drug into the drinking glass on the podium. The speaker made a complete fool of himself because he was so disoriented. Any reader who gets the idea that this was done only to "foreign" individuals better think again. Anyone who attempts to expose bad conduct an even murderous practices would becoming a potential target for chemical warfare Following the bad behavior, due to being drugged, an article would be written about the speaker, by a CIA asset, further discrediting him or her.

One of the most cited books on mind control is John Marks "The Search for the Manchurian Candidate." A declassified memorandum, from the Deputy Director for Science and Technology, to Deputy Director of Central Intelligence, comments on John Marks FOIA (Freedom of Information Act) request. Notes the difficulty in finding records

"Dr Gottlieb retrieved and destroyed all the MKULTRA documents he was able to locate, it is not surprising that the earlier search for MKULTRA document was unsuccessful. The purpose of establishing the MKULTRA mechanism was to limit knowledge of the sensitive work being performed to those with an absolute "need to know basis." If those precepts had been followed, the recently found B & F files should have contained only financial and administrative documents." Instead of these there were documents which could give the outside reader, the outside reporter the feeling that they had uncovered experiments worthy of Dr. Frankenstein. It allowed Joseph Mingle similar experiments by the same Nazi doctors who had worked for him...perhaps even by Mingle himself, under Cold War Secrecy Acts and under the umbrella of National Security.

What U.S government documents reveal is that not only were mind controlling type drugs developed and used on people without their knowledge, but they also developed Shellfish toxin for the purpose of poisoning the enemy were developed and retained in the face of a Presidential Directive that they be destroyed. Marks obtained 20,000 documents relating to mind control under the FIOA.

In the 1970s, CIA Director Richard Helm ordered all files relating to the CIA Mind Control experiments destroyed. A few years later a small number of them surfaced and were review by the Senate. One surviving document bears an uncanny resemblance to the circumstances surrounding the assassination of Robert Kennedy. The document dated 1954, describes efforts to find a way to induce an individual "to perform an act, involuntarily, of attempted assassination against a prominent politician or if necessary, against an official" It suggested that the subject be "surreptitiously drugged through the medium of an alcoholic cocktail at a social party." Sirhan last memory was of pouring coffee for a pretty girl wearing a polka dot dress. When Sirhan was taken from the assassination scene, patrolmen shined a flashlight in his eyes and stated that Sirhan's eye didn't react. The officials of the LA Police department lost Sirhans blood test and the policemen could not recall his earlier statements.about Sirhans eyes.

Witness Sandra Serrann claimed she saw Sirhan with a "Latin" man and a girl in a polka-dot dress just prior to the shooting. Los Angeles Police Department polygraph operator Sgt Enrique Hernandez harassed/intimidated/ridiculed her attempting to get her to change her story. Hernandez apparently had ties to the CIA.

Congressional records show that the CIA continued to perform experiments on a psychiatric patient and later lobotomized him. The list of atrocities performed on captive patients is only matched by the chemical warfare experiments performed on whole small communities.

Everything from chemical warfare to mosquitoes infected with yellow fever. The experiments were successful, many people died.

Perhaps one of the greatest mistakes made by any President made was Harry Truman when September of 1946, he signed permission for "Operation Paper Clip." Truman expressly excluded anyone found "to have been a member of the Nazi party and more than a nominal participant in its activities, or an active supporter of Nazism or militarism" The first set of scientists were rejected by the State Department as "ardent Nazis."

Director of the War Department's Joint Intelligence Objective Agency, Bosquet Wev wrote a scathing memo warning the State Department "the best interests of the United States have been subjugated to the efforts expended in 'beating a dead Nazi horse." In reality, we learn from a host of books that the Nazi party only restructured beginning in 1943's. "The Plot Against the Peace" outlines how the Nazi's realizing they were losing the war began to plan for the peacetime continuance of the Nazi party not in Germany but in the World at large.

Nazi's trained at several centers, were given new identities and new backgrounds, especially speaking German eastern European countries and told to await the end of the war. Then apply for asylum in various free world countries. The excuse being they were fleeing communism.

At the same time, Allen Dulles, then CIA director was meeting with General Reinhard Gehlen, a Nazi general who had run the spy network inside what became the Soviet Union. Dulles promised Gehlen that his spy network was safe inside the CIA. Dulles had the scientists dossiers re-written to eliminate incriminating evidence that tied them in to the most severe atrocities against both Jewish and Gentle prisoners.

Allen Dulles' efforts opened a whole host of projects stemming from Nazi Research. Unfortunately for America... MK Ultra/Artichoke, Bluebird and other projects were brought forth under the umbrella of protected the CIA afforded them

Truman virtually opened a Pandora box of ills for this country and the world; because he did not realize that power hungry members of the military establishment would lust after the information on mind control experiments. Although Warner Van Braun and others experimenting with military rockets, planes, and weapons were brought into this country, they numbered only about 200. An additional 700 psychiatrist and other scientists who had been working on mind control were brought in and ordered to begin experiments all over again with the American military and finally an unwilling and unknowing American public.

In 1985, Linda Hunt writing in the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists examined 130 reports on Project Paperclip subjects. Every one "had been changed to eliminate the security threat classification." This may have sparked the interest which eventually lead her to complete in 1991 "Secret Agenda: Operation Paperclip" a damning indictment of Allen Dulles and those who conspired not only to alter the dossiers of scientists who fit the description of Nazi War Criminals, but promoted them in position of power in the academic community and war industries.

The Occult in Mindwar

"Satan Wants You" declares author Arthur Lyons. His books links the in the occult to the psychedelic revolution. With the likes of Timothy Leary touting LSD as a religious experience, Lyon claims it only lead to interest in the occult. Today with the knowledge the Leary worked for the CIA, the connection becomes clearer.

From Christopher Simpson book "The Splendid Blond Beast" "Friedrich Nietzsche called the aristocratic predators who write society's laws "the splendid blond beast" precisely because they so often behave as though they are beyond the reach of elementary morality. We can imagine them returning from an orgy of murder, arson, rape and torture, jubilant and at peace with themselves as though they had committed a fraternity prank."

Anyone who examines the way CIA Agents were recruited and indoctrinated would recognize that it was very similar to the way the SS trained their soldiers. For the service to the fatherland (for the matter of national security) nothing was beyond the scope of an agent (like James Bond) was licensed to kill, not just the guilty. The CIA judged and executed, but the innocent who might have exposed "a plot" and therefore had to be eliminated.

Philip Agee, CIA, who became disgusted with the murderous ways of the CIA was accused of treason for "revealing their secrets". He escaped several attempts to kill him. President Ronald Reagan declared him a traitor and removed his citizenship. Today Agee is a man without a country. Agee has no passport and no country will give him citizenship because of the pressure from the U.S. government. Agee's life may be an extreme example but many "whistleblows" both in government and in industry have found themselves ostracized in their profession and often vilified by the news media.

What most people have not realized is that the DIA/CIA and other covert "government" have infiltrated into all walks of life. Today there are five branches of Government, Executive, Legislative, Judicial, Media and Clergy. And examination of newspaper, magazines and books will reveal that members of the clergy and journalist are CIA assets, the work for and guard against a public being informed.

"If people truly want to combat this phenomenon, it must be brought out into the public; it must be brought out into the light of day, and it must be done so very publicly so as to protect the people coming forth. It cannot be combated just on a national level, because it is international in nature. Governments work in collusion with other governments throughout the world; people who want power work in collusion with others; they use each other to gain social, economic and political power."

"MANUFACTURING THE MIND CONTROLLED SLAVE"

I would like to define some terms that you will hear when learning about people with "multiple personalities." Dissociation is a key term that refers to the ability of the mind to "cut off" a part of itself from conscious awareness. An every day example of this ability, which we all have in varying degrees, is the experience of driving down the freeway and missing the exit you take everyday because you are thinking about something else. You " come to" an exit or two late and realize you missed your exit, even noticing that you "saw" the exit sign but it didn't "register" within you to take it! Part of your mind was dissociated, or separated from, the real world around you while you focused on internal thoughts. Another example is reading every word on a page in a book, and then realizing you had not comprehended a single word, because you were thinking of something else. All of us have these experiences.

This ability of the mind to detach from itself is a brilliant coping mechanism that the mind uses in situations of extreme threat as a way to protect itself from the full awareness of a traumatic situation. You may recall reading about Vietnam veterans, who had amnesia for their war experiences, but would have difficulty coping with life. They would fee detached or estranged from others; they would have difficulty feeling any kind of feelings, except for outbursts of anger; they would have difficulty concentrating, would feel anxious and on edge without knowing why, and would have an exaggerated startle response (over-responsive to stimuli). These are all characteristics of the diagnosis "Post Traumatic Stress Disorder" or PTSD. In addition, these veterans would have sudden memories of the horrors of war. These memories would be "triggered" by something that reminded their unconscious mind of the war experience) for example, the sound of a car backfiring, reminding them of gunfire). In these sudden memories, they felt as if they were actually re-living the experience, smelling, tasting, felling, hearing and seeing in vivid detail everything they went through during an actual battle. These memories, complete with all the sensory memories, are called flashbacks. During those flashbacks, the veteran would be out of touch with the reality around them; they would no longer know it was 1985 and they were in America; they would think it was 1968, and they were in the jungle, reliving a particular battle. They were totally dissociated from reality, and were reliving a past reality that was now only in their minds. Later, in processing these experiences, the soldiers would report that during the actual battle, they would feel very detached, even numb, from what was happening, even though they may have been wounded themselves. At times, they reported feeling as though they were standing outside of themselves, observing themselves going through the trauma of the battle, but not feeling anything. They were dissociated from their reality. But their brain was recording all of the experience, exactly as it occurred, and those "mind and body" memories were being re-experienced during a flashback.

When someone is exposed to a "psychologically distressing event that is outside the range of usual human experience... is usually experienced with intense fear, terror and helplessness,: (DSM III) then dissociation usually occurs as a way for the mind to process the event without overwhelming the person. Parts of the experience (either knowledge of what happened; the emotional feelings associated with the event; the sensory experiences of the event, or the behaviors expressed during the event) become separated from one's conscious awareness. The more frequent the trauma, the more dissociation occurs. This phenomenon is why children who have been severely sexually abused and tortured, are amnesic for those events. In a landmark university study by Linda Williams hundreds of children were brought into a hospital emergency room who received medical confirmation of sexual abuse, were contacted at intervals throughout a 20-year period. Only one-third of these children, when reaching adulthood, retained conscious memories of the sexual abuse—all others had repressed, or dissociated, those awful memories. Such is the power of the mind to block out painful experiences.

During times of torture and extreme pain, the mind is in an altered state, as it dissociates itself from reality. But there are other ways to alter the mind state, for example, by sensory deprivation, or meditation, whereby one focuses internally, with sensory stimulation from the outside minimized or eliminated. You may recall in the 1980's that "float tanks" were popular. In a float tank, you are floating on very heavily salted water; you are enclosed in a totally darkened metal tank, and you float for an hour without any sensory stimulation. Many people felt claustrophobic, and couldn't take it. But if you could stand it, you would eventually report having a euphoric experience. If you had been hooked up to a brainwave machine (EEG), your brain would no longer be producing beta waves (the brain state associated with usual waking activity). Instead you would be in a theta state, the state associated with deep relaxation, as when you are just about ready to fall asleep (the twilight state).

In this state, the pain produces lots of endorphins, the body's natural "feel good" chemicals that give you a profound sense of well-being. It is important to note then this twilight state is associated with the ability to rapidly absorb and learn information. Without the "filtering" mechanism of the conscious waking mind, information seen or heard "pours" into the subconscious mind.

Biofeedback expert Thomas Budzynski of the University of Colorado Medical Center reports "We take advantage of the fact that the twilight state, between waking and sleep, has these properties of uncritical acceptance of verbal material, or almost any material it can process; it is in such "altered" states of consciousness that a lot of work gets done very quickly." (For much more information about brain research and technology associated with producing altered states, read the fascinating book Mega Brain, by Michael Hutchison) Other methods used to alter brainwave states include, but are not limited to, rapid flashing lights, drugs, phased sound waves, negative ions (electromagnetic energy fields), electroshock, alterations in gravity in the cerebellum (spinning) , microwave emitters, and lasers.

It is vitally important to understand about dissociation, because in learning about how someone's mind can actually be controlled by someone else, you must understand how it is possible to program the human mind as you would a computer. "Programming" is fairly recent term in history of mind control (and is of course associated with computer technology). Perhaps you'd recognize it better as "brainwashing."

In the POW camps, captors would refer to "freezing," a term used to destroy the person's identity. Using food and sleep deprivation, isolation, torture, chronic assault on a person's values, and instilling total dependence on the captor's for survival, a person's whole sense of self would be destroyed. They would be totally helpless, broken, with no will of their own left. They would then be ready for the "brainwashing," or "refreezing" whereby a new value system and a new identity would be put in through reward and punishment, conditioning or "programming" that person to believe or do only what the captors wanted them to believe or do. (For more information on brainwashing, including USA and Canadian government experimentation, read: Brain Control by Elliot Vallenstein; Deep Self by John C. Lilly; Inside the Black Room by Jack Vernon; In Search of the Manchurian Candidate by John Marks; Journey into Madness by Gordon Thomas; I Swear by Apollo (author unknown; published by Canadian publisher).

Just as it is possible to break down a person in order to create someone you can control (by getting them to do anything you want them to do), so it is possible to program a part of a person's mind (a dissociated part that is split off, by trauma or other means, from connection with reality). You can "teach" that part of the mind to do what you want it to do without the part of the mind that is conscious and aware knowing what's going on. Hence, people with multiple personalities report that they "lose time," whereby they don't remember where they have been or what they have been doing.

TECHNIQUES ON "CREATING" NEW CHILDREN

"Daub fingertip size glob of Vaseline or K-Y jelly on pressure points – wrists, inner elbows, behind knees, under ears. Take ends of 2 wires (black and red are easiest, negative/positive easier identified) with mental attachments (round, copper, holes in center) and tape with surgical tape on top of Vaseline. Calibration – watch for muscular reactions, eye glazing, sweating, involuntary loss of bladder control, bowel control. Want to give enough of a current w/o being too much. Want child to remain alert. Words, cords given. Assignments given. "Yes, one finger, No, raise two; Confused – raised right hand." Clarify instructions. If still confusion, time to stop, take a break. Do not allow any contact between patient and others until cycle is completed. Do no, under any circumstances, offer juices, snacks, etc. which could be construed as a "reward" until the cycle is completed. Check carotid pulse for significant elevation in blood pressure. ? Do not wish to affect a heart attack. Heart attacks can occur in children. (Children are outfitted with diapers before the sessions begin, are also taken to the bathroom beforehand. Keeps down unnecessary interruptions). Keep voice on same level at ALL times. Not hurried, not raised or lowered. Same pace at all times. Droning, hypnotic effect. Helps to stabilize heart rate.

When instructions given to child, and received, then are only then give reward of name for identification purposes. Code phrases – "well done," "very good," or "you did real good." Avoid hugs, touch, and any other forms of physical contact. Eye contact necessary, stabilizing. Allow alter-state to form place of safety within, encourage alter to describe internal surroundings. (All is taped, voice-activated, recorded later in the computer records for others to refer to). "

In March of 1995, before a Presidential Hearing in the United States the horrific radiation and mind control experiments, performed on unwitting subjects, was ONCE AGAIN brought to the U.S. Government's attention. At the conclusion of the hearing the Committee recommended further exploration of the mind control experimentation, however NOTHING FURTHER WAS DONE.

So, in 1997, a group of fifteen survivors and professionals, organized by ACHES-MC (Advocacy Committee for Human Experimentation Survivors—MIND CONTROL) came together and testified in regard to their own experiences of mind control atrocities. This was recorded on video by Wayne Morris (CKLN Radio out of Canada) and sent with a letter to President Clinton requesting further investigation. To this very day nothing has been done and the pleas for investigation into these matters has been completely ignored... one has to wonder why?

The United States declared the 1990's as "The Decade of the Brain" In 2000 and beyond, let us join together to do whatever it takes to insure the express right and freedom of our brains and insure the freedom of our minds. Putting fear aside, let us join together in TRUTH AND LOVE

As we face the year 2000, are we going to allow this most precious human asset, OUR MINDS, to be abused, used and harnessed by ANYONE?

It's bad enough to think that any individual would interfere with these basic freedoms, but to know that the perpetrators are some of the most influential people in the world is unconscionable. Many are our World Political Leaders, Corporate Business Heads, Sports and Entertainment figures, World Banking Leaders, plus a group of publicly nameless puppet masters who work strategically from the top, and are pulling the strings

THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT, NAZI SCIENTISTS AND PROJECT PAPERCLIP, 1945 TO 1990
LINDA HUNT

The single most important book to detail how Nazi experiments became Project Monark/MKUltra

NATIONAL SECURITY ACT CREATES CIA MONSTER

By the mid-1950s, former president Harry S. Truman realized that the U.S. government's intelligence community and particularly the CIA, was out of control. He stated in a number of letters that he made a mistake in signing the National Security Act of 1947. This law made it possible for CIA, and the later created Defense Intelligence Agency (all Armed Services Intelligence Agencies combined.}to do covert operations without informing congress. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who followed Truman as President concurred on the CIA. It might even have been a veiled remark about the CIA's machinations when he warned, near the end of his Presidency: "Beware the military industrial complex. "

It is certain today, a combination of the Defense Intelligence Agency (DIA) along with the CIA who run this country for those who ever pulls their strings. Johnny Gosch was simply one of many pawns in the game as were and perhaps our thousands of children. What has made the difference in Johnny's case is that he had a Super-Mom, who would accept no barriers in her search for the truth

One of those barriers is the National Security act, which has stifled again and again attempts by Mind Control victims to expose in the federal courtrooms of this country the damage the mind control victims have suffered. Evidence is constantly suppressed under the broad ban of "a matter of National Security." Time and again when most victims have brought a civil rights action in a federal court it dismissed because it involves secret issues. The issue of mind control experiments, biological warfare and drug trafficking all fall under that umbrella of "national security"

More is known and said about the CIA than any other covert operations. Yet all the military are involved in Mind Control programs. Offutt Air Force base played a role in Johnny case and Paul Bonacci was trained there. But Bonacci was also part of war games in Fort Riley, Kansas (Army) while he was still a child.

Anyone who takes the time to read even a few books will find that the CIA operates within all military services. There are detailed descriptions in a number of publications of the use of soldiers, sailors as experimental animals, who were not volunteers to the MK Ultra program. They were often deceived into taking part in experiments that ruined their lives. The Chapter on Monarch and Mindwar only begins to touch the surface of the information uncover in the more than 18 years of investigation.

President Eisenhower objected to a directive of the National Security Council, which gave the CIA extreme powers and unlimited support for paramilitary operations, allowed the CIA to call on other agency, Army, Navy, Marine, Air Force and other secret agencies to do their bidding. What made Eisenhower uncomfortable outraged the Kennedys. President Kennedy did not like what the CIA was about and threatened, "scatter to the winds", the CIA operation. It wasn't long before Kennedy was dead and anyone who views the Abraham Zapruder film, especially the new computer enhanced version will see that Kennedy lacked Secret Service, which should have surrounded his car. What needs to be made clear is that any President who dared challenge the CIA and other covert operations would find themselves dead on the street or otherwise eliminated.

Nixon's so called peace with honor resulted in the loss of South Vietnam, Laos, and Cambodia, resulted in the genocide of millions of Asians and the desertion of American Prisoner's of War. The North Vietnamese in return for the promised repatriation funds that were to help Vietnam rebuild was holding MIA's whom the CIA knew.

Monica Jensen Stevenson, an Emmy winning 60 Minutes Producer was removed from her job for producing a piece which clearly said "secret agencies" had information that as many as 3,000 American prisoners were still alive in Asia. Her book "Kiss the Boys Goodbye" could not be found in the U.S. It was published by a Canadian Publisher in hardcover and a paperback from England by Penguin.

Who is a Domestic Terrorist?

You had best look in the mirror. If you in any way oppose or question local, state or federal government, you may find yourself declared a trouble maker, a "kook" and finally or a crazy who belong in a psychiatric hospital. You may be a house wife or working mother like

Noreen Gosch, but if you object to a dump being planned on property next to yours, or a new chemical plant being contemplated in you county and you object, you may have earned yourself a place on the "domestic terrorist" roster.

What has become clear in the wake of an 18-year investigation is that organizations such as the CIA and FBI are not there to preserve and protect an American way of life. They are definitely not defending a Constitutional form of government that guarantees freedom of speech and due process.

As incredible as it may seem you need not be a member of the Unorganized Militia or some militant religious group to be considered subversive. Any public official who sees wrong doing, criminal activity going on within his department of government is liable to find himself fired, blacklisted, vilified and even sentenced to jail on some trump up charge, or put in a mental institution..

President Ronald Reagan thru extensive use of Executive Orders sanctioned the use of CIA in domestic surveillance and disinformation. They had actually been involved in since the days of the student protest of the Vietnam war in the late 60s. It clearly substantiated that the CIA's experiments with LSD suddenly went beyond the bounds of the Universities Scientific studies and suddenly gave birth to the "Flower Children." Ann Arbor, Michigan and Berkley, Calif had been centers for the CIA funded University experiments involving LSD and suddenly this was available on every major campus across this country. Today drugs and booze are two of the most widely used CIA tools used to keep students away from any thinking or reasoning.

FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT

On July 4, 1966, President Lyndon B. Johnson signed Public Law 89-487, the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) which was to go into effect the following year July 4, 1967. The President stated: "I signed this measure with a deep sense of pride that the United States is an open society in which the people's right to know is cherished and guarded. "Attorney General Ramsey Clark said: "If government is to be truly of, by, and for the people, the people must know in detail the activities of the government. Nothing so diminishes democracy as secrecy"!

The FOIA did not fling the door of government wide to public. It had nine exemptions which has lead to endlessly legal wrangling and for the most part there is no response to "a citizens" request. If you are a powerful D.C. connected individual, you stand a much better chance of receiving information in a reasonable time. Author of "The Search for the Manchurian Candidate" John Marks met with no success in gathering documents on the CIA's mind control projects until he did retain a D.C. law firm. He was eventually to get 20,000 documents that he successfully used to give us what has been regarded as the most definitive book to date on the government's mind control experiments using military personnel, college students, and kids kidnapped off the streets of America. See the Mind Control Chapter.

I am sure that both directors of the CIA and FBI will shake their fist and muttering under their breath when they survey the contents of this book. National Security is considered the biggest exemption and we have gotten around their attempts to cry "national security reasons" for not revealing document. Months have now gone by since I submitted a FOIA to the FBI request thru an attorney for the Johnny Gosch and Noreen Gosch files. So far no response could it be that those files would reveal too much of both agencies personal involvement with this kidnapping case?

Bonacci had reported to me that Aquino had been the one to take Johnny from the house near Sioux City, Iowa to Colorado, after paying the kidnappers for doing the job. June 6, 2000, I requested a copy of a Military report written by then Major Michael Aquino (he was later promoted to Lt. Col.) from the National Security Agency. It was called "From Psyops to Mindwar: The Psychology of Victory". This document is an outline of how to turn a "soldier" into a "mind controlled fighting machine", by using mind control techniques. The same techniques used on Paul Bonacci and my son Johnny.

On June 16th, 2000 a letter from the National Security Agency indicating my request "does not fall within the purview of this agency and a search for records responsive to your request would not be productive.

The National Security Agency was established by presidential directive in 1952 to provide signals intelligence and communications security activities for the government. Since then the NSA has gained the response for information systems security. In other words..."keeper of the secrets."

In 1974, a series of needed amendments were added, because of what Senator Edward Kennedy termed "hostile bureaucracy" L.G. Sherick in his book "How to Use FOIA"...Federal agencies maintain billions of classified papers, running the gamut from sensitive national security information to detailed reports on unsuspecting citizens placed under the eye of Big Brother because they attended protest marches, political rallies and radical or not so radical activities.

New York Representative Bella Abzug requested her own information from the CIA. To her amazement she found that for 22 years the CIA had been monitoring her activities as a lawyer and politician, despite the fact that the CIA was charged with gathering overseas intelligence concerning national security, not domestic intelligence..

Thanks to one of the exemptions President Reagan, in an Executive Order authorized them to spy domestically and authorized them to withhold that information from Congress. Executive Orders have been authorized since George Washington and were to be used in case of a National Emergency. Congress may override them within 30 days of the President's signing them. But in the last few years, they have chosen to ignore them and let them pass into law.

If we actually had an existing U.S. Constitution, the President could override it with an Executive Order, which is precisely what President Franklin D. Roosevelt did in 1933. He declared a state of National Emergency. Many writers about Constitutional government have stated that each President has extended the national emergency, which has effectively suspended the Constitution. What has passed for a Constitutional government is simply word games.

There is no better example of how the National Security Act works than an examination of "The Franklin Cover-Up" by John DeCamp. Nebraska State Senator, Captain in the military, friend of the head of CIA William Colby, once considered a political powerhouse in his own state was later ridiculed by his peers and dismissed by Washington D.C.

Within this framework of quasi-laws and regulations various covert agencies have struggled to gain supreme power. To do so, they have not hesitated to use child prostitution. They used mind control victims to compromise every one from the President on down. We must suspect that even Monica Lewinsky could have been placed where she would catch President Clinton roving eye. No politician, judge, businessman or officer in the military is too low or too high to be controlled by blackmail.'

For those of you who need further convincing of the role of the CIA, FBI and other covert agencies in domestic espionage against the citizens of this country read "Dangerous Dossiers" by The New York Times cultural correspondent.

The FBI tried to discredit Hemingway because he had once called the agency "American Gestapo" They barred John Steinbeck from U.S. Army service because they doubted his loyalty.. The notebooks, manuscripts and books of Carl Sandburg were seized and he was declared "a well-known communist in Chicago." All of these authors had achieved national and international recognition. Yet our covert agencies did not hesitate to go after them for real or imagined slights.

Under the FOIA I applied thru my attorney for the documents on myself and Johnny Gosch has been ignored. It is obvious that without major intervention by An Iowa Congressmen or Senator the FBI will simply ignore the request, or if challenged will claim that they have not received them.

What will it take for the FBI to reply under the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA). I challenge .... The Washington Post, New York Times, Washington Times, The Des Moines Register and all other major media sources in this country.... to demand the documentation from the FBI on myself and the Johnny Gosch case.

Conspiracy of Silence by Yorkshire Broadcast

In Nebraska over eighty children came forward after the Franklin Credit Union of Omaha, Nebraska was closed. Their charge…they had been used and abused by Larry King to satisfy the perverted sexual desires of politicians and businessmen in Nebraska, in Washington, D, C. and elsewhere around the country.

The ten-month investigation by a team of reporters from England uncovered the Washington D.C. and White House connection to child prostitution, pornography and the virtual enslavement of minor children for sexual purposes. Although a number of similar investigations had surfaced across the country, they were at a much lower level than the Nebraska State Legislative Investigation. This involved the governors, state senators and U.S Congressmen and Senators. This too had been shut down amid murders. Although Committee Chairman Loran Schmit protested long and loud, no one besides close friend and colleague, former State Senator John D. Camp spoke out. DeCamp finally produced in two editions "The Franklin Cover-up" book.

It was the first and considerable shorter edition, which contained a statement by William Colby, former head of the CIA, that "too many important people and too many important governmental agencies were involved in this." Indeed, Yorkshire TV insisted that William Colby speak out on this videotape, which he did. Perhaps this cost him his life! America's Intelligence community cannot abide squealers.

In mid-1993 John DeCamp's "The Franklin Cover-up" had been circulating for almost a year—all major U.S. Media had ignored the book.

In fact, the only major national news media that had covered the case was "48Hours" which bypassed the investigation DeCamp and Nebraska Legislative Committee Investigation and framed the entire story as "A Carefully Crafted Hoax." This denial of an ongoing investigation by a state legislature in favor of interviewing the accused pedophiles is unprecedented in the annals of television journalism.

Troy Boner states: "Marc Delman wrote my script for the program 48 Hours....I claimed that the entire story of myself and the other kids was a "hoax". He promised me ten or fifteen thousand for this. I got virtually nothing. 48 Hours told me that they had paid my attorney." It is incredible that 48 Hours should have paid either Troy Boner or his attorney to script and present a lie.

The 48 Hours program was aired just before the jury began their deliberation; this was a major breach of journalistic ethics. There is no doubt that 48 Hours program declaring the Nebraska situation "HOAX" had it's influence on the local media and the Douglas County Grand Jury.

The following program was the result of ten months of effort by the British, not the result of a weekend of filming as with 48 Hours. Troy Boner told an entirely different story in this documentary.

In 1993, Yorkshire TV in England contacted DeCamp and sent said DeCamp "a top notch team of investigators." Yorkshire had a contract with the Discovery channel to produce a documentary about charges of sexual abuse in Nebraska. They spent months in Nebraska and also traveled the country from one end to the other interviewing, filming and documenting piece by piece the Franklin story. They reportedly spent between a quarter and a half million dollars on their efforts. DeCamp states in his book: Over the year that I worked with them, I was amazed at the team's ability to gather new documents and witnesses which kept opening up new and frightening facts about Franklin. They were a crack team. In the final weeks that they were in Nebraska they expressed their certainty that they would win awards for this documentary horror story of government sanctioned drug running involving children; government-sanctioned abuse of children; and government protection of some of this country's most powerful businessmen and politicians, who had been the chief actors in the Franklin story.

Finally, the big day came. Their documentary was to air nationwide on the Discover Channel on May 4, 1994. It was advertised in TV Guide and in newspapers for that day. But no one ever saw that program. At the last minute without explanation it was pulled from the air. It was not to be shown then, and has never been broadcast anywhere since in the U.S.

In late 1995, John DeCamp was mailed a bootleg/work copy of the program. He gradually pieced together the story of the programs demise.

When Yorkshire TV sent the broadcast tape to the United States, customs officials seized it as "pornographic material." The attorneys for the Discovery Channel were able to get the documentary release. Then the lawyers went thru the film for month making this change or that deletion and finally declared it safe to broadcast.

In the meantime, Congress began debating major legislation that would affect the cable industry. Messages were delivered in no uncertain terms from key politicians involved in the Cable TV battle, which if the Conspiracy of Silence were shown on the Discovery Channel as planned, then the industry would probably lose the debate.

An agreement was reached Conspiracy of Silence was pulled, and with no rights for sale or broadcast by any other network: Yorkshire TV would be reimbursed for the costs of production: the Discovery Channel itself would never be linked to the documentary: and copies of Conspiracy of Silence would be destroyed. Now in the following pages you can read the text along with some of the pictures. A version of it is available at this WEB site: www.johnnygosch.com on the Internet and is available on VHS.

Troy Boner, who had been the spoiler in the 48 Hours program, became a major witness in the Conspiracy of Silence. This happened only after he had passed a rigorous set of lie detector test insisted on by the producer of the program. He reveals a systematic torture he went thru at the hands of the FBI, the Omaha County Attorney's office and the Omaha Police. Today Boner has disappeared of his own accord or because his information could pinpoint too many people, no one knows.

The following is a transcription of the video with only enough narrative description to give you an idea of what you were not allowed to see. Supposedly all copies of this program had been destroyed.

Narrator: The financial crime is only half the story. This is the true story of Lawrence King It is the story of a cancer at the heart of America and its continual cover up at the highest levels. One man is attempting to uncover the full story—John De Camp is among the most highly decorated Viet Nam veterans...a former state senator of the state of Nebraska. He is now a lawyer fighting Lawrence King's abuse of power.

DeCamp: It's a web of intrigue that starts in our holy of holies Boy's Town of Omaha, Nebraska one of the most respected institutions in the United States. And spreads out like a spider web to Washington D.C. right up to the steps of the nations capitol—the steps of the White House. Involves some of the most respected and powerful and richest businessmen in this United States. of America. The center piece of the entire web is the use of children for sex and drug dealing and drug curriers …the compromising of politicians, the compromising of businessmen, but worst of all the corruption of key institutions of government that have the duty and responsibility to make sure these things never happen.

NARRATOR: For John De Camp the trail starts in a unique town just outside Omaha Boy's Town. Made famous by an Oscar winning film, Boy's Town is America's favorite children's charity. It was found in 1917 by a Catholic priest Father Flanagan.

Flanagan: "The saddest spectacle in our social life is the neglected and unwanted and unloved boy who has become a series problem in our society."

FATHER HUPP: It started out to be a home for orphans right after WW I, but since then society has changed and the problems of boys have changed and so now it is a question of taking care of homeless, abandoned, neglected, abused boys and now girls also.

NARRATOR: Boy's Town has been granted the privileges of an incorporated town. A Catholic Diocese and a school district for 500 children.. Boy's Town has cash reserves of 500 million dollars but still raises up to 35 million annual solicited from the public by begging letters and promotion videos

Father Val Peter: Caretaker of Father Flanagan's Dream and Executive Director of Boys Town. Does Boy's Town really exist people ask me. You bet it does!

Narrator of Video within Video: Located in the heartland of America. Boy's Town youth have come from many backgrounds and locals. When the graduate they shall seek new adventures and head for new places, but always they shall carry with them the spirit of boys town. If you'd like to help Boy's Town send your tax-deductible gift to Boy's Town, Nebraska 68010.

DeCamp: Boy's Town for me was the first thing I ever heard of when you think of institutions that you respect. Believe it or not, I was there for a while when I was a young boy. When an institution like that gets contaminated would it be any better if you did something about it at least get it cleared up.

NARRATOR: John De Camp blames the contamination of Boy's Town on the one time leader of the National Black Republican Council Larry King.

De Camp: Larry King was the fastest rising black star in the entire Republican Party in the United States during all of the 1980s. And he was also one of the most evil individuals in this country in terms of being a dealer of children. In terms of being a thief…40 million they documented he stole in terms of abusing, compromising and corrupting one after another politicians.

NARRATOR: The base of his network was the Franklin Federal Credit Union a people bank in Omaha, Nebraska. Larry King was its general manager.
Larry King: This is especially and exciting day for me (newsreel footage of opening of credit union)
Unidentified Spokesmen for Credit Union: Mr. King was a very charismatic person. When he came to the credit union, he was brought in because it was actually failing. He did everything to build the credit union.
NARRATOR: King courted the leaders of Omaha's wealthy business district. Banks industries and charities placed millions of dollars in King's hands. From 1979 Larry King developed close commercial ties to Boy's Town. Boy's Town Youngsters were sent to work for his companies
Unintended Spokesman: Boy's Town had quite a few accounts at the Franklin Credit Union. Those were considered very valuable accounts they were handled exclusively by our bookkeeping department. But on the average of once a month or once every two months, we always seemed to incorporate a person from Boy's Town
NARRATOR: But King used Boy's Town not just as a source of young boys for his business, he prostituted them at sex and drug orgies. Paul Bonacci was a victim of King's abuse. He was also sent by King to lure Boy's Town youngsters off campus.
Paul Bonacci: We used to just drive around Boy's Town in a scavenger hunts for boys. I would grain their confidence become friends with them for a while. Start inviting them to the parties, the kids were ten years old or older.
NARRATOR: In 1986, King's plundering of Boy's Town was reported by staff to Father Val Peter its Chief Executive. Subsequent testimony proves that he carried out his own investigation but that King's victims refused to talk to him. Monsignor Hupp now blames himself for its association with Larry King
Monsignor Hupp: In retrospect I regret having any association with Larry King. Had I known at the time it would never have happened?
Reporter address Hupp: Could you understand why a very detailed report from a social worker inside Boy's Town identifying children and identifying their alleged abusers never saw the light of day. Nothing happened with that.
Hupp: I can understand that...if I'd know that I wouldn't put up with that! Did something like that happen? I don't know?
Social Worker: Carol Stittt: Nebraska has a very clear statute that child abuse allegations should be reported to authorities. This shouldn't be reported to the principal of a school, director of a facility they should be reported directly either to child protective services or law enforcement.

NARRATOR: And so Larry King remained free to feed his pedophilic parties with child victims. In 1988, a routine review brought kings involvement with Boy's Town youth to the attention of the Nebraska State Foster Care Review Board.

Carol Stittt: The information presented to the Foster Care Review Board either via the telephone reports, the personal reports or the reports we reviewed Larry Kings name was consistently present as someone the youths were making allegations against.

I would say we handed over at least a foot high amount of material to authorities. And nothing happened.

NARRATOR: Omaha Police now accept that Larry King may have been abusing children. But the most senior officer claims the evidence was not conclusive.

Attorny Gen. Spiro: It is certainly possible that Mr. King was involved illegal acts with children, If there was sufficient evidence of those types of allegations he would have been prosecuted by the county attorney office.

Carol Stittt: For me it was very clear. That the case was not investigated and not pursued because of the alleged perpetrators.

NARRATOR: Those perpetrators named by the children were some of the richest and most influential citizen in positions of power in the state. Men prominent in Industry. Politics, the Media even the police.

We can only name the ringleaders. Besides Larry King. There were the Department Store millionaire Allen Baer and the celebrity columnist of Omaha's only newspaper the World Herald Peter Citron. With the judicial system apparently paralyzed, Larry King spent Franklin's money on courting political influence. Ten million dollars went on jewelry. Flowers and private planes. He cultivated contacts in the inner circle of Ronald Regan's white House at his palatial homes three in Omaha and one in Washington D.C he held extravagant parties for the influential and powerful. His lavish spending bought him a protected life.

De Camp: Larry King was constantly heralded (cheered) applauded in the news media as the great businessman that's helping the poor—the black community of Omaha.

NARRATOR: But King's extravagance attracted the Internal Revenue Service as a result on April the 11th 1988. The Franklin Credit Union was raided and closed by the FBI. King was arrested and a federal investigation showed that he had stolen 40 million dollars from Franklin, Documents we possess reveal the FBI interviewed many of the victims of Larry Kings sex ring...but no action was taken. In November 1988 Nebraska's state government set up a parallel investigation into Larry King...a legislative committee was formed. Its chairman was the Republican head of Nebraska's banking committee corn farmer and State Senator Loren Schmit.

Immediately anonymous threats began.

Loren Schmit: I received a phone call on the floor of the Legislature. The caller did not identify himself but he said Loren you do not want to have an investigation of the Franklin Federal Credit Union! And I asked who was I speaking too. He said: That doesn't matter. But you shouldn't have that investigation. And I said: Well, why not?" And he said: "It will reach to the highest levels of the Republican Party. And we're both good Republicans.

NARRATOR: Undeterred the committee began their investigation and the money trail led quickly to the original allegations of child abuse Caroline Stittch was one of the first to testify.

Carol Stittt: The night before we testified before the legislative committee I did receive a phone call at home that said "if you speak you won't live to regret it."

NARRATOR: To protect the inquiry, Schmit's Committee hired special legal council and full time professional investigators Gary Caridori and Karen Ormiston Schmit: I said to Gary Caridori we do not want you to bring to the committee rumors that can not be backed up my facts.. Bring to a committee that which we can take to a prosecutor.

NARRATOR: The investigators found new victims of King's pedophile network. Many on the streets of Omaha. The picture they built up was a large ring of rich and powerful pedophiles. Many named the same men as those involved in the Boy's Town three years earlier.

Ormiston They were telling us about prominent people in Omaha and elsewhere that were abusing children at parties

Schmit: The prominent citizen names originally came up were of concern to me because I know they many of the individuals and frankly I was shock to have those names show up on the list.

NARRATOR: To provide the committee with hard evidence recorded their new witnesses on videotape Paul Bonacci had been a victim of abuse since he was eight. He was present at many of Larry King's sex parties. Caradori traced him to the county jail. He had been convicted of fondling his young cousin.

Caradori: Who are some of these people who would come to these parties?

Bonacci: Larry King, Peter Citron and others.

NARRATOR: Media personality Peter Citron procured some of his victims from Boy's Town.

Bonacci: He liked them mainly around the age of eight to 13. He fondled and had oral sex with them, he did have some anal sex but he usually did that with the older kids.

NARRATOR: The parties involved ever more sadistic abuse.

NARRATOR: Millionaire Alan Baer hosted parties for a large number of sophisticated pedophiles. Paul Bonacci suffered at their hands.

Carradori: When you were tied up was anyone there besides Peter Citron.

Bonacci: Alan Baer sometimes. And sometimes other kids were performing sex on me.

NARRATOR: Troy Boner was found by the investigator and his video taped testimony taken on road.

Boner: I was shocked when I walked into the room. There was this kid about 15 in the middle of the room He was bent over with one man in front another reaching under him to play with his tits. And a third putting beads up his ass. Jeff (King) told me later that guy was a cop.

NARRATOR: Boner named Alan Baer as the man who introduced him to the sex parties.

Boner: Allan Baer was a sick f__k, didn't care… wanted sex nasty. I don't know if you can even call it sex. Everything, I mean, from just touching to a fruit a huge squash that big around stuck into to you into your ass. Heat… heat things… hot things poked at you stuck in you.

NARRATOR: But the center of the child sex ring was Larry King

Boner: Larry King was the same kind of sick f__k Alan Baer was except Larry King was more violent, more sure of himself. You know. I got these scars on my arm on night were Larry King said, he wanted to see how strong a men we were or something, he had us put our arms together. He'd light cigarettes and as soon as they get burning he drop them down between our arms. Let it burn. They made us stand their naked and touch each other by holding our arms together and burnt cigarettes there. It's on film someplace. You know they filmed it. I mean I would see him f__k a ten year old boy in the ass until he bled, pull out, stop push him down then go out and meet with decent people.

NARRATOR: King would also provide under age girls for abuse. Alisha Owens told the investigators she was 15 when she attended her first party introduced by a Boy's Town Boy. Caradori discovered her in jail where she was serving a sentence for passing bad checks.

Alisha Owen: I met some boys from Boy's Town and they invited me to a party. It was at that party that I met Larry King, although at the time I did not know where he was,

NARRATOR: Larry King and Alan Baer frequently hosted the child sex parties in penthouse at the Twin Towers luxury block In Omaha

Owen: A lot of the time, I was in handcuffs with my hand behind my head and my feet tied and someone would be sitting on my face. Larry King took quite a lot of pictures

Caradori: Alisha, you're a victim. Just take a deep breath

Ormston: We were appalled, I don't know if it comes across to you from the video, they way it came across to us in person. It was incredible! It's incredible what these kids went thru. I think.

Caradori: Troy Boner would tie you up?

Owen: Yes, sobbing

Boner: Drugs were a part of how they got control of the some of the kids, because that's what some of the kids were there to get. They would do the sexual action and be provided with cocaine or whatever type of drug they wanted. Heroine that's my drug of choice to this day I remain an addict.

Owen: We met there in Pasadena. I was almost certain that the three boys were from Boys Town.

Caradori: Were they graduates of Boy's Town?

Owen: No, they were currently at Boy's Town.

Caradori: How did they get away from there?

Ormiston: Larry King was, I would say the center of transporting the children around the country. But the airplanes were usually in his name, leased in his name. They were paid for by Larry King

Caradori: Did King ever threaten you?

Owen: Those of us who didn't want to be a part of it were threatened. King said, I can find somebody to kill you or someone in your family if you talk.

Schmit: Boy's Town came up frequently in the investigation, but we found it very difficult to get information about Boy's Town. I was not able to find out any information. I went up there. Mr. Caradori could not get any information either.

NARRATOR: Boy's Town today remains unwilling to discus its involvement with Larry King. We were banned from filming at Boy's Town and its public affairs officer refused any interviews.

Telephone Public Affairs Officer: "I would have to give you a flat no. I'm just going to tell you at this point that we will not participate with you we have no interest in talking to you folks. It's something we do not even care to delve into. Phone slammed down.`

NARRATOR: by the spring of 1990 the evidence of an organized child abuse ring convinced the Nebraska state committee. Its chairman Loren Schmit sought the advice of his lawyer John DeCamp. On his advice, Schmit turned over all the sworn evidence to the FBI. But immediately the video taped testimony was leaked to a hostile local media.

ORMISTON: The media immediately started discrediting the witness. The witnesses came across in the media in the Omaha World Herald especially, as the criminals.

Carol Stittt: The press, particularly in the Omaha World Herald, demolished the last three-victim witnesses. The paper never looked for information that would support any of the allegations. The whole purpose of the story was to destroy any credibility these youths may have.

BONACCI: I heard people say that Gary Caradori coached me that he told me what to say. But the fact was I didn't meet Gary Caradori, till way after I had already talked to the Omaha police about the abuse and had named all the same people.

NARRATOR: Paul Bonacci maintains that neither the FBI nor the Omaha police took his allegations seriously.

Bonacci: They didn't ask me very much about Larry King or even Alan Baer at all. They treated allegation about the people who abused me almost like a joke.

ATTORNEY GENERAL: The stories were of such significance that the investigators first wanted to prove the accuracy of the stories. They set about the investigation of the three, then a fourth person, who were telling the stories. As the investigation developed, it became obvious to the investigators that the information was not accurate. It was an entire conspiracy of allegations none of which had any truth to them.

Schmit: I was very disappointed with the way the FBI and law enforcement treated the victims. They had in fact turned them into the offenders, so to speak. And instead of taking the evidence that was delivered to them by the victims and interrogating the person whom the victims identified. They seemed to bear down and try to get the victims to change their story.

NARRATOR: It seemed to the investigators that the establishment of Omaha was closing ranks. Then Troy Bonner was brought in for questioning by the FBI.

Boner: The FBI's attitude was just "no" ....these kinds of things just don't happen. In the first interview when I went and I realized they don't believe a f__king thing I'm saying. You know, they are they were just appalled but I realized what that look in their eye was back then. It was fear...it was fear, you know, I had witnessed you know first hand things that would destroy this city. People in a position...its not going to be believed, you will not be believed. You will be found guilty of perjury and they weren't telling me maybe. They were saying there's no way. You go on with this story you're going to jail. That was said to me direct.

NARRATOR: Troy Bonner agreed to withdraw his video taped testimony. The FBI used Troy in an attempt to pursued fellow witness Alisha Owen into abandoning her evidence against Larry Kings nationwide network of powerful pedophiles. We have obtained a recording of a phone call made by the FBI on March the 9th 1990. It is significant evidence for John De Camp.

FBI: This is special Agent Michael F. Mott following will be a consensually recorded telephone call between Troy Boner and Alisha Owens.

Boner: Hello!

Owen: Hi!

Boner Hey, what's going on?

Owen: I'd like to ask you that!

Boner: Talk to me

Owen : No you talk to me! I don't understand why you're lying. Why are you lying.

Boner: What are you talking about? You telling me I'm lying. You concocted this whole thing Alisha.

Owen: Your full of shit

Boner: Either tell me what's going on (she repeats) Hey, look!

Owen: Who do you have listening on this line?

Troy lies: I have nobody listening to me. I'm listening to you and I'm hoping you can give me some f__king answers.

Owen: I'll be honest with you. I don't know what kind of game your playing.

Boner: I'm not trying to play a game. I'm not going to go to jail for you. And that's what is going to happen.

Owen: Why would you go to jail? Jail for telling the truth?

Boner: No, jail for lying.

Owen: What have you lied about?

Boner: I haven't lied.

Owen: Okay then, but

Boner: Listen! Shut up! Listen to me. You not out here being talked to by them every day. The pressure is kind of hard!

DeCamp: You literally have to have bricks for brains to take on the FBI in this country and that's exactly what you would have to do, to do this properly. They now in my opinion…in my investigation are the architects of the cover-up.

NARRATOR: We asked the FBI in Omaha for an interview about its investigation of the Franklin scandal

MURRAY HOMEQUEST: Murray Homequest with the FBI here. We feel it would be inappropriate for us to comment. We worked this with the Omaha police department and we just don't feel it would be appropriate for use to make comments (Phone was hung up)

NARRATOR: As the investigators sought out new witnesses, they found themselves under constant threat.

ORMISTON: Gary was threatened several times. His vehicles were tampered with. I would think whoever tampered with them. It was a scare tactic because it was so obvious that they were being tampered with.

Gary's brother: Gary got one piece of evidence that he even said, "he got ahead of them this time." He talks about this book ...it was like addresses, telephone numbers, names...he said if they knew he had it they would kill him.

NARRATOR: On July the 11, 1990 Gary Caradori and his eight-year-old son A.J. were flying home from Chicago in his light aircraft. They had watched the all star baseball game and Caradori had been pursuing new leads.

NEWCAST: Investigators from the National Transportation Safety Board are in Harold Cameron's cornfield trying to determine what caused this private plane to crash killing it's two occupants.

NARRATOR: The bodies of Gary Carodori and eight year old A. J. were found in the wreckage.

NEWSCAST: National Transportation Safety Board investigators say wreckage is apparently strewn over a three quarter to one mile long stretch in this field..

Investigator: The fact that the wreckage is scattered over such a large area certainly demonstrate that it did break up in flight. The exact mechanism of break up is still unknown.

NARRATOR: The federal investigation was never able to discover what tore the plan apart.

Orminston There are things missing from the plane...pieces missing. I think the plane was sabotaged. There's no doubt in my mind!

NARRATOR: Within 24 hours of the tragedy the FBI impounded all Caradori records. Gary's widow Sandy is still unable to come to terms with her loss.

Sandy Caradori: As a mother, I don't want to ever think that somebody murdered my child let alone my husband. But I think if you ever talked to any parent be it mother or father who's ever lost a child. I mean the worst thing you can think of is that somebody would want to murder a child.

Caradori Brother: I really feel that somebody killed my brother (Repeat) I know somebody killed him. If there is someone out there who could help us out if they know something.. May God help those who did that to him and his family?

Ormiston: The effect of Gary's crash on the investigation I think that put an end to anybody else coming forward. There are many victims—there are more. There are more...they are still out there. They're afraid to come forward.

Carol Stittt: That's when I was finished; because I figured out if they murdered Gary and his son there was nothing that would stop them. There is no piece of paper; there is nothing we could come up with that was going to get anything done.

NARRATOR: But Gary Caradori's death pricked Troy Boner's conscience. He promised Sandy that he would tell Senator Schmit and Senator committee about the FBI's pressure that lead him to lie.

Boner: I set the record straight. I was going to do it and would…the truth would come out…and someone would be held accountable for his death. But then at the funeral, I met FBI guys and they looked at me. Well, I was supposed to meet Senator Schmit and Senator Orback for lunch afterward. That's when I decided, I told my mom we're not going to do the lunch. We're going to get out of Lincoln now.

NARRATOR: Troy Boner claims that pressure from the FBI and with the assistance of the county attorney's office in Omaha, led him to swear a new statement claiming that he and Alisha Owens had concocted the entire child abuse story. He told this story to the Grand Jury formed to bring any charges. On July the 23rd 1990, the Grand Jury issued a bizarre and contradictory report. It indicted Larry King for fraud ,embezzlement and ruled that he had paid young men for sex but dismissed allegations about his sex ring. It indicted Alan Baer for the serious offense of pandering for sex, but rejected evidence linking him to King or to Citroen., who it noted had been convicted of separate child molestation charges. It accepted Troy, Alisha and Paul Bonacci had been abused, but not by the people they identified. And for refusing to withdraw her evidence, it charged Alisha Owens with perjury………..Loren Schmit Legislative Committee issued a report denouncing the Grand Jury. Schmit acknowledges that the system failed both the victims and him.

Schmit: I think I've got as distinguished a record as anyone can put together in 24 years. I was told that would be curtailed and it was. I was told I would have financial problems and I did. That certainly was not lost on most of the politicians in Nebraska. I think the great majority got the message, that if they ever tried to conduct such a thorough investigation again the same thing will happen. It has shaken my faith in the institution of the government. I used to be a firm believer that the system would work that people who did things wrong would be punished. We discovered victims who claimed to be abused and even acknowledged that they had been abuse but they did not try to find out who abused them. Instead they convicted Alisha Owens of perjury indefensible in my view.

NARRATOR: The trial took place in July of 1991. Troy Boner testified that the child abuse story had been all invention. As a result Alisha Owen was sentenced to between 9 and 25 years in prison.

DeCamp: I can't find a case in the history of this country where some kid got sentenced to 25 or 30 years in prison for something like this. If you were going to pick, what I call a tell sign, something that says something's fishy about the whole thing, it was in the sentencing itself. For some reason, they had to send a signal to every kid who was a potential witness my opinion again, a signal so loud and clear, if you dare to come forward, if you dare to talk... watch what happens.

NARRATOR: Alan Baer was fine $500 after pleading no contest to a reduced charge of adding and abetting prostitution. Peter Citron served two years of a three to eight year sentence. Thanks to Troy Boner's lies Larry King never faced child sex charges. For the 40 million dollar fraud he was given a 15-year sentence...ten years less than Alisha Owens.

Boner: I felt really sick. I should be taken out and shot. And if that was too happen, I would go willingly.

NARRATOR: John De Camp former state senator and Viet Nam veteran is now the only man fighting to help Larry King's victims. He is the lawyer trying to overturn Alisha Owens conviction and to expose the cover-up.

De Camp: I live in Nebraska, hell... I was born here, raised here. I have four kids growing up here like it or not it is my heritage, you know. If it is a dirty cesspool so that I got to live in it or look back on that I left. That isn't good.. The real cost to my family has been the fear and intimidation it has put in some of the kids. A couple of the kids are really frightened and really had some sleeping problems. That's been the real concern I've had.

NARRATOR: John has received anonymous threats and has turned for advice to his one time boss, former head of the CIA William Colby, DeCamp: Old Bill Colby told me better than anything the one thing the bad people can afford right now is publicity and knocking you off right now or doing something obvious to your kids would bring them more trouble than its worth.

COLBY: You have to consider the possibility of not only some danger to your reputation but to your person. There are people, who do react rather violently to some kinds of charges particularly if they are true. There's more apt to be a negative reaction. Than if they're false. If they're false charges, they can be reacted to in a normal way. Libel suit or whatever, if there's truth in it there can be a danger, we've seen that happen in other cases.

NARRATOR: John arranges to meet Troy Boner, the young man he sees as the key to the cover-up.

DeCamp: He's in great danger. He carries the great secret so to speak. He served his purpose for the FBI and others by committing the lies that put the seal on the cover up.

NARRATOR: He knows that Troy's evidence will be crucial to Alisha

Owens case. And Troy wants to tell the truth despite very real fears.

Boner: My feelings are, you know, I'm not going to be believed again. It's just going to be a whole other kind of exploitation. Like it was last time and I'm afraid that's going to happen or I might end up dead or a loved one might end up dead.

NARRATOR: Troy has an overriding reason for putting the record straight.

Boner: I want this to go forward and have something done, so that all those other kids a lot worse has happened to.... can come forward and see that action can be taken..

DeCamp: You have to, if you want to protect yourself, your life and your families life...both now and particular in the future, to use the institutions of government that have been set up to protect you and make them work. That means you go into federal court, you go after the people that have done this cover up and you expose it so there is no longer any percentage on their part... in eliminating you because the secret is out.

Boner: That's why we are here today. To let it out.

NARRATOR: John's advice to Troy to tell the truth puts him at risk for prosecution by the county attorney office.

DeCamp: Potentially they could decide to charge him with perjury because now he is telling that the forced him to lie. I did lie at Alisha's trial. I did lie before the Grand Jury... I did lie because the authorities were forcing me to do it.. And I was scared for my family. Potentially they could charge him with perjury this time.

NARRATOR: Troy's appearance in court will keep Alisha Owen out of prison. She on bail while DeCamp appeals against her perjury conviction. As her hearing approaches vital new evidence emerges. Alisha claims that some of Troy's video taped testimony was withheld from the Grand Jury, which indicted her.

Owen: The tapes that were shown to the Grand Jury had been edited. Everything that matched Troy's statements were left in....everything that matched mine were edited out. I think maybe one of the things we want to do, is show the judge specifically what had been edited out, where these little five minute segments were.

NARRATOR: But to obtain the tapes DeCamp must approach some of the various officials he has accused in court of being involved in the cover up. The county attorney's office, which ran the Grand Jury.

DeCamp: The old Alisha Owen case. 127 – 194 tapes and transcript.

NARRATOR: Robert Siegler is the prosecuting attorney, who is trying to send Alisha Owens back to prison. After lengththy negotiations DeCamp emerges with the tapes the grand jury never saw. For more than two hours, Troy Boner details trips across America on behalf of Larry King and Alan Baer. Trips for drug deals and sex. It corroborates Alisha evidence Boner: Tape playing, he mumbles I was sent from Dallas to Los Angeles to service Larry Kings customers along with Alisha Owen.

NARRATOR CONTINUES: For John DeCamp this is the proof of the King sex ring for which he has been waiting.

DeCamp: Here is the smoking gun. They could go out and verify…the corroboration …in other words the linkage to King that was denied. Cover-up, organized planned deliberate cover-up.

NARRATOR: The courthouse in Wahoo, Nebraska. The hearing begins. Alisha Owens ready to testify. So is Paul Bonacci. But there was no sign of Troy Boner. DeCamp discovers the Robert Siegler has sent the young man a subpoena, fearing arrest for perjury… Troy has gone into hiding. DeCamp is without his most vital witness. In court Alisha case is adjourned. The county attorney office begins to search for Troy Boner. But County Attorney Siegler will not say why. (County attorney confronted but refused to answer)

DeCamp: Every victim witness who stepped forward in any way or even was a potential witness that somebody has heard about has either been killed, put in jail under some theory or another, terrified or run out of the state, discredited. Every perpetrator…every perpetrator even a convicted one have been treated as conquering heroes.

NARRATOR: Peter Citron still lives in the same house were he abused many of his young victims. Alan Baer lives in the most exclusive part of Omaha, he recently bought a downtown shopping mall. Many of the other abusers named by the children have risen within the Nebraska's state government and legal system and within the Republican Party.

DeCamp: Obviously the FBI was protecting something a lot more significant than a bunch of old pedophiles having improper relationships with little boys. They were protecting something a lot more significant than bunch of drug peddlers. There are protecting, in my opinion, some very prominent politicians, some very powerful individuals associated with those politicians and the political system up to and including the highest political people in this entire county.

NARRATOR: In search of the men that protected Larry King, John DeCamp goes to Washington D.C. to investigate King's connections in the Republican party and on Capital hill.

NARRATOR: Paul Bonacci provides him with evidence that King threw wild child sex parties at the rented $5000 per month house.

Bonacci: I was about 14 in 1981. I first came about three or four times the first year after that it was about once a month. Some of the parties when they started off were straight political parties...no sex. When some of the politicians had left... the ones that had planned on engaging in some type of sexual activity, that would come after the party...stayed! The party with the kids was usually held downstairs, where if they acted up or the started freaking out because of the drugs they were on they could put them in a room that they couldn't get out of and they would lock them in.

DeCamp: What kind of drugs?

Bonacci : Anything you want cocaine, heroine, speed balls.

DeCamp: You are telling me that these are the parties where you had Larry King and prominent politicians and drugs? Where they readily available at the party?

Bonacci: At the party... after party, they were readily available to anybody. Before hand they did it more upstairs. Kind of in the back room.

De Camp: Where any attempts ever made that you know of to expose this situation?

Bonacci: As far as I know nothing has ever been done. And as far as I know most people who were in there had already been compromised

NARRATOR: King's partner was Washington Lobbyist Craig Spence. Spence took youngsters including Paul Bonnacci on midnight tours of the White House.

DeCamp: So you were in the White House then? How did you gain access?

Bonacci: I came down with Larry King, but Craig Spencer is the one that arranged the trip for us. It was a kind of gift for services we were doing..

DeCamp: How many times where you on this kind of trip?

Bonacci: I came to it two times.

DeCamp: Two times.

Bonacci: Yeah

DeCamp: Were you used for sex on those occasions?

Bonacci: Not till after we left.

DeCamp: After you left the White House?

Bonacci: Yes

DeCamp: What time at night?

Bonacci: It was usually after midnight. It was really weird being in the White House at that time at night. Even going to places that they told us no one else gets to go to. We were seeing rooms in there I hadn't even heard about. Craig Spence and Larry King had a couple of groups, one was called Bodies by God and the other call boys started by Larry King which was called The Golden Boys which was kids who usually were under the age of approximately ten.

NARRATOR: reporter Paul Rodriguez of "The Washington Times" investigated Spence's callboy network in 1989

Paul Rodriguez: We have uncovered a series of allegations from some minors that lead me to a callboy operation

DeCamp: It sure fits with Paul Bonacci . He tells a tale being brought to the White House on occasion kind of as a reward for the kids.

Rodriguez: Craig Spence is dead. Apparently committed suicide. He had advanced stages of AIDS and was an AIDS carrier and he killed himself. This is the thing that always bothers me. They claim it's the largest male prostitution ring in the city (Washington D.C) that they ever had uncovered, a million dollars business a year minimum and yet the only ones prosecuted was the operator Henry Vincent and three of his lieutenants as it were. They never went after any of the Johns—the clients. This operation claimed to have clients that ran from the White House to Capitol Hill, the State House to the Churches, and within the Media.

DeCamp: This is exactly what Paul describes as the people he was with.

Rodriguez: And a lot of the stuff led there but we couldn't quite nail it in all cases. To accuse someone of high stature. We were able to do it thru the mother lode provided us of credit cards receipts and cancelled checks. And then lists of the clients. The prosecutors knew all this stuff there was possibly 20,000 documents. They sealed the entire record by court order. We have attempted on several occasions to unseal that and we've been told it will be a cold day in hell before those records ever get unsealed.

DeCamp: It makes you wonder what is in those records.

NARRATOR: John DeCamp believe the legal system is still being subverted and that the people protected are still at the heart of the America establishment. He hopes that this program will expose a serious miscarriage of justice but the opposition is formidable.

Nebraska Attorney General: It's beyond belief that arguable the most powerful person in the world, the President of the United States in the form of Richard Nixon could not prevent the investigation of Watergate. Or that President Regan could not prevent the investigation of Iran Contra. And yet somehow this group of unnamed, unknown, anonymous individuals in Omaha,Nebraska have such power they can control and protect all of these people from being investigated. Those allegations are ridiculous

DeCamp: Well, first of all Nixon did cover up Watergate. Number 1. Bush did cover up Iran Contra at least officially; And Omaha has successfully covered up this situation. In each case it was the Press that exposed the problem it was no institutions of government –they had been corrupted they had been compromised—they were the ones doing the cover up.

NARRATOR: The attorney general is now involved.. DeCamps evidence has been passed by William Colby to a senior lawyer in the Justice Department.

COLBY: He did say that the Attorney Generals office would be very sensitive any charges of abuse of children, this was a matter of considerable priority to this department that this sort of thing no take place and that they would assign and officer to look into the case.

NARRATOR: For John DeCamp the story of Larry King's corrupt empire holds a dire warning for all America.

DeCamp: If you can control three or four key elements you can totally own a state. You can make right wrong. You can make truth falsehood—falsehood truth. If you control the media, if you control the justice department, if you control the police—you own the system.

THE END

It should be noted that within a year after Colby's submission of DeCamp material to the U.S. Attorney General office, he was dead of a claimed heart attack supposedly brought on by canoe in the Potomac...suffering a heart attack and falling overboard. Both his wife and his friend John DeCamp found the circumstances suspicious. Colby apparently left supper unfinished on the table and his computer on. Yet those who knew him said he would have completed his supper and turned off the computer before ever deciding to go canoe.

A Greek chorus of the new media eulogized Colby and his role as head of the CIA while accepting unconditional the heart attack and falling overboard. The reality is Community of Covert Activities, he was consider a pariah because he had spokeN to openly to Congress of violations of law and Constitution done by Secret Organization that considered their view of National Security allowed them to committee whatever crime they deemed necessary.

DeCamp reveals in his revised edition of "Franklin Cover-up" that it was Colby who urged both Loren Schmit and himself to persist in their efforts to bring this child prostitution/child kidnapping to light. For his efforts on their behalf, which included radio and television appearances in Nebraska, he was sentenced to death by the powers that be that control this country.

We may no longer have a draft but our teenagers may be selected by elements of the government to do special services for the country as prostitutes, drug mule, and blackmailers and assassins. Please note... it is the very elements of government the FBI, DIA, CIA, who are supposed to help protect this country who are undermining all law and order in this country...blackmailing U.S. Senators and Congressmen with child prostitution and ones they cannot blackmail they intimidate.

MEDIA CORRUPTION

What responsibility does the media have to tell the truth? .... To properly report the news and keep the public informed? Author; John C. Behrens in the book The Typewriter Gorilla.. Closeups of 20 Top Investigative Reporters

"The perfectly honorable pursuit of old Lincoln Steffens had fallen into disrepute in the eyes of many editors, (muckraking) who considered it an unseeingly, at times unsavory, often unsafe pursuit which might cost newspapers credibility, reporters, sources in government, and publishers dollars in legal fees.

Young reporters ... and I was one of them seem to trust the government more in those days; indeed, the American people trusted them more."

The New York Times recently published an unprecedented apology to the American people in the case of Wen Ho Lee, after government officials declared him to be involved in one of the biggest espionage incidents ever to hit this country. After more national publicity than any other such case in American history and after Lee had been imprisoned for nine months, all major charges were dropped. Lee was released for time served on a very minor charge of transferring classified material to an unclassified computer. The Times has promised to check the stories coming from the Justice Dept., FBI and other governmental agencies rather than taking their word as "gospel."

In the days of Watergate, journalists were considered heroes. They brought down President Nixon and upheld our countries ideals of truth and justice. But according to Howard Kurtz, media reporter for the Washington Post and author of Media Circus… "Today's reporters are seen as a petulant, sleazy and haughty bunch."

Kurtz's ventures into America's newsrooms to show how newspapers have bungled so many important stories of recent years; while Behrens book of two decades before talks about muckraking reporters giving Jack Anderson the #1 spot but today he is no longer recognized as a major investigative and political reporter.

My experience with the media has been both good and bad. In chapter one of this book, the good experiences have been depicted. It is important however to relate the opposite side, the reason being …… to show how "unpopular stories" are reported "unfairly" and with "absence of malice"

My son's kidnapping was needless to say a very traumatic event to our family. As the media gathered to report the story, we were treated with kindness for the most part. The reporters for each TV station represented in the interviews were asking questions they needed for their story. I understood this from the beginning. They were sent out on assignment. They had to bring back the filmed interview for their program managers.

When the Des Moines Register reported the kidnapping for the first time, their description of our home and surroundings were that we lived "in a very affluent neighborhood". We didn't, but that statement gave the impression to the public that we were "bucks up" in the world and could afford most anything.

I agreed to do the interview with the Des Moines Register, if they would put a photo of Johnny in the article. The reporter and photographer were more interested in photos of my family and me. One morning, very early, the doorbell rang, I opened the door to be greeted by yet another Des Moines Register reporter and photographer, telling me that their editor was demanding photos of Johnny's parents. I was on the front porch talking with them and the photographer actually tried to chase me to get the photo… I thought at the time, why is this guy being so horrible to us? He was demanding these photos of us, when it was Johnny who was missing.

Within a few days of Johnny's kidnapping, I received a call from a woman who worked at the Des Moines Register stating: "I just overheard the editor giving the orders to every reporter in the newsroom to slant all stories about the Gosch kidnapping against the family." That female reporter was afraid to give her name! She was shocked by what she heard and felt I should know.

Over the next six months many of the stories were very negative and disparaging towards me. Then Ron Sampson from the Ankeny Press Citizen stepped in and began to write a series of articles telling the truth about the kidnapping. No only did he write them over a period of months but then compiled them all together into one special edition.

A great many reporters in this country discovered what Jack Anderson talked about in a speech before attorneys and judges that it was increasingly difficult to get any good investigative pieces into their paper. About this time the Internet appeared and stories, which Anderson spoke of, as going in the "trash can" suddenly found a place on the Internet. The Internet has proven a valuable tool for research for this book.

Jack Anderson was once considered the top political columnist in America, a mantle he inherited from Drew Pearson who challenged and brought to a halt the excessive of Joe McCarthy and McCarthyism.

Jack Anderson gave a speech on December 2, 1986 to the National Conference of the American Tort Reform Association in Washington D.C. Excerpts of the speech were printed in Americans for Legal Reform, HALT as it is called, along with Judicial Watch have attempted to bring to the attention of those both within and without the legal system that we are experiencing major failure in law, as judges and journalists are empowered to rule for their friends and attack their enemies or the enemies of their friends.

An excerpt reads:

"Thomas Jefferson said, that the people would be better off with no government at all than with a government without a watchdog, because government, by its nature, tends to oppress those it has power over.

I can say this much for my profession: the investigative reporters in this country have never been intimidated before. Our government has jailed them; they have been dynamited by gangsters; they've had acid thrown in their faces by mobsters; they have been kidnapped; they have been killed. And none of this has stopped them from telling the truth, as they understood it.

What all of the dictators and gangsters...have failed to do, lawyers are now succeeding in doing.

You see, in newspaper offices across the 50 states, stories are being thrown in the wastebasket; facts that should be spread across the front pages are being suppressed.

Editors who once championed reform are saying to their reporter: "Let someone else take the chance...

Anderson cites an example of running a story about an already convicted Mafioso who filed a libel suit against Anderson from his jail cell. The judicial system allowed this to go forward and before the suit was won, Anderson had spent several hundred thousand dollars. Since this time Anderson has vanished as a major political columnist.

Defrauding America... the headline screams in this third edition of an Encyclopedia of Secret Operations by the CIA, DEA, and other Covert Agencies. Rodney Stich the author began his career in aviation as a Navy Pilot during WWII, an airline pilot flying both domestic and international routes and final an inspector-investigator for the Federal Aviation Agency. He has been a crusader against high level government corruption since 1962 and has appeared on 2,500 radio and television programs in both the U.S. and abroad. The information in his 750-page Encyclopedia strikes a cord with the Johnny Gosch case and what was uncovered by the Franklin Investigation of the Nebraska Legislator. Stitch speaks of federal judges who became key players in cover-ups and the obstruction of justice and do not hesitate to persecute and prosecute whistleblowers.

Stitch further states..."The CIA has many media personnel on its payroll to plant stories or discredit charges against it. The Agency secretly pays out large sums of money for articles and books to be written on the CIA's behalf. Its control over the media is like a Wurlitzer, orchestrating and manipulating all segments of the written or broadcast media. The CIA uses taxpayer funds to control reporter and publishers of newspapers, magazines and books."

The media is itself implicated in the criminal activities through years of cover-up.

The media is infiltrated with CIA money, paid to prevent exposure of the activities.

The media is staffed by CIA assets who are ordered to prevent these exposures.

Stitch points to the stories by Gary Webb, in the San Jose Mercury in 1996, which described the CIA's link to drug smuggling in the San Francisco and Los Angeles area, especially targeting the black community. The Washington Post, New York Times and Los Angeles Times ridiculed these articles. Rumors were also started that Webb's earlier journalism awards were to be revoked.

A very courageous Seven Stories Press brought out the full story in "Dark Alliance "

Published in 1998. This is the same publisher, who for years has been issuing a series of the most "Censured" stories of the year. Few Americans realize that America has more censorship than any other country in the world. Any journalist who dares write the truth may quickly find himself or herself without a job.

"Blue Grass Conspiracy" a book about high level drug trafficking in Kentucky, which implicated two governors. A family who took former a TV news anchorwoman into their home, paying all her expenses for a year, made the book possible. A daredevil member of an aristocratic Kentucky family parachuted to his death, with bags of cocaine strapped to his body. Pursuit of this individual had cost the TV anchorwoman her job as well as that of the top law enforcement officer investigating this case.

Won't Look, Won't Tell

The news media in America today claim under the First Amendment their right not to examine evidence or tell the story —if it is too risky.

If you are an important businessman, judge, lawyer or politician, you have the tacit protection of the news media. In Omaha, a state legislative investigation turned up the name Harold Anderson, Publisher of the Omaha World Herald. When the information leaked out, the paper not only launched into denial but also literally began attacking Senator Loren Schmit, who was chairman of the Franklin Credit Union Investigation.

William Colby, former head of the CIA, encouraged Schmit to persist. Colby made a radio broadcast and a special appearance in a video "Conspiracy of Silence." He stated, that he presented the evidence of child sexual abuse to "a high ranking official" in the Justice Department. The video which was aired in England by Yorkshire Broadcasting was confiscated and destroyed before it could be shown in the United States, on the Discovery Channel May 4, 1994... after it was advertised in TV Guide.

William Colby insisted that Loren Schmit continue the investigation until the Nebraska Legislature literally shut the investigation down around his ears. Although Schmit had served for 21 years and had a remarkable scrape book from the media praising his legislative career., his final two years were in disgrace..."according to the local media." Schmit's career came to an abrupt end, when he began investigating pedophile activity connected to important businessmen and politicians both in Nebraska and Washington D.C.

The Nebraska Legislature brought William Colby into the investigation after the death of Gary Caradori the local investigator hired. Colby determined that the decision to kill Caradori and his eight year old son had come from Washington D.C. A little more than a year after he submitted the information to the Justice Department he was dead under mysterious circumstances. The media portrayed his death as a heart attack and drowning in a boating accident. However, there was no evidence of water in his lungs.

If you are a little old lady bilked by an HMO... A mother whose child has been molested by an important man, the news media reserves right to do a take out piece on you. Some unscrupulous editors will do anything to discredit the person or the truth.

If you oppose the lies, deceptions, the innuendos and insinuation, you might get them to run a retraction to the front-page story ...on the bottom of the eighth page. Or in many cases, if you have don't have enough clout ... they laugh at your letter, explaining their mistakes and throw it in the wastebasket. So sue us they say. If you don't have a half million or more you don't stand a chance.

NOT JUST NEWSPAPERS AND MAGAZINES

"One of the things that offends me the most is the CIA's literary efforts...its domestic book publishing efforts. Books have appeared regularly in this country that have been subsidized and financed by the good old Central Intelligence Agency. In 1967 Praeger Publishers admitted to have published "fifteen or sixteen: books for the CIA."......"Undercover: 35 Years of CIA Deception"

by Darrell Garwood in his book

The CIA believed that it was not enough to be immune from congressional or judicial control. The agency felt it was also imperative that anti-CIA sentiment, and leftist leaning in general, had to be defused and combated on every front. To this end, the CIA infiltrate red the groves of academe, the missionary corps, the editorial boards of influential journals and book publishers, and any other quarters were public attitudes could be effectively influenced.

Garwood book is one among hundreds that echo the same theme "Our mainstream media betrays us...because it has been so thoroughly infiltrated by vast amounts of CIA drug derived money. You do not say bad things about the CIA in the mainstream media, while nothing good is said of them in the alternative media, including the Internet.

The Des Register and other influential publications are infiltrated. Editors and reporters are paid to write disinformation and discrediting any individual or group get too near the truth.

No better example exists than the Des Moines Register that absolutely refuses all form of investigation if that investigation would question any one in authority. We suggest a citizen committe to be formed to discuss "Media Corruption" and bias.

NEBRASKA LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE

The people of the United States have been ill served by the news media of the country. Reporting has been largely exchanged for public opinion molding. This is accomplished by selective reporting that only permits one viewpoint to be expressed and where facts are at odds with the media's position, out and out deception and lying are substituted.

Nebraska suffers probably more than most from this dearth of news accuracy and factual reporting because the only two major newspapers in the state both engage in the above-mentioned practices as well as in cover up techniques that enable the unelected power elite to escape prosecution and retain their stranglehold on the state. Worse yet, these two major newspapers own or control many of the smaller formerly independent newspapers in the state. This sounds like strong language and it is; but it is easily verifiable by anyone willing to do a little research.

One small example is an article that appears in the Omaha World Herald stating that the Nebraska Leadership Conference was an organization set up to make some people a lot of money. This is utterly ludicrous! The Omaha World Herald published a totally fabricated story as fact.

We have seen Gary Caradori, an honest hard-working investigator who was admired by all who worked with him, vilified by the press. Strange business... attacking a man after he is dead and cannot defend himself.

.....Nebraska Leader .. August 16, 1992

Ed Weaver's job for most of his life was to fill your stomach not your head. He was President and owner of the Weaver Potato Chip factory of Lincoln, Nebraska. But Ed has always been a man concerned with his community and his country. When stories began coming to him about Nebraska children being prostituted in his state and beyond, he began to take a sincere interest in what was going on in Nebraska's Unicameral Legislature. Nebraska is the only state that has only one house and all who serve it are senators.

Ed did not just listen and shake his head. He put his money where his mouth was...he decided to do something about the very biased news coverage being given the Franklin Investigation and the Franklin child victims by the Lincoln Journal Star and the Omaha World Herald. (Elsewhere in Paul Bonacci's journal you will read about Omaha World Herald Publisher, as a sexual pervert who wanted sex with little boys, the authenticity of these journals was determined by forensic examination of the paper and ink...in other words they were not faked all at one time to support a "carefully crafted hoax" as the Omaha World Herald suggested.)

The Nebraska Leadership Conference was formed by Ed Weaver to bring the truth to the people of Nebraska and America. Denise Meyer became the editor and main writer for the newsletter that finally was sent not only all over Nebraska, but over the U.S. and finally around the world.

The newsletter combined what was going on in Nebraska with similar situations going on around the country and each issue contained offers of video and audio tapes of those who had participated in the investigation "The Mystery of the Carefully Crafted Hoax" written by a local minister who chose to remain anonymous details how the children's stories of horrible sexual abuse was twisted by the media and the legal system to make them the offenders.

Carefully Crafted Hoax

The Nebraska Leadership Conference made a mistake in titling a book they issued "The Mystery of the Carefully Crafted Hoax" which on its cover seems to indicate that there was a "hoax"... Anyone who reads the book will realize that detail-by-detail, they have debunked the proposition first published in the Omaha World Herald that it (Satanism and child sexual abuse) was merely a hoax perpetrated by a handful of young people in order to blackmail prominent businessmen and politicians of Nebraska.

This little book step by step takes every charge and destroys them with fact after fact. There is no question that these children have told the truth. This is no HOAX!

Fact No. 1, Paul Bonacci went to the Omaha Police Department with his story in 1986 and was ignored. Other complaints came to the attention of Foster Care Director Carol Stitt who characterized reports she and other filed as a "foot high" pile of paperwork. The Omaha Police Department, the Nebraska State Police, and the FBI ignored these reports on child abuse. Later the information was turned over to the Governor and the Attorney General Spire. Again no action!

An example from the book:

Other names mentioned as being as involved in Satanism, where Larry King and a man named Doctor Khage (aka...Lord Bevins), who was the high priest. Also, a group mysteriously known only as The Shadow (Considerable information concerning the Satanic group called "The Shadow" was gathered in the course of Caradori's investigation.) At one time, the group was the subject of an OPD investigation due to information provided by the family of a former member. One of their main meeting places was a vacant building at 9700 W. Dodge, Omaha Nebraska. When a TV story aired on channel six, the realtor elected to tear the building down because of its controversial nature. No notice was given of the demolition. "There were dead things attracting flies before the warehouse was torn down but it is all gone now!"

During 1991 the Nebraska Leadership conference mobilized and galvanized a citizen group with a series of conferences which featured speakers with a broad experience and background beyond Nebraska about what was happening to our children. Among the featured speakers, E. Lee Orr was a Kansas City Homicide detective, who displayed all the satanic items he had gotten from various Satanist and satanic murders in Kansas City. He talked about students from Lincoln/Omaha carpooling to Kansas City to buy death metal. Heavy metal music, which featured the torture and death of human (Orr believed to be real).

Orr stunned the entire room into petrified silence when he showed a section of the "Faces of Death" documentary movie, which can be found in almost every video store in the country. Everyone believes that such horrifying fair would only have been found under the counter in some porno store.

Instead it was well displayed in the documentary section in most major video stores.

It was remarkable for its programs and remarkable because of what it lacked, any participation by any member of Nebraska law enforcement. The NLC produced audio and videotapes of these programs and supplemented with other books published on Satanism.

The Nebraska Leader (NLC Newspaper) also contains excerpts ripped from the headlines of the day taken from Associated Press Headlines:

U.N. Warns AIDS hikes traffic in young virgins:

The opening paragraph: The fear of AIDS is driving some customers to demand much younger prostitutes contributing to the global growth in the sale of children, the author of a U.N. report said Tuesday." In the body of the story he reports and increase in child prostitution in Africa, North America and Europe.

The New York Post, Oct 17, 1990 also quoted in the newsletter: "If America is a sick society, it is because we drink daily of the polluted waters of a popular culture into which Hollywood and an artistic avant-garde continues to dump their filth.

We have placed Satanism, witchcraft, Christianity and a variety of cults and sects on the same level….

Dr Judienne Densen Gerber, a New York City psychiatrist, whose patients ranged from Geraldo Riviera to the Elizabeth, Queen of England…began her practice taking care of drug-addicted children. She founded Odyssey House, which eventually had branches around the world. She discovered the majority of young drug abusers had been sexually abused including satanic sexual abuse.

She met with The Franklin Committee of the Nebraska State Legislature, on December 29, 1990. Dr Densen Gerber volunteered her services to interview Paul Bonnaci and found his answers entirely consistent with someone involved in Satanism, and human sacrifice. Bonacci exhibited MPD, multiple personality disorder (now called DID) brought on by his participation in satanic ritual killing and snuff films. Among the multiple personalities, Bonacci exhibits is one based on Peter Thorstad, head of the North American Man Boy Love Association and head of the Church of the Beloved Disciple. This organization deposited five million dollars in the Franklin Credit Union.

The Nebraska Leadership Newsletter of the same date May 29, 1991, summarizes that doctors testimony which stated that Nebraska has a MONSTROUS problem of child abuse from pedophile activity, child prostitution, child pornography production, incest and ritual child abuse. The newsletter also offers the complete text of her recommendations to the state legislature. Recommendations that were never followed as the Franklin Investigation was shut down. The very laws of Nebraska altered to conceal the evidence that had been gathered, at the cost of Gary Caradori's life and his son A. J. No one in Nebraska doubts that the orders to eliminate Carodori came from Washington D.C.

The Nebraska Leadership Conference and newsletters were produced in tens of thousands of copies—contributions never came anywhere near the expenses of maintaining office and staff. The money for the project came from the pockets of Ed Weaver. The newsletters received a tremendous response...they then expanded distribution around the country... but they never gained the necessary support to bring about change. But what Ed Weaver and Denise Meyer did during its more than five years of publication, left a lasting impression with people that horrible things were being covered up...by the media, by the politicians and by businessmen.

The Nebraska Leadership Conference did not survive to see the day when the Internet became the playground for pedophiles.... offering them websites with child pornography and chat rooms to entice new victims.

THOUGHT CONDITIONING AND THE OMAHA WORLD HERALD

For approximately the past three years a black cloud has been spreading over our land. It is the evil black cloud of satanism and it can be called evil without contradiction because of the heinous, evil practices in which satanists engage. To be sure these people have always been around, especially since Aleister Crowley arrived upon our shores, but in recent years their numbers and activities have shown a dramatic increase. One reason is they have seduced our children in increasing numbers. Much of this has been possible because parents and churches have not made children aware of the danger, nor taken measures to protect them.

When approached, many people reject the information, saying they do not believe in satan. However, whether they believe in satan or not makes no difference, the people who worship him do and they commit horrible acts when worshiping their god. The satanic activity has become so prevalent there are numerous books written about it; many witnesses testifying to either being victimized by satanists or having been involved in their activities and somehow been able to come out of it. Virtually every talk show on radio and television has had discussions concerning satanism and there are a number of people spending full time investigating and verifying what the satanists are doing.

In spite of the mountains of evidence piling up everywhere, it is difficult to find a law enforcement agency that will seek to investigate and prosecute such cases, and we find the Omaha World Herald continually saying such things do not exist. All we have to say is , "they protest too much!" The question is, why? On examination we find they have many to protect and much to cover up. Peter Citron got caught molesting children and producing child pornography and they either could not or would not save him but they have gone to the point of absurdity ad nauseam in journalism covering up for other employees, former employees and stockholders. The prosperous, pompous, and powerful are having their day, BUT THE DAY WILL COME WHEN THE PEOPLE WILL AGAIN OBTAIN JUSTICE, AND GREAT WILL BE THE FALL OF THOSE WHO USED AND ABUSED.

DANGEROUS DOSSIERS

Exposing the Secret War Against America's Greatest Authors

HERBERT MITGANG

The New York Times Cultural Correspondent Herbert Mitgang, reported the fifty year espionage campaign waged by the CIA, FBI and other intelligence agencies against famed American writers.

LOCKED UP AT ABC

After a succession of appearances over the years on Good Morning America, The Today Show, CBS Morning News, Charles Kuralt Sunday Morning, Phil Donahue, Inside Edition, 48 Hours, sharing my story about my son and alerting the public to the ever-present danger of child kidnapping. I received a phone call from Karen Burnes, a producer with ABC's 20/20, July of 1984, asking to present an in depth report on Johnny's story. This began a long time relationship between ABC, Karen Burnes and myself. Karen had been the producer over the years, as they had done a number of updates when new information would surface.

Their previous shows depicted the search for Johnny and the effort I had made to cope with the loss of my son, which required me to become a public speaker, fundraiser, detective, and "thorn in the side of police, FBI and political bureaucrats". It seems the only way to get anything done on Johnny's case was to shout long and loud on any forum I could find from the stage of a church or school, newspaper, magazines to a radio or TV studio. To this day, I work two and more jobs to cover the expenses connected with this investigation. While Bill Clinton asked the American public to pay the 52 million in expenses for his "MonicaGate"!

Before I knew it, fifteen years passed and Inside Edition contacted me wanting to do the "15 year anniversary story", I agreed. I announced my son was still alive and presented a computer-enhanced photo of my son at age 27, saying only to the media "that this came from a reliable source." Following the Inside Edition program. I received another call from Karen at 20/20, she saw the Inside Edition show. We talked for a long time, catching up, then she asked me to come to New York to discuss doing another update on Johnny.

She wanted this update to depict the "my journey of fifteen years searching for my son". We made arrangements for me to fly in and to meet at her office within a few days.

I flew to New York to meet with Karen, I decided to trust her with the secret that Johnny came to my home in the middle of the night on March 18, 1997. I had been afraid to share this with anyone up to that point.

I described how .....He knocked on the door, I was awakened, shaking, made my way to the door, looked out the security hole and I knew it was my son when I saw his eyes, but I asked anyway "who is there", he replied "Mom, it is me, Johnny". I opened the door, hugged him. He told me he could only stay a short time. He was asking my help.

No matter how much my son had changed over the years, I remembered that there was one identifying birthmark, which would have been impossible for anyone to duplicate. To make absolutely certain that this was my son, I asked to see this "birthmark in the shape of South America, which covered a large area on his chest". Johnny and I both a similar skin type and both tan so darkly that we can pass for Indians.

Johnny as I last saw him, is brushing six foot two, about 175 pounds, and had black hair. His hair is naturally a light brown, but he had darkened it ... his skin was also very dark, with the combination he did look Indian. I remarked about his new appearance, he then told me he had been living on Indian Reservations, and in hiding over the past few years.

He had a male companion with him that night, who remained silent during the entire visit. I asked his name but it was not given to me. Both he and Johnny appeared very nervous ... when I asked which Indian Reservation they had been living on, Johnny turned to his friend and the friend "shook his head, no!" It was as though Johnny needed approval from this other person before he could answer some of my questions.

Johnny told me many things about the kidnapping, including the names of people involved locally and that he was taken from Iowa by Col. Michael Aquino. Paul Bonacci had reported the same information... that the "Col" had taken Johnny to Colorado almost two weeks following the kidnapping.

Aquino, then an officer in the military reputedly in charge of Mind War for the U.S. government. I obtained a copy of the originally top secret document "From Psyops to Mindwar.... The Psychology of Victory" written by Major Michael Aquino.

Karen Burnes became excited when I told her of Johnny's visit to my home. During our lunch meeting, she suggested that ABC 20/20 do a big update on Johnny. It would be an hour long special called " The Johnny Gosch Story." This would depict, at that time the 15 year journey, I had traveled in my search and intensive investigation to not only find my son but solve the case.

We rushed to her office, we spent the next three days researching information, and names of people involved. ABC has a fantastic data base which they can enter names of people, it will give detailed information on people such as: addresses of property they own and owned, names of friends, names of business associates, money transactions etc. I was awed by the capability of this software program, to pull up this amount of information on people without having to leave an office. I thought to myself as I watched all this take place... this would be a wonderful piece of software to own if I ever decided to become a private detective. Lord knows I have had enough experience in detective work after working on this case all these years.

We then decided upon filming dates to begin in November of 1997 when Karen and the film crew would travel to Des Moines to begin shooting this one-hour special. They brought in an enormous film crew. Due to the nature of this story, Karen reported to me that she, the associate producer, and the film crew all had to sign a "hold harmless clause" absolving ABC of any liability if any of them were to be killed in the process of telling this story. Never before had this producer and crew been forced to sign such an agreement. The upper echelon of ABC obviously realized that this story was going to completely expose not only what happened to Johnny Gosch but many other children in this country.

She filmed a riveting four-hour interview with Paul Bonacci, who shared every detail of Johnny's kidnapping, as well as his own abuse. He explained how this powerful organization operates. It appeared to be comprised of Defense Intelligence Agency, CIA, NAMBLA, and various Satanic organizations. Karen also learned that Bonacci had participated in another hour long documentary "Conspiracy of Silence", produced by Yorkshire Television, Yorkshire England, which was not only prevented from airing on the Discovery Channel but also all copies were ordered to be destroyed.

I did not learn this documentary even existed until early in the year 2000. Information had been kept from me concerning this show, no doubt because it would have substantiated all of the information Paul Bonacci had much earlier given in his confession, regarding his connection to Johnny's kidnapping.

In the process of her investigation, Karen Burnes uncovered 45 other victims of the same abuse, some of whom knew my son and were with him on many occasions. These individuals have all shared their story on film. Even though the victims were kidnapped in the same manner as Johnny, the common denominator among all of them was intimately knowing Michael Aquino and participating in ritual abuse and the MKUltra Mind War program. Karen had traveled all over the United States, meeting with victims, following leads and capturing it all on film. This project exceeded the budget and Karen was forced several times to stop and do other projects before ABC would allocate more money for the budget for Johnny's story.

I met Karen on one of the trips, which was to an Indian Reservation. Johnny was located on that Indian reservation by Bill (see the chapter on Bill and his connections to the Family). I got more help from the Mafia than I did from the FBI). His people had located Johnny and observed him for months before we traveled there. I drove all night and arrived in time to meet Karen's plane

We called the priest, on the Reservation, asking him if we could meet with him and the Police Chief, Willie Strong. The priest agreed to set up a meeting. I had brought along a tape recording from me to Johnny, a letter and some family photos in a packet to give to my son. The priest greeted us warmly, he made coffee for us and we began to try to explain this very complicated situation to him I showed him pictures of my son, clippings to help connect the story for him.

Soon there was a knock on the door, the priest opened the door and in walked Police Chief Willie Strong, a seven foot tall Indian, who looked amazingly like the one in the movie "One Flew Over the Cuckoos' Nest"

At first he was kind but reserved. I began to explain the story to him. He said, "How do I know you are Johnny's mother and are not someone coming here to hurt him?" I dug in my purse and got out all of my forms of identification to prove to him that I was Johnny's mom. He seemed satisfied with the information. He went on to say "how can I help you?"

I told him I had information that my son was living on his reservation and I wanted to see him. He replied "you can leave your package with me and I can see that he gets it. Will you be in the area for a few days and where are you staying? I have to get back to my office now." I told him we were staying in the next town and would be in the area for the next two days, giving him the number of the motel.

Willie left and returned within a twenty minutes, in his hand was big manila envelope. He said "please take this, it is a list of logging camps in our area where our people work… this will help you!" Then with tears streaming down his face, he stepped forward, towering over me, took both my hands in his massive hands and said "No one should have to go through the pain that you have suffered!"

Karen and I said goodbye to the priest, as we walked out of the house, the wind was blowing leaves off the trees, I noticed the gray/white building across the street and felt the same sensation I had when we drove through the gates of the reservation.... I knew we were being watched as we walked to the car and my son was nearby. Willie Strong was as helpful as possible while still being protective of Johnny. I wondered how many other young kids have taken refugee on reservations and were being protected on a sovereign state.

The first trip to the reservation had some success but I was not permitted to see my son. Willie Strong gave me clues in the packet of information. It was apparent we needed more investigation. Karen suggested bringing a private investigator in to investigate further. She placed a call to a Colorado Investigator, whom she had worked with in the past.

He began doing background work, in phone calls to me, he stated, " he was working for ABC and would not give me reports of his investigation." I consulted with Karen Burnes on a weekly basis.

I received a call from Karen, stating it was important for "us" to make a trip to the reservation once again, to attempt to see Johnny. It was Thanksgiving weekend 1998; I was to wait for a phone call then proceed with travel arrangements, to join the detective and Burnes at the reservation. I waited and waited... no call from Burnes. However, I did receive a phone call from "Bill" (see chapter on Bill) stating, that the detective and Burnes had gone to the reservation with out me, met with the Indian Council. Johnny heard of it and took off... he was on the run again. A few days later, Bonacci telephoned me saying the same thing... Johnny is on the run again... his cover was blown! Apparently, Johnny did not feel threatened when I went the first time to meet with the police chief but when Karen and the detective arrived it frightened him enough to take off.

It wasn't until two days later that I received a phone call from Karen and the detective saying they were at the "reservation". I told them "I already know, I got two reports telling me so". They were shocked that I already knew... I then explained it frightened Johnny and he was now on the run looking for another place of safety in which to live.

Despite this disappointing "misstep, " I continued to work with 20/20 and Karen. It was very unfortunate but the one-hour special was soon to be aired. This was the fourth and final episode of exactly what happened to Johnny Gosch...and thousands of other children, who have disappeared off America's streets in the last 30 years.

Readers Digest suggests that a hundred thousand children were taken in 1982 in the stranger abductions.... others protest there were only hundreds. But does it matter whether it is thousands or hundreds... children are still being kidnapped.

The Johnny Gosch Story was scheduled for airing in April of 1998, but was postponed and postponed four different times. Little did I know during the process of filming that this show was doomed as was the "Conspiracy of Silence." The "powers that be" ....in this country felt it was unwise to allow people to see what happened to my son and to many other children.

I received word Karen Burnes was very ill, she had contacted me in an email and asked me if I thought, "someone had done something to make her sick?" Her illness was of unexplained origin; she was tested for many, many things, none of which proved to be the cause of her declining health. She was confined to a hospital for a length of time and was out of communication with me. Some months later, I was able to reconnect with her and she has had to take a "medical leave of absence from ABC" as she is too ill to with stand the pressures of a work environment.

During the long investigation and filming Karen secured records and videos from the files of John DeCamp, Ted Gunderson and my private investigative reports all pertaining to the Franklin Cover Up and the connection to Johnny's case. This story was to my long journey of fifteen years, Karen was carefully putting together this story so the viewer would see how it evolved ..... The struggle of a mother searching for her son. After Karen became ill, took the medical leave from ABC, I was informed by Ira Rosen, Senior Producer of 20/20 that all of the many boxes of records, tapes, videos belonging to DeCamp, Gunderson and myself, had been misplaced or lost and they did not know where they are located. I find this unbelievable that a television network such as ABC could lose that much material, which represented nearly $400,000 worth of expenses. Even for them it doesn't represent good business.

Ira Rosen, Senior Producer of 20/20 declared it could not be aired, and the show would be put on hold indefinitely. Which in their language means "sorry Charlie... no show".

I found Ira Rosen to be a very rude little man, who seemed to relish in the fact that he could be very short and snippy with people and not treating anyone with respect. After hearing the show was put on hold indefinitely, I asked if there could be someone at ABC who could finish the project in Karen's absence, as she was not coming back to work. Courtney Bullock, also of ABC, who did a show called "Vanished", had contacted me. She wanted to do the Johnny's story. However, when she inquired with her Senior Producer after hearing the Johnny Gosch Story was put on hold, she was told "she was not allowed speak to me, to stay away from the Johnny Gosch story, as it was "classified and belongs to 20/20." I asked her "who gave the initial order to not communicate with me", during a phone call, she replied the order came from "Ira Rosen". She went on to say that she "could get into trouble for having the conversation with me." To me, the word "classified" generally means something to do with the military or national security, why would they be using it in reference to this show?

After a long hospital stay, I finally received a phone call from Karen Burnes, she told me she had asked Frank Snepp to help investigate, do leg work that she was unable to do because of her illness. She still believed that after a time, Johnny's story would eventually air. She explained Frank Snepp was a former CIA agent, was a friend of hers and could be trusted. She told me to expect a phone call from him in the near future and that Frank would work with me and "keep me in the loop".

A few days later, I received my first phone call from Frank Snepp . He seemed nice enough, asking me a great many questions about the case and at times asking me to get information for him to evaluate. A few days later, Frank called and claimed the story had no validity, that Paul Bonacci was not credible. I reminded Frank that Paul had won a million dollar judgment in a Civil Rights Case against Larry King, the man who abused him, by Federal Court Judge Urbom in February of 1999. In a very caustic manner, Frank said "none of that mattered and I would have to develop a new line of information to connect Johnny with the faction who took him".

Frank also claimed to have read ever document concerning Johnny's case and knew more about it than I did. (Could Snepp have had access to the CIA Files on Johnny's case for some time?) I told him "if he had truly read all the documents, he wouldn't be making such stupid assumptions." Snepp then told me that "unless my son was turned over to "them" for Congressional protection, this story would never go on the air and that I was not allowed to speak to anyone at ABC." In essence, he wanted me to hand over my son to who ever "them" represented and I suspect it was CIA. At this point, not knowing who is connected to whom, I would not trust the safety of any member of my family to the CIA. Snepp warned me not to contact anyone at ABC, that he was in charge at this point.

I have not allowed anyone to tell me that "I cannot talk to whom ever I please concerning my son's case," so I placed a phone call to Ira Rosen, the Senior Producer. When I reached Rosen, I told him of Frank Snepp's involvement and all that he had said to me. Rosen became outraged and began shouting on the phone, saying who brought Snepp into this and what is he doing? I told Rosen what I knew... he then told me he would get back to me in a few days.

Rosen returned my call two days later, saying " he been unable to reach Snepp." I then told Rosen that I was coming to New York within a week and wanted to schedule an appointment with him. He said "he would much rather I just call him from the airport when I arrived." Even though it was against my better judgment, I could see that Rosen wasn't going to do it any other way…

A week later, I arrived in New York to film the Sally Jesse Raphael show, I telephoned Rosen from the airport. I reached his secretary; she informed me "Mr. Rosen is going to be out all day". Hmm, I thought this is odd, he knew I was arriving that day and would be calling. It appeared as though he was dodging me. It made me more determined than ever to meet this man. To see what exactly I was dealing with… I wanted to look this man in the face and see how he reacted upon being faced with the mother of a child who had been subjected to such abuse.

My hotel was located just a few blocks from the ABC building on Columbus Ave, I decided to go to ABC anyway, even though Rosen was said to be out of the office. It was a nice day, so I decided to walk. As I neared the ABC building, I felt something hit me; I looked down and saw big white, slimly blobs of stuff all over my jacket, my dress and handbag. I wasn't sure if it was "bird poop or if someone had hurled from a tall building".

I looked around and spotted a dry cleaning shop on the corner, I ran in and looked at this Oriental woman, I said, "is this bird poop or what". She grabbed a hold of my lapel and said, "It sure looks like bird poop to me." She motioned to the man working there to get something from the back room, he returned with a spray bottle and she immediately started to work to clean up the mess. Within a few minutes, I was back on my way towards ABC, very indebted to the nice Oriental lady, who had been so kind to me. Little did I know I was about to be "shit upon at ABC within minutes !"

I walked into ABC and went to the information desk, to ask for Ira Rosen, the guards told me to feel free to use the house phone to call his extension. Before dialing Rosen's extension, I buzzed Courtney Bullock, who does the Vanished program. She said for me to come to her office. I told her I was going to buzz Rosen then I would be up.

I dialed Rosen's extension and to my surprise, he answered… (His secretary had told me he was going to be out all day and he couldn't see me). I said, "Ira, you are in today," He replied…"yes I am, who is this?" I said "This is Noreen Gosch and I am in the building too. I guess your secretary lied when she told me you weren't going to be in and could not see me today. I think under the circumstances you could spare 20 minutes to talk with me." He reluctantly agreed to meet me. I told him to meet me in Courtney Bullock's office. I arrived first in Courtney's office; she was very gracious and explained to me that she had been forbidden by Rosen to do anything with Johnny's story. She had been told to have no communication with me but knowing I had traveled all this way to come their office she agreed to meet with me.

A few minutes later, the door opened and in walked a short little man all dressed in black, he was instantly rude and unpleasant to me. I sat there and wondered why is he being so nasty, I had never done anything to him. I had followed correct business procedure to set an appointment to discuss the project of Johnny's story. I had merely caught him in a lie when I dialed his extension on the house phone and he answered personally. I suppose he didn't like it when he got "busted."

He proceeded tell me that he had finally reached Frank Snepp and that Frank denied ever speaking to me. I looked at Rosen, got up off my chair and walked directly towards him until I was two inches from his face. I said to him, "hmm, you sounded much taller on the phone the many times I talked to you." First of all, why would you treat me in the manner you have when I have done nothing to you people? If you did not plan to do Johnny's story after spending $400,000 on it, why didn't you say so, instead of yanking me up and down like a yo- yo!" Your behavior is inexcusable! By using those statements, I wanted to make him lose control and become the raging, shouting little tyrant that he had exhibited on the phone towards me. I wanted him to do it before witnesses. I had not gone to ABC alone, I had my Press Manager with me.

It worked, he popped like a cork from a bottle of champagne, losing his temper and I doubt whether he has found it to this day. I told Rosen ....

" You will continue to treat people in this nasty manner because it is your nature, but you will never have another opportunity to treat me this way." Rosen said " I was under an agreement with ABC 20/20 and could not take my story to any other form of media." I suggested a place "where they could put their agreement where it would never see the light of day. And that I would take my story to any other show I chose."

The agreement did not involve any money but an "exclusivity agreement" Rosen did not want any other network to have access to the entire Johnny Gosch story. This was only in effect until the story would air but they delayed it numerous times, still trying to enforce their agreement; I felt I had waited long enough.

Rosen, Senior producer for 20/20 released me from any obligation and suggested I could take my story elsewhere... the catch... they will release none of the information and film compiled by Karen Burnes. She had worked over two years gathering the material.

I have gone on now to do two talk shows, Leeza Gibbons and Sally Jesse Raphael but the clout of a 20/20 or 60 Minute; one hour special might have resulted in Congressional Hearings. Or might aroused enough public anger, so that we the people might stop the abuse and experimentation with the worlds children. If the children are the future, do we want them maimed and crippled by what the current generation is doing to them?

As this book goes to press, NBC's Today Show and Dateline have already scheduled me to tell Johnny's story. Johnny asked me to go public with his story, the night he came to see me, fourteen years after the kidnapping.

During the months, which followed, John DeCamp, Ted Gunderson and I have requested all of our files, records, videotapes etc, which were given to Karen Burnes used for research in this story be returned. ABC has informed us all that these items have been misplaced and simply cannot be located.

How could ABC not do this story in the time frame planned, when they learned of the 45 other victims, who reluctantly shared their stories with Karen Burnes, they too have lived in fear for many years. Do not the upper echelon of producers and executives at ABC have children, know a child or were once a child themselves?

It makes an average citizen wonder at the level of responsibility, which simply does not exist for our fellow man, woman or child. The time, effort and money which was put into this project is enormous, it would have completely uncovered what has happened to Johnny and countless other victims of this sick, perverse, highly organized group of Pedophile Satanists.

Frank Snepp...CIA Spoiler

Frank Snepp is supposedly an ex-CIA man turned journalist. There are those who claim he is a CIA "spoiler," a plant whose job is to discredit those who would discredit the CIA or those connected to CIA.

Richard Brenneke, was real estate manager and arms dealer from Portland, Oregon.... He claimed, he was in Paris with the CIA team that arranged arms for Iran in exchange for keeping the hostages until Reagan was elected.

The book "The Mafia, CIA & George Bush" by Pete Brewton, got his book in print despite the fact that his original publisher, Simon & Schuster declined to publish. They had given him a $100,000 advance, but told him to take his book somewhere else. SPI books a division of Shapolsky Publisher, Inc., made the book available before going bankrupt. Perhaps they went bankrupt because they published a book with the name George Bush in the title. They also published "The Crimes of a President."

According to Brewton..." Snepp exposed in a story for the Village Voice that he supposedly lied about being in Paris during the alleged meetings." I think it significant that the author emphasized the word exposed. Snepp also convinced Brenecke not to talk to ABC's "20/20, which was preparing a program on the Houston Post's stories (I believe the ones Brewton was fired for writing). Brennecke's refusal to go on camera was a major factor in 20/20 decision not to air the story.

"So it goes in the world of CIA contract agents (is he referring to Snepp)...journalists must cling particularly fast to the first rule of reporting. If your mother tells you she loves you, check it out!" Snepp's name seems to surface wherever there is trouble for the CIA. Especially where it is connected to George Bush and Iran Contra.

This is how a "spoiler" operates... they bring out information which contradicts information already disseminated. Whether it is true or not, makes no difference. If it is repeated often enough...."lies are accepted as truth".

VALIANT ATTEMPT

Karen Burnes and her associates made a valiant attempt to bring out the truth on Johnny's case. It would have solved the cases of many other kidnapped children in America. Unfortunately, when there are powerful people at the top making the cutting decisions... in order to protect their political friends. It is then riveting stories become "locked up."

WHY JOHNNY CAN'T COME HOME.....

The night before the kidnapping, our whole family was home for dinner, which I call "The Last Supper", we had a wonderful time together. Before he left the kitchen Johnny said, "Dad, why don't you stay home tomorrow, I can do the route alone"! John said, "Well I guess it would be okay!" It worried me, as it was so dark at that hour of the morning they had to start deliveries. So I said, "no, John, our agreement is that you would go with him on Sunday mornings. John finally said, "No, Johnny, wake me in the morning and we will do the route together".

He gave everyone a hug and went upstairs to bed. A few moments later, he was back in the kitchen standing next to me as I was cleaning up after dinner. He gave me a hug again and said "Mom, I will always love you.... You are the best!" He went to the stairs, looked at me, smiled and then went up to bed. Little did I know at that moment.... It was the last time; I would see my son for 5,293 days... fourteen and one half years of trying every means to find out what happened to him. Fighting the system all the way.

Prior to the kidnapping....at the same 1:35 a.m., we would receive a phone call every Sunday morning from the beginning of August, until September 5th, the morning, Johnny was kidnapped. My husband, John would pick up the phone and say "You've got the wrong number", and hang up. On the morning of the kidnapping, Sept. 5, 1982, at 1:35 am, the phone rang, he answered, I woke up to hear him saying "alright...alright...okay, " then he hung up. I questioned him about the call and he just kept insisting it was a wrong number. He seemed nervous at the time but it was late and I drifted back to sleep, not realizing the worst was about to happen.

Johnny had a paper route for the Des Moines Register on Sundays and weeknights. He had been doing the route for a year and had a perfect service award for each month. A record he was proud of… it meant that he had always been on time with deliveries and since he took over the route. Before I knew it, over fourteen years had passed.

I had returned home from my family reunion, which was held over the weekend, exhausted from my drive, I went to bed early that night. During the night, a knock at the door woke me up, I looked at the clock and it was approximately 2:30 a.m. Then there was a second knock, I was so frightened as I made my way to the door, and there had been so many threats throughout the years. I mustered the courage to look through the peephole. Standing in the hallway under the light, were two young men, one was in clear view and he looked like my son Johnny. The face of the other young man wasn't completely visible; I could only see his shoulder.

I stood there just shaking, wondering if I should open the door. In all these years, I dreamed of the moment that I would be face to face with my son. There was no mistake, the young man on the other side of the door is my son Johnny, and it has been fourteen and a half years since I have seen him.

Thoughts were racing through my head. Is he here because he needs me, should I be afraid, not knowing all that he has been through and exposed to over the years? Has he been told lies about me.. I said "who is it", he replied, "It is me Mom… it is Johnny". I unlocked the door and he came into my apartment with the other young man. It felt strange at first, we both looked at each other, as if to see what changes the years had made in each of us. We reached out and gave each other a hug… It felt good but at the same time strange, this was my son and yet there were so many years, which are missing for each of us. He had been gone for over half of his life and now finally we were sitting in the same room together.

I asked them both to sit down; Johnny did not volunteer the name of the person with him. They both seemed nervous and looked at each other a number of times when I asked questions. When we talked, he began to tell me as much as he could recall about the first few days of his kidnapping, being grabbed off the sidewalk, forced into a car, then blacking out. He woke up bound and gagged in the basement of a house. Frightened, crying, he was approached by a young man, who he later learned was Paul Bonacci. He kept saying, " just do what they tell you and it will be alright. He did not want to talk about the types of sexual abuse that he had endured; I felt he was trying to spare my feelings and embarrassment to himself.

He asked about other family members, told me he had missed us all so very much, but knew I had worked very hard to locate him. I asked how he found me, and he replied "he had seen TV shows I had appeared on but in December 1996, he watched me on the Leeza Gibbons show, in which I had sent a message just to him, telling him I still lived in the same town, but in apartment and that my name/address/number was in the phone book and that I would help him". He said it was a difficult decision to make to come here and see me, because he had been told repeatedly during his captivity, "if you try to contact your mother, we will kill her". He explained " that is why he just came to my door in the middle of the night instead of a phone call and was concerned at the same time that just arriving would frighten me."

As he began to unfold part of the missing years, he talked about a program called MKUltra, explaining how it was a mind control program, used on himself as well as others, to program them to compromise influential businessmen, politicians. I had never heard of this and I sat there in shock, hearing what my son was relating.

He said he "needed help", that he was free of the people who initially took him but was living on the run, hiding out, living more or less hand to mouth. If he were ever to be safe to walk as a free man, then people would have to be arrested. He asked me to "do something" to bring these men to justice.

I asked if I could call someone to come and listen to what he was sharing. He became very upset, fearful and said, "if you call anyone, I will have to leave"! He then added "Mom, you can't tell anyone I have been here it isn't safe for you or me." I felt the urgency in my son's voice and saw it on his face", he was terrified. He then begged me "not to tell his father he had been here". I told him I would do everything in my power to help him and keep silent as long as possible about him being here.

I then asked, "Where he was living"? He started to answer but then looked to his friend and he shook his head "no", as to indicate Johnny should not tell me. I did not pursue it.

Our visit lasted about an hour and a half, as we drew to the end of it, I could see that both young men were becoming nervous... I asked as many questions as I could think of in a short amount of time ... Then all too soon, it was time for them to leave. Johnny gave me a hug... and said he would contact me when he could see that it was "safe" and that something had been done on the case.

After they left, I felt so stunned and in pain all over again after hearing the hardships my son endured for so many years. It is very difficult for a parent to imagine the kinds of things he and so many other young people suffered at the hands of the guilty.

In the days that followed, I didn't know where to begin. How could I help my son? Who should I contact and yet still be able to honor his request of not revealing he had been here to see me? The stress of all the years and the feeling of frustration over this new situation, took its toll, I became very ill for several weeks. Friends and relatives had no idea what was wrong in my world, and I could not tell them.

I realized that I could give an accurate description of Johnny's appearance, so I contacted the National Center for Missing Children. I explained that I had positive proof that my son was alive and a new description. They agreed to have their composite artist, Steve Loften work with me to create the new image of my son. We did several drafts of the picture before it was exact. Each time Mr. Loften sent me a draft, we would talk, making any changes necessary and within a few days, we had the "exact image" of what Johnny looked like the night he came to see me. I was still unable to tell anyone Johnny had been here. Mr. Loften was so kind, patient and does incredible work. I was so pleased with the final result.

I first contacted a criminal attorney for advice in this situation. He suggested I make an appointment with the County Attorney, John Sarcone to share information. It would then make it impossible for anyone to ever "charge me with .... Withholding evidence in a criminal case."

I then contacted the County Attorney, John Sarcone, to schedule a meeting with him. I had asked Gordon Gratias, a local Private Investigator and family friend to accompany me to the meeting. During this meeting, I explained to Sarcone, that my son was still alive and that I had information from a reliable "informant". (The informant was my own son, Johnny, but I had promised him I would not reveal that he had been to my home.) Sarcone naturally had many questions; I answered them as best I could but requested a meeting with the Police departments from Des Moines & West Des Moines, DCI (Dept. of Criminal Investigation), FBI and Sarcone. He told me, he would contact me as soon as he could reach everyone. Soon, I heard from Sarcone and the date for the meeting was scheduled for July 12, 1997.

Again, Gordon Gratias, accompanied me. Des Moines Detectives, West Des Moines Detectives, DCI, and John Sarcone's office were represented; apparently the FBI declined or were busy. I distributed packets of information to each of the men, which contained the new photo of Johnny and some of the facts in writing, which had been given to me by Johnny.

Sarcone conducted the meeting, asking me to explain the materials I had handed out. I slowly gave the men the complete story of what my son shared with me during our visit... Calling him only "the informant". Sarcone, said "you will have to turn over your source to us". I replied that I was unable to do so and I asked him "would you turn over the name of a reliable source to anyone, if you were asked not to do so?" Sarcone shook his head indicating that he would not reveal a source either.

Each of the men had a number of questions about Johnny, I explained how Johnny escaped from the men who had held him, and sought the safety of living on an Indian Reservation. I restated information about a kidnapping of a second newspaper carrier to occur in Des Moines on the second weekend in August, on the Southside of Des Moines, given to me by Sam Soda, a former Private Investigator, (I had made a tape recording of this meeting) on June 13, 1984, just weeks prior to the Eugene Martin kidnapping.

I explained I had taken this tape recording to the Des Moines Police Dept, in June of 1984, that no one wanted to listen to it. Sarcone, at that point, asked the detective, what he did with the information I had given to them. The detective lied and said "Noreen Gosch never came into the police dept with any information or tape".

Sarcone looked at me and said "Ms. Gosch, is there any other reputable person on this planet you shared this information with ...." I replied "Yes, I took it to all TV Stations in the Des Moines Area, Frank Santiago, Reporter for the Des Moines Register and Karen Burnes with ABC 20/20.... You may check with any of them." (I later found out that Sarcone's department did check with Frank Santiago and he verified everything I had said to be true."

I demanded to know why Sam Soda was not under any kind of suspicion, his information was not only correct but Eugene Martin's kidnapping occurred on the very weekend he had predicted. It was the second weekend of August 1994, early on a Sunday morning, as he was preparing to deliver his papers.

Note: Paul Bonacci identified a photo of "Sam" from a line up of 26 photographs, saying "he is the man who brought Johnny's picture to the kidnappers the night before and said .... This is the kid we are going after in the morning. We all called him Soda Pop." John DeCamp, Bonacci's attorney confirmed the report of this identification.

IT IS NOT MY RESPONSIBLILITY

Today in America these are the most uttered words by any public official. For more than ten years a handful of responsible citizens have attempted to present documentation on the CIA connection to drug trafficking, child kidnapping, child prostitution and murder. "It is not my responsibility is the mantra that flows from the mouths of governors, U.S, Senators, Congressmen, everyone up to and including Presidents.

Evidence has no value as long as there is no organization, no individual in government who can demand an investigation. "We were only following orders!" There is no doubt today that agencies and individuals from the state to federal level are guilty of obstruction of justice! If an individual does nothing wrong but he covers for another, he can be deemed an accessory.

I first heard it from the FBI. Sorry, we can't search for your son because "We have no crime". It took the courage of a Nebraska Senator Loren Schmit and friend, Nebraska State Senator, John DeCamp, and myself to bring the details of what happened to Johnny Gosch to light. Their attempt to help sexual abused children has been completely unsuccessful. While the Iowa and Nebraska Legislature cowered and denied the existence of evidence.

Alisha Owens and Paul Bonacci were threatened with perjury charges for speaking out. In securing help for a handful of young people with the courage to raise a cry against pedophiles. Former CIA William Colby, himself has said he placed the information before the highest people in the justice department. We have his own-videotaped words.

It was John DeCamp, who first contacted the Gosch's, indicating Paul Bonnaci, his client participated in the kidnapping of their son.

John Zielinski, an author/publisher in Iowa, contacted me. He published a series of newspapers exposing the drug trafficking in the state. One day, he received an anonymous package, containing information about the Franklin Investigation. It revealed child prostitution, kiddie porn and seemed to indicate that an organized ring of pedophiles was kidnapping children. John first contacted Senator Loren Schmitt to verify the facts in this material. Schmitt confirmed everything in a 45-minute conversation, saying, "I think they are going to get away with it." Schmitt told me he was under tremendous pressure to shut down the investigation. John immediately took the information to his Iowa City Senator and Representative Minette Dodeder (who said " I cannot get involved! " John watched as Senator Richard Varn sneered and dumped the documents into the trashcan.

This episode led John to contact Noreen Gosch and produce an hour video called "America's MIA Children" (Missing In America... Murdered In America)

American Civil Liberties Union

Let us suppose you were Johnny Gosch and you had just escaped from the slave handlers who had been using you. Where could you turn for help? You already know that FBI and other law enforcement agency either collaborated or looked the other way. You tried to escape dozen times before you and a group of boys succeeded by stealing a car.... Then contact your Mother....

Who do you turn to? Who can you trust? Most certainly not the American Civil Liberties Union or Iowa Civil Liberties. Purporting to be supporters of Constitution Rights. Paul Bonnaci's lawyer John De Camp sought help for Paul and Alisha Owens. Alisha was sentenced to a longer prison sentence than the man who abused her and stole 40 million dollars. What are the Nebraska and Iowa Civil Liberties doing, soliciting money from you to protect you liberties?

In a book titled "Trial and Error" by George Grant: "The focus of justice was not fixed on the criminal and his sundry vices but on the community and its welfare. The ACLU has managed to bury this remarkable legacy under the dust heap of litigation and adjudication. It has succeeded in practically reversing the emphasis of American justice...the organization has for all intents and purposes become an advocacy group for organized crime, for teenage street gangs, for pornographers, for corrupt lawyers and for illicit drug dealers.

The investigations in both Nebraska and Iowa of child pornography, kidnapping etc. certain seem to bear out Grant's conclusions.

Do you see now why Johnny Can't Come Home. He is not safe, his mother is not safe. But it is not alone Johnny's story or Eugene Martin story. In page after page of this book, we have given you document after document, fact after fact. We have also pointed out that the FBI confiscated and "lost" countless other documents. The documents the FBI didn't take care of... the judges have...by permanently sealing the records.

The battle to tell this story was a long one. Some of the answers, as to what happened to Johnny surfaced over ten years ago with the Franklin Investigation. Yet they have been suppressed. But if you pick up a newspaper today, or watch the local news, you will be bombarded with yet another child being kidnapped, molested and murdered.

A recent Maury Pouvich program showed problem kids who were into to drugs and prostitution. Some were as young as age 11. They were shown a morgue room where cardboard box after cardboard box was filled with the bodies of young John and Jane Does.

A number of years ago, a group of ministers in an Ecumenical council were told the story of Johnny Gosch, the Franklin Cover-up and local Satanism. They were given the name of a local deputy sheriff, who had explored the connection between drugs and Satanism in their community. He had agreed to give programs in the churches. At the end of the hour, they stampeded from the room, like scalded apes, ignoring a newspaper handout with details of the situations that were presented. Only one church ever asked the deputy to speak. When questioned later the minister knew nothing. He had not attended the program.

Four ministers stayed behind to discuss the situation further. At the end of an hour, three decided that it was dangerous for their church and their family. One a lady minister said, I believe you, and I will take your newspaper and pass them out.

A Midwestern congressman was given some of the same materials. Although, he was deeply moved by what he read, he carefully stated: "Congressmen have families, too." In other words, it is too dangerous, it might cause harm to my family, and sorry... I can't help America's children.

We are at war. Every child in America faces WWIII every time he or she leaves the house, or goes to school. It is not just the Columbine's, it is the Internet with its child pornography sites and its pedophiles in the chat rooms and on our streets. They are the most dangerous predators in our world to day

What can we do? You ask! How can we hope to do anything where Congressmen have failed! The Answer is: "Take this book to your neighbor, take it to you minister. Organize local parent groups. There is an old saying: If you are not part of the solution, you are part of the problem.

Remember we are at war. If you put this book down and do nothing, the war is lost. Children have no hope.

A single pebble rolling down a hill may cause a landslide; a loud noise may cause an avalanche. Let your voices be heard!

JOHNNY NOT THE FIRST.... NOT THE LAST

In the Paul Bonacci chapter, Jimmy Gibson's final letter gives us a list of initials, three of which are easily identified as Johnny Gosch, Eugene Martin, and Jacob Wetterling but we haven't a clue as to the identity of the other three boys. Gibson proved that the kidnapping of kids wasn't just a random act but indeed the work of an organized pedophile network. We need only to examine the newspapers from the early 1980's in the Iowa, Nebraska area to be uncovering other stories of missing, near missing and murdered children.

On September 18, 1983 in Bellevue Nebraska.... Danny Joe Eberle parked his bike against the chain link fence at the home of a Bellevue dentist, while he was delivering the Omaha World Herald Sunday Paper. Danny's body was found three days later, three miles away, and just a few feet off a country road. It appeared said one investigator that it had been thrown there from a car.

Airman John J. Joubert, who served at Offutt Air Force Base, killed Danny. Danny's father was also a retired Air Force enlisted man.

Judy, Danny's mother reported the Omaha police refused to release autopsy results on Danny.

Danny's mother, Judy visited Joubert a number of times in the Lincoln Nebraska prison prior to his execution. He was defiant and bragging of his knowledge in the legal field and that while in prison he was giving advice to members of a biker gang of how to operate and remain, just "inside the law" so as not to be arrested.

He discussed at length the existence of the "underground occult network" in Omaha Nebraska and was a part of this group. This continues to substantiate the investigative work of Gary Caradori, Private Investigator hired by the Nebraska Legislature. Paul Bonacci who identified Offutt Air Force Base and one of its Airmen who first molested him.

John Evans, assistant director in charge of the Iowa/Nebraska FBI Office in Omaha, said " information gathered in Iowa during the search for Johnny Gosch.... Including investigative techniques.... Was to be used in the search for Eberle." According to the Des Moines Register account of Eberle's murder; West Des Moines Police Lt. Lyle McKinney, a key investigator in the mysterious disappearance more than 15 months ago of West Des Moines Newspaper boy, Johnny Gosch, age 12, emerged from the hunt to say, "there is no connection with the Gosch case by any stretch of the imagination."

Every indication is that there is a direct connection between Offutt Air Force Base and the kidnapping of Johnny Gosch. Paul Bonacci revealed in his diaries that Offutt Air Force Base was used for Project Monarch, which has deep Satanic connections to the kind of "mind war training given to these children."

In a grim twist, the counter of the police department has a stack of flyers of Danny Joe Eberle asking "CAN YOU HELP, and within a few feet of the counter, pinned to a bulletin board where it has hung for months, is a poster of asking help in finding Johnny Gosch."

In both Nebraska and Iowa, following the kidnappings of Johnny Gosch and Danny Joe Eberle many newspaper carriers quit their routes and turned in their newspaper bags.

After Eberle's kidnapping and murder there were two other separate attempts to kidnap a child. An Omaha World Herald carrier told police he was assaulted but escaped his assailant. Details were sketchy but the boy told police he was delivering his papers in Omaha when a man grabbed him from behind and forced him into his car. The boy said the man was hitting him with bricks, but he was able to grab a brick and hit the man on the head. Then, the boy said "he ran to a nearby Seven Eleven store and called the police."

Sarpy County Sheriff Thomas said his officers were also out checking on a possible abduction attempt involving an eleven-year-old girl who delivers the Omaha World Herald in the North West section of Sarpy County. According to Thomas the girl told officers that a man in a small newer model red hatch back car, pulled along side of her on September 21st, 1983, he motioned for her to come to his car. She said she refused and the man motioned again, at this point the girl dropped the bicycle she was pushing and ran to a nearby house where residents called police.

December 2, 1983, Christopher Paul Walden, put on his coat, said goodbye to his mother at 8:30 a.m. and stepped out of the door to go to school. His school was only ha half mile away. When he didn't return that evening, his mother went out looking for him. When she failed to find him she called the Sarpy County Sheriffs department. Police quickly descended upon the area. At least three witnesses reported seeing a youngster who looked like Walden with a man. The two were seen in several locations, in and out of a car. There was no indication the boy was being held by force. Walden is an only child of a Lt. Col. at Offutt Air Force Base

How did 20 year old, John J. Joubert, an airman from Offutt Air Force Base become a serial killer of little boys? This 5'6", 135 lb. Airman was a Boy Scout leader from Portland Maine, graduate of a Catholic high school, attended the University of Northfield Vermont, a military school. He kidnapped and murdered two young boys Danny Joe Eberle and Christopher Paul Walden

Their bodies were found punctured by stab wounds some of which according to one source who asked to remain anonymous were "surgically cut into the muscles to prevent the victims from using their arms and legs". Another report circulating locally neither confirmed nor denied by investigators was that Walden may have been sexually molested and that some of the marking on his chest formed a "design". That design could have been a "pentagram" associated with Satanic rituals.

Richard Chadek III was last seen alive March 23 1986 on a Sunday evening, from Omaha. He had been coached about avoiding strangers and recently he discussed the subject with his mother. They sent us a notice home from school about someone trying to pick up kids, said Teresa Chadek. I made Rick read it... I read it out loud and then we discussed it. We talked about how to act in case you get snatched..."don't fight it, relax, and try to keep cool". And the minute get half a chance run like heck I hope that is what he is thinking about right now… Her conversation took place three days before his disappearance. Police were looking for a blue pick up truck with wooden sideboards, possibly bearing Iowa license plates

MARCH 28, 1986

A mysterious book on abductions was sent to my mother. It was a wrapped package and with the note "To Noreen with Love". My mother sent it to me. The book was about the kidnapping of a boy by a serial killer in which the boy had been murdered. He was located after the killer placed a call to the parents and the call was traced. The book was given to the FBI, which was investigating the murder of Richard Chadek III, who had been killed earlier this week. It was thought the book might contain some message concerning the murder of the Chadek boy. The FBI never returned the book to me.

DES MOINES NEWSPAPER CARRIER ESCAPES FROM ASSAILANT

A man wearing a camouflage poncho and hood attacked a newspaper carrier on the west side of Des Moines, during a rainstorm, on July 10th, 1986. Jim Pollack, 15, a newspaper carrier with the Des Moines Register said the man grabbed him while he was delivering papers. Pollack couldn't see his face because the hood of the poncho concealed it. He kicked the man in the shins and escaped.

Des Moines police say they will not rule out the possibility of a connection with the unsolved cases of missing Des Moines Carriers Johnny Gosch on Sept. 5th, 1982 and Eugene Martin August 12, 1984.

These are only a few of the cases that occurred in the Des Moines and Omaha areas within a two-year period, 1982 – 1984. All of the boys were near the same age and similar description; three of the four were newspaper carriers. Later came the murder of Richard Chadek III in 1986. How many other children disappeared from other areas across the country during this same time period. This was done just to give the reader an idea of what was taking place in a two hundred mile radius… in "Leave It To Beaver Country…. the quiet Midwest".

Johnny

I have tried to put forth all the information in a chronological order to cover what has happened to you and countless other victims. All information was taken from personal journals, reports from our Private Investigators, victims (including yourself), and numerous other sources that have come forward.

During the months its taken to put this together the pain and stress of reliving this horrible tragedy on a daily basis was overwhelming, but knowing it was directed to help you and the countless other victims, I kept moving forward. Please don't think that now that this is out and made public…. that I will stop pursuing or push back on continuing to help you and the others victims. I promise I will not stop until you and the other victims have a chance to come forward and identify the perpetrators and be able to walk the streets without fearing for your lives.

There have been many positive changes in my life since your visit, but there is still the hurt and pain of not being able to have you come for dinner or pick up the phone and see how your doing. There are many ways in which I can be contacted and I hope that another opportunity arises in the near future.

Together we will overcome the obstacles put in front of us. Please take care of yourself and may God Bless you.

Love,

Mom

To Other Victims Or Those Who Have Lost Them

I know you are out there…. Many of you! If you read this book, please know that you are not alone. There are those of us who are trying to wake up America, so that others will know your plight and suffering.

I invite anyone who would like to communicate and share with others to write to the Johnny Gosch Foundation… at: JGoschFoundation@aol.com or www.johnnygosch.com or snail mail:

GRIEF BY LOSS OF A CHILD

By

Noreen N. Gosch

Someone you love is the victim of a kidnapping, possible homicide or some other tragedy has taken your child. This tragedy is sometimes more terrifying for the survivors than the actual victim. Your anger, frustration and pain will be extensive and it will take a great deal of hard work to recover. This chapter was prepared for you by someone who has lived through the kidnapping.

SHOCK

Our minds are marvelous instruments, in that they take on only what we can handle. In the beginning, you will notice numbness. You will continually say to yourself, "this can't be real". Some liken it to being in a fog". In a kidnapping case, it is very important to become active in your child's search immediately. Time is precious for your child and every moment wasted is a moment of their life. Despite the pain and suffering you are enduring - get involved in your child's search.

Hopefully the law enforcement will act quickly on your case... but in any event it is important for you to remember "YOUR CHILD IS THE VICTIM," It will not help your child if you sink into depression at this time. They need you more than ever before. Most parents are not alone in the possibility of a murder and they may never find the child. Unfortunately there are still some police departments that will not enter an investigation immediately. Work is being done in many states to correct this error.

Be prepared for the possibility that the police department may suspect you in your child's disappearance. Your pain is so intense for your child and the possibility of being considered a suspect destroys a great many parents. Try to remain as calm and strong as possible. ... Your child's life may well depend on it. This is not the time to be passive but rather move as quickly as possible... following the steps to assist in the search for your child.

The "fog" referred to earlier may last from three to six months. This numbness allows us to handle arrangements of many kinds and to deal with the initial loss of your loved one.

COPING WITH DISTANCE

Sooner or later... you come to realize, after the ground and air search has been completed, that your loved one may have been transported out of your county, state or even our country. This creates panic in the hearts of the parents. What chance do we have now? This is not the time to fall apart - continued your efforts for publicity and searching for that child and working with your police department. We now have agencies to help parents – in past years the parents stood alone. For many parents coping with the possibility of distance in a kidnapping is the worst reality.

FRIENDS

When we hurt we turn to the people who have always been there, our friends. These are the people who came that awful day or night They sat with us, answered our phone, made us eat and remained close if we needed anything.

During the search they were assisting with ever aspect needed and if you did have to face a murder, your friends were there to assist with funeral arrangements, etc. but where are they now, a month, six months or a year after the tragedy? They have gone back to their lives but you need to talk. If you bring up the kidnapping or murder there are those who will change the subject, simply because "THEY CAN'T DEAL WITHT THE DETAILS OF THE TRAGEDY". They can't bring themselves to talk about "IT".

REVENGE

Most of us are incapable of murder. Its something that we perhaps in a joking way said "Oh, I could kill you for that"! It's no longer a joke. For the first time in your life you may be devising ways in your mind... revenge toward another human.

Understandably, some people are disturbed by this emotion. You may feel you are losing your mind. You aren't you are normal. Almost every person experiencing this emotion after a kidnapping or murder... does not act upon it. Our hearts go out to anyone experiencing, this we know your pain.

There will be those who will tell you that wanting revenge is unhealthy and that the only way to find peace is to forgive. If forgiveness is in your heart, fine, but do not allow these people to place unnecessary guilt on you. Chances are they have never been where you are. Could they forgive so easily? It is doubtful.

FAMILY

Each of us is an individual. We like different foods, clothing, and select lifestyles unique to ourselves. It stands to reason that at the most painful time in our lives, we would also grieve in our own way. How we choose to grieve is determined by three things... our personal view of the crime and the loss, how society views our, and individual personalities.

When a kidnapping or murder happens to a family, we sometimes expect that it will pull us closer together. This is not always true. It is not unusual for us to see families separate, both physically and emotionally. After the loss of a loved one, some in the family may resent the rebuilding of your life. Each of us recovers from grief in our own time frame. We can't expect any member of the family to completely understand the sense of loss of another.

Family members become possessive of one another and are also possessive with the relationship each had with the lost loved one. Each member of the family is attempting to comprehend the loss of this person in their life. The loved one represents something different to each individual. After a kidnapping or homicide the personalities of the family members may change drastically. Some people find the need to block the horror of the crime with over-indulgence in drugs or alcohol.

Often we see families argue about who hurts the most. For instance, a mother who cries easily may feel her husband, who doesn't cry, didn't really care about the victim because he shows no outward signs of grief. Or it may be the other way around – perhaps the mother shows more strength than the father.

In addition to experiencing the loss differently, families also become very protective – they have already lost one loved one and you may feel your own "potential mortality" and that of other family members. It has happened to us!

One must also consider the parent/step-parent situation. It is difficult for a stepparent to feel the intensity of the parent's grief. The serious student who performed well in school prior to the kidnapping or murder may be failing in grades, dropping out and running away. The mother whose child has been abducted or murdered may be come paranoid about allowing her remaining children out of her sight. The children caught in this situation, in time may feel stifled and may rebel or be socially inhibited. Communication at this time is very important. Express the fears you have and discuss ways that one can protect oneself and still enjoy an active social life.

HOLIDAYS

Holidays are an accumulation of traditions. Traditions are habits made by families to be shared with family members. When a member of the family is no longer there to share the tradition that was once cherished it becomes a painful reminder instead of a thing of joy.

The first time we celebrate each holiday after a violent crime, it becomes a nightmare. Christmas gifts that once were ripped open immediately sit for days. Thanksgiving is hollow, "What do I have to be thankful for"? shouts a survivor. New Years Day "How can I begin a new year when I can't even get out of bed to start a new day"?, or birthdays, a celebration of another year of life is another reminder of your loss. You may find the need to develop new traditions. For some a trip out of town at Christmas time is beneficial. A birthday can be observed by donating to a charitable organization or do something meaningful to you. There is no rule to follow on how to "GET THROUGH" a holiday. You will grieve. Allow yourself that, you deserve it.

SOCIETY

A general lack of understanding in our society about the impact of a kidnapping or homicide is often compounded by poor communication. One ten-year-old sibling responded to a reporter's question, "How do you feel about all of this?" by saying, " Well now I have a room to myself". Society views this child's response as cold and cruel, when actually what the child was doing was denying the death of his older brother.

One mother of a homicide victim found, when speaking of her daughters violent death that those whom she was addressing reacted with immediate withdrawal. What most people didn't realize was their rejections resulted in additional distress for the mother.

One couple after the kidnapping of their child, developed programs and legislation and became national leaders in children's safety, only to be met with cruelty in their home community. The community was uncomfortable because now it was a reality.... If it has happened once it may happen again. There is an element of our society, which hides behind anonymity. They can possibly be more damaging than those who ignore us. They are the ones who call on the phone or write a letter condemning you for the loss of your loved one. Statements such as "If you were a better parent your child would still be here today", or in some cases actually accusing the survivor of committing the crime, even if there is no evidence to support the accusation.

Many people blame the victim for their own tragedy. We have been told, "Had they not been walking on that street at that time of the morning, this would not have happened!" The victim must be at fault for his own violent crime. If not, it could happen to anyone. Society simply cannot accept that this has happened to you, because if it happened to you, it could happen to them.

GUILT

In the beginning, after the kidnapping and during the long hours of waiting for an answer, many parents experience misplaced guilt. They deny themselves the normal, simple needs in life... because their child may be without these things. Perhaps they blame themselves because they were not there to protect and prevent this crime.

In the case of siblings, "If I hadn't run, my brother would still be here." Each survivor lives with the "What if's". What if I had been there.... This would not have happened." This is a very normal reaction. Unfounded, but normal. Please remember no one can predict the future or what might have been. We can't change the events that took place and to continue berating ourselves will only be destructive.

Misplaced guilt brings about anger, which may be vented on the very people you love and cherish.

ANGER

It is not uncommon to be angry at God. Do you ask, " Why does a just God allow this ugly thing to happen?" or "If there is a God, he would have prevented this from happening." Many people, prior to a violent crime had strong faiths and how they find going to their place of worship too painful. Some have been able to rebuild their faith, perhaps with a different cornerstone.

Before completely turning your back on God, I suggest reading the book, "When Bad Things Happen To Good People", by Rabbi Harold S. Kushner. It has helped others; I hope it will help you.

You may find that the majority of your anger is directed at the criminal justice system. Sometimes the system lacks sensitivity and understanding to the plight of the victims and their families. Consider the anger of the mother, whose daughter was murdered by a man who has been sentenced to die 8 years before her daughter was born. The criminal justice system failed to protect this young girl from a man who had previously committed murder.

Another family, their child kidnapped, no one would look, no one would work on the case... they did not consider the child's welfare or that it was a serious matter.

Victims see the aid and consolation given to the offender and his/her family. Churches often go into the prisons to comfort the offender and turn around and tell the victim he must forgive. Most churches do not provide long term support and services for the victims of violent crime. They will however, stand by an offender who continues committing one crime after another. A victim's anger stems from being treated indifferently by all facets of society.

Your anger is understandable and those of us who have been through this trauma care... you are not alone.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE SYSTEM

Are you angry with the criminal justice or another authority system? You are not alone! Most victims initially are naïve to the working of the criminal justice system. As we progress through the various stages we become angry and frustrated because the preconceived ideas of the justice system are false. We find that justice does not prevail. The guilty are released on technicalities and the only one serving the life sentence is the victim.

The criminal justice system, better known as "the victims' injustice system", can prolong your grief. Many kidnapping/murder cases are never solved, even when the identity of the offender is known. The family that seeks justice done through a timely resolution are more fortunate than those who never to trail or those that must wait for years to be resolved.

Plea bargaining often contributes to the miscarriage of justice. Families of the victims find plea bargaining dilutes the actual crime committed and leaves them dissatisfied with the criminal justice system.

Through the appeal process the unsuspecting survivors may find themselves going through the trial process two or more times. The additional trials may be more painful than the original trial because of the "shock or fog" which may have been protected the survivor's emotions during the earlier events is no longer there. Years after the crime you life is more stable. A retrial disrupts that stability and may very well destroy the progress you have made. Once again, you relive the horror of the crime on a day-to-day basis. Most kidnapping/homicide cases are automatically appealed, however, only a fraction of those find their way back to court.

A number of years ago, survivors were merely a piece of evidence to be used in a trial. At last there is hope for the victim in a system designed for the offender. Today, many prosecutors and district attorney's offices have started victim/witness units. The individuals running these programs are there to assist you, the victims. Contact your local prosecutor's office to see if there is such a program. In Seattle, they are fortunate to have not only a program in the prosecutor's office but also an excellent program is available through the Seattle Police Department. If you have no programs available... contact the Seattle Police Dept. or prosecutor's office about starting a program in your area.

CLICHES

Clichés are used by well meaning people, who don't know what else to say to you. Clichés, in early grief and beyond, bring more aggravation and pain than comfort. Things people say and we wish they wouldn't are:

It is God's will.
He will not have to suffer again.
She's better off, had she lived, she wouldn't have been the same.
He's happier in heaven.
Aren't you lucky to have your remaining children?
You will have another child.
Give up the search... He is probably dead anyway.
Aren't you over that yet, it is time to get on with your life.
Time heals all wounds.
Life goes on.
You were chosen... because you are strong and you would bring progress out of this tragedy.
It is part of God's plan.
Don't cry, It's okay.
What is the matter with you? Why don't you cry (Don't you have feelings?
I don't know how you can be so strong, if it were me, I couldn't survive.
It is divine to forgive.
You look too good, you can't be suffering.

These statements may both anger and hurt the survivors of violent crimes, It makes our road to rebuilding or recovering our loved one that much more difficult. To some parents, it cripples progress – for others it provokes angry reactions. It is the worst time of our lives and we desperately try each day to survive. The time does not heal this wound – a violent crime leaves a mark that is not experienced in the passing of a loved ones by other circumstances.

THE DEATH CLAUSE

The subject is often neglected and not considered. When you are dealing with a kidnapping case, it is possible that your crime may never be solved. This leaves you and your family wondering "is he or she still alive" for the rest of your lives. In addition to the obvious pain this creates, it can also create some legal difficulties. Some states in their legislature deal with the kidnapping in terms of a missing person and the length of time before declaring that person dead, and others do not have any legislation, which addresses this situation. Some states address only the "missing in action or prisoner of war" – laws, which were written when our country had been at war. This is not helpful in your situation. You need the advice of an attorney, in terms of your will and arrangements to provide for your family. Insurance policies on the victim cannot be resolved until a death certificate is issued.

This is a dreaded and painful ordeal to face. It brings you to the reality all over again.... "WE WILL NEVER KNOW WHAT HAS HAPPENED TO OUR CHILD",,. This is an area where you need correct information and advice.

With the growing number of kidnappings and unsolved cases, many parents for the first time in our country's history are having to face this legal technicality. The experts tell us it has never come up before. It is time we address this now, to afford the bet legal protection, which is possible for not only the victim but also the surviving family.

If this situation pertains to your case, contact the legal professionals in which you place your trust and listen to their advice.

EPILOG

The rest of your life is the epilog. Recently a survivor of a violent crime, said "my life has been altered, I must rebuild it". A true statement. Everything in your life will be changed. You will see things differently now.

Incidents that were once catastrophe will be minor aggravations because you have already survived the worst. Your belief in your God may be shaken, you find trusting anyone impossible. You have found that the laws you thought were designed to protect you are really designed to protect the guilty. Listening to people define the rights of the offender, your mind will shout. "BUT WHAT ABOUT THE RIGHT OF THE VICTIM TO LIFE, LIBERTY AND

THE PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS?"

There is still happiness left in the world for you. You can laugh again, the first time it happens, you will be shocked for a moment at how good it feels. You can again feel warmth on a beautiful sunny morning. You will find for every negative, unkind person there are those who will stand by you and give you the support you need and deserve. You may find sensitivity for others you never realized you had and be moved to get involved with some type of activity which would bring progress and purpose out of tragedy. If you are a survivor, you have something to share with another who may be going through it. You will find joy in the memories you have been left with – the good memories, the quirks unique to your loved one. The special things they have said will leave a lasting imprint in your senses.

You may rediscover your mate – a marriage goes through a unique trauma during the tragedy of this nature. Sometimes we find couples reporting "THE ONLY THING HOLDING US TOGETHER IS OUR GRIEF AND IT IS NOT ENOUGH". It is true the divorce rate is very high among parents after a kidnapping or murder of their child. Each of you undergoes a transformation; you become different people due to this tragedy of a violent crime. No one else can understand how much you miss your child, too.

Some couples feel they need a marriage counselor and perhaps this will help. But the primary need is for someone to assist in the dealing with the crisis before you can progress to the marriage. Arriving at the reality… that nothing will ever be the same again is a huge step. One can not redo the past… we can only try to build and improve the future. If past hobbies or entertainment once enjoyed are too painful, try something different until you can derive some type of enjoyment together. It takes time and no one has a magic guarantee – but it is worth striving towards. The unique qualities, which attracted the two of you perhaps, have been altered and perhaps attempting to get acquainted with the new personality and accept that person at that level will be a way to begin rebuilding a very important relationship.

For some the need to be apart is greater and necessary. There are times when one partner becomes violent and it is no longer safe to remain in the home and the marriage. Appropriate measures and decisions must be made to insure the safety of yourself and if there are other children in the home.

This was written to offer help and hope to those who are suffering by someone who has been through the stages of grief.

"This case is SO MUCH BIGGER than you think. It goes to the very HIGHEST levels; we have to keep pulling the strings."

– William Colby, Former Director of the CIA,
Investigator of The Franklin Cover Up

"I can state without hesitation, that there is, indeed, a national cult network including satanic, witchcraft, pedophile and occult groups, which is operating at full throttle within our society today. The activities of these groups include the kidnapping, molestation, torture and murder of children. Their favorite victims are children and newborn babies: the younger, the better.

The cult thrives on drug sales, pornography and prostitution. The cult network is responsible for the recent rash of "snuff" films, which are sold at high prices to people who crave this sick, degenerate material. Children are kidnapped and literally "owned" by the cult and are sold on the open market to the highest bidder. These children are taken right off the streets of our cities, and traded through a national pedophile network."

– Ted L. Gunderson, FBI Special Agent, Los Angeles (Retired)

"America's Most Wanted was about to air the Johnny Gosch Story. I received a call from Paul Sparrow saying "The FBI contacted them and told them to KILL THE GOSCH STORY." In other words, the FBI did not want Johnny's story aired by America's Most Wanted. John Walsh and Paul Sparrow stood up to the FBI and told them they were going ahead with our story no matter what they said or did. The FBI evidently backed down because the show aired in November 1992. The show received more telephone calls from the public than any other show in its history."
